RACA-4

CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

RALEIGH

JAN 8,1874-DEC 20,1876

START

Microfilmed by

North Carolina Department of Archives and History

Division of Archives and Manuscripts

Raleigh, North Carolina

MICROFILMED BY SEP 2 1975
RR-164
N.C. DEPT. OF ARCHIVES & HISTORY

CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

RALEIGH WEEKLY

1874

1874

FILMED FROM ORIGINALS IN THE DUKE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
THE FOLLOWING ISSUES MISSING:
AUG. 26: DEC. 9. 16.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. E. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.—NO. 1. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1874. WHOLE NO. 999

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

Reflections on a Lost Home.

[illegible] the Lord for many years
Sometimes in mirth, sometimes in tears,
Sometimes in calm and sometimes gales,
With men and then, benefactors of Heaven.
Of a many good I could a share,
To bless my home with cost and care,
Upon the shore my father died,
And for a name where Sarah bide
Beauty, beneath its pleasant bowers,
I chose (God, thy chastening hours.
You see with Noah and found a wife,
Then here we led a happy life.
The mother of my children here,
Taught each and all to God to serve,
And from our house our first born son,
Escaped to reach a brighter one.
We've [illegible] the hills,
We've [illegible] and sorrowing,
We've [illegible] their sacred sour.
We've [illegible] halls in unity,
A sweet Child to [illegible] holy,
We've [illegible] where we slept.
Where [illegible] and sometimes wept.
We've [illegible] we loved the flowers
And [illegible] to [illegible]
Our [illegible] with [illegible]
To [illegible] [illegible] here,
And [illegible] [illegible]
We often [illegible] [illegible],
To [illegible] [illegible] dish with [illegible] boys, [illegible] fish,
And [illegible] [illegible],
In [illegible] of [illegible],
But [illegible] [illegible] as thought,
When [illegible] [illegible] were bought.
But [illegible] [illegible] [illegible],
[illegible] [illegible] [illegible],
No [illegible] could [illegible],
I [illegible] [illegible] [illegible],
Sacred [illegible],
You [illegible] [illegible],
Our [illegible] [illegible],
[illegible] [illegible] [illegible],
Down [illegible] [illegible],
When [illegible] [illegible],
It [illegible] [illegible],
[illegible] [illegible],
All [illegible] [illegible],
By [illegible] [illegible],
That [illegible] [illegible],
Would [illegible] [illegible],
[illegible] [illegible],
Lays [illegible] [illegible],
Cuts [illegible] [illegible],
Built [illegible] [illegible],
Come, [illegible] [illegible],
Yet [illegible] [illegible],
It [illegible] [illegible],
Our [illegible] [illegible],
And [illegible] [illegible],
Be [illegible] [illegible],
But [illegible] [illegible],
Before [illegible] [illegible],
Encamping [illegible] [illegible],
My [illegible] [illegible],
To [illegible] [illegible],
My [illegible] [illegible],

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

A Letter From Lenoir.

MR. EDITOR: We are enjoying a magnificent snow, six or eight inches deep everywhere, and a good prospect for more. Everything is white, trees, houses, hills, and distant mountains. From our lookout the eye sweeps a circuit of fifty miles, embracing valleys, plains, hills and mountains, all clad in snow—snow everywhere.—Here are mountains in the midst of mountains, mountains above mountains, mountains behind mountains, nothing but mountains and snow.

The air is perfectly still, not a twig moving. Nature's quietness is grand. The mountains look as if they were sleeping, and the great oaks as if they were enjoying their Sabbath. One cannot help thinking of Dr. Kane's vivid arctic scenes.

But we all enjoy it. The children are wild with excitement and joy.—The old people have suddenly remembered that they were once children. The snow seems to remind them of this more readily than anything else. Their faces kindle with animation, and they move and speak as if an old friend had come that used to visit the home of their childhood. This is especially so with our northern friends. We have an old gentleman among us born and brought up in Connecticut. He seems to grow young every time it snows. There is no doubt that every fall of snow adds something to the length of his life. I would like to tell you something about our snow-skating and sleigh-driving in the mountains, but I have not time to-day.

Our people are well pleased with the news from Conference. They are wide awake to every movement, and profoundly interested in the great enterprises of the church. Their motto is "forward and upward."

Davenport is preparing for a vigorous spring campaign. Her prospects are flattering, and she presses to a higher destiny. She is peculiarly happy in having secured the services of Mrs. Pell to fill the place of Mrs. Mickette in the music department, a place not easily filled.

Mr. Pell is a lady of fine musical talent and attainments, having enjoyed the best possible opportunities, and having had large experience in her profession in several of our most celebrated institutions of learning. We do not hesitate to guarantee to our patrons the most perfect satisfaction. All other arrangements will be completed in due time.

Very truly yours,

W. M. ROBEY.

For the Advocate.

Annual Conferences.

MR. EDITOR: Methodist preachers are lucky people in one thing at least; and in two things are they not objects of commiseration. The second I will not consider in this paper, though I may call it up hereafter; that is, the amount of "chickens" they are supposed to hide under their girdles yearly, over and above what falls to the lot of less favored mortals.

But I like to dwell on those yearly gatherings, hand-shakings and happy social reunions which I have myself witnessed now and then, and in which, though an "outside barbarian," it has been my pleasure to be included more than once with a cordiality which set me to wondering if I was also among the prophets. It must be a good thing, it is a good thing, to the worn and weary soldier to doff his armor for a while, to lay aside his bow and quiver, his spear and battle-ax for one brief fortnight in the year, and betake himself to rest, if not to actual fun and frolic. He rests from preaching to others, and is preached to by others. He occupies the anomalous relation of a hearer, and from having been the subject and object of criticism for eleven months and a half, he now becomes a critic. And I can assure you, my gentle and unsuspecting brethren, that the way he lays it on whenever he catches, by good fortune, an unhappy brother in the pulpit tripping in his theology, his logic, his rhetoric or his "elocution," ought to be a caution to all Methodist preachers. He's a bloody-minded man, is the Methodist preacher, whenever he turns critic. He scalps his best friend with infinite glee, flays him alive, and dances a genuine Mohawk war-dance around him. His victim's howls have no other effect on him than to intensify the shrillness of his war-whoop and to excite him to pile up yet higher the blazing faggots. I must say, however, that they treat nobody so but one another. If a warrior of another tribe fall into their hands they treat him hospitably and let him go.

But their resting, getting together, talking, laughing, criticising, joking, and having a high time, generally, are not the only yearly good things they enjoy. They get out from their round of duties into the great world. They throw themselves into the great social current and drift with it into new scenes amidst new ideas and fresh associations. They see and hear the bishop too, and that is more than their rustic parishioners do in a lifetime.—I know perhaps thousands of people who never saw a bishop and never will; and yet every circuit-riding Methodist preacher in North Carolina sees one every year.

Now as I communed with myself and considered how unequally Providence had thus distributed the good things of life, I resolved that the brethren shouldn't have it all to themselves; I would see the bishop too; and lo, I saw five! I traveled with two; they were joined by a third in Raleigh; I saw the three make a fourth; and then going on to Goldsboro' I shook hands with the fifth!

One of my Episcopalian clerical brethren, it is true, told me as we rode and chatted together that my bishop was no bishop at all. And then we had it! My excellent brother enlarged on the apostolic succession of his church. I referred him to Archbishop Whately for my answer.

He affirmed that his church dated back to Peter and James and John and Paul. I asked his opinion of Henry the 8th as a church founder. He said his was the mother church and expatiated on her loving, catholic-cherishing spirit. I cited her usage of Mr. Wesley and his coadjutors in proof of the correctness of his views. He called her "THE CHURCH." I suggested that perhaps he meant the Protestant Episcopal Church. He admitted that he did. He said that schism was a great sin and ought never to be countenanced. And I could not but consider what a great sinner his church had been ever since she acquired an independent existence, not only separate from but in violent antagonism to the Romish church from whom she schismed. He admitted that he did not allow any of his church whom he could restrain to go to my church. And I answered that I held it right on principle and in conscience to exact from him and everybody else a full and unreserved respect to my church; "and therefore, my reverend brother," said I, "I never go to an Episcopal church (except on some rare, special occasion like this consecration in Raleigh to-morrow, when I go as a sight-seer); and I never will do so while the world stands unless you people behave better: for I won't "countenance" any such self-sufficient, unmannerly arrogance."

But enough of a thing is enough. Suffice it to say that though we harmonized finely at first while we discussed Calvinism, baptism, &c., &c., the more we talked the more we didn't agree, till in reply to my last observation above written my excellent brother said that he hoped I never would go to an Episcopal church again while the world stands and I continue in that mind.

But, Mr. Editor, here have I written all this and have n't got myself to the Conference yet. Next week let us resume. Meanwhile say to my brother Jo Martin that I am not after him this time. Indeed, I never said that I ever was after him. He said it himself. Conscience, brother J. B.! I'm not one of your Mohawk band. I neither scalp, nor flay alive, nor dance the war dance around a victim. Don't attribute your own performances to me, my good brother!

WOODSDALE.

For the Advocate

Davenport Female College.

To the ministers and members of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference, and to the friends of Davenport College everywhere.

DEAR BRETHREN: I take this opportunity to express to you my profound gratitude for the many personal favors which you have extended to me during the past year, for your hearty co-operation with me as agent of one of your Colleges, and for the generous donations you have made to that College through me. May God abundantly bless you for all these noble kind nesses.

In the judgment of the Board of Trustees and of the Conference, it was thought to be necessary to the prosperity of the College that the agency be continued another year, and by the request of the Conference, I have again been appointed to this responsible and laborious work.

The same cordial welcome which I received, almost everywhere, in the past, I doubt not will be extended in the future. The hearty co-operation of the great majority of our ministers I know will be given. But over and above all this, in order to be success ful, I must have material aid. The people must respond to the appeals for pecuniary help—this is what we so much need and must have for this institution, that it may be prepared to do its legitimate work for the Church of God in the cause of education.

But why should you come to our help now? 1st. Because Davenport is the property of our Church and Conference, both in name and law,—no one else has the shadow of a legal or moral claim to it. 2nd. Its future prosperity is a necessity in order to have the highest development of Methodism in Western North Carolina.

3d. It will take comparatively a small amount to pay off its indebtedness and put it in complete repair.—Six or seven thousand dollars in addition to the amount already paid and pledged will do this. Then we will have an Institution in the western part of our Conference out of debt, in perfect repair, the pride of every true North Carolinian—an ornament to our church, and fully prepared to impart the blessings of a sanctified education to all who may seek it there. Then, and not till then, will it have the success and prosperity which the church so much demands. These are some of the reasons why the Conference, through its agent, appeals to you now, and these are some of the reasons why his appeals will be so earnest and urgent, and his confidence in your liberal response so strong.

Dear Brethren, God has given many of you much of this world's goods.—May He give wisdom and grace to invest it wisely, where it will bless the church and the world not for one year, or your lifetime on earth, but long after you have gone to your reward. Give to Davenport this year $1,000 or $500, or $100, or $50, or as much as you can—some amount worth remembering in after years.

Send to Dr. A. A. Scroggs, Sec'ty, Lenoir, N. C., or to T. J. Gattis, Ag't, Hillsboro, and the church will pray the blessing of God on your head forever.

T. J. GATTIS.

Christianity Pays.

I utterly deny that, taken in the broadest and justest sense, Christianity demands any sacrifices. She pays all expenses, and leaves a large margin of profit. We may count them sacrifices in our short-sightedness, but whatever God command you and me to do, it is our interest to do it; we shall not be the losers in the long run. The books that are kept up there will strike the balance on the right side of the ledger; and when the books are opened, and you and I stand before our God to render an account of our stewardship here on earth, that which we counted a sacrifice will be found then to have been a most profitable investment: that little portion of our worldly wealth which we say we gave away for the cause of God and humanity will then be found the only portion that we took with us.

For the Advocate.

Oxford Orphan Asylum.

BRO. BOBBITT: In the Advocate of Dec. 24th, I see an article over the signature of M. F., descriptive of the operations of the above named institution. This institution, if properly upheld and sustained, is calculated to do much good. This is a very important institution, and has not elicited the degree of interest in the public mind in its behalf it should have done. 'Tis true many noble and appreciative hearts have enjoyed the luxury of contributing to the comfort and mental culture of the dependent inmates; but much yet remains to be done before the Asylum can occupy its position in the scale of prosperity and usefulness it should occupy.—Like other institutions of a similar nature, it requires money to buy books, feed and clothe, and employ suitable persons to look to the mental and moral culture of the little dependent inmates. Having no vested fund on which to draw, it looks for its perpetuity to the charitable donation of friends. We feel assured, however, that the generous emotions of soul, which prompted its incipient existence, will watch over it with an eye of christian regard, and not let it go down the stigma and reproach of this enlightened, christian age.

The State, very properly, has her Lunatic as well as Deaf and Dumb Asylum, which should be fully sustained. Our unfortunate lunatics and deaf mutes should be cared and provided for. A christian people cannot ignore the claims of God's test's of christian love and fidelity and be guiltless in his sight. While christian charity should look to the comfort of those who are deprived of their reasoning faculties, and of such as are unable to sing the praises of the Most High, and listen to the melody of forest songsters and the soul-enrapturing songs of Zion in the sanctuary; can we disregard the claims of the helpless, dependent orphans committed to our christian care and sympathy? Men may fold their arms regardless of the cries of suffering humanity, professing to be the children of Him who went about doing good—feeding the hungry—alleviating the sorrows of the distressed, but the language of the Master is, "Inasmuch as ye did it not to one of these, ye did it not to me."

Could the readers of yours, and other papers, look out on a bright Sabbath morning on the long line of orphans, far away from the scenes of tenderer years, among strangers, marching to the house of God, feelings of interest in their behalf would be awakened which would give assurance of the success and stability of the institution. Just think of a hundred orphans, collected together from all parts of the State, without the caressing kindness of a mother's care; needing the hand of Christian charity to lift them from the vale of obscurity to the sun light of Christian enlightenment and love. Many of them possess intellectual faculties of soul, which, if properly developed and polished by the hand of benevolence, would render them bright ornaments to society and the Christian Church, and stars of rejoicing in the crown of their benefactors in another world.—Who would not, in view of the responsibilities of enlightened Christian minds, contribute, of his abundance, to the mental and moral elevation and comfort of the little dependent ones who have no loving parents to watch over and guide their feet in the ways of truth? Tell me not of the glowing love and zeal of a soul that cannot be awakened into sympathy for sorrow-stricken, bereaved widowed hearts, and listens with stoical indifference to the cries of needy and dependent orphans. Religious love is the emanation of a higher, holier influence, blessing its possessor; and, like its Author, dispensing blessings to others. Like the material sun warmed into luminousness by its Author for the good of the universe, hearts kindled into love in the light of Divine Truth, exert a wholesome and enlightening influence on others.

As I have no connection with the Asylum, I will venture the suggestion, that while there is no impropriety in amusing toy-gifts, substantial and adequate means are essential to the accomplishment of the high and useful ends proposed by the institution.—More good can be done by donating food, raiment and money; or something convertible into money, than mere trifles. As I may allude to this subject again, I will say, in conclusion, the Bible says, "He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the Lord;" and, as a preacher once said to his congregation, "if you like the security, down with the cash." Let not the cheek of a North Carolinian ever be mantled with shame on account of the failure of such an important and praise-worthy institution as the Oxford Orphan Asylum. H.

Oxford, N. C., Dec. 28th, 1873.

Selected.

OUT OF TUNE.

The Most Remarkable Case on Record.

Search the files of heaven above, the earth beneath, or the waters under the earth, says the 'East Carolina,' correspondent of the Petersburg Appeal, and no such case has ever been adjudicated in a court, of supreme appeals. Your readers shall have it to construe. It needs no comments:

State vs. Wm. Linkhaw.

Indictment for misdemeanor, tried before Judge Settle, at Robeson Superior Court, spring term, 1873.

Defendant was indicted for disturbing a religious congregation. The evidence as detailed by several witness is substantially this: defendant is a member of the church, he sings in such a way as to disturb the congregation; at the end of each verse, his voice is heard after all other singers have ceased.

One of the witnesses, being requested to describe defendant's singing, imitated it by singing a verse in the form and manner of defendant, which produced a burst of prolonged and irresistible laughter, convulsing alike the spectators, the bar, the jury and the court.

It was in evidence that the disturbance occasioned by defendant's singing was decided and serious; the effect of it was to make one part of the congregation laugh and the other mad; that the irreligious and frivolous enjoyed it as fun, while those that were serious and devout were indignant.

It was also in evidence (without objection) that the congregation had been so much disturbed by it that the preacher had declined to sing the hymn, and shut up the book without singing it, and the presiding elder had refused to preach in the church on account of the disturbance occasioned by it; and that on one occasion a leading member of the church, appreciating that there was a feeling of solemnity prevailing the congregation in consequence of the sermon just delivered, and fearing that it would be turned into ridicule, went to the defendant and asked him not to sing, and on that occasion he did not sing.

It also appeared that on many occasions the church members and authorities expostulated with the defendant about his singing and the disturbance growing out of it. To all of which he replied:—"That he would worship his God, and as a part of his worship it was his duty to sing."

Defendant is a strict member of the church, and a man of very exemplary department.

It was not contended by the State upon the evidence that he had any intention or purpose to disturb the congregation, but on the contrary, it was admitted that he was conscientiously taking part in the religious services.

* * * * * *

There was a verdict of guilty, judgment and an appeal for the defendant.

W. McL. and N. A. McLean, for the appellant.

Attorney-General Hargrove for the State.

Settle, Judge: The defendant is indicted for disturbing a religious congregation while engaged in divine worship, and the disturbance is alleged to consist in singing, which is described to be so peculiar as to excite mirth in one portion of the congregation and indignation in the other. From the evidence reported by his Honor, who presided at the trial, it appears that at the end of each verse his voice is heard after all the other singers have ceased; and that the disturbance is decided and serious; and the church members and authorities expostulated with the defendant about his singing and the disturbance growing out of it—to all of which he replied that he would worship his God, and that as a part of his worship it was his duty to sing. It was further in evidence that the defendant is a strict member of the church and a man of most exemplary deportment.

It was the contended by the State upon the evidence that he had any intention or purpose to disturb the congregation, but on the contrary, it was admitted that he was conscientiously taking part in the religious services.

* * * * * *

It would be seen that the defendant is a proper subject for the discipline of his church, but not for the discipline of the courts.

Per curiam. Venire de novo.

Prayer blunts the fiery darts of the devil, and draws down the blessings of heaven; it sheaths the sword of the Almighty's vengeance, and procures a blessing instead of a curse.

As you would have your mercies always fresh and green, smiling and thriving; as you would have your mercies to bed and board with you, to rise up and lie down with you, and in all conditions to attend you; murmur not, murmur not.

A Short Catechism.

Question 1.—Why do ministers when they call the people to prayer, throw up one or both hands toward the ceiling?

Answer.—It is difficult to say why they do so. It seems to be a custom, like many other senseless customs, whose origin and significance cannot be explained.

Perhaps Methodists have borrowed this singular sign from the Presbyterians, in whose pulpits it means, "Rise and stand up for prayer." But why a Methodist minister raises hands when he wants his congregation to kneel down for prayer, is a question hard to answer.

Q. 2.—What is the scriptural meaning of "saying grace" at table before eating?

A.—It means giving thanks to God, the Father of Mercies, for the food spread before us.

Q. 3.—If this be correct, is it proper to call "saying grace," asking a blessing?

A.—By no means: the blessing is already given—the food provided by a bountiful Providence is a blessing, and we do not mean to ask God to work a miracle in compelling our digestive organs to act healthfully on everything we see proper to swallow, but simply to acknowledge our dependence and express out gratitude to Him.

Q. 4.—Is it right for preachers to tell anecdotes that are mixed with pure expressions, and only intended to cause people laugh.

A.—We do not think it is right. An anecdote, chaste in itself, and calculated to illustrate a truth or principle, is very proper, either in company or in the pulpit; but preachers who tell "smutty jokes" in company, do more harm than they imagine. Thoughtless people who hear them will form unfavorable opinions of the men whom they hear thus talking, and think more lightly of religion; and weak and young Christians are always damaged in their views of Christian life and temper on hearing such conversations.

Q 5. Is there any scriptural authority for this opinion?

A.—There is. The Epistles of Paul to Timothy and Titus, which treat mostly of the duties and spirit of the holy ministry, if studied carefully and followed closely, would entirely abolish from the minds, hearts and lips of preachers all conversation of questionable propriety. In fact, the Christian ministry is a vocation of such gravity—it has to deal with such sacred interests—that there can surely be no "room for mirth or trifling." Every preacher should remember the words of Paul: "Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ."—Western Methodist.

"All Things New"

A NEW YEAR'S PSALM.

BY REV. F. BOTTOME, D. D.

All things new! what a world of bliss!
Fresh from the Maker's hand it was this!
The clear blue sky, without a cloud,
The holy light without a shroud,
Sun, moon and stars in glory beam,
Illumined Heaven's new firmament;
The bright green earth in fadeless love,
Fruit, flower and fragrance—all things new.

All things new! and the earnest gaze
Saw but a world in bright amaze!
The plume of bird, the skin of beast,
All were new as a marriage feast;
And song and worship filled the air,
And praise was all the voice of prayer;
For man his inspiration drew,
Amidst a world of all things new.

All things new! and man the best—
First thought, last made, to rule the rest:
Man in his full perfection stood,
The last and best made work of God,
All things new! what a world of bliss!
Fresh from the Maker's hand was this!
But sin his poisoned chalice threw
And death came over all things new.

All things new! and the word went forth,
And a groan sang a royal birth;
Out from a new creation bar[illegible]
A glory brighter than the best,—
Incarnate Goodness crucified,
Restoring more than Eden's pride,
Thought, wish, and feeling, just and true:
God in us, making all things new!

All things new! In this year of grace,
To look in to My Saviour's face,
And see, by strange transforming love,
Myself reflected from above!
O, opening year! oh, freshest light
Has nought so beauteous in my sight—
Heaven's fadeless bloom where thistles grew,
Behold He maketh all things new!"

George Muller

I cannot tell you, dear reader, how happy this service in which I am engaged makes me. Instead of my being the anxious careworn man as many persons think me to be, I have no anxieties and no cares at all. Faith in God leads me to roll my burdens—all my burdens upon God. Not only burdens concerning money, but concerning everything; for hundreds are my necessities, besides those connected with money. And in every way I find God to be my helper, even as I trust in him, for everything, and pray to him in child-like simplicity about everything. Be encouraged, dear fellow-believer, to go this blessed way, this happy way yourself, and you will see what peace and joy it affords.—Mueller's 20th Report.

Infidelity Irrational.

The Edinburg Review concludes its review of Strauss' last book with these eloquent and pertinent words:

"Dr. Strauss is so far consistent that having began by rejecting the historical evidence of the Resurrection of Christ, he ends by rejecting the entire doctrine of the immortality of the soul, and indeed the very existence of any spiritual element in man. But we are at a loss to understand the position of those who cling to the belief in man's immortal nature, whilst they reject the face of Christ's resurrection and the creed of Christendom. For surely, if it be once admitted that existence is not ended and extinguished by what we call death, the reappearance of Christ on earth was only the manifestation of the higher law of our being in a visible form. Every page of the Gospel and of the writings of St. Paul, demonstrates that the doctrine of the immortality of the soul, confirmed by the fact of the resurrection of Christ, is the grand cardinal truth which the Apostles had to proclaim to mankind. If Christ be not risen from the dead, then were they of all men the most miserable. Human life itself, with all its hopes and aspirations, would be an imposture. But if a man be indeed a being with a future beyond the grave, then is the resurrection of Christ but the first fruit of them that sleep. And in that sense it is invariably presented by the Christian religion to mankind.

"For if the possibility of our Lord's resurrection be once fairly conceded—as it must be conceded by those who build the immortality of the soul—then the cause of Christianity is as good as won. For the historical proof that accumulates around that one point is so overwhelmingly conclusive, that no honest and really scientific mind, we are bold to say, can escape the conviction that it really happened. If modern critics, instead of talking fine and learned Rhetorical nonsense, with M. Renan about Mary Magdalene as if she alone had borne testimony to the resurrection of Christ, instead of darkening amid a cloud of pious phrases—as Ewald and Schenkel have done—a plain historical fact; instead of contemptuously sneering, with Dr. Strauss, at a confessedly extraordinary event, simply because it is extraordinary—if such men would condescend to explain to us (1) how St. Paul's four great Epistles and the Apocalypse (which they all acknowledge to be genuine) can, under any other hypothesis, have come to be written; (2) how the terrified and scattered Apostles can, on any other rational supposition, have suddenly recovered their courage and their hopes; and (3) how, if the basis and key-stone of her whole teaching be a gross imposture or delusion, the Christian Church can conceivably have grasped, with such a wonderful and permanent force, the reins which govern the human will, and have kept for centuries in the highway of progress the otherwise wild and wasteful powers of the human intelligence—then, and not till then, will we consent to abandon this keen and citadel of the Christian faith. But we have no sympathy with those dreams of less than heathen piety, which would direct the faith of man to the fabric of nature or to his own destiny as objects of worship. These pretended religions might be taught from the wretched lingering failure of their kindred Buddhism, what living death is in store for every creed that hopes to redeem the world from its moral impotence by a Godless nihilism, whose teachings (in the words of one who knew it well) are likegath ered blossoms—flowers cut away from the root of the tree."

Late at Church.

The Springfield Republican says:—"One of the papers tells the story of a man coming into church after the sermon had begun, whereupon the preacher paused, and said to him, 'Glad to see you, but come in, come in; always glad to see those here late who can't come early.' To which salutation the stranger, taking his seat as coolly replied, 'Thank you; would you favor me with the text?' 'Certainly,' was the answer, which was done, and the discourse moved on as before. This recalls a Missouri incident. One cold night the Rev. Ezra S. Ely, of presbyterian fame, was preaching in a prairie farm house. When about a third through the sermon, two late comers rode up to the door and entered. The doctor stopped, and said that, as these friends were very cold with their ride, the meeting would sing a hymn while they were warming themselves, which being done, he observed that as they had taken so much trouble to come, he would begin his discourse again for their benefit; and taking his text, he accordingly commenced once more at the beginning and repeated his sermon, rather more to their edification than to that of the rest of the audience, perhaps."—They came earlier after that.

Is Your Soul Insured?

Reader, it may be you hold a 'Policy' from some reliable corporation, by virtue of which, after your decease, if they survive you, your widow and children will receive a sum of money, that will serve for maintenance, when deprived of your presence, support, and services. You own a house, a tenement of clay, and you have it insured against fire—that is, if it accidentally burns, the loss will be made up to you. Or, you have ships at sea, laden with merchandize, which, if unhappily wrecked, you have made provision, that some wealthy insurance company, and not you, sustains the loss. These 'policies,' as they are termed, have cost you a handsome sum in the shape of premiums. All this is wise and proper, and indicates a commendable degree of worldly prudence. But how stands it with you immortal Soul? This is of incalculably higher value than houses and lands, wares and merchandise, or any mere temporal possession. Once lost, the soul can never be replaced. Have you this insured? Jesus Christ, your Saviour, grants you a policy, which will protect you against the possibility of loss, and that, too, without money and without price. There is no premium to be paid. All that is required is to accept the salvation, the cost of which He Himself has paid, not with silver and gold, but with His own precious blood. Fail not, therefore, if you have not already done so, without delay, to effect an insurance against the possible loss of your soul, for what would it profit a man, if he should gain the whole world, and lose his soul, or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? Lutheran Observer.

The great need of the ministry is power from on high. Our ministers have talent, learning, eloquence, and yet they are weak, they lack power to lead souls to Christ. This is a spiritual endowment which all may have, and all who are wholly consecrated to God, and believe his promises, will have. Why then do they not possess it? Why are they so weak and ineffective? The venerable Charles G. Finney urges this inquiry in the Independent with great pungency. He closes an article with rebuke and appeal. 'Are we not weak? Are we not criminally weak? It has been suggested that by writing thus I should offend the ministry and the church. I can not believe that the statement of so palpable a fact will be regarded as an offence. The fact is, there is something sadly defective in the education of the ministry and of the church. The ministry is weak, because the church is weak. And then, again, the church is kept weak by the weakness of the ministry. Oh! for a conviction of the necessity of this endowment of power and faith in the promise of Christ"

Frequent society gives familiarity, and familiarity increases love and delight, and makes us bold in our addresses. The chief end of this duty is, to have acquaintance and fellowship with God; and therefore, if thou come but seldom to it, thou wilt keep thyself a stranger still. When a man feels his need of God, and must seek his help in a time of necessity, then it is a great encouragement, to go to a God we know and are acquainted with. 'O,' saith the heavenly Christian, 'I know both whither I go, and to whom. I have gone this way many a time before now.' On the other hand, what a horror and discouragement will it be to the soul, when it is forced to fly to God in straits, to think, 'Alas! I know not whither to go. I never went this way before. I have no acquaintance at the court of heaven. My soul knows not that God that I must speak to, and I fear he will not know my soul.' But especially when we come to die, and expect to enter into his eternal rest, then the difference will plainly appear. Then what a joy will it be to think, 'I am going to the place that I daily conversed in, to the place from whence I tasted such frequent delights; to that God whom I have met in my meditations so often!'

Seed Thoughts.

SEASONABLE RELIGION.—This kind of religion that alternates between the house top and cellar—now elated and now discouraged—is not in harmony with the arrangement of heaven.—"Abide in the Vine,"—not be alternately in and out, but "abide" in Christ. This getting religion, when we are destitute of it, is all right; but it is far better to keep it.

"Our thoughts," says an eloquent divine, "like the waters of the sea, when exhaled towards heaven, will lose all their bitterness and saltness, and sweeten into an amiable humanity, until they descend in gentle showers of love and kindness upon our fellowmen."

I have had a view in my sickness that I never had before, respecting those objects which have kept me in a dose at least, when I ought to have been broad awake. Art and science, literature, curiosities, news, and even nonsense, have wasted hours and days, and that while I had a most important charge to be executed.—Cecil.

The Christian Advocate.

RALEIGH, N. C., JANUARY 7TH, 1874.

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

Terms.

For one year, single copy, in advance $2 00
For six months, single copy " " 1.25
If payment be delayed six months, 2 50

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us more will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters for the office should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount in hand. If money is sent otherwise than herein specified it will be at the sender's risk.

The New Year.

Human society, individual life, and personal history, all have lines which are passed but once. One of these lines runs between us at this writing and our readers as they shall peruse these sentences. We write just as we are about to cross the line which bounds another year. We can cross it but once. You will have crossed it ere you read this, but it will be only for once. The old year is gone forever. The new year brings to us its greetings:—it can never come again.—Standing at just this point, we may review, but not recall the past. We may anticipate the future, but it is not yet ours. It may never be. What a moment for reflection as we step from one year to another—a step which can never be retraced! Such is mortal life.

As a public journalist, we have closed the labors of another year. We are happy in the belief that we have been permitted to carry joy and gladness to many homes and hearts. We have been enabled to speak to thousands—to tell them of Zion's progress and conquests—of the conversion of sinners, and the establishment of believers. But to some households we have carried the sad news of loved ones departed no more to return. The same paper which has given joy to some hearts has caused the tear of bereavement to dim the eye of other readers. But all this is past. We cannot but feel profoundly grateful for the continued favor of our God upon our labors. Never before has our list of readers been so large, and never before has the Advocate been permitted to do so much for Christ and his cause as during the year which has just closed.

We enter upon the labors of the new year, realizing more fully than ever before the responsibilities of our position. What is in store for us, we know not. Our trust is in God, and our prayer is that His Divine hand which placed us here, and has hitherto guided us, may still direct us in the labors of the year.

With the experience of six years in journalism, the knowledge we have acquired as to the wants of the church, and an increased interest in our work, we hope to make the Advocate this year better than ever before. But we make no pledges farther than to try to do our duty. It shall be our constant aim to make the paper a welcome visitor to the homes of all our readers, and no effort or expense, at our own command, shall be spared to extend its sphere of usefulness.

To do this, we must rely upon the continued efforts of our ministers and people. Its past success is no guarantee of its future prosperity. It will require as much effort to perpetuate its existence, and increase its usefulness, as it did to give it life and raise it to a self sustaining basis. We cannot stand still and hope for success.—We appeal to the preachers, one and all, to stand by it. It is your adopted organ—you have pledged to sustain it, and to use every possible effort to increase its circulation. You fully appreciate its importance—you would not—indeed could not, do without it. It is a co-laborer with you in your pastoral work. We rely upon you for your hearty co-operation—we expect it—shall we have it?

With these reflections, we bid our readers a happy New Year, and we do so with an earnest desire that peace and prosperity may attend them in their pilgrimage of another year. Appropriating the sentiment of the poet, let us with a firm trust in God enter upon the duties of the new year:

We are standing on the threshold, we are in the opened door,
We are treading on a border land we have never trod before:
Another year is opening, and another year is gone,
We have passed the darkness of the night; we are in the early morn;
We have left the fields behind us o'er which we scattered seed;
We pass into the future which none of us can read.
The corn among the weeds, the stones, the surface mould,
May yield a partial harvest; we hope for sixty-fold.
Then hasten to fresh labor, to thrash, and reap and sow,
Then bid the new year welcome, and bid the old year go—
Then gather all your vigor, press forward in the light,
And let this be your motto, "For God, and for the Right."

To our Patrons.

A large number of subscriptions to the Advocate expire with this issue, and with the issue which succeeds it. We have, at considerable cost and labor, drawn off each subscriber's account, whose subscription is already out, or will expire during the present month, as well as those which will run out early in February, and enclose them in the paper of this date. In some instances, we have sent the bills to the preachers, but supposing many of them have not yet reached their work, and wishing to facilitate payment as rapidly as possible, we have sent most of the bills direct to the subscribers. We earnestly request each person receiving in this number of the Advocate a bill for the renewal of his or her subscription, to respond promptly. We need the money to meet the current expenses of the office. The subscription is only $2 a year. It is the cheapest religious paper in the State. The Biblical Recorder, the organ of the Baptist Church in North Carolina is $2.50 per year, and the Fayetteville Presbyterian, the organ of the Presbyterian Church in this State, is also $2.50 a year. These are excellent church papers, and the price charged for them is not too high. The Advocate is too cheap for its size and cost of publication. It is larger in size than the Recorder, and as large as the Presbyterian. We ought to charge $3 a year, but we reduced the price to $2 so as to place it within the reach of all our people. The price before the war, when paper and labor were much cheaper than now, was $3. It does seem that every Methodist in the State would esteem it a privilege, as well as a duty incumbent upon him, to support it. We earnestly appeal to all to renew without delay, and to use their influence to increase its circulation. Let no one conclude, because the times are hard, that he can no longer take his church paper. We have recently spent every dollar of the profits of the past year, and even more, for new type and other materials for the use of the office—Will you not show your appreciation of our labors and sacrifices by doing what you can to support the enterprise? We believe you will.

Greensboro' Female College.—A friend just from Greensboro' informs us that the spring session of this popular institution of learning has opened well. Nearly all the young ladies, who were present the past session have returned, and many new ones are coming in. Its able faculty, and the superior advantages offered for a thorough education, renders it one of the most desirable institutions for young ladies in the South.

Declined.—We have declined the publication of an article from Alexis in reply to the rejoinder of Lector.—Both sides have had a hearing—enough has been said - perhaps too much. No good can result from a continuance of the controversy. We have kind feelings for all parties concerned, and hope the brethren will settle the points at issue, privately.

Rev. B. B. Culbreth, agent for Trinity College, writes us that he has made a good beginning in his agency. He proposes to visit Raleigh in a few days, in the interest of Trinity. We trust our people will extend a hearty welcome, and respond liberally in aid of the College.

We have pledges from a number of brethren to the effect that they intend to bestir themselves the present year in behalf of the Advocate. One brother has volunteered to say that he will send us one hundred subscribers during the year.

We give due notice to all our delinquent subscribers that after the expiration of thirty days their names will be stricken from our list should they fail to renew by that time. We cannot furnish the Advocate on credit, and we trust that our friends will not insist upon our doing so.

Durham Station, heretofore attached to the circuit, has, as we are informed, extended to their pastor, Rev. J. J. Renn, a cordial welcome. He has entered upon his work with encouraging prospects.

The preachers who desire their papers changed will please forward their post office address without delay. We shall make no change only as we are requested to do so.

Rev. A. W. Mangum, who has been absent from the city for the past two weeks, is expected to return in time to occupy his pulpit next Sabbath.

Trinity College.—The attention of parents and guardians is called to the advertisement of Trinity College in the Advocate of to day. The prospects for the spring session, as we are informed, are flattering. We most heartily commend the College and its Faculty to the patronage of our people.

Davenport Female College.—We are pleased to learn that the prospects for Davenport are encouraging. It is located in a healthy and pleasant portion of the State, with a competent faculty, and the terms are moderate. The friends of the institution will be glad to learn that the services of Mrs. Pell, the widow of the late Rev. Wm. E. Pell, of blessed memory, has been secured as music teacher. She is a lady of fine accomplishments in this department. In the most prosperous days of Edgeworth Female Seminary, she was one of its music teachers.

The Need of the Church.

Much has been written and published in books and our church papers on the subject of an educated ministry. Loud are the calls for the establishment of a great theological university looking to the consummation of this object, as the one great need of the Church. Education, we concede, is an indispensable instrumentality in the work of saving souls, and an educated ministry is of the utmost importance. But in the language of a devoted, studious and successful minister, "the Church is mistaken about her need. It is not education, but consecration. A consecrated ministry will, by God's aid, get education enough. Education, next to sin, is hard to sanctify. I will not plead for ignorance, but for consecration."

Education has its place in the Church and in the ministry, but it can never do the work of a consecrated ministry. Such were the views of Mr. Wesley. In a letter to Mr. Benson, then a young man preparing for the ministry, he says: "Beware you are not swallowed up in books; an ounce of love is worth a pound of knowledge." The great founder of Methodism was not the man to undervalue an educated ministry. But he well knew that an educated ministry without consecration is like a body without a spirit. This corresponds with the view of the inspired Apostle: "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, (love) I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal."

The Apostle Paul understood the importance of education in the ministry, but, like Mr. Wesley, he placed a holy and consecrated life far above it. There are different views, however, entertained as to the extent of ministerial consecration. Separation is not consecration. The minister who separates himself from secular employments and devotes his time and talents to the work of the ministry is not thereby consecrated to the work in the sense here alluded to. Many a minister has done this, spending a life-time in the work, knowing nothing of that consecration which makes a "workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." The worldly minded, ease loving minister is not consecrated to the work of the ministry. There is a difference, too, between devotion and consecration.

The consecration contemplated by a Divine call to the ministerial office is like that shown by the Apostles when they said, "We will give ourselves continually to prayer and to the ministry of the Lord." Nothing short of this can insure success in the work of saving souls. It is true a worldly minded—an unconsecrated preacher may have seals to his ministry. But to be useful and successful in soul saving, the minister must be consecrated to the work—heart and life. Any thing short of this makes his ministry a failure. No minister is, or can be fully consecrated to the work who has not entered into the experience and enjoyments of the higher Christian life. This is the experience of those who have attained to it. For no one can be consecrated to the work of the ministry who is not wholly consecrated to the service of God; and no one is truly consecrated until he has laid himself a living sacrifice upon the altar of consecration, soul, body and spirit, with all his redeemed powers.

Now is the Time.—The way to succeed in anything is to take hold of it at the right time, and in the right way. Be in earnest, be persistent. If our preachers desire the success of the Advocate (and we believe they do) let them commence an active canvass at the beginning of the Conference year. Take a copy of the paper with you on your first round—take it with you in the pulpit—show it to the people—talk for it, and urge its claims. More than half of the members of the church who take a religious paper at all, do so at the earnest solicitation of their pastors. The way to make our people intelligent Christians, is to get them to read our books and periodicals.—There is no source from which they can gain so much general information about the polity, movements and progress of our church, for so small an outlay, as they can by reading a good religious paper. The Advocate will keep them posted—stimulate to duty, and suggest ways and means for its performance.

Try the plan above suggested, and you will find it to work well.

The following is that part of the report of the committee on Books and Periodicals, adopted at the late session of our Conference, relative to the Advocate:

The Raleigh Christian Advocate, the organ of the North Carolina Conference, edited by Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, is a firm supporter of our doctrines and usages, and a very valuable medium of communication among us; we therefore hail with pleasure every evidence of its prosperity. It has recently appeared in a new and beautiful dress, thus giving evidence, that in the midst of prevalent distress, its finances are in a healthy condition. We learn that its circulation has increased, and that its prospects are encouraging. In view of these facts, Resolved 1st, That we recommend it to the patronage of our people, believing that it has pre-eminent claims upon us.

Resolved 2nd, That we request the Bishop to re-appoint Rev. J. B. Bobbitt Editor.

Send your Job work to the Advocate Office.

A Worthy Example

Rev. Dr. Jas. Duncan, President of Randolph Macon College Virginia, in his annual report to the Virginia Conference, related the following incident which occurred at a meeting held many years ago, where the interests of the College were being discussed. In 1846 several patronizing Conferences, having established Colleges of their own, had withdrawn their support and Randolph Macon had almost subsided—the treasury was empty and there were only about thirty students in attendance. "At this critical hour, the Virginia Conference met at the College, the interests of the College were fully discussed; the founders of the institution were themselves present; and the voices that had originally spoken life into this enterprise were eloquent for its revival; new enthusiasm was awakened, and liberal subscriptions were made on the spot by preachers and laymen; and one honored layman, who is still with us, gave so generously that day that the speaker on the floor implored him not to exceed his ability. The reply was worthy of our noble Steward: 'I have learned by experience,' said he, 'that it is more blessed to give than to receive.'

It is hardly too much to say that his generous example and liberal gifts that day saved the life of the College."

Such men are a blessing to Church and State and it is much to be regretted that we have not more of them in our State. When Heaven bestows property and worldly prosperity upon men, it does it in order that they may use it wisely and liberally for the good of humanity—for the promotion of morality and intelligence and creature comfort in the world. There are many persons of wealth and influence in the bounds of our Conference, who have never lent their assistance to our cherished enterprises and to whose generosity, Greensboro, Trinity and Davenport Colleges are utter strangers. If the means they have at their bestowal, were employed in the right way, our Colleges would not be compelled to slowly pick their way through the darkness and gloom of financial disaster, but would be guided by the glad sunlight of prosperity falling on and glorifying their pathways.

Liberal men who direct their liberality aright, will always find their experience to be that of the old Virginia Steward that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

Important to the Public.

Mrs. F. C. Nicholson, one of the teachers in Davenport Female College, will leave Mt. Olive for Davenport on Thursday, the 8th of January. Persons wishing to send their daughters to this School can place them in her care at Goldsboro, Raleigh, Greensboro, Salisbury or any other point on the Rail Road. She will leave Goldsboro about 3 P. M., and reach Salisbury about 4 the next morning.

Mrs. V. C. Pell, who takes the place of Mrs. Midyette in the music department, will probably leave Cary by the same train. Address Mrs. Nicholson at Mt. Olive.

W. M. Robey.

Trinity College.

For next session, commencing Jan. 17th, the entire expense for board, tuition, washing and fuel, is from $200 to $310. The board and accommodations are very superior in every respect.

During the past year, the representation from the Districts of the Conference at the College is as follows:

Raleigh 12, Hillsboro 12, Greensboro 42, Salisbury 9, Shelby 4, Charlotte 12, Fayetteville 17, Wilmington 2, Newberne 9, Washington 16.

All the preachers have, in effect, scholarships for all their sons at Trinity. Since we promise to educate all the sons of the preachers free as to tuition, Trinity asks the prompt, zealous support of all the preachers and of friends generally.

B. Craven.

December 27th.

The Methodist of Greensboro' gave a donation party to their pastor, Rev. J. A. Cunningim last week, at which presents, rich, valuable and useful were made to him and his family. The Greensboro' people have a way of making themselves agreeable on all occasions, and we are glad to see that they do not forget their pastor at the beginning of the New Year. Would it not be well for other congregations to follow the example set by our Greensboro' friends?

Rev. H. P. Cole, the newly appointed pastor of Person Street Church, has arrived in the city, and has entered upon his pastoral duties. He preached last Sabbath morning and evening to a crowded house.

We are requested by Bro. Hoyle to say that he will commence his labors on the Warren circuit on the 1st Sabbath in January.

The preachers who were received on trial into the traveling connection at the late session of our Conference will please forward to us their post office address.

We invite a careful reading of our prospectus for 1874, which appears on our third page.

About 150—more than two thirds—of the students at Randolph Macon College are members of the church, nineteen are sons of ministers and forty four are preparing for the Methodist ministry.

Religious Intelligence.

The Richmond Christian Advocate commenced last week the publication of a narrative of the Great Revival in the Southern armies during the late civil war.

—Rev. Dr. Van Nest has returned to Florence to resume labor in behalf of the Free Church of Italy.

—The Canadian Wesleyan Missionary Society raised last year more than $105,000—an increase over the receipts of the previous year of over $14,000.

—The Pacific says the California Congregational Churches have taken a step forward in organizing a woman's board of missions for the Pacific coast, and already local auxillary society are forming at different points.

—The Presbyterians of New York have determined to supervise their own city Sunday school missions work, instead of continuing their affiliation longer with the New York Sunday School Union.

—A Western exchange says: "Rev. S. A Clark, a Baptist missionary in the western part of Kansas, has a portable church tent capable of seating 500 persons. He has two good mules, and a wagon on springs, furnished expressly for the transportation of his church from place to place."

—The Chicago papers state that at the close of the consecration of Dr. Cheney, in Christ Church, Chicago, as Assistant Bishop of The Reformed Episcopal Church, a cordial invitation was extended to all Christians present to remain and commune with the Church, and that over two thousand accepted the invitation.

We notice that Rev. Dr. Deems has recently visited Augusta, Georgia, and while there delivered a lecture before the Young Men's Christian Association.

The Constitutionalist pays the following handsome compliment to the distinguished lecturer:

"The lecture, to a fair audience, was, all in all, so delightful, on such a beautiful theme, and so eloquently and sweetly delivered, that those who were so fortunate as to hear it will never forget the lessons contained in it. There was so much pathos, so many happy hits, so many mellow lessons, so much true Christian religion, alternating in so harmonious a manner in the lecture that the entire audience was silently listening and eager to catch every word that fell from the lips of the lecturer, lest they should allow some softening thought, some soothing word, some valuable lesson to be lost.

The Doctor seemed to have put on all his religion, humor, wit and morality at once and the same time."

The Army of Tennessee.

I have been solicited, from time to time, by many friends, to write a history of the work of grace in the Army of Tennessee, with accompanying incidents, during the progress of the late war between the United States and the Confederate States. I have gained the consent of my mind, after much hesitation, to comply with the urgent request of those who feel an interest in such a production. To make the work as complete as possible, I ask my friends, and especially all the chaplains and missionaries who were in the service, to give me such items as they may judge will be interesting to the Christian public. Incidents, anecdotes, and facts, will be gladly received. Let all communications state in whose command, and in what division, of the army the writer served. Please write without delay. Address,

J. B. McFerrin,
Nashville, Tenn.

P. S. Papers friendly to this undertaking will be kind enough to copy this notice.

Dec. 24, 1873.

Praying For Editors.

Rev. Mr. Mutchmore, says the St. Louis Christian Advocate, formerly a neighbor and co-laborer of the present writer in the work of the ministry, has recently undertaken the editorial management of the Presbyterian; a paper published in Philadelphia, and, judging from some things which have appeared in the editorial columns, he finds his work not altogether so easy as he had supposed. In a late issue he calls upon people to pray for editors. He admits that before he took an editor's chair he seldom ever thought of praying for editors. Among other well-timed remarks, he has the following:

'Your pastor's sermons would be as dull and irksome, and as commonplace as the most stupid paper, if he had no more prayer or kind words to encourage him in his work. Christians lose sight of the personality of the editor; he is lost in types and paper and is not thought of except as the paper man. Very marked is the difference between the pastor delivering his messages to the people and receiving the reflex of his own thoughts in approval, from the same man as editor, delivering through the press often better thoughts, who, at best, can expect little more than silence as evidence of appreciation. Editors can only construe the silence of a majority of their congregation as assurance of satisfaction, and when this is broken, it is often in a round of abuse.

If people knew half the difficulties of editing and publishing a religious paper, they would feel that of all men, editors need the prayers of the Church. Does anybody pray for the religious journals of the country? Does anybody pray for the secular press, which more than all other human agencies, shapes our destinies for good or evil?'

Foundry and Machinery for sale.—The valuable property known as the N. C. Agricultural machine works is announced to be sold on the 21st of this month. It is a rare chance for a splendid investment.

We invite special attention to the double column advertisement of A. G. Lee & McMackin, which appears in this issue. The Diamond Cotton Chopper and Cultivator, of which they are the agents in this city, is said to be one of the most useful inventions of the age. Messrs. A. G. Lee & McMackin are enterprising gentlemen, and their statements in all matters of business may be relied upon.

Petty & Jones.—Among the many good business houses of Raleigh, none enjoy a better and more deserved reputation than the firm of Petty & Jones. They are constantly supplied with an extensive assortment of goods which are sold for prices at which buyers do not complain. Major Petty, the senior member of the firm, has recently returned from New York where he has been making large purchases. He is well known among Raleigh merchants as a capital buyer and as he has bought at the low figures which now obtain in New York, their goods can be sold cheap.

State News.

The interments in Oakdale Cemetery, Wilmington, during the year 1873, numbered 102, of which 49 were males, 41 females, and 12 whose sex is not stated. The number of interments for 1867 and 1873 are the same.

The store of Mr. J. A. Edwards, at Rosindale, Robeson co., was entered by burglars. They were subsequently arrested and the most of the property recovered.

J. W. Marshall, a printer and formerly attached to the Morning Star, was so badly injured on the C. C. & A. R. Road that his leg had to be amputated.

Over 4000 bales of cotton were shipped from Wilmington to European ports during the last year. Success to "direct trade!"

The Virginius whose capture by the Spaniards all but caused war between the United States and Spain, while being carried to New York, was wrecked off Cape Fear last week.

Abbie Dry, a colored woman of Wilmington died at the age of 123 leaving an orphan son of 80.

A large number of competitors have entered for the State Agricultural Society's field crops.

John Spelman, Esq. formerly associate editor of the Daily Sentinel, is now said to be private secretary to Hon. W. A. Smith.

His Excellency, Gov. Caldwell has respited Joseph Baker who was to have been hanged in Charlotte last week. The execution is stayed until the 16th inst.,

The Salemites were delighted with the Berger Family.

There were 66 arrivals in the port of Wilmington last month.

Ice was 2½ inches thick in and around Salem on Wednesday.

A shooting match was one of the features of Christmas in Magnolia.

The Jefferson Messenger gives an account of a terrible murder which was committed in the neighborhood of Helton Camp, Watauga county last week, Elisha Peacock and Richard Anderson, were courting the same girl—Miss McCarter, when as a natural sequence jealously sprang up between them.—They met at a neighbor's house on the 1st of December, and soon began a quarrel, which resulted in blows, and finally the stabbing of Anderson in the heart—causing his death in seven minutes. Peacock is in jail at Jefferson.

The Sheriff of Lincoln county met with a serious accident recently. His horse fell down and rolled on him in a gully and but for timely assistance, he would have been crushed to death.

The Piedmont Press says: The fortieth session of the Rutherford College, (Burke County,) opens the 7th of this month. The last session was an unusually prosperous one, there being in attendance 153 students. South Carolina, Georgia, Missouri, Florida and Tennessee were represented the past session, showing the widely increasing patronage of the Institution.

Says the Piedmont Press:

We learn that Dr. Christopher Happoldt, late of Morganton, N. C., did not desert his post while that fearful pestilence, yellow fever, ravaged Memphis, Tenn., but stuck it out like a man. Had the fever himself, and was so impressed by the self-sacrificing spirit of the sisters of charity, that he has connected himself with the Catholic Church.

The Piedmont Press wants Rev. L. S. Burkhead D. D. to make Hickory his home.

The Piedmont Lodge of Good Templars at Hickory, had a torch-light procession and mass meeting on Christmas eve, at which much enthusiasm was exhibited.

Theo. N. Ramsay, Esq., has administered the pledge of total abstinence to one thousand persons in North Carolina during the past twelve months.

Personal.

—The late Professor Agassiz was a steadfast Democrat to the end of his life.

—California begins to have home-made Governors. The successor to Gov. Booth, Lieut. Gov. Pacheco, is the first native Californian that has ever occupied the gubernatorial chair.

—It is said that Rev. J. Rumple, of Salisbury, will be called to fill the chair of Professor at Davidson College, formerly occupied by Prof. Richardson.

—Milton S. Littlefield, the great bond thief, is said to be penniless and friendless in the State of Florida.

—If the nomination of Attorney General Williams, to the chief Justiceship is not confirmed, it is thought that the President will appoint in his stead a member of the present court, and fill the vacancy of associate Justice by the appointment of Hon. S. F. Phillips, formerly of this State.

Abroad.

The appointment of Caleb Cushing, one of the most eminent American lawyers, as minister to Spain, gives universal satisfaction.

Kentucky is said to have lost over $300,000 by defaulting Sheriffs.

A lady in Canterbury, Conn., who was rendered speechless by a shock of lightning in July, 1872, recently had her speech restored on the birth of a child.

The Presidential reception at Washington on the 1st of January, was on an unusually grand and elaborate style.

The reduction of wages on the Railroads in the West, has resulted in a "strike" by the engineers and other employes, which is causing much trouble and distress.

The official returns of the late Virginia election, as canvassed by the Senate and House of Representatives which met on the 1st inst., show that James L. Kemper received one hundred and twenty eight thousand, seven hundred and twenty eight votes, and R. W. Hughes, ninety three thousand, four hundred and ninety-nine.

The legions who expected to go from New Orleans under the leadership of Gen. Longstreet, and capture the "Gem of the Antilles" have disbanded.

Fifteen hundred thousand head of cattle have been driven from Texas to Kansas this season, which is, at least, over 100,000 more than last year.

At the War Department office at Vienna, is to be opened soon a gallery of portraits of all the Austrian ministers of war since 1556.

The costs of the Bazaine trial amount to about 300,000 francs, and, as the Marshal was condemned to pay them all, this will leave his family penniless. Over and above this are the sums due his own defender, and the debts contracted by himself and family during the trial.

Virginia City, Nevada, sends a silver brick to the commander of the British ship Niobe for his action in the case of the Virginius, bearing this inscription: "Lamberton Lorraine: You are a "brick;" this is another—presented by Americans who love Humanity and its manly defenders. Virginia City, Nevada, U. S. A., 1873."

A New York correspondent says "that the elite of that city in attending balls, parties and evening entertainments go in at 7½ to 8 o'clock, and retire at 11. This is sensible.

An appropriation by Congress of nearly two million dollars in gold will be required in satisfaction of the claims allowed by the late United States and British Commission.

The Southern claims Commission, to which it is proposed to refer all war claims, has now before it claims to the amount of $22,000,000.

The public debt statement shows an increase during December of $8,435,272.

President Grant ordered that in the arrangements made for guests on New Year's day, no wine or other spirituous liquors should be allowed upon the tables of the Executive mansion.

Recent Publications.

We have received from the publishers, a selection of Psalm and Hymn Tunes in general use, entitled The Sabbath "Round Notes" are used as they are more popular and convenient than the antiquated "square notes." The work contains a great variety of new tunes, chants, sentences, motetts and anthems by distinguished composers, and claims to be the most complete collection for choirs and singing schools ever published. By C. Everest, Lee & Walker, Publishers, 922 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia

Woods Household Magazine for January, contains a supply of first rate articles. The leading article is an interesting one on "The Glories of the Yosemite," by Maj. J. H. Durham, U. S. A. The Magazine is now in its fourteenth volume. Though retaining its old name it has not the slightest connection with its former proprietor, but has for many months been the exclusive property of Mr. S. E. Shutes, its present publisher. H. V. Osborne (Thonotosa) still continues as its editor and is the only person employed in that capacity—giving to the magazine not a careless supervision, but direct personal attention in every department—The Magazine is improving constantly, and is splendidly adapted to the members of the household. The present number contains three engravings and other good things in proportion.

Price of magazine one dollar per year—with chromo Yo-semite, one dollar and a half. Address

Wood's Household Magazine,
Newburgh, N. Y.

The National Protestant, "a Journal of Choice Literature from the Best Magazines and authors, old and new," is on our table. We gave expression to our favorable opinion of the publication in noticing the November number.

It is published monthly by S. M. Kennedy, (who is also the editor) Philadelphia. Terms $1.75 per annum.

Schoolday Magazine. We can not speak too highly of the Schoolday Magazine, published by J. W. Daughaday & Co., Philadelphia, Pa., at $1.00 a year. It certainly bears the palm of being not only the cheapest, but one of the best illustrated periodicals for Our Young Folks that we have ever seen. The January Number, just received, begins its eighteenth year, and contains, besides the opening chapters of Alexander Clark's new story, entitled "Starting Out," the first of Professor Shoomaker's series of articles on "How to say Things," a rich variety of excellent and interesting matter, such as the young people everywhere will relish wonderfully. A handsome $2.00 engraving is given free to every subscriber for 1874.

Raleigh News: Hon. J. L. Pennington, the present Governor of Dakota, was an apprentice boy in the old Raleigh Star office thirty-three years ago. Ex-Governor Holden was foreman in the same office at the time. Andy Johnson was then a journeyman tailor in Mr. Litchford's tailor shop, on Fayetteville street.

Died in this city on the 1st. inst., Mrs. Stella J. Towles, wife of Mr. Jas. M. Towles, Jr and daughter of D. H. and F. J. Cunningham, of Fayette Co. Va.

Marriages

At the residence of the bride's father, A. F. Williams, Dec. 11th, by the Rev. C. M. Anderson, Mr. James M Williams to Miss Nancy L. Jarman. All of Duplin county, N. C.

At the residence of the bride's father on the 11th of December 1873, by the Rev. L. Devaney, Mr. N. B. Barham and Miss E. V. Bailey of Southhampton county, Va.

Married, in Franklinton N. C. by the Rev. H. H. Gibbons, Dec. 24th, W. W. H Kearney and Miss Mary S. Vaughn.

By the same Dec. 25th, Mr. Jesse J. Pernell and Miss Eveline Babcock.

Married, on Dec. 23rd at Leasburg, N. C. at the residence of the bride's father Mr. W. S. White, Mr. Willie W Stevens and Miss Mollie E. White, the Rev. J. W. Jenkins being the officiating minister.

Married in Carteret county Dec. 14th 1873, by the Rev. L. L. Perkins Mr John H. Stanton to Miss Mollie A. Sanders, all of Carteret county N. C.

Married, in the Ann street M. E. Church, in the town of Beaufort, N. C., on the 25th of Dec. 1873, by the Rev. J. H. Wheeler, Mr. Samuel S. Pegram of Mecklenburg county, and Miss Elizabeth C Parks of Gaston county N. C.

Married, on the 13th of November ult., by Rev. P. J. Carraway, Mr Martin L. Fowler of Wake county N. C. and Miss Mary E. Whitfield, daughter of the late J. H. Whitfield of Franklin N. C.

Deaths.

Obituary notices of two lines each inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of such matter is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the line and allow seven words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose. Resolutions of respect are subject to the same rule.

Died in Granville county N. C. Nov. 29th 1873, little Johnny Willis son of Wm L. and Sarah J. Mitchell, age three years and four months. Weep not dear parents, for

"I take these little lambs" said he
And lay them in my bosom
Protection they shall find in me
In me be ever blest."

M. A. I.

Every pure, Christian life, is a lamp let down from Heaven to light our way to the skies. When taken away, they are lights in the windows of the upper sanctuary to guide us through life's gloom to a home in Heaven.

Such was that of sister Pettie J Ivson Thompson, consort of C. N. Thompson, Esq., who departed this life in Leasburg N. C. Dec. 1st 1873, in the thirty sixth (36) year of her age.

Having given her heart to God in early life, (in her seventeenth year,) she grew to be a model woman. Her intellect ordinary intelligence, deep thought and reflection, piety and her sweet spirituality, enabled her to exert a hallowed influence and to govern her household well. Her Children are her monuments. She bore her severe affliction with Christian fortitude, patience and resignation refusing to the last to give up and endeavoring all the time to conceal her sufferings. When warned that death was near she showed no signs of fear.—Said that she would like to live for her husband and children's sake, but that she was resigned to the will of God: called her children around her, gave them her dying admonitions, and left asleep in Jesus; while her pure dove like spirit flew away to the bosom of God. "She being dead yet speaketh."

She leaves an aged father, a devoted husband and five very interesting children, and numerous friends to mourn her loss; but we mourn not as those who have no hope.

Sister thou wast mild and lovely,
Gentle as the summer breeze;
Pleasant as the air of evening
When it doth among the trees.

Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life has fled,
Then with joy in Heaven to greet thee
Where no farewell tear is shed.

J. W. J.

Died, of typhoid fever, in Randolph county N. C., Oct. 23rd 1873, Lou M. Skeen, oldest daughter of J. C. and Emily Skeen, aged 13 years.

Lou was a most promising girl, although so young she had given an earnest of a bright future, opening before her.

During her sickness she often spoke of death with perfect calmness, said she put "whole trust in Jesus every day"—and was not afraid to die. Two days before her death she called her friends around her and bade them meet her in heaven—left affectionate messages for absent loved ones.

Sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust, she departed as one who draws the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams.

Dear Lou! we shall miss thee but my memory shall hold on fragrantly in our hearts till we too shall pass over the river."

A New York correspondent says "that the elite of that city in attending balls, parties and evening entertainments go in at 7½ to 8 o'clock, and retire at 11. This is sensible.

An appropriation by Congress of nearly two million dollars in gold will be required in satisfaction of the claims allowed by the late United States and British Commission.

The Southern claims Commission, to which it is proposed to refer all war claims, has now before it claims to the amount of $22,000,000.

The public debt statement shows an increase during December of $8,435,272.

President Grant ordered that in the arrangements made for guests on New Year's day, no wine or other spirituous liquors should be allowed upon the tables of the Executive mansion.

Recent Publications.

We have received from the publishers, a selection of Psalm and Hymn Tunes in general use, entitled The Sabbath "Round Notes" are used as they are more popular and convenient than the antiquated "square notes." The work contains a great variety of new tunes, chants, sentences, motetts and anthems by distinguished composers, and claims to be the most complete collection for choirs and singing schools ever published. By C. Everest, Lee & Walker, Publishers, 922 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia

Woods Household Magazine for January, contains a supply of first rate articles. The leading article is an interesting one on "The Glories of the Yosemite," by Maj. J. H. Durham, U. S. A. The Magazine is now in its fourteenth volume. Though retaining its old name it has not the slightest connection with its former proprietor, but has for many months been the exclusive property of Mr. S. E. Shutes, its present publisher. H. V. Osborne (Thonotosa) still continues as its editor and is the only person employed in that capacity—giving to the magazine not a careless supervision, but direct personal attention in every department—The Magazine is improving constantly, and is splendidly adapted to the members of the household. The present number contains three engravings and other good things in proportion.

Price of magazine one dollar per year—with chromo Yo-semite, one dollar and a half. Address

Wood's Household Magazine,
Newburgh, N. Y.

The National Protestant, "a Journal of Choice Literature from the Best Magazines and authors, old and new," is on our table. We gave expression to our favorable opinion of the publication in noticing the November number.

It is published monthly by S. M. Kennedy, (who is also the editor) Philadelphia. Terms $1.75 per annum.

Schoolday Magazine. We can not speak too highly of the Schoolday Magazine, published by J. W. Daughaday & Co., Philadelphia, Pa., at $1.00 a year. It certainly bears the palm of being not only the cheapest, but one of the best illustrated periodicals for Our Young Folks that we have ever seen. The January Number, just received, begins its eighteenth year, and contains, besides the opening chapters of Alexander Clark's new story, entitled "Starting Out," the first of Professor Shoomaker's series of articles on "How to say Things," a rich variety of excellent and interesting matter, such as the young people everywhere will relish wonderfully. A handsome $2.00 engraving is given free to every subscriber for 1874.

Letters & Funds.

Rev J N Somers, for Mrs F Bennett $2. R M Bruce 2. Dr J E King 2. T F Elliott 2. R C Lackey 2. Dr A S Hoover, self 2. A Dickson, self 1. Miss Susan White, self 2. Mrs S W Walker 2. H S Moore, paper changed. J H Lyon self 1. Rev I. H Gibbons, paper changed. Rev S D Adams. Rev R L Abernethy. Wm Taylor, for V S Morton 2. Rev F H Wood all right. Rev P J Carraway paper changed. J J Pledger. R H Griffith, D H Ray, paper changed. Rev B B Culbreth, papers sent. H P Heyward for Mrs N J Howard 1. S A Jarvis. Mrs B B Jarvis 2. Rev J S Nelson. Rev J M Robey. Rev J Tillett, paper changed. W R Barwell. Rev E L Perkins. Rev C M Anderson, papers continued. Rev J A Dean, self 1. Mrs N Price, self 2. Ed Alden, for adv 15. Geo W Brockner. Geo S Cole 2. J F Cole 2. J T A Spencer. Walker Taylor & Co. G & C Merriam. Rev S V Hoyle, paper changed. Rev W S Black. R H Harris. Rev L J Holden, paper sent. Rev J W Lewis paper sent. Rev R York self 50 cts. Rev J P Simpson, paper changed. Miss S A Davis. W Grier. Rev T J Gattis. S C White. Owen Parker. W Hayes self 2. Col W H McCullers self 2. Alex Walker self 2. R W Harriss self 2. J L Edwards. Rev W H Mosse for E S Gunter 2. J T Gunter 2. Rev J W Jenkins for Geo P Rowell & Co. M M Mayes paper changed. Mrs E C Beckwith for H E Newbury 2. T N Richardson & Co. Rev T B Harris for Mrs J Lambeth 2. Rev J H Wheeler. W C Pickard self 2. Rev D C Johnson. Rev H H Gibbons. C H Glee paper changed. Miss L E Foster paper changed. N W Aver & Son. R C Hayes 2. Rev J J Renn for W P Thompson 2. R A Pierce. Rev J P Moore. S E Allen. Rev B B Culbreth papers sent. J Smith paper continued. Rev B B Culbreth for subs to Rev A D Betts for Rev S J Walker 2.50. M C Richardson paper discontinued. Rev A A Bashaw. G W Averitt, paper changed. Thos Settle self 2. Rev N H D Wilson. C S Whittington for adv 3.

Appointments.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Calvary Miss. Jan. 2
Tryon Street, " 3- 4
Monroe sta. " 10-11
South Charlotte at Bethel " 17-18
Monroe ct, at Centre " 24-25
Pineville at Pineville, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Pleasant Grove at Pleasant Grove, Feb. 7- 8
Vanceon's sta. " 14-15
Albemarl } and Albemarle, " 21-22
Stanley, }
Wadesboro st Feb. 28 and March 1
Mt Pleasant at Bost Hill March 7- 8
Ansonville at Concord, " 14-15
Wadesboro } and Bethel " 21-22
Lilesville, }

J. S. NEILSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Fayetteville, Cartbage, Jan. 3 4
Clarendon Spring, " 10 11
Cumberland Camp Ground, " 17 18
Solomon Chapel, " 24 25
Bethlehem } and Smith, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Hocking ton, Feb. 7- 8
Pine Plc, " 14 15
Fayetteville, " 21-22
Lafayette, New Hope, Feb. 28 and March 1
Montgomery, March 7- 8
Jonesboro, Barbecueville, " 14-15

The District Stewards will please meet in Fayetteville, Feb 20th at 11 o'clock, A. M.

S. H. ADAMS, P. E
Carthage, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
1st ROUND—IN PART.

Wilmington, Fifth Street, Jan. 10-11
Magnolia, " 17-18
Whiteville " 21 25
Wilmington, Front Street, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Clinton, Feb. 7- 8

Exra preacher will send me the place for holding the Quarterly Conference on his circuit.

I earnestly entreat every official member to be present at Quarterly Conferences. Let the Recording Steward bring his book.

The District Stewards will please meet in the District Parsonage, at Magnolia Tuesday, February 3rd, at 11 o'clock, A. M.

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Clinton, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Durham at Durham, Jan. 10-11
Chapel Hill & Haw River at C. Hill " 17-18
Hillsboro at Hillsboro', " 24-25
Person at Roxboro, Jan 31 Feb. 1
Old River at Mt. Bethel, Feb 7- 8
Leesville at Leesville, " 14-15
Alamance at College Chapel, " 21 22
High Rock at Smith, Feb 28 March 1
Yanceville at Yanceville, March 7- 8
Deep River at Yule Prairie " 14-15
Pittsboro at Pittsboro " 21 22

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Hillsboro on Jan. 21 at 3 o'clock P. M.

J. T. MOORE P. E.
Mt Tirzah, N C.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.
FIRST ROUND.

Thomasville & H Point at Thoville Jan. 17 18
Greensboro', " 24-25
Trinity & Caraway at T. College, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Smith Grove and Pleasant Garden " 7- 8
Lexington & Winston at Pine Grove, " 14-15
Madison at Reidsville, " 21 22
South Carolina at Friendship " 28th and March 1.
Stokes at Antioch, " 7- 8
Westbrook at Lewis, " 14-15
Davidson at Emerson, " 21 22

The District Stewards will please meet me the Methodist Church in Greensboro on Wednesday, the 4th of February at 11 o'clock A. M. A full attendance of District Stewards is requested.

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
FIRST ROUND.

Statesville st Jan. 3- 4
Statesville ct, " 10-11
Mt. Zion ct, at Wadesboro " 17-18
Mocksville st at Mocksville, " 24 25
Yadkinville ct at Yadkinville, Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Salisbury st, Feb. 7- 8
Concord ct, at South River, " 14-15
Wolfe's at Mt. Pleasant, Wilkshoro, " 21-22
Mt. Airy st, Feb. 28 March 1

Every official member is earnestly requested to be present at Quarterly Conference. Let the Recording Steward bring his book.

The District Stewards will please meet in the District Parsonage, at Mocksville Tuesday, February 3rd, at 11 o'clock, A. M.

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Olin, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Fair River ct, at Franklinton, Dec. 27-28
Smithfield ct, at Rolesville, Jan. 3- 4
Raleigh, Person St, " 10-11
Cary st, at Cary, " 17-18
Hendersonville ct, at Hendersonville, " 24-25
Roxboro ct, at Oxford, Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Allen ct, at Rome's Feb. 7- 8
Nashville & } at Nashville, " 14-15
Rocky Mount }
Louisburg " 21-22
Raleigh, Edenton St, February 28 March 1
Smithfield ct, at Selma, " 7- 8

The District Stewards will please meet in the Methodist Church at Franklinton, Friday, February 27th at 1 o'clock P. M.

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.
1st ROUND—IN PART.

Beaufort, Dec. 27-28
Trenton, Newport, Jan. 3- 4
Swansboro " 10-11
Newbern, " 17-18

The District Stewards, Benj. Reeves, Rev. J. A. says and D. Lane, Benj. Grady, A. B. Thompson, Rev. J. R. Webb, L. M. Kornegay, D. C. Dees, Warren Wheeler, J. Mayo, Rev. C. Bell, Rev. Edmund Abanto Edwards, will please meet me in Newbern, on Friday, before the first Sabbath in January, at 2 o'clock P. M. The down freight train on that road accommodates those above Newbern.

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Shelby st Jan. 3- 4
Shelby ct, at St. Pauls, " 10-11
Lincolnton ct, at Ebenezer, " 17-18
Dallas ct, at Dallas, " 24-25
Rock Spring ct, at Bethel, Jan. 31 Feb. 1
South Fork ct, at Zion, Feb. 7- 8
Newton ct, at Newton, " 14-15
Happy Home ct, at Hickory st, " 21-22
Lincoln ct, at Bethany, Feb. 28 and March 1
Morganton st Morganton, " 7- 8
Marion circuit } at Marion, " 14-15
Upper Broad River Mis. }
Boone's Shoals } at Elliotts, " 21-22
South Mt. Mis. }
Cherry Mountain ct, at Oak Grove, " 28-29
Rutherfordton ct, } at Rutherfordton April 4- 5
and } Colestown Mis. }

The district Stewards will meet at the District Parsonage in Shelby, Wednesday March 18 h 1874. A full attendance is desired.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Warrenton st, Jan. 17-18
Warren ct, Lebron, " 21-22
Roanoke ms, Ebenezer Jan. 31 Feb 1
Williamston st Bill amston Feb 7- 8
Columbia at Scuppernong, " 14-15
Plymouth and } at Plymouth " 21 22
Jamesville }
Pollock Bath, Feb 28 and March 1
Mount Olivet at Swan quarter March 7 8
Washington } at Washington, March 14-15
and } Greenville, }
Tarboro' at Tarboro', " 21 22

The District Stewards will please meet at Tarboro' on Saturday, March 21st They are the following for Warrenton, Col. S. Davis, Warren — Tarboro' J. W. Jones, Bath, Wilber Ulrik Methumtown, T. W. Jones, Washington and Greenville, H. W. Brown, Williamston, R. A. Weatherday, Columbia, W. C. Pugbett Plymouth and Greenville, J. W. Lawson.

WM. CLOSS, P. S

TRINITY CIRCUIT.
1st ROUND.

Trinity, Sat before 2 sun in Jan. 11 o'clock A M
Hawsboro " 3 " in " 11 " "
Gumtree Sat. before " in " 12 " "
Fayetteville, " in " 11 " "
Cedar Falls " in " 3 " P. M.
Prosp et, Sat. before " in " 11 " A M
Hopewell " in " 11 " "
Trinity College " in " 7½ " P. M.
Ashboro', " in Feb. 11 " A. M.
Union Factory " in " 7½ " P. M.

J. W. LEWIS, P. C.

New Advertisements.

TRINITY COLLEGE.

The Spring Session will commence JANUARY 17TH, 1873.

Students may take a select, or the full course at their own option. There are eleven schools in the Institution, viz: Latin, Greek, Mathematics, English Literature, Natural Science, Modern Languages, Metaphysics, Engineering and Analytical Chemistry, Commercial, Law and Divinity.

Entire expenses for five months, for tuition, board, washing and fuel $90 to $100.

E. CRAVEN.

Jan. 7 3m.

JONESVILLE HIGH SCHOOL.

YADKIN COUNTY, N. C.

REV. T. S. WHITTINGTON, A. M., Principal.

The Spring Session will open January, 13th, 1874. For particulars address the Principal, at Jonesville, N. C. Jan. 7 3m

$20.000 WANTED.

The Trustees of Greensboro Female College wish to borrow any part of the above amount in sums to suit parties having money to loan. They will give the note of the corporation with satisfactory personal endorsers, paying interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum. The principal will be paid when required upon reasonable notice and the interest annually. If the friends of the College will loan us the amount it will help the Institution and, we think, will be a perfectly safe investment. Please address the undersigned.

N. H. D. WILSON.
President Board Trustees.

Jan 7 3m

FOR 1874.

We have bought, in the last ten days a fresh supply of

BLEECHINGS.
3-7, 7-8, 4-4, 6-4.

SHEETINGS.
8-4, 10-4, 11-4, 12-4.

Also

UNBLEACHED DOMESTICS.
3-4, 7-8, 4-4.

Prints.

5 cases New Style Winter Prints, 5000 yards Plaid Homespuns, And a large lot of

"BURTS" GAITERS & BOOTS.

(For cold sloppy weather.) The best goods in the World. Also Gent's and Ladies' RUBBER AND ARTIC OVER SHOES, and MEN'S RUBBER BOOTS.

These Standard Goods having been bought at the lowest degrees on prices during the season, complete our supply for commencing the year 1874.

Thanking the public for past favor and feeling that we have endeavored to give full value for all purchases made of us, we shall prosecute our business for the year with as much zeal and activity as has characterized the past. Our motto is adhered to

1874

"THE BEST GOODS AT THE LOWEST PRICES."

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

Jan. 7 3t

Something That will pay you, Concordia, Mo. TO DO Honorable EMPLOYMENT. A large class wants to MAKE MONEY FOR ALL other ers, during leisure hour at your homes, or PAYS LIBERALLY to Book. Large salaries to expert men. A SUPERIOR OUTFIT FREE. Write for it. AGENTS, at once by LAKESIDE & HALL, 107 N. Clark St., Chicago, Ill. OUTFIT FREE.

Jan 7 3m.

Book Agents

WANTED FOR THE

Illustrated Family Bible:

Containing the Old and New Testaments, Apocrypha, Concordance and Psalms in Meter. Also, Dr. Smith's complete Dictionary of the Bible. A History of the religious Denominations of the World; Chronological and other valuable Tables; History of the Translation of the Bible; a Family Album; a Marriage Certificate, Family Record, Marginal References, etc., etc. Embellished with over 500 fine Scripture Illustrations, on steel and wood. By Gustave Dore, and other celebrated Artists. Our New Illustrated Family Bible is the most perfect and comprehensive edition ever published. It is printed from large, clear, new type, on fine white paper, and bound in the most elegant and substantial manner. Address NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO.,

Jan. 7 6m.

FOUNDRY AND MACHINE PROPERTY FOR SALE!

Large sale of Valuable and Attractive Property in Raleigh, N. C., on

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 21st, 1874,

If not sooner sold at Private sale, the property known as the

N. C. AGRICULTURAL MACHINE WORKS.

In possession of and worked by SEPARK HICKS & Co., consisting of LOT CORNER WEST & HARGETT STS., Fronting on Raleigh and Gaston and Raleigh and Augusta Air Line Railroads. On said lot there is a Machine Shop 72x24 feet, two stories, built of Brick; with tin roof; Moulding Shop 63x27, of Brick Blacksmith Shop 36x21, brick and tin roof; also, Material and Ware House, brick 40x20 two stories, in which there is an office 20x14; and on the same lot several Frame Buildings for Patterns and Castings

With this property will be sold a large assortment of patterns, consisting of Mill Gearing Patterns, Mines, Machinery Patterns, the most important Patterns for plowsith fuel patterns for all Castings used in this locality. The original cost of patterns was at least Twelve Thousand Dollars.

This Sale will embrace a large assortment of Machinery Tools, Stock Mates, at and Fixtures for a first class Foundry and Machine Shop, consisting in a part of the following viz:

1 18—horse power Engine; 1 New Lathe, 13 feet between Center, 25 in swing; 1 good Lathe, 10½ feet between Center, 20 in swing good Lathe, 9 feet between Center, 16 in swing, 1 hand Lathe, 3 feet between center 8 in swing; 1 large wood turning Lathe; 1 Iron Planer, bed 10x2½ feet; 1 Bolt Cutter; 1 unfinished Drill Press; Emery Wheel and Stand; No 1 Screw Plates and Dies, several Vises; Line Shafting Pulleys, Hangers and Boltings, 1 large Punch and Shears, Saw and Saw Table; Boring Table, 2 set smith tools, Bolter Tools, 1 Portable Forge, Pressure Blower, 1 Tumbling Mill Small Portable Furnace, 500 Plows, 16,000 lbs Plow Casting, Plow Material, Bar Iron, and Mill Casting.

In fact, a large lot of Stock and materials too numerous to mention.

The Foundry is complete, with good cupolas, cranes and a large number of flasks.

TERMS made known on day of sale.

Any application desired will be given by application to

SEPARK HICKS & CO.,
Raleigh, N. C.

Jan 7 2w

Agents Wanted for

Cross and Crown

THE SPIRIT AND POWER of the religion of Jesus Christ as illustrated in the Sufferings and Triumphs of His followers. A noblest, sweetest and more thrilling story is not to be found in the whole range of history. Magnificently illustrated on steel with the best of engravings of Scripture and Duncan, and splendidly bound in the highest and latest style of the art. The most beautiful and attractive book ever offered to Agents. For circulars, with full description, address NATIONAL PUBLISHING Co.,

Jan 7—6m Atlanta Ga.

The Bright Mason,

— PUBLISHED AT —

CONCORD, N. C.

The Only Paper in the SOUTHERN ATLANTIC STATES,

Devoted Entirely to Masonic Interest.

Only One Dollar a Year!

Circulation now, - - - - - 6000.
Clubs of 20, or more, - - - - 75 cts.

Every MASON in the Land should subscribe.

Address,

PUBLISHERS BRIGHT MASON,
Concord, N. C.

☞ A limited number of unobjectionable Advertisements will be received.

Jan. 7 4w

BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO'S BELLS.

Fine-toned, free-pulsed, warranted; circulars sent free BLYMYER MANUFACTURING COMPANY, (Box) Cincinnati, O. Office and Works, 864 and 866 West Eighth St.

March 5—12m. O O W.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

NEW ADDITIONS TO OUR LARGE AND ATTRACTIVE STOCK OF DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, BOOTS, SHOES, HATS &c.

Our Senior Partner has just returned from New York where he has been for several days making purchases at panic prices, to supply the deficiencies in our stock made by our unprecedentedly good trade this season. In returning our thanks to our patrons, we say to them and the public, that our late purchases were made at very great odds, and that we are now selling our stock at such prices as to justify us in saying that such bargains have not been offered since the war.

We have a good supply of Burt's, Ziegler's, and Boy State hand-made shoes and gaiters for Ladies, Misses and Children. Also, for gentlemen, Canfield's, Porter, Day & Co's, and Burt's single and double soin calf gaiters and boots, which we offer at very low prices. All wishing to purchase will not regret calling upon us and examining our stock and prices. We sell for cash and have fixed our price on a cash basis. The reliance those buying of us do not help bear any risks for bad and slow debts. Very liberal prices to merchants buying in this market.

We have just received some very late styles of hats, including a Opera, Snowflake, Chesterfield and Cheneelbo.

PETTY & JONES,
No. 21 Fayetteville Street.

Jan. 7 3t.

GREENSBORO' FEMALE COLLEGE,

GREENSBORO' N C.

Rev. T. M. JONES, D. D., President.

The Spring Session of 1874 will begin on the 15th January.

CHARGES PER SESSION OF 20 WEEKS;

Board and Tuition in regular course $125 00
Charges for extra studies moderate. For all particulars, apply to the President.

N. H. D. WILSON, President,
Dec 17 1m Board of Trustees.

WHAT THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE SAYS.

It has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that the Oil manufactured by Denslow and Bush,

WILL NOT EXPLODE OR IGNITE

even if a lamp be upset and a flame applied to the Oil.

We are Sole Agents in Raleigh for the sale of Denslow & Bush's

PREMIUM SAFETY OIL,

The Safest, Purest and Best Oil known.

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS.

nov 19 tf

P. F. PESCUD. P. F. PESCUD, JR.

P. F. Pescud & Son,

GENERAL

Life & Fire Ins. Agents,

RALEIGH, N. C.

CAPITAL & ASSETS, $32,000,000.

The Companies represented comprise some of the most responsible in Europe and America. They represent the National Life Insurance Company, of the U. S. A. Old Phœnix Fire Insurance Company, of Hartford. Liverpool and London Globe Fire Insurance Company. Franklin Fire Insurance Company, of Pennsylvania. Home Fire Insurance Company, of New York. Georgia Home Fire Insurance Company. Alps Insurance Company, of Erie, Pennsylvania. North Missouri Insurance Company, of Macon, Mo. Amazon and Triumph Insurance Company, of Cincinnati. Farmville, of Farmville, Va. Jan. 8-12m

BROWN'S MUSEUM.

10 Fayetteville St., 10

DEALER IN

CONFECTIONERIES,

Canned Goods, Pickles, Sauces, Apples, Oranges, Lemons and Nuts; Fresh Crackers and Cakes.

New Arrival of

CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

A large stock of

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,

Such as Violins, Banjos, Guitars, Accordeons, Flutinas, Drums, Fifes, Flutes, Piccolos, Flageolets, Tamborines and Triangles, VIOLIN, BANJO AND GUITAR STRINGS.

Violin Bows Hair, Bridges, Pegs, Tail Pieces, Drum Heads, Cord and Snares.

BASKETS! BASKETS! BASKETS!

A large assortment of

PLAIN AND FANCY BASKETS,

Birds and Bird Cages,

Gold and Silver Fish,

FANCY GOODS, TOYS, &c.,
Of Every Description.

My stock of Fancy Goods, Toys, &c., I will sell at COST, to reduce stock.

Don't forget No. 10, Fayetteville street, Raleigh, N. C.

April-12m. NAT I. BROWN.

J. W. BROWN
Retail Grocer,

Corner of Dawson and Morgan Streets,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Has on hand a fresh supply of family groceries, consisting in part of Sugar, Coffee, best Article family flour, sugar cured hams, Butter, Cheese, and a good assortment of confectionaries. Prices low and satisfaction guaranteed.

Sept 24-tf

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

Wholesale and Retail Druggists

RALEIGH, N. C.

DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals

Fluid and solid extracts,

Pharmaceutical Preparations

Patent Medicines, Mineral Waters,

Wines, Brandies, Whiskeys,

Smoking and Chewing Tobacco

Garden and Grass Seeds,

Surgical Instruments,

Fine Perfumeries Toilet Articles and every article usually found in a Druggist's Store.

All of which we offer at Lowest Cash Prices.

Orders by mail will receive prompt attention.

R. J. Baker & Co.

Importers and Dealers in DYING DRUGS, OIL VETRIOL, CHEMICALS, PURE GROUND BONE &C. FOR MAKING

Super Phosphates AND FERTILIZERS.

36 and 38 South Charles Street,

BALTIMORE MD

☞ Write for List of Chemical and Prices.

Dec. 24 3m

WANTED.

A young Lady of superior qualifications and four years experience, wishes a situation as Teacher, and in addition to the regular English course is prepared also to teach Latin and French. For further particulars address Rev. T. B. Rocks, at Henderson N. C.

Dec. 24-4w.

SEASONABLE GOODS.

SHOVEL & TONGS, ANDIRONS, COAL HODS, COAL & WOOD STOVES,

GRATES, GRATES, GRATES.

T. H BRIGGS & SONS

nov 19-tf

Established 1859.

J. C. S. LUMSDEN

HAS REMOVED TO

No. 57, Fayetteville Street,

(Opposite Market Poop)

RALEIGH, N. C.

Where he will keep constantly on hand a full supply of Paints and Japanned

Tin and Sheet Iron Ware Stoves, &c.

Coffee Pots, plain, planished and furnished, Coffee Filters, (heavy) Planished Tea Pots, variety of sizes and styles; Tea or Coffee Boils, neater, nicer coffee or tea without dregs or sediment; Milk Buckets, Strainers, Pans and Coolers, beautiful Toilet Wash Bowls and Pitchers, Tea Cook Stoves, Tea Trays, &c., Egg Whips and Beaters, (Monroe's patent) Eaves Trough patent Solve and Scoop combined, nice, handy and economical, Grecian and Standard Casters Pea serve Spoons, Vegetable Knives, the neatest article out for extracting the eyes of potatoes or bad spots on fruit; Shovels and Tongs, Fire Sets, Fire Carriers, Stove Brushes, Stove Pedals, Scrub Brushes, Counter and Shop Brushes, Plain and Fancy coal Hods, Planting Tongs, Hacking Irons, Family Scales, an article every family should have, used without weights; Spring Balances, with scoop or dish.

Improved Sausage Grinders,

Horse Lamps, indispensable wherever there is a baby calf or Tom Cobb in the sick room; Wire Broilers, oyster Boilers, Oyster Dish Plates Lanterns, a variety, among which is found the Police and Peerless Lantern; Britania Dippers, Cream Dippers, Tin Trunks, Dredge Boxes, Cash Boxes, Bread Boxes, Lunch Boxes, Pans and Fancy Spittoons, Corn Poppers.

Molasses Gates, Cocks and Faucetts, and a number of other articles usually kept by the trade. Call and examine his varied assortment. Remember the place,

No. 57, Fayetteville St., Opposite Market Pump.

J. C. S. LUMSDEN.

Tin Roofing, Guttering and Piping a SPECIALITY.

Nov. 5-3m.

NEW GOODS FOR FALL AND WINTER

1873.

AT

ALEX. CREECH'S.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TRADE. CONSUMERS OF DRY GOODS, &c.

MARBLE HALL AND TEMPLE OF FANCY.

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

I take pleasure in announcing that my business has so largely increased and the demand is so great that it has constrained me to buy in

A MUCH LARGER AND MORE ATTRACTIVE STOCK THAN HERETOFORE.

My Goods are bought with every available advantage and doing business at a very small per centage I am able to offer INDUCEMENTS IN PRICES the are rarely equalled. My

DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT

was never more complete, embracing all new Fabrics and every new Shade, from the most delicate to the most brilliant. Call and examine my

BLACK SILKS,

JAPANESE SILKS,

IRISH POPLINS,

CASHMERES,

SATEENS,

ALPACAS, &c.

And a very large variety of Low Priced Dress Goods. My stock of Cassimeres, Piece Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes is extraordinarily large and complete and you would be doing yourselves injustice if you were not to examine it before purchasing elsewhere

THE SECOND AND THIRD FLOORS are shown exclusively devoted to

WHOLESALING,

both being fitted to their utmost capacity with

GOODS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

to supply the Trade, and Country Merchants would find it to their interest to my stock a thorough examination before making their purchases, as I think I can offer rare bargains and special inducements. With

A CORPS OF EXPERIENCED SALESMEN,

ever ready to assist, I can sell, do sell, and will continue to sell as

CHEAP AS THE CHEAPEST.

No house in Raleigh can or shall undersell me, it matters not whether the goods are purchased in Europe or the United States, and for these important reasons:

1st. I am alone, and have no two or three partners to divide my profits with.

2nd. I have leased my store house at a mere nominal cost.

3d. I believe in the great principle of LIVE AND LET LIVE—QUICK SALES and SMALL PROFITS.

4th. I have large experience, buy at the lowest in store figures, and with the best facilities.

Experience, the best of teachers, has long since informed the people that is the place to buy their goods, and as heretofore I shall always

CREECH'S

REPRESENT GOODS AS THEY ARE.

Returning thanks for past favors, I hope to secure your patronage in the future.

Respectfully yours,
ALEX. CREECH,
Raleigh, N. C.

Marble Hall, Fayetteville St.
april 16 tf.

1873. Fall Trade. 1873.

GOODS AT PRICES TO Compare with the Money Crisis AT

J. P. GULLEY & BRO'S,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL STORE,

Corner Fayetteville St. and South Exchange Place

RALEIGH, N. C.

We come again to proclaim the daily arrival of our ninth (9) semi-annual Stock of Foreign and Domestic

DRY GOODS,

Notions, White Goods, Ribbons, &c.,

Boots and Shoes.

In this Department we can please the public in quality. We keep up our Brand of Ladies' Shoes, warranted at $2.50 per pair.

Hats for Gents, Youths, Boys and Children.

Clothing in all grades, from $5 00 to $5 00 per suit Youths' Boys and Children Clothing a nice variety

The attention of COUNTRY MERCHANTS is especially called to our Up Stairs Jobbing Department. Call and see our Goods before purchasing.

Very Respectfully,
J. P. GULLEY & BRO.

oct 15 tf

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE.

LENOIR N. C.

The Spring session for 1874 will open on Monday, Jan 12th

Board and Tuition per session, with music, vocal and instrumental, $110 00

Traveling preachers' daughters, tuition free. Board and Tuition always in advance.

Sent for a catalogue. Address,

Rev. W. M. ROBEY, Pres.

nov 19-3mos.

FALL AND WINTER, 1873.

W. H. & R. S. TUKER & CO.,

Importers, Jobbers and Retailers,

Have received their splendid stock of

DRY GOODS,

LADIES DRESS GOODS,

All new styles and shades of

LADIES DRESS GOODS,

Imported FROM OUR HOUSE and bought in person by Col. TUKER in the principal markets of England, Scotland, France and the German States. Consisting of Cassels Hair Cloths,

Linen Cloths,
Huguenot Twills,
Cashmere, Satin Cloths,
Carbonettes, Irish Poplins,
Empress Cloths, Scotch Plaids,
Velvets, Silks,
French Crapons,
Shawls, Kid Gloves.

Gents' and Ladies' new style NECKTIES, LACES and RUCHINGS.

MEN AND BOYS WEAR

Full lines of Cassimeres, Tweeds, &c.

BOOTS AND SHOES

Full stock of boots and Shoes including the famous

BEST SHOES, FOR GENTS' & LADIES',

New style GENTS' and BOYS HATS.

Our full motto "BEST GOODS AT LOWEST PRICES," adhered to.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

A LIBRARY OF ITSELF

Great Holiday Gift.

Dec. 17—tf.

$5 TO $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, making more money at work in their spare moments or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine. Sept 18-12m

Greatly Reduced Prices

JULIUS LEWIS CO.,

FISHER BUILDING

RALEIGH, N. C.

DEALERS IN

Oils, Varnishes,

WINDOW SASHES,

DOORS, BLINDS, ETC.

ALSO,

HARDWARE,

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

BUY ONLY THE

"ALL RIGHT"

COOKING STOVE.

SEND FOR PRICE LIST

Machine Belting.

STEAM PACKING AND ENGINE HOSE,

ALSO

ALL OTHER ARTICLES OF Vulcanized India Rubber,

USED FOR MECHANICAL AND MANUFACTURING PURPOSES

SEND FOR PRICE LISTS.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL

WILL NOT EXPLODE.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

SPLENDID CITY PROPERTY FOR SALE.

ON HILLSBORO STREET.

I hereby offer for sale my New Residence, Store House and lot, situate on Hillsboro St., South side, near Railroad Bridge.

The lot has 50 feet front on both Hillsboro and Morgan streets.

The Buildings are new, well built, in modern style. The Dwelling contains 9 rooms commodiously and well finely arranged. It is so devised that a boarder at may be made at small cost.

The store is 12 feet long 2 stories with stairway, counters and shelving complete. Communication between the dwelling and upper part of store may be used or closed as desired.

It is a good stand for groceries and staple dry goods for town and country trade.

There is a well of most excellent water within ten steps of the door.

There is a Barn &c., in the rear and room on Morgan St., for two buildings

The location and neighborhood is one of the most desirable in Raleigh, and being above property is rapidly and constantly increasing in value; is a good investment for money especially as the property may be rented for 12 per cent. interest on the money required to purchase. I mean business and desire to sell soon or not at all. The title is perfectly good.

For further particulars apply to

A. A. JONES,
Hillsboro' Street.

HORNER & GRAVES' SCHOOL

TRANSFERRED TO

HILLSBORO', N. C.

A Classical, Mathematical, Scientific and Military Academy,

WITH

A FULL CORPS OF INSTRUCTORS

The Spring Session of 1874, begins the second Monday in January.

Circulars setting forth terms and other particulars sent on application.

Address the Principal at Oxford, N. C., until the 1st day of January, or Mr. D. H. Horner, at Hillsboro, N. C.

J. H. HORER, } Principals.
R. H. GRAVES, }

Dec 10-5w

MARCY'S SCIOPTICON

With Improved and Cheapened

MAGIC LANTERN SLIDES.

For Home, S. School and Lecture-room It is unrivalled. Brilliant and easy to show. Circulars Free. Catalogues 10 cts. SCIOPTICON MANUAL, Revised 25. 50 cts.

L. J. MARCY, 1340 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

Nov 26-4t

ONE HUNDRED BOXES ASSORTED CANDY, in Boxes For a Store.

LEACH BROS.

July 23 tf

Marion High School

FOR YOUNG LADIES,

Marion, McDowell County, N. C.

REV. S. H. TRAWICK, A. M., Principal.
MRS. BETTIE V. TRAWICK, Assistant and Teacher of Music.

Exercises begin Dec. 19th 1874 and continue 20 weeks at low rates. Apply at Marion for circular to Dr. J. H. Gilkey or the Principal. This is a delightful place for young ladies to go to school. It is immediately on the Western extention of the N. C. R. R. 100 miles from Salisbury, N. C.

A LARGE STOCK OF "A." "Ex. C." "C," and "Yellows" sugars, lower than sugars have been sold since 1867.

LEACH BROS.

July 23 tf

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS, COTTON FACTORS

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Wilmington Street opposite Market House,

In their wholesale department they offer to the trade a large stock of first-class groceries at prices that have and will continue to attract the trade. They have in store

1200 Gals. S. H Syrup.
154 Sacks Fine Liverpool Salt.
1200 Pounds Cream Cheese.
300 Bushels Bolted Meal.
100 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—Irish.
1000 Pounds pure candy, assorted.
25 Cases mixed Pickles.
40 Doz. cans Fresh Peaches.
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour.
3000 Pounds Family Soap.
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles.
40 Doz. boxes Axle Grease.
72 " Mason Blacking.
50 000 Water Proof Percussion Caps.

Powder, Shot, Snuff, Tobacco Soda, Spice, Pepper Tea, &c., &c.

Bulk Meat and Breakfast Strips, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold in grocery stores. Call and examine the quality of their goods and prices. Consignment of produce solicited.

oct 15-6m

The Fruit Recorder and Cottage Gardener will be sent 3 months of this valuable paper free to all who may send before January 1st, 1874, and subscribe for one year to all the subscribers of the Fruit Recorder who remit $1.00 per year. Fruits Described 64 page work with a plate in each number. Price 25 cts postpaid. A.M. PURDY, Palmyra, N.Y.

3 Months FREE.

T. W. GETHER, Rockingham, N.C. GEO. A. NEWELL, Wilmington, N.C.

"BLEES"

Link-Motion, Lock-Stitch Shuttle

NOISELESS

Seams,
Braids,
Gathers,
Tucks,
Ruffles,
Cords,
Binds,
Frills,
Quilts,
Gathers,
&c., &c.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Uses the straight needle, and wields the greatest range and variety of work of any needle ever before offered to the public.

Challenges the world in perfection of work, strength and beauty of stitch, durability of construction and rapidity of motion.

Reliable agents wanted for every county in the State. Is sold on liberal terms will be given.

A. WELLS & CO., Gen'l Agents,
No 5 South Front Street,
Wilmington, N. C.

nov 26-tf

BINGHAM SCHOOL,

MEBANEVILLE, N. C.

MAJ. R. BINGHAM SUPT | CAPT. T. L. NORWOOD.
MAJ. W. S. LYNCH. | W. T. QUARLES, M.D.

NEW SESSION OPENS THIRD WEEK, 4101.

Spring session opens 19th January, 1874. Circulars sent on application.

oct 29-3m.

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap, Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.

Sept 19-tf

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY.

MALE AND FEMALE.

H. P. TROY, A. M., Principal.
Mrs. H. P. TROY, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.

Board per month, $8.00
Tuition " from 1.50 to 3.00

One half in advance.

ADVANTAGES

Low price of board and tuition, healthy and moral location, Sabbath school and religious service every Sunday.

Access—By Rail Road to Greensboro, whence free conveyance will be furnished by the Principal, if informed of arrival.

Address the Principal,

Greensboro, N. C.

Nov 26 1m

SCHOOLDAY MAGAZINE.

ONLY $1.00 A YEAR.

Eighteenth year. The Cheapest and best Young Folks' Magazine published. A fine 32 Engraving FREE to every subscriber. GOOD PAY to Agents. Send a three-cent stamp for Specimen and "Goods" to work with. Address the Publishers,

J. W. DAUGHADAY & CO.,
436 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Nov. 19-4w

WYATT, BINGHAM & CO.

Successors to Wyatt, Breen & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Cotton Factors,

Commission, Shipping

And Forwarding Merchants,

No. 4 Exchange Place and Martin St.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Cotton and satisfaction guaranteed.

Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited.

All debts for or against the late firm of Wyatt, Green and Co., will be collected and disbursed as they become due, by us.

WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.,

dec16-tf Raleigh, N.C.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND,

A Consumptive Cured,

When death was hourly expected from Consumption all remedies having failed, accident led to the discovery of a remedy by Dr. R. James cured himself, and since then has cured thousands of the worst cases. Desiring to relieve human suffering, I will send the recipe free on receipt of this notice, naming this paper. Address, with stamp, naming this paper, Dr. R. James, 149 Nassau St., New York. Sold by all Druggists.

Dec. 5, 1873 3m

Wyatt, Green & Co., will be collected and disbursed as they become due by us.

WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.,

dec16-tf Raleigh, N.C.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND,

A Consumptive Cured,

When death was hourly expected from Consumption all remedies having failed, accident led to the discovery of a remedy by Dr. R. James cured himself, and since then has cured thousands of the worst cases. Desiring to relieve human suffering, I will send the recipe free on receipt of this notice, naming this paper. Address, with stamp, naming this paper, Dr. R. James, 149 Nassau St., New York. Sold by all Druggists.

Dec. 5, 1873 3m

Wesleyan Male Academy

A board of managers of the institution, we announce with pleasure that the next session will open on the 12th of January, under Eugene E. Gray, A. B. as Principal. Mr Gray is an honor graduate of Emory and Henry college, Va. and as an orator of Mr. Trawick has won the confidence of us all by his scholarly and competent service and by his discreet and pleasing department. Only a limited number will be received.

Academy on Stanton street by the Methodist church. For terms apply to the managers.

A. W. Mangum
W. J. W. Crowder
W. J. Young
T. H. Selby.
J. A. Jones,

Dec. 24-1m.

Christian Advocate

FOR 1874.

TERMS: TWO DOLLARS PER ANNUM.

ITS GRATIFYING SUCCESS IN THE PAST SHAL

Youth's Department.

May's Triumph.

BY COUSIN FLORENCE.

'O dear, I wish I could ever do any good,' said little May Hastings, one cold winter morning, as she was sitting by her mother; 'it seems so queer that God gave all the big people so much to do for him, while children do nothing, excepting to try and be good, and that's awful hard!'

'I don't know, May,' said her mother, 'I think your place is a very big one, if you only try to fill it: you are our only little girl, you bring a great deal of brightness into mamma's and papa's sad hearts;' and Mrs. Hastings sighed as she thought of the little boy buried a short time before.

It was near Christmas, the time so merry for good children; and that afternoon, as May was looking from the window, she saw a poor child, in rags and clothes, going slowly along the street, and seating herself on the stoop. A bright thought struck May, and running down to the front door, she called, 'Little girl, little girl, what's the matter?'

'O miss, I don't know,' said the child, coming up the steps, 'but I think it's most everything; father died last week, mother's sick and Willie isn't well yet. O dear, I don't want to be a little girl any longer. I wish we could all go to Heaven with father and be angles, for they say it's nice there, I wonder he went, and left us here.'

May thought a moment, and then said, 'Well I'm sorry for you, but I haven't any money, and I don't know what to do; I can give you a nice piece of bread and butter; won't you tell me where you live?'

'I don't believe you'd know if I did,' said the poor child, 'for no nice people ever come there.'

'Well, just tell me,' May replied, 'for though perhaps I can't go, perhaps I can too.'

Just then a voice from upstairs, shouted 'Miss May Miss May, you are catching cold, come right in, and shut the door.'

May looked startled, and said, 'Please do tell me quick,' and half closed the door.

My name is Fanny Jones, and I live at No. 19 Mire Lane, and that's all,' said the child, and she turned, with a sad look, and descended the stoop, as a second call came from the second story.

Shutting the door, May stood thoughtfully a moment, and then running to her little room, sat down, and putting her head on both her hands, thought a long time for such a little girl, for May was but nine years old.

She looked very pretty, as she sat there, her golden curls falling around her fair face, which, just now, wore rather a perplexed expression. Finally she jumped up quickly, saying 'That's it,' and started down stairs; but suddenly turning, she slowly retraced her steps, saying 'I don't believe I can really give it up, it's so hard,' and then she sat down again, and again the child's sad face came before her, she said, 'I will, and I mean it this time.' Again rising, and this time going down stairs, she said,

'Mamma, will you do something for me; I want a money Christmas present this year.'

'A what?' said Mrs. Hastings looking up astonished.

'Why,' said May, coloring, 'I want instead of any present, except a little one, no, I mean any present at all, I want a piece of money that would be just as much as my doll's carriage and toys would cost, do you understand, mamma?'

'Yes, dear, partly, but I shall better, when you tell me what you want it for.'

'Well,' said May, 'just this; I want to get something nice, for a poor little girl I saw, that lives way down Mire Lane; I have made my mind right up, I thought first I couldn't quite, but then I thought I would, and I will, so.'

'Well, my dear,' said Mrs. Hastings, 'I am glad you feel so, and instead of promising, I will say leave it till next week, and then if you want to do it as much as you do now, you may.'

'When, next week?' said May, 'next week, Thursday, just at this time. O, I'm so glad,' and May ran from the room.

The days passed quickly along, and as each one went I am sorry to say, the resolutions so earnestly formed wavered a little.

Monday afternoon, as May was walking with her mother, Ruth Hall, who was also out with her mother, said, while the ladies were talking, 'O, May, isn't it nice Christmas is coming; I'm expecting lots of things, though I don't know what, what do you want?'

'A piece of money,' said May, a little solemnly I am afraid.

'That's a funny present,' answered her friend, 'I think toys are great deal nicer,' were Ruth's last words, as the ladies bade each other good bye.

Alas, for the good resolutions that day, for on going home, May ran to her mother, saying, 'Mamma, I just can't; I did try hard, but its of no use; I believe, after all, I'll wait till I grow up, to do good, and now I'll just be good.'

'Just as my little girl wishes,' said Mrs. Hastings, and there was the least trace of disappointment in her voice. 'You know I told you, how ever, not to decide until Thursday; in the meantime I will take you to the place, and see if the child told you a true story; if it's pleasant we will go to-morrow afternoon, and I think as you've thought of it, you had better not decide till after that.'

May, looked anxiously forward to the next afternoon, it came at last, everything out of doors was bright and her hearts was full of sunshine. They started for the visit, and after a long walk reached an alley known as Mire Lane; they found No. 19, a forlorn looking house. They started up the stairs for some one told them Mrs. Jones lived on the top floor: up and up they went, past many ragged children who mutely stared at them.

Mrs. Hastings knock was answered by a very faint 'Come in.' They entered, there sat the widow, a sad-looking woman with a little boy upon her knee.

Mrs. Hastings introduced herself pleasantly to the poor woman, saying, 'My daughter became much interested the other day in a child that lives here, and she has brought me to see her.'

'O, it's my Fanny,' said the woman, in surprise, and added as she looked at May, 'you must be the little lady she told me about; she will be here in a moment; my Willie is sick, and I don't know what to do, indeed I don't, it's so hard to be so poor and sick,' went on the poor woman, without waiting for a reply.

'But here comes Fanny.'

Just then a noise was heard on the stairs, and in walked, bringing a pail of water, the little girl, whom May immediately recognized. Suddenly Fanny stopped as she saw the strangers, put down her pail, put both hands behind her, and looked, first at Mrs. Hastings, and then as she turned to May, her half frightened expression changed to a real beam of joy as she exclaimed, 'O mamma, isn't it fun-ny.'

May was quite overcome by this time with a queer feeling, she did not know just what it was; in the first place, she had never been in such a miserable house before, and then too, she felt strangely because they seemed to think she had done something for them, and she knew she had not, and she did not know what to say or do. But May was never long at a loss for words, and as she looked at fanny's inquiring face, she said, 'Yes, mamma brought me to see you, and I'm glad she did too, and I wish I could help you have plenty of good things, and a big house, and everything.'

'I don't want all that,' answered the child, 'but we do need lots of things, and I don't know what, most. I used to sell flowers every day, but they cost so much in cold weather, and all the money had to be spent for papa when he was sick.'

While the children were talking, Mrs. Hastings was very tenderly drawing out the widow's sad story, and she soon learned that here was a real object of charity. They soon left, promising to come again before long.

May was very thoughtful, all the way home. Let us see what she was thinking about; the truth was, she was sorry she had been selfish, and she was very earnestly making up her mind, so as to be sure not to change it again; but she was a little ashamed to tell her mother at once.

Mrs. Hastings did not say much on the way, but when she did speak, it was about something they had left behind. When they reached home, May ran to her room, and sat down. After a few moments' thought she asked God to keep her from wanting a Christmas present, and to help her want to give something to Fanny Jones. She then went to her mother's room, and said, 'Mamma, you needn't wait any longer for me to decide, I have given up my present; can I have my money to-day and let us go and buy things?'

'If you really wish it, May,' said Mrs. Hastings, 'I will go with you, but be very sure before we start.'

'Yes,' said May, 'I am, and I've asked God to help me.'

The purchases were all made that afternoon, and with some things Mrs. Hastings had in the house, were prepared for the poor woman. It seemed as if Christmas never would come this year, May was in such a hurry for it; but at last the eventful morning arrived, and a happy little girl was she, as she rose, not as usual to examine a well filled stocking, but to go with her mother, right after breakfast, to Mrs. Jones. They were soon mounting the rickety stairs, laden with packages. Mrs. Jones' surprised looks, and little Fanny's radiant face, as they entered, more than repaid May for all she had done; even the little sick Willie called out, 'O mamma! look at the ladies again.'

As package after package was opened Mrs. Jones was so overcome that bursting into tears, she exclaimed, 'How can I ever thank you enough for all you have done for us.'

Fanny literally danced for joy. Mrs. Hastings inquired more fully than she had done before, into Mrs. Jones' circumstances. It was a sad story; they had been happy and comfortable until the father's long illness and death had brought to them the greatest poverty and misery. Mrs. Jones was a good seamstress, and through Mrs. Hastings' influence she was soon established with plenty of work, and Fanny's and Willie's lives again bright and happy.

As for May a happier child was not found on that Christmas Day; she had so many good wishes for everybody, and made so much noise, that her mother was very glad when bed time came.

As she knelt at her mother's knee to say her prayers, she said, 'Mamma, I must thank God for helping me to do good this time. I know it won't seem so hard again to make up my mind.'

May has grown to be a large girl now, but she has not forgotten her first real act of self-denial, and how happy it made her. It is true she has not always, since then, given away her Christmas gift, but by constant little loving acts she is enriching her life with good deeds, and it grow easier for her to help others all the time.

If every child that reads this story will take the following verse for her daily motto, I am sure it will help her all the time:

'Jesus bids us shine
With a pure, clear light,
Like a little candle
Burning in the night.
In the world is darkness;
So that we must shine,
You in your small corner,
And I in mine.'

—New York Observer.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Never Say Die!

Though you c ugh it's gone be d ad-ies, when Hc "Lif Restorative" and Kidn ey Remedy is at hand. One bottle will satisfy the most skeptical that DR H. JAMES'S CANADIAN INDIAN is the only Lung upon record which positively cures Consumption, Asthma, Nervous Debility, and Blood Taint. TRY IT—prove it for yourself.

It arrests night sweats, pleurisy, irritation of the nerves, failing of memory, shifting pains, obstinate cough, sharp pains in the lungs, sore throat, and hysterical fears. Enhances the stomach functions of the bowels, and vanishing away of the mucous.

Price $5 per bottle; bottles $2.50, $1 each for clear lars. Address JAMES & CO., 232 Race street Philadelphia, Pa., giving name of this paper Jan. 7-1 w.

Forty-seven Years' Standing.

MESSRS. CRAIG & CO.,
1032 Race St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Gentlemen—Please send me box of Cuticolis Indian Ointment, as my wife is very sick with Salt Rheum, and has been for forty-seven years; standing. The doctors here called it consumption and constipation. I do not think it would give her relief, but I could see no harm in trying.

Respectfully, C. P. JONES.

LAFAYETTE SPRINGS, Miss., Sept. 2, 1876.
Dec. 17, 1w.

ST. MARY'S RECTORY, ANTIGUA, W. I.,
Sept. 10th, 1872.

To J. Bridger, Esq.,
Agent for Perry Davis' PAIN KILLER

Dear Sir:

In the I speak nearly twelve months ago, that I first procured from you a small bottle of Perry Davis' Pain-Killer, not being able to obtain another medicine. Very many of my people applied to me for medicine, and I, at those especially for bowel complaints and the like, a few drops of Pain-Killer. In a little time I began to receive unusual expressions of gratitude for the benefit derived from it. This led me to more particular inquiries about it, and to think of my own stock, which I found in my using it more largely, and for many ailments, as well as the world; and in those days of inhumanity, when there are barbarities, that rob the invalid of the last remnants of his strength (I am ashamed to say made use of), I believe a blessing to mankind that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are everywhere procurable and everywhere popular.

Jan 7-1 m

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely safe. Perfectly odorless. Always uniform. Illuminating qualities superior to gas. Burns in any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to displace the use of volatile and dangerous oils. Its rarely under every possible test, and its perfect burning qualities, are proved by its constant use in over 300,000 families.

Millions of gallons have been sold and no accident—directly or indirectly—has ever occured from burning, storing or handling it.

The Inventor yearly lays to life one properly, reading from the use of cheap and dangerous oils in the United States, is appalling.

The insurance companies and Fire Commissioners throughout the country recommend the ASTRAL as the best safeguard when lamps are used. Send for circular.

THOS. PRATT & CO., 108 Fulton Street, New York, proprietors.

Sold by Jutlus Lewis & Co., Raleigh—And by grocers Agents.

Aug 27 6m.

BEST AND OLDEST FAMILY MEDICINE.—"Sanford' Liver Invigorator—a purely Vegetable Cathartic and Tonic—for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Debility, Sick Spells, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of Liver Stomach and Bowels. Ask your Druggist for it. Beware of imitations.

mar 26-12mosw

The Unequalled Pain-cure and Family Liniment is the best remedy in the world for the following complaints, viz: Cramp in the Limbs and Stomach Pain in the Stomach, Bowel, Side or Back, Rheumatism in all its forms, Bilious Colic, Neuralgia, Chalera, Dysentery, Colds, Fresh Wounds, Burns, Sore Throat, Spinal Complaints, Sprains and Bruises, Chills and Fever, Pain's Vegetable and All-healing. For internal and external use. Prepared by CURTIS & BROWN, No 215 Fulton street, New York, and for sale by all druggists.

July 2-1w.

CANFIELD BROTHER & CO.,

229 Baltimore St.,

BALTIMORE MD.

Gold Watches for Ladies & Gentlemen.

American Watches a specialty.
These Watches have an established reputation.
Silver Watches of every variety.
Diamonds, rich Jewelery.
Chains, Lockets, &c
Gold Head Canes.
Clocks, Bronze, Vases.
Fancy Silver-Ware for Bridal Gifts.
Triple Plated Tea Sets, Waiters, Ice Pitchers, Fruit Stands, Castors, Spoons and Forks. A complet stock of new style Plated Goods Fans, Opera Glass and Rich Fancy Goods.
Our stock is large and prices moderate. Order have prompt attention. Medals and Badges Schools and Colleges.

apr 24—12m

DISSOLUTION OF CO-PARTNERSHIP.

The mecantile firm of WYATT, GREEN & CO., including that of UZZLE & CO., was by mutual consent dissolved this day.

The name of the firm will hereafter be used only in liquidation. All claims for or against, will be settled by their successors as they become due. The successors will be published on the 3rd inst.

WYATT, GREEN & CO.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec, 1, 1873.
Dec. 10-tf

DR. C. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from orders than Fleming Bros., will do well to state their orders distinctly, and take special Pains to C. M'Lane's, as Sold by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. Travelers wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills, for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Store keepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If you would have your children grow up to be healthy, stout, and vigorous Men and Women, give them a few doses of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,

TO EXPEL THE WORMS.

CAUTION! BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

—OF—

RICHMOND & DANVILLE RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Sunday, Dec 7th, 1873.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	5.00 P. M.	8.55 A. M.
" Air-Line Junc'n	7.15 "	10.47 "
" Salisbury.....	10.02 "	11.47 "
" Greensboro'.....	2.18 A. M.	1.15 P. M.
" Danville.....	5.28 "	3.37 "
" Burkeville.....	11.30 "	8.06 "
Arrive at Richmond...	2.52 P. M.	11.05 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.45 P. M.	6.30 A. M.
" Burkeville.....	4.58 "	8.28 "
" Danville.....	9.50 "	1.13 P. M.
" Greensboro'.....	1.16 A. M.	4.58 "
" Salisbury.....	3.56 "	6.23 "
Air Line Junc'n....	6.32 "	8.51 "
Arrive at Charlotte...	6.51 A. M.	9.05 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'....	2.00 A. M.	Arrive 12.35 A. M.
" Co. Shops....	2.35 "	12.08 "
" Raleigh.....	5.15 "	9.30 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'	7.10 A. M.	Leave 8.00 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'..... 4.50 P. M.
Arrive at Salem..... 6.25 P. M.
Leave Salem..... 8.40 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'..... 10.00 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.42 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.29 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.25 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.55 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, (without change.)

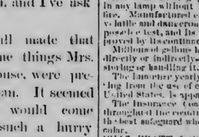
Tickets and arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please point as above.

For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

STIEFF'S PIANOS.



UPWARDS OF FIFTY

FIRST PREMIUMS

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

Were awarded to CHARLES M. STIEFF, for the Best Pianos, in competition with all the leading manufacturers in the country.

OFFICE AND WAREROOMS:—No. 9 S. Liberty Street, Baltimore, Md.

The superiority of the Unrivalled Stieff Piano Forte, is conceded by all who have compared it with others. In their New Grand Square Scale, 7⅓ Octaves, the manufacturer has succeeded in making the most perfect Piano Forte possible.

Prices will be found as reasonable as consistent with thorough workmanship.

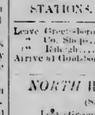
A large assortment of second-hand Pianos always on hand, from $50 to $90.

We are agents for the celebrated Bartlett Cabinet Parlor and Church Organs, all styles and prices, to suit every one, guaranteed to be fully equal to any made.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 1500 Southerners, 500 of whom are Virginians, 300 North Carolinians, 150 East Tennesseans and others throughout the South, who have bought the Stieff Piano since the close of the war.

april 6-1 m.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.



Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT.

102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati.

apr 16—12m.

THE Great Revival

IN THE SOUTHERN ARMIES

DURING THE LATE WAR

ON THE FIRST OF JANUARY NEXT

We shall begin the publication of the Narrative of this Great Work of Grace, in serial numbers in the

RICHMOND CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Subscribe early and secure all the numbers.—Postage free, you will never receive equal in a large volume issued year after year, postpaid, and money to refund.

W. W. BENNETT,
1015 Main Street, Richmond, Va.

Dec-17 2t.

DR. C. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from orders than Fleming Bros., will do well to state their orders distinctly, and take special Pains to C. M'Lane's, as Sold by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. Travelers wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills, for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Store keepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If you would have your children grow up to be healthy, stout, and vigorous Men and Women, give them a few doses of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,

TO EXPEL THE WORMS.

CAUTION! BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

THE NEW Sunday School Song Book

ROYAL DIADEM

CONTAINS

HYMNS ESPECIALLY ADAPTED TO THE

International Lessons

For 1873 and 1874

TOGETHER WITH AN INDEX PREPARED FOR THE CONVENIENCE OF SUPERINTENDENTS AND CHORISTERS.

☞Provision is Made for Every Lesson.

ROYAL DIADEM

Is sold by the leading Booksellers all over the world Retail Price 75 cents; $70 per 100 copies.

☞Ask your Booksellers for it

BIGLOW & MAIN, Publishers,

(Successors to WM. B. BRADBURY,)

NEW YORK AND CHICAGO.

Nov 5 4t cow

REMARBLE SUCCESS!

One agent Made $112 in 4 days, and another $158 in 8 days, selling

OCEAN'S STORY.

A perfect Thesaurus of Adventures upon, and the Wonders beneath the great Oceans. 22 spirited engravings. Price 75 cts each 100 sells monthly fast—20-0 more live agents wanted for this and the only COMPLETE, POPULAR AND FAST-SELLING history of

Livingstone 28 years in Africa

(the greatest success of the season.) Also our splendid new Bible, just ready, is far excelling all others Pocket Companion and full circulars free. Address oct 1 13t.

HUBBARD BROS., Publs., Phila., Pa. or Chi., Ill

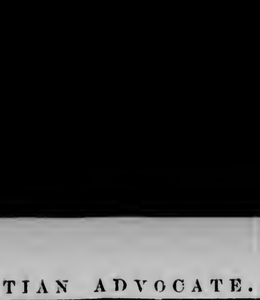
RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.



Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,

THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations render useless. The Insensible Blending of the Rays is made perceptual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, and others lost diseases have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured for life following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight disease, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring; 3. Obfuscation or Weak Eyes; 4. Epiphora, Standing or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Opthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, caused at all times from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Pearl-sight, or Inflammation of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiads—or those specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Slow rise of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Any one can use the Ivory Eye Cups with an infallible certainty of success as to Safety. Does unlike medical results a direct wear spectacles, or, if using one to by them would however. We guarantee success in every case where the directions are followed or will refund the money.

2,353 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from noted Farmers, Merchants and Mechanics—some of them I am confident leading professional and business men, and unaware of objection and inducement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Read the following Letter from Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, written "J. Ball, in our city, is a most excellent and respectable man who is incapable of an unfair or deception or imposition."

Prof. W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 7th, 1873: "Without my spectacles I can now read fine print, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, not fail. Most any person of the entire community of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly and I can't fail to say your noble invention. May Heaven bless and prosper you. I have been using spectacles twenty years, I can verify to-day."

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK.

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 5 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. G. Gibbs, the Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1872: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I can still feel they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Selvia Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years."

Alex. K. Wyeth, M. D., Mebber, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three months."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, also we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYESIGHT, of our late Royal prize, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co., P. O. Box 3571, No. 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the unsolicited testimony of Misery or Near-Sightedness use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC A TACHMENTS, applied to the Ivory Eye Cups. Has proved a certain cure for both diseases.

Send for complete and free circular—free. We are no more humbug, by a long shot, than gold eyeglasses, nor nose and disfiguring eye glass.

AGENTS WANTED.

Ready to send for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or ladies, for our New PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced to the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living. Retail and easy end to send. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $25 A day. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send for address for full particulars. Send free of charge your address. Address

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO 91 LIBERTY STREET,
New York City, N. Y.

P. O. Box 35.
Aug 6-1m

SACRED MUSIC BOOKS.

THE STANDARD!

Still always a first-rate issue, keeps well to the front of all books for CHOIRS, CONVENTIONS and SINGING SCHOOL. By L. O. EMERSON and H. S. PALMER. Price $1.50.

AMERICAN TUNE BOOK!

Contains 1,000 of the very best psalm tunes of the country. Has to order a new collection of the most approved sacred music for Choirs and Congregations. 360 Pages. 1st issue. Price $1.50.

THE RIVER OF LIFE!

Is attracting the notice of all leaders in Singing in Sabbath Schools, because of its very superior arrangement of Bible subjects. Its department of songs for little children, in addition to the international lessons, and its general choice and freshness of music and words. Highly commended by all. Price 25 cts. Bds.

This BEAUTIFUL SABBATH SCHOOL SONG BOOK, to sell at $25 per hundred in Bds; $35 per 100 in Paper

The above books send, postpaid, on receipt of retail price.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.
Boston. 711 Broadway, N. York.

May 12-12m.

Established 1854,

CHARLES SIMON & SONS.,

63 No. Howard St.,

BALTIMORE, MD.

Dealers in Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods, would call special attention to their spl. did stock of Dress Goods, Linen Goods, Embroideries, Laces, and Hosiery. The best assortment of Mourning Goods in the city.

SAMPLES SENT FREE!

All Orders amounting to $20.00

or over, will be sent free of Freight charges by Express, but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their Goods sent C. O. D. must pay for return of money.

feb 5—12m

The King of Sunday School Books, "PURE DIAMONDS."

By JAMES R. MURRAY. Assisted by Geo. F. Root, H. R. Palmer, P. P. Bliss, J. M. Kieffer and a host of other popular writers of Sunday School Music.

No such genuine success ever known in the history of similar books. Over 100,000 Copies have been sold in three months, and the demand is increasing daily. Price in boards 35 cts. single; $3 60 per doz.; $30 per hundred. Specimen copy in paper covers 25 cts.

S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Cleveland, O.

Sent free to any address Brainard's New Descriptive Catalogue of Selected Popular Music & selected list of choice music, containing full description of thousands of beautiful pieces of music. This new catalogue is invaluable to all musicians. Sent free to any address. S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Publishers, Cleveland, O.

Aug. 17-12m.

PIEDMONT & ARLINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

OF VIRGINIA.

POLICIES ISSUED - - - - - 20,000
ANNUAL INCOME - - - - - $1,500,000

Expense of management, less than that of any Company of same age, in America.

Over $200,000 paid in widows and orphans. Business of 1874 exceeded that of 1873 by 20 per cent.—the largest ratio of any Life Company that has passed the Insurance Departments of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, &c., and has established successful agencies in those States.

DR. C. D. RICE, General Agent
June 11-12m. Raleigh, N.

"DOMESTIC" PAPER FASHIONS.

Agents Wanted.

SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE CO., NEW YORK

opt 3 3m.

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN

General Commission Merchants

AND

COTTON FACTORS,

Exchange Place (Fisher Building,)

P. O. Box 422, RALEIGH, N. C.

Consignments of

COTTON,

FLOUR,

GRAIN,

FOREIGN

and other country produce solicited.

General Agents for the sale of Jones River every barrel guaranteed equal to the best. Also for the sale of Sheetings and Cotton Yarns from the Deep River Manufacturing Company.

CEMENT,

CORN, FLOUR, FORAGE, &c.,

always on hand. Orders for the purchase of cotton seed solicited.

All business entrusted to us will have strict personal attention and we guarantee promptness and satisfaction.

A. G. LEE.
W. C. McMACKIN.

Sept 16-12m.

J. M. ROSENBAUM

(SUCCESSOR TO A. KLINE.)

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

DEALER IN

READY-MADE CLOTHING.

Staple Dry Goods,

HATS, BOOTS AND SHOES,

China, Crockery and Glass-Ware.

Gents FURNISHING GOODS and SHIRTS a Specialty.

CORNER

Fayetteville and Hargett Sts.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

oct 15-tf

SUMMER REFRESHMENTS

AT

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY.

SUCH AS

MOSELEY'S

ICE CREAM SODA WATER

Something Novel in Itself. Come and try it,

MOSELEY'S ICE CREAM SALOON

For Ladies and Gents,

A FAVORITE PLACE ON WARM DAYS.

MOSELEY has too many things to mention. Come and see what you want, at

MOSELEY'S
Great Confectionery Emporium.

Jan 8-12m.

100 BOXES "FORESTERS LEMON CRACKERS"

LEACH BROS.

July 28 tf.

FIFTY CASES COVE OYSTERS.

LEACH BROS

July 23-tf

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

THE BEST PIANOS & ORGANS

ALSO TUNING & REPAIRING BY J. F. RUECKERT WILMINGTON, N. C.

Agent for the Celebrated Weber and Chickering Pianos,

☞These instruments have a worldwide reputation as "unquestionably the best" and very REASONABLE IN PRICE. They are guaranteed as such and fully Warranted as represented. Purchasers should address

J. F. RUECKERT,
Sole Agent WILMINGTON, N. C

P. S.—Tuning orders attended to from any part of the country

July 2-12m

WIRE RAILING & ORNAMENTAL Wire Works.

DUFUR & CO.,

36 North Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.

Manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, &c., SHEETER, FENCES, CAGES, SAND AND COAL SCREENS, WOVEN WIRE, &c. Also, IRON BEDSTEADS CHAIRS, SETTEES, &c., &c.

Feb 19-12m

A GREAT OFFER!!

HORACE WATERS, & SON 481 Broadway, N. Y., will dispose of ONE HUNDRED PIANOS, MELODEONS and ORGANS of first-class makers, including Waters's, at very LOW PRICES for cash, or will take part cash and balance in small monthly Instalments. Now 7 octave first class PIANOS, all modern improvements, for $175 cash. The WATERS CONCERTO PARLOR ORGANS, are the most beautiful style and perfect tone ever made. Illustrated Cats Organs mailed. may 25-12m.

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD!

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

NO. 141 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00!!

JACRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary.

Wm. M. COLE, Secretary.
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., LL.D., Med. Director

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES!

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium,

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for JUDGMENT OF INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS,—upon which elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of their Policies, each and every year, and in a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation must be held by the Companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully see for this important safeguard. IT WILL BE FOUND IN THE BROOKLYN LIFE.

Wm. LITTLE, M.D., MEDICAL EXAMINER

A. W. LAWRENCE,

General Agent for North Carolina,
Office at Raleigh.

may 18-tf

WATSON'S GALLERY —OF— PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South; where every style of Photographic likeness is executed from the smallest miniature, to the large Portrait equal in size. If you have no likeness of a deceased relative or friend, you can have it enlarged and colored to nature. Photographic Albums and Picture Frames always on hand, in great variety, at low prices. When you come to Raleigh, do not fail to call at WATSON'S GALLERY and door above Tucker Hall.

J. W. WATSON.

Dec 18-12

THE VICTOR SEWING MACHINE TRIUMPHANT!

It is the very best Machine in the world, and has taken the first premium at every Fair wherever it has been exhibited!

Our New Patent Shuttle is the Simplest and only Perfect one in use.

The Only Lock-Stitch Machine that has a Self-Setting Needle.

It runs a straight and self setting needle. The needle cannot be set wrong. A self-adjusting tension. No difference in sewing from light to heavy, or heavy to light goods. A new PATENT SHUTTLE the

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 2. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 14, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,000.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

Self-Abasement.

BY COTTAGE BARD.

Lord, when I bow before Thy throne,
I feel myself a wretch of nought,
And when I would my sins confess,
I find me short of thoughtfulness.

Before Thy mercy I fall,
And for Thy tender mercies call;
All helpless and depraved I cry,
And on a sinner's love rely.

I claim Thy promises as my plea;
I own the Saviour died for me;
I look to no other good,
Than to bring sinners to Jesus' blood.

I count my righteousness but dross,
For I deserve Thy love to lose;
My all in all is found in Thee,
The sinner's friend Thy love to know.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Christmas Day of 1873.

Rev. Bobbitt: Another fleeting and eventful year is about to terminate and be numbered with the past.—A batch of valuable time, given for a wise purpose, passes by unimproved by inconsiderate mortals! The vociferous shouts of the thoughtless multitudes collected on the streets of our village, remind me that Christmas is here.—Many who commingled their voices in the bacchanalian revelry of a similar period twelve months ago, looking forward to enjoyment in the festivities of the present occasion, have crumbled into dust, while the drapery of mourning manifests either the grief of sorrowing survivors, or a conformity to the useless requirements of a long established custom. But such is the mutability of human existence with its flickering lights and saddening shades! Just here permit me to say, that while it may not be inconsistent with Christian gratitude and character to engage in scenes of social enjoyment on Christmas occasions, I am far from approving the wild and listless sports and outbursting shouts of whiskey-heated churchmen, reminding one so much of the "Diana" shout of heathen minds. Persons professing to be the holy children of our Immaculate Saviour, living in a land of Bible light with the spires of numerous church steeples pointing heavenward in the light of civilization, should not lift their voices in the shouts of jeering multitudes, nor engage in scenes calculated to raise a suspicion in the minds of more considerate ones, with regard to the Christian dignity or consistency of their character.—The birth day of the "Prince of Peace" should not be celebrated in such a manner! How appropriate the prayer of the Saviour! "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do."

I cast my mind back to that eventful and memorable period in the history of the world, when the "star of Bethlehem" directed the inquiring minds of the wise men of the East to the sacred manger, and stood in illuminating lightness o'er the birth-place of the infant Saviour. In imagination I see the valleys and hill tops of Judea kindled into noon-day brightness, as I hear the angel of the Lord awakening the astonished hearts of the shepherds into gladness and gratitude, as he announces in their ears, "Good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people." In the language of good old Simon, who was waiting for the consolation of Israel, it was the advent of the prophesied "Light to lighten the Gentiles and the glory of Israel." It was the bright dawn of the Christian dispensation—of the glorious era in the redemption of man, when, as expressed by the prophet, "The Sun of Righteousness should arise, with healing in His wings."

As the multitude of Celestial's raise their shout of "Glory to God in the highest," and the angel of the Lord announces the advent of "Christ the Lord," in imagination I hear the awakened and expectant multitudes of Israel commingling their voices with the rejoicing shepherds, and the heavenly host, in the joyful exclamation, "Christ the Lord! Christ the Lord!" But, alas! in these degenerate times, who expects Christian circumspection to characterize the conduct of men on Christmas-day, or that the birth-day of the "Prince of Peace" will be celebrated with songs of praises, or the shout of Christian triumph? Who will live to see another Christmas day? Oh! for a living, active, and abiding faith, which will enable me, if called to pass away before the return of the natal-day of Christ, to fall asleep in His arms, an heir of undying felicity in the brighter land of glory! H.

Oxford, N. C.

TRUTH.—Truth is the only real, lasting foundation for friendship; in all but truth there is a principle of decay and dissimulation. MISS EDGEWORTH.

For the Advocate.
(From our Irish Correspondent.)

Another Plea for the Confessional.

The advocates of the Confessional in the Church of England have taken another step forward. The notorious petition of the 483 has now been followed up by a solemn, argumentative Declaration, sent to the Times for world-wide distribution. That it is as serious and momentous as the petition, every one who studies the names of the men who endorse it will immediately realize. There can be no question that it is more representative than its predecessor. The signatures are fewer, but they carry with them greater weight, and they show that there is a far larger number of persons who sympathise with this movement than many amiable folk were willing to believe. Not only does it include the Ultra Ritualists, but also what may be called the real High Church party as distinguished from them. Probably there will be found some of that party who repudiate the Declaration; but when we consider the enormous influence which such men as Dr. Pusey and Canon Liddon exercise in High Church circles, it is natural to conclude that those gentlemen and their colleagues are sustained by a vast proportion of those who dislike the Evangelicals on the one side, and the extreme Ritualists on the other. It will be a great mistake henceforth to treat this movement as a purely Ritualistic one, unless we comprehend in that term men who have hitherto refused to be identified with it. This increases the gravity of the situation. We have it now revealed to us, perhaps for the first time, that an immense number of the clergy of the Establishment, probably a majority of them, are resolved to institute, though they say only revive, the custom of frequent confession. What further adds to the momentous importance of this Declaration is the fact that it comes at a time when the public mind is profoundly agitated about the question—when the secular press unanimously has condemned the views and the practices which are advocated. These clergy have had all this clearly before them, and therefore must have solemnly considered the probable consequences of publishing such a document. Yet after long and mature deliberation, they now come forward and throw down this challenge not only before the other members of their Church, but before the whole people of England. They certainly are not wanting in the courage of their opinions; and while the entire land is ringing with the bitterest denunciations of the Convocation petitioners, these new combatants fearlessly throw the ægis of their authority over their predecessors and justify their action. Here, then we have the deliberate and conscientious convictions of some of the leaders in the Church of England, and they evidently intend to hold their own before all antagonists.

The special peculiarity of this Declaration is that it professes to expound the doctrines of "Confession and absolution as set forth by the Church of England." They do not here attempt to prove their truth from Scripture, or to show that the practice would be of great moral and spiritual value to Christian men and women; but they calmly meet the assertions of their fellow Churchmen, who denounced them as traitors to the teachings of the Establishment, by an endeavour to show that they hold only what the Church authorizes. It is, in fact, their answer to those Evangelicals who have so vigorously proclaimed that Confession had no sanction in the formularies of the Church. This must necessarily be the battle ground of both parties, for if it could be conclusively proved that the Prayer book permits and inculcates Confession the Evangelicals have no right, with their views, to remain within the Establishment another hour. This they acutely feel, and it has, therefore, been their urgent and elaborate work to prove that its spirit and declarations were in their own favour. The priestly confessors have heard the taunts flung against them, and we suppose as honourable men they could not endure to be held up before the country as a set of traitors, and they have been galled into making this reply. That it is acute, subtle, and calculated to make a deep impression upon the public mind, every thoughtful reader of its carefully-linked argument and exposition must have felt. Many will consider it unanswerable, while it will throw others into a state of unutterable perplexity—a perplexity which is admirably represented by the writer of the leading article in the Times which comments upon this document. He undertakes to defend the exceptional character of Confession as taught by the Church of England; but on the "vexed question of absolution," he says—"We will frankly confess we give it up. The Ordination Service incorporates language which tends to foster a great delusion, and which is undoubtedly an innovation on the earliest custom of the Church. . . . There is good ground for believing that the pleas of the Declaration are capable of being fully answered on theological grounds. But it is best to be frank, and to say that we do not care whether they can be thus answered or not. It is possible, though we do not believe it to be true, that the Reformers deliberately retained those relics of the superstition which in substance they abandoned." Now, all this is an average specimen of the effect which this Declaration will produce on members of the Church of England who hate the very notion of Confession. A case for it has been made out, and they cannot answer it, and stand before us bewildered, their logic compelling them in one direction, and their sentiments or, as the Times writer calls them, their "instints" pulling hard in quite the opposite. We also will be candid, and say we cannot help them. It is, in truth, no concern of ours to prove whether Confession is or is not sanctioned by the Prayer-book: that belongs entirely to those who are bound by its teachings. All we have to do with is the fact that there is a large number of men who are reviving the practice which, whatever the Church of England may allow, is utterly repugnant to the majority of this Protestant nation. We do not undertake to examine the arguments of this Declaration, but we shall assuredly wait with no little curiosity to hear what our Evangelical friends have to say concerning it.

The great question, of course, both with them and all who like them, repudiate such teaching, is, what is to be done? This is the problem to be solved. That matters cannot be allowed to remain as they are is certain. Nor will they. At least, those who agree with Dr. Pusey and Canon Liddon are resolved not to let the grass grow under their feet. They feel themselves at perfect liberty to "move" men and women to indulge in confession. If their Declaration means anything it means this, that confession ought to be observed as an habitual practice, for they say that as the invitation to those who have unquiet consciences to open their grief to the priest and to receive "the benefit of absolution" is to be repeated whenever notice is given of Holy Communion, "and as Holy Communion is constantly offered to all, it follows that the use of confession may be, at least, in some cases, of not unfrequent occurrence." No one can misunderstand this, and it is a notorious fact that many clergy do now urge upon the people the necessity of habitual confession as a suitable, and helpful, and necessary condition of a right reception of the Sacrament. So that we may expect the practice to grow with great rapidity, and soon it will be almost as common as the celebration of the Communion itself. What, therefore, are our Protestant Establishmentarians to do in face of this challenge and its possibilities? They have talked with no little energy, but this has not prevented the practice in any one case. They have appealed to the Bishops to stop it, and the Bishops have replied with their usual non possumus. They urge a reform of the Book of Common Prayer, and they know that such a reform as they ask for will never be granted. The High Church are stronger than themselves and the Broad Church combined, and the latter will not unite with them in any endeavour to narrow the comprehensive basis of the Church. In Convocation they have no influence. What will they do? The Record and the Rock cry, "Return Protestant members to Parliament and let that regenerated body amend or interpret the formularies in a true Protestant sense." But in asking this they are crying for the moon. A sufficient number of members pledged to them will never be returned; and if they were and could undertake the task, it would simply result in a secession of the High Church party which would destroy the Establishment. We put it to them with unfeigned seriousness whether the time has not come when in a body they should shake the dust from off their feet and protest, by united secession against this corrupt and demoralizing attempt to Romanize England through the National Church? But whatever they may do, our duty as Nonconformists is plain, and we shall devote ourselves to it with renewed and increasing earnestness; we will go to the country, and appealing to its Protestant "instincts," demand, in the name of all we love best, that the national money, prestige, and influence shall no longer be employed to convert this people to Rome.

JOHN KNOX.

Dec. 18th 1873.

IMPORTANCE OF TRIFLES.—"There is no action of man in this life,' says Thomas of Malmesbury, 'which is not the beginning of so long a chain of consequences as that no human providence is high enough to give us a prospect to the end.'

Selected.

What Spiritual Life Should be.

BY REV. CHARLES H. SPURGEON.

This time our paper assumes the form of a personal address to each Christian at work. Across the Atlantic I salute each one and grasp him heartily by the hand, while I say:

"ART THOU IN HEALTH, MY BROTHER?"

Read the twentieth chapter of the Second Book of SAMUEL, and note that when Joab said this, he took the person whom he called his brother by the beard, and slew him. Too great politeness is always suspicious. Crafty men have often veiled their malice beneath the garb of courtesy. Beware of those who praise you too loudly; they will stab you as readily. Remember how JUDAS betrayed the Master with a kiss, saying, "Hail, Master," when he had already sold him to his foes. Christian, be on the alert against the blandishments of the world; you have vanquished the lion when he roared upon you, be not overcome by the bear when he seeks to hug you. If you have not been afraid of the world's persecutions, neither be you dismayed, nor tempted, nor led aside by the world's allurements.

"Far more the treacherous calm I dread,
Than tempests thundering overhead."

Let the Christian take note of the connection of this text, and reflect how often men may come with "broth or" on their lips when they carry

MURDER IN THEIR HEARTS.

However, with genuine feelings of affection we shall employ the language of JOAB, and say to each of our readers, "Art thou in health, my brother?" We may use it as a common and ordinary salutation, and even in that sense it need not fall flat to the ground. If thou be in health, my brother, I congratulate thee. It is a great mercy, take care that thou thankest thy God for it. Health, when it is not attended with gratitude, is very precarious, for the God that giveth thee the enjoyments of health if he seeth thee unmindful of the source from which they came, may stop the channel, and then where art thou?—How soon is the strong man bowed down! How soon does the blood decay from the cheek, and the lustre from the eye! Bless God, ye men who are in health and strength, bless God with all your hearts, for he it is who renews your strength like the eagle's. Remember, also, that you who are in health have peculiar duties. It should be our business to serve God with might and main while we are able to do so, for if the night come not, yet the days will soon come upon us, in which we shall say, "we have no pleasure in them." We cannot expect the sick to go forth to war; let us then, while we belong to the band of the strong and vigorous, behave as valiant soldiers for our Lord Jesus. When I think of Master HUGH LATIMER in his old age, usually up at 2 o'clock in the morning at his books, and then out to preach somewhere, and on again till the evening at his work; when I read of one good man who was awakened by the blacksmith's hammer, and said that he was ashamed that he, the Lord's servant, should be in bed when the servants of man were at work, I stand rebuked. Diligence is the duty of health; diligence in the work of Him who hath redeemed us to himself by his most precious blood.

YOU WILL NEVER REPENT

of toiling for the Lord; there shall never come the hour in which you shall say, "I did too much for Jesus, I laid down too much of my ability and strength at the Master's feet. No, brethren, with both our hands, and with all our heart, and soul, and mind and strength, let us serve our Master while we can.

"Art thou in health, my brother?" The answer may be, "No, I am suffering in the extreme." But thou knowest who appointed thee this sickness; kiss thou the hand which holds out the cup of troubling, though there be wormwood and gall in its ingredients. Thy sickness has its duties, and among the chief is patience. Let it not be said that the Christian cannot suffer, let not the ungodly who look upon thee, imagine that thou art weak as other men are; but now thou art in the furnace, bless the Lord, and take from his hand the evil as well as the good; so shall they who see thee say, "The Lord hath done great things for him," and this will bring honor to the name of Christ. Remember, too, that thy sickness has its peculiar comforts. The Lord hath never promised to make thy bed in thy health, but he hath said, "I will make all his bed in his sickness." He doth gently lead his people when they are in circumstances of peculiar weakness. He will make your strength to be as your day; and if he smite with one hand he will support with the other. Take for your consolation the words of DAVIDS' pastoral song, "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me."

But our intention at this time is to urge an inquiry as to your inner man your nobler self.

"Art thou in health, my brother?" Is thy soul in health? how goes it with thy heart, with thy inner nature? how stands thy veritable self—thy soul?—How dost thou bear thyself in the battle of the times? Art thou in soul health, my brother?

Let this stand as a point,

THERE IS A NECESSITY for asking this question. There is a necessity for asking it, because this is an unhealthy country for Christians.—In a lazar house the air is not more pestiferous than, to a Christian is the atmosphere of the world. In riches we are tempted to be proud, in poverty we are in danger of becoming envious: when at leisure we are tempted by evil lusts; when busy we are apt to forget our God; in joy we grow self confident; in sorrow we become despondingly and unbelieving; evil lurking about our best things as well as our worst. There is no place into which a Christian can go where he will find all his circumstances helpful to his graces; the rather it is a struggle for a Christian to be in this world at all. This is but of battle; this world has not become the friend of grace or the helper of our usefulness. Grace is an exotic plant, and were it not that God protects it, both the soil and the atmosphere of this world would utterly destroy it.—Christian at Work.

NOT THE PLACE OF REST

Southern Historical Society.

GENERAL WADE HAMPTON'S CIRCULAR.

To the Editor of the Baltimore Gazette:

As it is impracticable to approach all who take an interest in the Southern Historical Society by correspondence or personal application, it seems to me that the best course to present the claims of this institution to our people is through the agency of such papers as are favorable to the enterprise. The attention of those most interested will thus be called to it, and zeal in its behalf will be aroused. The Society was organized in New Orleans, in 1869, with the parent Society in that city, and a Vice President was appointed in each Southern State, the Rev. B. M. Palmer, a distinguished divine, being President of the whole organization. The object of the Society was to collect and preserve in an enduring form, the rich and abundant materials of history scattered throughout the South, but which are fast perishing for want of the proper care to their preservation. It was proposed "that this collection of the raw material of history should, as rapidly as gathered, be collated and digested, and should form the basis of a thorough, truthful, and, as far as possible, a documentary history of our people and of our times. * * * The work itself is too noble, too patriotic, too necessary to be abandoned; and the thought is intolerable of leaving the vindication of our principles and our brave and martyred dead to the honesty of some chance antiquarian of the future, who may mourn over the loss of records which it should be our business to preserve." Dr. Palmer, whose language is quoted in the extract above, goes on to say why the society has not met with the success desired, and giving as two reasons, first, the location of the Parent Society in New Orleans, which, "situated at the edge of our common country, is almost entirely commercial in its pursuits, with a population less stable than elsewhere; with fewer men of cultivated leisure, and above all, in a State so heavily borne down by its political troubles, that whatever of public spirits exists, is absorbed with the difficulties of a peculiarly oppressed condition. In the second place, the experience of the past few years has demonstrated that no reliance can be placed on a voluntary and diffused agency, even for the collection of the materials which lie in such abundance around us. The work is one of too much detail, and the men who are competent to the task are too much engrossed with their private business to warrant the expectation of its being accomplished by this means. It must be made the special duty and sole occupation of some one party to go about from State to State and gather this scattered material wherever he could find it." In addition to these reasons, so cogently expressed by the President of the Society, which have militated against its success, there was one other, equally grave. No provision was made by the Society for the publication of its records, and our people could not feel that vital interest in this enterprise, they would have done, had the important and valuable papers collected by the Society been regularly placed before them. All these difficulties which beset the path of our young Society have been removed; two of them—the first and last—with complete success, for the domicile of the parent Society has established in Richmond, and it has been arranged that all records collected shall be regularly published in the Southern Magazine, of Baltimore, one of the ablest periodicals of the country.

The Executive Committee of the Society have endeavored to overcome the second obstacle in the way of success, by doing me the honor to ask that I would undertake the task of collecting the material for our future history, and thus aiding the Society by placing in its possession the best vindication of our people which can be bequeathed to our posterity. This task appeals so strongly to my patriotism and sentiments so vital to the welfare the safety, the honor of the South, that I have accepted it, in the hope that though my efforts to accomplish it may fall far short of the success the work itself deserves, they will not be totally unavailing. In this hope, I appeal to every man, and to every woman of the South, who has a pride in our past glory or our future honor, who wishes to place upon the record for all time to come, the vindication of our people, who desires to see the whole truth laid before the august tribunal of History; who cherishes amid all these evil times, love and reverence for our heroic dead, or who hopes that our children shall not denounce their fathers as rebels and traitors, to aid this sacred work.

To insure the success of the Society it will be necessary to obtain a large membership, so that the unavoidable expenses incident to its work may be met. A subscription of seven dollars per annum makes one a member, and entitles the subscriber—male or female—to receive all the publications of the Society, together with the Southern Magazine for one year. A subscription of fifty dollars constitutes a life member with all the privileges. All who may wish to assist the Society can communicate with me, care of Messrs. Turnbull Brothers, No. 8 North Charles street, Baltimore, or can enroll themselves as members by application to the State and local agents, who will be appointed. Commending the praiseworthy and patriotic work contemplated by the Society to the good will and support of our people, I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

WADE HAMPTON.
General Agent, S. H. S.

Secret Societies.

We are glad to notice increased attention in various journals, both secular and religious, to the matter of secret societies in colleges. An honest effort is being made to ascertain their true character and the real nature of the influence which they exert. That they largely absorb the attention of many of the students is an indisputable fact, and it is equally true that many of the rivalries and class conflicts are settled on that basis. The question of a man's claims to honors, so far as the students can settle them in their conclaves, is more often, we fear, solved by the key of the society influence which he can control than by any other. And, again, it is doubtful whether, nowadays at least, many of these secret societies have purely literary aims, or give their members any opportunity to grow as scholars, thinkers, or even public speakers. On the contrary, it is roundly asserted that secret societies are, as a rule, fatal to the success of the literary societies where the flourish, and many facts go to corroborate this statement. And granting that they are largely of a social nature, their merits should then be tested by the kind of social advantages which they afford. In short, they should be clearly able to prove themselves valuable, in view of the money and time which they absorb.—N. Y. Advocate.

Prayer grows from asking—which is the statement; to seeking—which is the pleading; and to knocking—which is the importuning; to each of these stages of prayer there is a distinct promise. He that asks shall have, what did he ask for more? but he that seeks, going further, shall find, shall enjoy, shall grasp, shall know that he has obtained; and he who knocks shall go further still, for he shall enter, stand, and to him shall the precious thing be opened—he shall not merely have the blessing and enjoy it, but he shall comprehend it, shall "understand with all saints, what are the heights and depths." I want, however, you to notice this fact, which covers all—whatever form your prayer may assume, it shall succeed. If you only ask you shall receive, if you seek you shall find, if you knock it shall be opened, but in each case according to your faith shall it be unto you.—Spurgeon.

What an argument in favor of social connections is the observation that, by communicating our grief we have less, and by communicating our pleasure we have more.—Greville.

For the Advocate

Short Sermons for Sabbath School Children.

Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding; Prov. 3: 5.

We trust in those things which we confide in, or depend upon. If any one makes us a promise and we have confidence that the words spoken will be fulfilled, we trust the one that promises. If we walk over a stream of water on a plank, we trust the strength of the plank to bear our weight over the stream. In crossing that stream our minds would be at ease just in proportion as we had confidence in the capability of the plank to hold us up. If our confidence was not full, and we doubted, we should feel uneasy in our minds while crossing. So it is in passing through this life; confidence is essential to happiness: doubts are invariably connected with an uneasy state of our minds.

We should therefore trust the Lord with all our hearts; that is, have confidence in all his promises; never wavering, never doubting; for it is written, "Blessed are they that put their trust in Him." If we put our trust in the Lord, we trust in the greatest wisdom to guide us, and in the greatest strength to sustain us.—But if we lean unto our own understanding, imperfect wisdom and strength that is only weakness.

We lean to our own understanding when we engage in pursuits that are agreeable to our own inclinations, without inquiring first whether it is agreeable with the word of the Lord or not. This feeling of self sufficiency, confidence in our own wisdom, outside of the directions of God's word, is one of the greatest stumbling-blocks in the way of sinful man's approach to his maker. Just in proportion as we have confidence in our own understanding, we lose confidence in the necessity for a better guide.

To trust in the Lord with all the heart is to become a true believer; to undertake nothing without first asking, is it according to God's word, and expecting God's blessing upon it. To lean to our own understanding, is evidence of pride and unbelief, and doubt and confusion is the result. The first is the way of peace, the last is the way of trouble. Which will you take?

UNCLE NED.

HE COULD BE TRUSTED.—Alfred was missing one night about sunset. Mother was getting anxious, for she always wished him to be home early. A neighbor coming in said a number of boys had gone to the river to swim, and he thought it likely Alfred was with them.

"No," said the mother, "he promised me he would never go there without my leave, and he always keeps his word."

But seven o'clock came, then eight, and mother was still listening for Alfred's step; but it was half past eight before his shout and whistle were heard when he ran in at the gate.

"Confess now," said the neighbor, "that you have been to the river with the other boys, and so kept away till late."

How the boy's eyes flashed, and the crimson mounted to his cheeks!

"No, sir! I promised my mother that I would never go there without her leave, and do you think I would tell a falsehood? I helped James to find the cows that had strayed in the wood, and didn't think I should be so late."

James, coming up the street just then, called in to say he was afraid they had been alarmed; he and Alfred had been so far in the wood it made them late in getting home.

"I think," said the neighbor, turning to the mother as he took his hat to go home, "there is a comfort in store for you by him. Such a boy as that will make a noble man."

BE JOYFUL IN GOD.—That is the great point, to be joyful in God.—There is no help for us in any creature. We are shut up as prisoners in the cells of these bodies, which debar us in the present life from much real intercourse with human beings, even though they are our nearest friends; but if we have a mind to, we can get ever so near to God, and have our hearts filled with him. I used to think of heaven as far away, but now I think that we are in the very midst of it, only we are shut up by our bodies till death lets us out. Sometimes a verse in the Bible of daily food opens up to me a world of meaning, and clears away all my anxieties. I begin each morning in doubt and fear, and rise from my knees bold and confident.—W. Craig.

It should seem that indolence itself would incline a person to be honest, as it requires infinitely greater pains and contrivance to be a knave.—Shenstone.

— Deference is the most complicate, the most indirect, and the most elegant of all compliments.—SHENSTONE.

Eclecticisms.

— He is rich whose income is more than his expenses; and he is poor whose expenses exceed his income.—BRUYERE.

— The same care and toil that raise a dish of peas at Christmas, would give bread to a whole family during six months.—HUME.

— There is nothing more precious than time, and those who misspend it are the greatest of all prodigals.—THEOPHRASTUS.

— Time, with all its celerity, moves slowly on to him whose whole employment is to watch its flight.—JOHNSON.

— Give every man thine ear, but few thy voice. Take each man's censure, but reserve thy judgment.—SHAKSPEARE.

— Sin is never at a stay; if we do not retreat from it, we shall advance in it; and the further on we go, the more we have to come back.—BARROW.

— All affectation is the vain and ridiculous attempt of poverty to appear rich.—LAVATER.

— The patient mule which travels slowly night and day, will, in the end, go further than the Arabian Courier.—Persian Proverb.

— The richest genius, like the most fertile soil, when uncultivated, shoots up into the rankest weeds; and instead of vines and olives for the pleasure and use of man, produces to its slothful owner, the most abundant crop of poisons.—Hume.

— Read not to contradict and refute, nor to believe and take for granted, nor to find talk and discourse, but to weigh and consider. Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested; that is, some books are to be read only in parts; others to be read, but not curiously; and some few to be read wholly, and with diligence and attention.—Lord Bacon.

It is the grace and glory of a man to be the slave of his word. Delude not yourself with the notion that you may be untrue and uncertain in trifles, and in important things the contrary. Trifles make up existence, and give the observer the measure by which to try us; and the fearful power of habit, after a time, suffers not the best will to ripen into action.—VON WEBER.

If your brother or neighbor has been overtaken in a temptation, speak kindly. He has no doubt said many bitter things to himself, and is in a state of discontent with every body, don't encourage him in his hopelessness of it, but to show him there is something better for him. One word of kindness may save him, and it costs you nothing. Nay, it will pay you back a hundred fold, in the sweet consciousness of having done your duty.

The heart wounds which are inflicted by our fellow creatures are apt to fester; those which we receive in the dispensations of Almighty wisdom and the course of nature are remedial and sanative. There are some fruits which must be punctured before they can ripen kindly, and there are some hearts which require an analogous process.—SOUTHEY.

REVENGE.—Revenge is a kind of wild justice, which the more man's nature runs to, the more ought law to weed it out. For, as the first wrong, it doth but offend the law, but the revenge of that wrong putteth the law out of office. Certainly, in taking revenge, a man is but even with his enemy: but in passing it over, he is superior; for it is a prince's part to pardon. And Solomon, I am sure, saith, "it is the glory of a man to pass by an offence." That which is past, is gone and irrecoverable; and wise men have enough to do with things present and to come; therefore, they do but trifle with themselves that labor in past matters.—BACON.

TIME FOR RELIGION.—If we divide the human being into three component parts, the bodily, the intellectual and the spiritual, is it not reasonable that a portion of time and care be assigned to each in some degree adequate to its importance? Should I venture to say a due portion, a portion adapted to the real value of each, would not that condemn in one word the whole system of modern education? The rational and intellectual part being avowedly more valuable than the bodily, while the spiritual and immortal part exceeds even the intellectual still more than that surpasses the corporeal, is it acting with that good sense and right judgment with which the ordinary business of this world is usually transacted, to give the larger portion of time and care to that which is worth the least?—HANNAH MORE.

An Essex street man bought a pig Saturday, says the Danbury News.—'What do you feed your pig?' asked a neighbor. 'Corn,' he said. 'Do you feed it in the ear?' asked the friend. 'Do you think I am a fool?' said the Essex street man, sarcastically.

The Christian Advocate.

RALEIGH, N. C., JANUARY 14, 1874.

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

Terms.

For one year, single copy, in advance $2.00
For six months, single copy " " 1.25
If payment be delayed six months, 2.50

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us none will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters for the office should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount in hand. If money is sent otherwise than herein specified it will be at the sender's risk.

REGISTERED LETTERS.—Persons sending money to the Advocate by registered letter will remember that the rate has been reduced from fifteen to eight cents.

New subscribers to the Advocate can, if so desired, be supplied with back numbers containing the proceedings and appointments of the late session of our Conference.

In our last we sent out bills to all our delinquent subscribers, requesting them to renew. We trust they will heed that request without delay. A goodly number have already responded, and we are encouraged in the belief that all will renew, and save us the necessity of erasing any name from our list.

Suggestions to Stewards.

By this time most, if not all, of the preachers, have reached their new fields of labor. As far as we have been able to learn, they have all been warmly received, and have entered upon the labors of the year with encouraging prospects. One or two suggestions to the Stewards just now may not be out of place.

First, as early as practicable, make an assessment for your pastor. It is the duty of the chairman of the Board of Stewards to call the meeting. If a married man, ascertain the size of his family, and then according to necessities, provide liberally for their support. Make your pastor feel comfortable at the very outset, and he will enter upon his duties with a cheerful heart, and be the better prepared to discharge the functions of his office. If a single man, make him a liberal allowance.—Do not figure too closely as to the cost of board, and a suit or two of clothing. He will have expenses which you cannot anticipate. He will necessarily have to furnish himself with many new books—text books, and the standard works of our church. To do this, and to meet other necessary expenses of the year, will require a good salary.

Second: pay to your pastor as much as possible at the commencement of the year. It may be that he has paid out the last dollar for traveling expenses, in changing from one appointment to another. If so, you may imagine what will be his feelings as he comes among you, and starts out upon his pastoral labors, with a family to look after, in the midst of strangers, and without money. This is not an overdrawn picture—it has been the experience of many in other years, and we have no doubt will correspond with the experience of some to-day, whose eyes will fall upon these words. The habit of deferring payment for one two or three months, as it is sometimes done, is embarrassing to the preacher. He ought to be paid something as soon as he arrives among you: and then he should be paid up monthly until the whole amount of his assessment is raised. Many a preacher has put a higher estimate upon the first ten dollars placed in his hands at the beginning of the year than upon larger amounts at any subsequent time, for the reason that it came just at a time when he was in greatest need.

If all our circuits and stations would adopt the plan of monthly payments, it would be much better for them and for the preachers who serve them.

GREENSBORO' FEMALE COLLEGE.—The spring session of Greensboro' Female College begins on the 15th of this month. The statement in our last that the spring session had already commenced was an error, as will be seen from the advertisement in another column. We hope our mistake will cause no confusion among the patrons of the institution, but rather that its effect may be to hurry up all who expect to attend, so that they may be present at the beginning of the session.

Rev. S. R. Trawick took leave of our city last week, for his home in the West. As heretofore announced, Bro. Trawick goes to take charge of the Marion High School, situated in the town of Marion, McDowell co., N. C. We most cheerfully commend Bro. Trawick to the people of Marion, and recommend him to the people generally as an excellent instructor. We wish him and his lady a prosperous school, uninterrupted health, and great happiness in their mountain home.

Southern Historical Society.

We direct the attention of our readers to the circular of Gen. Wade Hampton, which appears on our first page, concerning the Southern Historical Society. The enterprise was started in 1869, but failed to enlist the interest and energies of the Southern people to that extent which its importance demanded. Last year, however, at the annual meeting of the Society, a fresh impulse was given to the work and a more general interest seems to have been latterly excited in promoting the success of the plans adopted by the Society. Every year that passes away carries with it materials that are valuable and even necessary to an accurate and impartial history of the greatest event of modern times—the late gigantic civil war—and it is, therefore, of the greatest moment that attention should be given to the collection and preservation of those materials for the use of the future historian who shall put them in shape for the perusal of posterity.

The histories that have been given to the world concerning the late war, have been written either with contracted or prejudiced views,—the natural accompaniments of the intense sectional feelings begotten by the strife—or they have been written by authors who were more anxious to be first from the press than they were to preserve the truth of history. In most cases, the writers have conformed their narratives to the reports of events, as contained in sensational newspapers and press dispatches published close upon the heels of the events when the excitement caused by them readily produced high coloring, exaggeration and perversion. It was all but impossible for the writers who wrote so hastily, to collect strictly official information of the movements of the Federal armies, and the events of the war as observed by those on the Northern side; and we are sure they could not, in the short interval elapsing between the war and the appearance of their so called histories, have obtained a correct knowledge of the movements of the Southern armies and the inside history of the Confederacy.

No general history of the war, we believe, has yet been attempted by a Southern writer. Histories of certain campaigns have been written, but they are far from being complete and general, and are open to the same objections that are urged to those written by Northern authors. Hon. Alexander Stephens' "War between the States" is, no doubt, the most masterly work that has been issued; but that is the work of a statesman and pretends to nothing more than a philosophical view of the causes and conduct of the war.

We take it that it is the desire of all Southerners that an accurate and impartial history of our late civil war shall be given to the world—a history in which justice shall be done to both sections, and in which the motives that actuated, the principles that guided, and the devotion and valor that marked our Southern soldiers and people, shall be faithfully held up for the judgment of the nations and of posterity.

However much one may deplore the suffering and sacrifice, the blood and disaster, the loss of life and waste of treasure that war brought to our country; whatever may have been one's opinion as to the right or wrong of the Southern cause; whatever may be one's political affiliations now—whether Democratic or Republican,—he cannot withhold or suppress his admiration of the ease with which citizens, suddenly turned soldiers, bore themselves as veterans,—or cease to wonder how, with blockaded ports, an agricultural people became their own manufacturers, developed resources, and sustained themselves against uncounted odds for four years of trial—and how loyally Southern men and women clung to what they honestly believed to be the cause of right.

All Southern people are interested in the perpetuation through history of the stirring scenes and incidents of the war. It was their fathers and brothers and husbands and sons who made the weary marches, fought the bloody battles, and endured the long sieges that will furnish work for the historian's pen; and the glory that they won, though defeat came in the end, is cherished by our people as the sole, but priceless, heritage left them by the "Lost Cause."

We love the Union, are proud of its grandeur and power and beneficent institutions, and urge respect for its rulers and obedience to its laws. To be loyal to the memory of our Southern heroes, to be proud of their achievements, and to keep them alive in poetry and song and history proper, can in no wise be considered as treason to the Union.

We trust that all will encourage the Historical Society to the extent of their ability, and assist it by furnishing anything that may be used as material for a history of the war.

The Winston Sentinel says:

Rev. H. P. Cole, formerly pastor of the M. E. Church, South, in this place spent a portion of last week in town. No preacher ever served a people more acceptably than did Mr Cole the people of Winston of all classes and denominations, and he carries with him to his new charge in Raleigh the good wishes and regrets of our citizens.

Rev. Mr. Heitman the minister in charge of the M. E. Church, South, in this place preached last Sunday, and made a fine impression on his congregation

A GOOD SUGGESTION.—That was a good suggestion made by the N. C. Presbyterian, some time ago, that those who were able should send the paper to those who were unable to pay for it. It has been adopted by some lady who writes to Bro. De Vemx:

"Many thanks to you for enabling me by your generous offer to carry out a desire I long had, to send your excellent Paper where I hope it will make glad many needy hearts."

We call upon all who want to do an act of charity that will be appreciated and will result in untold good, to send the ADVOCATE to some of their indigent friends and neighbors. There are many poor in our churches, as well as many who can, without injury to themselves, furnish to them the food which is every week spread before the readers of the ADVOCATE. It is wise and right to "put your money where it will do most good."

The N. C. Conference of the M. E. Church held its session in Lexington, N. C. last week. Bishop Haven, of whose social doctrines the readers of the ADVOCATE have heard so much, was the presiding Bishop. About fifteen white and perhaps forty colored preachers were in attendance. One of the Missionary Secretaries from New York was present.

At the opening of the Conference, Bishop Haven made no statement of their work and the principles that guided them. "His opening prayer," says our informant, "smacked a little of the cry of persecution."

DEATH OF AN AGED CITIZEN.—We are called upon to chronicle the death of a good man and a good citizen. William J. Griffice died at his residence in this city on the evening of the 9th inst., in the 63rd year of his age. He was converted and joined the Methodist Church in 1837, and continued a zealous and faithful member to the time of his death. He loved Methodism, and contended for her doctrines and usages to the last. Although he was an intense sufferer for several months previous to his death, yet he loved to talk of his church—f class meetings especially, as they were when he first connected himself with the church. But for them, he often said, "I should have made ship wreck of my faith long years ago." He was faithful in his attendance upon the ministry of the word, and was always an attentive and appreciative hearer. His religious experience was uniform, always rich and full. He has gone to his reward in heaven. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." His funeral took place from Edenton Street Methodist Church, on Sabbath morning, at 11 o'clock. The services were conducted by the Pastor, Rev. A. W. Mangum.

A correspondent of the Greensboro' North State, writing from Thomasville, mentions the following pleasant incident:

Many members of the Methodist congregation gave their Pastor, Rev. C. M. Pepper, a pleasant surprise one night last week A crowd of twenty, or more, called at the parsonage, each one carrying a contribution of something for the "inner man," from sacks of flour or hams of meat down to cheese, oysters, &c., and depositing his burden in the centre of the room until quite a mound was raised of sacks, baskets, boxes, and bundles of various shapes and sizes. The Pastor and Lady were absent. He was sent for and introduced to the pile in a handsome speech by C. M. Lines, Esq. He was so completely surprised and so full of emotion that 'twas with much difficulty he could express the sentiments of his heart. Appropriate and happy little speeches were then made by several; the company knelt whilst the Pastor offered praise and thanksgiving to God, after which they dispersed and left him to bring his wife from a neighbor's parlor and introduce her to the unexpected offering, just as it had been placed in the centre of their reception room."

We are pained to announce the death of Mrs. Sallie L. Edmundson, the wife of Mr. G. Edmundson of Goldsboro, which occurred on the evening of the 4th inst. At the late session of our Conference it was our pleasure to enjoy the Christian hospitality of this excellent family. The health of Sister Edmundson had been feeble for several months previous to her death, but little did we think that her days would so early be numbered.—Sister Edmundson was of a happy cheerful disposition, a thorough Methodist, and a devotedly pious Christian. We extend to the bereaved husband and relatives our heartfelt sympathy.

Notice.

I expect to be in Raleigh for the next two or three weeks, and would be very glad to hear from my many friends who have made pledges to Trinity. It is very important to make collections as rapidly as possible. We are needing the funds now. Send check or money order to me at Raleigh, N. C.

B. B. CULBRETH, Agent.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.—Our attention has been called to the fact by the Presiding Elder, Bro. Wood, that in the list of Appointments, as heretofore published, there are some omissions which we regret. It seems that the following were left out:

Mt. Airy Station—S. M. Davis.
Surry circuit—N. S. Norton.
Saurattan Miss.—A. M. Long.

Instead of Yadkin River circuit, it should be Yadkinville circuit.

It is proper to state that the mistake is not ours. We published the appointments just as we received them.

Letter from Newbern District—Mrs. Garry Edmundson—Our Paper—District work, etc.

MESSRS. EDITORS: I have just heard, by letter from her husband, of the death of Mrs. Sarah Edmundson, wife of Garry Edmundson, Esq., of Goldsboro. Her Pastor, doubtless, will inform you more perfectly of this sad event; and I only ask to ease my burdened heart with the tribute of a tear, and a line or two to her blessed memory. Pious, steady, and intelligent, she adorned the Church; and now the Head of the Church has adorned her with palm and harp and crown.

Soon after the war, while I was trying to reorganize the Church and feed the flock of Christ in Goldsboro, her husband's residence was my home for several months. I not only found her an influential supporter of my efforts, but she was my pews-nal friend. She was patient in suffering, always cheerful, and foremost in every good work. They will miss her at house, the Church will miss her, and so will I. Her younger sister, Mrs. Diana Topping, died last year, and her youngest, Bettie, three years ago; and now my dear friend, too, has gone to join the ranks of those shining ones, where there is no more sickness, and sorrow and sighing are eternal strangers. Her only sister, Mary, and mother, Mrs. Simms, and the bereaved husband, are left. But, thank God! while death runs his grave plow among the living, and bends the bereaved with a weight of sorrow, he also narrows the strait that separates time's "neck of land" from the main shore of Heaven. And that Heaven is not to us a colony of strangers. Our loved ones are there. By and by we'll go to meet them, and when "Every shining form displays

The mouth-rabic name"

We shall know each other.

And now, if I am not too tedious, suffer a word about the ADVOCATE—Reasoning upon principles of subjective philosophy, I conclude that if we would all pray for you more, we might be able to send you a large number of subscribers. And while "I am ready to try," I confess that the problem puzzles me to find out why it is that such a paper as the ADVOCATE finds only a few thousand subscribers among forty or fifty thousand Church members in North Carolina. But so it is; and I hesitate not to call the fact a shame! Father, have you girls and boys; and do you profess to care for their religious training, and yet dare to say by your acts, that while a hat or bonnet is worth five dollars, each copy of the ADVOCATE is not worth the pitiful sum of four cents! And ought you not to feel that a money-comparison is odious? and that praise of the paper is a superfluity? Remember that Bro. Bobbitt took the helm when the ship was groaning among financial breakers. He has steered her into safer waters, and taken an excellent mate. It is your duty to take passage, and stand by your own craft. And lest some one may laugh at my figure and forget the money, I exhort, send on your two dollars and sin no more!

The sweet part of District work, Messrs. Editors, is not in the winter. Nevertheless, we are doing a little. The preachers are hopeful, and so are the people. Our eyes have already seen the spiritual sun. May he never set again! Doubtless, the material agencies, upon which the spiritual so largely depends, will this year be better. Turpentine is said to have a periodic time of three years. That is, it pays every third year. And this is the year to pay. Well, let it come! And the Lord bless the cotton and the corn makers with money, grace and good works!

E. A. YATES.

Personal.

From a private letter from Rev. Dr. Burkhead, Presiding Elder of the Shelby District, we learn that he has been suffering since Conference from a severe attack of sickness, and was confined to his room until last week. He is now better, and hopes to be able to enter upon his work in a few days.

We learn from Theo. N. Ramsay, Esq., that Rev. Dr. Edwards will repeat his lecture on the "Choice of a Wife" in the chapel of the College at Greensboro, on Thursday evening, the 29th. We bespeak for Dr. Edwards a large and appreciative audience.

From the Charlotte Observer we learn that Rev. P. J. Carraway, pastor of Tryon Street Methodist Church, has arrived in the city, and that he preached his first sermon on last Sabbath week, which was listened to with profound interest by his congregation.

Says the Winston Sentinel: "We are glad to see that our young friend Eugene Gray has been made principal of the Wesleyan Male Academy in Raleigh. He graduated last summer at Emory and Henry College, Va., and is probably one of the ripest scholars of his age in the State. We wish and predict for him a future full of honors and usefulness."

The Magnolia Monitor of last week says:

"Our new pastor, Rev. Mr. Wilson, preached last Sabbath morning and night, very acceptably, to our people. These were his first efforts among our people, and they created a very favorable impression with those who had the good fortune to be his listeners."

In view of the movement of Bishop Cummins, the Church Journal thinks "the bishops should set apart a day of humiliation and prayer."

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: The day after Conference adjourned we bade adieu to our kind hostess, Sister Lane and family, and went to Wilson to spend several days with those dear people whom we served twelve years ago. It was very pleasant to mingle again with old friends, whose love for us had seemingly increased instead of having diminished. They are a true and noble-hearted people. Many changes have taken place during the intervening years. Some of those most beloved "have passed over the river." They died well.

The town and population have about doubled. Many strange faces greeted us. An earnest business life pervades the town and gives promise of a bright future. They gave their Pastor, Bro. Wood, a cordial welcome. They love him very sincerely and largely.

We reached home on Monday night, the 22nd. It has been our custom for three years to present each Sunday school pupil and teacher a "Christmas gift." So, by 10 o'clock on Christmas morning they had assembled at the church in full force. It is a popular occasion. After spending about one hour in religious services, came the happy time for the little folks. Each received a package of good things with joyous heart and smiling face.—Then, with the benediction of Superintendent, teachers and Pastor, they went forth to eat and make merry.

With the last night of the old year came the good time at the Parsonage. By 8 o'clock the house was full of happy faces. The next two hours were rich in enjoyment. Each friend brought a gift, and with it left a blessing on the Pastor and his wife. There was much of sunshine in our house then, and has been ever since, for the stream has continued to flow. "The lines have fallen to us in pleasant places. We have a goodly heritage." This is our last year here. May it be richer in blessing to these kind people than any which has preceded! Methodism here is growing stronger. In all the true elements of strength it has almost doubled in three years. May the god of our fathers bless us more and more—enabling us to accomplish well our task, and to fashion our hearts and lives in the beauty of Holiness! More anon.

J. A. CUNNINGGIM.

Greensboro', Jan. 5th, 1874.

BRO. BOBBITT: I herewith send for publication in the Advocate, by direction of the Board of Missions, the appropriations for Missions for the present Conference year. Distributed among the several Districts for collection, as follows:

Raleigh	District,	$461
Greensboro	"	461
Salisbury	"	411
Hillsboro	"	461
Washington	"	461
Charlotte	"	461
Fayetteville	"	411
Wilmington	"	441
New Berne	"	411
Shelby	"	441
		$4519

Let all concerned take due notice hereof, and govern themselves accordingly.

FRANK H. WOOD, Sec'y.

A Card.

To the stewards and members of the Church on Cokesbury circuit, I wish to say, that immediately after Conference, I felt it my duty to my wife, who has been afflicted about 18 months, to come with her to this place. I am truly thankful to God that she has improved in health very much, so much so that I am now making arrangements to leave for N. C. I shall leave "Jacksonville" the 18th inst., and this place the 15th, for my home and work. I hope to be on my circuit at some point by the 3rd Sunday of this month, and shall work and pray for a good time this year

Yours truly.

JAS. MAHONEY.

Fernandina Fla. Jan. 6 1874.

Dr. Lovick Pierce.

The Southern Christian Advocate of December 24th gives the following painful intelligence of the illness of the venerable Dr. Pierce:

It pains us deeply to have to announce the serious illness of this venerable and distinguished servant of God. The zeal and fidelity to ministerial engagements, which have characterized his long life, led him to meet the North Georgia Conference at Newnan, but his feebleness was so extreme that he was only able to appear in the Conference room for a few minutes during one day's session. From Newnan he came to Macon, hoping to attend the sessions of his own Conference, but has been confined to his room during the entire time. We are gratified to be able to report that at this date (Monday evening, December 22d,) his symptoms are more favorable than at any time since his arrival in Macon, and hopes are entertained that he may rally from the present attack. His brethren, as will be seen from the proceedings of the Conference, testified their undiminished reverence and affection for their aged leader by returning him at the head of their delegation to the General Conference.

Rev. C. W. Warren, who caused so much sensation and trouble in Wilmington last year, is again at his tricks in West Virginia.

The Religious Herald (Baptist) of Richmond has reduced its size and increased its terms to $3 per annum.

Charity Ast nished.

Under this head the Hillsboro' Recorder relates the following incident:

"A worthy Divine not a thousand miles from Raleigh, in the course of his frequent ministrations for charity, fell in with an individual upon whom the weight of adversity seemed to press with peculiar severity. To his dilapidated personal condition, squalid and ragged, were added the discomforts of a house, through whose broken doors and shattered windows the blasts of winter rushed without a check; altogether making a powerful appeal to the tender sensibilities of the worthy rector.

Some relief was given to the immediate physical wants of the sufferer, and then the condition of the house was noticed. "Why in the world don't you have your windows glazed, and your doors mended," asked the Rector. "No money, no money; nothing to pay with." Now the Rector was the almoner of a fund, the weekly contributions of his church, but the repairs of houses did not seem to come within the scope of his powers. "Well, well; I'll have it done myself; go to P's drug store, get glass and putty, and have them charged to me, and fix your windows."

This was done. Some weeks after, the Rector met the object of his charity on the street. The latter addressed him, "Doctor, I want you to pay me for that job." "What job? What do you mean?" "Oh good know! Don't you know I sent me to P's for glass and putty to fix my windows. Well, I done so, and put 'em in, and I want my pay for the job."

The Doctor passed on with some new ideas of the impudence of mendicancy and the hazards of indiscriminate charity.

Religious Intelligence.

One in about every twenty-five of the native converts of China is said to be a preacher.

The Baptist in the north of Ireland is dubbed "dipper;" in the highlands of Scotland "cheker."

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher's Church has declared itself independent of all other churches.

Emperor William of Germany granted to the congregation of St. Mathew's German Lutheran Church, of Baltimore, five pieces of ordnance captured by the Germans in the late Franco Prussian war, to be made into bells. They have arrived in Baltimore.

A Methodist revival at Morristown, Tenn., which was protracted for a month, has recently closed, having resulted in the conversion of 80 souls and 55 accessions to the church.

At a meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Ministers in Baltimore on the 5th inst., Rev. Mr. Abbey, Agent of the Nashville Publishing House, was introduced and solicited the influence of the ministers in behalf of the claim against the Government for damages done the Publishing House during the war. Bishop Ames and many others promised to use their influence with Congress and signed a petition for the allowance of the claims.

There is a Tithe Society in the South Carolina Conference which binds its members to give only one hundredth of their increase, leaving the remaining to be used as each individual may choose. The Society aids necessitous cases so far as the funds will allow.

A clergyman having spoken of the late President Lincoln as an orthodox Christian, Mr. Herndon, late law partner of Mr. Lincoln, in a recent lecture, said Mr. Lincoln was not a believer in Christianity, but was a fatalist: that whilst his good nature led him to assimilate to the company in which he found himself, he had no fixed belief in any religions.

The Church Extension Society of the M. E. Church asked the past year for $140,250, and received $64,323.80

There will be some additions to this last mentioned amount when the other Conferences are heard from. The amount authorized was $98,712.96; donated, $38,304; loaned, $35,480; balance due, $39,993 79: amount overpaid, $14,725.37.

Brevities.

A superannuated minister, no longer wanted, says: "I have been guilty of doing one thing for which the Church will not forgive me; I have grown old."

Dr. Parshon has made a profound impression in England by his lecture on "The Men of the Mayflower," the first of a series in connection with the Y. M. C. Association, delivered in Exeter Hall. The hall was densely crowded in every part, and the lecturer was received with loud and prolonge cheering.

The Methodist says of itsown church people, and it is just as true of all Christian people;

"The people want the pith of the gospel, not the old rags of eloquence, so called. Some metaphors and oratorical flourishes have been doing duty for about two thousand years; it is quite time that they were honorably dismissed from the service. The use of them by every public speaker ought to be punished with a fine.

The Scientific American states that the first patent issued in the United States of which there is any record, was granted to Samuel Hopkins, on July 31, 1790, for making pot and pearl ashes. The second was to James Stacey Sampson, on August 6, 1790, for making candles; and the third and last for the year 1790 was to Oliver Evans, for making flour and meal. The latter bears date December 18, 1790.

NEWS DEPARTMENT

We call attention to the prospectuses of those excellent papers, Raleigh NEWS, Wilmington STAR, Enfield TIMES and BRIGHT MASON.

PUBLIC PRINTING.—Mr. TURNER of the SENTINEL was elected State Printer.—Gov. Caldwell, claiming that the power of appointing the printer lay in him, designated Mr. Brown of the ERA. Under the advice of Attorney General Hargrove, the Secretary of State refused to recognize Mr. Brown's right to receive the documents for publication, whereupon a MANDAMUS was asked for at the hands of Judge Settle. After exhaustive argument by counsel, his Honor decided that he had no jurisdiction of the matter, and dismissed the application for relief. It is understood that Mr. Brown will make application to the proper tribunal—the Superior court Judge.

GREENSBORO PATRIOT.—This spicy and excellent paper has entered upon its fifteenth volume, and grows better as it increases in years. We have always had a fondness for it, as it was the PATRIOT that furnished our earliest reading, and we hope it will continue its good offices fifty years hence. Mr. Sherwood and Mr. Long and others who have had charge of it, were good editors, but it has never been conducted with more editorial management than that which now gives so much zest and spirit to its columns. Maj. Duffy is a first-class writer, and knows how to make a paper interesting to its readers. We consider that his letters written to the PATRIOT while on a visit to New Orleans last spring, as well as those written last summer while on a visit to the North and North-west, describing places and incidents of travel, are inferior in no respect, to the writings of the celebrated "Mark Twain" who, with his humor and satire, (to use his own words) continually "leaks wisdom." Mr. W. A. Albright, a good writer and journalist of experience, has purchased the interest of Mr. E. Morehead, and is associated with Mr. Duffy in the conduct of the paper.

State News.

The North Carolina Handle works located at Greensboro will be sold on the 16th inst.

Prof. Eugene Jones, a son of Rev. T. M. Jones, proposes to open a school in Durham. Mrs. Moore, of that place, will assist him in the conduct of the school.

Mr. Washington Duke's tobacco factory, three miles from Durham, came near being destroyed by fire a few days ago.

The Greensboro PATRIOT did not see a single case of intoxication in Greensboro' on Christmas day.

A concert for the benefit of the Orphan Asylum will be given in the Chapel of Greensboro Female College, on the 16th inst., under the direction of the accomplished musician, Prof. Hahr.

Dr. T. J. Wilson has become a citizen of Hillsboro.

The Hillsboro RECORDER will hereafter have weekly letters from Jas. Barron Hope, the accomplished poet and editor of Norfolk, Va.

The RECORDER congratulates the Good Templars of Hillsboro' on the victory they have obtained over King Alcohol, as seen in the increased sobriety of the people of that place.

Some thief without the fear of the law before his eyes, made a raid on the Sheriff of Orange, and took about 25 or 30 bushels of corn from his crib.

F. N. Strudrick, Esq., is spoken of in connection with the solicitorship of the 7th Judical District. The RECORDER (Hillsboro) urges his claims and says he has "a mind capacious, retentive and acquisitive, which displays itself through an eloquence not surpassed in the State."

The residence of Mr. J. W. Cheek, at Durham took fire on the 30th inst., and would have been consumed but for the active exertions of the citizens. Damage about $300.

The residence of Mr. Brown, near Mebaneville, was destroyed by fire, together with everything in it. No insurance. It is thought to have been the work of incendiaries.

A tri-weekly mail has been established from Marion to Bakersville and to Burnsville. Also from Ashville to Rutherfordton.

There have been eighteen snows in Mitchell county this winter.

A gentleman near Dysartsville, says the WEST CAROLINA RECORD, has killed two pigs eighteen months old, which weighed nine hundred and forty pounds net.

Robt. A. Owens, the murderer of John Check, has been captured and lodged in Madison county jail.

A political meeting in Lilesville township, Anson county, endorsed the course of their late Representative in Congress, Hon. A. M. Waddell.

Mr. C. G. Davenport has become associated with Mr. D. Bond, as one of the editors of the Enfield TIMES. He takes charge of the agricultural department of the paper.

The Magnolia MINITOR says:

On Tuesday morning last, as Capt. Jas. Knight Jr. engineer on the way freight train, was attempting to get upon the engine while the train was in motion, his foot slipped and caught under the forward wheel of the tender, causing a painful contusion, though, fortunately and almost by a miracle, no bones were broken.

The following were the names of the young gentlemen who were licensed to practice law by the Superior Court of N. C. last week:

Alexander Lillington Blow, Pitt county; Robert Edward Royall, Franklin county; William Edward Clark, Craven county; Alexander Graham and Nathan Alexander Steadman, Jr., Cumberland county; Ira Wyche Hatch, Wayne county; William Howard Summerell, Northampton county; Simeon Abel Jones, Camden county; Geo. Bain Everett, Wayne county; Robert Norfleet, Edgecombe county; Isaac Chapley Welborn, Wilkes county; James Alexander Worthly, Moore county; Theophilus Edwards, Greene county; Charles Augustus Moore, Buncombe county.

Eugene Morehead, Esq. of Greensboro' formerly one of the proprietors of the Greensboro PATRIOT, was married in Savanah, Ga. last week.

THE NEW NORTH STATE is pleased to learn that Rev. C. H. Wiley will return to North Carolina, and pays him some highly deserved compliments.

Personal.

Caleb Cushing, the new minister to Spain, is 72 years old, and has been an advisor of the Administrations for forty years. He was President of the famous Charleston Convention of 1860.

Hon. Jeff Davis, at a visit of respect paid him by several old friends and neighbors in Vicksburg, declined to give expression of his views as to the situation of public affairs. BENE EST.

Hugh Miller, the great geologist, a common day-laborer, was first brought to the notice of scientific men, by the late Prof. Agassiz, who afterwards wrote the introduction to Miller's first published work.

The nomination of Hon Mr. Williams, as Chief Justice of the U. S., it is said by some one, "has startled the country, shocked the bench, and will demoralize the bar."

George Alfred Townsend, the Washington letter writer, receives $20 per column from the Chicago TRIBUNE and $30 from the New York HERALD.

John B Gough, the great temperance man, has lectured 7,000 times in 31 years.

General News.

There is to be a grand parade of the United States Navy off the Florida coast.—Twenty-five war vessels of all kinds, the largest collection of vessels in American waters since the close of the war—will be present.

Another revolution in the Spanish Government resulted in the overthrow of Castelar and the election of Serrano as President. The existence of the Republic is in jeopardy.

The public debt of Louisiana is $21,383,335. Some of this is of doubtful legality, and is being tested in the courts.

There are now 34,000 post-offices in the United States.

A newspaper man says that "he never knew a thief in Congress or out of it, who had a very good opinion of newspapers."

The Commissioner of Agriculture at Washington is much annoyed by persons sending money to pay postage on seeds, reports, &c., &c.; and, therefore, gives notice that money should never be sent to his department for any purpose.

The associated veterans of 1846, survivors of the Mexican war, were received by the President on new year's day with the veterans of 1812.

Fifteen pounds of dried apples were taken as pay for publishing a marriage notice by an Iowa paper, recently, which leads to the inference that the wedding was all a swell affair.

The Atlantic steamers which arrive in Liverpool are bringing, says the PALL MALL GAZETTE, a great number of artisans from America, who are compelled to return home through want of work in the United States.

The Washington REPUBLICAN intimates that within four years Cuba will either form a part of the United States, or be an independent republic.

An effort is to be made in Virginia to make a considerable addition to the permanent endowment of Hamden Sidney College. The College is approaching its centennial anniversary.

A New Hampshire bank robbery of some $60,000 receives the polite definition of a "confusion in accounts, and a misappropriation of money." Dishonesty is fast becoming respectable.

John C. Breckenridge is talked of by the Democracy of Kentucky for Governor.

Here and There.

"Wm. M. Tweed is said to be the first Congressman ever sent to the Penitentiary." If justice had its dues, he surely would not be the last.

The Salisbury WATCHMAN intimates that the Monday morning local—"our churches were well attended yesterday"—is commonly GUESS WORK.

"An old woman in Durham, England claims Brigham Young as her long lost husband. He deserted her and came to America forty years ago." If the Judges in her case were to adopt Solomon's plan of settlement, what a splitting up of the young (Brigham) there would be!

Mr. Benjamin Wood, of Webbville, N. C., undertook to examine a pistol a few days ago with the intention of purchasing. He made a sudden discovery and concluded to get a sling instead—not David's kind—but one to nurse his hand in.

The Goldsboro MESSENGER has concluded to cut off all subscribers who are in arrears. That is wise in Mr. Bonitz, and ought to be followed by all publishers. The ADVOCATE overhauls its books about every three months, gives delinquents their deserts and finds that it does good. The debt due the printer ought to be a skeleton in the household.

Washington News.

In the Senate on the 7th inst., Morton gave notice that when the salary bill should be disposed of, he would ask the Senate to take up and dispose of the Louisiana case by sections. Orr gave notice that when the Louisiana case should be taken up, he would move to refer the whole matter back to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, with authority to take proof as to the validity of the election.

Sumner presented a petition from thirty-five thousand citizens of Ohio against the proposed theological amendment to the Constitution.

Mr. Pratt, of Indiana, introduced in Congress on Monday an amendment to the back-pay bill compelling all members of the present Congress to refund to the amount in excess of $5,000 per annum which they have received since March 4th, '73.

Crawford, of tennessee, asked leave to offer an amendment to the supplementary Civil Rights Bill providing a penalty against any women who refuses an offer of marriage on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. (Laughter.)

Gen. Ames, with his family left Washington for Jackson, Miss., last week, to take possession of the gubernatorial chair and mansion. Mrs. Ames is a daughter of Gen. B. F. Butler.

A supplemental report to the House from the Secretary of War, shows that the Freeman's Bureau swindle was carried on by false reports of money deposited in the United States depositories, and of amounts covered in the treasury.

Personal.

Caleb Cushing, the new minister to Spain, is 72 years old, and has been an advisor of the Administrations for forty years. He was President of the famous Charleston Convention of 1860.

Hon. Jeff Davis, at a visit of respect paid him by several old friends and neighbors in Vicksburg, declined to give expression of his views as to the situation of public affairs. BENE EST.

Hugh Miller, the great geologist, a common day-laborer, was first brought to the notice of scientific men, by the late Prof. Agassiz, who afterwards wrote the introduction to Miller's first published work.

The nomination of Hon Mr. Williams, as Chief Justice of the U. S., it is said by some one, "has startled the country, shocked the bench, and will demoralize the bar."

George Alfred Townsend, the Washington letter writer, receives $20 per column from the Chicago TRIBUNE and $30 from the New York HERALD.

John B Gough, the great temperance man, has lectured 7,000 times in 31 years.

General News.

There is to be a grand parade of the United States Navy off the Florida coast.—Twenty-five war vessels of all kinds, the largest collection of vessels in American waters since the close of the war—will be present.

Another revolution in the Spanish Government resulted in the overthrow of Castelar and the election of Serrano as President. The existence of the Republic is in jeopardy.

The public debt of Louisiana is $21,383,335. Some of this is of doubtful legality, and is being tested in the courts.

There are now 34,000 post-offices in the United States.

A newspaper man says that "he never knew a thief in Congress or out of it, who had a very good opinion of newspapers."

The Commissioner of Agriculture at Washington is much annoyed by persons sending money to pay postage on seeds, reports, &c., &c.; and, therefore, gives notice that money should never be sent to his department for any purpose.

The associated veterans of 1846, survivors of the Mexican war, were received by the President on new year's day with the veterans of 1812.

Fifteen pounds of dried apples were taken as pay for publishing a marriage notice by an Iowa paper, recently, which leads to the inference that the wedding was all a swell affair.

The Atlantic steamers which arrive in Liverpool are bringing, says the PALL MALL GAZETTE, a great number of artisans from America, who are compelled to return home through want of work in the United States.

The Washington REPUBLICAN intimates that within four years Cuba will either form a part of the United States, or be an independent republic.

An effort is to be made in Virginia to make a considerable addition to the permanent endowment of Hamden Sidney College. The College is approaching its centennial anniversary.

A New Hampshire bank robbery of some $60,000 receives the polite definition of a "confusion in accounts, and a misappropriation of money." Dishonesty is fast becoming respectable.

John C. Breckenridge is talked of by the Democracy of Kentucky for Governor.

Here and There.

"Wm. M. Tweed is said to be the first Congressman ever sent to the Penitentiary." If justice had its dues, he surely would not be the last.

The Salisbury WATCHMAN intimates that the Monday morning local—"our churches were well attended yesterday"—is commonly GUESS WORK.

"An old woman in Durham, England claims Brigham Young as her long lost husband. He deserted her and came to America forty years ago." If the Judges in her case were to adopt Solomon's plan of settlement, what a splitting up of the young (Brigham) there would be!

Mr. Benjamin Wood, of Webbville, N. C., undertook to examine a pistol a few days ago with the intention of purchasing. He made a sudden discovery and concluded to get a sling instead—not David's kind—but one to nurse his hand in.

The Goldsboro MESSENGER has concluded to cut off all subscribers who are in arrears. That is wise in Mr. Bonitz, and ought to be followed by all publishers. The ADVOCATE overhauls its books about every three months, gives delinquents their deserts and finds that it does good. The debt due the printer ought to be a skeleton in the household.

Washington News.

In the Senate on the 7th inst., Morton gave notice that when the salary bill should be disposed of, he would ask the Senate to take up and dispose of the Louisiana case by sections. Orr gave notice that when the Louisiana case should be taken up, he would move to refer the whole matter back to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, with authority to take proof as to the validity of the election.

Sumner presented a petition from thirty-five thousand citizens of Ohio against the proposed theological amendment to the Constitution.

Mr. Pratt, of Indiana, introduced in Congress on Monday an amendment to the back-pay bill compelling all members of the present Congress to refund to the amount in excess of $5,000 per annum which they have received since March 4th, '73.

Crawford, of tennessee, asked leave to offer an amendment to the supplementary Civil Rights Bill providing a penalty against any women who refuses an offer of marriage on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. (Laughter.)

Gen. Ames, with his family left Washington for Jackson, Miss., last week, to take possession of the gubernatorial chair and mansion. Mrs. Ames is a daughter of Gen. B. F. Butler.

A supplemental report to the House from the Secretary of War, shows that the Freeman's Bureau swindle was Recent Publications.

PETERSON'S LADIES' NATIONAL MAGAZINE for February is already on our table. It is one of the most popular and best established Magazines in the country, being in its 65th volume. The number under notice contains as a frontispiece, a beautiful steel engraving of "Little Red Riding Hood" engraved especially for [illegible]. It has a number of entertaining stories and a plentiful supply of fashion plates.

It is published by Chas. J. Peterson, Philadelphia, at $2 a year.

"OLD AND NEW" begins its ninth volume with a strong and spirited number. In illustrating the double field, which is the peculiarity of this magazine,—Literature and Sociological Improvement,—several important public topics are sensibly handled. Mr. Hale in his introduction has stated very ably what the American Diplomatic precedents proved about the "Virginius" case.

Roberts Brothers, Boston. Terms $4 a year.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY.—We are glad to receive from the publishers the January number of this most excellent Magazine. It is devoted to Literature, Art, Science and Politics, and has not a superior among the many American publications. It ranks well with the old and established Old English Magazines and Reviews, and has a corps of writers who are eminent in the departments to which they respectively give their attention, and whose eminence and support sufficiently guarantee the merit of a publication to which they are given.

It is published by Hurd & Houghton, Riverside Press, Cambridge, N. Y., at $4 a year.

HOME AND HOME.—We commend this publication to our readers as one of the best and most carefully-edited of the literary and home weeklies. Its stories are pure and free from trashy, sensational matter, yet are of absorbing interest, and will be read by every member of the family with pleasure and profit. Its editorials are able, timely, independent.—On Social, American and foreign writers it is a terror to its columns; and take it all in all, it is as near a perfect Home Paper as is published in this or any other country. GANNON & JUDD COMPANY, Publishers, 21 Broadway, New York.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.—We have often spoken in the highest terms of this most excellent publication, and have not disposed to withhold our praises now.

The number of LITTELL'S LIVING AGE for the week ending January 3d, began a new volume of the 129th of that sterling periodical, and the present is therefore an excellent time for the beginning of new subscriptions.

For early numbers of the year, the publishers merely announce articles on interesting topics by Dr. W. B. Carpenter, the eminent scientist, Sir Arthur Helps, Alfred Russell Wallace, F. R. S., etc., a letter of Elizabeth Barrett Brownings, on Literary and General Topics, together with choice fiction by Mrs. Oliphant, Miss Thackeray, and other favorite writers; and, generally, throughout the year, the best fiction by the leading foreign authors, and the latest and most valuable contributions to Science, Art, Politics, History, Biography, and general Literature by the ablest authors, as contain in the unrivalled periodical literature of Europe. On the whole, THE LIVING AGE, for 1874 promises to be even more than usually valuable to its readers, and is indispensable to every one who desires a thorough compendium of the admirable and noteworthy in the literary world. With fifty-two numbers, of sixty-four large pages each, aggregating over 3000 pages a year; the subscription price ($8,) is low, or still better, for $10, any one of the American $4 magazines is sent with THE LIVING AGE for a year. Littell & Gay, Boston, Publishers.

Items.

Two [illegible] in Winston week before last.

Numerous marriage licenses were issued in Forsyth last December.

Dr. Thomas, of Guilford county, and Dr. P. A. Wise, of Person, with their families, have removed to Western.

The Weekly Sentinel and Piedmont Press a new paper that will be the relative strength of the Democratic ticket of Winston and Hickory. The Piedmont Press says:

If Mathes will come up and stay with us a week we will show him where the mountain is big enough and we venture a wager that he will not have the cheek to talk mountain whoops again."

And then Mathes, of the Sentinel, makes the following good retort:

Brother Press talks will come down here and stay with us two days, we will show them mountain wagons enough to haul Hickory and everybody in it away, and then not be half loaded."

A spinster says she has faith that 'God is a woman, for he must be sure that 'man proposes.'

A Fort Hall, conversing with an Indian asked him if he know the sun never sets on the queen's dominions. 'No,' said the Indian. —'Do you know the reason why?' asked John. 'Because God is afraid to trust an Englishman in the dark,' was the savage's reply. Not a bad hit, that!

Would you believe the witness under oath?' asked a lawyer. 'No, sir,' was the reply. 'If you should ask him the time of day, he would lie about it.'

The cannon-ball at Spencer Mass., grinds sausage and prints the village paper.

A lord exclaimed an old bachelor who married country. 'Alas! alas!' he cried alas, he had been married awhile.

Marriages.

Married, in the Moravian Church at Kernersville, Nov. 26, 1873, by Rev. Z. Rush, Mr. A. L. Holmes of Alamance county N. C. to Miss Flora W. Chester, of Kernersville N. C.

By the same, on the 27th Inst., Whittington's the bride's father, Dec. 9th 1873, P. of J. S. Ray of Kernersville to Miss Nannie Whittington of Guilford county N. C.

By the same Dec. 16th 1874, at Prof. John Kelly's Kernersville, Mr. R. F. Penrose, to Miss Mary E. Rose of Davidson county N. C.

Married, in Newberne N. C. by Rev. W. C. Gray on Dec 18th 1873 Mr. Peter Heaney and Miss Emma Dunn, both of Newberne.

In Morgan on the 19th inst. by the same father Mr. Nicholas Jones, to Miss Janie C. Tate, of Sampson county to Miss Sarah Clark, Bard, daughter of Col. Henry F. Bond, late of Kinston, N. C.

By the same, in the Methodist church, at Kernersville, Dec. 18th 1873, Mr. W. A. Smith to Miss Addie W. Langhenour both of Kernersville, N. C.

By the same Dec. 23rd 1873, Mr. Joseph T. Richardson, of Craven county N. C., and Miss Ellen Street, of Newberne.

On December 31st 1873, in Richmond, Va. at the Monumental Church, by the Rev. Dr. Woodridge, T. N. Jones, Esq. of the firm of Petty & Jones, Raleigh, N. C. and Miss Katie Skelton, of Richmond, Va.

Married, on the 30th of November 1873, by Rev. William H. Purdue, at the residence of the bride's mother Mr. Columbus F. Day and Hannah Freeman, all of Yadkin Co N. C.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father by Rev. J. F. Heitman, on the 31st of Dec 1873 Mr James M. Dickey of Independence, Va, to Miss Martha E. Taylor, of Mount Airy, N. C.

At Oxford, Jan. 7th 1874 by elder R. H. Marsh, Mr. Romulus R. Best of Greene county, to Miss Julia A. Allen.

Married in Chatham on the 23rd, of Dec by J. R. Wood Esq Mr Hezekiah Henderson and Miss Sallie J. Barham all of Chatham county N. C.

Deaths.

Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of same words is charged for at the rate of 1 cents per line. Count the lines and allow some words to the line. In this way, you may always know the amount to enclose. Resolutions of respect are subject to the same rule.

John Elder, Esq was born two miles from Trinity College in the county of Randolph N. C. Jan. 15th 1808; and departed this life Dec. 21 1873, being 65 years 11 months and 6 days old. Most of his life was spent near the place of his nativity. He was for several years a magistrate of the county and was very useful in the capacity. He had a clear head, was a teacher in early life and never after manifested a deep interest in the cause of education. Over two years ago his wife, a most estimable l dy, died in great peace. The disease of each being dropsy of the heart. From that time the subject of this notice was away from home but little, did not enjoy company much except those who were, or had been, of his own household, read the Bible, and other good books, of which he had many, in an attentive manner.

He was penitent and during his last days desired the company and advice of the pious in his dying hour he said to a member of his family that he thought he was prepared for the column and inevitable change. How unwise to put off a matter of such moment! How common for such a want of wisdom to be seen. He leaves three sisters, sons and daughters, who will mourn him as a brother and father departed. (Sentinel please copy part or all.)

H. C.

In Memoriam.

Fannie Dillard, the grand-daughter of Henry and Elizabeth Moorman, and eldest child of Thomas and Mary Dillard was born in Lynchburg, Va. April 13th 1824.

At the age of eighteen she was united in marriage to John M. Reynolds of Lexington, N. C. with whom she lived very harmoniously until his death, July 9th 1869. She afterwards moved to Greensboro, and was married to Dr. R. W. Gibson Nov. 5th 1845 by Bishop Early. The union was a very happy one, though all its length.

She died of congestion of the brain, October 31st 1873, while on a visit at Col. M. Millner's Pittsylvania county, Va.

Her remains were brought to Greensboro where her funeral was preached from Psalms 18. vii 11, to a large and deeply afflicted congregation. After which she was interred in the Methodist cemetery to await the summons of the Master.

She embraced religion when about twelve years of age, at the 'Yellow Branch' camp meeting which was held by Bishop Early assisted by P. E. On returning home she united with the Methodist Centenary Church, Rev. W. A. Smith P. C. She loved the Bible Class, the Class meeting, and every other agency which the church affords to promote growth in knowledge and grace. By the blessing of God upon her earnest use of means she developed into a most noble christian woman. Her character was of the positive and heroic mould. While the christian virtues under the all-controlling power of love to God, were believed, yet they were so prominent that even those who were not pious, could not but admire them. Her love for God and men regulated and governed her. We weep that she is gone. We rejoice that she lived so long and so well and that having gone she has gone to Jesus.

May God comfort and sustain her bereaved husband, the twice motherless children, the brothers and sisters, and kindred. May that Grace which she found equal to her needs and that made her life so beautiful, sustain, sanctify, and unite them with her in that glorious home above.

J. A. CUNNINGHAM.

Died, in Ridgeway Warren Co. N. C. Dec 29th 1873, Mrs. Anna Williams, eldest daughter of the late Blake Baker and consort of Dr. L. A. Williams, in the 49th year of her age. The deceased embraced religion Oct. 1845, and connected herself with the M. E Church, South, of which she remained an acceptable member until the day of her death. For five years previous to her death she suffered great ly from a chronic affection. As the time of her departure drew near, her sufferings became intense, but her confidence in God remain unshaken.

She dreaded the separation of soul and body, but was not afraid to meet her God.

The clergyman spoke confidently of her saying How can I believe the reckoning Rome at the expired, called her nieces to whom she had become a mother, and one of her nephews, to whom she had often spoken on the subject of personal religion, and earnestly exhorted them to meet her in heaven.

Again, when almost gone, she said, "come Lord Jesus, come now, and take me in thine own arms to heaven!"

Thus passed away one whose life had been characterized by labors of love.

The poor have lost a friend, the afflicted a ministering angel, and the world a benefactress. May her surviving relatives imitate her virtues!

A. A. B.

Letters & Funds.

Rev S Leard paper changed. Rev E A Yates. Rev Jas Minsh. T L D White. Rev R A Willis. Rev W R Fingerson. Rev M H Hoyle for D J Connell $1. Rev N A Hooker for Fred Taylor 2. Rev C C Dodson, books all right—credit given. Henry Lilly for J A Lilly 2. Mrs Eliza Christian 2 and self 2. Rev S Ervin paper sent. A D Alston sell 2 Rev M L Wood for Mrs Elizabeth Coltrain 2. Corrections made. Rev I J Holden for J F Jenkins 2. other papers sent. Spread generously! A B Campbell for Alexander Campbell 2. J W Haddell sell 2. Rev V A Sharpe all right. A A Aude 2 on paper changed. W H Crow. J W Rhodes for J Coltraw 2. A N Johnson paper changed. Rev J H Wheeler for L T Farlow 2. Benj L Jones 2. David Peace 2. S. J. Edwards sell 2. Mrs J S Oakley sell 2. Rev J F Heitman. Wm J Barnett sell 1, all right. Rev T M Jones 2 Rev T M Jones. Rev Wm Jordan for C Hamlin 2 Rev R Wilkerson papers sent Rev I T Wyche for subscribers $7. J Sholsolig, Mrs W J and Misses. Mrs M E Nicholson self 2 R W Harris for W C Crabtree 2. S E Allen. Rev Z Rush paper sent. T N Hudson. Geo P Rowell & Co. Rev V A Sharpe paper sent. Rev J A Cunningim. Rev Z Rush paper continued. W W Grier for J H Morrison 2 50 L D Thompson sell 2 paper changed. Rev P Groening paper changed. Rev W M Roby. W J Moore for Mrs E R Morrow 2. Mrs A J Davis sell 2. Rev S M Davis paper continued. Mrs B A Younts sell 2 R H Griffin. R M Marsh. J W Vaughan sell 50cts Rev H H Gibbons for M S M A Tucker 2. other paper sent. Rev F H Wood for T O Gay 2. J C Hadley 2. Miss Bettie A Holden self 2. Rev Dr Burkhead all right; it had been going to bom. Rev J H Gwinn paper changed. J B West. Rev J Sandford paper changed. Rev A F Mangum for Mrs M S Dorman 2. Rev J F Smoot paper changed. Rev R G Barrett Rev J Mahoney paper changed. Dr A A Scruggs. Mrs J W Brower sell 2. J L Wright sell 2. A Carson sell 2. Mrs S S Seigle sell 2. Rev J L Michaux P A Page. Rev W B Teamon for Mrs O Cooper 2. Rev P Raiford sell 2 Beverly Rose, sell 2. Rev A R Raven. Rev A A Bonnammer for J T Russel 2.

A writer in the New North State refers in terms of high eulogy to the address delivered by Dr. Craven before the Good Templars of Thomasville.

The case of Peter Sidney, charged with the murder of Henry Clapp, was tried at the recent special term of Guilford Court, resulting in the acquittal of the defendants. John N. Staples, Esq., a young lawyer of fine promise, made an eloquent and able speech for the defence.

The Labor Reform party in Tennessee has met in committee, and calls on the laboring and producing classes to meet in Convention, in St. Louis, on the 22nd prox., to regulate matters.

A man buried in Denver eighty-one years ago was dug up the other day and found to be petrified, and a grand-child has made arrangements to exhibit the stone at ten cents per head.

Rumbling sounds from Mount Vesuvius have been heard within the past few days and an eruption of the volcano is believed to be imminent.

Appointments.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND.

Calvary Miss.	Jan. 2
Tryon Street,	" 3- 4
Monroe sta.	" 10-11
South Charlotte at Bethel	" 17-18
Monroe ct, at Centre	" 24-25
Pineville at Pineville	Jan 31 and Feb. 1
Pleasant Grove at Pleasant Grove,	Feb. 7- 8
Concord sta.	" 14-15
Albermarle and Stanley,	Albermarle, " 21-22
Wadesboro t.	Feb 28 and March 1
Mt Pleasant at Concord,	March 7- 8
Wadesboro and Lilesville,	" 14-15 at Bethel " 21-22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND.

Carthage, Carthage,	Jan. 3- 4
Jonesboro', Oak Spring,	" 10-11
Cumberland, Camp Ground,	" 17-18
Robeson, Lumberton,	" 24-25
Laurinburg, Caledonia,	Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Rockingham,	Feb. 7- 8
Pee Dee,	" 14-15
Fayetteville,	" 21-22
Ucharie, New Hope,	Feb. 28 and March 1
Montgomery,	March 7- 8
Buckhorn, Barchaysville,	" 14-15

The District Stewards will please meet in Fayetteville, Feb. 20th, at 11 o'clock, A. M.
S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND—IN PART.

Wilmington, Fifth Street,	Jan. 10-11
Magnolia,	" 17-18
Whiteville,	" 24 25
Wilmington, Front Street,	Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Clinton,	Feb. 7- 8

Each preacher will send me the place for holding the Quarterly Conference on his circuit.

I earnestly entreat every official member to be present at Quarterly Conferences. Let the Recording Steward bring his book.

The District Stewards will please meet in the District Parsonage, at Magnolia Tuesday, February 3rd, at 10 o'clock, A. M.
W. S. BLACK, P. E.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND.

Durham at Durham,	Jan. 10-11
Chapel Hill & Haw River at Chapel Hill	" 17-18
Hillsboro' at Hillsboro',	" 24-25
Person at Roxboro,	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Flat River at Mt. Bethel,	Feb 7- 8
Leasburg at Leasburg,	" 14-15
Alamance at Phillips Chapel,	" 21-22
High Rock at Shiloh,	Feb. 28 March 1
Yanceyville at Yanceyville,	March 7- 8
Deep River at Fair Promise.	" 14-15
Pittsboro at Pittsboro.	" 21-22

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Hillsboro on Jan. 24th at 3 o'clock. P. M.
J. P. MOORE P. E.
Mt Tirzah, N. C.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.
FIRST ROUND.

Thomasville & H Point at Thoville	Jan. 17 18
Greensboro'.	" 24-25
Trinity & Carraway at T. College,	Jan. 31 and Feb. 1.
South Guilford at Pleasant Garden	" 7- 8
Forsythe & Winston at Pine Grove.	" 14-15
Madison at Reidsville.	" 21-22
North Guilford at Friendship,	" 28th and March 1.
Stokes at Antioch,	" 7- 8
Westworth at Leake's	" 14-15
Davidson at Ebenezer.	" 21-22

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Greensboro on Wednesday the 18th of February at 11 o'clock A lull attendance of District Stewards is requested.

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
FIRST ROUND.

Statesville at	Jan 3- 4
Statesville ct.	" 10-11
Mt Zion ct. at McKendre	" 17-18
Mocksville ct at Mock ville.	" 24-25
Yadkinville ct. at Yadkinville,	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Salisbury st.	Feb. 7- 8
Salisbury ct. at South River,	" 14-15
Wilkes ct & Mt. Mis. at Wilkesboro.	" 21-22
Mt. Airy st.	Feb 28 March 1
Surry ct & Sannetton Mis. at Gross Roads.	March 7- 8
Alexander ct. at Taylorsville,	" 14 15
Iredell ct at Turnersburg,	" 21 22

District Stewards will meet me in Ore on Wednesday 11 o'clock, A. M., March 18. A full attendance is earnestly desired.
M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Olin N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND.

Tar River ct. at Franklinton,	Dec. 27-28
Rolesville ct. at Rolesville,	Jan. 3- 4
Raleigh, Person St.	" 10-11
Cary ct. at Cary,	" 17-18
Henderson ct. at Jerusalem,	" 24-25
Granville ct. at Oxford,	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Wilson ct. at Horne's	Feb. 7- 8
Nashville & Rocky Mount	at Nashville, " 14-15
Louisburg	" 21-22
Raleigh Edenton St.	February 28 March 1
Smithfield ct. at Selma.	" 7- 8

The District Stewards will please meet in the Methodist Church at Franklinton, Friday, February 20th at 1 o'clock P. M.
W. H. EBBITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND.

Shelby at	Jan. 3- 4
Shelby ct. at St. Pauls,	" 10-11
Lincolnton ct. at Ebenezer,	" 17-18
Dallas ct. at Dallas,	" 24-25
Rock Spring ct. at Bethel,	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
South Fork ct. at Zion.	Feb. 7- 8
Newton ct at Newton.	" 14-15
Happy Home ct. at Hickory st.	" 21-22
Lenoir ct. at Bethany,	Feb. 28 and March 1
Morganton at Morganton,	" 7- 8
Marion circuit & Upper Broad River Mis.	at Marion, " 14-15
Double Shoals & South Mt. Mis.	at Elliotts, " 21-22
Cherry Mountain ct. at D. K Grove.	" 28-29
Rutherfordton ct. and Columbus Mis.	at Rutherfton April 4- 5

The District Stewards will meet at the Bistory Marmite only Illustrated on sale with the best engravings of Scripture and Hymns, and splendidly bound in the best and latest style of the art. The most beautiful and attractive book ever offered to Agents. For circulars, with full description, address &c. NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO.
Jan 7—6m Atlanta Ga.

FOUNDRY AND MACHINE PROPERTY FOR SALE!

Large sale of Valuable and Attractive Property in Raleigh, N. C., on

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 21st, 1874,

If not sooner sold at Private sale, the property known as the

N. C. AGRICULTURAL MACHINE WORKS.

In possession of and worked by SPEARS HICKS & Co., consisting of LOT BACK WEST & HARGETT STS., Fronting on E. Leigh and Gaston and Raleigh and Augusta Air Line Railroads. On said Lot there is a Machine Shop 72x24 feet, two stories built of Brick; with an addl Moulding Shop 63x37, of Brick Washington Shop 30x24, Brick and No finish, also, Material and Ware House, brick 40x30 two stories, in which there is an office 20x14; and on the same Lot several Frame Buildings for Patterns and Castings.

With this property will be sold a large assortment of patterns, consisting of Mill Gearing Patterns Mines, Machinery Patterns, the most important Patterns for plows, on last pattern for all Castings used in this locality. The original cost of patterns was at least Twelve Thousand Dollars.

This Sale will embrace a large assortment of Machinery Tools, Stock Material and Fixtures for a first-class Foundry and Machine Shop, consisting in a part of the following, viz:

1—horse power Engine 1 New Lathe 16 feet between Center, 25 in swing; 1 good Lathe, 10½ feet between Center, 24 in swing; good Lathe, 9 feet between Center, 26 in swing, 1 hand Lathe, 5 feet between center 8 in swing; 1 large wood turning Lathe; 1 Iron Planer, bed 10x2½ Feet; 1 Post Cutter; 1 self acting Drill Press, Emery Wheel and Stand; No 1 Screw Plates and Dies, several Vises; Lone Shafting Pulleys, Hangers and Belting, 1 Large Punch and Shears; Saw and Saw Table; Boring Table, 2 set Smith Tools, Rotier Tools, 1 Pendulum Pressure Blower, 1 Tumbling Mill Small Portable Furnace, 500 Plates, 15,000 lbs Plow Casting, Plow Material, Bar Iron, and Mill Casting.

In fact, a large lot of Stock and material too numerous to mention.

The Foundry is complete, with good capacity, cranes and a large number of flasks.

TERMS made known on day of sale.

Any application desired will be given by application to

SPEARS HICKS & CO.,
Raleigh, N. C.

Jan 7 2w

PIANOS, PIANOS,

ORGANS. ORGANS.

Nat L. Brown,

DEALER IN

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Agent for HORACE WATERS & SONS celebrated CONCERT and ORCHESTRAL ORGANS and PIANOS.

ALSO DEALER IN

Children's Carriages, Fancy Goods, Toys, Baskets, &c., &c.

BIRDS AND BIRD CAGES.

Confectionaries, Fruits, Nuts, Fresh Crackers and Cakes.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to give me a call. Prices suitable to the times.

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

Illustrated Catalogue of Pianos and Organs mailed.

jan 14—tf

THE RALEIGH NEWS,

Daily And Weekly,

PUBLISHED BY

STONE & UZZELL.

Devoted to the best interests of the State of North Carolina—to the success of the Conservative party the development of the hidden wealth of the State, the inviting emigration into our midst, and advancement of all the people in every thing that serves to make a State prosperous and independent.

Its ADVERTISING COLUMNS will be found of great advantage, as both the Daily and Weekly circulate largely in every portion of the State. Rates moderate.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

Daily, One Year,	$7 00
Weekly, "	2 00

Subscribe for 1874.

STONE & UZZELL,
Proprietors.

REMOVED

The office and warehouse of the FALLS OF NEUS MANUFACTURING COMPANY have been removed from Neuse to Raleigh, to the store recently occupied by W. H. Jones & Co., adjoining the Raleigh National Bank. Correspondents please note the change.

G. ROSENTHAL.
Dec. 2nd Pres.

New Advertisements.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A full supply of Buist's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at

PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S
Drug Store.

jan 14-tf

ALADDIN SECURITY OIL

Will prove itself equal if not superior, to any burning Oil that has been offered to the public—is perfectly safe for use in all Kerosene Lamps. Will give all who use perfect security in doing so. For sale by

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,
Druggists.

jan 14 tf

LEAMON'S Aniline Dye Colors, at

PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S
Drug Store.

jan 14-tf

TRINITY COLLEGE.

The Spring Session will commence JANUARY 17th, 1874.

Students may take a select, or the full course at their own option. There are eleven schools in the Institution, viz: Latin, Greek, Mathematics, English Literature, Natural Science, Modern Languages, Metaphysics, Engineering and Analytical Chemistry, Commercial, Law and Divinity.

Entire expenses for five months, for tuition, board, washing and fuel $90 to $100.

B. CRAVEN.

Jan. 7 3m.

JONESVILLE HIGH SCHOOL.

YADKIN COUNTY, N. C.

REV. T. S. WHITTINGTON, A. M., Principal.

The Spring Session will open January, 20th, 1874.

For particulars address the Principal, at Jonesville, N. C. Jan. 7-3m

$20.000 WANTED.

The Trustees of Greensboro Female College wish to borrow any part of the above amount in sums to suit parties having money to loan. They will give the note of the corporation with satisfactory personal endorsers, paying interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum. The principal will be paid when required upon reasonable notice and the interest annually. If the friends of the College will loan us the amount it will help the Institution and, we think, will be a perfectly safe investment. Please address the undersigned.

N. H. D. WILSON.
President Board Trustees.

Jan 7 3m

GREENSBORO' FEMALE COLLEGE,

GREENSBORO' N. C.

REV. T. M. JONES D. D., President.

The Spring Session of 1874 will begin on the 14th January.

CHARGES FOR SESSION OF 20 WEEKS:
Board and Tuition in regular course $125 00
Charges for extra studies moderate. For all particulars, apply to the President.

N. H. D. WILSON, President,
Dec 17 1m Board of Trustees.

Agents Wanted for Cross and Crown

THE SPIRIT AND POWER of the religion of Jesus Christ as illustrated in the Sufferings and Triumphs of His followers. A nobler, sweeter and more thrilling story is not to be found in the whole range of history. Magnificently illustrated on steel with the best engravings of Scripture and Hymns, and splendidly bound in the best and latest style of the art. The most beautiful and attractive book ever offered to Agents. For circulars, with full description, address &c. NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO.
Jan 7—6m Atlanta Ga.

FOUNDRY AND MACHINE PROPERTY FOR SALE!

Large sale of Valuable and Attractive Property in Raleigh, N. C., on

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 21st, 1874,

If not sooner sold at Private sale, the property known as the

N. C. AGRICULTURAL MACHINE WORKS.

In possession of and worked by SPEARS HICKS & Co., consisting of LOT BACK WEST & HARGETT STS., Fronting on E. Leigh and Gaston and Raleigh and Augusta Air Line Railroads. On said Lot there is a Machine Shop 72x24 feet, two stories built of Brick; with an addl Moulding Shop 63x37, of Brick Washington Shop 30x24, Brick and No finish, also, Material and Ware House, brick 40x30 two stories, in which there is an office 20x14; and on the same Lot several Frame Buildings for Patterns and Castings.

With this property will be sold a large assortment of patterns, consisting of Mill Gearing Patterns Mines, Machinery Patterns, the most important Patterns for plows, on last pattern for all Castings used in this locality. The original cost of patterns was at least Twelve Thousand Dollars.

This Sale will embrace a large assortment of Machinery Tools, Stock Material and Fixtures for a first-class Foundry and Machine Shop, consisting in a part of the following, viz:

1—horse power Engine 1 New Lathe 16 feet between Center, 25 in swing; 1 good Lathe, 10½ feet between Center, 24 in swing; good Lathe, 9 feet between Center, 26 in swing, 1 hand Lathe, 5 feet between center 8 in swing; 1 large wood turning Lathe; 1 Iron Planer, bed 10x2½ Feet; 1 Post Cutter; 1 self acting Drill Press, Emery Wheel and Stand; No 1 Screw Plates and Dies, several Vises; Lone Shafting Pulleys, Hangers and Belting, 1 Large Punch and Shears; Saw and Saw Table; Boring Table, 2 set Smith Tools, Rotier Tools, 1 Pendulum Pressure Blower, 1 Tumbling Mill Small Portable Furnace, 500 Plates, 15,000 lbs Plow Casting, Plow Material, Bar Iron, and Mill Casting.

In fact, a large lot of Stock and material too numerous to mention.

The Foundry is complete, with good capacity, cranes and a large number of flasks.

TERMS made known on day of sale.

Any application desired will be given by application to

SPEARS HICKS & CO.,
Raleigh, N. C.

Jan 7 2w

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE.

LENOIR, N. C.

The Spring session for 1874 will open on Monday, Jan. 12th.

Board and Tuition per session, with music, vocal and instrumental, $110 00

Traveling preachers' daughters, tuition free.

Board and Tuition always in advance.

Send for a catalogue. Address,
Rev. W. M. ROBEY, Pres.

nov 19-3mos.

The Wilmington Star.

ESTABLISHED ONLY SIX YEARS!

DAILY STAR.

Has the LARGEST CIRCULATION of any Daily Newspaper in the State, and a circulation in Wilmington Nearly Twice as Large as that of any other paper.

All the news of the day will be found in it, condensed when unimportant, at length when of moment, and always presented in a clear, intelligent and interesting manner.

SUBSCRIPTION (In Advance):

One Year,	$6 00
Six Months,	3 50
Three Months,	2 00

WEEKLY STAR.

PRICE REDUCED.

THE WEEKLY STAR is now combined with the CAROLINA FARMER, and is one of the cheapest papers in the country, at the following rates:

REDUCED RATES:

One Copy, One Year,	$1 50
One Copy, Six Months,	1 00

Clubs of 5 to 10, One Year, $1.25 per copy.
Clubs of 10 or more, One Year, only $1 00 per Copy.
Specimen Copies sent on application.

Address,
WM. H. BERNARD,
Editor & Proprietor,
WILMINGTON, N. C.

NEW GOODS FOR FALL AND WINTER 1873.

AT

ALEX. CREECH'S.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TRADE. CONSUMERS OF DRY GOODS, &c.

MARBLE HALL AND TEMPLE OF FANCY.

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

I take pleasure in announcing that my business has so largely increased and the demand is so great that I have constructed one to fit it.

A MUCH LARGER AND MORE ATTRACTIVE STOCK THAN HERETOFORE.

My Goods are bought with every available advantage and consequently at a very small per centage I am able to offer INDUCEMENTS IN PRICES that are rarely equalled. My

DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT

was never more complete, embracing all new Fabrics and every new Shade, from the most delicate to the most brilliant. Call and examine my

BLACK SILKS.

JAPANESE SILKS,
BROCHE POPLINS,
CASHMERES,
SATEENS,
ALPACAS, &c.

And a very large variety of Low Priced Dress Goods. My stock of Housekeepers, Piece Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes is extraordinarily large and complete and you would be doing yourself a injustice if you were not to examine it before purchasing elsewhere.

THE SECOND AND THIRD FLOORS are almost exclusively devoted to

WHOLESALING,

both below, fitted to their utmost capacity with

GOODS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

to supply the Trade, and Country Merchants would find it to their interest to my stock a thorough examination before making their purchases, as I think I can offer rare bargains and special Inducements. With

A CORPS OF EXPERIENCED SALESMEN,

ever ready to assist, I can sell, do sell, and will continue to sell as

CHEAP AS THE CHEAPEST.

No house in Raleigh can or shall undersell me, it matters not whether the goods are purchased in Europe or the United States, and for these important reasons:

1st. I am alone, and have no two or three partners to divide my profits with,

2nd. I have leased my store house at a mere nominal cost,

3d. I believe in the great principle of LIVE AND LET LIVE—QUICK SALES and SMALL PROFITS.

4th. I have large experience, buy at the lowest possible figures, and with the best facilities.

EXPERIENCE, the best of teachers, has long since informed the people that is the place to buy their goods, and as heretofore I shall always

CREECH'S

REPRESENT GOODS AS THEY ARE.

Returning thanks for past favors, I hope to secure your patronage in the future.

Respectfully yours,
ALEX. CREECH,
Raleigh, N. C.

Marble Hall, Fayetteville St.
april 16 tf.

SPLENDID CITY PROPERTY FOR SALE.

ON HILLSBORO' STREET.

I hereby offer for sale my NEW Residence, Store House and lot situate on Hillsboro' St., South side, near Railroad Bridge.

The lot has 50 feet front on both Hillsboro' and Morgan Streets.

The Buildings are NEW, well built, in modern style. The Dwelling contains 9 rooms conveniently and comfortably arranged. It is so elevated that a basement may be made at small cost.

The Store is 42 feet long 2 stories, with stairway, counters and shelving complete. Communication between the dwelling and upper part of store may be used or closed as desired.

It is a good stand for groceries and staple dry goods for town and country trade.

There is a well of most excellent water within ten steps of the door.

There is a Barn, &c., in the rear and room on Morgan St., for other buildings.

The location and neighborhood is one of the most desirable in Raleigh, and being where property is rapidly and constantly increasing in value it is a good investment for money especially as the property may be rented for 12 per cent. interest on the money required to purchase. I mean business and desire to sell soon or not at all. The title is perfectly good.

For further particulars apply to

J. A. JONES,
Hillsboro' Street.

HORNER & GRAVES' SCHOOL

TRANSFERRED TO

HILLSBORO', N. C.

A Classical, Mathematical, Scientific and Military Academy,

WITH

A FULL CORPS OF INSTRUCTORS

The Spring Session of 1874, begins the second Monday in January.

Circulars setting forth terms and other particulars sent on application.

Address the Principal at Oxford, N. C., until the 1st day of January, or Maj. D. H. Hamilton, at Hillsboro, N. C.

J. H. HORNER, } Principals.
E. B. GRAVES, }

Dec 16-3w

THE ENFIELD TIMES.

DANIEL BOND, Editor and proprietor,
G. G. DAVENPORT, Associate Editor.

TERMS:

One Year,	$2 00
Six Months,	1 00

One of the most interesting exchanges that comes to us from the Old North State. Baltimorean, Baltimore, Md.

Judging from the first number, it will immediately take rank, editorially, with the first papers in the South.—Norfolk (Va.) Journal.

Shows no servitude and ability in discussing important public questions and evinces much enterprise in general make up and mechanical execution.—Brownsville (Tenn.) States.

Well printed, well edited, and a handsome paper.—Wilmington (N. C.) Star.

One of the neatest and best edited papers in the State.—Wilson (N. C.) Plain Dealer.

The best printed paper in North Carolina.—Spirit of the Times, (N. C.)

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

MALE AND FEMALE.

REV. TROY A. M. Principal.
Mrs. H. P. TROY, Lady Principal.

Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.

Board per month, $8.00
Tuition " from 1 50 to 3.00
One half in advance.

ADVANTAGES

Low price of board and tuition, healthy and moral location, Sabbath school and religious service every Sunday.

Recess—By Roll Read to the sessions, whence free conveyance will be furnished by the Principal, if informed of arrival

Address the Principal,
Greensboro, N. C.

Nov 26 1m

WYATT, BINGHAM & CO.

Successors to Wyatt, Brown & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

AND

Cotton Factors,

Commission, Shipping

And Forwarding Merchants,

No. 4 Exchange Place and Martin St.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Cotton and Consignments of country produce solicited.

Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited.

All debts due or to become due the late firm of Wyatt, Brown and Co., will be collected and discharged as they become due by us.

WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.,
Raleigh, N. C.

dec16-tf

Wesleyan Male Academy

As board of managers of the Institution, we announce with pleasure that the next session will open on the 19th of January, under Rector E. Gray, A. B. as Principal. Mr Gray is an honor graduate of Emory and Henry college Va. and successor of Mr. Trawick has won the confidence of us all by his scholarly and energetic work and by his discreet and pious deportment. Only a limited number will be received.

Academy on Edenton Street by the Methodist church. For terms apply to the managers.

E. W. MANGUM,
W. J. W. CROWDER
W. J. YOUNG
T. H. SELBY.
J. A. JONES,

Dec. 24-1

Youth's Department.

Blighted Flowers.

The slow measured tones of the tolling church bell, rang solemnly out upon a beautiful June morning, half startling the forgetful portion of the quiet villagers of A——. But they were startled only for a moment, for they all know who had passed over the mystic river of death.

'Poor Ellen has gone at last,' said one to another, as they all listened to the message that the iron tongue had brought to their ears.

'Her trouble is ended at last, and she is forever free from pain and sorrow,' exclaimed one who had known her from a child.

'The rest of Heaven will be won drous sweet to her unfettered soul, after it has been tried so long in the fierce furnace fires,' was the answer.

'Sotong,' I said to the last speaker, 'why two years is not a very long period, and you well know that Ellen never knew a care before the coming of June two years ago.'

'True,' answered my friend, 'but two years of cruel suffering, without a single rift in the dense, dard clouds above, is a long time—fully long enough to make the weary soul appreciate Heaven.'

I walked away, for I did not care to review the past by words, I would rather think about it, and so I went away into the quiet green forest, where Ellen and myself had often wandered. If I could have held the sights in check, or crushed the pow ers of memory, I would have been far happier than I was. But thought and memory are not always obedient to will; and so as I walked along the old familiar path, I was a victim to both. The birds sang as sweetly in the tall trees above me, as though hearts were not breaking and tears flowing in every department of life. I tried to listen to them, but truant memory would go back to the past, and reveal anew to me the crushed flowers that should have bloomed for years.

'What blighted them?' perhaps my reader is asking. Is there any thing in such a beautiful secluded little village as A—— to ruin human souls, and send it wailing along the dark passages of existence?' You would have said no to your own question, reader, could you have wondered with me upon that sweet June morning, in the leafy forest that overlooked the little hamlet nestled down in the valley. The humble white cottages, so simple and unpretending, revealed no signs of wickedness, and the garden paths decked with sweet flowers only spoke of the pure and refined nature of the villagers. Then the neat white church, with its tall spire pointing upward, was truly an emblem of peace and good will These cottages, flowers and church certainly do not tell of any influence that would poison the happiness of human beings. No, the danger does not lurk around them. But reader, you would have seen a large square building in the central portion of the village with a huge sign before it, with one explenatory word upon it—Hotel. This is the key that explains the secret of the blighted flowers. But listen and I will tell the story in as few words as possible.

Two years before the morning I mentioned, the same iron tongue bell rang out to call in the villagers to witness the marriage ceremony that was to join together two happy human beings. One was Ellen Lucas and the other Henry Lewis—a noble, manly fellow that had not an enemy in the world. It was a happy sight, and many a silent prayer went up to heaven, that the lives of these two might be crowned with blessings. They might have all been answered, had not the 'Hotel' building been known in the village. But prayers do not always avail, when the destroyed of human peace is upheld by those who pray.

Henry Lewis, I said was a noble, manly fellow when he stood so proudly by the side of his young bride. It is true he fell, but he was not so much to blame. He tried to save himself, for he loved his young wife fondly.—He failed, however, and so of course, as the rest of us would have done, went to ruin. Ellen was a frail human being and could not bear it so like a tender sensitive flower she withered and died. She suffered as those who die with broken hearts always suffer. Henry saw it all, and went like a sobbing child—struggled and prayed, but there was a terrible appetite within him for alcohol, and then human blood-hounds were upon his footsteps. Poor fellow, no wonder he was lost.

Yes, reader, even in the rural little village of A——, there were destroyers of human happiness. Strange to say, they all clustered around that that same 'Hotel' that I have mentioned. Serpents were sheltered beneath that roof, that sting soul's to death.—Henry Lewis died a raving madman—clutching the slimy reptiles; and Ellen the wife of two years followed soon. And there was a sweet infant that was blighted in the bud, and so was laid in the church-yard.

'Blighted flowers! Yes, husband, wife and child were all blighted flowers. They were created expressly to beautify the world, and adorn society with their glory. Blighted by the destroyer of our race, however, and laid low in the dust of the valley ere the noon day sun of life gilded their path way. Will this great blighting power ever be destroyed?—Watchword.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ST. MARY'S RECTORY, ANTIGUA, W. I. Sept 14th, 1872.

To J. Bridger, Esq.,
Agent (in A.) for 'Perry Davis' PAIN KILLER

Dear Sir:

It is I think nearly twelve months ago that I first procured from you a small bottle of Perry Davis' Pain-killer, not being able to obtain another medicine. Very many of my poor people came to me for medicine, and I gave it at times especially for bowel complaints and the like, and it has come to Pain-killer in a little time I began to receive unusual expressions of gratitude for the benefit it effected from its use. This led me to more particular inquiries about it, and also to the officers, duties required in my visiting it more largely, and for some weeks a supply of complaints, and when for it was given, so far as I know, all cases except three, by God's blessing, a means of cure, and in one or two of the worst cases. Very young infants and very aged persons have been restored to life, where apparently past all hope. It seems to me peculiarly adapted to the constitution of our laboring people, that I feel constrained to endeavor to extend the knowledge and employment of it, which I can best do by such a communication as the present to yourself.

I have had comparatively little experience of its external application but it has quickly, and as it seems effectually relieved some cutaneous diseases of a very malignant and dangerous kind, and I may add that its application has saved for me several valuable sheep suffering from Foot and Mouth disease, the sheep were to be destroyed when one of my fellow-sufferers related the trial of Pain-killer, which almost at once checked the progress of the disease, and very shortly restored them to health and soundness all but two.

I am about to make and use of this letter, and I shall be thankful if in your hands it contributes to extending the use and the benefits of a very valuable medicine.

I am Dear Sir, yours faithfully,
W. L. Read, M. A.,
Rector of St. Mary's, and Archdeacon of Antigua.

Sold by all the Druggist's and Grocer.

Jan. 7-1 m.

Our Bodily Infirmities.

Physical infirmities are the lot of all. Millions are always sick. No man, woman or child uniformly in perfect health. Much however, of the sickness and suffering which render life a burden is so many of our fellow beings is the carelessness and neglect. A mighty antidote to the fearful catalogue of diseases that is now prevailed. It is so beautiful it is efficient. No poisonous drug enters into its composition. It is an innocent stimulant tonic and aperient, all of which every ingredient is vegetable. This unique philanthic preventive and restorative meets is not a new thing under the sun. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as well as have been before the eye of a quarter of a century; and it is not too much to say that thousands, aye, tens of thousands are now using it who would have been in their graves years ago had they not been strengthened and sustained by this whole some compound. The rapidity with which it counteracts the effects of malaria, whether it is the cause of fever and ague, or bilious remittent, is well known. This unique laments for the innocuous effects which it gives for the breeders of deadly disorders. The sensation of languor, the sick headache, the nervousness, the indisposition to exertion, the nausea, the confusion of brain, the physical debility, which are intended to premonish us of the approach of certain danger, are invariably removed by a few doses of the in ers. The fame of the compositions as a genuine specific for dyspepsia, bilious complaints, malarious fevers, rheumatism and chronic debility, is as wide as the world, and in these days of fraud and barbarism, when it are counterfeits, the public is aware of the last remedies of its strength, are advertised as fraudulent (?) I is to run a risk to purchase that flower's Stomach Bitters in every where procurance, and every where popular.

Jan. 7-1 m.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely safe. Put rely odorless. Always uniform. Unrivaled in expensive superior to gas. Burns in any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to displace the use of volatile and dangerous oils. Perfect in every respect—possesses, also its perfect burning qualities, unpaired by its continued use in or repeated trailings, while all explosive burning fluids and gas are gradually or positively—has ever occurred from burning storing or handling it.

The inventor pretty has to life and property, resulting from the use of explosive and dangerous oils in the United states, is appalling.

The Insurance Companies and Fire Extinguishers throughout the country recommend the ASTRAL as the best safeguard when lamps are used. Send for circular.

CHAS. PRATT & CO., 108 Fulton Street, New York, proprietors.

Sold by Julius Lewis & Co., Raleigh.
Authorized Agents.

Aug 27-6m.

Children often look Pale and Sick from no other cause than that worms in the stomach. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS will destroy Worms without injury to the child, being perfectly WHITE, and free from the colouring or other injurious ingredients usually used in worm preparations.

CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors,
No. 275 Fulton Street, New York.

Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers in Medicine at TWENTY-FIVE CENTS a Box.

July 9-3m

DR. M'LANE'S
Celebrated American
WORM SPECIFIC, OR VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eyelid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE
Will certainly effect a cure.

The universal success which has attended the administration of this preparation has been such as to warrant us in pledging ourselves to the public to

RETURN THE MONEY

in every instance where it should prove ineffectual: "providing the symptoms attending the sickness of the child or adult should warrant the supposition of worms being the cause." In all cases the Medicine to be given IN STRICT ACCORDANCE WITH THE DIRECTIONS.

We pledge ourselves to the public, that

Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge
DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY

in any form; and that it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P.S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders distinctly, and take none but Dr. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post-paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

☞ For sale by Druggists, and Country Storekeepers generally.

THE Great Revival
IN THE SOUTHERN ARMIES
DURING THE LATE WAR

ON THE FIRST OF JANUARY NEXT We shall begin the publication of the Narrative of this Great Work of Grace in serial numbers in the

RICHMOND CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Subscribe early and secure all the numbers.—Postage can be sent in stamps—one dollar and a half is equal to a large volume Send your name, post office, and money to

W. W. BENNETT,
1010 Main Street, Richmond, Va.

Dec 17 2t.

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAIWAY.

—o—

RICHMOND & DANVILLE RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W. N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

—o—

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Sunday, Dec. 7th, 1873

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte	7.00 P. M	8.35 A. M.
" Air-Line Junct'n	7.15 "	8.50 "
" Salisbury	10.09 "	10.47 "
" Greensboro	2.15 A. M	1.16 P. M.
" Danville	5.28 "	4.47 "
" Burkeville	11.09 "	8.06 "
Arrive at Richmond	2.32 P. M.	1.02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond	1.45 P. M.	09 A. M.
" Burkeville	4.55 "	5.38 "
" Danville	9.50 "	1.03 P. M.
" Greensboro	1.16 A. M	4.38 "
" Salisbury	5.56 "	9.23 "
" Air Line Junct'n	6.23 "	8.51 "
Arrive at Charlotte	6.36 A. M	9.04 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS.	MAIL.	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro	2.00 A. M	Arrive 12.30 A. M
" Gov Stages	3.55 "	10.35 "
" Raleigh	7.30 "	6.00 "
Arrive at Goldsboro	11.40 A. M.	Leave 3.30 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R
(SALEM BRANCH).

Leave Greensboro' ..... 4.30 P. M.
Arrive at Salem ..... 6.25 P. M.
Leave Salem ..... 8.00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro' ..... 10.00 A. M.

Mail runs as usually, both ways.

On Sunday's Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.45 A. M., arrives at Burkeville 12.30 P. M.; leave Burkeville 4.30 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.15 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond. No extra charge.

Papers have been requested to advertise the Schedule—if they comply will be so, and a stove. For cards of reduced rates

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen. Pass'r agent.
R. Trenholm, A. G. P.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

—o—

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD.
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 27, 1873.

On and after Monday, Dec. 29th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9 35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	3.39 P. M.
Leave Weldon,	9.50 A. M.
Arrive at Raleigh,	4.15 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	1.45 P. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	8.45 A. M.
Leave Weldon,	9.00 A. M.
Arrive at Raleigh,	7.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers to Baltimore, Passed from all points North, West and N. Carolina, and with Petersburg Railroad to Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City to and from all points South and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Raymond and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh, the Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen Supt.

—o—

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Trains leave Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrive at Sanford,	6.05 "
Trains leave Sanford,	6.45 A. M
Arrive at Raleigh,	9.10 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	8.50 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	8.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.15 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.

Mail Trains makes close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

STIEFF'S PIANOS.

UPWARDS OF FIFTY
FIRST PREMIUMS
GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

Were awarded to CHARLES M. STIEFF, for the Best Piano, in competition with all the leading manufactories in the country.

OFFICE AND WAREROOMS—No 9 N. Liberty Street, Baltimore, Md.

The superiority of the Pianos of Stieff Piano Forte is conceded by all who have compared it with others. In their New Grand Square Scale, 7½ Octaves, the manufacturer has succeeded in making the most perfect Piano Forte possible.

Prices will be found as reasonable as consistent will thorough workmanship.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos always on hand, from $50 to $250.

We are agents for the celebrated Burdett Cabinet Parlor and Church Organs all styles and prices, to suit every one, guaranteed to be perfect equal to any made.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 1500 southern purchasers, to all of whom are Virginians and North Carolinians, 150 East Pratt-street (and others throughout the South) who have bought the Stieff Piano since the close of the war.

April 6-1y.

The Fruit Recorder and Cottage Gardener will be sent three months on trial for fifteen (15) cents. It is a handsome, 16 page, 32 column monthly paper, and is the cheapest publication of the kind in the country. We don't ask you to subscribe for it before you know what it is like, but will send it THREE MONTHS FOR FIFTEEN CENTS, postage stamps taken. After the trial subscriptions will be received at 50 cents per year. Each number contains 64 pages of reading matter, and is profusely illustrated with original engravings. The Fruit Recorder is a handsome, reliable, practical, and beautiful work, and is the cheapest publication of the kind in the country. Specimen copies sent free. Address, FRUIT RECORDER, Rochester, N. Y.

3 Months FREE.

Oct 23 3m.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati.
apr 16—12m.

The Bright Mason,
PUBLISHED AT
CONCORD, N. C.
The Only Paper in the SOUTHERN ATLANTIC STATES, Devoted Entirely to Masonic Interests.
Only One Dollar a Year!
Clubbing low, - - - - - 65cts.
Clubs of 20, or more, - - - - - 75 cts.
Every MASON in the land should subscribe.
Address,
PUBLISHER BRIGHT MASON,
Concord, N. C.
☞ A Well-bred number of unobjectionable Advertisements will be received.
July 7-6m

1873. TO THE BEREAVED! 1873.

Marble Grave Stones, either plain or Ornamental, of American or Italian Marble can be furnished by Messrs. Whitelaw & Crowder, Corner Blount and Morgan Sts.,
Raleigh, N. C.
July 2-6m

BINGHAM SCHOOL,
MEBANE P. O. N. C.
MAJ. R. BINGHAM (Late) CAPT. T. L. NORWOOD.
MAJ. W. R. LYNCH. } W. V. QUARLES, JR.
TERMS PER SESSION OF TWENTY WEEKS, $160.
Spring session opens 15th January, 1874. Circulars sent on application.
oct 29-3m.

P. F. PESCUD. P. F. PESCUD, JR.
P. F. Pescud & Son,
GENERAL
Life & Fire Ins. Agents,
RALEIGH, N. C.
APITAL & ASSETS, $12,000,000.

The Companies represented comprise some of the most responsible in Europe and America
They represent the National Life Insurance Company, of the U. S. A. Old Phenix Fire Insurance Company, of Hartford, Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company. Franklin Fire Insurance Company, of Pennsylvania. Home Fire Insurance Company, of New York. Georgia Home Fire Insurance Company. Alps Insurance Company, of Erie, Pennsylvania. North Missouri Insurance Company, of Macon, Mo. Amazon and Triumph Insurance Company, of Cincinnati. Farmville, of Farmville, Va.
jan 8-12m.

W. S. MOORE
Greensboro, N. C.
Keeps on hand and has had unexpected sale of the ELEBRATED
MASON & HAMLIN
—AND—
PRINCE & CO.,
CHURCH & PARLOR ORGANS
These are the oldest Makers of American Organs reaching about 12,000 made and in use. Sample kept in store. Testimonials formerly to whom I would Rev. J. Hough, Salisbury, A. Green, W. J. Lovelace, do Dr. Presby, Church es, Madison, Winston Baptist Church, Reidsville, Meth Church es, Pilson, Belder and Thomas Pls, Prof. J. L. Wright, do In Edmund, John Wharton, W. H. Wheeler, G. W. Andrews, Dr W. Pulsley, Dr Wm A. Cobb, Meth. and Presby. S. S and Gen'l Teachers, each Greensboro. Freeland Church W. A. Bernard, Rev. F. Harris Wm. A. S dress, Rev. W. Mc and Lewis, Epis'r S. S. Leaksville, Va., A. Whitsett. Buy of me. You can save money and freight.

SCHOOLDAY MAGAZINE.
Only $1.00 a Year.
Eighteenth year. The Cheapest and Best Young Folks' Magazine published. One 32 Engraving FREE to every subscriber. GOOD PAY to Agents. Send a three-cent stamp for Specimen and Outfit to work with. Address the Publishers,
J. W. DAUGHADAY & CO.,
436 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Nov. 13-1w

Greatly Reduced Prices
JULIUS LEWIS CO.,
FISHER BUILDING
RALEIGH, N. C.
DEALERS IN PAINTS,
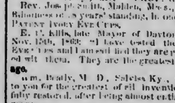
Oils, Varnishes,
WINDOW SASHES,
DOORS, BLINDS, ETC.
ALSO,
HARDWARE,
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

BUY ONLY THE
"ALL RIGHT"
COOKING STOVE.
SEND FOR PRICE LIST.

Machine Belting.
STEAM PACKING AND ENGINE HOSE,
ALSO
ALL OTHER ARTICLE OF
Vulcanized India Rubber,
USED FOR MECHANICAL AND MANUFACTURING PURPOSES
SEND FOR PRICE LISTS.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL
WILL NOT EXPLODE.
WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.



A LIBRARY OF ITSELF
Best Holiday Gift
Dec. 17—1t.

SEASONABLE GOODS.
SHOVELS & TONGS,
ANDIRONS,
COAL HODS,
COAL & WOOD STOVES,
GRATES, GRATES, GRATES.
T. H. BRIGGS & SONS.
nov 12-tf

WHAT THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE SAYS.

It has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that the Oil manufactured by Dendron and Bush,

WILL NOT EXPLODE OR IGNITE

even if a lamp is upset and a flame applied to the Oil.

We are Sole Agents in Raleigh but the sale of Dendron & Bush's

PREMIUM
SAFETY OIL,
The safest, Purest and Best Oil known.
T. H. BRIGGS & SONS.
nov 19-tf

R. J. Baker & Co.
Importers and Dealers in DYING DRUGS,
OIL OF VITRIOL
CHEMICALS
PURE GROUND BONE &C.
FOR MAKING
Super Phosphates
AND FERTILIZERS.
26 and 28 South Charles Street,
BALTIMORE MD.
☞ Write for List of Chemicals and Prices.
Dec. 24 3m.

WANTED.

A young Lady of superior qualifications and four years experience wishes a situation as Teacher, and in addition to the regular English course is prepared also to teach Latin and French. For further particulars address Rev. T. S. Arrasmith, at Henderson, N. C.
Dec. 24-3m.

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.
Sept 10-tf

P. F. PESCUD. P. F. PESCUD, JR.
P. F. Pescud & Son,
GENERAL
Life & Fire Ins. Agents,
RALEIGH, N. C.
APITAL & ASSETS, $12,000,000.

The Companies represented comprise some of the most responsible in Europe and America
They represent the National Life Insurance Company, of the U. S. A. Old Phenix Fire Insurance Company, of Hartford, Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company. Franklin Fire Insurance Company, of Pennsylvania. Home Fire Insurance Company, of New York. Georgia Home Fire Insurance Company. Alps Insurance Company, of Erie, Pennsylvania. North Missouri Insurance Company, of Macon, Mo. Amazon and Triumph Insurance Company, of Cincinnati. Farmville, of Farmville, Va.
jan 8-12m.

W. S. MOORE
Greensboro, N. C.
Keeps on hand and has had unexpected sale of the ELEBRATED
MASON & HAMLIN
—AND—
PRINCE & CO.,
CHURCH & PARLOR ORGANS
These are the oldest Makers of American Organs reaching about 12,000 made and in use. Sample kept in store. Testimonials formerly to whom I would Rev. J. Hough, Salisbury, A. Green, W. J. Lovelace, do Dr. Presby, Church es, Madison, Winston Baptist Church, Reidsville, Meth Churches, Pilson, Belder and Thomas Pls, Prof. J. L. Wright, do In Edmund, John Wharton, W. H. Wheeler, G. W. Andrews, Dr W. Pulsley, Dr Wm A. Cobb, Meth. and Presby. S. S and Gen'l Teachers, each Greensboro. Freeland Church W. A. Bernard, Rev. F. Harris Wm. A. S dress, Rev. W. Mc and Lewis, Epis'r S. S. Leaksville, Va., A. Whitsett. Buy of me. You can save money and freight.

SCHOOLDAY MAGAZINE.
Only $1.00 a Year.
Eighteenth year. The Cheapest and Best Young Folks' Magazine published. One 32 Engraving FREE to every subscriber. GOOD PAY to Agents. Send a three-cent stamp for Specimen and Outfit to work with. Address the Publishers,
J. W. DAUGHADAY & CO.,
436 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Nov. 13-1w

Greatly Reduced Prices
JULIUS LEWIS CO.,
FISHER BUILDING
RALEIGH, N. C.
DEALERS IN PAINTS,
Oils, Varnishes,
WINDOW SASHES,
DOORS, BLINDS, ETC.
ALSO,
HARDWARE,
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

BUY ONLY THE
"ALL RIGHT"
COOKING STOVE.
SEND FOR PRICE LIST.

Machine Belting.
STEAM PACKING AND ENGINE HOSE,
ALSO
ALL OTHER ARTICLE OF
Vulcanized India Rubber,
USED FOR MECHANICAL AND MANUFACTURING PURPOSES
SEND FOR PRICE LISTS.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL
WILL NOT EXPLODE.
WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

A LIBRARY OF ITSELF
Best Holiday Gift
Dec. 17—1t.

SEASONABLE GOODS.
SHOVELS & TONGS,
ANDIRONS,
COAL HODS,
COAL & WOOD STOVES,
GRATES, GRATES, GRATES.
T. H. BRIGGS & SONS.
nov 12-tf

WHAT THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE SAYS.

It has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that the Oil manufactured by Dendron and Bush,

WILL NOT EXPLODE OR IGNITE

even if a lamp is upset and a flame applied to the Oil.

We are Sole Agents in Raleigh but the sale of Dendron & Bush's

PREMIUM
SAFETY OIL,
The safest, Purest and Best Oil known.
T. H. BRIGGS & SONS.
nov 19-tf

R. J. Baker & Co.
Importers and Dealers in DYING DRUGS,
OIL OF VITRIOL
CHEMICALS
PURE GROUND BONE &C.
FOR MAKING
Super Phosphates
AND FERTILIZERS.
26 and 28 South Charles Street,
BALTIMORE MD.
☞ Write for List of Chemicals and Prices.
Dec. 24 3m.

WANTED.

A young Lady of superior qualifications and four years experience wishes a situation as Teacher, and in addition to the regular English course is prepared also to teach Latin and French. For further particulars address Rev. T. S. Arrasmith, at Henderson, N. C.
Dec. 24-3m.

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.
Sept 10-tf

THE NEW
Sunday School Song Book
ROYAL DIADEM
CONTAINS HYMNS ESPECIALLY ADAPTED TO THE
International Lessons
For 1873 and 1874
TOGETHER WITH AN INDEX PREPARED FOR THE CONVENIENCE OF SUPERINTENDENTS AND TEACHERS.
☞ Provision is Made for Every Lesson.

ROYAL DIADEM
Is sold by the leading Booksellers all over the world Retail Price, 35 cents; $30 per 100 copies.
☞ Ask your Booksellers for it.
BIGLOW & MAIN, Publishers,
(Successors to WM. B. BRADBURY.)
NEW YORK AND CHICAGO.
Nov 5 4t eow

REMARKABLE SUCCESS! One agent Made $418 in 8 days, selling and another $458 in 8 days, selling
OCEAN'S STORY.
A perfect Treasure of adventure upon, and the Wonders in and the great Oceans. 22 splendid engravings. Price easy and the fastest selling book out. 50 to 100 more live agents wanted for this and the only COMPLETE, POPULAR and FAST-SELLING history of the greatest success of the season.) Also our splendid new Bible, just ready and far excelling all others. Pocket Companion and full circulars free. Address HUBBARD BROS., Phila., Phila. Pa. or Cin., O oct 1-1y.
Livingstone 28 years in Africa

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless
Save Your Eyes.
RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.
Old Eyes made New.
All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by
Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.
Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.
Specific and Surgical Operations performed without loss. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.
Many of our most eminent surgeons, oculists, students and others have had their sight permanently restored or lifted, and cured of the following diseases:
1. Incipient Cataract, 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight ness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring. 3. Amblyopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Staphloma, running or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated so as to be Eye Eyes—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Opthalmia or Inflammation of the Eyes, also specialties. Description of eyes from one thirty of Inflammation; 8. Pustulosity or Inflammation of the lid; 9. Dim or Weak Eyes; 10. Mote or Film before the eyes; 11. Specks or Ruffled Surface of the eye; 12. Cataract, or partial Blindness (only to be cured by an operation.)
Any one calling at the Iowa Eye Clinic will be treated by a doctor or medicine. Always to receive immediate benefit results and never more expensive than it need not be, to pay them aside for cure. We guarantee a cure in every case when the directions are followed or will refund the money.
2,500 CERTIFICATES OF CURE
from noted Farmers, Merchants and Members in all of them it is not required leading professional and business men, and names of churches and public council, any one will be found at our office.
Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, oculist and optician has had my eyes under treatment for over six months, and I am pleased to say that I am entirely satisfied with the result."
Prof. W. Sewell, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1873: "Without my spectacles I can now read this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this morning perused the entire contents of each news paper on file with the unassisted eye."
"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless it so presently you. I have worn extra spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old."
Truly yours, PROF. W. SEWELL."
Rev. Jos. Smith, Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1873: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS and I am sold and they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."
Wm. Brady, M. D., Salem, Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years."
Alex R. Wyeth, M. D., Aitchison, Pa., writes: "After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by pars lysis of the optic nerve by my attending physician your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight in three minutes."
All persons wishing for full particulars, or testimonials of cures (there are, will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PATENT-LEAF ASH NATURAL EYE, containing of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Address Dr. J. Ball & Co. Box 5,257. No. 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.
For the worst cases of Myopia or Near Sightedness use our New Patent Myopic & Amaurotic applied to the Iowa Eye Cup. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.
Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Work in more comfort by a double lense glasses on your nose and a little more time.
AGENTS WANTED.
People want to see us. Agents wanted. Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The newest & improved low to any other price. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, we make a respectable offer at which will bring easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $25 A DAY. To live Agents $20 a week will be guaranteed.
Send your address for full particulars. Send free of charge to any address. Write immediately to
DR. J. BALL & CO.,
91 & 93 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 95. New York City, N. Y.
Sept 6-12m

SACRED MUSIC BOOKS.
THE STANDARD!
Still in front. And true to its name. Keeps well to the front of books for CHOIRS, CONVENTIONS and CLASSICAL CHOIR. By L. O. EMERSON and H. E. Palmer. Price $1.50.

AMERICAN TUNE BOOK!
Contains 1,000 of the very best psalm tunes of the country. Has to most extensive collection of the most approved Sacred music for Choirs and Conventions 500 Editors. 300 pages. Price $1.50.

THE RIVER OF LIFE!
Is attracting the notice of all lovers of Singing in Sabbath Schools. Contains 60 new and superior arrangement of Bible subjects, 40 deper cent of songs for little children, 1 new and choice Hall Temperance songs, and the usual riches and freshness of music and words. Highly commended by all. Price 35 cts. $3.60 per dozen.

THE BEAUTIFUL SABBATH SCHOOL SONG COME. 35 cts. $30 per hundred in Wrbr. $25 per 100 in paper.

The above books sent, postpaid, on receipt of retail price.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.
Boston. 711 Broadway, N. York
May 15-1 m.

Established 1815.
CHARLES SIMON & SONS,
63 No. Howard St.,
BALTIMORE, MD.
Dealers in Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods, would call special attention to their splendid stock of Dress Goods, Linen Goods, Embroideries, Laces, and Hosiery. The best assortment of Mourning Goods in the city.
SAMPLES SENT FREE!
All Orders amounting to $20.00
or over, will be sent free of Freight charges by Express, but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their Goods sent C. O. D. must pay for return of money.
feb 4-12m.

The King of Sunday School Books,
"PURE DIAMONDS."
By JAMES R. MURRAY. Assisted by Geo. F. Root, H. R. Palmer, P. P. Bliss, J. M. Kieffer and a host of other popular writers of Sunday School Music.
No such genuine success ever known in the history of similar books. Over 100,000 Copies have been sold in three months, and the demand is increasing daily. Prices in boards 35 cts. single; $3 00 per doz.; $20 per hundred. specimen copy in paper covers 25 cts.
S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Cleveland, O.

Sent free to any address Brainerd's New Descriptive Catalogue of selected Popular Music. A selected list of choice music, containing full description of thousands of beautiful pieces of music. This new catalogue is invaluable to all musicians. Sent free to any address. S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Publishers, Cleveland, O.
Aug. 17-12m.

PIEDMONT & ARLINGTON
LIFE
INSURANCE CO.,
OF VIRGINIA.
POLICIES ISSUED - - - - - 20,000
ANNUAL INCOME - - - - - $1,500,000
Expense of management, less than that of any Company of same age in America.
Over $900,000 paid to widows and orphans. Business of '73 exceeded that of 1871 by 20 per cent.—She is the only Southern Company that has passed the Insurance Department of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, &c., and has established successful agencies in those States.
DR. C. D. EDGE, General Agent
June 11-12m. Raleigh, N.

"DOMESTIC" PAPER FASHIONS.
Agents Wanted.
SEND FOR CATALOGUE.
DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE CO. NEW YORK apl 3-3m.

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN
General Commission Merchants
AND
COTTON FACTORS,
Exchange Place (Fisher Building,)
P. O. Box 242, RALEIGH, N. C.
Consignments of
COTTON, FLOUR, GRAIN, FORAGE
and other country produce solicited.
General Agents for the sale of Adams Rive r
CEMENT,
every barrel guaranteed equal to the best.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 3. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,001.

Selected Poetry.

Bearing the Cross.

TRANSLATED FROM THE GERMAN.

Christ, our cross, the nearer heaven,
Nearer God within;
Daily we must die to sin the heart are driven,
Would the world betake to ease and sin,
Christ, by thee, with all his loss,
Wisdom from thy cross.

The heavier the cross, the better Christian:
Thus to the touchstone test applies;
How fairing a garden would the wasting,
Unwet by showers from weeping eyes!
Thus God by griefs purifies—
Pain only truly tries.

Our weakest cross, the simplest faithful
Who bearest thy cross in deepest trust;
Thou art to heaven only footpath
Which does have passed the clustering fruit;
And all dangers owns,
Has gained the safe port.

The heavier cross, the more aspiring:
Deeper and deeper learn to search;
For right to the ancient things,
Longer for the dawn of his rest.
Thus to the world unseen in sight,
And to our shoulder her flight.

Christ, our cross, the eyes dividing;
Death is the door for us to pass;
For right to a world beholding,—
Thou who knows one then be free
The cross symbolically for rest
To the crown triumphs over death.

Christ, grant Thy cross to every,—
Thy anger may discover be,
And bear Thine sighs there I carry,
Radiant upon such an heart in me,
That faith, hope, love in me flourish there,
Till for my cross the crown I wear.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

A Letter From Salisbury.

MR. EDITOR: After an absence of twelve months, I find few changes in the appearance of this venerable town. In truth, if the effect of Stoneman's raid and sacks burning and building on Main Street be excepted, one sees but little change since the ante bellum days. Several handsome residences have been erected, and a number of first class stores prove that taste, liberality and money have not been wanting. The place keeps up its ancient reputation in the mercantile department—being more respectable and progressive in this, perhaps, than in any other respect. But like all other places nowadays, it has too many restaurants and stores.

It has lost one of its most public-spirited citizens in Dr. J. W. Hall, who died suddenly a few weeks ago. He was active and zealous in building and improving. Several of the older and prominent citizens have recently died—the Messrs. Reeves, Mr. Jno. I. Shaver and Judge Boyden. But notwithstanding the mortality, the past year has been surpassingly healthy—attributed to the draining of the Mocksville on the N. W. of the town. Though the draining took place in April, uncovering 500 acres of land, there has been remarkable exemption from chills and other types of bilious diseases.

The town in winter does not make a prepossessing appearance. The streets are of red clay, and in this wet season are exceedingly muddy.—The scarce numbers of stone crossings for pedestrians, and the main sidewalks are lined with quarry stones.—This valuable rock is from the quarry at Dunn's mountain, a few miles from town. It is much used by the citizens for gates and fences.

A few mahogancous oaks still stand scattered along the streets and around the dwellings, but they are gradually disappearing. On some of the streets there are very fine elms in sufficient number to give delightful shade and make pictures of beauty and freshness in the days of the green leaf.

The great need of Salisbury, as to material interests, is (not industry, not intelligence, not business tact, but) energy and enterprise in the manufacturing line. The old cotton factory, that was used as a prison, was about the first ever established in the State. It would appear from this that the fathers were more enterprising than the present population. Only a few small manufacturing establishments are now in operation. The position is a favorable one, in important respects, for various kinds of manufacturing enterprises.

The town ought to have more schools. Besides the public and primary schools there is only one male academy. Now that the chills appear to have given up the siege, there is here a fine opening for a female seminary to meet the wants of the town and the surrounding country. It ought to be started this session.

There is but one paper published here—the Watchman. It is a weekly. I believe it is the oldest paper in the western part of the State. It has outlived the generation that was born with it, and has witnessed the beginning and discontinuance of many newspaper enterprises in the community. This of inestimable value to the town and section, and will continue to receive a liberal support if the people are faithful to their own interests. From its worthy Editors, Messrs. Bruner and Stewart, I acknowledge many courtesies, and I hope the new year will bring them a strong tide of prosperity.

Salisbury is the residence of Miss Fisher, whose pen has excited so much interest in the literary world for the last three years. It is pleasant to see that her assiduous labors have not stolen a tinge from her cheek or diminished in the least the vivacity of her spirits.

May the productions of her fertile mind ever be so faithful to the true and better interests of this life and the eternal interests of the life to come, as to enable her to answer with peace and joy, not only for the time of the writing, but for the many days in the life-time of others that will be spent in reading her pages! It may interest the public to know that she is a Catholic in religious faith.

In the matter of churches the present status is in part good and promising, and in part peculiar and regretful. The Methodist Church is a small but neat brick edifice, quite eligibly located. The audience room is almost square, the building having been constructed with the view of being lengthened if it should become desirable. The pulpit and chancel are admirably planned. The organ is large enough to pitch and lead the music, and not large enough to do much harm. It is therefore of nearly the right capacity. The Sabbath school is spirited and improving. It has a devoted superintendent, and a good band of teachers. The congregation is large for the place, and has considerably increased during the past year. A few months since they were blessed with a gracious revival. The pastor, Rev. L. W. Crawford, is popular with all classes, and in the best sense. He enjoys the respect and confidence of all. He is not sensational or ultra, but he is a devout christian, a faithful pastor, a hard student and a good preacher. Under his devoted, persevering labors a brighter day is dawning on the old Salisbury Church which has had so many shadows thrown over it by various causes. I hope Bro. C. will be able to secure a parsonage before long.

The Presbyterian Church has had peculiar advantages in Salisbury. It has considerable property attached—the bequest of Maxwell Chambers. It has the best church edifice in town.—The residence of the pastor is large and comfortable. A small Lecture Room is built on the corner of the church yard, covering the vault of Mr. Chambers, who bequeathed so much property to the church. They have a pipe organ—too strong for the size of the auditorium—but it is not so objectionable in a Presbyterian as it would be in a Methodist church.—There is so much difference, you know, in the peculiarities of the worship in the two. The pastor, Rev. J. Rumple, is a true and tried man. Comfortably established, assured of a clever support, much devoted to his books, a good sermonizer, esteemed and trusted by all, he tends his charge with fidelity and success. He has recently rejoiced over a gracious visitation to his people.

The Lutheran Church had the start of all others in Salisbury. Had it grown regularly and as fast as others only, it would have continued to hold the most prominent place in the community. But its peculiarities have prevented its rapid progress in this State. It is better adapted to Fatherland than to America. It grows in the North West, but that is due mainly to immigration. It is limited generally to the German element and small incidental connections. In Salisbury it has grown recently—owing in some degree to the transfer of members from other Lutheran congregations—members moving in from the country. The pastor is a young man—the Rev. Mr. Neiffer. He is, from report, a genuine Lutheran of the old stamp, holding to much of the imperfections, in both usage and doctrine, which the great Reformer, in his day of darkness and disadvantage, unfortunately permitted to remain in his Church. Mr. N. has some highly estimable members. He has the characteristic self-confidence of the inexperienced, in his ecclesiastical fancies, has quite a small church building with (I learn) sundry crucial decorations, received a X mas present of a fine goldheaded cane from his small congregation, works quite assiduously, is said not to be a very interesting preacher, and does not seem to know that he is about 250 years behind the age in the style and matter of his ministrations. May he and his charge escape the miserable blight of Ritualism!

The Protestant Episcopal Church has had a substantial membership here for many years. The church building, not large, is pleasantly located in a shaded lawn north of the Court House. The present rector, Rev. Mr. Murdoch, is yet in his twenties and unmarried. I think he was laboring in the mountain section of the State till called to this parish about a year ago. He is an energetic worker, and, for his age, a talented preacher. If truly represented, he is remarkably ritualistic for staid old Western Carolina. He rings his bell exceedingly. He rings it very soon these mornings. It is rung every day in the year, I am told. Sometimes he has the Communion about sunrise.—He has brought novel customs and doctrines to his excellent parishioners. When a collection is taken up, he lifts aloft the plate for the divine blessing, or to return thanks, while the solemn deacons devoutly bow. His members reverently receive the bread at the Sacrament with crossed hands. He sermonizes from and about the early Fathers, Ignatius, Clement, etc. He has made the impression that he preaches prayers for the dead, and that he goes beyond what his church has taught in this State heretofore, in regard to the Confessional, Priestly Absolution, and the Real Presence in the elements of the Lord's Supper.—Strange to say, his church seems to increase under this sensational innovation—or rather this lapsing back towards the errors of the dark ages. We will hope for the sake of himself and his people that such work will be of short success, and that all concerned will soon be able to penetrate the specious appearance and discover the vanity of all forms and doctrines that hide or supplant the simple yet glorious Gospel plan of salvation.—Ritualism, among such a people as this, must soon bring its deserved punishment. With a sincere and intelligent community, it cannot long escape. It has only to be known by the faithful, to be abandoned.

A. W. M.

For the Advocate.

(From our Irish Correspondent.)

Lay Lecturing in Westminster Abbey.

The appearance of Professor Max Müller as a lecturer on behalf of Christian missions in Westminster Abbey has created something like a sensation. It was a bold step even for Dean Stanly to take, to invite a lay man to open his mouth in so sacred a place. Remembering the views commonly entertained by Episcopalians as to the holy character of their churches, and the special functions of the clergy, it must have seemed to many not unlike an act of desecration. Yet we have noticed a tendency of late to more rational opinions on these matters even among High Churchmen themselves. St. Paul's Cathedral has been crowded over and over again on Tuesday evenings when bishops and reverend canons have undertaken to lecture on secular subjects; and we hear of prayer meetings being held in churches where Laymen have been permitted to exercise their gifts in extemporaneous supplications. All this would indicate that the absurd, superstitious, and unscriptural separation of the sacred and the secular is less tolerated than formerly, and in due time it may be felt that neither the place nor the man sanctifies any act, but the spirit in which it is performed. Stillit has been a shock to many minds to hear that a layman has been allowed—nay, invited—to speak in the venerable abbey. Whether the act was illegal is uncertain; but we imagine that even those who feel their religious sensibilities the most outraged by the Dean's procedure will not dare to prosecute him, and so test its lawfulness. He will be allowed to have his own way under protest, and we should not be surprised if the success of the experiment leads him to try it again. But the question arises whether the same liberty may be extended beyond the walls of Westminster Abbey. Will other clergymen remain unmolested if they should venture to do the same? A Nonconformist minister is, in the eye of the law, or, at least, so far as the law of the Establishment is concerned, a layman. His orders are unrecognised. Suppose the Dean or any other clergyman should invite some Nonconformist to speak in the name of his church, would the Bishops wink at the proceeding, and tacitly consent to this breaking down of a miserable exclusiveness? We very much doubt it. The Bishop of Ripon was much scandalised when Dr. Stoane officiated in his diocese, and, if we remember rightly, he remonstrated with the Rev. Dr. Blackwood somewhat severely for allowing such an irregularity. It is maintained by some that a layman may offer instruction in a church without violating the Act of Uniformity if he gives assent and consent to the formularies of the Book of Common Prayer. This, of course, means conformity, and no true Nonconformist could conscientiously do that. But we wonder whether Professor Max Muller accepted the invitation to Westminster Abbey on those conditions. If he did, then, granting that permission can be obtained for a layman to officiate on the terms we have just stated, the legal question is settled. He had a right to appear and to speak where he did, and, perhaps, might have ventured even into the pulpit. Still we should like a little light on this matter. For if he did not, then Dean Stanley has cut the Gordian knot of that difficult question which has so seriously occupied the thoughts of Cowper-Temple and his Evangelical supporters for some time past. Henceforth the matter is taken out of the hands of Parliament, and clergymen may do as they choose; and if our reading of this event be correct, we may expect to hear of some interchanges of pulpits which will astonish the bench of Bishops. We have never cared for Mr. Cowper-Temple's little Bill. As Nonconformists we object to the law stepping forward and giving us permission to preach any where. We dislike the idea of putting ourselves under its authority. We rejoice in the liberty we possess to minister the truth wherever the Spirit of God may call us, and opportunity presents itself. Some amongst us may crave the honor of occupying, not long hence, the pulpits both of St. Paul's and Westminister Abbey, and accept it as a worthy act of homage to their greatness; but this ambition to minister in the Church of England does not stir the pulse of many Congregational ministers. If, indeed, such Christian intercourse as this interchange implies could be enjoyed without any possibility of compromising the principles we hold, and would not be misunderstood by the world without, if it could be brought about by natural means—then no objection could be raised against it. But every one who cares to retain his freedom of action, and who denies the right of the State to sanction his preaching at any time, will still look with disfavour upon the the efforts of Mr. Cowper-Temple. Doubtless he will find some point given to his arguments by this action of the Dean of Westminster.

The singularity of the fact that a layman has lectured in the Abbey has somewhat overshadowed the lecture itself. From the abbreviated reports that have appeared, we judge that it was exceedingly able, and quite characteristic. The Oxford Professor of Philology, whose researches in what is called "the Science of Religion" are well known, naturally looked at Christian missions in their relation to the great heathen systems with which they have to contend. Much that was historically valuable was said by him, but we also believe that much which he considered practically applicable to the conduct of modern missions is essentially injurious to the cause he professedly advocates. We fully agree with him that any faith that would live must be a missionary faith. Those religions which had no missionary spirit were either dead or dying.—"When a religion had ceased to produce prophets, champions, and martyrs, it was virtually dead." There are to day only three missionary religions—Buddhism, Mahomadism, and Christianity, and the decisive battle for the dominion of the world would have to be fought between these three. Probably some will be offended at the mere comparison of Christianity with Mahomedanism and Buddhism, which is thus apparently placed on a level with these heathen systems, but we are not much concerned thereby.—What we would inquire of the Professor is whether to day there is any sign of missionary vitality in any faith but that which is based on Christian dogma of some kind or another? Where is the proselytising zeal of the followers Buddha or Mahomet? It may be that, ignorant as Europe is of the religious life of countries where these religions flourish, little is heard of their self-sacrifice and earnestness in propagating their faith. It seems to us that, so far as this is concerned, they are already, to use the Professor's phrase, "virtually "dead," and that Christianity alone is alive; and from Max Muller's premises we may argue the ultimate supremacy of the religion of Jesus Christ. That it is advancing, few who can take a comprehensive survey of the condition of the world will be inclined to dispute, and in the future its strides promises to be far more rapid than in any past.—But the lecturer proceeds to tell us how it is likely that Christianity will obtain the victory, and we listen with some curiosity. At once he puts aside all controversy, since "argument in theological matters often "confirmed, rather than shook, opinions no less erroneous, no less indefensible, than many articles of the "Mahomedan and Bhuddist faiths."—From this and subsequent remarks of the speaker, we infer that he would have the missionary eschew all dogmatic teaching; and confine himself to proclaiming "the love of God and the "love of man. Now, we do not question that the mightiest power in the world is "love;" but the moment we begin to inquire where and in what form that love is shown, we come necessarily into the region of dogma. The Christian missionary declares that God's love is revealed in Christ, and here he is brought into the very thick of theological doctrines, such as the Divinity of Christ, the Incarnation, and the Atonement. He cannot preach anything that has any resemblance to Christianity without touching on all sides those great truths about which the controversies of Christendom centre. Moreover, we do not believe that there is any power in Christianity to satisfy the deepest needs of the heart and conscience if these fundamental truths are removed from it or ignored. Assuredly the Gospel is the religion of love, but love that has manifested itself in definite forms, and produced grand historical results. The conquests of the past have been achieved, not by obscuring them feebleasly: not indeed, in order to excite controversy, but because they contain teaching by which the mind can be freed from debasing superstition and the soul regenerated and inspired by a Divine moral life. If we had nothing more than that vague something which Professor Max Muller so highly extols, to proclaim to the world, the Christian Church would speedily lose its enthusiasm for the work of missions, and missions themselves would prove a signal failure. What we have to preach is that "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son" for its salvation, and in that statement is almost all theology.

JOHN KNOX.

Dec. 12th, 1873.

Selected.

Pulpit Plagiarism.

This was the topic of a trenchant essay read in the New York Preachers' Meeting by Rev. J. M. Buckley, Monday, the 15th inst. He very carefully defined plagiarism so as to exclude the use of mere sentences and phrases which have passed into common use and are too well known to be mistaken; also such unconscious repetitions as have sometimes been made. His denunciation was unsparing of the miserable dishonesty which will coolly appropriate, without acknowledgment, the labors of any man living or dead; and he demonstrated that he who thus gains position or enrolment does so under false pretences.

Trusting the essay will be given to the public, we turn from any further notice, and call the attention of our readers to some additional suggestions.

We fully believe the practice occasional but not insisting upon so broad an assertion, it is surely an immense blunder. No person who stands before an audience in another man's shoes can be certain of escaping detection a single hour. Hence he wants composure, confidence, calmness. He can not do his best, or approach it, under such conditions.

Nor can he fulfill the divine call. If the Holy Spirit ever moved him to preach the gospel, it was because there was something of his own the Spirit could use. The call was for his soul, body and spirit, his manhood, his voice, his temperament. There was an angle at which he saw truth, that he could reflect; there were personal modes of thought and expression the Holy Spirit wanted to employ. But, solemnly avowing his call to preach the gospel, the plagiarist proceeds to neutralize his special gifts, to nullify the call of the Spirit by refusing to employ his own powers, and by substituting those of other men. He is thus disobedient to the heavenly vision. He will not suffer the Spirit to use him.

He misses the power of his ministry. The sermons he gives the people may be better, absolutely, than any he can prepare; but they are not so good for him. His life is not in them, and can not make them his. It is the begotten, not the adopted child which is in the father's likeness. Any man can do better with his own than those of any other man.

He ruins his style. He is one man one week, another man the next. He is South the first Sunday of the month. Barrow the second, the third he roars with Spurgeon, the fourth adopts the conversational method of Newman Hall; he opens the next month with Robertson, then assumes the glitter and elaborate style of Bascom, attempts the description of Simpson, and closes with Beecher or Talmage. What personal style can he develop? What costume is befitting to himself? None. He is a being of slabs, each from a separate quarry, and as diverse as porphyry and grey freestone. Sometimes he puts all these into one sermon. Once we accidentally secured the reading of a skeleton, each bone of which was from a separate grave yard. It ran about thus:

"Text: Introduction.

See Hall's sermon on Infidelity, vol. —, page — .

I. The doctrine stated:

See Watson's Institutes, vol. ii., page —; also quote Dwight on the same subject.

II. The application of the doctrine.

1. To the Household. See Bushnell on Christian Nurture. Quote paragraph —, page —.

2. Its importance to the individual.

See Simpson's sermon on ——. Quote Beecher on ——.

See anecdote from Death bed Scenes, &c."

We do not pretend that this is exact, but it does not overstate the patchwork character of the sermon as it was preached in our hearing, for the most part giving no credit to the men mentioned in the brief. Such a man cannot develop a personal style, and for want of it his preaching ceases to be effective.

He arrests growth. Nothing soon er stays mental development than the habit of dependence upon others for the form of presenting truth. This is seen in the quick growth and early stop of "sketch" preachers. Those miserable compilations, "British Sketches," "Pulpit Assistant," "The Homilist," et cetera, have dwarfed many a young man of great promise. He excited wonder for a little while, but in four or five years had his growth. It may be he read, and even studied, but his new accumulations could not be fitted into the miserable forms by which he had mis shapen and cramped his manhood. We heard a preacher of unusual promise once deliver a sermon on, "My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest." Years passed; he was a close student; he read history, poetry and the classics. We heard him again: it chanced to be the same text, and the same sketchy sermon. None of his gathered treasures would fit into the forms another had prescribed, and he did not trust himself to change. He was a cultivated slave. This is one incident out of many, and pulpit plagiarism may well be defined—a dishonest expedient by which a man puts an early extinguisher upon his growth.

Consider the danger of detection.—It is ever present. Enemies are about; captious critics are ready to make their mocking exposure; and conscientious friends are there, who will not consent to be party to deception. There are men in the pulpit to-day whose high position is held at the mercy of kind friends who are too considerate to make an exposure.—There are men whose way to prominent pulpits has been hopelessly barred by a detected pulpit theft. It does not pay to take the risk. It costs manly self-respect, costs genuine power, costs personal growth, and holds a man all the time on the threshold of a disgraceful exposure.

But not every coincidence is literary theft. Some of these are so remarkable as to excite wonder. The choice of text and subject may suggest resemblance, but the sinful folly of conscious, acknowledged appropriation, ought not to be charged against any minister without unmistakable evidence.

Another question arises: given the knowledge that a man is guilty of this wrong, what is duty? We suppose private admonition should be first in order. If that is unsuccessful there should be faithful application of discipline.

We are glad to believe, with Mr. Buckley, that the evil is not growing, but is rather decreasing. The preacher of to day never knows when he will be reported, and it were a sad fiasco if it should turn out another man's sermon. Such an occurrence would simply close almost every pulpit in the land against the victim of misplaced confidence. He would sooner be forgiven a slip in minor morals than such a deliberate instance of——. But there is enough of the evil left to warrant the sharp criticism of Mr. Buckley, and to call for this article. —N. Y. Methodist.

Thoughts of Thinkers.

All philosophy is only forcing the trade of happiness, when nature seems to deny the means.—GOLDSMITH.

Tis an ill thing to be ashamed of one's poverty, but much worse not to make use of lawful endeavors to avoid it.—THUCYDIDES.

Let a man be never so ungrateful, or inhuman, he shall never destroy the satisfaction of my having done a good office.—SENECA.

Satires and lampoons on particular people circulate more by giving copies in confidence to the friends of the parties, than by printing them.—SHERIDAN.

The chameleon, who is said to feed upon nothing but air, has of all animals the nimblest tongue.—SWIFT.

Education begins the gentleman, but reading, good company and reflection, must finish him.—LOCKE.

I look upon indolence as a sort of suicide, for the man is efficiently destroyed, though the appetite of the brute may survive.—CHESTERFIELD.

One of our religious papers offers a chromo for every new subscriber saying "the picture is retailed at $5.00." But that picture costs only fifteen cents, and the manufacturers agree not to sell it for less than $5.00. This is one way of telling a lie while saying what is true.

Colleges; Their Place And Functions.

A man opening a catalogue of one of our great colleges, and looking at the long list of professors and tutors, is, at first thought, inclined to say, what privileges are given to this generation! how admirable must be the scholars who sit at the feet of so many learned men! how far surpassing their fathers! But, on second thought, he may be more inclined to say, Unhappy boys! whose immature brains are drenched by floods from so many fountains! their intellectual stomachs are loaded with food from so many tables! The old times, after all, were better, when men studied less and learned more.

Between two systems, it is scarcely ever just to say one is wholly wrong, and the other wholly right; but we know that there is much grave inquiry whether the system adopted in some of our leading colleges, of augmenting the number of studies, and of forcing their students to the utmost of their capacities, is the best one. A long list of professors, and an enlarged range of studies, has a specious look; but, unhappily, however large the cistern and numerous the buckets, the pitcher to be filled remains the same. The human mind and its capacities do not change from generation to generation; and, although there is a great progression in general knowledge, yet the average individual development is very little increased. The scholarship of the nineteenth centuary, is, undoubtedly, superior to the scholarship of the seventeenth, yet we very much doubt whether the scholars of the latter were not fully equal to those of the former as regards quickness of apprehension, strength of memory, soundness of judgment, fertility of imagination, and generally in all the qualities of a well disciplined mind. Students of our day have in the more minute divisions of the several departments of knowledge a vantage ground, and in the more scientific text books better tools with which to work; but, as respects that culture of the mind which prepares it for its future field of labor, we find no reason to believe that we have any important advantage over our fathers.

There is, we think, great danger of forgetting the very obvious truth that a general increase of knowledge brings with it no increase of mental capacity, and cannot, therefore, be allowed to be a dominant element in arranging a system of studies designed to be educational. Let the astronomer, the geologist, the linguist, know as much as they may, the boy must begin his studies with his A B C, and during all his proper educational course, these outside stores of learning have no direct relation to him. It is naught to him that in huge groceries and fruit shops there may be immense stores of nutritious grain and luscious fruits; he can eat only that food that is provided for him on his parents' table. The wise father studiously keeps from that table everything that does not minister to physical health; and the wise teacher strikes from the list of studies everything that does not develop and strengthen the mental powers. An excess of professors is possible, and is as bad as a deficiency.

That geology is an important science is no reason why a boy should study it; the sole question is, whether it be better adapted to the disciplinary purposes of college education than some other branch of knowledge. A selection is indispensable. A glance at the list of compulsory studies in our most popular colleges shows that the danger we have spoken of is not wholly imaginary. Every professor naturally magnifies his own department. It is his desire to get as much attention as possible to his favorite science. As is also natural, its first facts and principles by long familiarity become almost insipid, and he hurries the students over the rudiments that he may bring before them the higher things. The result of all this is, that we have cramming, but not culture. The mind is stuffed, but not developed. If the memory of a boy is strong, and he has a certain quickness of acquisition and facility of assimilation, he may absorb much, and appear to his friends a second Admirable Crichton, and in some rare cases may really attain a mastery of the several branches of knowledge, so far as presented to him. But in most cases the poor boy staggers along with overloaded and muddled brain, in a kind of mental twilight "seeing men as trees walking;" having no clear vision of anything, and no conscious possession of his own powers. Having been driven all along, from Freshman to Senoir, at the top of his speed, under the excitement of a pressure which stretches every faculty to its highest tension, there is no time for the formation of that firm and compact mental texture which is the first condition of mental strength. It is quite the fashion to compare the amount of study now performed by one of our undergraduates, with that performed by men of fifty or even of twenty-five years ago, and congratulate ourselves on the great increase; but whether this stimulating system sends forth men so solid in the grain, so masters of themselves, so sound in every faculty, in mind and limb, and capable of effective labor, is a question about which we entertain no doubt at all.

But there is another, and, in some respects, more important point of view from which this subject may be regarded. It is the current theory that, in this country, our school system takes on an essentially popular character; that is, it aims to meet the wants of the great body, not of a class. And this is supposed to be also the characteristic of our high schools and colleges. They are intended for the bulk of the people, for the average mind, and their object is to give that measure of culture of which the average mind is capable. They are not meant for a class, be that class determined on social or intellectual grounds. But the tendency has been and is to make these institutions places of education for a small number of persons whose intellectual endowment, tested by a certain school standard, are considerably above the average, and thus they become practically the schools and colleges of a class. The large majority of boys may be in this way as effectually excluded from their advantages as were colored boys of old.

* * * * * * * * * * * *

The genius of our country demands a college or a university that shall fully meet the popular need: a college that shall give ample scope to the energies of the most vigorous mind, and yet be a true place of education for the more backward, where the dull shall not be overlooked and discouraged, nor the brighter be repressed, but every one receive that personal supervision and instruction which shall be best fitted to bring out in harmony his intellectual characteristics. We are not advocating an attempt to make learned and accomplished men out of incompetent material, but of giving to boys of fair capacity the best culture possible. How it can be effected we do not say, and the problem is a difficult one; but it is high time to resist the growing tendency to sacrifice the intellectual interests of the many to the interests of the few.—Churchman.

The Force of Brevity.

Be brief. Come to the point. Begin very near where you intend to leave off. Brevity is the soul of wisdom as well as wit. Without it you can seldom obtain hearers, much less be remembered. Ponderous things do not easily obtain currency. Only the gems of literature are treasured up and quoted, and gems are not reckoned by gross weight.

How compact all that comes down to us from the olden times! In how few words we have the commandment and the history of creation—hardly embracing so many words as are now employed to welcome an alderman, or to make a complimentary present of a spoon.

The efficiency and value of comparison can scarcely be overrated. The common air we beat aside with our breath, compressed, has the force of gunpowder, and will rend the solid rock; so it is with our language. Eloquence will never flourish in a country where the public taste is infantile enough to measure the value of a speech by the hours it occupies.

A gentle stream of persuasiveness may flow through the mind, and leave no sediment; let it come at a blow, as a cataract, and it sweeps all before it. It is by this magnificent compression that Cicero confounds Catiline, and Demosthenes overwhelms Æschines; by this that Mark Anthony, as Shakespeare makes him speak, carries the heart away with a bad cause.

A clergyman once being asked why he made his sermon so long, replied that he had n't time to make it shorter. Do you say it costs labor to be brief? Of course it does. Mere words are cheap and plenty enough; but ideas that rouse and set multitudes thinking, come as gold from the quarry. The language of strong passion is always terse and compressed. Genuine conviction uses few words. There is something of artifice in a long speech.

Worshiping the bread and wine in the holy sacrament of the Lord's Supper we supposed was confined to the Romish Church, but we see that in one of the Episcopal churches a paper was circulated recently in which there are thousand ritualistic directions in regard to public worship. But these directions are followed by one, which for its extreme and dangerous character, we have not seen surpassed. It is as follows:

"Many of the Blessed Sacrament remains on the altar, during the singing of the Gloria in Excelsis, the faithful bow reverently at the words, 'We worship thee.'"

The "Church and State" says that this is manifestly against the canons, is monstrous, and adds "There is most imminent peril to the peace and unity of the Church, if it is not suppressed."

The Christian Advocate.

RALEIGH, N. C., JANUARY 21, 1874.

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

Terms.

For one year, single copy, in advance $2.00
For six months, single copy " " 1.25
If payment be delayed six months, 2.50

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us more will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters for the office should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount in hand. If money is sent otherwise than herein specified it will be at the sender's risk.

REGISTERED LETTERS.—Persons sending money to the Advocate by registered letter will remember that the rate has been reduced from fifteen to eight cents.

New subscribers to the Advocate can, if so desired, be supplied with back numbers containing the proceedings and appointments of the late session of our Conference.

Those of our preachers who wish a change in their post office address will please notify us, and we will forward to them the ADVOCATE with back numbers from the first of the year. The preachers who joined at the last session of our Conference are also requested to inform us where they wish the ADVOCATE sent.

We make this small, reasonable, request of all our subscribers. Will you not use your influence, each, to send us at least one new subscriber? All of you have personal friends.—Some of them, perhaps, do not take the ADVOCATE. By your influence they may be induced to take it. Make the effort, and we believe it will be successful.

The ministers in our Conference will oblige us by sending to our office the number and names of the post offices within the bounds of their respective charges, so that we may furnish each with a list of subscribers and bills for delinquents.

We will commence next week the publication of a series of articles addressed to "Young Itinerants," from the pen of one of our most interesting writers.

Rev. J. C. Hartsell writes that he has reached his work and is living at Hickory. He was received cordially by the good people of Happy Home Circuit, and the prospects of a pleasant and profitable year are good.

AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY.—Brother Moore, the Agent of this old and excellent Society, is now in this city, where he will remain for some time visiting and circulating books and tracts among our people. Bro. Moore has the work at heart, and makes an excellent agent. We hope he will meet with that success which is due the cause in which he is engaged.

Rev. Dr. Cobleigh, Editor of the Methodist Advocate, of Atlanta, Georgia was in attendance upon the Conference of the M. E. Church, recently held in Lexington. He and Bishop Haven, were the guests of Col. W. F. Henderson, during the session of Conference.

TRINITY COLLEGE.—The friends of this institution will be gratified to learn that the agent, Rev. B. B. Culbreth, who is now canvassing our city, is meeting with good success.—We commend him and the claims of the College to our citizens and to the public generally.

SUBSCRIBERS AND RENEWALS.—We are highly pleased to note the fact that our preachers, many of them, have commenced an active canvass for the ADVOCATE. Many new subscribers are coming in, and we are highly gratified at the promptness with which renewals are also coming in. Only two, of over fifteen hundred, to whom we sent bills for renewal, two weeks ago, have thus far declined to renew, and both of those plead poverty as a reason for declining. However plausible this reason may seem to them, we think they are mistaken. There are few persons in our church who cannot pay four cents per week for 20 or 30 columns of religious and instructive reading. We hope all will renew, and that every subscriber will become a worker for the paper.

A LIVE MAN.—Rev. V. A. Sharpe, in charge of Lincolnton Circuit is a great worker. He is faithful in his pastoral duties—works for our Colleges—keeps constantly on hand a good supply of our books for his people—holds himself in readiness to supply orders from a distance, and distributes the ADVOCATE among his people. In a letter of recent date he says: "I hope to extend the circulation of the paper on my circuit this year. We need a preacher very much and I will try to have the ADVOCATE supply that demand. I will do all I can for your —om—paper."

We are requested to state that the post-office address of Rev. C. H. Phillips, is Lexington, N. C.

To the Stewards of our Church.

In our last we suggested to the Stewards of our church the importance of making, for their pastors, a liberal assessment. This having been done, the next thing in order of practical moment, is to find out the best plan for raising the amount assessed. It is quite an easy matter to say how much you will allow your pastor, but it is not always as easy to collect it. Unfortunately our church has no uniform plan. Each charge adopts its own method of raising the preacher's salary. This fact furnishes a strong reason for the remarks which we propose to submit in this article.

We are inclined to the opinion that the assessment plan is the most judicious and effective that has ever been devised for raising the salary of our preachers, and should be adopted throughout our entire connection.—This plan of assessment is approved by our best financiers, and endorsed by our Bishops, and has been shown, by actual experiment, to produce larger results than any other. It is a systematic plan, working according to rule. It lays the burden, or rather the duty, of paying the preacher upon all the members, each paying according to his pecuniary ability. It is seen at a glance that it is based upon the principle of Christian justice.

It is evident that this plan carries with it the idea of security for the payment of the preacher's salary. All admit that his salary ought to be made as sure as possible. By this plan its uncertainty is wrested from the ebbs and flows of impulsive giving on the part of the congregation, and placed in a systematic, business-like channel, as well as upon the high ground of Christian justice. It trains the people to give on Scriptural principles, and not upon the whimsical feeling of a mere impulse. Our people, in many places, have grown up with warped judgments and loose convictions, as to the obligations of supporting the ministry.—Two-thirds of them have no settled views on this highly important subject. They look upon their obligation to support their preacher in about the same light as they do in giving to beggars - as a matter of charity.

But the assessment plan places the ministerial support upon a proper basis, as a debt justly contracted, not one flowing out of charitable impulses. Our ministers are not objects of charity, but workmen earning justly and richly their salary, just as physicians, lawyers and men from other honorable professions earn theirs. Our ministers are gentlemen of the highest type,—are in no sense objects of charity. The idea that some people entertain, that they give in the sense of charity to their preacher, is a reflection upon their intelligence, and does great injustice to the work and dignity of the Christian ministry. As the preacher gives himself up to the Conference to do the work assigned him, and devotes all his time and talents to that work, so the members of the Church agree to receive and support whoever may be sent to them. Thus by Church usage and a tacit consent, a mutual contract is formed between the preacher and people - the preacher binding himself to do the work as pastor, and the people pledging themselves to pay him liberally for services rendered.—And when the stewards have fixed the preacher's salary and assessed it among the members, it becomes a just and specific debt, which must be paid like all other just and lawful debts.

Some, we are aware, object to the assessment plan, because it looks like a tax. But a State tax is very different from a church assessment. A State tax is vastly larger in amount—is collected by law—if not paid within a specified time, property, even the family residence is sold to pay it. The State or government tax is a matter of absolute compulsion. This objection, then, to the assessment plan rests upon a false comparison. Whatever is odious in the tax system is not found in the assessment plan. We cannot then, upon this ground, discard a good plan simply because somebody calls it a tax. Besides, is there any wrong in taxing people to support a government, which protects life, liberty and property, when the system is properly regulated? We see none. Neither do we see any wrong in laying a church tax, when it is necessary to support the ministry of the Gospel. Both are right when properly regulated. This objection, when considered in the light of truth and justice, is without foundation.

To object to the plan because some members are too heavily assessed, may be an argument against the competency of the stewards, but not to the plan per se. In all cases the persons assessed have the right to object to their assessment if they conscientiously believe themselves unable to pay it, and to name the amount they are able to pay. The Scriptures declare that "the laborer is worthy of his hire."—The assessment plan proposes to carry out the command of ministerial support by making a fair and equal apportionment among the members, who are blessed by the labors of the minister, and have agreed to support him not only for his work's sake, but for the spiritual benefits received. The old plan of voluntary contributions is full of objections. It is slow in movement, uncertain in amount, lays the burden on a few, and has generally failed in getting the required amount. It may work well in some places, but we believe the assessed plan will work better. But whether you work this, or some other or a dozen other plans, see to it that your pastor's salary is paid promptly, so as to free his mind from anxious care. No man can do justice to his Master's cause, making full proof of his ministry, if the wolf, in the form of want, is apprehended to be near his door. Make your minister comfortable and contented, if you would have the church under his care to prosper, and advance in all her interests.

Sunday Schools.

There is no interest of the church that requires more attention at the hands of the pastor and membership than the Sunday School. Its condition is almost invariably a true index to the state of the church to which it belongs and of the community in which it is held. If it flourishes, the church is alive;—if it languishes, a palsying indifference to religious concerns is almost sure to be found in the congregation and a decay of spiritual power of necessity follows.

The children of a church and community are an important element of each, and their spiritual needs are as great as, if not greater than, those of older persons. Upon the proper development of their characters, depends the future character and moral strength of society, as well as the purity of the spiritual fold into which they will be gathered; and that pastor is as unwise as he is unfaithful to his duties, who does not look carefully after the young er members of his charge. One great secret of the power that Romanism has upon her followers, is the care she takes to instill her doctrines into youthful minds, knowing that if the twig is bent by her principles, the full grown tree will always incline thereto.

At the opening of the Conference year, when plans are being laid and work distributed, we urge that ample provision be made for the Sunday School interests. Do not delay their opening until the winter is over and the genial spring days come, but let them be opened now. So important a work cannot be deferred until a more convenient season. There is no need of going into winter quarters and lying torpid for three or four months. The campaign should be set on foot at once. The enemy does not stop for wintry blasts, but is ever at your gates: the Philistines be upon you all the time, and the cords which, Delilah like, winter rest has cast about you, must be burst asunder, or your Church will suffer serious hurt.

If the school room is cold and uncomfortable, make it warm by replacing broken panes, and closing the chinks through which the wintry wind whistles its piercing lays. The children will not suffer much by a tramp to the church or school house, but will enjoy the bracing air and healthy exercise, and appreciate the more highly, the cheerful gathering and pleasant instruction that await them. The winter cold may for a while creep inside the wrappings, but it will go no further; but, if kept away from Sunday school, influences more to be dreaded than personal discomfort, may find their way into the hearts that are behind the little jackets, numbing and freezing them with irreligion and vice. The Sunday School should always be open. If but two or three attend, it is well that they should receive attention. The vestal fire that burns upon the altars must not die out, but must be fed with devoted care, so that its warm light may beam upon the minds and hearts of those around whom cluster the hopes of the Church.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.—Rev. N. H. D Wilson, President of the Board of Trustees of Greensboro' Female College, advertises for a loan of $20.000 for the benefit of the Institution at eight per cent interest. With the note of the corporation, and personal endorsers, which is proposed, we regard it as a safe investment. There are a great many of our Methodist people who have their funds on deposit in banks, and locked up in their trunks and safes at home, from which they are realizing no income at all. By loaning it to the College, they would turn it in the channel of usefulness, obtain a good interest, and, on reasonable notice, receive the principal when called for.

We have received from Rev. Dr. Haygood, the efficient Sunday School Secretary, the publications for the month of February, comprising the following: The Sunday School Magazine, Questions on the Lessons, Our Little People and the Sunday School Visitor. They are excellent specimens of the periodicals, in every respect, and our Church has reason to be proud of them. We trust that all our Sunday schools will give a liberal patronage to the Publishing House at Nashville.

NORTH CAROLINA SCHOLARSHIP.—The following compliment to Trinity College is taken from the Daily Sentinel of this city:

J. D. Hodges, of Davie county, was graduated at Trinity College last June, with first honor. Some time since he went to Yale College for the purpose of entering the senior class, and obtaining A. B. at their next commencement. Upon examination the faculty decided that he was fully up to their requirement for A. B. and that he need not remain there. Hence he paid his fees, &c., returned home, and will receive his degree in June.

We call attention to the letter from Dr. Burkhead, which appears in another column. It breathes the right spirit, and we trust our readers will profit by it, and also by the letter from Bro. Yates in our last.

Christian Unity.

A correspondent of the Salem Press gives the following interesting account of the closing meeting of the Week of Prayer, held in the Moravian Church in Salem, on Sunday evening the 11th inst. It is cheering to see such unity among brethren as obtains in the good old town of Salem, and meetings such as that held on that occasion, tend more than any other human agency to produce peace on earth and good will to men. The church was densely crowded with members of the Moravian, Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist Churches of Salem and Winston. The writer says:

"We had only occupied our seat for a few moments when the clock announced the appointed hour: the organ sent forth its sweet and melodious strains, during which the ministers appeared - nine in number, and occupied their respective seats.

To behold this galaxy of clergymen of different denominations, truly represented to our imagination the spectacle of an Evangelical Alliance in miniature.

The Choir then sang a hymn of praise to Him from whom are received all our mercies; the congregation then raised their voices in a hymn of praise, after which Rev. E. A. Dr. Schweinitz delivered a very appropriate and stirring introductory address. Rev. S. J. Blum continued the services by reading the 133 Psalm and part of the 4th chapt. of Ephesians.

After singing another hymn, Rev. Mr. Heitman, pastor of the M. E. Church of Winston, addressed us in a very able and interesting manner on the necessity of the different branches of God's Church uniting in their work to disseminate the Gospel of Christ. He was followed by an earnest and soul stirring prayer offered by Rev. W. Albea of the M. E. Church, that Christianity might prosper and that all the servants in the good work might receive aid and strength from on high.

Again the congregation joined in singing, after which Rev. E. P. Greider, Pastor of the Moravian Church at Bethania, made some eloquent remarks on the hinderances to unity of effort in the different branches of the Church, to evangelize the world.

Rev. Wm. Turner of the Baptist Church followed by a sincere and pathetic prayer, that the unity of word in spreading the gospel might soon be effected and that all those that are now in error might be converted.

Rev. H S. Hoffman, Pastor of 2nd Moravian Church of Philadelphia, who happened to be present on the occasion, arose and addressed us on the influence that such a unity of effort as was then being made by the brethren of the different branches of the church would have in making all christians more united and zealous in serving the Lord, and carrying the glad tidings of His salvation to those who have not yet received them.

Mr. Hoffman was a delegate to the Evangelical Alliance held in New York, and made very interesting remarks concerning the same; he spoke with fluency and eloquence, and was attentively heard by the congregation. A prayer was then offered up by Rev. A. Lichtenthaler, of the Hope New Philadelphia and Macedonia congregations. Rev. E. A. de Schweinitz closed the services by a very warm and animated address. While the Choir was singing the last stanza of the closing hymn the ministers extended to each other the right hand of fellowship and union, in such a manner as to very forcibly impress us with a feeling of solemnity that must have pervaded the whole congregation."

The nomination of Caleb Cushing, to be Chief Justice, though it gave general, but not universal satisfaction, has been withdrawn at his request, because of bitter opposition from certain sources. The opposition to his appointment came chiefly from those papers whose disapproval of everything President Grant does is predestinated in their own minds, or from Republican circles in Congress whose criterion of official desert is the party service that has been rendered by the appointee. Mr. Cushing, although a Republican now, has been during his life, on all sides of the political fence—is an astute and learned lawyer, an excellent diplomat, and notwithstanding his skill at diplomacy, is an honest and conscientious man, and a scholar of high attainments. He is a native, and until the last few years was a resident, of Massachusetts, but now hails from Virginia, the State of his adoption.

His antecedents were anxiously scrutinized by those who opposed his nomination, in the hope of finding something that would prejudice the Senate against him, and afford a plausible reason for his rejection.—Nothing could be found except that early in 1861 he gave to a personal friend who was coming into the South era lines, a letter of recommendation to President Jefferson Davis. This was construed into a show of sympathy for the Southern cause, and produced so much disfavor to his nomination that it was withdrawn.

Our good brother Holden, in charge of the Nash circuit, sends us a list of subscribers every week. One of the most pleasant duties connected with an editor's work, is the receiving and opening of letters from his friends, especially when they contain a list of subscribers and the cash to pay for them.

DECIDEDLY COMFORTABLE.—Passing down Fayetteville Street a cold windy afternoon of the past week, we stepped into the store of our enterprising friends, Messrs. J. P. Gully & Bro., and while there, they discovered, we suppose, that our gloves were not very seasonable, whereupon we were made by them the recipient of a pair, sensible, seasonable, and of a superior quality. We advise all our friends to supply themselves with a pair, if they wish comfort and durability.

Renew your subscription to the ADVOCATE.

Editorial Jottings.

— The alarming frequency of steamship disasters caused by collisions on the sea, has led to a careful consideration of their causes and to the attempt to devise some means by which they may be lessened in number, or entirely avoided. We notice that the congressional committee on commerce desires to receive suggestions and will entertain plans that have been submitted to them. It is proposed to create an international commission for the marking out of marine roadways and ocean tracks between the ports of the United States and Europe, as well as to employ electric lights on steamships. The late terrible disasters by which the Atlantic and Ville du Havre were overtaken, have excited a deep sympathy for "those who go down to the sea in ships" and will result, we hope, in the adoption of some plan of ocean-travel and conduct of ships that will mitigate their dangers.

— President Grant, however much he may heretofore have seemed to shape his acts in a political mould, has recently shown his independence of party in two notable cases, viz: the nomination of Caleb Cushing, as Chief Justice, who has not been an active and outspoken a Republican as many members of the party think the recipient of such a place of honor and profit ought to be; and second, in his refusal to listen to the call of Gov. Davis of Texas, for troops to assist in the support of measures very similar to those that have brought so much oppression to the people of Louisiana. This show of independence may cost President Grant his political head, but as long as he appoints fit men to office and gives no countenance to oppressive measures, he will receive the acclaims of the people he governs.

—Senator Flanagan, of Texas, during the debate on the bill for the repeal of the "Salary Grab," stoutly defended the act, and said, "If there was any guilt in the grab, I am guilty" and then placing his hand inside his coat he drew forth a huge wallet of greenbacks and flourishing them, cried "Here they are, Sir: this is my pay: I am going to fight for it to the last." Guilty men, stung by the continuely deservedly heaped upon them, often grow impudent and flaunt their wickedness in the faces of their prosecutors.

Our Conference Enterprises. An Appeal.

The claims of our Conference Colleges, Trinity, Greensboro' and Davenport, should be pressed upon the attention of our people, until their sympathies are aroused and their purse-strings untied, in support of the cause of christian education. Those who are in charge of these Colleges are all worthy and well qualified, and deserve the full confidence and support of the whole church. I hereby cordially invite the agents of these several Institutions to visit the Shelby District and present the special claims of each Institution before the people. I beg that those agents be received gladly and heard without prejudice. These Conference Colleges are all necessary to the development and permanent prosperity of our church. Let the Methodists within our Conference, with one mind and one heart, rally to the support of our own institutions.—There are about fifty thousand Methodists in our Conference. Each one of these should have "a brick" in all these Colleges. Why not?

The Raleigh Christian Advocate, "the organ of our Conference," should be placed, if possible, in every Methodist family in our bounds. It is a capital paper, and exceedingly cheap at $2.00 per annum. Let all those who have been taking the paper, continue, and let ten thousand others, who have never enjoyed its weekly visits, subscribe for it at once. Don't wait for the preacher to come round: but put a two dollar bill in a letter and send it to Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, Raleigh, N. C., giving him your name and post office. You cannot afford to be without a good religious paper. You need it. If you have a family, that family needs it. As a Methodist, you ought to be posted in reference to the operations of the church in your own Conference. If you can take but one paper, give your church paper the preference. There are multitudes of church members who take one or more political papers, and no religious paper! This is all wrong. Give your church paper the preference. I earnestly appeal to the Methodists, ministers and laymen - especially to those who are in the bounds of the Shelby District to exert themselves to extend the circulation of the RALEIGH CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Dear Brethren, let us stand "shoulder to shoulder" in support of our Conference enterprises, and by the blessing of God labor industriously to make Shelby, in truth, what it has been called, "The Empire District" of the N. C. Conference.

L. S. BURKHEAD.

Notice.

I expect to be in Raleigh for the next two or three weeks, and would be very glad to hear from my many friends who have made pledges to Trinity. It is very important to make collections as rapidly as possible. We are needing the funds now. Send check or money order to me at Raleigh, N. C.

B. B. CULBRETH, Agent.

MR. EDITOR: Please inform me, for I have forgotten, to whom contributions for the Orphan Asylum at Oxford, should be sent. And I propose that every subscriber to the ADVOCATE, enclose to the proper address, just $1.00, or if any be more liberal, $2.00 or as much as they will, for the benefit of those poor children, who have no parents, and no friends, save those whom their Great Friend bids help them.

Many have contributed of their means for the welfare of this Institution of mercy; but, a large majority of us have been forgetful of our duty to these bereaved ones, and I see from an article in your last issue that the Institution is now greatly in need of aid. Who then can refuse one dollar, or even more for the support of these sorrow-stricken children? Does he think of his own little dear ones, and wish them cared for, should a mysterious Providence deprive them in like manner of parental oversight and care? Let him then cast in his mite, or of his abundance, and God will repay him and with large interest.

W. T. SMITH.

All contributions should be sent to J. H. Mills, Superintendent Orphan Asylum, Raleigh, N. C.—ED.

Conference Collection. The Assessment.

BRO. BARRETT: Please publish the following for the information of all concerned:

Amount assessed for Conference collection for 1874, is	$6000.00
Raleigh District,	660.00
Hillsboro' "	650.00
Greensboro' "	630.00
Salisbury "	580.00
Shelby "	580.00
Charlotte "	600.00
Fayetteville "	580.00
Washington "	580.00
New Berne "	580.00
Washington "	580.00
Total,	$6000.00
Amount assessed for Bishops' salary and traveling expenses is	$1685.00
Raleigh District,	195.00
Hillsboro' "	185.00
Greensboro' "	175.00
Shelby "	145.00
Salisbury "	140.00
Charlotte "	145.00
Fayetteville "	175.00
Washington "	175.00
Wilmington "	175.00
New Berne "	175.00
Total,	$1685.00

D. R. BRITON,
Joint Board of Finance,
N. C. Conference.
Concord, N. C., Jan. 12th, 1874.

Religious Brevities.

—The advance in the number of Methodist churches in the last year is large, giving an average in increase of two and a half churches for working day of the year. In the number of parsonages the gain has been nearly four each week. The net increase in church property (church edifices and patronages) is nearly $4,000,000.

—The South Carolina Conference of the M. E. Church, South, reports 36, 432 white and 615 colored members; an increase of 394 white, and a decrease of 13 colored.

—The Catholics of Switzerland have sent a protest to the Government against the expulsion from the country of the Papal Nuncio.

Rev. A. B. Earl, the successful Baptist revivalist, has been engaged to conduct union services in the Plymouth Congregational Church, Syracuse.

—Henry Ward Beecher and Drs. Buddington and Storrs have settled their little difficulty. It is creditable that they have done so without further scandal.

—The Methodist papers at various points in Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York, report a total of 1,130 conversions within the past few weeks.

—The Christian Index, the official organ of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, formerly published in Memphis, has been removed to Louisville, Ky., and with it the other publishing interests of that Church.

—Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., has three Sunday-schools in its connections, with 2,746 teachers and scholars. The benevolent contributions of schools for the year amount to $2,486.

—Dean Stanley does not believe in apostolic succession. In a sermon recently preached by him in Edinburgh, he showed that as a matter of history there are no successors to the Apostles. These died and appointed no one in their stead.

—The Archbishop of Canterbury (Dr. Tait), speaking on position and mission of the English Church, says it is no part of its business to make inroads upon dissent, but rather to make inroads upon ungodliness.

—The American Bible Society has just published the book of Exodus, in a separate 18mo. volume, for the use of Sunday schools, in connection with the international series of lessons. It is bound in muslin, with flexible covers, and sold for six cents. The Gospel of Mark can also be obtained separately for eight cents.

DOCTOR LUTHER said one evening, when he saw a little bird perched on a tree, to roost there for the night, "This little bird has had its supper, and now it is getting ready to go to sleep here, quite secure and content, never troubling itself what its food will be, or where its lodging on the morrow. Like DAVID, it abides under the shadow of the Almighty. It sits on its little twig content, and lets God take care."

Bro. Carraway, in charge of Charlotte Station, writes that he has entered upon his work—that he is pleased with his people, and has good hope of success.

The Christian Advocate.

NEWS DEPARTMENT.

ROBERT T. GRAY, Editor.

Capt. Saml. T. Williams the accomplished political editor of the Raleigh News, has severed his connection with the paper. Our best wishes attend his future course wherever it lies.

GOOD TEMPLARS.—Hickman Lodge of Good Templars moved into their new and handsome hall in the Fisher Building last week, and dedicated it to the use of the order with appropriate ceremonies.—T. R. Purnell, Esq., delivered the address of the occasion, and speeches were made by Rev. A. W. Mangum, T. N. Ramsay, and others.

THE DEATH SENTENCE.—McPherson and Lawrence (both colored) who made a burglarious entry into the house of Mr. D. C. Murray, of this city, and stole therefrom several articles of value, were convicted at the late term of the Superior Court of Wake, and sentenced by Judge Watts to be hanged on the 13th of February next. Mr. T. R. Purnell was one of the counsel assigned by the court to conduct the defence, and made an address to the jury which elicited the highest encomiums from many who are competent to judge of the merits of a speech.

The culprits are supposed to have been the leaders of a gang of burglars who have been plying their work in Raleigh, Wilmington and other places, and we trust that the infliction of the severe penalty that has been denounced against them, will deter others from like violations of the law.

A GOOD LAW.—The Legislature has under consideration a bill for the prevention of the sale of intoxicating liquors to minors unmarried and under control of their parents. It passed the House of Representatives last Thursday by a handsome majority, and elicited an interesting discussion. Among other speeches delivered in favor of the bill was one by Mr. Jones of Caldwell, which we have heard spoken of in the highest terms as strong, sensible and affecting. It is said that during his vivid portrayal of the evils caused by the traffic in liquor, its blighting effect upon the young, and its injury to society, many members of the House were affected to tears. No higher compliment to the young legislator could possibly have been paid than this show of feeling on the part of the House carried with it. We are glad to see Mr. Jones taking this determined stand against an evil so justly complained of. It may cost him the enmity of a few liquor-sellers in his section, but the great majority of his constituents will applaud his action, and keep it in grateful remembrance.

State Matters.

Fayetteville EAGLE:

Over 100 bales of cotton were sold in Fayetteville on Monday and Tuesday, bringing 12½ at 14½.

There are 168 Councils of Friends of Temperance, with 6000 members in North Carolina.

The EAGLE claims that Thos. H. Massey is one of the oldest office-holders in the United States. He was appointed Constable in 1821 and held that office uninterruptedly until he was displaced by Gen. Sickles in 1865—'66.

William's Hall, or Fayetteville Opera House, is said to be one of the most commodious and complete halls in the State.

The proposition to annex a portion of Bladen to Cumberland makes the Cumberland voters indignant.

A new Lodge of Knights of Pythias was organized in Fayetteville on the 12th inst.

A correspondent of the EAGLE while travelling from Raleigh to Weldon found himself in the midst of seven men whose aggregate weight was 1,800 pounds. He himself pulls down 240 pounds on a good Fairbanks.

Greensboro PATRIOT:

Several Canadian families have arrived at Greensboro recently and purchased residences.

There is talk of building a Catholic church in Greensboro'.

Bishop Lyman of the P. E. Church, is pleased with Greensboro', and will perhaps make it his residence.

Dr. H. H. Staples, an excellent physician of Greensboro', and a subscriber to the ADVOCATE, has recently performed a successful operation in removing a cancer from the face of Mr. W. S. Moore of Greensboro'. The wound is entirely healed, and only a slight scar left.

Horse thieves are operating in Guilford. A valuable mare was stolen from the stables of Mrs. Wilson, near McLeansville, last week but one, and on the same night a mule was stolen from the same neighborhood.

The PATRIOT is in favor of an appropriation by the Legislature, for the Orphan Asylum, at Oxford.

Monroe ENQUIRER:

The new Methodist Church in Monroe is approaching completion.

Several parties have recently removed to Monroe and become citizens.

The ENQUIRER is trying to find out how much cotton was raised in Union county last year.

Monroe wants a Building and Loan Association.

Mr. G. D. Brown received a kick from a mule which rendered him senseless, and inflicted a severe wound in his forehead.

There were 334 marriages in Mecklenburg county during 1873, if it was a "panicky" year.

Winston SENTINEL:

Dr. C. J. Watkins, Hamlin of Person. Messrs. Norfleet, Chambers and Rosn, of Caswell, have removed to Winston, which, says the SENTINEL, has increased in population more than a hundred since the first of December.

Rev. Thos. B Boyles, of Surry county, claims to have invented perpetual motion and the skeptical Mathes wickedly remarks "that they are not all dead yet."

—"A large distillery is going up just outside the Winston corporation" We hope it will "go up" effectually.

The SENTINEL announces that Hon. R. P. Dick will lecture in Salem on December 16th. It is some time yet, but it is well to announce it in time, and keep it before the people. Mathes knows how to "take time by the fore lock."

General News.

There are 11,000 employees in the Treasury Department at Washington.

The New York HERALD finds the number of steamers building from or trading to the port of New York, that have been lost within the last 17 years, to be 317.

Richmond, Va., under the conservative rule is looking up. Last year she erected 389 buildings completed, and 73 are in progress, the cost of which is $1,093,530. The manufactures for the year were $14,391,136.

The Grangers of Iowa are up and doing. They have purchased the patent of a harvesting machine, and propose to sell it to patrons much cheaper than any manufactures. They have also made arrangements with a sewing machine company to furnish machines at a reduction of 40 per cent on ordinary prices.

The Catholic Total Abstinence Union of Philadelphia propose to celebrate Washington's birthday in an unusually magnificent style.

The culture of the sugar cane, which to a great extent has been abandoned on the low lands of Louisiana, will in the future be largely prosecuted on the pine lands of Mississippi and Alabama.

It is proposed in England to construct an eighty-ton rifled gun. The largest ever yet made there weighs only thirty-eight tons. The calibre of the new gun will be about seven inches.

Fifty-three journalists died in this country during the past year, of whom two committed suicide, three were accidently drowned, and one was assassinated, not including Ralph Keeler, whose fate is still a mystery.

Pinchback, who is about to take his seat as a member of the United States Senate from Louisana, was, at the time of General Butler's reign in that State, found guilty of larceny in one of General Butler's courts, and sent to the penitentiary for two years.

Caleb Cushing is said to have advised and constructed the original draft of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Personal.

Caleb Cushing is seventy-two years of age, Lord John Russell, eighty-four; M. Thiers, over eighty; Disraeli sixty-eight and Gladstone sixty-four.

Gov. Booth, of California, will not take his seat in the U. S. Senate until 1875, as it is thought necessary that he should retain the gubernatorial chair in order to thwart certain anticipated railroad schemes.

Col. McClure, who wasted several points in North Carolina in the interest of Greeley during the campaign of 1872, will probably be the Reform Candidate for the Mayoralty of Philadelphia.

Louis Kossuth, formerly Governor of Hungary is teaching in Turin the German, English and Hungarian languages. His hair is white, his form is bent, and his habitation the fourth story of a dingy old dwelling.

Mr. McPherson, Clerk of the House of Representatives in Congress, has kept a record of the doings of public men of prominence ever since 1863, by cutting out all newspaper mention of their important acts and comments thereon.

Hon. Robt. Withers, elected last fall to the Lieutenant Governorship of Virginia, was last week elected to the United States Senate, from that State. His most prominent opponents were Hon. R. M. T. Hunter and Ex-Gov. Gilbert C. Walker.

Daniel Bond, Esq., Editor of the Enfield TIMES was recently married to Miss Bond, of Brownsville, Tennessee. Blessed be the bonds!

The Goldsboro MESSENGER says that George B. Everitt, Esq., of Wayne county, recently licensed by the Supreme Court, appeared in open court at Goldsboro, and took the various attorney's oaths. We were intimately associated with Mr. Everitt during a great part of last year, and can safely predict for him a bright future. He is a young man of talent, solid worth and most excellent habits; and if he does not succeed in his chosen profession will greatly disappoint the expectations of his friends.

Washington News.

Congress will, at an early day, take into consideration the repeal of the Bankrupt Act.

The House Committee on Appropriations have instituted a searching investigation of the expenses of the several departments, and will report in favor of a great reduction of appropriations to them.

On the 12th inst., the House Committee on War Claims heard ex-Senator Henry S. Foote, Mr. John Wilson, formerly Third Auditor, and Rev. R. Abbey, in support of the claims of the Publishing House of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for compensation for the use of its property, at Nashville Tenn., in 1864 and 1865. The matter was postponed in order to take further testimony, and to consider certain legal propositions involved in the case.

The Russian Mennonites have sent a petition to Congress setting forth that they desired to become citizens of the United States, and asking that they be allowed to reoccupy the public lands.

Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Susan B. Anthony and others of that ilk, have petitioned Congress again on the subject of Female Suffrage, claiming that they have the same right to vote as the negro has.

Elliott, a colored member of Congress from Massachusetts, delivered a strong speech in favor of the Civil Rights Bill, and in reply to Hon. Alexander Stephens. It displayed such skill and power that some skeptical persons say it was written for Elliott by some friends of the measure.

Literary.

Wilkie Collins says that J. Fenimore Cooper was one of the greatest novelists that ever lived.

The sale of books is said to be on the decline in England, but periodicals of all kinds are growing in popularity.

Twenty two thousand copies of Carleton's "Farm Ballads" published by the Harpers have been sold.

A new Shakespeare Society is projected in London of which Tennyson is one of the promoters.

'rish Gleanings.

Prof. Agassiz's Progress.—Prof Agassiz in his will, leaths to his son, Alexander, all the scientific books he may select from his library, with a request that when he is done with them, he will add them to the rest of the library, which is given to the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Cambridge.—All the rest of his estate is given to his wife.

Statistics presented to the French Academy show that one per cent of all of the marriages of blood relation result in the birth of dumb offspring. In cases of consanguineous marriages are, the proportion of the deaf and dumb born is three-fold—it is as 3 to 1; seventy-nine per cent in the first twenty-five years in Bordeaux—the proportion of the deaf and dumb, by birth, is reasonably near the rate of blood relation to 1.

It is proposed to found a university at [illegible]. The people of Colorado have already given 640 acres of land, and have placed there, for sale at one dollar to every new settler in that State, to the extent of a half million acres.

Southern Fever.—The Memphis Appeal says the mortality of that city from the prevalence of the fever and other congestive diseases, and the disappearance of the fever, has astonished the medical authorities to the last degree, and measures are proved a result of the physical sanitary reforms of the present year. The people are rapidly attending the disinfection and the use of good sewerage, and other cities as well as Memphis, might well follow this example.

Cotton Chopper and Cultivator.—A new machine has recently tried on the cotton farms of Mississippi, and was found to be a most valuable implement for the purpose designed. It is highly recommended by planters, and is said to be very simple in construction, easily managed, and not liable to get out of order. The Patent Office Medal was awarded to the inventor for excellence in machinery, as a capable and ingenious mechanic. It took the special prize at the late State Fair, as the most important invention pertaining to cotton culture in two years.

Prof. Agassiz, belonging to the Establishment of Cambridge, Mass., A. G. Lee & Co., of Memphis, Tenn., secured the agency and the privilege of manufacturing and selling the machine in the State of Mississippi, and have already sold a number of them, and have no doubt but that they will meet with great success with the Cotton Planters.

Marriages.

By Rev. V. A. Sharpe, at the residence of the bride's father, in Chester, S. C., to Miss Annie Rebecca Hall, all of Chester, S. C.

By the same, on the 12th, at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. J. W. Pharr, Mr. Lafayette A. Thomason to Miss Mattie Mundy, all of Lancaster county, S. C.

Also, in the same county, by the same, on the 7th of Jan., 1874, Mr. Alfred Richardson Thompson, to Miss Ella V. B. Mundy, all of Lancaster county, S. C.

Married, at the residence of Mr. W. Richards', Esq., Jan. 1st, 1874, by Rev. L. A. Cunningham, Henry A. Armistead and Miss Mary J. E. Climer, all of Guilford county, N. C.

Married, on the 22nd inst., at the residence of the bride's father in Rockingham county, N. C., by the Rev. J. C. Hartsell, Mr. J. Scruggs and Miss N. J. A. Scruggs, all of Rockingham county, N. C.

At the residence of the bride's father in Brassfield Township in Granville county, N. C., on Wednesday the 24th of Dec. 1873, by W. P. White, Esq., Mr. Robert Pradby and Miss Sarah Jane Lassiter, all of the above county, N. C.

Deaths.

Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines will be charged for at the rate of one dollar a line, Counting the lines and allowing about twelve words to the line. In this way persons can always know the amount to enclose. Remittances must accompany the notices and are subject to the same rule.

Mrs. Harriet W. Hooker, who departed this life in this city on Tuesday, Dec 29th 1873, was the second daughter of Wesley and Sarah Whitaker, of Rockingham county. She was born in June, or July, 1812, and was consequently, at the time of her death, in the 62nd year of her age. Her parents were very pious people, and early faithfully instructed their children in the principles of that Christianity which alone can, with divine blessing, through faith in the atoning power of Christ, make us what we ought to be. As one who is known but imperfectly for forty years, and who has seen her in all the various relations and duties of domestic existence, I can truthfully say that in no one ever exemplified the Christian character more fully and beautifully than did she. Her influence was felt far and near, especially upon the young among whom and for whom a large part of her whole life was spent. She was one of the most successful teachers of the young I ever saw. And what is a remarkable fact, in a career of forty years as a teacher, she never had a pupil whose tenderest affections were not drawn out towards her. In early womanhood as in old age there seemed to be a magnetic power of love surrounding her. Those amiable traits of character which distinguished her when the writer was her pupil thirty-seven years ago, continued with her, but in a more eminent degree, to the close of life. Her exceeding sweetness of position combined with great decision of character and firmness of purpose, peculiarly qualified her for the education of the young, and for the maintenance of proper discipline in the school room. She early in life connected herself with the M. E. Church in which she continued a useful and zealous member to the day of her translation to the Church above. Of all her Christian duties there were none she discharged with more fidelity, pleasure and profit to others, than those in which she presided over the Sabbath School teacher. She was often heard to give expression to the delight she experienced in that capacity. Age and infirmity, so often unexpectedly placed by many an extraordinary dereliction of duty in this important department of Christian efficiency, were to her clear exercises with her; indeed she wanted no excuse to busy herself in the Sabbath School for it was to her on heavenly place in Christ Jesus."

The nursery of the Church, and the entire community, have sustained an irreparable loss in her death.

For our part we trust and believe that the Lord designed in our afflictions with the expression of his hope that this effective dispensation of divine Providence may bring forth sorrowing husband and children to the Lord Jesus and [illegible] to the Church of Christ; and that at last we may all meet in the everlasting glory, where the saints in light [illegible] in harmony [illegible] sweet.

Then Savior and brethren transported to [illegible]

While the anthems of rapture unceasingly roll,
And the smile of the Lord is the feast of the soul."

L.

Died, Oct. the 20 h 1873. John Hardison son of Chas. W. Hardison and Nancy his wife, aged 1 year 11 months and 20 days. Hudie (as he was called) was a very interesting and promising child. He won the affections of all who knew him. He was the delight of his parents and the family. Though it be a sore affliction to the parents to part with their little boy, yet they should be resigned to the will of their Heavenly Father who says in his blessed word that he doth not afflict willingly nor grieve the children of men. He has taken him to himself far above the sick y climes of earth. They should rejoice to know that it faithful to the grace God gives them, they will meet little Hudie again in the Time where parting will be no more, where they can sing to him that hath freed them and washed them from their sins in his own blood To him be glory both now and forever. Amen "I'll give the mourner's saith the Lord.

"In my own house a place:
No names of daughters and of sons
Could yield so high a grace.

Charles W. B. Johnson, son of Rev. Jeremiah Johnson and Mary M. S. Johnson, was born on the 3d day of August, 1852, and died at his father's residence in Nashville, Nash County, N. C. on the 23d day of June, 1873. C. W. B. Johnson was a kind and dutiful brother. He was a very kind, warm hearted young man to all of his associates, and seemed to be a friend from the soundest principles, and not from mere impulse. Hence his friendship was as true as it was lasting. This was indeed one of the most remarkable traits of his noble character. He was mentally piously disposed. He had a large circle of relatives and acquaintances and not an enemy among them; they all seemed to love C. W. B. Johnson.

We rarely mourn with the dear bereaved parents and all connection. May the Lord cross them and help them so to live that they may all meet in heaven!

T. C. Moses.

Sister Emily Garrett, wife of George Garrett, of Rockingham county, was born in the year 1808, and died on the 20th of Dec. 1873.

She was converted at twelve years of age and joined the M. E. church, of which she remained an exemplary member until her death.

For sometime she had been in feeble health but she bore her affliction with remarkable patience, always manifesting a sweet christian temper.

She was a lady of excellent mind, of constant and deep piety, a kind and affectionate wife and mother, beloved by her neighbors and all who knew her.

I visited her during her illness, found her calm and peaceful and full of faith. She was one of the sort I never knew. May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ sustain the bereaved husband and children!

W. C. Norman.

Died, at Kennakeet, near on Dec 31 1873 John D Gray in his 23rd year. He had been married six months. While in his affections he embraced religion and joined our Church together with his wife. He often became very happy, exhorted young men, and made some of them promise to meet him in Heaven. His funeral was preached at his father's residence on the first day of January. The Holy Spirit was in our midst and it seemed almost like a camp-meeting revival. He left an affectionate wife, mother father and many friends to mourn his loss.

O weep not for the joys that pass
Into the lonely grave
As breezes sweep the wild red grass
Along the restless wave.
For though thy pleasures may depart
And mournful days be given;
And lonely though on earth thou art,
Yet bliss awaits the holy heart
When friends rejoice in heaven.

D. G. M.

Mrs. Nancy Fitzgerald died at her home in Davidson county on the 3rd of January, 1874, aged about 67 years. A long line of acquaintances both in North Carolina and Virginia will remember her as a worthy, high-toned christian lady. As a member of the Methodist Church, she was zealous, faithful, liberal. Much of her life was devoted to teaching school, a work in which she delighted, and the morals of children could not be entrusted to more faithful hands. Now that she is gone, her children rise up to call her blessed. May they meet her in Heaven!

R. G. B.

Letters & Funds.

Rev W H Bobbitt for Miss S M Welch $2, N W Ayer & Son. M H Disbrow. H D Le Queux. Rev W D Lee paper changed. Geo Kirk paper changed. Rev A N Pelts self 2. Miss M E A for ad 1. N B Hood. B F Smith. R Bobbitt. R A Parker. Rev S V Hoyle papers sent. Rev C W King paper sent. Thad C Troy papers sent. Rev W H Bobbitt for self & W S Whitfield 2. Rev W C Norman for W P Ware 1.25. Robt Garrett 1. E Alden for ad 5. A H Winston for Mrs F H Winston 2. Rev D R Bruton. J D Pegram self 2. Mrs M B Dewar self 2. Rev W D Meacham for Mrs Elizabeth Moore 2. R S Moore 2. Mary L Smith 2. Mrs Caroline Blackwell 2. J G Watts for J S Yarnell 2. Dr S M Campbell all right. K W Weathers for T A Jones 1.25. Davis & Robinson. Rev Frank Reid for Mrs A T Harris 2. Miss Lucy H Massenburg 2. Miss M H Massenburg 2. Mrs H H Perry 2—other papers continued. Rev L J Holden for J B High 2. W H Hawkins 2. R K Gwyn, papers sent. Mrs Nancy Vaughn paper has been going to Wilmore Store. J L Hartsell. Rev W H Watkins. Rev N H Kayler papers sent. Rev G M Pepper for Mrs M T Hambrick 2. J D Paylor 2. David Lobin 2. W Arnold 2. D R White 1 H right. Geo N Thompson. Wm Taylor. Rev. T A Dorsey sell 2. J M Fleming for adv 1. Rev F A Boone, paper cut. Rev R S Ledbetter sell 2.40. Mrs L McKay. R H Griffin, Dr C S Simms correction made. R W Brown sell 2. J A Woodhum corrected. Prof J F Renckert. Rev V A Sharpe for R M Brown 2. R L McClure 2. Wm Jones 2. J R Detter 2. C P Tanner 2, other papers sent. Rev T J Gattis paper sent. W A Sharper for Miss B W Fulton. Rev J A Cunninggim for ob of Mrs G 5, all right. H S Snow 2. Mrs M H Steel 2. Mrs A E Black 2. Dr. H H staples 2. J W Ward 2. Mrs M M Bethell paper continued. Mr M E Nicholson. Rev B Dixon paper changed. Rev J W Pratt. J T Bagwell where is Bro S's p o? Rev Dr L S Burkhead. Rev L Shoh for Miss M L Glick 2. J A Lefler 2. W F Smith 2. Rev I H Wheeler for Miss S A Hovt 2. A Davis 1. J M Jones self 2. W T Smith. Rev M G Croson sell 1. Mr Bachard for John H Newell 2. Rev R F Thompson for Mrs W J Norwood 2. J W Rowell 2. Miss Mollie F Jordan paper changed. E Alden for ad 1. Rev T Y Eure all right. Rev J E Mann for S A Brothers 2. Mrs Peggy Campbell sell 2. Rev J C Hartsell for Mrs A P Pike 2. H S Trent Sawyer 2, other paper sent. John P Lanier's paper has been regularly sent. Rev [illegible] A Sharpe. Rev J J Renfroe for Mr. J Hog [illegible] 2. Bro J B Smith expired Jan 14 Instead of 30th April. it has not been stopped. S S Webb self 2. Robt Grier sent 2. R S Thorne self 2. Rev Jno Wheeler for H M Bean 2. [illegible] Rev J H Gunn for Tens Robinson 2. Please inform me.

W P White. R W Harris Rufus Bobbitt W W Daniel, reed since bill was sent. Rev L J Holden paper sent. Rev W C Gannon. Rev A A Scroffs paper sent for the year. Rev P J Carraway for M L Winston 2. Mrs S W Mosby 2. Dr T C Smith 2. Rev B Y Brown paper changed. Rev S Pool for A McCoy 2. Rev J A Dean paper regularly sent. G T Thompson for papers 50cts. Rev C H Phillips paper changed. Rev Jos Willson for Mrs Wilcox 2. J B Banks 2. Stephen Taylor 2. J E Scott 2. Rev B C Phillips paper sent. Rev S D Adams paper continued.

Appointments.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND.

Calvary Miss.	Jan.	2
Tryon Street,	"	3- 4
Monroe ct.	"	10-11
South Charlotte at Bethel	"	17-18
Monroe ct. at Centre	"	24-25
Pineville at Pineville. Jan 31 and Feb. 1
Pleasant Grove at Pleasant Grove, Feb 7- 8
Concord ct.	"	14-15
Albermarle and Stanley.	Albemarle. "	21-22
Wadesboro and Lilesville.	Feb 28 and March 1 at Betsel "	21-22

J. S. NELSON. P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND—IN PART.

Wilmington, Fifth Street,	Jan.	10-11
Magnolia,	"	17-18
Whiteville.	"	24 25
Wilmington, Front Street, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Clinton,	Feb.	7- 8

Each preacher will send me the place for holding the Quarterly Conference on his circuit.

I earnestly entreat every official member to be present at Quarterly Conferences. Let the Recording Steward bring his book.

The District Stewards will please meet in the District Parsonage at Magnolia Tuesday, Sourmary 3d, at 10 o'clock, A. M.

W. S. BLACK, P. E.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND.

Durham at Durham,	Jan.	10-11
Chapel Hill & Haw River at C. Hill	"	17-18
Hillsboro' at Hillsboro'.	"	24-25
Person at Roxboro.	Jan. 31	Feb. 1
Flat River at Mt. Bethel.	Feb.	7- 8
Leasburg at Leasburg,	"	14-15
Alamance at Phillips Chapel,	"	21-22
High Rock at Shiloh	Feb. 28	March 1
Yanceyville at Yanceyville.	March	7- 8
Deep River at Fair Promise.	"	14-15
Pittsboro at Pittsboro	"	21 22

The District Stewards will please meet in the Methodist Church in Hillsboro on Jan 24 h at 3 o'clock. P. M.

J. P. MOORE. P. E.
Mt. Tirzah, N. C.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.
FIRST ROUND.

Thomasville & H Point at Tho'ille	Jan.	17-18
Greensboro',	"	24-25
Trinity & Cerraway at T. College	Jan 31 and Feb.	1.
South Guilford at Pleasant Garden	"	7- 8
Forest the & Winston at Pine Grove.	"	14-15
Madison at Bethesda,	"	21-22
North Guilford at Friendship.	" and March	28th 1.
Stokes at Antioch,	"	7- 8
Wentworth at Lore's	"	14-15
Davidson at Ebenezer.	"	21-22

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Greensboro on Wednesday the 18th of February at 11 o'clock A full attendance of District Stewards is requested.

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
FIRST ROUND.

Statesville at	Jan	3- 4
Statesville ct.	"	10-11
Mt. Zion ct. at McKendre	"	17-18
Mocksville ct. at Mock-ville.	"	24-25
Yadkinville ct. at Yadkinville, Jan. 31	Feb.	1
Salisbury st.	Feb.	7- 8
Salisbury ct. at South River.	"	14-15
Wilkes ct. & Mt. Mis. at Wilksboro.	"	21-22
Mt. Airy st	Feb. 28	March 1
Surry ct. & Sanraton Mis. at Cross Roads	March	7- 8
Alexander ct. at Taylorsville,	"	14-15
Iredell ct at Turnersburg,	"	21-22

District Stewards will meet me in Olin on Wednesday, 11 oclock, A. M., March 18. A full attendance is earnestly desired.

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Olin, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND.

Tar River ct. at Franklinton,	Dec	27-28
Rolesville ct. at Rolesville,	Jan.	3- 4
Raleigh, Person St.	"	10-11
Cary ct at Cary,	"	17-18
Henderson ct. at Jerusalem,	"	24-25
Granville ct. at Oxford,	Jan. 31	Feb. 1
Wilson ct. at Horne's	Feb.	7- 8
Nashville & Rocky Mount	at Nashville. "	14-15
Louisburg	"	21-22
Raleigh, Edenton St.	February 28	March 1
Smithfield ct. at Selma.	"	7- 8

The District Stewards will please meet in the Methodist Church at Franklinton, Friday, February 20th at 1 o'clock P. M.

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Shelby at.	Jan.	3- 4
Shelby ct. at St. Pauls.	"	10-11
Lincolnton ct. at Ebenezer,	"	17-18
Dallas ct. at Dallas,	"	24-25
Rock Spring ct. at Bethel.	Jan. 31	Feb. 1
South Fork ct. at Zion.	Feb.	7- 8
Newton ct. at Newton.	"	14-15
Happy Home ct. at Hickory st.	"	21-22
Lenoir ct. at Bethany.	Feb. 28 and	March 1
Morganton at Morganton.	"	7- 8
Marion circuit & Upper Bread River Mis.	at Marion, "	14-15
Double Shoals & South Mt. Mis.	at Elliotts, "	21-22
Cherry Mountain ct. at Oak Grove,	"	28-29
Rutherfordton ct. and Columbus Mis.	at Rutherfton April	4- 5

The District Stewards will meet at the District Parsonage in Shelby, Wednesday March 18th 1874. A full attendance is desired.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT
1ST ROUND.

Warrenton st.	Jan.	17-18
Warren at Hebron,	"	24-25
Roanoke at Ebenezer	Jan. 31	Feb. 1
Williamston at Williamston	Feb.	7- 8
Columbia at Scuppernong.	"	14-15
Plymouth and Jamesville	at Plymouth	" 21-22
Bath at Bath.	Feb 28 and	March 1
Matamuskeet at Swan Quarter	March	7-8
Washington and Greenville,	at Washington.	March 14-15
Tarboro' at Tarboro',		" 21-22

The District Stewards will please meet at Tarboro' on Saturday, March 21st. They are the following: for Warrenton, Col. S. Davis. Warren. —Tarboro', J. W. Jones, Bath. Walter Clark. Mattamuskeet, T. W Jones. Washington and Greenville. B W. Brown. Williamston, R. A. Weatherby. Columbia, W. C. Puckett. Plymouth and Greenville, J. W. Latham.

WM. CLOSS. P. E.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Beaufort.	Dec.	27-28
Trent, Newport,	Jan.	3- 4
Straits	"	10-11
Newbern.	"	17-18
Kinston,	"	24-25
Wayne at Salem, Jan 31st and	Feb.	1st,
Jones Shady Grove,	"	7- 8
Lenoir, North'n ct.	at Lenoir Institute. "	14-15
Mount Olive at Mount Olive,		" 21-22
Neuse and Swift Creek	at Jackson. Feb	28 & Mar. 1st
Goldsboro.	"	7- 8
Snow Hill	"	14-15
Wilson	"	21-22

The District Stewards. Benj. Reeves, Rev. I. A. Snyder, D. Lane, Benj. Grady, A. E. Thompson, Rev. J. B. Webb, L. M. Kornegay, Dr. W. G. Bass, Warren Wheeler, J. M. Mason, T. J. Sutaker and Alonzo Edwards, will please meet me in Newbern, on Friday, before the third Sabbath in January, at 2 o'clock P. M. The down freight train can thus accommodate those above Newbern.

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort N. C.

☞ If the papers do not suit, brethren will please inform me.

The Markets.

Raleigh Market—Retail Prices
Jan. 21, 1874.

CORRECTED WEEKLY.

COTTON	14 to 14½
BACON—Baltimore smoked	10@11
" —unsmoked	9@10
" —strips	12 1-2@
" —shoulders	10@11
" —N. Hams	12@16
BUTTER—per lb.	30@35
BEESWAX—per lb.	20@30
BEEF—on hoof,	10@15
COFFEE—per lb	24@28
CHEESE—per lb	20@25
COTTON YARN—per bale	1 75@10
CORN—per bushel,	90@1 00
CHICKENS—per piece	20@25
EGGS—per dozen,	20@25
FLOUR—per barrel	8 50@9
FODDER—per hundred lbs,	1 50@
HAY—per hundred lbs	1 00@
HIDES—green, per lb,	6@ 7
" —dry, per lb,	12@15
HERRINGS, N. C.—per barrel,	7 50@8 00
LEATHER—per lb	30@40
LARD—per pound	12@15
MOLASSES—per gallon,	27@28
MEAL—per bushel	95@1 10
OATS—per bushel,	75@
" —per 100 lbs,	1 30@1 50
ONIONS—per bush	75@1 00
PEASE—stock,	1 00@
" —white,	1 40@A 50
POTATOES—Irish, per bushel.	75@1 00
SUGAR—crushed	13@16
" —extra C,	10@16
" —P. R	12@
" —common,	12@13 1-2
SALT—per sack	2 75@3 00
TALLOW—per lb
VINEGAR—per gallon,	40@ 60

New Advertisements.

WANTED.

A Female teacher, competent to teach the English Branches, Latin and Music. Address

J. M FLEMING,
at Rolesville, N. C.

Jan 21-4w

WANTED.

A Virginia Lady, of experience in teaching the usual English Branches, French, and Music on the Piano, desires a situation as teacher. Address

MISS E. A.
Norfolk, Va

Jan 21-2t. pd.

AGENTS WANTED FOR LIFE IN THE HOME BIBLE
By DANIEL MARCH, D.D.

This work teaches how men lived in Bible times and how to live in all times "It pleases, profits, pays." "It is as precious as gems." "It glows with living light on every page." "The style is full and flowing, clear and sparkling. Agents sold of the author's former works, 'Our Saviour,' and 'Our Father's House,' nearly 100,000 copies each. They should now carry on the same territory for 'Home Life,' his best and best work. Employment for Young Men, Ladies, Teachers and Clergymen in every county. Send for circular and secure first choice of territory.

ZIEGLER & McCURDY, 418 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Jan 21-4t

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A full supply of Buist's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at

PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S
Drug Store.

Jan 14-tf

ALADDIN SECURITY OIL

Will prove itself equal, if not superior, to any burning Oil that has been offered to the public—is perfectly safe for use in all Kerosene Lamps. Will give all who use perfect security in doing so. For sale by

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,
Druggists.

Jan 14 tf

SEASONABLE GOODS.

SHOVEL & TONGS,
ANDIRONS,
COAL HODS,
COAL & WOOD STOVES,
GRATES, GRATES, GRATES.

T. H BRIGGS & SONS.

nov 19-tf

WHAT THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE SAYS.

It has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that the Oil manufactured by Denslow and Bush,

WILL NOT EXPLODE OR IGNITE

even if a lamp be upset and a flame applied to the Oil.

We are Sole Agents in Raleigh for the sale of Denslow & Bush's

PREMIUM
SAFETY OIL,

The Safest, Purest and Best Oil known.

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS.

nov 19-tf

F. P. PESCUD. F. P. PESCUD, JR.

P. F. Pescud & Son,

GENERAL

Life & Fire Ins. Agents,

RALEIGH, N. C.

CAPITAL & ASSETS, $32,000,000

The Companies represented comprise some of the most responsible in Europe and America.

They represent the National Life Insurance Company, of the U. S. A. Old Phœnix Fire Insurance Company, of Hartford. Liverpool and London Globe Fire Insurance Company. Franklin Fire Insurance Company, of Pennsylvania. Howe Fire Insurance Company, of New York. Georgia Home Fire Insurance Company. Alps Insurance Company, of Erie, Pennsylvania. North Missouri Insurance Company, of Macon, Mo. Anaconda and Tybee Insurance Company, of Cincinnati. Farmville, of Farmville, Va

Jan. 1-12m.

TRINITY
COLLEGE.

The Spring Session will commence JANUARY 17TH 1873.

Students may take a select, or the full course at their own option. There are eleven schools in the Institution, viz: Latin, Greek, Mathematics, English Literature, Natural Science, Modern Languages, Metaphysics, Engineering and Analytical Chemistry, Commercial, Law and Divinity.

Entire expenses for five months, for tuition, board washing and fuel $90 to $100.

B. CRAVEN.

Jan 7 3m.

JONESVILLE HIGH SCHOOL.

YADKIN COUNTY, N. C.

REV. T. S. WHITTINGTON, A. M., Principal.

The Spring Session will open January, 13th, 1874 For particulars address the Principal, at Jonesville, N. C. Jan. 7 2m

$20.000 WANTED.

The Trustees of Greensboro Female College wish to borrow any part of the above amount in sums to suit parties having money to loan. They will give the note of the corporation with satisfactory personal endorsers, paying interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum. The principal will be paid when required upon reasonable notice and the interest annually. If the friends of the College will loan us the amount it will help the Institution and, we think, will be a perfectly safe investment. Please address the undersigned.

N. H. D. WILSON
President Board Trustees.

Jan 7 3t.

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE.

GREENSBORO' N. C.

Rev. T. M JONES D. D. President.

The Spring Session of 1874 will begin on the 15th January.

CHARGES PER SESSION OF 20 WEEKS:

Board and Tuition in regular course $125 00
Charges for extra studies moderate. For all particulars, apply to the President.

N. H. D. WILSON, President,
Dec 17 1m Board of Trustees.

Agents Wanted for

Cross and Crown

THE SPIRIT AND POWER of the religion of Jesus Christ as illustrated in the Suffering and Triumphs of His followers. A history of over two hundred martyr story. Need to be told in the short space of this very Magnificently illustrated in steel with its best engravings of martyrdom. Rare opportunity for live, energetic men to secure territory. Send for circulars, terms, &c. Full description, to Address, NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Atlanta Ga.

Jan 7 6m

PIANOS, PIANOS.

ORGANS. ORGANS.

Nat L. Brown,

DEALER IN

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Agent for HORACE WATERS & SON'S celebrated CONCERT and ORCHESTRAL ORGANS and PIANOS.

ALSO DEALER IN

Children's Carriages,
Fancy Goods,
Toys,
Baskets,
&c. &c.

BIRDS AND BIRD CAGES.

Confectionaries,
Fruits, Nuts,
Fresh Crackers
and Cakes.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to give me a call. Prices suitable to the times.

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

Illustrated Catalogue of Pianos and Organs mailed.

jan 14—tf

THE RALEIGH NEWS,

Daily And Weekly,

PUBLISHED BY

STONE & UZZELL.

Devoted to the best interests of the State of North Carolina—to the success of the Conservative party the development of the hidden wealth of the State, the building railroads into our midst, and advancement of the welfare of our people by every thing that arrives to make a State prosperous and independent will be found of great advantage, as both the Daily and Weekly circulate largely in every portion of the State. Rates moderate.

ITS

ADVERTISING COLUMNS

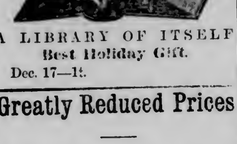
SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

Daily, One Year, ... $7 00
Weekly, " 2 00

Subscribe for 1874.

STONE & UZZELL,
Proprietors.



A LIBRARY OF ITSELF
Best Holiday Gift.
Dec. 17—1t.

Greatly Reduced Prices

JULIUS LEWIS CO.,

FISHER BUILDING

RALEIGH, N. C.

DEALERS IN

PAINTS,
Oils, Varnishes,
WINDOW SASHES,
DOORS, BLINDS, ETC.
ALSO,
HARDWARE,
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

BUY ONLY THE

"ALL RIGHT"
COOKING STOVE.
SEND FOR PRICE LIST

Machine Belting.

STEAM PACKING AND ENGINE HOSE,
ALSO
ALL OTHER ARTICLES OF
Vulcanized India Rubber,
USED FOR MECHANICAL AND MANUFACTURING PURPOSES.

SEND FOR PRICE LISTS.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL
WILL NOT EXPLODE.
WRITE FOR CIRCULARS.

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE.
LENOIR N. C.

The Spring session for 1874 will open on Monday, Jan 12th.
Board and Tuition per session, with music, vocal and instrumental, $110.00
Traveling preachers' daughters, tuition free.
Board and Tuition always in advance.
Send for a catalogue. Address,
Rev. W. M. ROBEY, Pres.

nov 19-3mos.

NEW GOODS FOR FALL AND WINTER

1873.

AT

ALEX CREECH'S.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TRADE, CONSUMERS OF DRY GOODS, &c.

MARBLE HALL
AND TEMPLE OF FANCY.

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

I take pleasure in announcing that my business has so largely increased and the demand is so great that I have constructed the following

A MUCH LARGER AND MORE ATTRACTIVE STOCK THAN HERETOFORE.

My Goods are bought with every available advantage and during business at a very small per centage I am able to offer INDUCEMENTS IN PRICES that cannot be equalled. My

PRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT

was never more complete, embracing all new Fabrics and everything Novel, consisting in part of the latest in DRESS GOODS, Such as

BLACK SILKS,
JAPANESE SILKS,
IRISH POPLINS,
CASHMERES,
SATEENS,
ALPACAS, &c.

Also very large variety of Low Priced Dress Goods, Linen Lawns, Percales, Piece Goods, Hdk'fs, Capes, Ruches and Sleeves. Call and look at my large and complete stock and compare prices before purchasing elsewhere as I am determined to give you better value for your money than you can get anywhere else. I mean business and desire to sell goods or not at all. The title is perfectly good.

For further particulars apply to

J. A. JONES,
Hillsboro' Street.

Fine-toned, low-priced, warranted; circulars sent free BLYMYER MANUFACTURING COMPANY, (Successors to Blymyer, Norton & Co.) Cincinnati, O. Office and Works, 664-694 West Eighth St.

March 5-12m. c o w.

HORNER & GRAVES' SCHOOL

TRANSFERRED TO

HILLSBORO', N. C.

A Classical, Mathematical, Scientific and Military Academy,

WITH

A FULL CORPS OF INSTRUCTORS

The Spring Session of 1874, begins the second Monday in January.

Circulars setting forth terms and other particulars sent on application.

Address the Principal at Oxford, N. C., until the 1st day of January, or May. D. H. Hamilton, at Hillsboro, N. C.

J. H. HORER, } Principals.
E. B. GRAVES, }

Dec 10-5w

W. S. MOORE
Greensboro', N. C.
Keeps on hand and has had unexpected sales of the
CELEBRATED
MASON & HAMLIN
—AND—
PRINCE & CO.,
CHURCH & PARLOR ORGANS

These are the oldest Makers of American Organs, reaching about 12 000 made and in use. Samples kept in several cities. Prefer to sell only to whole. I sold Rev. J. Rhodes, Salisbury, A. Green, W. J. Lowdermilk, Prof. J. L. Wright, Jno. Hubbard, John Wharton, W. D. Wheeler, C. W. Andrews, Dr. W. Cobb, Hy. Wm. A. Cobb, Meth. and Presby. S. S. and Rev. Temples, each first-class. Friedman's Improved A. B. Dement base. F. Harris, Mrs. O. S. Biles, &c. &c. W. Rose & Leader, Epler S. S. Leaders, &c., &c. Will sell for Cash, Produce or on time. You can save money as I freight.

R. J. Baker & Co.

Importers and Dealers in DYING DRUGS,
OIL VETROL
CHEMICALS
PURE GROUND BONE &C.
FOR MAKING
Super Phosphates
AND
FERTILIZERS.
36 and 38 South Charles Street,
BALTIMORE MD.

☞ Write for List of Chemicals and Prices.

Dec. 24 3m.

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

MALE AND FEMALE.

R. P. TROY, A. M., Principal
Mrs. R. P. TROY, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.

Board per month, $8.00
Tuition " " 1.00 to 3.00
One half in advance.

ADVANTAGES.

Low price of board and tuition, healthy and moral location, Sabbath school and church at home every Sunday.

Conveyance—By Rail Road to or country whenever they convey can be furnished by the Principal, if in time to avoid crowd.

Address the Principal,
Greensboro', N. C.

Nov 26-1m

WYATT, GREEN & CO.

Successors to Wyatt, Green & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

AND

Commission Merchants,

And Forwarding Merchants

No. 4 Exchange Place and Martin St.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Cotton and satisfaction guaranteed.

Courtesy extended to all and a speedy produce solicited.

All debts due or against the late firm of Wyatt, Green and Co., will be collected and discharged as they become due by us.

WYATT, BINGHAM AND CO.

dec10-tf Raleigh, N. C.

Wesleyan Male Academy

At board of managers of the institution, we announce with pleasure that the next session will open on the 12th of January, under Eugene E. Gray, A. B. as principal. Mr. Gray is an honor graduate of Emory and Henry college, Va. and as an orator of Mr. Creech has won the confidence of us all by his scholarly and consistent christian character, and that we are now selling our stock at such prices as to justify us in saying that such bargains have not been offered since the war.

We have a good supply of Burts, Ziegler's, and Roy State hand-made shoes and gaiters for Ladies, Misses and Children. Also for gentlemen, Cassidy's, Porter, Roy & Co's, and Burt's simple and double sole calf rollers and seams which we offer at very low prices. At wishing to purchase will not regret calling upon us and examining our stock and prices. We sell for cash and have in view no gift enterprise or trade brain. We therefore those buying of us do not help bear any risks for bad and poor debts. Very liberal prices to merchants buying in the market.

We have just received some very late styles of cuts, including Opera, Snowflake, Chesterfield and Clementine.

PETTY & JONES,
No. 21 Fayetteville street.

Jan 7-tf.

FOR 1874.

We have bought, in the last few days a fresh supply of BLEACHINGS.

3 7, 7 8, 4 4, 6 4.

SHEETINGS.
8-4, 10-4, 11 4, 12 4.

Also

UNBLEACHED DOMESTICS.
3-4, 7-8, 4-4.

Prints.

5 cases New Style Winter Prints,
5,000 yards Pica Homespuns,
And a large lot of

"BURTS" GAITERS & BOOTS.

(For cold shiny weather.) The best goods in the World. Also Gent's and Ladies' RUBBER AND ARTIC OVER-SHOES, and MEN'S RUBBER BOOTS.

These

Youth's Department.

"Grandma."

BY GRACE EDDY.

In her arm chair grandma's sitting
By the kitchen fire, knitting;
While the old clock keeps time, ticking
To the busy needle's clicking.
Not a breath the silence stirring,
Save the kitten's gentle purring,
Stopped the needles; grandma's thinking—
Th nights the past and present linking.

In the pleasant field's she's straying,
With the lads and lasses, playing;
Through the woods gay laughter sounding;
Then o'er distant hills rebounding;
On her young face roses flushing;
Grandma's withered cheeks are blushing,
And her eyes grow bright and glistening,
To the old, old story listening.

Changed the scene now; Church bells ringing;
Village choir is gayly singing
Lovers in the old church kneeling;
Vows of love forever sealing;
Childhood's home for aye she leaving
Severing ties that years were weaving;
Parents blessing—tears at parting—
On a lifelong journey starting

Cottage home with roses twining;
Wild birds singing; sunbeams shining;
Sweeter songs a young wife's singing;
In her heart the ache ringing
Years have passed: child-voices chattering
Joyous laughter—footsteps pattering;
Near the group a mother's sitting—
"Why, who's pulling at my knitting?"

"Wake up, grandma!" some one's saying;
Grandma wakes; finds pussy playing
With her ball, the worsted twisting,
Daylight gone, the new moon shining;
Takes once more the little stocking,
Counts the stitches—goes on rock ing—
On her face a pleased smile bounding,
Can't be that she's been dreaming?

Love Wins Love.

"Mother the birdies all love father," said a little boy of five years, as he stood with his mother watching the robins enjoying their morning meal of cherries from the old tree that overhung the house.

"Does anybody else love father, Charlie?"

"Oh, yes! I love him, and you love him; but we know more than the birds."

"What do you think is the reason the birdies love your father?"

Charlie did not seem to hear this question. He was absorbed in deep thought.

"Mother," at last he said, "all creatures love father. My dog is almost as glad to see himas he is me. Pussy, you know, always comes to him and seems to know exactly what he is saying. Even the old cow follows him all around the meadow, and the other day I saw her lick his hand just as a dog. I think it is because father loves them, mother. You know he will often get up and give puss something to eat; and he pulls carrots for the cows, and pats her and talks to her and somehow I think his voice never sounds so pleasant as when he talks to the creatures.

"I think his voice pleasant when he is talking to his little boy."

Charlie smiled.

"Father loves me," he said, and I him dearly. He loves the birds too, I'm sure He whistles to them every morning when they are eating cherries and they are not a bit afraid of him, though he is almost near enough to catch them. Mother, I wish everything loved me as well as they do Father."

"Do as father does, Charlie, and they will. Love all living things and be kind to them. Do not speak roughly to the dog. Don't pull pussy's tail, nor chase the hens, nor try to frighten the cow. Never hurt or tease anything. Speak gently and lovingly to them. Feed them, and seek their comfort, and they will love you, and everybody that knows you will love you too. —British Workman.

Wolves.

Of all the animals, perhaps the one that has earned the least enviable reputation is the wolf. There are several varieties of them, but their general characteristics are so similar that we only say that the various species are scattered over almost the whole globe, inhabiting both the burning regions of the tropics and the everlasting snows of the polar regions. They were at one time a great scourge in Wales, but King Edgar imposed a tax of three hundred wolves' heads annually on that country, and by the fourth year the breed was extinct.

They are very supicious animals, and stand in great awe of anything that looks like a trap, so that travelers have actually been saved by merely letting a piece of cord trail behind their carriage, and the wolves were so much afraid of this doubtful looking piece of cord that they dared not venture to risk approaching and being caught by it. Their bite consists of a sharp snap, and their jaws are so strong that if they bite a man's arm every tooth pierces to the bone. They are not at all particular as to their diet, and will eat almost every living thing, from human beings down to frogs, lizards and insects. Moreover, they are cannibals, and a sickly or weak wolf is sure to fall a victim to its companions, or if one of them gets besmeared with the blood of the prey that has just been killed, it will be hunted down and eaten by its ravenous associates.

Rural and Domestic.

Wood Carpeting.

The Scientific American describes the new wood carpeting which is coming into extensive use, as follows:

"The fabric is made of slats or more ornamental shapes, glued or cemented upon a cloth backing. The slats or strips of wood are different colors, and are arranged to produce all the effects of tesselated floors, mosaic work, etc., and being about a quarter of an inch in thickness, they will wear many years. They are finished in oil and fit together so tightly that the joints are as perfect as inlaid work. The surface thus produced can therefore be scrubbed, washed and oiled when needed, precisely like other floors made of ornamental woods, which floors they resemble in all respects when laid."

Cheap Vinegar.

Take a quantity of common Irish potatoes, wash them until they are thoroughly clean, place them in a vessel, and boil them until done Drain off carefully the water that they were cooked in, straining it, if necessary, in order to remove every particle of the potato. Then put this potato water into a jug or keg, which set near the stove, or in some place where it will be kept warm, and add one pound of sugar to about two and one half gallons of water, some hop yeast, or a small portion of whisky. Let it stand three or four weeks, and you will have excellent vinegar, at a cost of six or seven cents per gallon.

Soluble Glass.

Waterglass is now used extensively for cleansing oily cotton waste. It has been used to advantage in rope walks and jute factories; applied to walls and ceilings, it not only renders the wood comparatively fire proof, but prevents accumulation of fibrous dust. Two coatings applied to cement cisterns for holding water neutralize the effect of the lime in the cement, and prevent hardening of the water. Half a pint of silicate of soda, added to a pailfull of common lime wash, gives a beautiful gloss, and adds to its permanence, especially when exposed to the weather. A paste made of silicate of soda and asbestos is used as a cement on joints connecting sulphuric acid lead chambers. A paste made with common anthracite coal ashes gives a cement which will harden into stone in less than an hour.—For cheapness and facility of application in coating casks, in which grease is packed, kegs for lead ground in oil, hard cobbles, butter firkins, &c., to prevent soakage, silicate of soda is unequaled.—Industrial Record.

Cultivating the Better Varieties of Apples.

A tree that will yield a bountiful crop of superb apples every season will cost no more when purchased, will require no more care and no more land than a shy bearer, or one that yields inferio. fruit. On the subject of fine and large fruit M B. Batcman, a pomologist of extensive experience, writes as follows:

It has long been been a matter of dispute among pomologists, whether any varieties of apples should be commended as "good for market" which are not intrinsically of good quality, but only selling readily because of large size and fine appearance. Personly I have sided with those who took the negative of the question, and have consigned to the "rejected list" a number of big apples that have always been popular in the markets. In common with many others, I have thought that a majority of the people in our cities and towns would become educated up to a better appreciation of the qualities of fruits. But after thirty years of waiting and working I confess to finding so little evidence of progress that I have about concluded to let the people buy and eat mammoth pippins and pound apples as long as they choose to prefer them to the smaller and finer kinds. And if I were now to plant a new orchard for the markets I would plant a large proportion of the biggest and coarsest varieties to be found in the catalogues.

THE BEST APPLES FOR MARKETS.

During the last meeting of the American Pomological Society at Boston I made several visits to the fruit market there. I found the best qualities of medium sized apples, mostly from Michigan, selling from $4 to $5 per barrel—such as Porter, Gravenstein, and Maiden Blush—while $5 50 and $6 were freely offered for overgrown Calvers and twenty ounce apples, and even $7 for Alexanders, called there "Emperors." The same in the main was the case in the markets of New York and Philadelphia, with a slight improvement in the latter place, and the prices a little lower. All the good fruit came from Western New York and Michigan — the apple crop throughout New England and the other Atlantic States being almost a failure. The common remark of the fruit dealers in reference to the choice of varieties for market was, let them be large and bright colored and they will be sure to sell, no matter what the quality may be. Of winter apples the Rhode Island Greening is almost the only good selling variety that is not red or striped. The Fallwater sells finely after being kept in the dark till well colored, but the large red apples, like King and Hubbardton Nonsuch, will always bring the top price. Since writing the foregoing I have visited Buffalo, Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati, and Indianapolis, and find the remarks will apply to these as well as the Eastern cities.

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.
Sept 10-tf

LEMON'S Sulfine Dye Colors, at
PESCUD, LEE & CO'S.
Drug Store.
jan 14-tf

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ST. MARY'S RECTORY, ANTIGUA, W. I.
Sept. 14th, 1872.

To J. Bridger, Esq.,
Agent (in Antigua) for Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER

Dear Sir:

It is I think nearly twelve months ago that I first procured from you a small bottle of Perry Davis Pain-killer, but being able to obtain another medicine. Very many of my poor people came to me for medicine, and I gave at times especially for bowel complaints and the like, a few doses of Pain-killer. In a little time I began to receive unusual expressions of gratitude for the benefit derived from its use. This led me to more particular inquiries about it, and about its effects, which resulted in my using it more largely, and for more varieties of complaints, and wherever it was given, as far as I knew it without exception, it was, by God's blessing, a means of good; in most case curative in the worst cases. Very young infants and very aged persons have been restored by it, when apparently past all hope. It seems in most cases peculiarly adapted to the constitution of our laboring people, that I feel constrained to endeavor to extend the knowledge and employment of it which I can best do by such a communication as the present to yourself.

I have had comparatively little experience of its external application, but it has quickly, and as it seems effectually relieved some cutaneous diseases of a very malignant and dangerous kind, and I may add that its applications has saved for me several valuable sheep, suffering from Foot and Mouth disease. The sheep were to be destroyed when one of my children suggested the trial of Pain-killer, which almost at once checked the progress of the disease, and very shortly restored them to health and soundness all but two.

You are at liberty to make and use of this letter, and I shall be thankful if in your hands it contributes to extend the use and the benefits of a very valuable medicine.

I am Dear Sir, yours faithfully.
H. L. Read, M. A.,
Rector of St. Mary's, and Archdeacon of Antigua.
Sold by all the Druggists and Grocers.
Jan. 7-1 m.

Our Bodily Infirmities.

Physical infirmities are the lot of all. Millions are always sick! No man, woman or child uniformly in perfect health. Much how-ever, of the sickness and suffering which render life a burden in so many of our fellow beings is due to carelessness and neglect. A mighty antidote to the leading causes of disease has been provided. It is as harmless as it is efficient. No poisonous drug enters into its composition It is an undefiled stimulant tonic and aperient, of which every ingredient is vegetable. This unique palatable preventive and restorative medicine is not a "new thing under the sun. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will soon have been before the world a quarter of a century; and it is not too much to say that thousands, aye, tens of Dozens and hundreds now living, who would have been in their grave years ago had they no been strengthened and sustained by this whole some stimulant. The capital with which prime ministers often commence, when not, as a chief minister, is well known. This tonic is famous for the immediate check which it gives for the needless to deadly disorders The sensation of languor, the sick head-ache, the nervousness, the indisposition to exertion, the nausea, the confusion of brain, the plethora of body, which are intended to premonish us of the approach of serious danger, are invariably removed by a few doses of the Bitters The fame of the preparations as a genuine specific for dyspepsia, bilious complaints, indigestion, acescency and chronic debility, is as wide as the world; and in these days of infirm sanitarianism, when Bitter cathartics, that rob the mouths of the last remnants of it strength, are advertised as indigenous it is a luxury a blessing to mankind that there is one remedy to be met everywhere procurable, and every where popular.

Jan. 7-1 m.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely safe. Perfectly odorless. Always uniform. Burning only qualities superior to gas. Burns to any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to displace the use of coal oil and dangerous fluids. Is fully under every possible test, and its perfect burning qualities approved by its continued use in our own families. Requires a gallons less than coal oil, and is used exactly directly or indirectly—has never occured from burning, smoking or handling it.

The famous Astral may be safely and properly, reading from the use of cheap and dangerous oils in the United States, is appalling.

The Insurance Companies and Fire Commissioners throughout the country recommend the ASTRAL as the best safeguard when lamps are used. Send for circular.

CHAS. PRATT & CO., 108 Fulton Street, New York, proprietors.

Sold by Julius Lewis & Co., Raleigh—Authorized Agents.
Aug 27-6m.

THESE MERIT APPRECIATED.—Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been before the public many years Each year finds the Troches in some new, distant localities, in various parts of the world. Being an article of true merit, they are more used. The Bronchial Troches is appreciated, and they are kept always at hand, to be used on occasion requires. For Coughs, Colds, and Throat Diseases, the Troches have proved their efficacy. For sale everywhere.
July

BEST AND CHEAPEST FAMILY MEDICINE.—Sanford' Liver Invigorator—a purely Vegetable Cathartic and Tonic—for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Debility, Sick ache, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of Liver Stomach and Bowels. Ask your Druggist for it. Beware of imitations.
aug 26-12mo-w

DR. C. M'LANE'S
CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,
FOR THE CURE OF
Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,
DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weakness and debility; he is easily startled, feels cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distresses every reminder of several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASE OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to
FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders plain, and take special care that Dr. C. M'Lane's Liver Pills, made by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills, for twenty-five cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Storekeepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If you would have your children grow up to be healthy, strong, and vigorous Men and Women, give them a few doses of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,
TO EXPEL THE WORMS.
BE WARE OF IMITATIONS.

WANTED.

A young Lady of superior qualifications and four years experience, wishes a situation as Teacher, and in addition to the regular English course is prepared also to teach Latin and French For further particulars address Rev. T. R. Fe-ks, at Henderson N. C.
Dec. 21 4w.

REMOVED

The office and warehouse of the FALLS OF NEUS MANUFACTURING COMPANY have been remove from Nance to Raleigh, in the store recently occupied by W. H Jones & Co., adjoining the Raleigh National Bank. Correspondents please note the change.
G. ROSENTHAL,
Jan. -1m Sec. and Treas.

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAIWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Sunday, Dec. 7th, 1873.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS
Leave Charlotte	7.00 P. M	8.35 "
" Air-Line J'ct'n	7.15 "	8.50 "
" Salisbury	10.09 "	11.47 "
" Greensboro'	2.15 A. M	1.10 P. M.
" Danville	5.25 "	3.37 "
" Burkeville	11.40 "	8.06 "
Arrive at Richmond	1.35 P. M.	11.02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond	1.45 P. M.	1.05 A. M.
" Burkeville	4.58 "	8.28 "
" Danville	9.05 "	1.05 P. M.
" Greensboro'	1.16 A. M	1.05 "
" Salisbury	5.24 "	6.23 "
" Air-Line J'ct'n	6.32 "	8.53 "
Arrive at Charlotte	6.50 A. M.	9.00 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS.	MAIL.	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'	2.00 A. M	Arrive 12.30 A. M
" Co. Shops	2.25 "	12.05 "
" Raleigh	6.00 "	8.30 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'	11.45 A. M	Leave 2.00 P. M

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R
(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'..... 4.50 P. M.
Arrive at Salem..... 6.25 P. M.
Leave Salem..... 8.00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'..... 10.00 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways.
On Sundays Lynchburg accommodation leave Richmond at 9.45 A. M., arrive at Burkeville at 12.29 P. M.; leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.55 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, without change.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALBOT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	9.35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon	3.30 P. M.
Leave Weldon	3.55 A. M.
Arrive at Raleigh	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	4.45 P. M.
Arrive at Weldon	3.40 A. M.
Leave Weldon	2.21 A. M.
Arrive at Raleigh	9.15 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers to Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad to Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, &c, and from all points North and Northwest.

Also at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hayward and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air Line to Hamlet, and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, Oct 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sunday excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh	1.05 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford	6.05 "
Train leaves Sanford	6.15 A M
Arrives at Raleigh	9.2. "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh	3.45 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford	8.30 "
Leaves sanford	2.10 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	6.05 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad. Close connection also for Freight Trains eastward. Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

STIEFF'S PIANOS.

UPWARDS OF FIFTY
FIRST PREMIUMS
GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

Were awarded to CHARLES M. STIEFF, for the Best Pianos in competition with all the leading manufacturers in the country.

OFFICE AND WAREROOME—No. 9 N. Liberty Street, Baltimore, Md.

The Superiority of the Unrivalled Stieff Piano Forte, is conceded by all who have compared it with others. In their New Grand Square Scale, 7⅓ Octaves, the manufacturer has succeeded in making the utmost perfect Piano Forte possible.

Prices will be found as reasonable as consistent with thorough workmanship.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos always on hand, from $50 to $200.

We are agents for the celebrated Bardeli Cabinet Parlor and Church Organs all styles and prices, to suit every one, warranted to be fully equal to any made.

Send for illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 1,500 Southerners, (50 of whom are Virginians, 200 North Carolinians, 150 East Tennessians and others throughout the South,) who have bought the Stieff Piano since the close of the war.
april 6-1 m.

The Fruit Recipe Book will be sent 3 months on trial for 25 cts. Any subscriber for one year who will pay postage, 50 cts. We desire to have every subscriber for one year know what the PEOPLE SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES. Only 50 cents for 3 months. Specimen copies free. Address, THE PEOPLE, Rochester, N. Y. A reward will be given for the name of any person who will send us a list of 20 names of subscribers to the PEOPLE, Rochester, N. Y. Send for our Premium List. Small attractive to a boy. Just the thing to procure subscribers for home or market. Price 75 cts prepaid. A.M. PURDY, Palmyra, N.Y.

Gardener's Monthly

3 Months FREE

Oct 23-3m.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati.
apr 16—12m.

The Bright Mason,
—PUBLISHED AT—
CONCORD, N. C.
The Only Paper in the SOUTHERN ATLANTIC STATES,
Devoted Entirely to Masonic Interests.
Only One Dollar a Year!
Clubbing now, - - - - - 62½
Clubs of 20, or more, - - - - 75 cts.
Every MASON in the land should subscribe.
Address,
PUBLISHERS BRIGHT MASON,
Concord, N. C.
☞ A limited number of sundy eligible Advertisements will be received.
Jan. 7-4w

SCHOOLDAY MAGAZINE.
Eighteenth year. The Cheapest and Best Young Folks' Magazine published. A fine 50 Engraving PRIZE to every subscriber. GOOD PAY to Agents. Send a three-cent stamp for Specimen and "Book" to work with. Address the Publishers,
J. W. DAUGHADAY & CO.,
836 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Nov. 19 4w

BINGHAM SCHOOL,
MEBANEVILLE, N. C.
MAJ. R. BINGHAM, SUPT. | CAPT. T. L. NORWOOD
MAJ. W. R. LYNCH | W. T. QUARRELS, A. M.
TERMS PER SESSION OF TWENTY WEEKS, $161.
Spring session opens 14th January, 1874. Circulars sent on application.
oct 29 3m.

Established 1865.
CHARLES SIMON & SONS,
63 No. Howard St.,
BALTIMORE, MD.

Dealers in Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods, would call special attention to their spleudid stock of Dress Goods, Linen Goods, Embroideries, Laces, and Hosiery. The best assortment of Mourning Goods in the city.

SAMPLES SENT FREE!
All Orders amounting to $20.00
or over, will be sent free of freight charges by Express, but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their Goods sent C. O. D. must pay for return of money.
feb -12m.

The King of Sunday School Books,
"PURE DIAMONDS."

By JAMES R. MURRAY. Assisted by Geo. F. Root, H. R. Palmer, P. P. Bliss, J. M. Kieffer and a host of other popular writers of Sunday School Music.

No such genuine success ever known in the history of either books. Over 100,000 Copies have been sold in three months, and the demand is increasing daily. Price in boards 35 cts. single, $3 50 per doz.; $25 per hundred. Specimen copy in paper cover 25 cts.

S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Cleveland, O.

Send for a funny and pious Brainard's New Descriptive Catalogue of Selected Foundry Music. A selected list of choice music, containing full description of thousands of beautiful pieces of music. This new catalogue is invaluable to all musicians. Sent free to any address. S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Publishers, Cleveland, O.
Aug. 17-12m.

Established 1865.
CHARLES SIMON & SONS,
63 No. Howard St.,
BALTIMORE, MD.

Dealers in Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods, would call special attention to their splendid stock of Dress Goods, Linen Goods, Embroideries, Laces, and Hosiery. The best assortment of Mourning Goods in the city.

SAMPLES SENT FREE!
All Orders amounting to $20.00
or over, will be sent free of freight charges by Express, but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their Goods sent C. O. D. must pay for return of money.
feb -12m.

SACRED MUSIC BOOKS.
THE STANDARD!

Still as yet," and true to its name, keeps well to the front of all books for CHOIRS, CONVENTIONS and SINGING SCHOOLS. 128 pp. 3 oz. each, $3 and $3.50. Fifty-Cent Edition of Church Harmony. Price $4.50.

AMERICAN TUNE BOOK!

Contains over 600 of the very best tunes of the century. Has no superior as a collection of the most approved sacred music for Choirs and Conventions. 320 Pages. Price $4.50.

THE RIVER OF LIFE!

Is attracting the notice of all leaders of Singing in Sabbath Schools, as numerous testimonials in our possession abundantly show. Its adornment is our country—soon be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof. W. Merrick of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I can put this note, after using the PARENTLY ay EYE-GLASSES thirteen days, and the next writing I passed the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye. Truly am I rejoicing in your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles nearly forty; I am actually near-sighted."

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK.

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

K. C. Ellis, late Mayor, of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1872: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS and am satisfied they are good. I implore you not to quit them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 24 years."

Alex. K. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by yours I restored the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

Address us soliciting for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices &c., and please send their address to me, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE, containing hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957, No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worst cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our New PATENT MYOPIC A TACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money by getting large glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face.

AGENTS WANTED.

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The surest, simplest, cheapest, and most reliable. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $25 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send for address for full particulars. Send free of charge a sample address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
No 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. New York City, N. Y.
Sept 6-12m

THE NEW
Sunday School Song Book
ROYAL DIADEM
CONTAINS HYMNS ESPECIALLY ADAPTED TO THE
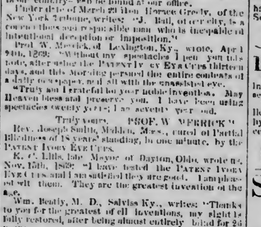
International Lessons
For 1873 and 1874
TOGETHER WITH AN INDEX PREPARED FOR THE CONVENIENCE OF SUPERINTENDENTS AND CHORISTERS.
☞ Provision is Made for Every Lesson.

ROYAL DIADEM
Is sold by the leading Booksellers all over the world
Retail Price, 35 cents; $30 per 100 copies.
☞ Ask your Booksellers for it.
BIGLOW & MAIN, Publishers,
(Successors to Wm. B. BRADBURY,)
NEW YORK AND CHICAGO.
Nov 5 4t eow

REMARBLE SUCCESS! One agent Made $112 in 4 days, and another $456 in 8 days, selling
OCEAN'S STORY.
A perfect Cyclopedia of Adventure upon, and Wonders beneath the great Oceans. 22 spirited engravings. Price extremely low; sells amazingly fast.—200 more live agents wanted for this and the only complete, popular and fast-selling history of
Livingstone 28 years in Africa
(the greatest success of the season.) Also our splendid new Bible, just ready and far excelling all others. Pocket Companion and full circulars free. Address HUBBARD BROS., Phila., Pa. or Cin., O
oct 1-1y.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.



Spectacles Rendered Useless.
Save Your Eyes,
RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.
Old Eyes made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by
Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.
Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.
Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their Sight permanently restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight; 3. Amaurosis, or Beginning of Vision, commonly called Blurring; 4. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—speedily healed with the Eye Cups—sure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages; 8. Injury or disease from the effects of Inflammation; 9. Pterigium, or Ingrowth of the Eye; 10. Myopia—Near-sightedness, Cataract, Specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; 13. Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Any one can use the Ivory Eye Cups without the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results. Whether your spectacles are of use or not, try these eye cups before you purchase. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,360 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from noted Farmers, Merchants and Merchants—some of whom are most eminent leading professional and business men, and whose names, if otherwise not in advertisement, is our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof. W. Merrick of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I can put this note, after using the PARENTLY ay EYE-GLASSES thirteen days, and the next writing I passed the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye. Truly am I rejoicing in your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles nearly forty; I am actually near-sighted."

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK.

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

K. C. Ellis, late Mayor, of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS and am satisfied they are good. I implore you not to quit them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 24 years."

Alex. K. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by yours I restored the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

Address us soliciting for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices &c., and please send their address to me, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE, containing hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worst cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our New PATENT MYOPIC A TACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money by getting large glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face.

AGENTS WANTED.

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The surest, simplest, cheapest, and most reliable. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $25 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send for address for full particulars. Send free of charge a sample address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
No 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. New York City, N. Y.
Sept 6-12m

CANFIELD BROTHER & CO.,
229 Baltimore St.,
BALTIMORE MD.
Gold Watches for Ladies & Gentlemen.

American Watches a specialty.
These Watches have an established reputation 2 years without repairing.
Diamonds, Rich Jewelery.
Coalings, Lockets, &c.
Gold Bead Chain.
Clocks, Bronzes, Vases.
Fancy Silver Ware for Bridal Gifts.
Triple Plated Tea Sets, Waiters, Ice Pitchers, Fruit Stands, Castors, Spoons and Forks. A complete stock of new style Plated Goods. Plane, Opera Glass and Rich Fancy Goods.
Our stock is large and prices moderate. Order have prompt attention. Medals and Badges Selected and Collected.
apr 24—12m.

DISSOLUTION OF CO-PARTNERSHIP.

The mercantile firm of WYATT, GREEN & CO., including that of TAYLOR & CO., was by mutual consent dissolved this day.

The business of the firm will hereafter be conducted in liquidation. All claims for or against, will be settled by their successors as they become due. The successors will be found at the old stand.

WYATT, GREEN & CO.
Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 1, 1873.
Dec. 10-tf

SUMMER REFRESHMENTS
AT MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY,
SUCH AS MOSELEY'S,
ICE CREAM SODA WATER
Something novel in itself. Come and try it.
MOSELEY'S ICE CREAM SALOON
For Ladies and Gents,
A FAVORITE PLACE ON WARM DAYS.
MOSELEY has too many things to mention. Come and see what you want, at
MOSELEY'S
Great Confectionery Emporium.
Jan 8-12m.

MARCY'S SCIOPTICON
With Improved and Cheapened
MAGIC LANTERN SLIDES.
For Homes, Schools and Lecturerooms
Still it is unrivalled. Brilliant and easy to show. Circulars Free. Catalogues 10cts.
SCIOPTICON MANUAL, Revised $1.50 cts.
L. J. MARCY, 1340 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.
Nov 26-tf

ONE HUNDRED BOXES ASSORTED CANDY
50 Boxes Fox's Starch.
LEACH BROS.
July 23-tf

$5 TO $20 per day! Agents wanted! All of either sex, young or old, making more money at work for us than at anything else. Particulars and sample sent free. Address G Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.
Sept 18-12m

W. B. Hutchings & Co.
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. | PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. | $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 4. | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1874. | WHOLE NO. 1,002

Selected Poetry.

Not Lost

The look of sympathy, the gentle word,
Spoken so low that only angels heard;
The secret act of pure self-sacrifice,
Unseen by men, but marked by angels' eyes—
These are not lost.

The secret music of a tender strain,
Wrung from a poet's heart by grief and pain,
And chanted blithely, with doubt and fear,
To busy crowds who scarcely pause to hear—
These are not lost.

The silent tear that falls, at dead of night,
Over soiled robes which once were pure and white;
The prayers that rise like incense from the soul,
Longing for Christ to make it clean and whole—
These are not lost.

The happy dreams that gladdened all our youth,
When dreams had less of self, and more of truth;
The child-like faith, so fair and so sweet,
Which sat [illegible]
These are not lost.

The kindly plans devised for others' good,
So seldom pressed, so ill the understood;
The quiet, cheerful love that strives to win
Some wanderer from the worldly ways of sin—
These are not lost.

Not lost, O Lord, for in that city bright
Our eyes shall see the past by clearer light,
And things long hidden from our gaze below
Thou wilt reveal, and we shall know
They were not lost.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

"Letters to a Young Itinerant." No. 1.

MY DEAR YOUNG BROTHER: In reading the minutes of the last Annual Conference for this State, as they were published in the Advocate, I have no language to express my gratification in seeing your name among the number of those who joined Conference and entered upon the regular work of the itinerant ministry. I have no doubt the step you have taken in this regard, has been, with you, one of great difficulty, involving many fears and misgivings, as well as much prayer and self-examination, and that, at last, it required no small degree of moral heroism, as well as an abiding sense of moral duty to enable you to decide the great and momentous question, and in obedience to convictions, you could not safely resist—and urged by a sense of duty as palpable as imperative, you have loyally, and, as I hope, freely and volumarily cast in your lot with those of [illegible] is written, "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that publisheth peace, that bringeth good tidings of good things."

I feel grateful to God that in His providence he has called you into this great work, and I find it in my heart to bid you God speed, and at the very threshold of your entrance upon it, to write you a word of counsel and encouragement—and if my letter runs into a sort of lecture, I hope it may be none the less timely and profitable, prompted, as you know it is, by an almost parental yearning and solicitude for your temporal, ministerial and spiritual success.

As I have intimated, I have no doubt you have carefully and prayerfully considered the importance of the work upon which you have just entered, and therefore, upon this point, will need little admonition, and yet I feel prompted to add in this connection, that you cannot well place too high an estimate upon the work of the ministry—before it every other human avocation shrinks into nothingness; compared with it, earthly positions of honor, fame and power are as worthless baubles. Its objects and purposes give a dignity and an exaltation to its ambassadors, that has no parallel on earth, and will only be fully comprehended and estimated in the "great day when the Books are opened," and while these estimates of the character and work of the ministry are not over drawn, there is in addition to all of them, in your case, what is distinguishing—distinctive and peculiar to the itinerancy to be remembered.—These are so marked and important, that I once heard an eminent itinerant observe that a call to the ministry which looked to the itinerancy required a consideration, preparation, zeal and courage on the part of the man, commensurate with the increased duties and responsibilities that the itinerancy demanded; and while he allowed the ministers of other denominations to claim all the importance and amplitude that they felt they were entitled to in regard to their calls to the ministry—he was of the opinion, after thirty-three years service in the regular itinerant work, that the itinerant ministry in point of ability, labors and sacrifices, and prospective rewards, stands at the head of the ministry of this age.

Now this brother was no fool or enthusiast—far from it; his crowning grace was his humility, and deep, earnest consecration to God. This enlarged (and what some would call an egotistic and extravagant) view of his work was founded upon a patient and profound study of the itinerant work.

Now whether he was right in the position he gave to our ministry in the work of evangelizing the world or not, I will not stop here to inquire; but allow me to suggest at this point, that if a profound study of the nature, extent and duties of the itinerancy, inspires a man with the earnestness and zeal, and rewards him with the success in winning souls to Christ, that from year to year crowned this faithful minister's labors—it is worthy of all imitation—yea, of a lifetime of toil, sacrifice and study to reap in the day of eternity the stars that by scores and hundreds will no doubt shine in his crown of rejoicing.

But were I competent, and were it necessary to hold up before you the work of the ministry in regard to its importance and responsibility, I did not expect in these familiar letters to dwell upon this point.—However exalted may be my views and estimates of the itinerant work, I trust yours are much more so. In the meantime, whatever information you may feel that you need in regard to your preparation for the pulpit, you will find amply set forth in two or three standard works on these points the study of which will enter into your regularly prescribed Conference course;—to these I refer you.

But what I propose in these familiar letters, is to call your early attention to several "matters and things" outside of all the Books, but in which an observation and experience of years has convinced me that many of our young preachers make grave errors—grave because they throw difficulties and impediments in their way, and to the extent that they do so weaken and destroy their influence for good.—Many of these errors, let it be remembered, arise from a want of experience. These I would like to point out in advance of this process. Many arise from thoughtlessness. To these I would awake attention and bestir prudence and care:—a few arise from a want of appreciation of their importances, or what is worse from an obstinacy which refuses to recognize them as defects either of character or conduct. Now in referring to these errors, I do not propose to maintain these distinctions, but will rather mention them in the order in which they may arise, and according to this plan, will take them up in my next letter.

Yours in Christ,

WATCHMAN.

Cedar Grove, January 1874.

For the Advocate.

Are You Invited to the Dance?

Stepping into a store and taking my seat by the stove to warm myself this morning, a kind and inconsiderate youth asked me, "Are you invited to the dance to night?" "No," said I, "and I hope no one will be inconsiderate enough to cast a reflection on my christian profession, by inviting me to a ball-room." He was a clever young man, and asked the question with the kindest of feelings, and I trust a more careful study of the scriptures will enlighten and impress his mind with the true idea of christian character. The incident brought to my mind several thoughts, some of which I shall ponder, hoping they may awaken reflection in the minds of some too much inclined, in this age of christian enlightenment, like them tutored wild men of the forest, to dance in thoughtless hilarity over the graves of their pious and departed mothers. Just here permit me to say, that I think no christian should consider it a compliment to be invited to a chicken-fight, a horse-race, or a circus; nor to commingle, in other scenes of an anti-christian nature, congenial with the feelings of the giddy and the gay; and so eagerly sought by toppling sons of bacchus.

We have in our town half a dozen ministers of the gospel. No church advocate of ball-room mirth would think of sending either of them a complimentary ticket to a dancing party. Regarding them as pious men of God, they deem it disrespectful to even intimate a wish for their attendance on such occasions. "Oh! we could not enjoy ourselves if the preacher was there." Of course not. Nor did those who desired the Saviour to "depart out of their coasts" enjoy his presence in their midst. If you are acting up to your christian duty in the ball-room, why should you feel unpleasant in the presence of your pious ministers on such an occasion? If it is inconsistent with the duty and dignity of a christian minister to attend dancing parties, or to get up balls in his own house for the amusements of his church, why should it not be wrong in others, professing to be actuated by the same high and ennobling sentiments of christian love and duty? If holiness of heart is essential to the purity of christian character in all, without which no one shall see the Lord, whence did men derive the idea that laymen have privileges of relaxations from duty ministers cannot exercise?

During Christmas of 1873 a member of a church appointed a night, the very night of the stated prayer meeting at his church, to have a dance at his house! It was during Christmas when in some localities there seems to be but little need of the pope's indulgence. About 70 persons attended the dance. But, alas! only four persons attended the prayer-meeting, and two of them hastened to the dance as soon as the prayer-meeting was over? Just think of it, 70 at the layman's ball, only four at the preacher's church meeting. If it would not subject me to the charge of being a fault finder, as a lady friend intimated to me not long since, I would venture a question or two for the consideration of those who prefer dancing parties to prayer meetings. If David had the right spirit within him, and felt as a pious man of God should feel, when he said "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord," did those who ignored sanctuary privileges and duties for the dance, feel as considerate and devotional as they should have felt? Were they glad of the high and inestimable privilege of invoking heavenly light and guidance, and of obtaining sustaining grace in the sanctuary of the Most High? St. Paul asked his Roman brethren, "Are we better than they?"

The spirit that prompts a man to ignore christian privileges and duties, and turn his feet from the house of God to the ball room, the grog-shop, the circus, the chicken fight, and the horse race, is not the spirit that leads one in reverence and humble submission to the foot of the cross of Christ. "By their fruits ye shall know them."

T. C.

Oxford, N. C. Jan. 15th.

Miss Laura C. Alexander---Death of Southern Actress.

It will be remembered by many readers of the Advocate that, about four years ago, Miss Laura Alexander, of Lincolnton, N. C., despite the remonstrances of her friends, entered upon the stage as a professional actress. She was induced to this by the hope of earning fame as well as supporting herself and her mother's family, who had been reduced from affluence to need. She belonged to one of the best families of Western North Carolina, several members of which have been distinguished in the history of the State. She was intellectual, proud and beautiful, and naught has ever been said against her that might leave a stain upon her character. The New York Tribune says of her death:

"Miss Laura C. Alexander, the young Southern actress who some years ago made her first appearance on the stage at the Holiday street Theatre, in Baltimore, died in New York, Thursday. During Christmas week she played Catherine in the comedy of "The Man of Honor," at Wallack's, New York, when sudden and serious illness caused her retirement from the stage.

It is the melancholy fact that a sense of professional failure preyed upon this young lady's mind, embittered her last moments and hastened her death. Sire presents, in brief, mother instance of the broken heart that sometimes follows in the track of disappointed ambition. She was of a generous nature and an enthusiastic mind, and she made the mournful but common mistake of thinking that those are dramatic genius and trained mimetic skill upon the stage, and she had not the patience to bear the burden of chagrin and sorrow that came of her thwarted aspiration. Her illness was more of the mind than of the body. It was brief—and she rests. Miss Alexander was a native of Charlotte, N. C., and was only twenty four years of age. Her career in public began four years ago at the Holiday Street Theatre in Baltimore, and she subsequently made a professional tour of southern cities under Mr. Ford's management, winning a great deal of that popular applause which it is easy—and in youth natural—to mistake for solid reputation. At a later time she was a member of the traveling company of Madame Janauschek, and her best professional experience appears to have been gained in the society of that excellent actress. More recently Miss Alexander was a member of the company at the Boston Theatre. Her talents were considerable. Her mind was well cultivated. She would have adorned domestic life in polished society. She might, under happier conditions, have risen to a fair rank upon the stage. It was not a fair rank that she coveted, but a brilliant eminence, and this being missed, her sad heart and broken hopes are laid in a premature grave."

READING THE BIBLE.—Read your Bible slowly. Take time, even if you have but little time. A great mathematician once said, if his life depended on solving a problem in two minutes, he would spend one of the two in deciding how to do it. So in reading the Scriptures; if you are pressed for time (and this ought to be a rare case), spend the precious moments on a portion of the chapter. When you feel that the mind and heart begin to drink in the sentiment, even of a single verse, then stop and drain the heavenly chalice, because the Divine Spirit is filling the cup.

There is none made so great, but he may both need the help and service, and stand in fear of the power and unkindness, even of the meanest mortals.—Seneca.

Selected.

Observations in the South.

BY THE REV. DR. STEVENS.

In a late article we treated of the condition and prospects of the colored people of the South, giving with some emphasis facts in their favor, but reminding the reader that these facts need qualification, and that we should speak with equal frankness of the counterfacts.

One of these is their indisposition to work with anything like Northern persistence. This is an undoubtable evil among the freemen. If it is not universal, yet it is general; of course you will find examples of thorough industry and frugality, especially where prudent and liberal employers direct their work, but such cases are not the rule, they are the exceptions, and so exceptional as really to be anomalous. The further you go Southward the more does this vanse act way of life prevail. The contingencies of sickness or old age are piously left to the care of Providence; to "live from hand to mouth" is the general economical philosophy of the freedman, and this is unfortunately too practicable a philosophy in the more Southern latitudes. An occasional "job" of work will yield him enough to live, with his simple wants, through days of idleness. Nothing demands more urgently the attention of the friends of freedmen than this prevalent and growing evil. There can be no real advancement of the colored race without its correction. Work, regular and thorough, like that of Northern artizans and farmers, is indispensabe, not only for the recovery of the South, but especially for the future security of the whole black population. Already plans are discussed, in many Southern States, for the importation of foreign white laborers. If the colored laborers should finally be thus superseded, it will be chiefly their own fault. They will then sink into a pariah class, or be self compelled to retreat, gradually, farther Southward and Westward, till they are cast among the New Mexicans, Mexican, and Central Americans. Some of their friends begin to fear such a fate for them. Some think they see already an unconscious tendency to such a migration.

Another great evil, growing, perhaps, out of the above fact is the disposition of the freedmen to desert their old country homes for the great cities. This is obvious in all the cities of the South, especially those of the seaboard. They are becoming crowded with suburban and poverty-stricken blacks, far beyond their demands for labor. The adjacent country thus suffers by desertion, while the cities suffer by puperism, and all the attendant evils of a superfluous, unemployed, or but partially employed, population. The white friends of the freedmen everywhere earnestly but ineffectually remonstrate against this impolitic course.

A lamentable evil among the people is the facility with which they allow themselves to be led by political demagogues, especially by the so called "carpet baggers." The fact that these men represent, in a certain way, Northern political sentiment, should not blind us to the egregious vices of their character and policy. The fact that they stand out, among the colored masses, in contrast with the old "masters," whose excessive "conservatism" might endanger the rights and improvement of the freedmen, should not disguise to us the appalling corruptions and financial ruin with which they are devastating whole States, and thereby forestalling, annihilating, the best prospects of their colored population. South Carolina is absolutely ruined; no statesman on earth no angel in heaven, can suggest a solution of her financial problem; none seems possible but the great crime of "repudiation." And this means simply moral ruin added to financial ruin. It is paltry logic to say that South Carolina, as the old leader of disloyalty, deserves this ruin. What of the hosts of her black population in that case? She is, substantially, a Commonwealth of freedmen; they are her dominant majority. Her ruin is their ruin. By their heedless concession to the "carpet baggers" they and their children, for indefinite time, are submerged, with their far less numerous white neighbors, in a public wreck which is hardly paralleled in the history of civilized governments. We would not here touch upon political ground foreign to our sphere; our readers know well that our political sympathies are on the side of the colored race and of all men who legitimately labor for their welfare in the South. But we know what we affirm when we say that the "carpet bag" politicians are unscrupulously ruining the cause which they pretend to uphold. Not a few of them are men who were furious secessionists till their cunning detected the coming fate of the Confederacy when they changed their politics in time to secure the patronage of the Government and the favor of the freedmen. The latter now have the control of several States at the ballot box, and in every one of such States their leaders have been driving them to destruction. Official and political corruption are rampant. The freedmen are cajoled; the leaders are enriched; and the States wrecked. Northern politicians should understand these facts; the Government at Washington should ponder them gravely. The dominant party of the North can never wield a permanent influence in the South till it gets rid of the shameful prestige of the men who have for some years pretended to represent it among the freedmen, while ruining whole States and enriching themselves by the spoils.

Meanwhile, there are scattered over these abused States true and imporruptible men—men who went thither with our armies, or soon after, led by Christian or philanthropic motives, to labor for the freedmen; but they are helpless against the political leaders and their cliques. Their moral integrity is their proscription.

But let us hope that their day may yet come. It seems to be coming in Florida, at least. Could the corrupt cliques be exterminated, root and branch, the freedmen would have a new emancipation, only second in importance to their first.

We have proposed to say something further on the religious condition of the freedmen, but as we wish to present these "observations" with all possible brevity and distinctness, we shall treat that subject separately hereafter.—New York Methodist.

Northern Missions in the South.

The Nashville Advocate, in its notice of the missionary appropriations of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 1874, says:

It thus appears that more than half of the appropriations are to domestic missions. The Southern States are the most favored, e. g., Alabama Conference, $11,000; Arkansas, $7,000; Florida, $5,000; Georgia, $10,500; Holston, $8,000; Kentucky, $7,500; Lexington, $2,500; Louisiana, $9,000; Mississippi, $9,500; Missouri, $6,000; North Carolina, $10,000. St. Louis, $2,000; South Carolina, $10,000; Tennessee $11,000; Texas, $7,000; Virginia, $12,000; West Texas, $6,000; West Virginia, $5,500; besides other appropriations made to Conferences that lie within our bounds, according to the Plan of Separation. All this agrees with the policy of disintegration and absorption inaugurated by our quondam brethren. This, taken in connection with the late deliverances of Bishop Haven, shows the animus of the Northern Church.

Bishop Haven has recently outraged all decency in his letters concerning the South. He censures his own Conference in Tennessee for not receiving a white preacher who had been living in illicit connection with a negress for many years, and then went off to a State which allows of miscegenation and married her! He denounces the States which disallow of such marriages—including, perhaps, most of the States in the Union. He reports cock and bull stories about the past treatment of slaves in Tennessee, such as whipping them daily before breakfast, forcing them to commit suicide, etc., as if anybody with a grain of common sense would credit such stupid falsehoods! Any story from any deserter from our ranks seems to be seized upon by him with avidity, if it will only prejudice our interests. The truth is he seems to be exasperated because no decent white person in the South—with a few exceptions, principally of Northern men who have come among us—will have anything to do with him and his bogus converts. They are disgusted with his recent descriptions of dusky 'Vennses,' and advocacy of miscegenation, which is so abhorrent to the sentiments of both blacks and whites. Decent negroes feel degraded by association with 'the poor white trash' which he gathers around him.

There is no use under the heavens for his connection in the South—all white Methodists should belong to the church legally recognized by the Plan of Separation; and all colored Methodists to the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church organized according to the provisions of our General Conference.

What, then, shall we say of these immense appropriations of the Northern Church for missionary operations in the South? We say this: Our Northern brethren had much better take the money and throw it into the depths of the sea. We speak advisedly—they are taking the Lord's money, which ought to be appropriated to the evangelization of the heathen, and with it fomenting strife and discord and schism. Those who are engaged in this unholy work may well say that they want no fraternization with us, and hope the fraternal messengers appointed by a provision of their late General Conference will not show themselves next year at Louisville. As to organic union they no more expect it nor desire it than do we—and, like us, they wonder at those who do. We write this more in sorrow than in anger. It grieves us to see a great church, which wields so powerful an influence, and which could do so much for the regions beyond, wasting so much money and labor for that which not only profiteth not, but which brings our common Methodism into contempt, and strengthens the hands of the wicked. We express, perhaps, the sentiments of ninety nine out of every hundred among us, and we have reason to believe that it is shared by thousands in the Northern Church.

Extravagance in Dress in the 17th Century.

The following, which we have managed to pick up and we don't know hardly how, where or when, would lead one to believe that our fair ones knew something of fine dresses and false head ornaments over an hundred years ago, and it, also, seems that the present style of dressing practiced by the ladies of this country is only a revival of some of the customs of ages past and gone. We give it just as we find it and hope that no one will ask any questions:

An eminent divine of the Court of King James 1. thus speaks in the presence of his majesty in the year 1607. 'Oh, what a wonder it is to see a ship under saile, with her tacklings and her mast, and her tops and her top-gallants, with her upper decks and her nether decks, and so bedecked with her streames, flags and ensigns, and I know not what; yea, but a world of wonders it is to see a woman, created in God's image, so miserable oft times and deformed with her French, her Spanish, and her fulish fashions that he that made her, when he looks upon her, shall hardly know her with her p'unes, her fans, and a silken vizard, with a ruffe, like a sail: yea, ruffe like a rain bow, with a feather in her cap, like a flagge in her top, to tell (I think) which way the wind will blow. * * It is proverbially said, that far fetcht and deare bought is fittest for ladyes; as nowadays what groweth at home is base and homely, and what every one eates is meat for dogs; and wee must have bread from one countrie, and drinke from mother; and wee must have meate from Spaine, and sauce out of Italy; and if wee weare anything, it must be pure Venetian, Roman, or barbarian; but the fashion of it must be French.'

Merchant Royal preached at Whitehall, before the Kings Majestie, at the nuptialls of Lord Hay and his Lady, Twelfth day, 1607.

Denominational Earthquakes.

It seems as if all the denominations of Christians are to be split The Episcopal Church is divided into high Church and low; the Baptist into close communion and open communion; the Presbyterian is divided into strict and liberal constructionists of the standards. In the reformed Church are those who have introduced responses into ordinary worship. The Congregationalist Church is at this time divided on the subject of discipline.

Now we are not in favor of anarchy, but we are glad to have this mixing up of things in general. We think that the tendency is to make the differences between evangelical denominations less and less. If people love God and try to serve him, it is of no importance what they call themselves. A cold state of religion is favorable to formalities. General revivals of religion always melt down denominational asperities. During the revival of 1857, you could not tell where people belonged, you only knew them as Christians. Out of the chaos of broken up denominations God will build a new world of faith and Christian consecration such as we have never seen. Then let the ecclesiastical earthquakes go on, they will rock down nothing but that which ought to perish.—Christian at Work.

Blushing

Darwin, in his new work on 'The Expression of the Emotion in Man and Animals,' has an interesting chapter on blushing. This act he tells us, is the most peculiar and the most human of all expressions. Animals never blush, although monkeys redden from passion. We cannot produce blushing by any physical means, it is the mind which must be affected; and blushing is not only involuntary, but the wish to restrain it increases the tendency.—While the young blush more freely than the old, infants don't blush; women blush more than men; the blind and deaf do not escape. It is usually the face, ears and neck only that redden; the blush does not extend over the body; but certain races who go habitually nearly naked, blush over their arms and chests, and even down to their waists. The limitation of blushing to exposed parts is explained by the fact that these portions of the surface have been habitually exposed to the air, light and alterations of temperature, by which the small arteries acquire the habit of readily dilating or contracting. Hindoos blush but little; the Chinese rarely blush; the Polynesians blush freely; the young squaw of the American tribes has been seen to blush; the Kaffirs of South Africa never blush, neither do the Australians.

An Ohio youth who desired to wed the object of his affections, had an interview with her paternal ancestor, in which he stated that although he had no wealth to speak of, yet he was "chock full of day's work." He got the girl.

A Cannon Ball in the Hat.

A writer, after describing how, when a boy, he stole a cannon ball from the Navy Yard at Charlestown, Mass., and with much trepidation and more head ache, carried it away in that universal pocket of youth—his hat—winds up with the following reflection:

'When I reached home, I had nothing to do with my shot. I did not dare to show it in the house, nor tell where I got it; and after one or two solitary rolls, I gave it away on the same day to a Prince streeter.

'But after all, that six pounder rolled a good deal of sense into my skull. I think it was the last thing I ever stole (except a little matter of a heart, now and then), and it gave me a notion of the folly of coveting more than you can enjoy, which has made my whole life happier. It was rather a severe mode of catechising, but ethics, rubbed in with a six-pounder shot are better than none at all.

'But I see men doing the same thing—going into underground and dirty vaults, and gathering up wealth which will, when got, roll around their heads like a ball, and be not a whit softer because it is gold, instead of iron, though there is not a man in Wall street who will believe that.

'I have seen a man put himself to every humiliation to win a proud woman who had been born above him, and when he got her, he walked all the rest of his life with a cannon ball in his hat.

Prayer.

Every true prayer is the voice of the Spirit speaking through the heart: 'the breath of God in man.'

Let the day have a blessed baptism by giving your first waking thoughts into the bosom of God. The first hour of the morning is the rudder of the day.

It was a choice saying of Austin, 'Every saint is God's temple, and he who carries his temple about him, may go to prayer when he pleaseth.'

I once thought in my ignorance that most people said their prayers, and many people prayed. I have lived to think differently. I have come to the conclusion that the great majority of professing Christians do not pray at all.

Where there is no heart, there may be lip work and tongue work, but there is nothing that God listens to—there is no prayer. Saul, I have no doubt, said many a long prayer before the Lord met him on the way to Damascus. But it was not till his heart was broken that the Lord said, 'he prayeth.'

A man may preach from false motives. A man may write books, and make fine speeches, and soar diligent in good works, and yet be a Judas Iscariot. But a man seldom goes into his closet, and pours out his soul before God in secret, unless he is in earnest. The Lord Himself has set His stamp on prayer as the best proof of a true conversion. When he sent Ananias to Saul in Damascus, He gave him no other evidence of his change of heart than this: 'Behold he prayeth.' (Acts ix. 11.)

On the rocks by the seashore I have seen marine creatures living when the tide was out; not in the briny pools it leaves, but off the dry and naked rock—in the withering air—in the burning, broiling sun. They lived, because, when twice each day the foaming tide came in, and rising, covered the rocky shelf they clung to, they opened their shut and shelly mouths to drink in water enough to last them when the tide went out, and till the next tide came in. Even so, twice a day also at the least, are we to replenish our thirsty souls—fill our emptiness from the ocean of grace and mercy that flows free and full in Christ, to the least of saints and chief of sinners. In him dwelleth all the Godhead bodily.—Dr. Guthrie.

THE DANGER OF CARRYING BABIES TO WEDDINGS.—On Wednesday night of last week a wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. Jane Davis, not far from Buckingham Court House. Among the guests were Mr. Wm. Carter a nephew of Mrs. Davis, who was accompanied by his wife and her infant child. Upon arriving at the house, Mrs. Carter laid her child, which was asleep, on a bed and spread her shawl over it. Other guests came also, and not observing the child threw their shawls carelessly on the bed, and when the mother went to look after it, some time after her arrival, she found it dead, having been smothered to death by the shawls which had been thrown upon it. This sad accident changed a scene of gayety into a scene of mourning, and our informant, who was present, says he has never in the course of a long life witnessed anything like the agony of the mother as she clasped her dead child in her arms, and of the sympathizing friends who gathered around her when the heart-rending accident became known to them.—Lynchburg (Va.) News.

Varieties.

Prudent men lock up their motive; letting familiars have a key to their heart, as to their garden.—Sir Astone.

He that calls a man ungrateful, sums up all the evil that a man can be guilty of.—Swift.

He submits to be seen through a microscope, who suffers himself to be caught in a fit of passion.—Lavater.

He who seldom speaks, and with one calm, well timed word can strike dumb the loquacious, is a genius or a hero.—Lavater.

Quotation, sir, is a good thing: There is a community of mind in it: classical quotation is the parole of literary men all over the world.—Johnson.

A cheerful temper, joined with innocence, will make beauty attractive, knowledge delightful, and wit good-natured. It will lighten sickness, poverty and affliction; convert ignorance into an amiable simplicity, and render deformity itself agreeable.—Addison.

A short word it was, but expressive, that Mr. Froude threw at the New York reporter's head when he asked the historian how he pronounced his name, "Like double o in fool, sir!"

An Indiana Sunday school man writes to a firm in New York: "Send me on some Sunday school papers and books. Let the books be about pirates and Indians as far as possible."

A boy whose principles were correctly established, was pressed by others to take some pears, as nobody was there to see. "Yes, there was," said he; "I was there to see myself; and I don't intend ever to see myself do a dishonest thing."

At the completion of the new court house in Hartford, many years ago, several lawyers went to see the building. On their way they were met by Dr. S., who, learning their object, remarked to them that they were going "to view the ground where they must shortly lie."

"I don't believe much in the Bible," said a collegian to an old Quaker.—"Does thee believe in France?" "Yes, I do. I never saw it, but I have plenty of proof that there is such a country." "Then thee does not believe anything unless thee or thy reliable friends have seen it?" "No, be sure I won't." "Did thee ever see thy own brains?" "No." "Did thee ever know anybody that has seen they brains?" "No." "Does thee believe thee has any brains?"

A witty Cincinnati lady, writing from Washington, says: "Boston draws herself up severely, scans your cerebral developments through her eyeglass, and coolly asks: 'What do you know?' New York displays her silks and diamonds, and pertly asks: 'What are you worth?' Philadelphia, with prim hands and pursed up lips, asks: 'Who was your grandfather?' While Washington, steps between the waltz and the german to inquire, "Can you dance?"

A lady writes:

"A womanly woman never gets jammed, or crowded, or pushed. I am neither young nor pretty, but I never stand, nor am I shut out. Do you know why? Simply because I never push. If I do get in a crowd, and pushed before a man, I beg pardon, and try to step back and give him his place. Do you suppose he lets me? Never. On the contrary he will help me forward, and I thank him, and then he helps me more. No man but what will help a quiet lady; but don't they one and all like to be rude to a masculine woman? I firmly believe they all do, and for it we have only to thank the woman's right movements."

Andrew Jackson was once making a speech in a country village out West. Just as he was concluding, Amos Kendall, who sat beside him, whispered, 'Tip 'em with a little Latin, General, they won't be satisfied without it.' The 'Hero of New Orleans' instantly thought of a few phrases he knew, and in a voice of thunder, wound up his speech by exclaiming: 'E pluribus unum. Sine qua non, Ne plus ultra. Multum in parvo.' The effect was tremendous and the shouts could be heard for miles.

GOVERNOR SAFFORD of Arizona plainly describes the class of people that don't get along in the West. He says that 'gentlemanly farmers, who commence without means and have hired all their work done, will undoubtedly be obliged to quit the business; and those who have invested the largest portion of their crops in poor whiskey at twenty-five cents per glass will hardly be able to meet their obligations and inspire sufficient confidence to obtain credit in the future.' That style of doing business is equally unsuccessful in the East.

It is a striking remark, ascribed to Augustine, that prayer is the measure of love,—a remark which implies that those who love much will pray much, and those who pray much will love much.

The Christian Advocate.

RALEIGH, N. C., JANUARY 28, 1874.

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

Terms.

For one year, single copy, in advance $2.00.
For six months, single copy " " 1.00
If payment be delayed six months, 2.50

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us more will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters for the office should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount in hand. If money is sent otherwise than herein specified it will be at the sender's risk.

REGISTERED LETTERS.—Persons sending money to the Advocate by registered letter will remember that the rate has been reduced from fifteen to eight cents.

ACT PROMPTLY.—Those of our patrons to whom bills have been sent will please renew at once, or notify us in some way whether or not they wish the paper continued. If we hear nothing from them we shall be under the unpleasant necessity of erasing their names from our books.

New subscribers to the Advocate can, if so desired, be supplied with back numbers containing the proceedings and appointments of the late session of our Conference.

The ministers in our Conference will oblige us by sending to our office the number and names of the post offices within the bounds of their respective charges, so that we may furnish each with a list of subscribers and bills for delinquents.

We make this small reasonable request of all our subscribers. Will you not use your influence, each, to send us at least one new subscriber? All of you have personal friends.—Some of them, perhaps, do not take the ADVOCATE. By your influence they may be induced to take it. Make the effort, and we believe it will be successful.

Those of our preachers who wish a change in their post office address will please notify us, and we will forward to them the ADVOCATE with back numbers from the first of the year. The preachers who joined at the last session of our Conference are also requested to inform us where they wish the ADVOCATE sent.

PRESS THE CANVASS.—Many of our brethren are earnestly pressing the claims of the Advocate, and we are gratified at the large number of renewals and new subscribers which are coming in, daily. Let all whose time has expired renew promptly. Don't say, "Stop my paper." You need it, and the price is too low to plead poverty as an excuse.

Rev. W. S. Black, Presiding Elder of the Wilmington District, writes that he has reached his work, and that he is comfortably settled down at Magnolia.

Rev. Dr. Closs gave us a call last week. He informed us of a somewhat remarkable co-incident in his experience. Just twenty years ago he closed his labors as Presiding Elder on the Washington District at Warrenton. After a lapse of twenty years he began his labors on the same District, at the same place and in the same church.

THE ASSESSMENT PLAN.—A good brother, and a steward in our church, writes that he would like to reply to our article of last week on the assessment plan. We shall be happy to hear from this brother on the subject. He is a gentleman of intelligence, and a true friend to Methodism. The question of church finances should engage the thoughtful attention of the whole church. It will do good to have the subject discussed through the columns of the ADVOCATE by our lay brethren.

NO PREMIUMS.—We offer no premiums for subscribers this year. We have not the ability to do so, and if we did, it is of questionable propriety whether a religious paper should hold out such inducements. A church paper should be circulated upon higher grounds than mere personal considerations. Each copy of the ADVOCATE costs more than the price asked for it. It ought to be $2.50 a year. If we had ten thousand subscribers at $2, it would yield some profit to the office. Our object in urging its circulation is to extend its field of usefulness, and not for the revenue it brings to the office. The only source of income from the ADVOCATE is the advertising, which we should be glad to exclude from our columns altogether if our subscription list would justify it.

We are pleased to learn from Bro. Robey that the spring session of Davenport Female College has opened well. It commenced with a larger number of students than any former session since his connection with the Institution as President.

Denominational Statistics.

From the New York Methodist we get the following statistics of the religious bodies of the United States.—They are carefully prepared by Prof. A. J. Schem, from the official publications of the churches up to November 1873. It will be seen that they differ materially from those of the United States Census. According to these tables the Methodists of all branches number 2,525,408; Baptists, 1,725,101; Presbyterians, 736,973; Disciples, (Campbellites) 500,000; Lutherans, 487,195; Congregationalists, 318,916; Protestant Episcopalians, 247,643; Reformed Church, (German) 132,195; United Brethren in Christ, 125,464; Evangelical Association, (Albrechts) 83,195; Reformed Church, (Dutch) 64,214; Universalists, 60,000; Unitarians, 30,000.

From these statistics, which are said to be accurate, it will be seen that the Methodist Church outnumbers all others in her communicants.—The Baptists, the next highest, falls below the Methodists 800,307. With such an organization, properly trained and thoroughly indoctrinated it would be impossible to estimate its stupendious achievements in the field of Christian duty and toil. We cannot ignore the fact, however, that it is not always the largest army that gains the victory. A few regiments, well drilled, and fully equipped for battle, always has the advantage in the contest over vastly their superior in numbers of raw recruits and untried soldiers. As a church, we are defective at this point. We need to be trained—disciplined for the legitimate work of the church, utilizing all her forces, and rising to a full development of her vast resources. What is true in this respect of the Methodist Church, is true of all others. None are exempt. As a church, if our Methodist people in North Carolina were trained in every department of Christian duty, thousands would early be gathered into her folds, and made the happy recipients of saving Grace, who are now strangers to the covenant of promise. Old churches now dotting our State from the seaboard to the mountains, would be torn down and new ones erected in their stead. Our institutions of learning would be built up and have thrown around them the fostering care of a great church, whose treasury has so long been closed against them in spite of their necessities and loud appeals. We are not only numerically strong, but financially strong—vastly more so than we are willing to admit.

BISHOP HAVEN.—Rev. W. C. Graves, of the Northern Church, in a late number of the Methodist Advocate, takes Bishop Haven to task concerning his policy in the South. It reveals to us what we have not before seen in print, although we have been repeatedly assured of the fact, by persons occupying unofficial positions, that the M. E. Church does not endorse his views to which the M. E. Church, South, takes exceptions. We have waited long to see his Episcopal Brethren demur, and for the official organs of the Church North, to brush off the odium, which he (Haven) has cast upon them by advocating his social doctrine, and marriage between the blacks and whites. If they will denounce the policy, as we believe they should, we will accept their denunciation in good faith, but until this is done, we are left to the conviction that he is sustained by his church. Here is what the correspondent of the Methodist Advocate says:

"They (the Southern Methodist leaders) are evidently greatly encouraged by the rather singular course of Bishop Haven. He is placed at the head and front of all the offending, and every thing that Bishop Haven does or says must of necessity, in their view, be law and Gospel in the Methodist Episcopal Church. It is known to Bishop Haven, and has been acknowledged by him, that the views that he has expressed, and to which exceptions have been taken by those Southern editors, are not entertained by the Methodist Episcopal Church in the North, and so far as my knowledge and observation goes, in the South there is scarcely a man, woman, or child in the Methodist Episcopal Church that would subscribe to some of his singular notions."

What does it all mean?

We are pained to announce the death of sister Young, wife of Mr. S. H. Young, which occured at her husband's residence near the city, on the 18th inst. She was an estimable lady a devoted Christian, and an active member of Edenton Street Church. We extend to our bereaved brother our warmest sympathies in his severe affliction.

Rev. J. N. Somers writes: "Our first quarterly meeting has passed. Bro. Wood was with us, manifesting his usual zeal. He made a big speech for the ADVOCATE. We intend to work up our people on this point."

This is the way we love for our preachers to talk. It means earnestness. Let all determine to wake up an interest concerning the circulation of the ADVOCATE in every charge.

Rev. A. D. Betts has been kindly and warmly received by the churches on his charge. He is pleasantly located within a short and convenient distance of Carolina Female College, whose advantages his family can enjoy. Rev. J. K. Tucker, with three assistants, has charge of said College.

We will send the Advocate free for one year to any person sending us ten new subscribers.

Temperance Legislation.

Among other matters claiming the attention of our Legislature is one touching the sale of intoxicating liquors in towns, villages and neighborhoods. A bill for the prevention of the sale of liquor to minors has passed the House of Representatives, is now before the Senate, and we hope will become a law.

The demand for such legislation is greater than ever before, and our law-makers are not indisposed altogether to make concessions to those demands. The temperance movement has spread rapidly in this State as in others of the Union, and has excited an interest among, and enlisted the sympathies and co-operation of, a class of persons never before reckoned among the advocates of total abstinence and prohibition laws, (using these terms with reference to the use and sale of liquors).

The movement of late years has assumed an importance which negatives the idea that it is one of those periodical or spasmodic efforts that society makes to become virtuous, and that call into service enthusiasts and fanatics who run a mad tilt or two with certain forms of vice, and then retire in disgust or despair if vice has the effrontery to lower its visor and splinter a lance in defence of itself.—It is not a sickly resolve of the "morning after," made amid the fumes that linger and the remorse that comes with the memory of a debauch overnight; but it is deep seated, earnest reform—based upon principle and not upon nervous headaches,—a reform led by earnest men, and taking hold upon every class of society. It is so extensive and important that it has a right to be heard, and embraces so many suffragists that their Representatives cannot safely turn a deaf ear to the demands for legislation in its behalf.

The Legislature, while agreeing heretofore, to pass prohibitory or local option laws for certain localities, has refused to pass a general law, either prohibitory or local option, affecting the whole State. Why they have refused we cannot divine. It may be that the dread of encountering the anger of influential liquor sellers has deterred many from favoring such laws. Some politicians consider that to retain the favor of such influential persons is of far more value than the good of the community and the favor of sober, industrious, orderly members of society.

The opposition of others may be induced by conscientious but mistaken notions of the purposes and effects of such legislation. Some excuse, more or less plausible, is always given. One urges that it is an interference with the right of men to adopt such means of livelihood as they think proper, and that it is unwarranted and inconsistent with our Republican notions of liberty. He does not reflect that there is a certain amount of liberty that every one who belongs to society and enjoys its benefits surrenders, and which society, through its laws, claims the right to restrain him in, and that is the power to do wrong and inflict injury upon men individually and collectively. When he enters society he not only signs away his right to let his passions run riot without regard to the good of others, but impliedly places the control of his conduct in society's hands, and makes it the judge of what it is right and wrong, proper and improper, for him to do. Self-preservation is the first law of a community of persons, as it is of human nature, and if it is shown that the use of intoxicating liquors is hurtful to a community, then that community has the right, in the proper way, to prevent their use, and if that, then the power to prevent whatever facilitates and increases their use—namely, the sale thereof.

No one, after having witnessed the effects of intoxicating liquors, can doubt either that they are ruinous to a community, or that the free sale contributes to the free use of them.—To deny the right of the law-making power to prohibit such sale, is the same as to deny its right to prevent a man from following the vocation of a robber or murderer, or to say that the sanitary board of a city has not the right to prevent the sale of decayed vegetables, or to quarantine against vessels from ports infected with the plague.—Self protection prompts and justifies the law in both cases, and the good of many demands the sacrifice of what one or a few would otherwise have the right and power to do.

Another says that to prohibit the liquor traffic would interfere with the law of supply and demand;—that there being a demand, it is to the trading interests of a community that there shall be a supply of the thing demanded, and that whatever wilfully cuts off the supply is unjust to those who create, as well as those who wish to fill the demand, and therefore violates the first principles of political economy. When political economy and morality come in conflict, it is not difficult to decide which should prevail. When the trading interests of a community are put in a scale with its moral and physical health, it is easy to tell which should kick the beam. If a town cannot prosper save by the traffic in liquor, in whose sparkle shines the glare of hell, it were better far that all commercial prosperity should languish than that the people should be given over to the rough mercies of the demon.

Another says that "it is an attempt to legislate virtue into men." If that could be done it would be worthy of the attempt. It is not so wrong after all, nor trespassing upon the province of the church, to force men to do right. All laws relating to human action are made for that very purpose; their end is to make men better—to put down vice and elevate virtue for the respect of men, if not to enthrone it in their hearts; and if temperance legislation will effect it or contribute to that end, it should receive the earnest support of all good men and citizens.

Others, still, who regard a full treasury the highest end of government, oppose such a law because it will lessen the revenue of the State. It were better to have a depleted treasury than that it should be filled at the cost of the ruined happiness, honor, and usefulness of its citizens; better that it should be empty than that every coin which drops into it from the liquor vender's hand should ring a mockery to the tears that fall from orphans' eyes, and the groans that misery wrings from the blighted lives of wives and mothers. But it is a mistake to suppose that the sale of liquor assists the government. It may increase the revenue, but it takes away more than it gives. The court-dockets, the prison cells and pauper-houses of any county will give ample proof that Rum has been their most faithful recruiting agent, and that their expenses far exceed the petty revenue arising from the license system,—to say nothing of the loss occasioned to the productive industries of a community by the idleness and vagabondism which, like black shadows and taunting fiends, keep close in the wake of bar-room frequenters.

There is no real valid objection that can be urged to temperance legislation and we hope that something may be done to cure the evils of which our country, with its thousand tongues, so bitterly and so justly complains.

We may have more to say upon this subject, at some future time.

Queries and Notes.

A brother desires us to give the Scriptural view of the petition in our Lord's Prayer—"Lead us not into temptation." The Scriptural doctrine is that God tempteth no man to sin, yet in Gen. xxii, 1 we read that "God did tempt Abraham" as a test of his faith, and to fully satisfy him of the sufficiency of Divine Grace under severe trials. Our Saviour, in this petition, instructs us to call upon God the Father to lead or bring us not into severe temptations, but to deliver us from sore piercing trials. Keep us from being tempted, or if tempted, make a way for our escape. According to some of our best authorities the petition, bring us, 'lead us not into', is a mere hebraism—a peculiar expression or manner of speaking in the Hebrew language—a Hebrew idiom.—God often permits men, in His Divine providence to be tempted, but never leads them into it. In every temptation, he is pledged to make a sure way of escape, and he will fulfill that pledge in every believer's experience who earnestly seeks deliverance. For a better and more satisfactory solution of the whole question, we refer our esteemed brother to the following portions of Scripture: Matt. xxvi, 41; Luke viii, 13; 1 Cor. x, 13; 1 Peter, 1-6; II Peter, 2-9. Dr. Summers, in his Notes on the Gospels, draws a nice distinction between Providential trials and solicitations to sin. The latter kind of temptation, he says, never comes from God, but from the world, the flesh and the devil. We may pray, he says, to be kept from these, as well as not to be brought into the former, though when the trials of life do come upon us, we must be patient and even prayerful under them, as they can be over ruled for our good. God oftentimes chastens his people as a means of reviving their decaying graces, and to more fully establish them in the faith of the Gospel

We are requested to give an answer to the following question:

"If the heathen can be saved without a knowledge of Christ, why send them the Bible—why spend so much money in the Missionary cause?"

The simple and comprehensive answer to this question is—God has commanded and we must obey. "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." Mark xvi, 15. Those who have the gospel are held responsible for its dissemination among those who have it not. All men are sinners: "As by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; so death passed upon all men for that all have sinned." Romans v. 12. Into all the world.—Heathens compose a part of the whole;—they must, therefore, share in the benefits of the atonement provided. They must have the "gospel preached unto them."

It is true we are taught that "the Gentiles, which have not the law, do by nature the things contained in the law, these, having not the law, are a law unto themselves." Romans 2, 14. While the apostle does not affirm, he clearly implies that the law is sometimes truly fulfilled by the Gentiles.—In heathen dispensations, nature is not alone and unaided. "Through a universal, though unknown Saviour," says Dr. Whedon, "is dispensed a universal spirit, a universal drawing of the Father. There may be a virtual Christian faith and acceptance where there is no known Christ—a faith that secures pardon for short coming in keeping the law."

Aristotle is quoted by Wetstein as saying that the enlightened man will "so carry himself as being a law unto himself." Another Greek writer says: "So will I be a law to the multitude, not the majority to me." Philo says of Moses that he was "a living and rational law." In human consciousness, Dr. Whedon says again, "the just philosophy finds a standard of right and wrong, a moral sense, which affirms the right and disaffirms its opposite."

But notwithstanding this, Christ in his commission includes all nations, and "every creature." He, Christ, is a universal Saviour, His Gospel is a universal Gospel, and his religion a universal religion. It is intended to be a blessing to all nations. It makes them better citizens, and as followers of this universal Saviour, we are all bound by the most sacred obligations to send it, the Gospel, to those who are deprived of its richness and fullness of joy

A correspondent asks the following question:

If our Saviour could foretell, as he most assuredly did, with such minuteness and accuracy, the events which preceded the destruction of Jerusalem, why could he not answer his disciples when questioned in reference to the time of the final destruction of the world? See Mark 13,22 which reads as follows:—"But of that day and of that hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels which are in Heaven, neither the Son, but the Father" Observe, he does not say that it would be known or that he was NOT PERMITTED to tell them: but he declares that neither He (Christ) nor the angels in heaven, know when the time will be. Please reconcile this declaration of our Saviour with his omniscience."

Our correspondent is not the only one whom this passage has troubled. It has perplexed distinguished commentators to read that He in whom "the fullness of the Godhead dwells bodily" is limited in his knowledge concerning the secret councils of Heaven.

Some writers, in attempting an explanation of the passage, say that the verb 'know' (in the original oida) was used, in this instance, in a causative sense meaning to make known, promulge or reveal. Dr. Clark mentions this as being the explanation given by Dr. Macknight and others, and remarks that it 'may cut, but does not untie the Gordian knot.' He might have said, too, that it was a far-fetched and unwarranted explanation: for among the many significations which the verb oida (the perfect tense of eido, to see), has, there is, in truth, none that is causative or permissive;—so that, for the purpose of solving the difficulty, a meaning was assumed for the verb which it does not really possess. Dr. Clark confesses himself puzzled and unable to comprehend it except upon the ground that "the deity which dwelt in the man Christ Jesus might, at one time, communicate less of the knowledge of futurity than at another." He inclines to the opinion that the clause, "neither the Son," was not originally in this Gospel, inasmuch as it is not contained in any of the other evangelists.

A better opinion is that Christ referred solely to his humanity—his human mind with its limited capacity for knowledge—when he said neither the Son of Man knoweth, &c. The mysterious union of God and Man that was seen in Christ is inexplicable, but that he had human attributes and feelings,—that he was in the flesh, and was tempted—that he was a child and increased in years and wisdom, the Scriptures plainly teach: and that, as man, he was not omniscient, and therefore did not know when he should be sent to execute judgment, we can very well believe.

As to his foretelling "with such accuracy the events which preceded the destruction of Jerusalem" he did this not as God, but as a man with the inspiration of prophecy, just as Daniel and other prophets did with equal accuracy.—But over the day of his second coming there was cast a veil which the eye of prophecy could not pierce—the Deity that was in Him could look behind it, but not the man.

Dr. Wheedon says:

"It has, indeed, been argued, that inasmuch as the Son is here named after the ANGELS in the order of ascending climax, we must understand it to be the Son of God and not the Son of man. The result of this would be to prove that our Lord in his highest personality was limited in knowledge. But those who thus argue forget that even as Son of man he was superior to the angels. They are his ministers. It is as Son of man he judges the world attended by his HOLY ANGELS! Surely it is a thousand times more wonderful that the judgment day should be unknown to the judge than to his mere attendant officers. And this expression, NEITHER THE SON, stands in striking coincidence with our Lord's expression: "It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which THE FATHER HATH PUT IN HIS OWN POWER,' Acts i, 7."

DR. CLOSS.—We are informed that Rev. Dr. Closs, Presiding Elder of the Washington District, will live at Rocky Mount the present year. We are glad that he intends making this move, and hope that much good will result to the town and community.—Rocky Mount Mail.

We are authorized by Dr. Closs to say that the above announcement is premature, and that he does not contemplate making that move, inasmuch as Rocky Mount is not in the bounds of his District.

We call attention to the communication from Brother Cunninggim, which appears in another column.

Several interesting communications are crowded out this week—they will appear in our next.

Bro. BOBBITT: You will please publish the assessments for Delegates' expenses to the General Conference, to be held at Lexington in May next:

Raleigh	District,	110.00
Hillsboro'	"	110.00
Greensboro'	"	105.00
Oxford	"	75.00
Salisbury	"	100.00
Shelby	"	100.00
Fayetteville	"	100.00
Wilmington	"	100.00
New Bern	"	100.00
Washington	"	100.00
Total,		$1000.00

According to the information I have obtained, it will take between $70 and $80 for each delegate. So I have assessed $1000, and I suggest that if there be any overplus when the delegates return, it can be paid into the Joint Board of Finance and used as Conference collection.

The Conference ordered by a resolution that this collection be raised during the month of March, and forwarded to the nearest delegate, or to Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, Greensboro', N. C.

The Presiding Elders will have the amounts of their respective Districts apportioned among the pastoral charges, and see that they are raised.—Reports on this collection will be called for at the next session of the Conference.

D. R. BRITON,
Ch'm'n Joint Board of Finance
of the N. C. Conference.
Concord, N. C., Jan. 19th, 1874.

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: I received $110, (one hundred and ten) on yesterday from Rev. Joseph Wheeler, from him self and a friend for Greensboro' Female College. We trust there are scores and hundreds who will soon follow their example. The Williamston circuit gave $100, through Rev. B. B. Culbreth. The Robeson circuit sent, through Rev. J. Tillett, $65.—The Alamance circuit by Rev. R. S. Webb, $13.75. These are the only Pastoral charges which have contributed through their Pastors.

We are persuaded that there are many others, more able and equally willing, to do noble things, if the matter be properly pressed upon their attention. The examples given indicate what can be done. Will not every Pastor make a most earnest effort during this year? The plan adopted at last Conference, which secures the interest of every dollar contributed in educating the daughters of the members of the Conference, commends itself to every benevolent heart, and makes it to our interest to work most earnestly in raising funds for the college. The Agent will do all he can, but it is impossible for him to visit all parts of the Conference.—Let every friend of the enterprise send all he or she can, and as soon as possible. The donation roll, (which is the roll of honor) will be kept in a permanent and sacred manner.

The Spring session has opened with as many pupils as were in attendance last session, and others are expected.

J. A. CUNNINGHM.
Secretary & Treasurer.

Who can Answer?

A number of preachers and laymen hold the bonds of the Publishing House at Nashville, showing they have paid one hundred dollars to that Institution on certain conditions therein named. Nothing has been heard from the House or its Agent since the war on that subject. I listened for some thing in regard to it from Dr. Redford at our Conference in Goldsboro, but was disappointed. Some of us would be glad to get some light, as another scheme is on foot for the relief of said house. Will the present plan enable the house to resume its payment annually of the books, and to furnish the Bibles it has given its paper for, before the war? Who can answer?

A BOND-HOLDER.

We call attention to the advertisement of the Statesville Male Academy. We are personally acquainted with the Principals, and know them to be gentlemen of high culture and sterling worth.

Religious Bevities.

—Dean Stanley does not believe in apostolic succession.

—OUR PUBLISHING HOUSE CLAIM.—In the House of Representatives, on Monday the 19th the Hon. Mr. O. Brien, of Myrland, presented the memorial of Rev. Samuel Rogers and twenty others, ministers of the M. E. Church, South, praying for the speedy payment of the claims of the Southern Methodist Publishing House, of Nashville, Tenn.

—VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY—Election of Professors.—The Board of Trustees of the Southern Methodist University, at Memphis, Tenn., endowed by Com. Vanderbilt, have elected three professors, viz:—L. C. Garland, of the University of Mississippi; S. C. Wells, of the Central College of Missouri, and N. S Lupton, of the University Alabama.

A Card.

I request all persons who think of going to the General Conference, in Louisville, Ky., in May next, either as delegates or visitors—to correspond with me at an early date, as I may be able to secure them an advantage in rates of travel.

J. A CUNNINGGIM.
Greensboro, N. C. Jan. 21st, 1874.

The Christian Advocate.

NEWS DEPARTMENT.

ROBERT T. GRAY, Editor.

We call attention to the advertisement of the Victor Sewing Machine which is said to possess many excellencies and for which Rev. C. H. Bernheim is agent for this State.

We invite attention to the attractive advertisement of Julius Lewis & Co., published in this issue. This is one of the most popular and extensive hardware houses in the State. Buyers will find it to their interest to call and examine their large and complete stock which they propose to sell at lowest cash prices.

IMPORTANT SALE OF PROPERTY.—The valuable property at the end of West Hargett Street belonging to Messrs. Separks, Hicks & Co. and known as the North Carolina Agricultural Machine Works, was sold at auction on last Wednesday. Dr. McCallum was the purchaser at $8,950. We understand that a company of Canadians will carry on the operations at the works.

We call attention to the advertisement of W. F. Kornegay of Goldsboro, who has on hand a large supply of Coach and Wagon Materials. He is one of the most enterprising men and fairest dealers of Goldsboro: gets a large patronage and deserves it.

IMPEACHMENT OF JUDGE WATTS.—A memorial having been addressed to the General Assembly by Josiah Turner, Jr, asking for the impeachment of Judge Watts for disgraceful conduct, drunkenness and bribe-taking, Mr. Bennett, of Anson, offered a resolution looking to that object. It was placed upon the calendar and will probably be reached this week.

MUSEUM OF FANCY.—We call attention to the advertisement of our friend, Nat. L. Brown, whose well furnished store on Fayetteville Street, attracts the attention and admiration of all passers-by, and readily supplies the wants of all patrons. Toys, parlor ornaments, and confections of all kinds he has in abundance, as well as a supply of musical instruments from canaries and paraquets up to pianos and parlor organs of elaborate design. He sells cheap and deserves unstinted patronage, which we bespeak for him.

PUBLIC PRINTING:—THE MANDAMUS asked for by Brown of the ERA, against the Secretary of the State to compel him to place the documents for publication in the hands of Mr. B. as appointee of the Governor, having been dismissed by Judge Settle for want of jurisdiction, application was made to Judge Watts, who granted it, as well as an injunction prohibiting Mr. Turner, of the SENTINEL from proceeding with the public printing. The injunction was argued last Wednesday and made 'perpetual' against Mr. Turner, whereupon he appealed to the Supreme Court. How it will terminate no one knows further than that it will be crowned by a round bill of court costs and comfortable fees for the lawyers.

THE PROPHETIC KEN.—One Holmes, who denominates himself "The World's Fool," delivered several harangues from the porch of the Court House last week to crowds of small boys and darkies who were attracted by the novelty of the scene and the character of his discourse. He called the throng to prayers, took his text and proceeded with his preaching, the burden of which was that several years ago he had received direct revelations from Heaven and a commission to preach them to the world. He informed his astonished hearers that the region of the lost was just twenty eight miles from Raleigh and that the world would be destroyed in the year 1878—four years after date.

Mr. Woodson, of the NEWS, by an interview, ascertained that he is not related to "Jesse Holmes, the Fool-killer." His presence in Raleigh is proof of the fact that he has never come in reach of Jesse's club.

MUSICAL CONCERT.—The concert given by Prof. Van Meyerhoff, Prof. Grotz and the Sextette Club at Tucker Hall last Wednesday night, was a successful and pleasant affair. Prof. Van Meyerhoff is called in advertisement and hand-bills, the rival of the great Rubinstein." We have never heard Rubinstein, and cannot therefore institute a comparison, but we are inclined to think that the rank which the advertisments give him, is something of a joke or may be put to the account of the exuberant fancy and enthusiasm of his admirers. He plays well, however—exceedingly well—and in such a way as to show that he is a master in the art and science of music, but we are not prepared to say that he is what we have heard and believe Rubinstein to be. "Prof. Grotz a modest but accomplished musician, plays well also, and rendered Gottschalk's "Last Hope" (an exquisite composition) in admirable style. The Raleigh Sextette Club handsomely sustained their reputation and the singing by Miss Slater was good and as manifested by the applause, was enjoyed by the audience.

State News.

The celebrated Siamese twins, Chang and Eng, died suddenly at their residence at Mt. Airy, Surry county N. C. on the 17th inst.

There are no details further than the fact that Chang was paralyzed last fall, since which time he has been fretful, very much debilitated and strongly addicted to drinking liquors as a means of alleviating his suffering. He had been quite feeble for several days, indeed so much as to confine both brothers to bed, but the illness was not so great as to cause any anticipation of the catastrophe that was to follow. On Friday night they retired to bed as usual, but during the night Chang became worse and expired suddenly about 4 o'clock Saturday morning. As soon as it was discovered that he was dead, Eng became so terribly shocked that he raved wildly for a while, at times exhibiting signs of great mental aberration. This attack was followed by what seemed to be a deadly stupor, and in two hours, it is supposed, from the death of Chang, Eng breathed his last.

Nineteen hundred boxes of manufactured tobacco were shipped from six factories in Reidsville week before last.

The Greensboro' PATRIOT says that Judge Pearson intends removing his residence to that city.

The Greensboro Grangers had a grand time at the public installation of their officers on the 17th inst. The speech of the occasion was made by C. R. Jones, Editor of the Statesville INTELLIGENCER, and a bountiful dinner was spread and presided over by the lady members of the Lodge.

Cuthbert, the ubiquitous correspondent of the enterprising New York HERALD, went to Mount Airy to "write up" the death of the Siamese twins.

Mr. Frederick Strobel of Greensboro' while descending a flight of stairs fell from the top to the bottom, striking his head on the door-bolt and dying instantly.

The Greensboro Jail, built in 1845, was burned recently, a defective flue causing the fire. The prisoners ten in number were safely removed and taken to Charlotte.

Walter P. Caldwell, Esq. Solicitor of the 10th Judicial District, intends to remove with his family to Greensboro.'

The grist and saw mills of J. W. Moore, of Rockingham county, were destroyed by fire on the 19th inst. Loss $6,000 and no insurance.

A dentist in Wilmington gave a patient an overdose of eldoroform which resulted fatally.

Hon. A. M. Waddell was the only North Carolina member who voted against the repeal of the "salary-grab" bill.

A correspondent of the New North State tells of a young (now old) lady in his country, whom he calls "Cinda," that, during her girlhood, was in love with, and engaged to marry a youth whom he calls Luke.—The wedding day was fixed and Luke did not come to time, but married another woman. Now, after forty years, his wife has died, and he has renewed his courtship of "Cinda" and has actually married her.

242 vessels bearing cargoes valued at $3,453,845 cleared from the port of Wilmington last year, being 84 vessels and $648,931 more in value than the previous year.

A correspondent of the SPIRIT OF THE SOUTH, (Rockingham, Richmond county,) says that there is a band of robbers who infest the Western part of Randolph county and the eastern portion of Davidson county, making occasional forays into Richmond, Moore, Montgomery, Stanly and Rowan counties. The band numbers about 25, including some dozen women. They steal everything they can lay their hands on and commit all sorts of outrages.

A man by the name of Dobbin of Stoneville Rockingham county, while in a state of intoxication, fell in the fire and was so badly burned that he died the next day.

Gen. R. L. Patterson, of Caldwell county, is very ill and but little hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Mrs. Josiah Fleming, near Richmond Hill, on the 13th inst., gave birth to four children—two boys and two girls—all living when born, but died in a few hours afterward.

Two colored children, says the Salisbury WATCHMAN, were recently burned to death in Davie county. Their mother, less, or in human, mother had locked up in the house. By some means the house took fire and the children were burned.

Mrs. Gay, of Rock Mount, has entered suit against the W. & W. R. R. for killing her husband at Tarboro' some time ago, and assesses her damages at $20,000.

The town of Littleton annually ships over there thousand bales of cotton, according to a correspondent of the Weldon NEWS.

General News.

The friends of Hampden Sidney College at Richmond have resolved to raise $300,000 for its endowment.

It is said that the Southern Security Company has met with failure.

The political troubles in Texas have been adjusted. The Sergeant at Arms took possession of all the government offices without opposition. Gov. Davis had previously left the Executive offices, a clerk only remaining, who surrendered the keys.

The Californians are memorializing Congress to have the treaty with China so amended as to prohibit the immigration of the Chinese into the United States.

They kill cattle now in Europe by driving a hollow nail, made for the purpose, into the head. With the contrivance they have it is done instantly and the animal dies without pain.

The bridge across the Mississippi at St. Louis is completed. It cost $10,000,000 and is pronounced one of the finest structures of the kind and one of the finest pieces of engineering skill of the age.

Chicago has had another disastrous fire, resulting in the loss of about $400.000.

Colt's revolver company are making a gun which will discharge 1,200 bullets per minute.

The Chicago TRIBUNE says this is the platform of the Communists: 'Every man who saves money must be made to divide with every man who saves none.'

The elevated railway in New York was used by the post office department for the supply of mail matter to the west side of the city during the snow and slush blockade of last week.

It is now pretty generally conceded that the cotton crop of 1873–74 will reach 4,000,000 bales, and it may exceed these figures.

Gov. Taylor, of Wisconsin, recommends the enactment of a law forbidding the acceptance or use of free passes, or any other gift, immunity, or compensation, by any State officer, from any railroad or public corporation.

The number of hogs slaughtered in Cincinnati during the week ending the 9th was 24,041; total since November 1st, 523,046. The number of hogs packed in Chicago since November 1st is 1,154,388, against 788,210 the same time last year. Milwaukee reports 218, against 144,118 last year.

There are in the United States eight hundred and sixty-four blast furnaces in working condition, capable of an annual production of four million tons of pig iron. This is a greater quantity than the country can consume, and as the furnaces are all resuming operations, another glut in the iron market next fall is predicted.

Marriages.

Married, in Salisbury, Jan 15th. at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. L. W. Crowder Mr. George W. Barringer to Miss Rebecca J. Carter, both of Rowan.

Married, in Cabarrus county, N. C., Jan. 15th, 1874, by Rev. D. R. Brinton, F. V. Barrier esq., and Miss S. E Sapp, daughter of M. S. Sapp, Esq.

At the residence of the bride's father, on the 15th Jan. 1874, by Rev. A. J. Finlayson, Mr. Jesse S. Whitley to Miss Drucilla, daughter of Hardy J. Yelverton; all of the county of Wayne.

Married by Rev. W. P. Gannon, Jan. 11th, 1874, in the M. E. Church, South, Newberne, N. C., Mr. Charlie K. Hancock and Miss Julia A. Richardson of Newbern, N. C.

Married, by Rev. J. S. Ervin in Morganton, N. C., on the 21st Jan., Mr. H. Boger to Miss Gertrude Pettis.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, Dec. the 25th 1873, by rev. A. A. Boshamer, Mr. W. A. Cates and Miss Nannie E. Lynch, all of Warren Co., N. C.

By the same at the residence of the bride's sister, near Manson Depot, Dec. 30th 1873, Thos. P. Paschall, Esq. and Miss Jane E. Biggum, all of Warren Co, N.C.

By the same, in the town of Henderson, Jan 14th 1874, Dr. Cornelius Kerner, of Kernersville, and Miss Sallie E. Kittle, of Henderson, N. C.

At Lockwood Folly, on 22d Instant, Edward W Taylor, formerly of Onslow county, to Sarah E Mercer, of Brunswick county.

Letters & Funds.

Mrs T B Watson sell 2. E N Freshman. Rev S V Hoyle, papers have been sent. E Alden. Rev F D Swindell, for L. M Swindell 2 Walker Taylor & Co. Young J Lee, paper continued. Rev R A Willis for W J Exum. 2 N Tiballs & Son. E N Freshman. J E Thompson sell 1. Wharton & Wharton for adv E W B Owen all right. Rev J P Simpson, paper continued. H W Brunnemell-self 2 S W Ayer & Son. R L Beall. Rev Mr Nicholson for G o W Nicholson 2. C Anderson self 2. Abram Dixon—paper has been regularly sent. J J White for Mrs Mary C Blair 2. Rev W H Bobbit—paper has been sent. Rev A G Story. Rev Lewis Phillips for W M Harper 2. Edward Welch 2. C Shields 2. A E Babbitt sell 2. Rev J F Smoot for B A Wellons 2. J H Tomlinson 2. Rev L H Robards & for H T Kirkman 2. Rev L S Benfield for wm J A Sodell 2. J B Baldley 2. J B Taylor 2 A J Rogerson 2. J Scrucklin 2. W L Bledsoe, for J M Bledsoe 2. John A Reid sell 2. Rev J E Mann. W W Gorham 2 S D Boyer paper changed. Miss Mary J Haswell 2 A M Parker paper sent. A T Allen. Mrs M T Hudson self 2. Rev G W Long papers continued. S. H. Smith paper continued. Rev D R Brinton. Rev L W Crawford for Mrs M A Uzzman 2. Rev C M Pepper for E Thompson 2. paper sent.—Rev D C Johnson for ab 30 cts. Col G W Tate for self 2. J M Rhodes. Jas T Lovin sell 1. Eli Shanklee for M E Blalock 2. sell 2. rev L Shell for Mrs I Clement 2. H Howard 2. W H Brown 2. B Parnell 2 M Chall 2. Rev H H Gibbons for Mrs A A Hayes 2. H N Hackney S S Parker. Rev J F Brogden paper changed. J K Whitley. M S Phillips paper changed. T S Stafdivant. Rev L Coubreth paper sent and continued. Rev A H Bellis for A Frawick 2. C M Mashburne 3 Rev O J Brent for Dr J W Bonner 2. Dr B Hairston 2. Rev J Tillett for L N Johnson 2. H T Jordan. Rev Thos A Coon, paper sent. H K Harwell & Co. Rev V A Sharpe correction made. Rev J A Cunniggim for Mrs S Houston 2. J A Pritchett 2. M L Winston we have for this lassie. Rev J B Jordan for C S Suggs 2. Miss Ann W Jones, sell 2. R W O'A King paper continued. J B Wimbleson 2. J A Jones sell 2. D P Steadman, sell 2. Rev M H Hoyle, for Mrs E J Powell 2. Rev W S Black. Rev A A Boshamer for W M Tanner 2. P E Wyche 2. S D Wright 2 Miss M Peebles 2. other papers continue regretted. Walker Taylor & Co. & Alsop & B W Payne & Co. Jos Beverly sell 2 W B Threadgill 2. Miss Mary C Cole, sell 2. W B Richardson, discontinued. F C Nichols sell 2. Rev W M Rainey. W H Hobbs—s paper changed. Rev J S Ervin. Mrs Greene, Lindly & Bentley Rev R G Garrett for J S Ragsdale 2. E Alden. Rev R D Burton for W E Spruill 2. W W Brickell 2. R W Harris. Rev S V Hoyle. J S Meadows. Rev J H Gulin paper continued J V Craven paper continued. Rev C M Pepper, papers sent 2. Rev T J Gattis, paper sent. R J Hilton, paper sent. Rev R M Brown, for S J Nash 2. M S Davis 2. Rev J M Shaver 1. other paper continued. J B Connelly sell 2 Wm Taylor, Jr for B F Stanfield 2. Thos H Cook, sell 2. Rev T A Boone for Mrs Ed Bird 2. M A Scarboro 2, P Wood 2. In Settled 3. Rev J N Somers for subscribers Mrs Victoria Miall sell 2.

The careful attention of our readers is invited to the announcement of Chas. Simon & Sons the well known Dry Goods Merchants and importers of Baltimore, Md. This house has been long established, since 1816, and during these years has created, maintained and developed a reputation, which, now, to say the least is enviable. They offer special and indeed rare advantages in purchasers of foreign and domestic dry goods, and we hope our readers will avail themselves of them.

Jan 28-1w

Appointments.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT
1st ROUND—IN PART.

Wilmington, Front Street, Jac. 31 and Feb. 1
Clinton, Feb. 7–8
Keenansville at Keenansville, " 14-15
Smithville at Smithville, " 21-22
Topsail at Prospect, Feb. 28th and Mar. 1st
Elizabeth at Bladen Springs, " 7–8
Bladen at Center, " 14-15
Onslow at Richlands, " 21-22
Cokesbury, " 28-29

Each preacher will send me the place for holding the Quarterly Conference on his circuit.

I earnestly entreat every official member to be present at Quarterly Conferences. Let the Recording Steward bring his book.

The District Stewards will please meet in the District Parsonage, at Magnolia Tuesday, February 3rd, at 10 o'clock, A. M.

W. S. BLACK, P. E.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Pineville at Pineville, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Pleasant Grove at Pleasant Grove, Feb. 7–8
Concord sta. " 14-15
Albermarle and Stanley, Albermarle, " 21-22
Wadesboro st. Feb. 28 and March 1
Mt. Pleasant at Gold Hill March 7–8
Ansonville at Concord, " 14-15
Wadesboro and Lilesville, at Bethel " 21-22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Person at Roxboro, Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Flat River at Mt. Bethel, Feb 7–8
Leasburg at Leasburg, " 14-15
Allensance at Pantlips Chapel, " 21-22
High Rock at Shiloh, Feb 28 March 1
Vanceyville at Vanceyville, March 7–8
Deep River at Fair Promise, " 14-15
Pittsboro at Pittsboro, " 21 22

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Hillsboro on Jan. 29th at 3 o'clock, P. M.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt. Tirzah, P. O.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.
FIRST ROUND.

Trinity at Caraway at T. College, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1,
South Guilford at Pleasant Garden " 7 8
Forestine & Winston at Pine Grove, " 14-15
Madison at Business, " 21-22
North Guilford at Friendship, " 28 &
Stokes at Antioch, and March 1.
Wentworth at Lawsonville, " 7–8
Hawhorn at Shenandoah, " 21-22

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Greensboro on Wednesday the 18th of February at 11 o'clock A. M. A full attendance of District Stewards is requested.

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT
1st ROUND.

Roanoke at Ebenezer Jan 31 Feb 1
Williamston at Williamston Feb. 7–8
Columbia at Scuppernong " 14 15
Plymouth and Jamesville, at Plymouth " 21 22
Bath at Bath, Feb 28 and March 1
Matamuskeet at Swan Quarter March 7–8
Washington and Greenville, at Washington. March 14-15
Tarboro' at Tarboro', " 21–22

The District Stewards will please meet at Tarboro' on Saturday, March 21st. They are the following: for Warrenton, Col. S. Davis, Warren. —Tarboro', J. W. Jones. Bath, Walter Clark. Mattamuskeet, T. W Jones. Washington and Greenville. B W. Brown. Williamston, R. A. Weathersby. Columbia, W. O. Puckett. Plymouth and Greenville, J. W. Latham.

WM. CLOSS P. E

NEWBERN DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Wayne at Salem, Jan. 31st and Feb. 1st,
Jones, Shady Grove, " 7–8
Lenoir, Newbern, at Lenoir Institute. " 14-15
Swift Creek at Jackson, Feb. 28 & Mar. 1st
Goldsboro, " 7–8
Snow Hill, " 14-15
Wilson, " 21–22

The District Stewards, Benj. Reeves, Rev. J. A. Snyder, D. Lane, Benj. Grady, A. H. Thompson, Rev. J. B. Webb, L. M. Kornegay, Dr. A. G. Davis, Warren Wheeler, J. M. Mason, T. J. Whitaker and Alonzo Edwards, will please meet me in Newbern, on Friday, before the third Sabbath in January, at 2 o'clock P. M. The down freight train can thus accommodate those above Newbern.

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

☞ If the places do not suit, brethren will please inform me.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Granville ct. at Oxford, Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Wilson ct. at Mt. Zion. Feb. 7–8
Nashville & Rocky Mount at Nashville. " 14-15
Louisburg " 21-22
Raleigh, Edenton St. February 28 March 1
Smithfield ct. at Selma. " 7–8

The District Stewards will please meet in the Methodist Church at Franklinton, Friday, February 20th at 1 o'clock P. M.

W. H. ROBBITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C.

New Advertisements.

HILSBORO STREET ACADEMY,

Misses Mollie & Jennie Jones,

Teachers.

The next session will commence on Monday, February the 2nd. Tuition same as heretofore.

Jan 28-1w

W. F. KORNEGAY,

Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE,

COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.

Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All work is a trial of them. Jan 28-tf

STATESVILLE MALE ACADEMY.

The Fifth Session of the Statesville Male Academy will commence on the 12th of January, 1874, and continue twenty weeks.

Tuition from $10.00 to $200. Boarding, exclusive of Lights and Washing, $10.00. For further particulars, address the Principals,

J. B. CONNELLY, } Principals.
W. G. McCORD, }

Jan 28 1m

OFFICE OF JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We desire to call the attention of dealers to the celebrated

BOLLES COTTON HOE,

manufactured expressly for us by

The L. Bolles Hoe & Tool Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

These Hoes are made of the finest quality of steel, by skilled labor. They are not made of ROLLED STEEL, but plated under the hammer, are highly polished and are noted for beauty and durability; in short, they are as near perfect as they can be made. The shank is an improvement on the old style, being solid and neatly shaped. The blade is peculiar in form, and the handles made from fine white timber.

Every Hoe is warranted perfect in stock, temper, finish and durability. We earnestly request those about making purchases for the coming season to examine them.

Sold only in North Carolina by

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.
OR THEIR AGENTS.

☞ Ask for the Bolles Cotton Hoe, and see that the name is stamped on the blade.

NOTE.—We sold in 1873—396 Dozen of these Hoes. In cases and every instance they gave entire satisfaction. We assert that the Bolles Hoe is the very best ever manufactured.

WE ARE USING Swedes Iron and the Finest English Steel!

The best brands of American and Swedes Iron and English extra refined Cast Steel.

USED IN THE MANUFACTURE OF

AXES AND EDGE TOOLS.

We offer the VERY BEST AXE that can be manufactured by skilled workmen and very supe rior materials and trust that we will receive the support of the trade.

ORDERS FILLED IMMEDIATELY.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.
Sole Agents, Raleigh, N. C.

WE WANT 1,000 FIRST-CLASS BOOK AGENTS

at once, to sell two of the most popular works ever published:

U. S. BONDS a record of prison life at Fort Delaware, by Rev. I. W. K. Handy.

AND

MY LSHALL'S LIFE OF Gen. Robert E. Lee.

☞ Send for Circular at once.

TURNBULL BROTHERS,
Baltimore, Md.

Jan 28 3m

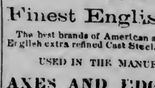
$2500 A YEAR

made with our splendid

COMBINATION PROSPECTUS.

It represents; Sample Pages and Style of Binding of two intensely interesting and useful books, that should, in every family. Read what is said of them by clergymen. AGENTS (Male or Female), to make a permanent business on these Works. Send $1.5 for Prospectus. Terms mailed on receipt. Choose territory and commence at once. See illustrated circulars and Table of Contents, sent free. JOHN E. POTTER & Co., publishers, Penna., Pa.

Jan 28 4w



Colleris Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iron Inhalant.

A Wide Spread Remedy! Superior to any hitherto used for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Ashtma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and effective inhalant ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by Inhaled Communion Hallow Tooth Cleaner. It positively has no equal. For clearing the voice, curing sore and puffed sneakers [illegible] invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. All Druggists have it for sale, neatly put up with inhalant enough for two months' use. Price $2.00. Free by mail on receipt of price. Send for circular.

W. H. SMITH & Co., Prop'rs,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Jan 28 6m

BUY AND USE Game Cock White Lead.

We offer this justly celebrated White Lead knowing it to be the best in the market.

Using large quantities and having Practical Painters in our employ all the time, we profess to be judges of White Lead, and advise all who contemplate painting to use this Lead and no other.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

THOS. H. BRIGGS & SONS,

Sole Agents for Raleigh and

DEALERS IN

Hardware, Cutlery, Wagon and Buggy Materials,

Oils, Glass and Colors.

Jan 28-tf.

ESTABLISHED 1816.

CHAS. SIMON & SONS,

63 NORTH HOWARD ST., BALTIMORE, MD.,

Dealers in

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC DRY GOODS,

would call special attention to their splendid stock of Dress Goods, Linen Goods, Embroideries, Laces, and Hosiery, the best assortment of Mourning Goods in the city.

SAMPLES SENT FREE!

All orders amounting to $20 00 or over, will be sent [illegible] freight charges by Express, but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their goods sent C. O. D., must pay for return of the money.

Jan 28-12m

M. J. MOSELEY,

DEALER IN

CANDIES,

Jellies, Fruits, Nuts, Oranges, Lemons, Raisins, Figs, Currants, Date, Citron, Sardines, Macaroni, Vermicelli, Olive Oil, London and Fr. Mustard, Plums and Prunes Domestic Fruit, Rum Drops, Canned Goods, all Kinds Nuts of all Kinds, English and Dom. Pickles Cakes, Crackers, Fire Works, &c., &c.

Fancy Goods

FINE CIGARS.

AND

Choice Chewing Tobacco.

FAYETTEVILLE ST.

RALEIGH, N. C.

OPIUM MORPHINE HABIT specially cured by Dr. Beck's only known and sure Remedy. NO CHARGE for treatment until cured. Call on or address, D.r. J. B. BECK, Cincinnati, O.

Jan 28-1w

NEW GOODS FOR FALL AND WINTER

1873.

AT

ALEX. CREECH'S.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TRADE. CONSUMERS OF DRY GOODS, &c.

MARBLE HALL AND TEMPLE OF FANCY.

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

I take pleasure in announcing that my business has largely increased and its demand is so great that it has constrained me to buy in

A MUCH LARGER AND MORE ATTRACTIVE STOCK THAN HERETOFORE.

My Goods are bought with every available advantage and during business in a very small per centage I am able to offer INDUCEMENTS IN PRICES that are rarely equalled. My

DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT

was never more complete, embracing all new Fabrics and every new Shade, from the most delicate to the most brilliant. Call and examine my

BLACK SILKS,

JAPANESE SILKS,

IRISH POPLINS,

CASHMERES,

SATEENS,

ALPACAS, &c.

And a very large variety of Low Priced Dress Goods. My stock of Cassimeres, Piece Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes is extraordinarily large and complete and you would be doing yourselves injustice if you were not to examine it before purchasing elsewhere THE SECOND AND THIRD FLOORS are almost exclusively devoted to

WHOLESALING,

both being filled to their utmost capacity with

GOODS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

to supply the Trade, and Country Merchants would find it to their interest to my stock a thorough examination before making their purchases, as I think I can offer rare bargains and special inducements. With

A CORPS OF EXPERIENCED SALESMEN,

ever ready to assist, I can sell, do sell, and will continue to sell as

CHEAP AS THE CHEAPEST.

No house in Raleigh can or shall undersell me. It matters not whether the goods are purchased in Europe or the United States, and for these important reasons:

1st. I am alone, and have no two or three partners to divide my profits with.

2nd. I have leased my store house at a mere nominal cost.

3d. I believe in the great principle of LIVE AND LET LIVE—QUICK SALES and SMALL PROFITS.

4th. I have large experience, buy at the lowest in side figures, and with the best facilities.

Experience, the best of teachers, has long since informed the people that is the place to buy their goods, and as heretofore I shall always

CREECH'S

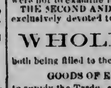
REPRESENT GOODS AS THEY ARE.

Returning thanks for past favors, I hope to secure your patronage in the future.

Respectfully yours,
ALEX. CREECH.
Marble Hall, Fayetteville St. Raleigh, N. C.

april 16-tf.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.



Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati.

mar 16—12 m.

BLACKING Blacking Brushes, Pearl Powders Concentrated Lye, Bone Dust, &c.

July 23-tf

LEACH BROS.

ANOTHER CONSIGNMENT OF "EXTRA OLIVE" Soap just received. Handsome "Swan Card" given away.

LEACH BROS.

July 23-tf

THE SNOW FLAKE BRAND OF FAMILY Flour. Equal to Pillsbury and much cheaper.

LEACH BROS.

July 23-tf

PIANOS, PIANOS,

ORGANS. ORGANS.

Nat L. Brown,

DEALER IN

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Agent for HORACE WATERS & SONS celebrated CONCERTO and ORCHESTRAL ORGANS and PIANOS.

ALSO DEALER IN

Children's Carriages,
Fancy Goods,
Toys,
Baskets,
&c., &c.

BIRDS AND BIRD CAGES.

Confectionaries,
Fruits, Nuts,
Fresh Crackers
and Cakes.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to give me a call. Prices suitable to the times.

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

Illustrated Catalogue of Pianos and Organs mailed.

jan 14 –tf

ÆTNA FIRE CO.

Assets, $5.782.635.09.

W. H. CROW, Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.

mar 6- 12m

ÆTNA LIFE COMPANY,

JANUARY 1873.

ASSETS, - - - $18,077,540.66

Represented in North Carolina, and Va., South of James River by

W. H. CROW, Manager.
Office, Raleigh.

FOR 1874.

We have bought, in the last ten days a fresh supply of

BLEECHINGS.
3-7, 7-8, 4-4, 6-4.

SHEETINGS
8-4, 10-4, 11-4, 12-4.

Also

UNBLEACHED DOMESTICS.
3-4, 7-8, 4-4.

Prints.

5 cases New Style Winter Prints,
5,000 yards Plaid Homespuns,
And a large lot of

"BURTS" GAITERS & BOOTS.

(For cold sloppy weather.) The best goods in the World. Also Gent's and Ladies'

RUBBER AND ARTIC OVER-SHOES,

and

MEN'S RUBBER BOOTS.

These Standard Goods having been bought at the lowest depression of prices during the season, complete our supply for commencing the year 1874.

Thanking the public for past favors and feeling that we have endeavored to give full value for all purchases made of us, we shall prosecute our business for the year

1874 with as much zeal and activity as has characterized the past. Our old motto adhered to

"THE BEST GOODS AT THE LOWEST PRICES."

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

Jan. 7-tf

BUFFALO STAINED GLASS WORKS

29 Park Street, Buffalo, N. Y

☞ Specimen Sent on application.

mar 20—13m.

WATER WHEEL

NUMEROUS TESTS HAVE PROVED

N. F. Barnham's New Turbine

Water Wheel

To be the Best Ever Invented.

Pamphlet free. Address, York, Pa.

July 27—6m.

FURNITURE.

W. H. Morris & Co.,

No. 3 Fayetteville Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Chamber sets, Cottage Chamber Sets, Parlor Sets, Dining Room Sets, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Wardrobes, Washstand, Tables, Chairs, Sofas, Lounges, Spring Beds, of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Marble top centre tables &c.

ALSO

Keep constantly on hand and make to order all kinds of Mattress's, such as pure Curled Hair, Cotton and Husk. Excelsior and Shuck Mattresses. Old Hair Mattresses renovated and made as good as new.

No trouble to show goods. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

W. A. MORRIS & CO

Oct 29-6m.

THE VICTOR SEWING MACHINE TRIUMPHANT!

It is the very best Machine in the world, and has taken the first premium at every Fair wherever it has been exhibited!

Our New Patent Shuttle is the Simplest and only Perfect one in use.

The Only Lock-Stitch Machine that has a Self-Setting Needle.

It has a straight and self setting needle. The needle cannot be set wrong. A self-adjusting tension. No difference in sewing from light to heavy, or heavy to light goods. A new PATENT SHUTTLE the best, simplest, and easiest threaded. The shuttle carrier is free from all friction. It has no rivings, wires or cogs. The lightest running and simplest in use. All parts are adjustable. Buy no other machine if you want the best.

Persons who will send direct to our office for machines will receive a discount amounting to the agent's commission and thus get their machines at wholesale price. This refers however only to such places where we have no agents established.

Agents wanted in every county. Better terms given than any other Company.

Address
Rev. C. H. BERNHEIM,
General Agent, Concord, N. C.

J. M. BROUGHTON, Raleigh, N. C.
Agent for Central North Carolina.

dec. 1—1y

WATSON'S GALLERY

—OF—

PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South; where every style of Photographic likeness is executed from the smallest miniature, to the large Portrait colored in oil. If you have the likeness of a deceased relative or friend, you can have it enlarged and colored to nature. Photographic Albums and Picture Frames always on hand, in great variety, at low prices. When you come to Raleigh, do not fail to call at WATSON'S GALLERY and door above Tucker Hall.

J. W. WATSON,

Dec 13-12

TRINITY COLLEGE.

The Spring Session will commence JANUARY 15th, 1874.

Student may take a select or the full course at their own option. There are eleven schools in the Institution, viz: Latin, Greek, Mathematics, English Literature, Natural Science, Modern Languages, Metaphysics, Engineering and Analytical Chemistry, Commercial, Law and Divinity.

For catalogue or [illegible] five months, for tuition, board, washing and fuel $90 to $100.

D. CRAVEN.

Jan 7 8m

JONESVILLE HIGH SCHOOL.

YADKIN COUNTY, N. C.

REV. T. S. WITTINGTON, A. M., Principal.

The Spring Session will open January 26th, 1874

For particulars address the Principal, at Jonesville, N. C. Jan. 7 2m

$20.000 WANTED.

The Trustees of Greensboro Female College wish to borrow any part of the above amount in sums to suit parties having money to loan. They will give the note of the corporation with satisfactory personal endorsers, paying interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum. The principal will be paid when required upon reasonable notice and the interest annually. If the friends of the College will loan us the amount it will help the institution and, we think, still be a perfectly safe investment. Please address the undersigned.

H. D. WILSON
President Board Trustees.

Jan 7 8t.

GREENSBORO' FEMALE COLLEGE,

GREENSBORO' N. C.

Rev. T. M. JONES, D. D., President.

The Spring Session of 1874 will begin on the 15th January.

CHARGES PER SESSION OF 20 WEEKS:

Board and Tuition in regular course $125 00
Charges for extra studies moderate. For all particulars, apply to the President.

N. H. D. WILSON, President.
Dec 17 1m Board of Trustees

PIEDMONT & ARLINGTON LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

OF VIRGINIA.

POLICIES ISSUED - - - - - 20,000
ANNUAL INCOME - - - - - $1,500,000

Expense of management, less than that of any Company of same age in America.

Over $200,000 paid to widows and orphans' [illegible] ness of '72 exceeded that of 1871 by 2 per cent.—also is the only Southern Company that has passed the insurance Departments of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, &c., and has established successful agencies in those States.

DR. C. B. RICE, General Agent
June 11-12m. Raleigh, N.

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN

General Commission Merchants

AND

COTTON FACTORS,

Exchange Place (Fisher Building,)

P. O. Box 222, RALEIGH, N. C.

Consignments of

COTTON,

FLOUR,

GRAIN,

FOREIGN

and other country produce solicited.

General Agents for the sale of James River CEMENT, every barrel guaranteed equal to the best. Also for the sale of Shingles and Cotton Yarns from the Dyer Manufacturing Company.

CORN, FLOUR FORAGE, &c., always on hand. Orders for the purchase of cotton solicited

All business intrusted to us will have strict personal attention and we guarantee promptness and satisfaction.

A. G. LEE,
W. C. McMACKING.

Sept 10-12m.

THE WILSON TAKES THE GRAND Prize at Vienna!

AUSTRIA, VIENNA, Aug. 15, 1873.

To W. G. Wilson, President Wilson Sewing Machine, Cleveland, Ohio:

The Wilson Shuttle Sewing Machine was awarded the Grand Prize at the Vienna Exposition for being the best Sewing Machine.

The above telegram needs no comment. The people can now be assured that in buying the Wilson at the low price of $50 they are getting the best Sewing Machine ever offered to the public. Circulars free. Best terms to agents. address

WHARTON & WHARTON,
State Agents, Greensboro, N. C.

Sep 4 –tf Pd 5

100 BOXES "FORESTERS" LEMON CRACKERS

July 26 tf. LEACH BROS.

FIFTY CASES COVE OYSTERS,

July 23-m LEACH BROS

WIRE RAILING & ORNAMENTAL Wire Works.

Dufur & Co.,

86 North Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.

Manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, &c., SIGNETS, FENCES, CAGES, SAND AND COAL SCREENS, WOVEN WIRE, &c. Also, IRON BEDSTEADS CHAIRS, SETTEES, &c., &c.

Feb 19-12m

A new work of Intense INTEREST and Intrinsic VALUE

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley." A graphic History of Ocean Navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling incidents, [illegible] disasters, miracles, perils, &c. Among, also the WONDERS BENEATH the SEA, Diving, Dredging, Telegram ding &c., 723 splitted Illustrations. Agents have started report 101 orders in four days, 127 in five days, 75 in two days &c.; sells wonderfully fast. 3000 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and circulars, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, 723 Sansom St. Phila.

Sept 15-12m.

BRINLY PLOWS

BEST AND CHEAPEST IN USE.

Have taken over $250 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for illustrated Catalogue with Price List, and certificates of planters who use them.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS:
BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,
Louisville, Ky.

Sept 24-6m.

WILLIAMSON, UPCHURCH & THOMAS

WHOLESALE GROCERS

—AND—

Commission Merchants,

FAYETTEVILLE ST.,

OPPOSITE METROPOLITAN HALL,

R. P. WILLIAMSON,
W. H. UPCHURCH,
J. J. THOMAS, JR.

RALEIGH, N. C

oct 1-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.

Of the most approved styles and manufactures. An assortment of Second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Sherpert' elerg Store

Oct. 22 6m.

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE.

LENOIR, N. C.

The Spring session for 1874 will open on Monday, Jan. 12th

Board and Tuition per session with music, vocal and instrumental, $ 10.00

Traveling preachers' daughters, tuition free.

Board and Tuition always in advance.

Send for a catalogue. Address,

Rev. W. M. ROBEY, Pres.

nov 19-3mos.

REMARBLE SUCCESS! One agent Made $182 in 4 days, and another $158 in 8 days selling

OCEAN'S STORY.

A perfect Thesaurus of Adventures upon, and the Wonders beneath the great Oceans. 225 spirited engravings. Price extra-mods low; sells amazingly fast—[illegible] lively accounts of it by 10th and the only COMPLETE, POPULAR and FAST-SELLING history of

Livingstone 25 years in Africa

(the greatest success of the season.) Also our splendid new Bible, just ready and far excelling all others Pocket Companion and full circulars free. Address

RICHARD BROS., Pubs., Phila., Pa or Cin., O. oct 1-1y.

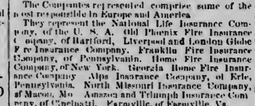
A GREAT OFFER!!

HORACE WATERS, & SON 481 Broadway, N. Y.,

will dispose of ONE HUNDRED PIANOS, MELODEONS and ORGANS of first-class makers, including Waters's, at very LOW PRICES FOR CASH, or will take jar, cash and balances in small monthly instalments. Now 7 octave first class PIANOS, all modern improvements, for $275 cash. The WATERS CONCERTO PARLOR ORGANS, are the most beautiful style and perfect tone ever made. Illustrated Catalogues mailed. may 25-12m.

LEAMON'S Aniline Dye Colors, at PESCUD, LEE & CO'S Drug Store.

Jan 14-tf



BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO'S BELLS.

Fine-toned, low-priced, warranted; circulars sent free. BLYMYER MANUFACTURING COMPANY, (Successors to Blymyer, Norton & Co.,) Cincinnati, O. Office and Works, 664-694 West Eighth St.

March 5-12m. o o w

W. S. MOORE,

Greensboro, N. C.

Keeps on hand and has had unexpected sale of the

CELEBRATED

MASON & HAMLIN

—AND—

PRINCE & CO.,

CHURCH & PARLOR ORGANS

These are the oldest Makers of American Organ, reaching about 12 [illegible] mode and to use. Samples kept in myster. Prefer to a few only to whom I sold Rev. J. Rumple, Salisbury, A. Green, W. J. Lovelace, Shelby, Presby. Churches, Madison, Winston Baptist Church, Reedsville, Ch. Church, Pelham, Raleigh and Thomasville, Prof. J. Kilgo, do. In Guilford, John Wharton, W. H. Wharton, C. W. Andrews, Dr. W. Cobb, Hr. Wm. A. Cobb, Mayor, and Profs. J. S. and Loudon and Fr. Taylor, each Greensboro. Friedsas' Church, W. A. Bencini' Rev. F. Harris, Mrs. J. S. Brown, Rev G. W. Round Leader, Epire S. B. Lenkerwife, &c., A. Whitsett. Buy of me. You can save money and freight.

apr 30-12m

R. J. Baker & Co.

Importers and Dealers in DYING DRUGS,

OIL VETROL

CHEMICALS

PURE GROUND BONE &C.

FOR MAKING

Super Phosphates

AND

FERTILIZERS.

36 and 38 South Charles Street,

BALTIMORE MD.

☞ Write for List of Chemicals and Prices.

Dec. 24 6m.

P. F. PESCUD. P. F. PESCUD, JR.

P. F. Pescud & Son,

GENERAL

Life & Fire Ins. Agents,

RALEIGH, N. C.

CAPITAL & ASSETS, $42,000,000

The Companies represented comprise some of the most responsible in Europe and America

They represent the National Life Insurance Company, of the U. S. A. Old Phoenix Fire Insurance Company, of Hartford, Liverpool and London Globe Fire Insurance Company, Franklin Fire Insurance Company, of Pennsylvania. Home Fire Insurance Company, of New York. Hyeria Home Fire Insurance Company. Alpa Insurance Company, of Erie, Pennsylvania. North Missouri Insurance Company, of Macon, Mo. Amazon and Triumph Insurance Company, of Cincinnati. Farmville, of Farmville, Va.

Jan. 8-12m

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Batst's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at

PESCUD, LEE & CO'S

Drug Store.

Jan 14-tf

ALADDIN SECURITY OIL

Will prove Itself equal, if not superior, to any burning Oil that has been offered to the public—is perfectly safe for use in all Kerosene Lamps. Will give all who use perfect security in doing so. For sale by PESCUD, LEE & CO., Druggists.

Jan 14 tf

DISSOLUTION OF CO PARTNERSHIP.

The mercantile firm of WYATT, GREEN & CO., including that of PZZLE & CO., was by mutual consent dissolved this day.

The name of the firm will hereafter be used only in liquidation. All claims for or against, will be settled by their successors as they become due. The successors will be published on the 3rd inst.

WYATT, GREEN & CO.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec, 1, 1873.
Dec. 10-tf

ONE HUNDRED BOXES ASSORTED CANDY

50 Boxes Fox's Stick.

LEACH BROS.

july 23-tf

$5 TO $20 per day at home. Agents wanted. All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, making more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

Sept 18-12m.

CANFIELD BROTHER & CO.,

249 Baltimore St.,

BALTIMORE MD.

Gold Watches for Ladies & Gentlemen.

American Watches a specialty.

These Watches have an established reputation.

Silver Watches of every variety.

Diamonds, Rich Jewelry,

Chains, Lockets, &c.

Gold Head Canes,

Clocks, Bronzes, Vases,

Every Silver Ware for Bridal Gifts.

Triple Plated Tea Sets, Waiters, Ice Pitchers, Fruit Stands, Castors, spoons and Forks. A complete stock of new style Plated Goods. Pans, Opera Glass and Rich Fancy Goods.

Our stock is large and prices moderate. Order have prompt attention. Medals and Badges for Schools and Colleges.

apr 24—12m.

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

MALE AND FEMALE

R. P. TROY, A. M., Principal,
Mrs. R. P. TROY, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.

Board per month, $8.00
Tuition " from 1.50 to 5.00
One half in advance.

ADVANTAGES.

Low price of board and tuition, a select and moral location, salubrious climate, one of the best [illegible] every Sunday.

Access—By R. & G. Road to Greensbo

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ST. MARY'S RECTORY, ANTIGUA, W. I. }
Sept. 14th, 1872. }

To J. Bridger, Esq.,
Agent (in Antigua) for Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER

Dear Sir:

It is I think nearly twelve months ago, that I first procured from you a small bottle of Perry Davis Pain-killer, not being able to obtain another medicine. Very many of my poor people came to me for medicine, and I gave at times especially for bowel complaints and the like, a few doses of Pain-killer. In a little time I began to receive unusual expressions of gratitude for the benefit derived from its use. This led me to more particular inquiries about it, and about its effects, which resulted in my using it more largely, and for more varieties of complaints, and wherever it was given, as far as I knew, with out exception, it was, by God's blessing, a means of good; in most cases curative in the worst cases. Very young infants and very aged persons have been restored by it, when apparently past all hope. It seems to me so peculiarly adapted to the constitution of our long tried people, that I feel constrained to endeavor to extend the knowledge and employment of it, which I can best do by such a communication as the present to yourself.

I have had comparatively little experience of its external application, but it has quickly, and as it seems effectually relieved some extensive diseases of a very malignant and dangerous kind, and I may add that its applications has saved for me several valuable sheep, suffering from Foot and Mouth disease. The sheep were to be destroyed, when one of our children suggested the trial of Pain-killer, which almost at once checked the progress of the disease, and very shortly restored them to health and soundness all but one.

You are at liberty to make and use of this letter, and I shall be thankful if in your hands it contributes to extend the use and the benefits of a very valuable medicine.

I am Dear Sir, yours faithfully.
W. I. Read, M. A.,
Rector of St. Mary's, and Archdeacon of Antigua.
Sold by all the Druggists and Grocers.
Jan. 7-1 m.

Our Bodily Infirmities.

Physical infirmities are the lot of all. Millions are always sick. No man, woman or child fill uniformly in perfect health. Much however, of the sickness and suffering which render life a burden in so many of our fellow beings is due to carelessness and neglect. A mighty antidote to the leading causes of disease has been provided. It is as harmless as it is efficient. No poisonous drug enters into its composition. It is an undefiled stimulant tonic and aperient, of which every ingredient is vegetable. This unexceptionable preventive and restorative medicine is not a new thing under the sun. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will soon have been before the world a quarter of a century; and it is not too much to aver that, thousands, aye, tens of thousands are now using it who would have been in their grave years ago had they not been strengthened and sustained by this wholesome stimulant. The rapidity with which minor ailments often become, when neglected, obstinate diseases, is well known. This tonic is famous for the immediate check which it gives for the breedless of deadly disorders. The sensation of languor, the sick headache, the nervousness, the indisposition to exertion, the nausea, the cool stool or brain, the physical debility, which are intended to premonish us of the approach of serious danger, are invariably removed by a few doses of the Bitters. The fame of the preparations as a genuine specific for dyspepsia, bilious complaints, malarious fevers, rheumatism and chronic debility, is as wide as the world; and in these days of fulsome mendacity, when fierce cathartics, the rob the mouth of the last remnants of its strength, are advertised as invigorants (!) it is indeed a blessing to mankind that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are everywhere procurable, and everywhere popular.

Jan. 7-1 m.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely safe. Perfectly odorless. Always uniform. Illuminating qualities superior to gas. Burns in any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to dispense the use of volatile and dangerous oils. Its surely under every possible test, and its perfect burning qualities are proved by its continued use in over 300,000 families.

Millions of gallons have been sold and no secret of, directly or indirectly—has ever occurred from burning, storing or handling it.

The immense yearly loss to life and property, resulting from the use of cheap and dangerous oils to the United States, is appalling.

The insurance companies and Fire Commissioners throughout the country recommend the ASTRAL as the best safeguard which lamps are used. Send for circular.

CHAS. PRATT & CO., 108 Fulton Street, New York, proprietors.

Sold by Julius Lewis & Co., Raleigh—Authorized Agents.
Aug 27 6m.

THEIR MERIT APPRECIATING.—Brown's Bronchial Troches," have been before the public many years. Each year finds the Troches in some new, and valuable, in various parts of the world. Being an article of true merit, when once used, the value of the Troches is appreciated, and they are kept always at hand, to be used as occasion requires. For Coughs, Colds, and Throat Diseases, the Troches have proved their efficacy. For sale everywhere.
July

BEST AND OLDEST FAMILY MEDICINE.—Sanford's Liver Invigorator—a purely Vegetable Cathartic and Tonic—for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Debility, Sick Headache, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of Liver Stomach and Bowels. Ask your Druggist for it. Beware of imitations.
mar 26-12mo-w

DR. C. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their order distinctly, and take none but Dr. C. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Cordage for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Store keepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If you would have your children grow up to be HEALTHY, STRONG, and VIGOROUS MEN and WOMEN, give them a few doses of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,

TO EXPEL THE WORMS.

Be WARE OF IMITATIONS.

WANTED.

A young Lady of superior qualifications and four years experience, WISHES a situation as Teacher, and is qualified to teach the regular English course. Is prepared also to teach Latin and French. For further particulars address Box T. B. Re. ks, at Henderson N. C.
Dec. 21 1w.

REMOVED

The office and warehouse of the FALLS OF NEUSE MANUFACTURING COMPANY have been removed from Newton Raleigh, to the store recently occupied by W. H. Jones & Co., adjoining the Raleigh National Bank. Correspondents please note for change.
C. ROSENTHAL
Jan -1m Sec. and Treas.

EMERSON'S Singing School.

Price 75 cts., or $7.50 Per doz.,

IS A COMPLETE, CHEAP, AND USEFUL BOOK FOR SING ING SCHOOLS

Now is the time to use it, as it has all the material to make the Winter Singing School attractive and useful in the highest degree. By

L. O. Emerson.

System for Beginners ON THE PIANOFORTE.

By MASON & HOADLEY.

One cannot help liking this thorough, systematic method, the work of men eminent in their profession, and who have the important qualification of being experienced teachers.

Remember that the first months of instruction are, if there is any distinction, the important ones. That is the time to lay a good foundation. "A work well begun is already half done." Price $5.00.

All books sent, postpaid, on receipt of retail price.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.
Boston. 711 Br'dway, N. York.
May 14 12m.

Established 1815.

CHARLES SIMON & SONS., 63 No. Howard St., BALTIMORE, MD.

Dealers in Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods, would call special attention to their splendid stock of Dress Goods, Linen Goods, Embroideries, Laces, and Hosiery. The best assortment of Mourning Goods in the city.

SAMPLES SENT FREE!

All Orders amounting to $20.00

or over, will be sent free of Freight charges by Express, but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their Goods sent C. O. D. must pay for return of money.
feb -12m.

The King of Sunday School Books,

"PURE DIAMONDS."

By JAMES R. MURRAY. Assisted by Rev. P. Reed, H. R. Palmer, P. P. Bliss, J. M. Hoffer and a host of other popular writers of Sunday School Music.

No such genuine success ever known in the history of similar books. Over 100,000 copies have been sold in three months, and the demand increasing daily. Price in boards 35 cts. single; $3 50 per doz.; $25 per hundred. Specimen copy by mail, prepaid, 25 cts.

S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Cleveland, O.

Sent free to any Music Teacher Brainard's New Descriptive catalogue of Selected Pieces Made A selected list of choice music, containing full description of thousands of beautiful pieces of music. This new catalogue is a valuable book for teachers. Send for it by return mail. Address, S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Publishers, Cleveland, O.
Aug. 17-19m.

STIEFF'S PIANOS.

UPWARDS OF FIFTY

FIRST PREMIUMS

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

Were awarded to CHARLES M. STIEFF, for the Best Pianos in exhibition with all the leading manufacturers in the country.

WAREROOMS—No. 9 N. Liberty Street, Baltimore, Md.

The Superiority of the Unrivalled Stieff Piano Forte, is conceded by all who have compared it with others. In their New Grand Square Scale, 7⅓ Octaves, the manufacturer has succeeded in making the most perfect Piano Forte possible.

Prices will be found as reasonable as consistent with thorough workmanship.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos always on hand, from $50 to $125.

We are agents for the celebrated Bartlett Cabinet Parlor and Church Organs, all style and prices, to suit every one, guaranteed to be fully equal to any made.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 5,000 Southern users, 1,500 of whom are Virginians, 200 North Carolinians, 126 East Tennesseans and others throughout the South, who have bought the Stieff Piano since the close of the war.
april 6 1m.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes,

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,

THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students of diseases have had their sight permanently Restored for life, as I cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight d ness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Epiphora, Running or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or impert ct vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9 Overwrought Eyes; 10. Mydesopia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Anyone can use the Ivory Eye Cups without the aid of doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to further assist the Cups. We guarantee success in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,500 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Chief Editor of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof. W. Merrick of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 21th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I can read the type, after using the PATENT Ivory Eye Cups thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT Ivory Eye Cups.

E. P. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 25th, 1868: "I have tested the PATENT Ivory Eye Cups, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex R. Wyeth, M. D., Aledon, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT Ivory Eye Cups restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PRESCRIPTIONS AND ANATOMY OF THE EYESIGHT, eighty hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Written by Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No. 91 Liberty street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ADJUSTMENTS, applied to the Ivory Eye Cups. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money by advertising huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face.

AGENTS WANTED.

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED Ivory Eye Cups, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $2 to $25 A DAY. To live Agents $20 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write home directly to

DR J. BALL & CO.,
NO 9 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. New York City, N. Y.
sept 6 13m

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.
Sept 10-tf

IMPORTANT ANNONUCEMENT.

In 1871 I invented and secured letters patent for an IMPROVEMENT IN WASH-BOILERS;

a simple arrangement by which steam was applied to the washing of clothing. I have heretofore sold this under the name of

STEAM WASHER OR WOMAN'S FRIEND, for such it is in fact. I have advertised in nearly every Religious Newspaper in the United States and Canada, also in the leading secular papers, using page and double page advertisements. The readers of THE RALEIGH CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE may remember seeing my Card in the various papers of the country during the past year. Extracts from letters received from my customers also from the press, in another column, will indicate how it has been received by the people and press throughout the country.

FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND have been sold already. It is sufficient for my purpose to say that I am satisfied that nothing heretofore advertised ever rendered a general satisfaction. Yet this, my first invention, was not quite perfect. And for the last two years I have applied myself to the study of constructing and perfecting a and as the result of many efforts I feel entirely successful. My patented in 1873, is absolutely faultless; so much so that I never knew a single person, who has seen it work, fail to be delighted with it. It has rendered, thus far,

NEW STEAM WASHER,

NEW STEAM WASHER,

PERFECT AND UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION, and such must be the result, for it works like a WONDER—never failing to do all claimed for it.

In conclusion, let me say, that should any one say that he has seen a STEAM WASHER, ask him if he has seen the new of 1873, now being advertised so extensively in whole page and double page advertisements. If he answers in the negative, request him to suspend judgment until a sample can be procured and fully tested. I will send one as

Steam Washer

A Sample For $5.00

—just half the retail price—and I fully warrant it. After a person buys a sample, he can get them of me at cost.

$60.00 Profit can be made on a

Single Dozen,

and I have known Agents to take orders for

A DOZEN IN A HOUR.

There is no way to make money faster. Send for a sample, and secure your territory. Make Money while you can.

A CARD!

Please read this "CARD" carefully. If you do not wish to become interested yourself, have you not some friend you can refer me to, who would likely be benefited by my proposals?

READER:

Please calculate the cost of my two-page advertisement in the

"CHRISTIAN UNION."

It consists of 1,480 lines. At regular rates amounted to $1,750

EACH INSERTION!

I repeated this "Card" Nov. 13th, because my first insertion (Oct. 8th) paid me

500 PER CENT.

During the last eighteen months I have inserted my advertisement, occupying one to two pages, in

Hundreds of First-Class Papers, all of which paid well for the outlay; but the Christian Union ("the largest circulation of any religious paper in the world") pays me better than any. I mention this fact, for all can see how extensive I advertise my invention; and taking into consideration the fact that I sell it

Entirely on its Merits

all must concede that it sells well, for no article will sell well enough to pay for so expensive advertising

Without Real Merits.

If I can get a sample introduced into a neighborhood, it often sells

AN HUNDRED MORE.

Such a splendid chance to make money selling this invention may never occur again.

Will Cleanse Your Clothes Without Rubbing.

Every one Sold is Fully Warranted.

It Saves Labor, Wear and Tear, and the Annoyance of Wash Day.

It will do the Washing of the Family while you are Eating Breakfast and Doing up Dishes.

STEAM has long been known as the most powerful agent in removing dirt, grease, and stains from clothing, and bleaching them white. Paper makers have for many years used steam in bleaching their rags, and they succeed in making by its agency the filthiest pickings from the gutter perfectly pure and white. Until the invention of the STEAM WASHER, or WOMAN'S FRIEND, although often attempted, no method had been discovered of applying steam directly to the clothing, which could be used in a portable manner for domestic purposes. The WOMAN'S FRIEND washes without labor. It will do the washing of an ordinary family in thirty minutes to an hour. The STEAM WASHER is superior to all other in views, for the following reasons:

1. It does its own work, thereby saving a large portion of the time usually taken in a family.

2. It uses much less soap than is required by an other method.

3. It requires no attention while at work, whether the process of cleansing is going on. A lady can do her washing while she is using her needle and rocking on the breakfast dishes.

4 Clothing wears double the time, washed in this Washer that it will washed by a machine or by hand labor or a washboard.

5 Lace curtains and all fine fabrics are washed in a superior manner. For flannels this Washer is most desirable, as it will not full them as a machine or hand rubbing does. All fabrics from the finest lace to a bed blanket, can be washed perfectly and without the rubbing board.

It is truly a Labor and Clothes Saving Invention.

READ THE FOLLOWING

CIRCULAR AND TESTIMONIALS.

I respectfully ask you to read this circular carefully and candidly consider what I now propose to you as a matter of business. Before making known to you my cash and credit terms, permit me to state that the matter of washing clothes is one of no small consideration; it is something which concerns every family and every individual. It is but recently since Hand Washing was in common use. Latterly, however, the inventive genius of the country has been directed to the invention and construction of various devices of machinery by which much of the labor, drudgery, loss of time, and wear and material, in part be obviated. Pondorous as well as intricate WASHING MACHINES have been constructed—many of which are decided improvements on over the old method of washing—and these Machines have been very suitable withal. People will continue to have Washing Machines; but let me ask you, If the STEAM WASHER can be constructed for a few dollars (much less than any ordinary Hand Washing Machine), and enable all to WASH BY STEAM without labor, loss of time, without wearing of clothing, etc., is it not reasonable to suppose that it will supersede in a great measure, all Washing Machines now in common use? It is now, as I every family needs it and will buy one. I wish to secure a few good men to sell rights I name, and I confess to seem as many as I need immediately. I offer extraordinary inducements. My price for territory is $2 per 1,000 inhabitants; but if you will buy a single county, and agree to sell rights for me, I will allow you a deduct bk 2-3 per cent. as your commission, consequently your county would cost you $53 instead of $225, should it contain but 25,000 inhabitants more or less in the same proportion. And to those buying rights I will sell Washers at nearly cost, and to those not buying rights I will sell Washers at $60 per dozen and bear in mind, I will sell to no one except a single dozen until he first buys the right to a county. Any time I can make the Washers as well as they can be made here and save the transportation. Remember that by purchasing the right of a single county, you shall have the privilege of selling my county or State for me, and upon application I will forward the deed to you by express for any territory which you have sold for me; providing that such territory is not already sold when I receive your order. I will make all the deeds so that there can be no confusion or mistake. The amount you will have to pay me is simply $3 per 1,000 inhabitants, in my county or State. I shall make these very liberal offers for a short time only, after which I shall sell at my regular price, $9 per 1,000.

Many of my patrons have requested me to suggest to them the best method of selling the WOMAN'S FRIEND, in order to make the most money in the shortest time possible. In reply I would say that there are many methods which might be suggested, all of which seem to work well, but the most prominent of which I will suggest. In the first place, send for a sample and carefully test it, and if pleased, purchase that county in which you would like to make money, or where you can sell rights. There is no business you can engage in which offers such splendid inducements. Besides, it is a safe business, as loss and pleasant, because it renders perfect satisfaction. I can not see how I can propose better terms. Should I allow my patrons to make their own terms, I scarcely believe they could make better terms to themselves, and make more money.

On the receipt of Five Dollars, I will ship you a complete Washer as a sample, together with a Certificate of Agency with full instructions how to conduct the business. And upon the receipt of the Washer you may have time to test it, and if you find it not as represented, I will refund your money. The Washer retails at $10. After I send you a sample I will hold your county as reasonable time for you to decide whether you wish to purchase or not. I will furnish blank deeds, circulars, contracts for taking orders, and will do all I can to enable you to succeed in the business. Let me hear from you soon, or your choice of territory may be sold: to some one else.

ADDRESS

J. C. TILTON.
PITTSBURGH, PA

DIRECTIONS:

1. Soak the clothing over night in warm suds in the usual manner.

2. Put in the bottom of the WASHER a quarter or half of good soap, or enough to make a good suds stirred up thin; then turn on down the faucet-button—see that the centre valve is in the proper position; put in water enough to cover the cap over the valve, say about an inch; lay the clothes down and spread out so the water can circulate freely—and carefully pack the clothes down; see that the fire under is only to generate steam; when the water boils, it will begin to flow up the tubes on the cover, at the ends of the Washer, and through the holes into the Washer again; and as soon as it is seen that steam is going out in this manner fasten the thirty or forty-minutes the washing will be complete. Rinse well and wring out same as in usual way. Colored clothes must not be mixed with white. Use hot water always. If hard use soda, lye, or make it soft in any other way.

It it is desired to bleach with the Washer, this may be done by adding a table spoonful of borax or cream of tartar to a Washer full of clothing.

ST. MARY'S, Augusta Co., O.

DEAR SIR:—Having used your Steam Washer for over four months, we are prepared to recommend it to the public as far the best, cheapest and easiest method of washing that we have ever met with. We have tested it thoroughly in doing very dirty clothing in it and know it will do all that you claim for it. We have never had to rub a single article on the wash board since we have had it; hence there is a great expense saved in the wearing of clothing. We could not do without it.

REV. J. JACKSON and WIFE.

GOODRICH KENDALL P.O., Texas, Feb. 10 1872.

J. C. TILTON, Esq.—DEAR SIR:—The sample Washer which I ordered arrived in due time. All who have seen it in operation are well pleased with it. I will do all that you claim for it. You will please send C. O. D. deeds for the additional counties ordered, and oblige.

Very respectfully,
JOSEPH B. HAYDEN.

FEBRUARY 10, 1872.

MR. J. C. TILTON.—DEAR SIR:—The Washer came to hand; accept my thanks for your promptitude. I am glad to acknowledge it all you promised. Several have come to see it tried. All acknowledge it a perfect success. I write to order a deed to Henderson Co., Ky. I would send the money now, but fear some one has the right by this time.

Yours, O. D. REV. B. T. TAYLOR.

SHOEMAKER, Northumberland Co., Pa., May 2, 1872.

MR. J. C. TILTON.—SIR:—I received the Steam Washer the 13th inst. Thanks to you for your promptness. My wife has tried it, and it gives full satisfaction. I make haste to order a deed for my county. Northumberland is my first choice; next, Monroe; third Columbia. I send you $10 00, and balance C. O. D., in thirty days. Please send me a list of any other adjoining counties not sold.

Respectfully yours,
MOORE FURMAN

FRENCH CAMP, Choctaw Miss., May 14, 1873

MR. J. C. TILTON.—Dear Sir:—Please find one hundred and twenty ($120 00) dollars P. O. money orders, $80 of which take in payment for twenty four Steam Washers, 12 copper boilers. For the remainder, send me the deed to Choctaw and Winston counties. Balance C. O. D. Order express agent to hold deed 30 days. I live out in the country, 31 miles from any express office.

S. W. ASTON.

WALTON, Ky., May 13 1873.

J. C. TILTON, Esq.—Dear Sir:—I sent you this day, per Adams Express, money to pay for one dozen Steam Washers—$54 00 for Washers, and $10 00 to pay price on the deed to Boone and Gallatin counties. I expect to order largely from you, and also expect to sell many counties rights. The Washers are taking well here. I did not get to do much after receiving the sample until this week, but I am pushing ahead now, and I think I will meet with good success. Hurrah for the Steam Washer! You will hear from me again shortly.

J. W. CONNER.

The above are a few extracts from letters received.

I can publish hundreds of letters from parties who have the Steam Washer, and speak in its praise. I have thus far declined doing so. I know full well how Certificates are looked upon. I have sold the Steam Washer upon its own merits. Thousands have used it, and it has given universal satisfaction throughout the county. I ask none to rely on what I say, or the commendations of others, but let the Washer stand on its own merits. I would not ask any one to engage in the business of selling Washers or rights, unless he has thoroughly tested its work; and to enable all to do so, I send a sample Washer upon the receipt of $5 00 (about half the retail price) and guarantee that if not found as represented I will refund the money. So there is little risk to begin with. I have advertised extensively in first-class papers. I refer you to the American Agriculturist, May, 1873, New York Tribune, Harper's Weekly, Cincinnati Times, Toledo Blade etc., etc. I also refer you to my double-page advertisement in the Christian Union, October 8, 1873, the largest circulation of any religious paper in the world (costing nearly $2,000 each insertion). Also the New York Independent, October 30, 1873, and all the leading papers of the religious press. I shall likewise continue to advertise, using double-column and double-pages. The largest advertisements in this or any other country. Of course my former patrons who have bought territory—as well as those who may hereafter engage in the business—will be proportionally benefited. I am convinced that the Steam Washer will be used in every family.

Address all Orders and Letters to

J. C. TILTON, No. 10 1-2 Sixth Street,
PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Cut this card out, and preserve it for future reference. Persons writing me from seeing this card, will please say where they saw it.

EXTRA!

A FINE CHROMO

16 by 20 Inches,

Given Each Purchaser

OF MY

Steam Washer!

THIS CHROMO IS ENTITLED

"The Old and The New,"

OR,

BEHIND TIME AND AHEAD OF TIME.

A spirited Engraving, showing

FIRST—Wife washing the old way—husband returning at 3 o'clock P. M., dinner not ready—BEHIND TIME. Not a pleasant scene.

SECOND—A Scotch scene where two Scotch girls, dressed in plaid, are tramping the clothes in a tub, in their favorite way. This is an improvement on the "old way," as it does not wear the clothes near so much.

THIRD—Shows the Steam Washer, the real Woman's Friend, in operation. Wife sits knitting in the rocking chair with pleasant children all around her delighted to see the Steam Washer flow eight jets of foaming water. Just at this moment husband returns, and is likewise astonished as well as delighted. This washing is done—dinner is ready at 11 o'clock A. M.—AHEAD OF TIME.

THIS IS A

Superb Engraving!

And will doubtless be much sought after.

TO THE INVENTIVE GENIUS

OF THE

CHROMOS SELLING AT $3.00.

I have concluded hereafter to Present Each Purchaser

OF ONE OF MY NEW

STEAM WASHERS

ONE OF THESE

CHROMOS FREE!

☞None will be offered for sale.

J. C. TILTON,

PITTSBURGH, PA.

A Few Extracts from the Press.

Our readers will be grateful for the room given to the advertisement this week to the famous Steam Washer of Mr. Tilton. We are prepared to recommend this invention as all the advertiser and manufacturer claims for it, and every family should order one at once. It saves woman's toil, and thus saves her life. It more than pays for itself in a very short time by the saving of fabrics, that by the old process of washing were worn out more than by actual service. The washing has been hitherto a greater wear and tear upon garments than the wearing itself. The new Steam Washer secures a clear gain to all who use it. The advertiser, Mr. Tilton, is a thoroughly reliable gentleman, and will perform all he promises.—METHODIST RECORDER. PITTSBURG, PA.

300,000 SOLD.

This does not probably represent one-fifth of the real number of Tilton's Washing Machines that have been sold. The press everywhere give testimony that Mr. Tilton's Woman's Friend is the best made or yet invented. Said a neighbor the other day, "There is no doubt about it; Tilton's Machine takes away the drudgery of washing, and makes clean work with the clothes. I pity the family that is without it." There are over seven millions of families in the United States to be supplied with this great blessing—over seven millions that need and want this machine. Mr. Tilton makes offers to those who are in earnest, who are not lazy, and who are willing to take hold with him, and who have a small capital, to aid him in supplying these seven million families with his Woman's Friend. His offers are simple and plain, and very liberal and without risk. Our cities, our villages, our country head-quarters, are full of men who need work. To all these Mr. Tilton offers plenty of work and good pay, and we earnestly urge all to write or go to Mr. Tilton, find out his terms, and begin business at once. See his big advertisement in another place. Mr. Tilton is honest and reliable, and the statements can be relied on.—CHRISTIAN STANDARD CINCINNATI, O.

Read the editorial published in the Pittsbusg ADVANCE. (Write the editor and send for a copy):

"We would not knowingly lend ourselves to practice on our readers a deception; but after having thoroughly tested TILTON'S STEAM WASHER the wife says, Too much can not be said in its praise. It not only requires a less quantity of soap than the old method, but it is wonderful saving of hard, slavish labor over the wash-tub—the clothes, when coming out of the boiler, with only a little rinsing, thoroughly washed and fit to hang on the line. She further says, 'I would not dispose of mine for five times its cost, if I could not procure another; for knowing its merits as I do, were there no other way, I would deprive myself of some article of apparel or the family of some necessary to procure one.

"These statements are made after reported trials of one of these Washers, and their truthfulness may be relied on.

"The principle on which the STEAM WASHER is gotten up will commend itself, as soon as understood, to every thinking mind. It is so very simple that the wonder is that it has not been discovered before. We rejoice for the relief which this invention will afford those who have to perform that essential part of domestic labor—washing."

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 5. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,003.

Selected Poetry.

The Chant of the Pilgrim.

BY JOHN ORDRONAUX, LL. D.

"The statutes have been my songs in the house of my pilgrimage."—Ps. 119:54.

A weary pilgrim, laden sore,
I long to rest on Canaan's shore,
Where I shall tread in dust no more
Life's treacherous road,
My cross at times I scarce could bear,
Did not my Saviour's loving care
Extend an heavenly arm to share
My grievous load.

I see it not—for sight is dim,
Yet know, through faith, it comes from Him
Who calls the seraphim
In God-like reign.
And sometimes feel no earthly arm
Could give such strength, or pour such balm,
For I have tried each sov'reign charm
Of earth in vain

My threadbare suit and sandals worn,
From which the world recoils in scorn,
He heeds not—the man forlorn
Is all He sees.
The sinner bruised is all He knows,
The pilgrim reeling 'neath the blows
Of Satan's darts—to such He goes
To offer ease.

For when in darksome ways I've strayed,
Crossed fens, or swollen streams, dismayed,
Still ever me shone through gloom and shade,
His saving light;
One single beam, so faint, so small,
I scarcely knew it shone at all,
Till I looked up, when lo! night's pall
Blushed ruby-bright!

What if that light were veiled from me?
What if I lost my chart at sea,
And tempests raged and rocks a lee
My soul did fright?
O wondrous love! O Grace Divine!
O star of Hope! still on me shine,
Nor this poor wand'ring soul consign
To endless night.

Full long my weary feet have trod,
Through the dark vale of my God,
Where, scourged by strife;
And long I gazed the Eastern star
Would shine from Bethlehem's sky afar,
Nor guided before whither would bar
The way to life!

Still, as I climbed, led to Pisgah's height,
Unclosed, the Jordan's land of light,
While age's feet descending night
Doth on me rest;
Yet never shall age nor time abate
My zeal to reach the Heavenly gate,
Where Saints with boundless joy await
This pilgrim guest.

Lord! help the pilgrim on his way,
Help him, when weary in the fray,
With trust unfaltering still to say,
Thy will be done;
Then howe'er stricken, aged, sore,
Till I array Cross with joy ever more,
Nor rest, until at Canaan's door,
My Crown is won.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

"Letters to a Young Itinerant."—No 2.

MY DEAR YOUNG BROTHER: I mentioned in my last that many of the errors or difficulties that arise in the way of the young itinerant, are from want of experience, — others from thoughtlessness, and others from want of appreciation or obstinacy. Now in specifying some of these errors—I do not propose to maintain these distinctions—but will mention them in the order in which they generally arise—and one of the very first difficulties that the young preacher encounters on his entrance upon his new field of labor, arises something in this way:—

There is a ubiquitous Bro. Smith on almost every circuit—who feels that much of the destiny of the Church, and the reputation of the preacher is committed to him, and he therefore manages to meet up with the young brother very soon, and in obedience to the trusts he feels he holds—(and oftimes it must be confessed, in all apparent honesty and sincerity) proceeds to lay before the preacher an epitome of the field of labor. In this detail the discouraging, disheartening phases always preponderate, attributable in the opinion of Bro. Smith, to the numerous delinquencies and unfaithfulness of the last preacher; or to the indiscretions or deflections of certain brothers or of certain churches; or, of all together. These impediments and irregularities he proceeds to designate in which he manages to mix up the last preacher as the prime actor, and to introduce by name all the brethren as participes criminis, and to bring all their acts and motives to the touchstone of his own prejudices and temperaments, until when the startling detail is finished, the young preacher—desiring to appreciate this disinterested forewarning on the one hand—is almost overwhelmed on the other, with the magnitude and danger of the work before him, and begins to conclude he is like the poor Levite "who went down from Jerusalem to Jericho." How shall he reconcile these estrangements, rectify these wrongs, unite and harmonize these discordant elements, and preach the gospel of peace to a people and a church, in which according to these representations, there is no peace? But this careful brother does not content himself with the simple impartation of these items of information so necessary, as he conceives for the preacher to know, but he manages very adroitly, and almost imperceptibly to elicit from the preacher an approving word—an agreement of opinion, or an unreserved condemnation of this or that thing, or this and that brother, until as soon as the preacher's back is turned, Bro. Smith exultingly publishes to all the world that the preacher is on his side; he so expressed himself, and he dare not now recant, or in other words he spread a snare for his feet and succeeded in entrapping him.

In the meantime, the preacher, with many fears and a heavy heart, enters upon his work, and in going around his circuit finds more of these lions on his way, that this unxious brother had so earnestly pointed out to him. The state of the church, and his reception by the people are so different from what he expected, as to greatly astonish him. In consultation with a pious, faithful brother, the preacher makes known what were his fears, and what are the facts. He discovers that the whole chaper of difficulties, involving the reputation of the last preacher, and the piety and integrity of several of the brethren, arises from a "beam in the eye" of this good Bro. Smith, or sprang from his jealous mind and prejudiced heart, intended not so much to forewarn the preacher as to precommit him, so that for the balance of the year he can boast that the preacher is on his side. Moral—never commit yourself in matters of this kind, until you hear both sides. It will save you an immense amount of trouble and mortification.

Much of your success as a minister, especially in the itineramcy, will depend upon the amount, and the manner of pastoral visitations. In entering a family as their pastor, your deportment ought always to be in keeping with the dignity of your office. To preserve this you must not be too formal or reserved on the one hand, nor too much at home or familiar on the other. Let your visit be a means of grace, and with this high purpose in view, your conversation and deportment cannot well run into extremes.

On one point here I would especially guard you. An itinerant's life is full of incidents. Many of these are of a touching and painful character; others are of an amusing kind, and to one who has a vein of humor in his nature, or an eye for the ridiculous, they sometimes are intensely so.—Now, on the social entertainments of the evening, incidents of this latter kind may be related; and if the preacher leads off, as he very often does, another person present will not only be reminded, but will be encouraged to relate a similar case. This will call forth another, until the entire evening conversation perhaps runs in this vein. Now, if in the details of all these incidents, there has been no profane language repeated or other indecorous allusions made, there might be no wrong in the abstract committed. But when you remember that this is a pastoral visit, intended to be a means of grace to the family, that children are present, that the reading of the Holy Scripture (where the saints are admonished to eschew "all foolish talking and jesting") and the worship of God around the family altar is before you, I submit to you, my dear young brother, if such conduct on the part of a minister, may not do serious injury—in the first place to himself, by his indulgence in a spirit of levity and vain conversation, and secondly to the family and church by his example.—How often will you find occasion to remember the Saviour's admonition, "Be ye wise as serpents and harmless as doves."

I shall continue these letters in succeeding issues of the ADVOCATE.

Yours in Christ,

WATCHMAN.

Cedar Grove, Jan. 1874.

A Wonderful Cave in W. N. Carolina.

In the range of mountains in Western North Carolina, known as the "Fork Range," a most singular phenomenon exists. It is a breathing cave. In the summer months a current of air comes from it so strongly that a person can't walk against it, while in the winter the suction is just as great. The cool air from the mountains in the summer is felt for miles, in a direct line from the mouth of the cave. At times a most unpleasant odor is emitted upon the current from the dead carcasses of animals sucked in and killed by the violence. The loss of cattle and stock in that section in winter is accounted for in this way: they range too near the mouth of the cave, and the current carries them in. At times, when the change from inhaling to exhaling begins, the air is filled with various hairs of animals; not unfrequently bones and whole carcasses are seen miles from the place. The air has been known to change materially in temperature during exhalation, from quite cool to unpleasantly hot, withering vegetation within reach, and accompanied by a terrible, roaring, gurgling sound, as a pot boiling. It is unaccounted for by scientific men who have examined it, though no exploration can take place. It is feared by many that a volcanic eruption may break forth there some time. Such things have occurred in places as little expected. We hope our friends in the neighborhood will keep us thoroughly posted as to the movements of the strange mountain.—Asheville Citizen.

For the Advocate.

Annual Conferences. No. 2.

MR. EDITOR: Before bringing our glasses to bear on the Conference, as hinted at in my last, let us take a look at a few things more by the way. In my college days I used to say that the most humbugging institution on earth was a college catalogue. But I am now inclined to give that "bad preeminence" to fashionable hotels.—Three dollars a day! and for what? "You pays your money and you takes your choice!" "On the contrary, quite the reverse," as Tom Weller says. 'You pays your money and you takes what you can get.' First, if you are not very lucky you take a flight heavenward, three, four, or five stories up in the air. Second, you take, it may be, a room without fireplace or stove. In due time you take a seat at a naked table where further insult is added to fleecing. After waiting a quarter of an hour for something to eat your plate suddenly begins to be surrounded by a little fleet of little dishes, in each of which is a very little quantity of very ordinary grub. As much ado is made over it as if you were the guest of the nation, an ambassador from some grand monarch, to be served by special order with all the delicacies of earth. First your ears are saluted by a rattling fusilade of clattering crockery, a salvo to the grandeur of the occasion, and then the marshalling of the petty squadron, the dinner gunboat fleet, begins. In one little dish is a sweet potato; in another an Irish potato; in another a piece of corn-bread; in another a cabbage leaf; in another a spoonful of "grits;" in another a slice of beef; in another a bit of chicken or a spoonful of hash; and in another a slice of green hog meat half done. That is your second course if you have been verdant enough—which I take it no man is the second time—to order the plate of "vegetable soup" for the first.—Having "worried through" with that you are next furnished a slice of apple pie and possibly a slice of cake and a cup of boiled custard. That is the third course. How grand it sounds! Then come nuts, raisins and apples: and lo your dinner is served in four courses! Still less constitutes your breakfast and supper.—And for this shoddy-contract style of feeding you are charged three dollars a day. I calculate that Sir Boniface makes about two dollars and seventy-five cents clear on you. Frank Day, a wanderer from the rural shades of virtuous Shake-Rag, having stopped at one of these stylish and pretentious hostelries, describing it afterwards to his neighbors said that "it was the biggest show of knives and forks, with the least to eat, that he ever laid eyes on."

And now, Mr. Editor, a word about newspaper men just here. My blood is up and I am 'going for you.' The practice of so many editors, locals, reporters and the riff-raff in general of newspaper writers and hangers-on, of complimenting hotels and rail roads indiscriminately, bootlicking them for free tickets, is a practice which I very much "disgust." I don't mean to say that you do it, my good brother, nor am I going to point out any one man and say "you are the man;" but I do mean to say that it is a common thing with your cloth. It is a shameful practice; shameful because both false and sordid. I wish you would give us a strong editorial against that and all kindred sins, such as puffing circuses, theatrical performances, lectures, cantatas, feeble "concerts" that bore one to the verge of suicide, "tableaux" that represent nothing on earth or in the heavens above or the waters beneath, et ni omne genus which everybody pays money to go to who goes at all, except newspaper men, who pay in printed laudation and venal enthusiasm. How contemptible the pay! What frivolous things are so paid for! Self respect pawned for a soup-ticket! The independence and manhood of the press exchanged for a free seat at one of those jangling abominations of so called negro minstrelsy! The newspaper is a public institution, public property, as well as private: and O, to what base uses is it put when so prostituted! I call for reform, and I call on you, brother Bobbitt, to sound the note. The periodical press can elevate or debase, save the country or damn it. Shall they begin by self-degradation? If I could know that every newspaper writer had resolved that he would, first of all, always remember that he is a gentleman, always a gentleman, and act up to his highest and best conception of that lofty character, I should feel sure that the country had started on an upward career, that better days were at hand, that our morals and our liberties were alike secured against assaults from what ever quarter, and that the tasks of the officers of the law and of the preachers of the blessed gospel were together becoming easier. In your last issue, Mr. Editor, you copy an article on praying for editors. I say amen to it. And I say further, let the prayers include all newspaper men. They, the newspaper men, may be feeble enough; but, however feeble, they can do a world of mischief—and some of them are doing it. And, now, with many wishes for your prosperity and increased usefulness, and hoping that better men than I will add their prayers, and meaning none of all the above about newspaper men for you, I give you good night and stop for the present.

WOODSDALE.

For the Advocate.

DEAR ADVOCATE: Situated as we are, near the Conference boundary, and so far from the center where the great luminaries, religious as well as political, most do congregate, we get weekly through the ADVOCATE, and "some occasionally" through other sources, pen and ink sketches of the wisdom there dispensed, which, if properly applied, would aid us greatly in lighting up our path while sojourning in the land.

This section of the State being originally settled by Scotch-Irish, and their descendants being numbered for multitude as "the sands upon the shore," we are necessarily in the midst of a very strong Presbyterian influence. They are now putting forth their strength in the establishment of a second church. In this effort we most heartily wish them success. They have long since established a Sunday and day school, in what was once the dark corner of our city, erected a neat little chapel, and frequently supply that class of persons with preaching that only can be reached by going to them, consequently doing great good. This class of material in our midst was first ministered to by our Rev. Bro. John F. Butt, who possesses a peculiar talent for frontier labor. A number of years since he established what is known as "Calvary Mission," which, in justice to the brother, should be called John F. Butt Mission. By his efforts, (almost entirely unaided), visiting families, in the Sunday school and pulpit, he succeeded in establishing a good congregation and a large membership. Where disorder, riot and drunkenness once prevailed, there is now comparative peace, quiet, good order, and a church-going people. To Bro. Butt's ministry, attended by the blessing of God, this work was begun and continued for a series of years.—Verily, he shall have his reward. Latterly this field has been occupied by Bro. Haltom, who has grown old in the service, and if I be allowed the expression, is a whole Conference within himself—seems to have put on the harness of the young man, and is bending all his energy to the erection of a new church on a much more desirable lot;—he has no idea of the existence of the word "fail," and success will crown his efforts.

The new year, with all its responsibilities, has dawned upon us. How many that may be able to buffet its storms and tempests to the end, by a wise provision, is "veiled in the future." Many of us will doubtless pass away,—some with a blessed hope beyond, others with the wreck of body, soul and all are lost. The closing of the old, and the beginning of the new year, furnishes material for the mind to digest. This, the most inclement season of the year, brings many changes; some pleasant, others cause many tears to fall; attachments, the growth of years, are sundered. Who expects riences this more than Methodist preachers? They, in my humble opinion, are the most self-sacrificing class of men upon the globe, (only excelled in this particular by the ladies who become their wives) and deserve, and should receive, the sympathy of those among whom they may be cast. A few questions, pertinent to the case, may just here, be addressed to the readers of the ADVOCATE: How did you meet your Pastor and family when they landed in your midst? Did you supply his wants to such extent as to give his mind relief until he could survey his field of labor, form acquaintances, and feel that he was among friends? Do you visit and cheer him by your conversation? Do you sustain him by your prayers? Do you pay what you owe him, and when you ought, and not compel him to ask for "credit" to supply his children with bread?—Study these questions,—in doing so many others will present themselves. Answer them as your conscience may prompt, and as you will be compelled to do when your Pastors all are present. Don't say you dislike him, won't hear him preach, won't pay him, and such like things. He is not responsible for being sent to you, and is only sent for one short year. You have your faults, and would feel very unkindly if your preacher would say "I don't like him," and refuse to go to his appointments. He has feelings as well as you; don't wound them.

I have italicised the word "owe" for the reason that I fear there are too many who substitute "give" and other words of equal import, when in truth we owe the debt. If your Pastor should walk in your store, your smoke house, or corn-crib, and take sufficient to supply all his wants, and walk away without paying for them or asking their value, you would think it very strange, and be almost ready to charge him with ———. If he should ask the price, would you tell him 'I don't charge anything for my goods, just give them away;'—not at all. You go to hear him preach, call for him in distress, want him in the sick chamber, perhaps to bury your dead. He must go, day or night, no weather too inclement for excuse; this takes all his time. His time, comparatively speaking, is his capital or merchandize.—Upon that his family depends for support, and when you employ the one, or use the other, you are as justly indebted to him as he is to you for yours. Now answer, is it a debt, or will you still insist that it is a gift? I have only broached the subject. A great deal might be said to sustain my positions, but my article is growing too long. A few words about those who have recently come among us, and those whom we have told "good bye,"—perhaps not to see again until summoned before the final Judge.

Bro. Carraway has entered actively upon his labors, and produced a most favorable impression. When the weather will permit, his congregations are large and attentive. He came almost an entire stranger to our people, but won't remain so long. We look forward to good results, and will be disappointed if the membership of Tryon Street Church is not greatly increased under his ministry. Our new Presiding Elder, Bro. Nelson, we have known before. At the time of holding his first Quarterly Meeting, the weather was so inclement that but few could get out to hear him. No doubt he will come fully up to the "measure of his duties." Dr. Burkhead, as our Pastor, has left us. He is no novice in the position of P. E., having been initiated long since. Those to whom he is sent, will find in him all the requisites of the preacher as well as the business man. In his social relations he is a sound adviser, genial in his intercourse, and a pleasant companion.

Bro. Black was a stranger when appointed our P. E. three years ago.—From the first to his last visit, he was all a devout christian gentleman could be. We had learned to love, and 'twas hard to part with him. Without the least disparagement to his predecessor, the Wilmington District has been most fortunate in his appointment. He is to them as he was to us, a stranger. To the Methodists of that District I most heartily commend him. Open your doors and bid him a hearty welcome. You will soon appreciate and love him;—he is a model christian. My highest earthly aspiration is to be such a christian as I believe W. S. Black to be. W.

Charlotte, January 1874.

For the Advocate.

"Honor to Whom Honor is Due."

I see from an item copied from the Sentinel in the ADVOCATE of 21st of January, that one of the late graduates of Trinity College "went to Yale College for the purpose of entering the senior class, and obtaining A. B. at their next commencement;" and the faculty found on examining the young man that he "was fully up to their requirement" for that degree, and so decided. That was a simple act of justice to the attainments of the young man, to Trinity College, and, at the same time, places it in the very front rank of colleges in the United States. It is also no ordinary tribute to the superior ability, and high literary qualifications of the present administration of Trinity; demonstrates that the grade of scholarship of Trinity is fully equal to the grade of scholarship of Yale; and clearly shows that there is no necessity for our young men going from North Carolina to obtain as thorough education as the country can furnish.

Yale College is one of the oldest, best equipped, most liberally endowed institutions of learning in the land. Trinity College is barely twenty-three years old, and is without one dollar of endowment, and has had almost no aid for any purpose from any source. Where is there another college in the wide world, starting from nothing, without aid, grown to such an honored positions among literary institutions in so short a time, or in any time? It is certainly an institution of which the country may be justly proud: especially, the Methodists in North Carolina. And if the college has done so surpassingly well in so short a time and under such unfavorable circumstances, what could it not do if liberally endowed and properly furnished? No Methodist in the State should be content till Trinity has every accommodation, every appliance the times demand. What is now most needed for the accomplishment of this desired object, is the spirit of liberality, taught by the blessed Gospel.—The vows of the everlasting covenant are upon every member of the Church: and every one is required by the terms of that covenant to do all in his power for the Kingdom of Christ, for the enterpises of the Church, with his means as well as with his other talents. No one can, with impunity, be indifferent to any of the enterprises of the Church. An active sympathy, material aid, is what God demands; is what Trinity College needs and ought to have, because so highly deserving it. It deserves the confidence of all—deserves the support and patronage of the Methodists particularly. It is high time for the Methodist Church in North Carolina to begin to learn what she can do, and not be satisfied till she does her whole duty. Let us build up and support our own institutions, and bid God speed all others! Let us be free from envy and jealousy, and labor earnestly, confidently relying upon God for His blessings.—Labor, toil, and sacrifice is the price of success.

M. L. WOOD.

Selected.

By the Cross to the Crown.

After all the studies of men, no surer way to heaven, with its blessedness and victory, has ever been found than the one marked out by the Master. Others have been proposed that are easier to the self-indulgent and worldly; but that they are insufficient, we need not wait until the judgment day, or even our dying day, to ascertain—for what they cannot accomplish for the soul before death, they cannot afterward. If they do not bring peace with God, tranquility of conscience, delight in prayer, and power over sin, they are worthless. These are fruits of God's work; and neither our relation to God, nor our moral character, is changed in our dying.

Our Saviour made plain the fact before hand that he was to be a suffering Messiah. It is observable that while he uttered some of his profoundest truths at a comparatively early period in his ministry, he led his disciples onward in the knowledge of his character and mission only as they were able to bear it. They believed him to be the Christ; but their faith needed to become confirmed and fixed. When it became settled, his next step was to tell them that he was to die. It was to Peter a new way for Jesus to win the crown which he expected him to wear; and not only new, but incredible, and not to be thought. The Messiah was to be a conquering King, and not a crucified malefactor. So men looked at it, but not so did Christ. Conqueror and King he would be, indeed, and he would one day appear "in the glory of his Father, with his angels," to sit in judgment upon the entire race, and men then living should see the establishment of his kingdom; but the way to the throne and the crown lay by the cross of Calvary. Through self abnegation and humiliation, unto his lowly, shameful death, he reached the glorious exaltation which he received, and the Name which is above every other name

Now, the Lord Jesus has laid down the same rule for all his followers.—Not only must he gain his crown by the cross, but his disciples should gain theirs in the same way. This is the divine order. So he said, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me." Self-abnegation is the first task for him who purposes in his soul to take Christ for his Lord. There is but one throne in a single man, and the sovereignty cannot be divided between Christ and self. Self must abdicate, and Christ be allowed to reign supreme. This reign of Christ is the "kingdom of God," into which he enters in the hour of this blessed surrender. Here is a self-denial that is in truth a consecration to Christ, just as Christ was consecrated to the will of his Father.

The cross stands for all ages as a symbol of suffering, just as it did for the first disciples. They were sufficiently familiar with it under Roman rule. They knew what it meant.—There is that in man which must die; and dying is no easy work. As one physically crucified died painfully, so the soul's crucifixion is a painful dying. And this idea of the cross so enters into a just conception of our sanctification, that it became embodied in the phraseology of the Church: and therefore, when St. Paul would describe the process of attaining spiritual freedom and victory over sin, he says, "our old man is crucified with him." And when he comes to speak of his own spiritual life, through an indwelling Christ, he declares himself to be "crucified with Christ."

We know not how it came to pass that the performance of a religious duty, such as prayer in the hearing of others, in the family or social meeting, or speaking of one's religious experience in a class room, prayer-meeting or love feast, should be specially characterized as "taking up the cross." It may be, and doubtless is, a cross to many persons: but this method of speaking of it has led not a few to think that this is what Jesus meant. It is greatly to be regretted, as its tendency is to turn attention from a very large class to a single thing. Let us rise to a higher, broader, safer view.

The cross was to Jesus the instrument of death for sin; to us it is the instrument of death to sin, and therefore of life to God. It is the positive, active side of what selfdenial is the negative, quiet side. First comes the dethronement of self, and then the healthy devotion to whatever will please and glorify God, however displeasing to the sinful heart, and how ever contrary to personal ease, preference, or gratification. There have been times when this course entailed persecution and death: but they were to be bravely encountered just as Jesus met His own fate. The time is now when this course entails inward struggles and conflicts, and no outward applause from a large class. But if it does its work, and results in a living by the faith of Jesus Christ, so that He, dwelling in us, and ruling us, can use us for His glory, we are in a path of blessed safety.

The final victory is certain to those who seek it in this way. The crown is won by the way of the cross. We are well aware that this is not the popular way. "Flowery beds of ease" seem to be chosen by many instead. In the effort to make religion attractive and joyous, we fear its absolute contrariness to sinful human nature is sometimes forgotten. We must take no imitation or sham, deck it with flowers, and palm it off as salvation, for we shall thereby destory souls. Religion is attractive and joyous, though not by tolerating the theatre, the card table, the dancing party, or the wine cup, but by giving a new heart and lifting it above all these into a purer light, a serener life, and the indwelling of God. Religion is easy, though not because of its idleness and want of care, but because animated by high motives and self renouncing love. It brings the essential blessedness of heaven to us while we are yet on the earth; and yet only as the foretaste of what shall be known when we come to see Jesus face to face, and He shall put on our heads the crown of glory that fadeth not away.—Zion's Herald.

The Artist and His Picture.

The way artists put themselves into their pictures is very amusing. They are so unconscious about it. I told Chrome he could never make a drawing without putting into it somewhere his own likeness. He brought me a picture. At first I thought he had the best of me. His trick was to have no human at all. But over there, in the right hand corner, was a manny-goat, with the very set of Chrome's shoulders and the very turn of his head. His dog might have been the likeness. He is more careful since I have plagued him about it; more careful with his male figures, but with his female he is off his guard, and there is hardly one of them without a suggestion somewhere of the artist, in shape or pose. In his last cartoon is an upright piano I would know for Chrome anywhere.

It is quite well understood that an artist imbues his work with his own qualities. His reproduction of the figure itself is a thing to study in its bearings upon the question of the mysterious connection between the body and the soul; a great question, indeed, having attached to it many little questions, such as the relation between jimber-jaws and geniality, flaming hair and a flashing temper, meeting eyebrows and a jealous disposition.

I have a theory about the human voice which some day I mean to elucidate in a perfectly clear and satisfactory manner. The essay will be illustrated with diagrams and designs of a character which can hardly fail to carry conviction to the most mathematical mind. Meantime I will merely say, in brief, that from a writer's voice I obtain his style. I do not mean his voice in conversation, but in reading. It is perfectly natural to suppose,—and I believe it is true in experience,—that a man writes to the sound of his own voice, both in prose and verse.

It is very well known that a painter's work is imbued with his own qualities, his temperament, his moods, and all that. It is very well known that it is the same with a writer's. And yet I think his matter of personality in art, and all that relates to it, is the one thing upon which there is most need, now a days, of insistence. You may say that it is to day more than ever acknowledged by all the world; that the very history of philosophy is made up, in large part, of personal biography; that no man pretends to study a philosophy apart from the life of its founder. For all that, because one man was born blind we behold another man bandaging his own eyes. I hear one running in the streets and crying, "Down with the Pope!" I look out of window and see him holding hard by another mortal's coat-tails.

If the old faith must die, let us not be hasty in taking up a new that is less beautiful, and haply may prove, as did the old, a delusion and snare. If we are to have new prophets, let them, at least, be men of prophetic vision. If the old gods are dead already, let not the new be altogether destitute of divinity.—"The Old Cabinet"; Scribner's for February.

Varieties.

Make no engagements which you have no reasonable prospect of meeting.

Be not the fourth friend of him who had three before and lost them.—Lavater.

There are few, very few, that will own themselves in a mistake, though all the world see them in downright nonsense.—Swift.

May I always have a heart superior, with economy suitable, to my fortune.—Shenstone.

Certain trifling flaws sit as disgrace fully on a character of elegance, as a ragged button on a court dress.—Lavater.

It is more from carelessness about truth than from intentional lying that, first there is so much falsehood in the world.—Johnson.

Orators and stage-coachmen, when the one wants arguments, and the other a coat of arms, adorn their cause and their coaches with rhetoric and flower-pots.—Shenstone.

When a true genius appears in the world, you may know him by this sign, that the dunces are all in confederacy against him.—Swift.

What you leave at your death, let it be without controversy, else the lawyers will be your heirs.—T. Os borne.

As sins proceed, they ever multiply, and like figures in arithmetic, the last stands for more than all that went before it.—Sir T. Brown.

Words are but lackeys to sense, and will dance attendance without wages or compulsion: Verba non invita sequentur.—Swift.

There is nothing so strong, in the stream, on the land, in the valley of palms, on the pinnacled snow, in the clouds of the gods, on the grasses below, as the silk-soft touch of ababy's brown hand.

'A three year old' neighbor saw a drunken man 'tacking' through the street.—'Mother,' said he, 'did God make that man?' She replied in the affirmative. The little fellow reflected for a moment, and then exclaimed, 'I wouldn't have done it.'

What is that although only four inches broad and three inches deep, yet contains a solid foot? A shoe.

What plaything may be deemed above every other? A top.

What is that though always stationary is ever in motion? A clock.

What Carpenters tool represents a sooth sayer? An auger (augur).

An auctioneer, at a late sale of antiquites, put up a helmet, with the following candid observation: 'This, ladies and gentlemen, is a helmet of Romulus, the Roman founder; but whether he was a brass, iron or type founder I cannot tell."

Vicksburg offers a reward for the recovery of an old lady, aged one hundred and eleven, who, it is supposed had been kidnapped by some felonious journalist from a rival city, desirous to secure her obituary for his own local items.

MacBride, of the Washington Chronicle was rushing along D street, one day last summer, pencil in hand, and caromed against Rev. G. A. Hall, who is always equally in a hurry, through his zeal on religious chores. 'Hallo, Mac?' exclaimed the Rev. G. A., impulsively, taking him by both hands. 'What are you doing for Jesus?' 'Well,' says Mac, 'To tell truth, I ain't doing much. I'm on the Chronicle now.'

Mr. Smith is bound to have his joke. His wife walked nearly in front of a railroad train the other day, and he said that if she had gone a step farther his children would have a step mother.

A Troy policeman swore as follows again a prisoner: "The prisoner set upon me, calling me an ass, a precious dolt, a scarecrow, a ragamuffin and idiot all of which I certify to be true."

The custodian of what had been Garibaldi's straw-stuffed bed in Ischia was heard to mutter, on seeing a lady carrying away a few straws as a relic, "They will do it; I've stuffed it six times already since the general left."

A young lady had coquetted until the victim was completely exhausted. He rose to go away. She whispered, as she accompanied him to the door, "I shall be at home next Sunday evening." "So shall I," he replied.

An agreeable and versatile Iowa "local" says: "Cedar River is in a languishing condition. It is very low and confined to its bed. The cod fish get around, and have to be helped off the sand-bars by the good-natured boys."

The Christian Advocate.

RALEIGH, N. C., FEBRUARY 4, 1874.

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

Terms.

For one year, single copy, in advance $2.00
For six months, single copy " " 1.25
If payment be delayed six months, 2.50

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us nine will receive the paper for $1.60. Those who send us none will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters for the office should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount in hand. If money is sent otherwise than herein specified it will be at the sender's risk.

REGISTERED LETTERS.—Persons sending money to the Advocate by registered letter will remember that the rate has been reduced from fifteen to eight cents.

ACT PROMPTLY.—Those of our patrons to whom bills have been sent will please renew at once, or notify us in some way whether or not they wish the paper continued. If we hear nothing from them we shall be under the unpleasant necessity of erasing their names from our books.

Now subscribers to the Advocate can, if so desired, be supplied with back numbers containing the proceedings and appointments of the late session of our Conference.

The ministers in our Conference will oblige us by sending to our office the number and names of the post offices within the bounds of their respective charges, so that we may furnish each with a list of subscribers and bills for delinquents.

We make this small reasonable request of all our subscribers. Will you not use your influence, each, to send us at least one new subscriber? All of you have personal friends.—Some of them, perhaps, do not take the ADVOCATE. By your influence they may be induced to take it. Make the effort, and we believe it will be successful.

Those of our preachers who wish a change in their post office address will please notify us, and we will forward to them the ADVOCATE with back numbers from the first of the year. The preachers who joined at the last session of our Conference are also requested to inform us where they wish the ADVOCATE sent.

PRESS THE CANVASS.—Many of our brethren are earnestly pressing the claims of the Advocate, and we are gratified at the large number of renewals and new subscribers which are coming in, daily. Let all whose time has expired renew promptly. Don't say, "Stop my paper." You need it, and the price is too low to plead poverty as an excuse.

Several brethren have written us for copies of the minutes of the late session of our Conference. Dr. Craven was appointed by the Conference to publish the minutes, and all orders for them should be addressed to him at Trinity College. We are unadvised as to whether they have as yet been published.

GOOD SUCCESS.—We are very much gratified at the decided increase in our subscription list during the month of January. We trust that our friends will continue to press the canvass, and that our increase in circulation the present month will double that of the past. There is no reason why this should not be so. Several new subscribers can be secured from each congregation if the preachers will give the matter proper attention. We earnestly request each preacher to make the effort, and especially to look after renewals.

A good brother from Ripley, Tennessee, adopts our suggestion made, not long since that every subscriber to the Advocate should send one new subscriber, and does his duty in the premises, for which he has our thanks.

Rev. Calvin H. Wiley, formerly Superintendent of Common Schools in North Carolina, will return to this State in March, and enter upon his duties as Bible Agent, vice Rev. P. A. Strobel, resigned.

The Rev. Edward M. Green, of the Presbyterian Synod of Georgia, has been called by a unanimous vote to the pastorate of the Washington Church, N. C., rendered vacant last spring by the resignation of Rev. P. H. Dalton.

Bishop Bowman, in a note to the Central Advocate, dated Houston, Texas, Jan. 13, says: "I have just had a long and delightful call from Bishop Kavanaugh and his brother, Dr. Kavanaugh. The bishop looks twenty years younger than he is—seventy-two—and preaches, as they say who have recently heard him, with his old eloquence and power. May he long live to bless the Church!"

We are requested to state that the post-office address of Rev. J. N. Andrews is Goldsboro', N. C.

Family Prayer.

There is no subject to which our thoughtful attention can be directed with more profit than that of family religion. It is a fact which cannot be denied, that the duty of family prayer is more generally neglected by our Methodist people than formerly. We live in an age of hurry and worry, and have fallen into the habit, we fear, of too often using our religion as a sort of secondary matter. Instead of making our secular matters yield to the demands of christian duty, by a faithful performance of the sacred vows we assumed in entering the church of God, it is too often the case that family religion is made to bend to matters merely secular in their character. We can not expect domestic piety and happiness to prevail in any very great degree where the duty of family prayer is neglected. In other days it was a rare occurrence to find heads of families professing the religion of Christ, living in the neglect of this duty.—They esteemed it a reasonable service and a pleasant duty to call together the family, evening and morning, and erect there an altar of prayer and earnest supplication to the God of all grace. No family can enjoy a full, rich religious experience who neglects this important duty.

Thousands who are now in the ministerial ranks, and others who occupy high official positions in the church, received their earliest religious impressions from the reading of God's Word by a pious father, the singing of a devotional hymn, in which all the family took part, and by his earnest devout prayers in family worship. To them it is pleasant to think of the past, while they joyfully anticipate the future. Let us, as a church, get back to the old land-marks. However much we may seek after the paths marked out, in other respects, by modern adventurers, let us remember that there is no better way to cultivate domestic religion and to reach higher attainments in the divine life than to follow in the footsteps of our fathers, in the discharge of this duty.

May it not be that the ministry is to blame at this point? Do they insist upon family religion — religion at home — in domestic life—the establishment of the family altar in every household? Do they preach upon the subject as often as they should, and show the importance, the Scriptural grounds for the establishing of the family altar? A good brother remarked to us a short time since that he had not heard a sermon upon this subject for over ten years; another brother remarked that he had never heard a sermon on the duty of family prayer, and that public prayer had never been made at his home, only when the preacher came. We asked him if his pastor did not interrogate him on the subject. He said not. We doubt whether a minister has done his duty who fails to enquire of every household, as far as he may be able, if they hold family prayer. Many of our old members—men of faith and mighty in prayer, are passing away.—They learned to pray in the family—at home. They are called upon to pray in the public congregation. But they will all soon be gone, and who will take their places—who will be the praying men of the church—the class-leaders and faithful stewards? Would that every household could feel what is true, that prayer is the Christian's protector—a transparent vesture—a real defence—that it keeps out the world, and gathers daily a heavenly atmosphere around the soul!

Refined Infidelity.

"Leon," a Washington correspondent of the Richmond Christian Advocate, attended the meeting of the Mexican War survivors in that city recently, and was not greatly pleased with the character of the religious services held on that occasion. He says:

"I did not hear a sermon while there, nor hear of one, but I did hear two prayers; and they were about as fine productions as were ever addressed to a Washington audience. They were finished for human ears, and to suit the section where delivered. But as a petition to God, and at the same time to lead the minds of hearers to a throne of grace, and make them feel their dependence upon God and their oneness as suppliants, they were wanting. The first of these prayers was sectional, and in exceeding bad taste; because there were men present from every State in the Union. Both of them were offensive in a high sense. They were of the new gospel type.—They were emasculated. They were not the prayers of a Christian. The names and offices of Christ were entirely excluded. This man I thought must be a Unitarian, and so I think yet, although he is the preacher in charge of the Metropolitan Methodist church, and pastor to the head of the nation. If the preaching is as barren of Jesus as is the praying, I am sorry for that people. They are being taught refined infidelity."

BISHOP KEENER.—The New Orleans Christian Advocate of January 22d says: Bishop Keener left, on the morning of the eighteenth of January, for Mexico, whither he goes to visit the mission inaugurated by him twelve months ago. He took passage on the steamship Frankfort for Havana, where he expected to connect with a New York mail steamer for Vera Cruz. The Bishop expects to return about the first of March. Bishop Simpson, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, accompanied by his wife and Mr. George McCreary, sailed also on the Frankfort for the same destination. Bishop Simpson goes to visit the mission of the Northern Church. Southern Christian Advocate.

The Mission of the Press.

Our correspondent "Woodsdale," whose communication appears on our first page, makes some severe, but none the less sensible and well-timed remarks upon the prostitution of the power of the public press to unworthy ends, and calls upon us to supplement his animadversions with strictures of our own. We have, in former issues of the ADVOCATE, given expression to what we conceived to be the true mission of journalism, religious and secular, as well as to our regrets that it is so often lost sight of in the newspapers of the day. A subject of such importance, however, cannot be too frequently alluded to, and never grows threadbare and devoid of interest.

In the public press resides a power that has never been committed to any other human agency. It is the creator of the thought and character of the age. It is the great agent of education and civilization. In former times, before the invention of letters, the poet with his epics, the minstrel with his lays and the orator with his magnetic speech and presence, stirred the emotions and moulded the thought—awakened the motives and controlled the actions of the throngs whose ears caught their words. The influence thus wielded, however, was necessarily limited in its extent to those who heard. With the advance in letters, and upon the discovery of the art of printing, the province of enlightening men was transferred from oral communication to books, and books are, in their turn, gradually giving way to periodical publications and newspapers. Newspaper enterprise embraces everything in its scope—philosophy, religion, art, science, politics, travel and history — furnishing these so cheaply and so far in advance of slowly written and compiled books, that men turn to them for the pabulum that their mental appetites crave.—From a daily or weekly journal, furnished for a trivial price, one obtains in the course of a year a variety and amount of information which hundreds of dollars worth of books could not supply.

It is no wonder, then, that this is a newspaper reading age. Book publishers are becoming painfully aware of it from the diminished sale of their publications, and from the rapidly multiplying and liberally patronized periodical and newspaper literature of the day. There is scarcely a family in the land, of any, the least cultivation, into which a journal of some kind does not enter with its burden of news, and scarcely an eye that does not, in the busiest moments even, rest upon the thoughts of editors fixed upon the page by type and printing press.—This being the case, one can readily see what a powerful agent the newspaper is in the work of informing, educating and moulding the character of its readers, and how important it is to the good of humanity that such an agent should not forget its mission and prostitute its power to nefarious ends.

Men are responsible for the use of the influence they possess, and the newspaper man, although his talents be humble, holds a power not easily measured, and for the exercise of which he will be held accountable.—We are glad to believe that there are but few conductors of journals who make it their object to do evil—to misinform minds, and misshape and corrupt character by scattering evil ideas and doctrines through their publications. But there are many who, through carelessness or through want of discrimination, do much more harm than they imagine. Selections are made without care for their columns, that may contain some thought in which lurks the seed of evil, and falling upon eager minds brings forth an abundant harvest after its kind.

Views are often offered in haste and without consideration, more to satisfy the calls for 'copy' than to effect good, and these meeting the eyes of some readers who are wont to accept other men's thoughts, create a warp of mind and deformity of character that only great care and time can ever straighten.

The desire to please, to which too many editors submit themselves and their judgment, leads to the indiscriminate and extravagant praise or "puffing" of which 'Woodsdale' complains. This is too common an evil, and detracts from that character of dignity, independence and honesty, which every journal ought to maintain that aims to be a faithful sentinel upon the tower, and is necessarily an educator of its readers. To many the "puff" is apparent—to more it seems genuine truth: by some the donkey's ears are seen protruding through the meretricious skin, but by many more the apparent lion is reckoned a verity.—So that, besides the humiliation to which the adulator subjects himself by his fawning and purchased flattery, he practices a grievous fraud upon his readers by creating false opinions and leads them into error, and sometimes loss.

REV. LOVICK PIERCE, D. D.—We have had no intelligence from Dr. Pierce, later than that contained in a letter received by the Bishop, just before the close of the Florida Conference. In that letter, which was written by the Doctor's own hand, and exhibited less tremulousness than we have observed in his chirography for some time, he was reported as steadily improving. His friends have strong grounds for hoping that his venerable form will grace the assemblage at Louisville in May next.—Southern Christian Advocate.

The Siamese Twins.

Mr. Cuthbert, the correspondent of the New York Herald, has been in Mt. Airy, near which town the Siamese twins lived and died, and has written several long and interesting letters to the Herald concerning the character, habits, &c., of those noted curiosities. The twins, until 1857, traveled and exhibited themselves under the name and style of E. & C. Bunker, and had property in common. But domestic troubles destroyed the harmony of their lives and business relations, and they determined upon a dissolution of the co-partnership and a division of their property. They built houses apart from each other, and made a singular but solemn compact which, says the Herald writer, "like the laws of the Medes and Persians, was malterable, and which to their very deaths was rigidly observed. This was that every alternate three days were reserved exclusively to each of the brothers to do as he pleased. For instance, the three days that belonged to Eng were spent at his house or anywhere else that Eng might choose to go. During that time Chang was merely an appendage of Eng, having neither the right to go anywhere that Eng did not choose to go nor the power to attend to any business whatever of a private nature of his own.—In the same way, when Chang's three days came, (and they were punctual to a moment,) they departed at once for his home, where he assumed supreme control of the actions and movements of both, and Eng became the nonentity. So exact were they with this rule that no event, however great in importance, and no stress of weather, no matter how severe, could prevent them starting from the house of one to the house of the other, when the three days of either had expired. It is related of them that this rule caused one to leave his home just as the marriage of his daughter was about to take place, and the other was prevented from attending the funeral of a son by the stringency of this singular compact. They carried it out to the last, for Chang's final three days had expired on the Thursday evening prior to their deaths, and though it was very cold, misty and severe weather, to Eng's house he would go, in accordance with the irrepealable law.

TEMPERS OF THE TWINS.

Whether the same blood circulated through the veins of both or not, it is certain they were different in temperament and disposition. Eng was mild, amiable, gentle in his disposition and pleasing in his manners. Chang was the very reverse, having a very irritable disposition and violent temper, always ready to take offence and quick to quarrel at the slightest umbrage. Eng will be recollected as the larger of the twins, Chang the smaller. Numerous instances are related (some of which are, of course, exaggerated) of the unhappy domestic consequences of Chang's violent temper. Sometimes at table during their meals he would fly into a passion, spring up, and, seizing the tablecloth would jerk all the plates, dishes and eatables off the table and scatter them in fragments all over the room. A favorite way of displaying his temper was to drag a feather bed across the room and pile it on the fire. Repeatedly he fought desperately with Eng—a hand-to-hand combat, the latter always acting on the defensive. Once Chang succeeded in cutting him very severely in the face, it is said, with a knife before he was disarmed. Eng being asked what was the matter with his wounded face replied, "It was done one day"—all that could be got out of him in regard to the brotherly affray.

Chang's landed property is estimated to be worth $20,000, his money $10,000 and his personal property, including stock and furniture, at $2,000. Eng's land is worth $10,000, his money $5,000, personal property $2,000. Eng's will bequeaths all his landed and household property to his wife during her lifetime; his money to be divided equally among his children at his death, and the property at the death of their mother. Chang's will is substantially the same.

Dr. Curry, in the N. Y. Advocate, says that preachers are the best customers that publishing houses have.—They buy and read more books than any other class of persons, and the Doctor thus proceeds to tell them how they ought to use what they buy.—The minister, says he, "has to get from them their treasures, and is to incorporate their matter into his very self, and then reproduce it for his congregation. How is he going to do this? Plagiarism is theft of as mean a character as Blackstone or Kent ever described, and no one who has a whit of self respect dare steal outright the wealth of his library. But he must use it freely and discreetly, and weave the best he has into the warp and woof of his sermons. The richest and best use that can be made of books is to receive inspiration and suggestions from them. Where facts—real straight out facts—are in question, the memory must take hold of them. They are common property; but where the exact language of the one who states them is used he must have credit for it.—Byron, either on the testimony of himself or of his friend Hobhouse, seldom wrote a line of poetry without taking a volume in hand and getting his mind kindled by its reading. When once the flame was full and broad he could lay down his book for his pen, the former having done its work of preparation for the latter.

Books can be best used by consultation on the points which engage our attention, and not by consecutive reading. The work that tells and pays is topical in its character. The man who races through every volume that appears at railroad speed gets little and knows less. Of course, some books need to be read directly through, but these do not comprise only belong to the preacher's working library. He must study by themes, and gather by his indexes, tables of contents, and his own groupings of volumes, that the authors, like heartless parents, have only half cared for, all the material he can find in every direction that will bear on his subject. His work will then become a complete organism, like a fragrant plant, or a sturdy oak, with form and beauty, bearing within itself the juices, the colors, the gases, and all the fruitful elements that earth and sky could be made to yield.

Good Advice.

The Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church have recently issued an elaborate pastoral address. It closes with the following excellent advice.

Permit us to once upon you the great importance of family religion. There is reason to fear that there is a falling away in this direction; and yet never was there a time when all the offices of home religion were more needed than now. The skepticism, the worldliness, the fashions of our day, are all powerful in their influence over the young. —Temptations to vice and sin, fascinating attractions to amusements and pleasures whose tendencies are all toward evil, the disposition to break away from wholesome restraint and discipline, were never so general and so powerful as in our day. Nothing can meet these evil influences so powerfully and effectually as home religion. There can be no substitute for this. Our excellent Sabbath Schools and our facilities for general education must not be allowed to take the place of diligent, prayerful, loving and faithful discipline at home. Let the family altar be erected in every house; let all join in reading the Holy Scriptures and in singing; let the prayer be closed with the Lord's Prayer, all joining in its repetition. Let the religion of the family be careful, inviting, gentle and loving. Make your homes attractive, that your children may love them, and not be easily tempted to wander away from them. Exclude from them all vices, all low and vicious literature; provide for your children good, wholesome, interesting reading; teach them to love the Church, the means of grace, and to reverence and respect all sacred and religious things; exercise, as in the fear of God, your parental authority in watching over their education, their amusements, and their associations; be not seduced into the miserable folly of sending your daughter to Roman Catholic schools. Bring up your children "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord," and God will abundantly reward and bless your care and labor by crowning your age with peace, and making your children both happy and useful in their generation.

Lastly, brethren, we exhort you "to keep yourselves unspotted from the world. We have fallen upon dangerous times. The world is rich and prosperous, and full of seductions and fascinations; the temptations to mere formal and superficial piety, to worldliness and fashion, to mammon-worship, to false maxims and unrighteous principles of life and business, "to foolish and hurtful lusts which drown men in destruction and perdition," are all about us. Already many, coveting after these things, "have erred from the faith, and have pierced themselves through with many sorrows." "O men of God, flee these things and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness. Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto ye are called; be not high minded; trust not in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate, laying up in store for yourselves a good foundation against the time to come." "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace: and the God of love and peace shall be with you."

Religious Brevities.

—At the morning service in the Metropolitan Church at Washington, D. C. a call was made for subscriptions to pay off the church debt of $50,000, whereupon about $24 000 were pledged.

—The Protestant Episcopal Church has met with a severe loss in the death of Rev. Dr. Wm. Sparrow, of the Theological Seminary, near Alexandria. He had been a professor in that institution for 33 years, and was a man of signal ability. The Southern Churchman pays his memory a high tribute and says, that "take him all in all, he was second to no man in this country," and "no one in the American Church could have filled his place."

—A correspondent of the Richmond Advocate says that Prof. Allan Curry is in Washington working like a twenty-horse engine." We hope he will not have to stop for repairs.

—Rev. Dr Poisal, of the Baltimore Conference, of the M. E. Church South, has been appointed pastor of the M. E. Church, South, at Harrisonburg, Va.

—During the past year various charitable institutions of London have received no less than eighty anonymous contributions of £1,000 each, and one donation was of the amount of £5,000.

—The Pope received a numerous deputation of Irishmen January 5th. A large amount of money was presented to his holiness, who praised the "constancy of the Irish people," who had preserved the faith for three centuries.

—The Independent says there is no truth whatever in the reports published in the daily papers that that paper has been sold. No change whatever has occured in its proprietorship or editorial management, and there is no prospect of any.

The New North State says that the Methodists of Greensboro' have increased their pastor's salary to one thousand dollars.

—An immense majority of the Diocese of Virginia are believed to sympathize entirely with Bishop Cummins' ecclesiastical views.

—Max Muller puts the number of Israelites in the world at 3,000,000, while Kolb puts it at 7,000,000, and Mr. Wessell at 9,000,000.

—The good effects of Bishop Cummins' movement are very manifest in many ways. More courtesies are shown to low churchmen and many pulpits heretofore silent on the subject, fully exposed the heresies of Romanism.

—A general Baptist Convention will meet in Nashville on April 1st, to consider the question of a great central University.

—HAMDEN SIDNEY COLLEGE.—A convention of the friends of Hampden Sidney College at Richmond, Va., recently resolved to raise $300,000 for its endowment by voluntary contributions.

—Those who do not recognize God in the pages of Scripture, will seldom acknowledge godliness in the persons of men.

Prof. Bowman, a convert from the Methodist ministry to the doctrines of the Universalists, has been lecturing in Ashville on the "Unreasonableness of Endless Punishment." Rev. J. S. Kennedy replied to the lectures in a sermon preached in the Methodist Church of Ashville, on the 18th ult.

Up in Vermont there lived a reprobate family named Ransom Once, however, they were induced to attend a meeting during a revival. They came late, and had hardly taken their seats, when the preacher gave out the hymn, "Return ye ransom sinners home." 'All right," said the old man, getting up in a rage and clapping on his hat. "Come along, ole woman and gals, we'll go home fast enough, and everybody in this old church knows we didn't want to come."

Conference Collection.—The Assessment.

BRO. BOMMITT: Please publish the following for the information of all concerned:

Amount assessed for Conference collection for 1874, is $6000.00
Raleigh District, 660.00
Hillsboro' " 660.00
Greensboro' " 660.00
Salisbury " 580.00
Shelby " 580.00
Charlotte " 600.00
Fayetteville " 580.00
Washington " 580.00
New Berne " 580.00
Washington " 580.00

Total, $6000.00

Amount assessed for Bishops' salary and traveling expenses is $1685.00
Raleigh District, 195.00
Hillsboro' " 185.00
Greensboro' " 175.00
Shelby " 145.00
Salisbury " 140.00
Charlotte " 145.00
Fayetteville " 175.00
Washington " 175.00
Wilmington " 175.00
New Berne " 175.00

Total, $1685.00

D. R. BRITON,
Joint Board of Finance,
N. C. Conference.
Concord, N. C., Jan. 12th, 1874.

Recent Publications.

OLD AND NEW.—The February number of this Magazine is on our table. It contains a supply of very interesting articles. Mr. Hale who conducts the Magazine is an excellent writer and a discreet manager. A competent corps of contributors furnish well-considered articles for the present number.

Published by Roberts Brothers, Boston, at $4 a year.

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE for February is an unusually good number. The Illustrated articles entitled the "The Great South" furnished by Edward King, are, of themselves, worth the price of the Magazine for a year. Dr. Holland the Editor, is regarded as one of the leading American thinkers and writers.

Published by Scribners & Co. New York at $4 a year.

WOOD'S HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE contains a great variety of matter and is an excellent periodical for the family. Published by S. E. Shutes, N. Y. at $1 a year.

ST. NICHOLAS MAGAZINE. Of all publications intended for children this is the best adapted to the purpose that we have ever met with. Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge conducts it with marked ability. It is full of pretty and quaint illustrations and abounds in instruction and fun.

Scribner & Co. N. Y at $3 a year.

Briggs & Bro. have sent us their illustrated Floral Work, being a handsome descriptive catalogue of the flowers which they cultivate and have for sale.

Briggs & Brother, Rochester N. Y.

METHODIST QUARTERLY REVIEW.—We received the January number of this Review some weeks since but notice has been delayed until now. The leading article is a review of Dr. Curry's "Life of Bishop Clark," from the pen of Rev. E. O. Haven, D. D.

"Our Work at the South" is written by Rev. H. J. Fox D. D. Columbia, S. C., and contains unjust reflections upon the Methodist Church, South, such as might be expected from the pen of a renegade Southern Methodist.

"The Position and Prospects of the American Union" written, we suppose, by the Editor, Dr. Wheedon, is an enthusiastic forecast of our future as a nation, based upon a statistical statement of the present extent, products and capacities of the United States "THE BAPTISM OF NAAMAN," by the Rev. Joseph Horne D. D., is a learned, clear and conclusive argument against the peculiar view entertained on the subject of baptism by our Baptist friends.

Other articles, scientific and doctrinal follow together with the SYNOPSIS OF THE QUARTERLIES AND QUARTERLY BOOK TABLE which furnish interest that might be expected from an excellent editor like Dr. Wheedon.

Published by NELSON & PHILLIPS, 805 Brodway N. Y. at $2.50 PER ANNUM.

The Christian Advocate.

NEWS DEPARTMENT.
ROBERT T. GRAY, Editor

PEERLESS STEAM WASHER.—This is a day of new inventions, and among those having superior excellence is the invention of the Peerless Washer, by our townsman, J. A. Jones, Esq. It is said to be the best in use.

Messrs Odell, Ragan & Co., of Greensboro, N. C., announce in this issue of the ADVOCATE that they are prepared to furnish North Carolina merchants with general merchandise, by the wholesale on reasonable terms. Give them a trial.

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.—We invite attention to the advertisement of this firm. Messrs Thompson & Whitaker are young men of excellent business qualities, and we hope our people will give them a liberal share of their patronage. They are selling their goods as cheap as the times will admit of.

WAKE SUPERIOR COURT.—The Special term of the Superior Court for Wake having been legalized by act of the Assembly, is now in session and will continue until the civil docket, comprising about 400 causes, is cleared. Judge Tourgee is presiding, uses great despatch in business and is giving general satisfaction to the Bar and suitors.

BAPTIST REVIVAL.—An interesting meeting has been going on in the Baptist Church in this city for several weeks, under the charge of Rev. Dr. Pritchard, the pastor, assisted by Rev. Mr. Jordan of Hillsboro.' The result has been a large number of conversions and a considerable accession to the membership of the Church.

CONTRACTOR AND HOUSE BUILDER.—By reference to another column will be found an advertisement of W. M. Jones, Esq., announcing his readiness to contract for house building, and to supply all kinds of building materials. We commend Mr. Jones as a responsible and worthy gentleman, and we hope those that are in need of building materials will give him a trial before buying elsewhere.

THE MEMORY OF JUDGE BOYDEN.—The members of the Superior Court and of the Bar practicing therein, held a meeting in honor to the memory of Judge Boyden, last Wednesday, at which appropriate address were delivered by J. H. Wilson, Esq., Judge Cloud, T. J. Wilson, Esq. and several others. Suitable resolutions expressive of the sense of loss which the Bench and Bar sustained by the death of the distinguished Justice, were offered and adopted. Judge Boyden was a pure man, an able and industrious lawyer and an incorruptible Judge, and the encomiums passed upon him were fitting and deserved. The Supreme Court adjourned on Thursday in respect to his memory.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.—The Legislature has determined to attempt the resuscitation of the State University and has placed it in the hands of Trustees who were elected by the two houses of the General Assembly last Thursday. We regret to see that in the formation of the Board of Trustees the claims of the Methodists and Baptists of the State to representation thereon were almost entirely overlooked. There were perhaps, a few Methodist laymen and a few Baptists nominated and elected, but with these exceptions the denominations which are confessedly the largest, and we may say the most influential, in the State have been unjustly, not to say indecently, snubbed by the Solons at the Capitol. We earnestly desired that the University which was formerly such an honor to the State, but has latterly been crushed by unwise legislation and mismanagement, should be reinstated to her old-time rank among the educational institutions of the country, and be clothed with the mantle of which she has been stripped. We believe a large majority of the people of the State, and of the Methodists and Baptists too, were anxious to have a full-grown, prosperous University, not upon the old basis, perhaps, but upon the system of a University proper, free from the influences of party-politics as well as those of religious denominationalism. That can be attained only by enlisting the sympathies and support of all the people of the State and this can be effected only by having all sections, all parties, and all denominations represented in the management of the institution. The Methodists and Baptists do not claim and do not want the control of the college, but they desire to have some voice in the conduct of an institution which they are called upon to sustain by patronage and forced to support by taxation. We do not know that the peculiar constitution of the Board was intentional on the part of the Assembly, nor do we care. If it was intentional our Representatives are highly culpable—and if it was through carelessness, they are hardly less so. The obnoxious FACT remains, and we are not at all disposed to call upon our people to forget it and lend their support to the University. Trinity and Wake Forest can be made good enough for the thorough education of our young men, and to them the undivided attention of the Methodists and Baptists will, we predict, be turned.

State News.

The N. C. Medical Society meets in Charlotte in May.

The Fayetteville EAGLE thinks that every vacant lot about town should be planted in some kind of crop this year.

A tournament is to be held in Cumberland county on the 5th inst.

The EAGLE wants the "fellow citizens of Fayetteville" to "pull together" and build the Florence Railroad—their 'darling project.'

Fayetteville, on the authority of the EAGLE, is the best cotton-market in the State.

One hundred thousand dollars have been subscribed for the purpose of building a cotton factory in Wilmington.

Col. Wm. Alderman delivered an elaborate and instructive address to the Cumberland Grange on the 23d ult. The address was published in the EAGLE of the 29th ult.

Wiley Evans, charged with the murder of Charles Boone, was on trial at Cumberland Superior Court last week. We have not learned the result of the trial.

Marion Lodge of Good Templars numbers 80 members.

Link & Dickson, of Hickory, in two months shipped 25,000 eggs from that place.

Calvin Kator, a colored man, was run over by the train near Marion on the 21st ult. and seriously, if not fatally injured.

The dwelling house of Wm. R. Clark in the vicinity of Hughes' Academy, five miles north of Hillsboro' was destroyed by fire on the 23rd ult.

The Grangers in the Northern part of Mecklenburg county have taken up subscription for the erection of a cotton factory at Cowan's Ford, near the place where Gen. Davidson was killed in the Revolutionary war.

On the morning of the 24th, ult. the gin-house of D. McGinnis, near Charlotte, was burned, together with 15 bales of cotton, 1000 seed cotton and other valuables. Loss $2,500 and no insurance.

The average attendance of scholars at the Methodist Sunday school in Greensboro is two hundred.

Revenue officials captured and destroyed seven or eight illicit distilleries in Gaston county recently.

Gov. Vance has been invited to deliver an address in Baltimore on the 17th of February, and has selected for his topic —"The Scattered Nations"—under which head he will trace the history, the calamities, the characteristics, and the probable future of the Jews.

The Eclectic Club of Greensboro FETED Mr. Eugene Morehead, one of its prominent members, who has recently committed matrimony.

Prof. Leo Wheat, the organist of the Monumental church in Richmond, will give a concert in Greensboro' at an early day, for the benefit of the Episcopal Church in that place.

A. B. Scott of Jamestown, has been taking the PATRIOT for fifty-five years and has paid for it. He will go scot free of the printer's ghost and other newspaper subscribers that we wot of would do well to obtain the same immunity.

Winston has formed a land association. Col. Joyner, formely of the New Jersey and N. C. Land Co., and Major Watson, Attorney at Law, attending to the business at home while Col. W. F. Gray, of London, will operate in Europe.

The Board of Aldermen of Charlotte have determined to issue an amount of city bonds sufficient to cover the floating debt of the city.

The authorities of Charlotte have resolved to celebrate the centennial anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, on the 20th May 1875, and a meeting of the citizens of the county will soon be held to take the proper steps towards it. Charlotte don't believe in Goodloe.

Suspicious circumstances led to a search of a colored woman's premises in Thomasville upon which says "Preston" in the NEW NORTH STATE, "a dead infant was found stored in an old soap keg in the corner of mother house in the yard. Her neighbors were terribly enraged, and 'tis said hanging INSTANTER was spoken of, but a better feeling prevailed. The Coroner was telegraphed for, who came and held an inquest from 10 P. M. till midnight. Drs. Thomas & Ronnsaville were summoned to the spot, and after a POST MORTEM examination, decided that the lungs were inflated with air, and consequently the conclusion was readily reached that it HAD BEEN a living child. Verdict of jury was "the child came to its death by neglect or violence of its mother."

General News.

A Georgian has taken out a patent for persimmon coffee.

The premiums paid on pews at Beecher's church in Brooklyn amounted to $50,430.

A man in Wisconsin arrested for killing his brother, boasts of having killed forty men during his life.

Mechanics and laborers in Northern cities are suffering much from want of work.

Two millions and a quarter of people have emigrated from Ireland to America during the last twenty-two years.

Four hundred men were killed in the State of New York, in seven months, while coupling cars.

A man died in New York last week from the effects of a Russian bath.

Miss Nellie Grant is to be married soon to Mr. Sartoris, son of a wealthy Englishman who married the celebrated tragedienne Fanny Kemble. Fred Grant is also to be married to Miss Kitty Cook, daughter of the ex-Governor of the District of Columbia.

The corner-stone of the new TRIBUNE Building, to be a grand edifice in New York, was laid by Miss Ida Greeley, on the 24th ult.

Rubinstein, the great pianist, has just concluded engagements at Venice and Milan, and is now in Naples.

Mrs. Trainer and three children, and Mrs. Benter and two children, are dangerously ill at Aurora, Indiana, from eating pork in which there was Trichina, and it is believed they cannot recover.

The oyster beds of Virginia cover an area equal to six hundred and forty thousand acres, and these great mines of submarine wealth are estimated to yield an annual money value of ten millions of dollars, of which, by the employment of three steamboats and a number of men, the State gets a few thousands.

The Fredericsburg STAR says: "There are two large sumac mills in this place which are kept busy all the year round in grinding this staple which find its way into the Northern market. There are several other dealers here who buy it and ship it in the rough. At least $40,000 are annually expended here in this commodity."

Washington News.

A delegation headed by Mr. Arnold, col., handed the President a petition for the appointment of G. L. Mabson, col., for Collector of Customs at Wilmington. The application is signed by influential Republicans of North Carolina.

The "inflationists" claim a majority in the Senate for an increase of the Currency.

A bill has been introduced in the Senate for the purchase of a marble bust of the late Chief Justice Chase for the Supreme Court Room.

General Thos. Van Buren, late United States Commissioner to the Vienna Exhibition, has been appointed United States Commissioner to Karagawa, the chief port of Japan.

While a murderer was awaiting the commencement of his trial in a Galveston Court-house, the son of the murdered man, approached unperceived and shot him through the head, killing him instantly.

Jottings.

Kentucky has abolished the whipping-post, and we are afraid she will regret it.

Two million bushels of peanuts are every year consumed in the United States. Legis latures must be fed.

In the opinion of Bret Harte Mark Twain "stands alone as the most original and thoroughly American representative of American humorists." It is gratifying to hear that American humor has ceased crawling, and is getting to walking that its best representative can "stand alone."

The name of the world is the poorer by the death of the great African explorer, David Livingstone, who, according to dispatches recently received in the interior of Africa. He was worn down by exposure and fatigue and after waiting four days through water, was seized with dysentery from which he died.

Mr. Livingstone was the greatest of modern travelers and a most devoted and enthusiastic discoverer. His great aim was to reach the sources of the Nile, which have been so long hidden from the knowledge of geographers. He was born in a suburb of Glasgow in the year 1815, and belonged to a family whose motto, he says, had ever been "Be honest." At the age of ten he entered a factory as a "piecer," and with a part of his first week's wages bought a Latin grammar. By arduous labor in Latin which he studied while at work by placing it on the machine before him, and reciting his lessons at a night school. By the time he reached fifteen, he had a thorough knowledge of Virgil, Horace and other classical authors. He afterwards became an agent of the London Missionary Society in South Africa, in exploring which he acquired a fondness for travel, and discovery which clung to him through life, and enabled him to endure wonderful privations and forego the comforts pleasures and honors which awaited him in England. He returned to England twice;—with his last expedition he left London in 1865; for seven years nothing was heard of him except the report that he had been killed by savages, until in 1871, the Herald's enterprising expedition headed by Stanley, found him in Ujiji, in East Africa.

The death of the Siamese twins has caused a little stir in the scientific world, and has created a discussion as to the nature of the mysterious cousins by which they were bound together. All are indignant at the idea that not a corpse of the bodies was had, and that not even a coroner's verdict was rendered as to the cause of their death. It is thought by many that interested parties prevented this in order to realize a snug fortune as the price of an examination by which they had reason to believe either body or both would pay handsomely. It is to the interest of science that the nature of the connection should be ascertained; whether the ligament contained arteries through which blood circulated, and whether a severance would have caused the death of one or both, so that if nature should ever perpetrate the same freak again, physicians can treat it advisedly. Diverse opinions have been entertained. Sot doctores, tot sententiæ,—and a correct knowledge can never be gained until an autopsy shall have been made.—The time for that is, however, passing rapidly away as the bodies were encofined in a bungling manner, and the attempted preservation is apt to miscarry.

In view of the fact that there are several Colle eregents in the field soliciting donations for the building and endowment of their respective colleges, and supposing that they frequently find it necessary to expatiate on the beauties and benefits of 'Education,' we submit the following model after which, if they see proper, they may shape their talks. A young physician (so called) having located in W——, a town in the North Western part of his state in order to make acquaintances and increase his popularity, hit upon the plan of "Treating Free School Exhibitions" in various parts of the county, and addressing the large crowds that always attended, upon the subject of education. His was the soaring in sublime style and he not infrequently "flew" round to a considerable distance." One of his flights was something as follows:

"Forty years ago this was a howling wilderness! forty years ago there was not a river or a mountain in North Carolina! Now casting your eyes about you may see the land dotted with farm-houses and hamlets, crowded with busy towns and bustling cities, teeming with life and stir, while the Blue Ridge and Pilot Mountain stand like towering giants, keeping all hist sentinel watch over the noble Yadkin the peaceful Dan and the beauteous Catawba as they trace their paths through hill and dale, and roll their pure sparkling tributes to mingle with old ocean's briny wave! And what, my friends, has caused all this, Way, Education of course,—nothing but Education!" If our agents use this and give as successful in bringing down the cash as that orator was in "bringing down the house," we shall soon be cheered by the towering spires and established prosperity of Greensboro', Davenport and Trinity—three noble temples whence Education issues to do her wondrous works.

Science and Art.

Only one eclipse will be visible from this continent in 1874—of the moon, total, at midnight, October 25th and 26th.

Kerosene is the best article ever discovered to clean the rust from grates and fire irons

The latest invention in the way of plate for false teeth, is a combination of dissolved fish-scales and certain fibrous and adhesive substances.

The French papers note the death of the oldest organist in France, M. Michel Matheu. He has just died at Yvouilles, in the Haute-Savoie, at the age of ninety five.

M. Wanter's great painting of "Mary of Burgundy Interceding with the Magistrates of Ghent for the Pardon of her Advisers, Hugonet and d'Humbercourt," has been presented to the city of Liege.

The most remarkable recent musical composition appearing in England is an oratorio by Macfarren, the blind composer, chiefly known in this country by his dainty songs.—The theme is St. John, the Baptist, and the libretto, written, it is said, with a felicitous simplicity, follows strictly the Gospel narrative.

The death of Madame Parepa-Rosa, which occurred in England, on Thursday, January 22d will bring great regret to all lovers of music. By her death, the sweetest voice which has been heard among us for many a year is silenced. She will always be kindly remembered by her personal friends for amiability, and for the unvarying readiness with which she ministered to their pleasure in private, as in public with the charm of her incomparable voice.

A statue of the Virgin nearly twenty feet high, is about to be erected at Havre. It will be placed just at the highest point of the road by which the Germans were intending to enter the town, and will bear, in golden letters, the following inscription: Havre. Preserved from the Prussian invasion. 1870-1872." The first date is that of the "vow," the second of the "subscription" which proceeds from the ladies of Havre, who thus attribute to the Virgin a miraculous interposition in behalf of their town.

Marriages.

Married, January 19, 1874 at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. M. L. Wood, M. K. Steele, of Williston, Tenn., and Miss Ella E. Turner, daughter of Winford Turner Esq. of Iredell county, N. C.

On the 8th of Jan. 1874. by Rev. M. C. Thomas, Rich. E. Bowden, of New Hanover county, to Miss Bettie J. Pridgen, of Green county, at the residence of Henry R. Pridgen, near Snow Hill.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father in Rockingham county, Jan 13th, 1874, by Rev. W. C. Norman, Mr. Richard Johnson and Miss Nancy Clemens daughter of Martin Clemens.

By the same, on the 18th of Jan. at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John Barnett of Alamance and Miss Lucy Pinchet of Rockingham

By the same on the 20th of Jan. at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John R. Moore and Miss Ellen Mabley, both of Rockingham Married, in Charlotte, N. C., Jan. 23th by Rev. P. J. Carraway Mr. George Stewart to Miss Annie M. Rigler.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, in Wake county on the evening of the 28th by Rev. P. E. Thompson, Mr. R. L. Bingham and Miss M. V. Williams.

In this city, at the Episcopal Church, by Rev. Dr. Mason, on the 29th ult., Mr. Andrew Syme and Miss Annie Bryan, all of this city.

On Wednesday the 28th ult., by Rev Dr. Pritchard, Col. Walter Clark and Miss S. H. Graham, daughter of Hon. W. A. Graham, of Hillsboro', N. C.

Married, Dec. 28th 1873, at the residence of Col. R. F. Webb, father of the bride, by Rev. J. J. Ream Mr. Parker T. Conrad, of Durham, and Miss. Kate E. Webb of Orange Co. N. C.

Deaths.

☞ Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of ninety words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and allow ninety words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose Resolutions of respect are subject to the same rule.☜

The Raleigh Methodist Sabbath School, Edenton Street Church, of which Mrs Harriet Whitaker was for so many year a member and teacher, at their session on Sunday immediately after her death, (Jan 4th, 1874.) unanimously passed the following resolution in regard thereto.

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Heavenly Father in His righteous Providence to remove from our school to her reward in Heaven, our beloved sister Mrs. Harriet Whitaker, one of our most faithful teachers. Therefore Resolved 1st. That while we are oppressed with sadness at our great loss, we bow in humble submission to Him who has thus afflicted us, believing that it is her gain and that He who has so greatly blessed us in the past, has intended even this sad bereavement for our good.

Resolved 2nd. That the good deeds of our sister should serve as incentives to us all to be more faithful, devoted and prayerful workers in the Sunday School, endeavoring by example of holy living and wise instruction, to lead those committed to our charge to Him whose love should lead them to enlist in His service in the days of their youth.

Resolved 3rd. That we tender to those who were more intimately associated with her in this School, as teacher and scholar, our condolence, in the loss which they have sustained, and pray that the Holy Spirit will lead them in that way in which she walked, and heeding her faithful counsels, may finally meet her in the land of bliss where the pleasant associations which existed here will ever remain unbroken, and where we trust it may be the happy privilege of us all to unite in the enjoyment of that heavenly felicity which is faileless and eternal.

Resolved 4th, That we tender her afflicted family our heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement, but rejoice with them, in that we believe she has but gone to be with that Savior whom she so faithfully served, and so ardently loved while on earth.

Resolved 5th. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, a copy to the Raleigh Christian Advocate for publication, and that they be spread upon the minutes of the School.

W. J. Young, Supt.

J. A. Jones, Sec.

Died, in Goldsboro. N. C., Jan. 4th, 1874, in the 35th year of her age, Mrs Sallie Simms Edmundson, wife of Gary Edmundson, Esq.

The deceased was married to her now deeply bereaved husband in the 19th year of her age, and in her 20th year was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, under the ministry of Rev. Nathan Anderson. Being possessed of a lovely, natural disposition, refined by cultivation, and sanctified by divine grace she was peculiarly attractive and dearly loved by all who know her. Though a great sufferer for years she was remarkably cheerful and happy. Her soul, like an aromatic plant, seemed full of embalmed sweets, constantly yielding their rich fragrance as crushed by the continual tread of pain. Affectionate by nature, the victim of complicated diseases herself, she had witnessed the early decline and premature death of two brothers and four sisters yet in all this she looked up to God, her Father and smiled through her tears in hope of a blissful reunion in a fadeless home and life above. In her death a husband has lost a most true and devoted wife, a mother a most loving daugher, an only surviving sister a dear darling loved one—a home has lost its shining jewel—the church a faithful member—the pastor a true friend—the community one of its most valuable number. Yet our great loss is her infinite gain. Her friends had no idea of the very near approach of her departure until a few hours before she died. Two or three hours previous to her death while conversing with her long cherished friend—brother J. C. Slocomb—she assured him of her entire confidence in Christ, saying, "Oh, how precious is Jesus." She requested him to pray and sing with her, and while singing these soul-inspiring stanzas:

"The Lord has promised good to me,
His word my hope secures,"

she seemed to be filled with rapture, exclaiming, "Oh, how sweet, I am not afraid to die."

Well may we say, "She died in the triumph of faith." Hers was a glorious and eternal victory. "Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Pastor.

Goldsboro, Jan. 17th, 1874.

Died, at Plymouth, N. C., Dec. 16th, 1873, of pneumonia, Mrs. Mollie Latham, wife of Charles Latham, in the 27th year of her age. She has left a good name behind her. Possessing naturally the elements of true womanhood and with those elements improved and sanctified by religion, she was to the home circle a jewel of more than ordinary value. She was a devoted wife, a firm friend, and excellent neighbor. Hers was a sad death. Called away in the freshness and bloom of young life with every prospect of happiness before her with a circle of attached friends, a kind and devoted husband, and a new and tender tie to bind her to earth, it must have seemed hard to give up life, but she surrendered it quietly and calmly, and we trust in the faith of Jesus. She died without a struggle. Sweetly she fell asleep as one who wraps the drapery of his couch around him and lies down to pleasant dreams."

May God sanctify this affliction to the good of the bereaved family!

F. D. S.

Jane Cobb, daughter of Geo. G. and Martha E. Dailey, died in Caswell county, N. C., Jan. 13th, 1874, aged 1 years and 9 days. This precious little gem sparkled with uncommon beauty and loveliness; and lay quietly and patiently in its painful illness as if waiting for the kind angels; and, drawing all hearts by its fond caresses of mother and father around, as if anxious to leave on their memories a right beautiful picture of her angel born in heaven. May the Lord keep the broken hearted parents to rejoin their precious child where there is no death!

J. Tillett.

Died, of consumption in Stanly county, N. C., December 3rd 1873. Miss Eliza Jane Atkins, daughter of the Rev. A. F. and Harriet Atkins.

Eliza was an earnest seeker of religion for several years before she obtained the great blessing sought after.

She was conver ed at a protracted revival meeting at Stony Hill church, in Albemarle circuit in the fall of 1871. Her conversion was clear and bright. It was thought by some present that it was one of the brightest conversions they ever saw. She remained happy for a long time, and never ceased to doubt her conversion as long as she lived.—She was very useful at revivals—talking to mourners and exhorting sinners to flee from the wrath that is yet to come. She said to her father the night before she died, that she was glad the time of her departure was so near, and asked him to pray that she might die before morning. She died in great peace.

A Friend.

Letters & Funds.

Rev A R Raven for Mrs E L Gregory $2. Walker, Taylor & Co. Dr R V Pierce. E Alden. N W Ager & Son. Rev T P Ricaud for J G Click 2.50. Rev M L Wood for E A Turbyfill 2. Rev J Minish. Rev W C Norman, paper continued. Rev S L Bryant self 1. G S Cole for Wm Wilcott 2. John Howe, paper changed. Rev J N Andrews, paper changed. J S Lockhart self 2. D A Bowles 2 J E Lyon 2. Rev Dr T O Summers. N H Gwyn self 2 H P Foard. Rev J W Lewis paper continued. Rev V A Sharpe, paper sent. Miss Lula E Purvis, self 2. V S Lea for self 2. Orphan Asylum 1. J T Bagwell for Mrs T H Sutton 2. R M Martin, self 2. Miss Mary J Howell, paper changed. Newell & Guthrie. Rev J E Mann for H J Rest 2. Stephen Neal for D D Turner 2. R J Allen self 2. Rev P J Carraway for Mrs Ann Sturdivant 2 Mrs J R Davidson 2 J A Burton self 2 R L Gilley 2 L L Hendren, paper sent. Rev J W Randle, paper changed. D K Moore 2. Mrs C N Allen 2. Rev W H Cunningim paper changed. Rev N B Hood paper changed. Rev J F Smort papers sent, ob has not been received. Rev B Dixon.—Rev M C Thomas papers sent. We readily forget all and heartily reciprocate T W Gattis self 2. Rev G W Ivey. Alvis Snipes sell 2. M Atwater 2. Dru Green, Lindley & Bentley. G H Dejennatt for S W Swannager 2. M J Hantsel 2. Rev W M Jordan for Miss E C Barnett 2. G D Satterfield 2. Rev R F Bibb. Jno R Kernodles. Rev Z Rush for J S Spruse 2. W. A. Griffith 2. Rev J Tillett for V Bradsher 2. Rev P Kistler 2. Mrs N A Jackson, where was your former post-office, B Abt self 2. W M Jones. Rev Jos Wheeler paper sent Mrs M H Little corrected. L T Caplan. T D Swindell for Mrs M A Hassell 2. Dr A A Scroggs. Rev V A Sharpe papers sent. Rev L Shell papers sent. Rev S Helsebuck for A Mcclichel 2. Miss M F Emery 2. E N Peterson for Mrs M A E Peterson $2. E Aldon. Rev Irs T Wyche paper changed and credited. John M Campbell for Dr J Hedgpeth $2. Your subscription was overdue when you renewed. Expired Jan 1st. Rev J E Mann for Mrs S L Edmundson $2 50. P H Neal for C J Fowler $1. J A Channingim for Mrs J Buchanan $2. Rev P J Carraway for W A Ross $2. Rev W King for Miss Elizabeth Fields $2. other paper sent M C Reeves W S Rone paper sent. A S Aldrige self 2. Rev G W Ivey for W Morris $2. P Moore $2 J Wildby 1. H Arney 2. M Blair 2. Dr J S Spainhour 2 other papers continued. Walter Clark self 2. Rev J Sandford for F A Clark 2. G B Allen 2. J H Guinn for W F Stubbs 2. L Harvey sell 2. John Grady. Rev Jos Wheeler. Wilford Turner 2.

Appointments.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
FIRST ROUND.

Yadkinville ct. at Yadkinville,	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Salisbury st.	Feb. 7–8
Salisbury ci. at South River,	" 14–15
Wilkes ct. & Mt. Mis. at Wilksboro,	" 21–22
Mt. Airy st.	Feb. 28 March 1
Surry ct. & Sauratown Mis. at Cross Roads	March 7–8
Alexander ct. at Taylorsville,	" 14–15
Iredell ct. at Turnersburg,	" 21–22

The District Stewards will meet me in Olin on Wednesday, 11 o'clock, A. M., March 18. A full attendance is earnestly desired.

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Olin, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Laurinburg. Caledonia,	Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Rockingham,	Feb. 7–8
Pee Dee,	" 14–15
Fayetteville,	" 21–22
Uwharie, New Hope,	Feb. 28 and March 1
Montgomery,	March 7–8
Buckhorn, Barclaysville,	" 14–15

The District Stewards will please meet in Fayetteville, Feb. 20th, at 11 o'clock, A. M.

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage, N. C.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.
FIRST ROUND.

Trinity & Carraway at T. College,	Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
South Guilford at Pleasant Garden	Feb. 7–8
Forsythe & Winston at Pine Grove,	" 14–15
Madison at Bethesda,	" 21–22
North Guilford at Friendship,	" 28th and March 1.
Stokes at Antioch,	" 7–8
Westworth at Love's	" 14–15
Davidson at Ebenezer,	" 21–22

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Greensboro on Wednesday the 18th of February at 11 o'clock A full attendance of District Stewards is requested.

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Pineville at Pineville,	Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Pleasant Grove at Pleasant Grove,	Feb. 7–8
Concord sta.	" 14–15
Albermarle and Stanley,	Albermarle, " 21–22
Wadesboro st.	Feb. 28 and March 1
Mt. Pleasant at Gold Hill	March 7–8
Ansonville at Concord,	" 14–15
Wadesboro and Lanesville,	at Bethel " 21–22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT
1st ROUND.

Person at Roxboro,	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Flat River at Mt. Bethel,	Feb 7–8
Lensburg at Leasburg,	" 14–15
Alamance at Phillips Chapel,	" 21–22
High Rock at Shiloh.	Feb. 28 March 1
Yanceyville at Yanceyville,	March 7–8
Deep River at Farr Promise.	" 14–15
Pittsboro at Pittsboro,	" 21 22

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Hillsboro on Jan. 24th at 3 o'clock P. M.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt. Tirzah, N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT
1st ROUND.

Roanoke at Ebenezer	Jan 31 Feb. 1
Williamston at Williamston	Feb 7–8
Columbia at Scuppernong	" 14–15
Plymouth and Jamesville,	at Plymouth " 21–22
Bath at Bath,	Feb 28 and March 1
Matamuskeet at Swan Quarter	March 7–8
Washington and Creeyville Parkson's Parkson's,	at Washington, March 14–15

The District Stewards will please meet in the Methodist Church at Franklinton, Friday, February 20 h at 1 o'clock P. M.

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C

SHELBY DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Rock Spring ct. at Bethel,	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
South Fork ct. at Zion,	Feb. 7–8
Newton ct. at Newton,	" 14–15
Happy Home ct. at Hickory st.	" 21–22
Lenoir ct. at Bethany,	Feb. 28 and March 1
Morganton at Morganton,	" 7–8
Marion circuit & Upper Broad River Mis.	at Marion, " 14–15
Double Shoals & South Mt. Mis.	at Elliotts, " 21–22
Cherry Mountain ci. at Oak Grove,	" 28–29
Rutherfordton ci. and Columbus Mis.	at Rutherf'ton April 4–5

The District Stewards will meet at the District Parsonage in Shelby, Wednesday March 18 h 1874. A full attendance is desired.

L. S. BURFHEAD, P. E.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT
1st ROUND—IN PART.

Wilmington, Front Street,	Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Clinton,	Feb. 7–8
Keenansville at Keenansville,	" 14–15
Smithville at Smithville,	" 21–22
Topsail at Prospect,	Feb. 28th and Mar. 1st
Elizabeth at Bladen Springs,	" 7–8
Bladen at Center,	" 14–15
Onslow at Richlands,	" 21–22
Cokesbury,	" 28–29

Each preacher will send me the place for holding the Quarterly Conference on his circuit.

I earnestly entreat every official member to be present at Quarterly Conferences. Let the Recording Steward bring his book.

The District Stewards will please meet in the District Parsonage, at Magnolia Tuesday, February 3rd, at 10 o'clock, A. M.

W. S. BLACK, P. E.

The Markets.

Raleigh Market—Retail Prices
Feb 3, 1874.

CORRECTED WEEKLY.

COTTON	13 to 13 1-2
BACON—Baltimore smoked	10@11
" —unsmoked	9@10
" —strips	12 1-2@
" —shoulders	10@ 11
" —N. Hams	15@16
BUTTER—per lb	30@35
BEESWAX—per lb	25@30
BEEF—on hoof	10@15
COFFEE—per lb	24@25
CHEESE—per lb	20@25
COTTON YARN—per bale	1 75@10
CORN—per bushel	90@1 00
CHICKENS—per piece	20@25
EGGS—per dozen	20@25
FLOUR—per barrel	8 50@9
FODDER—per hundred lbs	1 80@
HAY—per hundred lbs	1 60@
HIDES—green, per lb	5@7
" —dry, per lb	12@15
HERRINGS, N. C.—per barrel	7 50@8 00
LEATHER—per lb	30@40
LARD—per pound	12@15
MOLASSES—per gallon	37@38
MEAL—per bushel	95@1 10
OATS—per bushel	75@
" —per 100 lbs	1 90@1 50
ONIONS—per bush	75@1 00
PEASE—stock	1 00@
" —white	1 40@1 50
POTATOES—Irish, per bushel	75@1 00
SUGAR—crushed	13@16
" —extra C	10@16
" —P. R	10@
" —common	12@13 1-2
SALT—per sack	2 75@3 00
TALLOW—per lb
VINEGAR—per gallon	40@ 60

New Advertisements.

W. M. JONES,

CAREY, N. C.

Contractor, House Builder,

Manufacturer and dealer in dressed Lumber, Sashes, Blinds, Doors, and all other kinds of Building Material. feb 4-tf

ODELL, RAGAN & CO.,

Wholesale Dealers in

General Merchandise,

GREENSBORO', N. C.

We call the attention of the merchants of North Carolina to the fact that we have opened our large wholesale house, and that we are prepared to sell them goods, as cheap as they can buy in any market. We are the agents for Cedar Falls, Deep River, Randleman and Alamance Manufacturing Co's. Sheeting, Yarns, Plaids and Seamless Bags. Parties ordering these goods will get them as cheap from us as if they order directly from the factory. We also sell Salem Yarns at factory prices. Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed

Feb 4–12m.

5000 AGENTS WANTED.—SAMPLES sent free by mail, with terms to agents, which will $10 per day. Two entirely new articles; saleable as flour. Address N. H. WHITE, Newark, N. J. Feb. 4-4w.

CONSTANT EMPLOYMENT.—AT HOME. Male or Female, $20 a week warranted. No capital required. Full particulars and a valuable sample sent free. Address, with 6 cent return stamp, A. D. Young, 256 Fifth Street, Williamsburg, N. Y. Feb. 4-4w.

ESTABLISHED 1816.

CHAS. SIMON & SONS,

62 NORTH HOWARD ST., BALTIMORE, MD.,

Dealers in

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC DRY GOODS,

would call special attention to their splendid stock of Dress Goods, Linen Goods, Embroideries, Laces, and Hosiery; the best assortment of Mourning Goods in the city.

SAMPLES SENT FREE!

All orders amounting to $20 00 or over, will be sent free of freight charges by Express, but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their goods sent C. O. D., must pay for return of the money.

Jan 28-12m

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND BLEACHER!

The Latest, Best and Cheapest Washer made!

That Steam Washers are the best kind is generally conceded. That the PEERLESS is best of its kind will be readily admitted as soon as it is seen and tested.

It causes all the water to flow up through pipes and start down through the clothes.

The water has not to go to the centre or either end of the boiler to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and hence washes all parts of the clothing alike.

It pours the water in sixteen streams, on all parts of the surface of the clothing.

The water is forced through the clothes many times per minute, and cleans them in 15 to 30 minutes—With this machine any lady will confess, may do the washing of her family in a very short time, with very little work, without steps, without rubbing, or chance to the inside with a disagreeable smell that her husband would hardly know when washing ceased!

The cost of the machine soon saved in difference in wear, tear, soap and clothes to be repaired.

A bed quilt or lace collar—the finest or coarsest fabric—a single piece or boiler full, washed with equal ease.

The machine can be made for any stove boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sells for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

As to some indicates it is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using on with each machine. They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 0)	$8 50
For " alone	5 00
For washer and boiler 30 inches long	9 50
For " alone	6 00

Sent anywhere per express on receipt of price, by

J. A JONES, Proprietor,
Raleigh, N. C.

ALF. A. THOMPSON. JOEL D. WHITAKER.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE.

Thompson & Whitaker,

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants,

Have now in store

One car load Sugar-House Syrup,
One car load Marshall's Liverpool Salt,
Ten sacks Rio Coffee,
Ten barrels Sugar, all grades,
Five thousand pounds Bulk Clear Rib Sides,
One thousand pounds Bulk Shoulders,
Twenty boxes assorted Candy,
One hundred bushels Corn,
Twenty barrels N. C. Flour, warranted family,
Thirty-five cases Boots and Shoes!

All of which will be sold at the lowest market rates and guaranteed to be as represented.

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Feb 4-12m.

EPILEPSY OR FITS.

A safe, certain and permanent cure can be had for this distressing disease by the use of Ross' Epileptic Remedies. No charge made for treatment or medicines unless a permanent cure is effected. Circulars, terms, etc., sent to all applicants. Address, ROSS BROS., 207 Main Street, Richmond, Indiana. feb 4—4w

HILLSBORO STREET ACADEMY,

Misses Mollie & Jennie Jones,

Teachers.

The next session will commence on Monday, February the 2nd. Tuition same as heretofore. Jan 28-1w

W. F. KORNEGAY,

Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARES,

COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.

Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them. Jan 28-tf

OFFICE OF

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We desire to call the attention of dealers in the celebrated

BOLLES COTTON HOE,

manufactured expressly for us by

The L. Bolles Hoe & Tool Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

These Hoes are made of the finest quality of steel, by skilled labor. They are not made of ROLLED STEEL, but plated under the hammer, are highly polished and are noted for beauty and durability. In short, they are as near perfect as they can be made. The shank is an improvement on the old style, being solid and neatly shaped. The blade is peculiar in form, and the handles made from fine white timber.

Every Hoe is warranted perfect in stock, temper, finish and durability. We earnestly request those about making purchases for the coming season to examine them.

Sold only in North Carolina by

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.
OR THEIR AGENTS.

☞ Ask for the Bolles Cotton Hoe, and see that the name is stamped on the blade.

NOTE.—We sold in 1873—696 Dozen of these Hoes. In each and every instance they gave entire satisfaction. We assert that the Bolles Hoe is the very best ever manufactured.

WE ARE USING

Swedes Iron

and the Finest English Steel!

The best brands of American and Swedes Iron and English extra refined Cast Steel.

USED IN THE MANUFACTURE OF

AXES AND EDGE TOOLS.

We offer the VERY BEST AXE that can be manufactured by skilled workmen and very superior materials and trust that we will receive the support of the trade.

ORDERS FILLED IMMEDIATELY.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.
Sole Agents, Raleigh, N. C.

TRINITY

COLLEGE.

The Spring Session will commence JANUARY 17th, 1873.

Students may take a select, or the full course at their own option. There are eleven regular seats in the Institution, viz: Latin, Greek, Mathematics, English Literature, Natural Science, Modern Languages, Metaphysics, Engineering and Analytical Chemistry, Commercial, Law and Divinity.

Entire expenses for five months, for tuition, board, washing and fuel $90 to $100.

B. CRAVEN.

Jan. 7 3m.

Cutler's Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iodine Inhalant.

A Wonderful Remedy! Sure relief to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Chlorine positively carried by it, and Consumption is taken in season. In asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. All Druggists have it for sale, nearly put up with Inhalant enough for two month's use. Price $3 00. Free by mail on receipt of price. Send for a circular.

W. H. SMITH & Co., Proprs.
Buffalo, N. Y.

Jan 28-6m

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE.

LENOIR, N. C.

The Spring session for 1874 will open on Monday, Jan. 12th.

Board and Tuition per session, with music, vocal and instrumental, $110.00

Traveling preachers' daughters, tuition free. Board and Tuition always in advance.

Send for a catalogue. Address,

Rev. W. M. Robey, Pres.

nov 19-3mos.

PIANOS, PIANOS,

ORGANS. ORGANS.

Nat L. Brown,

DEALER IN

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Agent for HORACE WATERS & SON'S celebrated CONCERTO and ORCHESTRAL ORGANS and PIANOS.

ALSO DEALER IN

Children's Carriages,
Fancy Goods,
Toys,
Buckets,
&c., &c.

BIRDS AND BIRD CAGES.

Confectionaries,
Fruits, Nuts,
Fresh Crackers
and Cakes.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

Persons visiting Raleigh will find it to their advantage to give me a call. Prices suitable to the times.

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

Illustrated Catalogue of Pianos and Organs mailed. jan 14 - tf

BUY AND USE

Game Cock White Lead.

We offer this justly celebrated White Lead knowing it to be the best in the market.

Using large quantities and having Practical Painters in our employ all the time, we profess to be judges of White Lead and advise all who contemplate painting to use this Lead and no other.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

THOS. H. BRIGGS & SONS,

Sole Agents for Raleigh and

DEALERS IN

Hardware, Cutlery, Wagon and Buggy Materials,

Oils, Glass and Colors.

Jan 28-tf.

NEW GOODS FOR FALL AND WINTER

1873.

AT

ALEX. CREECH'S.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TRADE. CONSUMERS OF DRY GOODS, &c.

MARBLE HALL

AND

TEMPLE OF FANCY.

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

I take pleasure in announcing that my business has so largely increased and the demand is so great that it has constrained me to buy in

A MUCH LARGER AND MORE ATTRACTIVE STOCK THAN HERETOFORE.

My Goods are bought with every available advantage and doing business at a very small per centage I am able to offer INDUCEMENTS IN PRICES the are rarely equalled. My

DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT

was never more complete, embracing all new Fabrics and every new Shade, from the most delicate to the most brilliant. Call and examine my

BLACK SILKS,
JAPANESE SILKS,
IRISH POPLINS,
CASHMERES,
SATEENS,
ALPACAS, &c.

Ands very large variety of Low Priced Dress Goods. My stock of Cassimeres, Piece Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes is extraordinarily large and complete and you would be doing yourselves injustice if you were not to examine it before purchasing elsewhere

THE SECOND AND THIRD FLOORS are almost exclusively devoted to

WHOLESALING,

both being filled to their utmost capacity with

GOODS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

in supply the Trade, and Country Merchants would find it to their interest to my stock a thorough examination before making their purchases, as I think I can offer rare bargains and special inducements. With

A CORPS OF EXPERIENCED SALESMEN,

ever ready to assist, I can sell, do sell, and will continue to sell as

CHEAP AS THE CHEAPEST.

No house in Raleigh can or shall undersell me, it matters not whether the goods are purchased in Europe or the United States, and for these important reasons:

1st. I am alone, and have no two or three partners to divide my profits with.

2nd. I have less rent, store house at a more nominal cost.

3d. I believe in the great principle of LIVE AND LET LIVE—QUICK SALES and SMALL PROFITS.

4th. I have large experience, buy at the lowest assessing figures, and with the best facilities.

EXPERIENCE, the best of teachers, has long since informed the people that is the place to buy their goods, and as heretofore I shall strive to

CREECH'S

REPRESENT GOODS AS THEY ARE.

Returning thanks for past favors, I hope to secure your patronage in the future.

Respectfully yours,
ALEX. CREECH,
Raleigh, N. C,

Marble Hall, Fayetteville St.
April 16-tf.

$20.000 WANTED.

The Trustees of Greensboro Female College wish to borrow any part of the above amount in sums to suit parties having money to loan. They will give its note of the corporation with satisfactory personal endorsers, paying interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum. The principal will be paid when required upon reasonable notice and the interest annually. If the friends of the College will loan us the amount it will help the Institution and, we think, still be a perfectly safe investment. Please address the undersigned.

N. H. D. WILSON.
President Board Trustees.

The Diamond Cotton

CHOPPER AND CULTIVATOR

THIS INVALUABLE MACHINE, the recent invention of L. F. CHERWIE of Fayetteville, N. C., is made specially for the GREATEST LABOR SAVER of the age and bids fair to be in the estimation of the cotton planter of the Southern Farmer. It, at one operation chops, hoes and cultivates many times effectually, from one to four rows, as may be desired, and does TWO to FOUR horses, with ONE man and ONE boy. Every machine is convertible into a most excellent CULTIVATOR in the course of a few hours time, and has been used in the cotton fields throughout the country for 1873, and bears the highest testimonials of its entire success. It took the Gold Medal at the Georgia State Fair, as the most superior and latest improvement in Agricultural implements, and the First Premium everywhere it has been exhibited.

Price of Machine with its Shovels, $35 and freight.

For circulars and further information address

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN,
Agents for the Diamond Cotton Chopper, Raleigh, N. C.

(A Sample Machine is on exhibition at their Store. Call and examine

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

MALE AND FEMALE.

R. P. TROY, A. M., Principal.
Mrs. R. P. TROY, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.

Board per month, $8.00
Tuition " from 1.50 to 3.00
One half in advance.

ADVANTAGES.

Low price of board and tuition, healthy and moral location, Sabbath school and Public service every Sunday.

Access—By Rail Road to Greensboro, where free conveyance will be furnished by the Principal, if informed of arrival.

Address the Principal,
Greensboro, N. C.

Nov 26-1m

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS, COTTON FACTORS

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Wilmington Street opposite

Youth's Department.

The Child's Pocket Etiquette.

1. Always say, yes, sir; no, sir; yes, papa, no, thank you; good night; good morning. Never say "how" or "which," for what. Use no slang terms. Remember that good spelling, writing and grammar are the base of all true education.

2. Clean faces, clean clothes, clean shoes and clean finger-nails indicate good breeding. Never leave your clothes about the room. Have a place for every thing, and every thing in its place.

3. Rap before entering a room, leave it with your face to the company. Never enter a private room or public place with your hat on.

4. Always offer your seat to a lady or old gentleman. Let your companions enter the carriage or room first.

5. At the table eat with your fork; sit up straight, never use your tooth-pick, although Europeans do, and when leaving ask to be excused.

6. Never put your feet on cushions chair or tables.

7. Never overlook any one when reading or writing, or talk or read aloud when others are reading. When conversing, listen attentively and do not interrupt or reply till the other has finished.

8. Never whisper or talk aloud at churches, or other public places, and especially in private where any one is singing or playing the piano.

9. Long coughing, hawking, yawning, sneezing or blowing is ill mannered. In every case cover your mouth with your handkerchief (which never examine—nothing is more vulgar except spitting on the floor.)

10 Treat all with respect, especially the poor. Be careful to injure no one's feelings by unkind remarks. Never tell tales, make faces, call names, ridicule the lame, mimic the unfortunate, or be cruel to insects, birds or animals.

A Touching Story.

A drunkard who had run through his property returned one night to his unfurnished home. He entered his empty hall. Anguish was gnawing at his heart-strings and language was inadequate to express his agony as he entered his wife's apartment and there beheld the victims of his appetite, his loving wife and a darling child. Morose and sullen, he seated himself without a word; he could not speak, he could not look up then. Mother said to the little one at her side:

"Come, my dear, it is time to go to bed; and that little baby, as she was wont, knelt by her mother's lap, and gazing wistfully into the face of her suffering parent, liken piece of chiseled statuary, slowly repeated her nightly orison.

When she had finished, the child (but four years of age) said to her mother:

"Dear mother may I not offer up one more prayer?"

"Yes, yes, my sweet pet, pray."

And she lifted up her tiny hands, closed her eyes, and prayed:

"O, God, spare, O spare my dear papa!"

That payer was lifted with electric rapidity to the throne of God. It was heard on high; it was heard on earth. The responsive "Amen!" burst from the father's lips; and his heart of stone became a heart of flesh. Wife and child were both clasped to his bosom, and in penitence he said:

"My child, you have saved your father from a drunkard's grave."

A Waiting Mother.

Of the terrible disaster which happened on the first of April, 1873, I suppose you have all heard; how a great steamer struck at night on the rocks of Halifax, and carried down to a watery burial some six hundred people. Many bodies have been found and identified, but many more will never be seen again until the sea gives up its dead

Among the numbers marked as "missing" is one widow's son, who lives in Detroit. She clings to the hope that Willie will yet come back to her. The papers have never told her that he was lost, and she feels that by some means he was saved. Every day she sets his plate on her table, that all may be in readiness if he does arrive; and every week searches the papers for tiding from the sea.

"I haven't heard from Willie yet," she says in answers to the neighbors' queries; "but I hope I shall this week." How long her faith will hold out we can not tell, but doubtless for years to come she will be an anxious watcher. A sudden knock at her door will make her start and her heart throb quick; and when the door opens she will almost unconsciously look for Willie to come in.

O! how many other mothers are watching, hoping, and praying for their boys to come back, boys who are wrecked almost as hopelessly and fearfully as were the passengers of the Atlantic—wrecked on land in the fearful drunshops that destroy more bodies and souls than the most cruel reefs on our coasts! But a mother never forgets them. Said an aged mother to me of her intemperate son now a gray-haired man: "There isn't an hour of the day that my poor boy is out of my mind." And the bitter tears coursed down her furrowed cheeks. His wife and brothers had cast him off, but his mother's heart clung to him still with all a mother's love.

O, how can a son slight such love? How can he resist a mother's pleadings? The hour will come when its memory will sting like a viper, but often when it is too late to make reparation for past neglect and unkindness.—The Banner.

My Mother.

Basil Wood, referring to the deep affection of his mother, says: "This is a subject on which I hope I shall never think without heartfelt gratitude to her, and to God who so favored me.—The whole of her deportment was calculated to win my early attention to religion. I saw in her what religion could do; how happy, how cheerful, how humble, how holy, how lovely in life and afterwards in death, how full of mercy and good fruits, it could render the possessor. As I was the only son of my mother, and she was a widow, she might perhaps lean to the side of over indulgence; yet, if my heart does not deceive me, I am indebted, through divine grace, for that inestimable benefit, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, to the impression of her great and tender kindness, her uniform example, and particularly her pious and affectionate letters when I was about thirteen years old."

Rural and Domestic

The idea that meadows can only be kept productive by frequent breaking up and re-seeding is refuted by the experience of our best farmers. The Ohio Farmer says: "We have in mind meadows which have not been plowed in twenty years, and yet they yield not only heavy but first quality hay, they having always been pastured in the early fall, never fed close, and occasionally harrowed and top-dressed, with fine, well rotted manure. The habit into which many farmers have got of allowing sheep to gnaw meadows in the winter is a bad one, for they nip to the very roots, to get the nutritious and sweet feed. We have seen meadows that have not been plowed in fifty years, and the only fertilizer they received was a dressing of lime once in five years.

Women learn even from the Mormons! A correspondent of the Rural New Yorker has written, while on a journey in Utah, that the Mormons propose to conduct the dairy business in all its branches upon the co-operative plan. The plan proposed is for the farmers of a neighborhood to put their farms and their live stock together, the whole to be managed as a company. Thus, for instance, a dozen farmers unite in this movement: one has 50 acres and 10 cows, another 80 acres and 16 cows, another 100 acres and 20 cows, and so on, each farmer furnishing a certain number of cattle in proportion to the size and quality of his farm. A cheese or butter fatory is now built in the most convenient spot for the accommodation of the lands taken as a whole together, and the expense is borne by the members of the association pro rata, or in proportion to the land and cows furnished by each—scrip, of course, being issued, entitling each to a certain amount of stock in the concern. Then the whole tract is put under the superintendence of an experienced and skillful farmer and manager, and the business is operated throughout as a company matter in the same way that other companies for manufacturing and operating large enterprises are managed. The Mormons claim that co-operative associations can be made to work in dairy farming quite as successfully as in other branches of business, and that the profits are very much larger on the average for each stockholder than when each one operates separately.—Under this system they say the work goes on with regularity and in a more perfect manner under the high skill of the best managers, while there is immense economy in tools, in machinery, in labor, and in all the appurtenances required to carry on farming.

A Good Milch Cow.

Hungerford, president of the Adams Bank, Jefferson county, N. Y., has a cow called "Creamer," 7 years old, weight about 1,200 pounds, color red and white spotted, native, with probably an infusion of Durham; large rear, small front, thin neck, with one of the largest udders ever seen: while running to grass, gets in addition two pails of slops a day, composed of shorts and oatmeal, and yields over 100 pounds of milk a day at her best. For five days in succession she gave 101½ pounds daily; is milked three times a day. These particulars are from Roger Bamber, of Fort Plain, who visited the cow, he being one of the best judges in dairy matters, and a leading cheese and butter buyer, well known throughout New York State We regret he did not give us the amount of milk the year through, the length of time in milk, the amount of food consumed, to be compared with the average milker, the number of pounds and quality of butter made during the year, with other matters of interest. He lately purchased the cow for $115.—Mirror and Farmer.

An over-racing horse—one whose hind feet are frequently hitting the forward shoe—should wear heavy shoes forward and light ones behind. The theory is, that the heavier hoof will be thrown a little farther ahead at each step than the lighter one.

A man should never be ashamed to own that he has been in the wrong, which is but saying in other words that he is wiser to-day than he was yesterday —Pope.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THIRTY YEARS
Since the introduction of
Perry Davis' PAIN KILLER.

After thirty years trial, the "Pain-Killer" may be justly styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no region of the globe into which it has not found its way, and none where it was not been largely used and highly prized. Moreover, there is no climate to which it has not proved itself to be well adapted for the cure of a considerable variety of diseases; it is admirably suited for every race. It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but it continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest; and is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility.

Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the standard Medicine for severe complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma, and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. No article ever attained to such unbounded popularity. The various ills for which the Pain-Killer is an unfailing cure, are too well known to require recapitulation in this advertisement.—As a natural and universal medicine the Pain-Killer stands unrivaled.

Thirty Years is surely a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and hoot the Pain-Killer is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalled popularity it has attained. It is a sure and effective remedy.

It is sold in almost every country in the world, and is becoming more and more popular every year. Its cheering power in the hour of pain, and its healing properties have been fully tested all over the world, and it need only to be known to be prized.

Sold by all Druggists.
Feb. 1 1m.

Try It, Prove It Yourself.

Messrs CRABBS & Co:
1022 Race St., Philadelphia Pa.

Gentlemen:—Please send me twelve bottles of Cannabis Indica, one case of Pills and Ointment, for a friend of mine who is not expected to live, and as your medicines cured me of consumption some three years ago, I want them to try them. I gained fifteen pounds while taking the first three bottles and I know it is just the t me he has.

Respectfully,
J. V. HILL
Lawrenceburg, Anderson Co., Ky., Feb 16, '73. Feb 4-4w.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely safe. Perfectly odorless. Always uniform. Illuminat g qualities superior to gas. Burns in any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to supplant the use of volatile and dangerous oils. Its safety under every possible test, and its perfect burning qualities, are proved by the combined use in over 40,000 families. Millions of gallons have been sold and no accident, directly or indirectly—has ever occurred from burning, existing of benefits, &c.

The insurance upon life and property, resulting from the use of camp and dangerous oils in the United States, is appalling.

The Insurance companies and Fire Commissioners throughout the country recommend the ASTRAL as the best safeguard which lamps are used. Send for circular.

CHAS. PRATT & CO., 108 Fulton Street, New York, proprietors.

Sold by Jatling Lewis & Co., Raleigh—Authorized Agents.
Aug 27 6m.

Mothers, Mothers, Mothers.

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for children teething. It relieves the child from pain, cures wind colic, regulates the bowels, and by giving rest and health to the child, gives rest to the mother.

Be sure and ask for
"MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP."
For sale by all druggists
June 25 1s.

DR. M'LANE'S
Celebrated American
WORM SPECIFIC, or VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eyelid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE
Will certainly effect a cure.

The universal success which has attended the administration of this preparation has been such as to warrant us in pledging ourselves to the public to

"RETURN THE MONEY
in every instance where it should prove ineffectual: "providing the symptoms attending the sickness of the child or adult should warrant the supposition of worms being the cause." In all cases the Medicine to be given IN STRICT ACCORDANCE WITH THE DIRECTIONS.

We pledge ourselves to the public, that

Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge
DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY
in any form; and that it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

Address all orders to
FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders distinctly, and take none but Dr. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post-paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

☞ For sale by Druggists, and Country Storekeepers generally.

REMOVED

The office and warehouse of the FALLS OF NEUSE MANUFACTURING COMPANY have been removed from Neuse to Raleigh, to one more centrally located by W. H. Jones & Co., adjoining the Raleigh National Bank. Correspondents please note the change.
G. ROSENTHAL,
Jan. 1m Sec. and Treas.

"A Repository of Fashion, Pleasure and Instruction."

Harper's Bazar.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

The Bazar is edited with a combination of tact and ability that we seldom find in any journal; and the journal itself is the organ of the great world of fashion.—Boston Traveler.

The Bazar commends itself to every member of the household—to children by droll and pretty pictures, to the young ladies by its fashion-plates in endless variety, to the provident mother by its patterns for the children's clothes, to intermatities by its tasteful designs for embroidered slippers and luxurious dress-leggings. But the real backbone of the Bazar is unfamily of great excellence. The paper has acquired a wide popularity for the fireside enjoyment it affords.—N. Y. Evening Post.

SUBSCRIPTION—1874.

Terms:

HARPER'S BAZAR, one year.....$4 00
An additional prepayment of 1, 8, postage by the publishers.

Subscriptions to HARPER'S MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, and BAZAR to one address for one year, $10 00; or two of the three Periodicals, to one address for one year, $7 00; postage payable by the subscriber at the office where received.

An Extra Copy either the MAGAZINE WEEKLY, or BAZAR will be supplied gratis for every Club of FIVE SUBSCRIBERS at $4 00 each, in one remittance; or, Six Copies for $20 00, without extra copy; postage payable by the subscribers at the offices where received.

Back Numbers can be supplied at any time.

☞The SIX volumes of HARPER'S BAZAR, for the years 1868, '69, '71, '72, '73, elegantly bound in green morocco cloth, will be sent by express, freight prepaid, for $3 00 each.

The postage on HARPER'S BAZAR is 20 cents a year which must be paid at the subscriber's post-office.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York

EMERSON'S
Singing School.

Price 75 cts., or $7.50 Per doz.,
IS A COMPLETE, CHEAP, AND USEFUL BOOK FOR SINGING SCHOOLS.

Now is the time to use it, as it has all the material to make the Winter Singing School attractive and useful in the highest degree. By
L. O. Emerson.

System for Beginners
ON THE
PIANOFORTE.
By MASON & HOADLEY.

One cannot help liking this thorough, systematic method, the work of such enthusiastic teachers, and who have the important qualification of being experienced teachers.

Remember that the first months of instruction are, if there is any distinction, the important ones. That is the time to lay a good foundation. "A work well begun is already half done." Price $2.50.

All books sent, postpaid, on receipt of retail price.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.
Boston. 711 Broadway, N. York.
May 14-12m.

Established 1815.
CHARLES SIMON & SONS.,
63 No. Howard St.,
BALTIMORE, MD.

Dealers in Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods, would call special attention to their splendid stock of Dress Goods, Linen Goods, Embroideries, Laces, and Hosiery. The best assortment of Mourning Goods in the city.

SAMPLES SENT FREE!
All Orders amounting to $20.00
or over, will be sent free of Freight charges by Express, but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their goods sent C. O. D. must pay for return of money.
jan 1—12m.

The King of Sunday School Books,
"PURE DIAMONDS."

By JAMES R. MURRAY. Assisted by Geo. F. Root, H. R. Palmer, P. P. Bliss, J. M. Keefer and a host of other writers of Sunday School Music.

No such genuine success ever known in the history of singing books. Over 100,000 Copies have been sold in three months, and the demand is increasing daily. Price in boards 35 cts, single; $3 60 per doz.; $25 per hundred. Specimen copy in paper cover 25 cts.

S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Cleveland, O.

Sent free to any address Brainard's New Descriptive Catalogue of Selected Popular Music. A selected list of choice music, containing full description of thousands of beautiful pieces of music. This new catalogue is invaluable to all musicians. Sent free to any address. S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Publishers, Cleveland, O.
Aug. 17-12m.

STIEFF'S PIANOS.

UPWARDS OF FIFTY
FIRST PREMIUMS
GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS.

Were awarded to CHARLES M. STIEFF, for the Stieff Pianos, in competition with all the leading manufacturers in the country.

OFFICE AND WAREROOMS—No. 9 N. Liberty Street, Baltimore, Md.

The Superiority of the Particular Stieff Piano Forte, is conceded by all who have compared it with others. In their New Grand Square Scale, 7⅓ Octaves, the manufacturer has succeeded in making the most perfect Piano Forte possible.

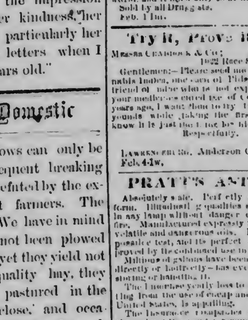
Pianos will be loaned as reasonable as consistent with thorough workmanship.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos always on hand, from $50 to $300.

Also, the celebrated Bardoli Cabinet Parlor and Church Organs, all styles and prices, to suit every one, guaranteed to be fully equal to any made.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 1500 Southerners, 800 of whom are Virginians, 240 North Carolinians, 150 East Tennesseans and others throughout the South), who have bought the Stieff Piano since the close of the war.
April 6-1y.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.



Spectacles Rendered Useless.
Save Your Eyes.
BEFORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by
Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Specimens and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines he has had his sight permanently restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Inspired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight-edness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring; 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Epiphora, Running or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or Impaired vision from the effects of Intemperance; 8. Amblyopia, or Indolence of Light; 9 Overworked Eyes; 10. Mydeopia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Any one can use the Ivory Eye Cups without the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,000 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from our most Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—many of them the most excellent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition;"

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1868: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles every years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 1868: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Sylvia Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex. R. Wyatt, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, by my aforetestiment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the Inestimable PRESERVATION AND ADAPTION OF THE EYESIGHT, of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Write no more cutting by applying your glasses on your nose and blindness for life.

AGENTS WANTED.

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our New PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at the light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $24 A DAY. To live Agents $40 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to
DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 95. New York City, N. Y.
Sept 6-14m.

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.
Sept. 10 tf

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.
—OR—
RICHMOND & DANVILLE RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, AND NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Sunday, Dec. 7th, 1873.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	5 01 P. M	8 35 A. M.
" Air-Line J'n'ct'n	7 15 "	9 50 "
" Salisbury.....	11 00 "	10 47 "
" Greensboro'....	2 15 A. M.	1 15 P. M.
" Danville.....	5 35 "	5 37 "
" Burkville.....	7 40 "	8 06 "
Arrive at Richmond...	9 35 P. M.	11 02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1 48 P. M.	1 30 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4 08 "	8 28 "
" Danville.....	9 52 "	1 38 P. M.
" Greensboro'....	1 16 A. M.	4 00 "
" Salisbury.....	3 56 "	6 53 "
" Air-Line J'n'ct'n	6 23 "	8 51 "
Arrive at Charlotte	6 30 A. M.	9 00 "

STATIONS.	GOING EAST. MAIL.	GOING WEST. MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'.	2 30 P. M.	Arrive 12 31 A. M
" Co. Shops.....	"	10 45 "
" Raleigh.....	"	6 00 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'	5 30 "	Leave 2 40 P. M

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.
(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'..... 4 30 P. M.
Arrive at Salem..... 6 25 P. M.
Leave Salem..... 8 30 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'..... 10 30 A. M.

Mail train daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leaves Richmond at 9 45 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12 30 P. M., leave Burkeville 4 30 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7 55 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, (without change.)

Papers that have advertisements to advertise the Secretaries of this company will please print as above.

For further information address
S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	9.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon	3.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	9.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh	4.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon	8.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon	2.30 P. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	7.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line steamer to Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and S Howard, and with Petersburg Railroad to Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points South and Northwest.

Leave at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hayward and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and eastward and Pittsville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Railroad will run daily, (sundays excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	1 00 P. M.
Arrives at Hoke'sville	6.25 "
Leaves Hoke'sville	6.45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	2.25 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh	3.05 P. M.
Arrives at Hoke'sville	8.20 "
Leaves Hoke'sville	10.15 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.40 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Hoke'sville with the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

For combination and Freight Tickets connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Supt. Raleigh & Augusta Air-Line.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,
Opposite Tucker Hall.
FAYETTEVILLE STREET,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,
DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Ruffin's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at

PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S
Drug Store.
Jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,
DEALER IN
PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS,

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the
REPAIRING AND TUNING
of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, rear the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson' sling House.
Oct. 22 6m.

A new work of intense INTEREST and intrinsic VALUE

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley."
A graphic History of Ocean Navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling incidents, fearful disasters, pirates, perils, &c. Among, also the WONDERS BENEATH the SEA, Diving, Dredging, Telegraphing &c., 325 splitted Illustrations. Agents just started report 100 orders in four days. 127 in five days, 75 in two days &c.; sells wonderfully fast. 3000 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and circulars. HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, 723 Sansom St. Phila.
Sept 18-12m.

DAISY PLOWS
BEST AND CHEAPEST IN USE.
FACTORY CHILDREN'S Block Island

Have taken over 2250 premiums at Fairs throughout the country. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List, and certificates of planters who use them.
SOLE MANUFACTURERS
GRIMLY, MILES & HEADY,
Louisville, Ky.
Sept 24-6m.

100 BOXES "FORESTERS LEMON CRACKERS
July 23 1t LEACH BROS.

FIFTY CASES COVE OYSTERS.
July 23-3m LEACH BROS.

THE "SNOW FLAKE" BRAND OF FAMILY Flour. Equal to Patapsco and much cheaper
LEACH BROS.
july 23-tf

W. W. GUTHRIE, Kensington, N. C. GEO. A. NEWELL, Wilmington, N. C.

"BLEES"
Link-Motion Lock-Stitch Shuttle
NOISELESS

Hems, Braids, Gathers, Tucks, Ruffles, Cords, Binds, Prills, Quilts, Gathers, &c., &c.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Puts the stitch to result, and unlike the present range and variety of work of any machine ever before offered to the public.

Combines the world in perfection of work, strength and beauty of stitch, fact lity of cuss uction and rapidity of motion.

Reliable agents wanted for every county in the State, to whom liberal terms will be given.

NEWELL & GUTHRIE, General Agents
No. 5 South Front Street,
Wilmington, N. C.
nov 26 tf

ÆTNA FIRE CO.

Assets, $5.782.635.09.
W. H. CROW, Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.
mar 5-12m

ÆTNA LIFE COMPANY,
JANUARY 1873.
ASSETS, - - - $18,077,540.66

Represented in North Carolina, and Va., South of James River by
W. H. CROW, Manager.
Office, Raleigh.

WILLIAMSON, UPCHURCH & THOMAS
WHOLESALE GROCERS
—AND—
Commission Merchants,
FAYETTEVILLE ST.,
OPPOSITE MERCHANTS HALL.
R. P. WILLIAMSON,
W. G. UPCHURCH,
J. L. THOMAS, JR.
RALEIGH, N C
oct 1-tf

WATSON'S GALLERY
—OF—
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South, where every style of Photographic likeness is executed from the smallest Ambrotype to the large Portrait colored in oil. If you have the likeness of a deceased relative or friend, you can have it enlarged and colored to life size. Photographic Albums and Picture Frames always on hand, in great variety, at low prices.

Raleigh, do not fail to call at WATSON'S GALLERY and door above Tucker Hall.

J. W. WATSON.
Dec 18-12

THE VICTOR SEWING MACHINE
TRIUMPHANT!

It is the very best Machine in the world, and has taken the first premium at every Fair where ever it has been exhibited!

Our New Patent Shuttle is the Simplest and only Perfect one in use.

The Only Lock-Stitch Machine that has a Self-Setting Needle.

It uses straight and self-setting needle. The needle cannot be set wrong. A self-adjusting tension. No difference in sewing from light to heavy, or heavy to light goods. A new PATENT SHUTTLE the best, simplest and easiest threaded. The needle carrier is free from all frictions. It has no springs, wires or cogs. The lightest running and simplest in use. All parts are adjustable. Buy no other machine if you want the best.

Persons who will send direct to our office for machine will receive a discount, assuming to be agent's commission and thus get their machines at wholesale price. This offer, however, only to such places where we have no agents established.

Agents wanted in every county. Better terms given than any other Company.

Address Rev. C. R. BERNHEIM,
General Agent, Concord, N. C.
J. M. BROUGHTON, Raleigh, N. C.,
Agent for Central North Carolina.
oct 1—1y

WIRE RAILING & ORNAMENTAL Wire Works.
DUFUR & CO.,
36 North Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.
Manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, &c., SCREENS, FENCES, GATES, SAND AND COAL SCREENS, WOVEN WIRE, &c. ALSO, IRON BEDSTEADS CHAIRS, SETTEES, &c., &c.
Feb 19-12m

DUFUR'S STAINED GLASS WORKS
29 Third Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
☞ Specimen Sent on application.
mar 20—12m.

NUMEROUS TESTS HAVE PROVED
N. F. Barnham's New Turbine
Water Wheel
To be the Best Ever Invented.
Pamphlet free. Address, York, Pa.
July 23—6m.

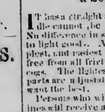
FURNITURE.
W. H. Morris & Co.,
No. 3 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Chamber Sets, Cottage Chamber Sets, Parlor Sets, Dining Room Sets, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Washstands, Tables, Chairs, Sofas, Lounges, Spring Beds, of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety at styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Marble top centre tables &c.

ALSO
keep constantly on hand and make to order all kinds of Mattress s, such as pure Curled Hair, Cotton and Shuck. Excelsior and Shuck Mattresses. Old Hair Mattresses renovated and made as good as new.

No trouble to show goods. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.
W. A. MORRIS & CO
Oct 29-6m.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.



Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati.
apr 16—12m.

BLACKING, Blacking Brushes, Yeast Powders Concentrated Lye, Toilet Soaps, &c.
LEACH BROS.
July 23-tf

ANOTHER CONSIGNMENT OF "EXTRA OLIVE" Soap just received handsome "Swan Card" given away.
LEACH BROS.
July 23-tf

OPIUM MORPHIA HABIT speedily cured by Dr. Keeley's only known and sure Remedy.
NO CHARGE
for treatment until cured. Call on or address,
DR. J. B. BECK, Cincinnati, O.
Jan 28 4w

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD!

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
NO. 141 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary.
WM. M. OGLE, Secretary.
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., L.L.D., Med. Director

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES.

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium.

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for JUDGMENT OF INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS,—upon which elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of their Policies, each and every year, and in a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation must be held by the Companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully see for this important safeguard. IT WILL BE FOUND IN THE BROOKLYN LIFE

WM. LITTLE, M.D., MEDICAL EXAMINER

A. W. LAWRENCE,
General Agent for North Carolina,
Office at Raleigh.
may 18—tf

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 6. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,004.

Selected Poetry.

A Song For Peace.

JOAQUIN MILLER.

As a tale that is told, as a vision,
Forgive and forget, for I say
That the true shall endure the decision
Of the false till the fall of the day;

Ay, forgive, as you would be forgiven,
Ay, forget, lest the ill you have done
Be remembered against you in Heaven
And all the days under the sun.

For who shall have bread without labor?
And who shall have rest without price?
And who shall hold war with his neighbor
With promise of peace with the Christ?

The years may lay hand on fair Heaven;
May place and displace the red stars;
May stain them, as blood stains are driven
At sunset in beautiful bars;

May shroud them a black hill may fret us
As clouds with their showers of tears;
May grind us to dust and forget us,
May the years, O, the pitiless years!

The prophets of Christ are beyond them;
The truths by the Nazarene taught,
With the tramp of the ages upon them,
They endure as though ages were naught.

The deserts may drink up the fountains,
The rivers grow place to the plain,
The seas may give place to the mountains,
The mountains return to the main.

Mutations of worlds and mutations
Of suns may take place; but the reign
Of Time and the fates and vexations
Begun with them, no, never a stain.

Go forth to the fields as one sowing,
Sing songs and be glad as you go,
There are seeds that take root without sowing,
And bear some fruit whether or no.

And the sun shall shine, sooner or later,
Though the midnight breaks ground on the morn;
There appeared for be Christ, the Creator,
And he crys-foretold Time, His first born.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Letters to a Young Itinerant.---No. III.

Much of the pleasures and benefits of pastoral visitation is due to the wives of the brethren among whom you go. The visit of the preacher, with her, is no common or unimportant event. The upper room, with "table and candle-stick" is duly overhauled and carefully prepared,—children are instructed—servants are admonished, and the whole household is made ready,—from her supplies the best are selected, and unusual care and skill are employed in their preparation, so that taste, elegance and plenty, as well as that which is wholesome and inviting, shall crown her board. Now all this extraordinary forecast and preparation so willingly and almost universally bestowed, is called forth by an earnest desire to honor the preacher, please her husband, and extend her hospitality without grudging. (What a pity that so many husbands overlook these efforts and sacrifices, and how much the pleasure and profit of the pastor's visit is due to their wives.) I need scarcely remind you that all these well directed arrangements, prompted by a sense of duty and a profound regard for your office and work, demands something at your hands,—that you appreciate it, enjoy it, and even compliment, is not enough. Common justice, not to say common politeness, demands that your deportment should not interfere or conflict with the order and harmony of the household—a moment's reflection will show you that perhaps you can do this in no way more flagrantly than by lying in bed too late in the morning. Just think of it: the good wife "arises while it is yet night," sets her house in order, inaugurates the preparation of her meal, and knowing there is a point in the preparation of food at which it attains its highest savoriness, she arranges to secure this at the right time, and accordingly, the family being all in place, and the last touch given to her steak, muffin, biscuit, toast, &c., the preacher is summoned for prayers, when—"tell it not in Gath"—he is snoring away in bed like it was mid night. Imagine, if you can, the overwhelming effect of such an announcement upon the wife? In dismay, she remembers how this and that viand she has expended so much care and skill to prepare, is to be unsavory and insipid—in fact, ruined—and how her reputation as an expert and skillful house-wife is to be compromised, and the breach that is made upon the usual order and regularity of the family, and all by what? by the indolence and the unwarrantable self-indulgence of one upon whom is laid the solemn injunction, "Redeem the time." Such untimely self-indulgence is not only an outrage upon the patience of woman, but will soon stupify the usefulness of any minister, especially him who is just entering upon its solemn duties.

I entreat you, my dear young brother, avoid yielding to this temptation—if by nature or by habit, you are disposed to indulge in it, at once begin the work of conquest—if unable in your own, seek Divine strength. You must overcome it, or it will overcome you.

But suppose you arise timely, and when called for, are in your place, ready—there are still one or two points, just here, I feel that I ought to mention. When the wife announces her readiness for prayer, it is upon the presumption that in 25 or 30 minutes all her preparations for the table will be completed;—with her, now, every moment is precious. Judge then of her feelings when she sees you sit down, and in a quiet leisure way commence turning over the leaves of the Bible, till half of her estimated time is gone; finally you alight on the 26th or 27th chap. Mat., or it may be 119th Psalms, and commence reading. You continue to read, and you go on reading, till in spite of her earnest desire and purpose to worship God without distraction—she, true to her official duty and womanly instincts, remembers what haste and ruin is going on in the cook-room. Now, who will say that this is not a tax upon her patience and forbearance wholly uncalled for, and could be, and ought to be averted, and might be by the exercise of a little discretion or reflection, or what would be still better, a little common sense? Allow me here, also, to bespeak your attention and the exercise of a better judgment in all these matters.

While on this subject of pastoral visitation, there is still another matter, that in this connexion I feel constrained to notice. I allude to the use of tobacco, especially chewing, as this lab it is fraught with more inconvenience and conflicts more with neat and cleanly habits than other forms of its use. The nature of the plant, in almost every person who chews it, is to excite an increased flow of saliva from all the secretory glands of the mouth. This necessitates its frequent and profuse ejection—all salivary secretions when pure are tenacious and slimy in their nature, and exceedingly repulsive to the eye, and polluting to the touch; but when perfumed, admixed and discolored with tobacco, its odor and sight are execrable beyond description. Just think of a man, and a minister, with a dark zone of offensive incrustations cropping out on his lips, a slimy rill coursing down each corner of his mouth—spewing out one huge mouthful after another of this detestable admixture upon spotless floors, or spurting it at fire-places and bespattering, polluting and defacing hearthstones, mantel, jams and all—or if he at all notices the spittoon, it is only to hurl an overflowing mouthful toward it—which, missing its aim, comes down in a discoloring, tainting fog upon the carpet, to befoul and corrupt it—or, as if to cap the climax, that even fills his mouth on lying down, and in his hours of dreams, pours forth upon the snowy sheets and pillows a winding sluice—staining, corrupting, and despoiling as it flows. What a revolting picture! and how utterly incompatible with every law of that "cleanliness, which is next to Godliness."

It is almost universally true that the "slaves of the weed" become careless or indifferent as to where they empty their mouths, and in this way, oftimes, unconsciously and unintentionally offend all good taste and propriety; however indifferent men may act in the presence of one another, a respect for female eyes, to say nothing of their intuitive, instinctive delicacy and taste, neatness and purity, should deter men from such wanton violations of all that is decent and proper in their presence. An obligation of this kind rests upon every man, but with tenfold force upon ministers, who are commanded, "Be thou an example of the believers in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in PURITY." 1st Tim. iv and 12.

I will notice some of the physical evils growing out of this habit in my next.

Yours in Christ,

WATCHMAN.

Cedar Grove, Jan. 1874.

For the Advocate.

BOND-HOLDER.

Who can Answer?

A number of preachers and laymen hold the bonds of the Publishing House at Nashville, showing they have paid one hundred dollars to that Institution on certain conditions therein named. Nothing has been heard from the House or its Agent since the war on that subject. I listened for something in regard to it from Dr. Redford at our Conference in Goldsboro, but was disappointed. Some of us would be glad to get some light, as another scheme is on foot for the relief of said house. Will the present plan enable the house to resume its payment annually of the books, and to furnish the Bibles it has given its paper for, before the war? Who can answer?

A BOND-HOLDER.

MR. EDITOR: I find the above card in the Raleigh Christian Advocate of January the 28th. I am not aware that bonds of the Publishing House have ever been issued for any such purpose as that suggested by "Bond Holder." If so, allow me to say that they will be promptly and faithfully redeemed. It occurs to me that if the writer of the card had conferred with me at Goldsboro, it might have been better than the publication of his card in the ADVOCATE.

I will be glad to receive a letter from him, giving me a copy of the bond to which he refers. Not a dollar of the paper of the Publishing House has ever been repudiated.

I am yours very truly,

A. H. REDFORD, Agent
Southern Methodist Publishing House.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 30th, 1874.

For the Advocate.

The Poor Indian Boy.

Being in Oxford on the first Sabbath of this year, I attended service in the Methodist Church. I have heard it said that the way one commences the year he will hold out to the end of it. I hope, however, the rule will not apply to those young men that became so boisterous on the streets on Sunday night, instead of going to the house of God as their parents should have taught them. Perhaps soberer reflection will excite feelings of regret, and induce them in the future to imitate the example of more considerate persons. The inmates of the Orphan Asylum were out. The managers very properly carry them to all the churches, as it is an institution based on the benevolence of Christian hearts, and cannot be limited to sectarian blindness and prejudice.

On the right of the speaker sat the male, and on the left the female portion of the inmates of the Asylum. I noticed among the boys a little Indian boy—the lone representative of one of the aboriginal tribes of our country.—The sight of the little fellow sitting among the children of the pale man, isolated from his people, awakened melancholy reflections in my mind.—Little knows he of the treachery and vindictiveness of the past, when in the bloody struggle for the mastery the dwindling tribes fell like autumn leaves commingling with the dust, and his fathers turned their backs to their wigwams and their hunting grounds, with tearful eyes and saddened hearts. Had the spirit of Christian love and forbearance dictated the cause of the early settlers of our country, instead of the revolting scenes of cruelty which characterized the age, a different result might have been effected. But alas! the grasping cupidity of man, crushing out higher and holier influences from the soul, renders it in its darkness oblivious to ennobling sentiments of Christian consideration and duty.

Many generations have mingled with the mother dust since the campfires of the forest tribes shone out from the hill top on which stands the Orphan Asylum, and the war-whoop and the dance of the red man awakened the echoes of the hills around. But the "pale" and the red-man will meet again. In the book of God's remembrance is chronicled all the thoughts, emotions, and deeds of the past. The merciless Pizarro and gold infatuated Cortes will find the blood of their slaughtered victims staring them in the face, at the dread tribunal of Him who will mete out impartial justice to all. The Judge of all the earth will do right. And it is a consoling thought that the tears of innocence and purity fall not unobserved in Mercy's sight.

Lo, the poor Indian boy! Perhaps his mother sunk into her grave when he was "too young to know his loss;" or his young heart may have felt the bitterness of grief, feeling that he had no one to love and care for him in his hours of loneliness and his sadness.—But such was not the case. The same God who sent His angel to comfort the soul of Hagar, and supply the wants of her weeping boy, was watching over him, and directing the eye of Christian love and compassion to his condition. Cheer up my little orphan boy! the arms of Christian love will embrace thee, and direct thy mind to the source of consolation and truth, though far away from the humble domicile of your earlier days.

Who will not contribute to the enlightenment and comfort of the little Indian boy, and help him to look out from this mental darkness to the sunlight of soul elevating and expanding day? Who knows but what a little assistance from those who have "enough and to spare," might send him forth one of the brightest luminaries of the institution, a missionary of the Cross, like the Star of Bethlehem, directing the footsteps of erring ones to the Saviour of man? The managers are nobly performing their duty in the matter; but without the needed assistance of those who possess the means, and whose Christian duty it is to assist the institution, they are powerless to accomplish the desired and beneficial results proposed by the Asylum.

Ye sons of North Carolina! let it never be said of you who profess to be the followers of Christ, with the lamp of truth in your hands, that the cries of ragged, hungry, and homeless orphans, elicited no feelings of sympathy and compassion in your souls. Awake to a full sense of your Christian duty, and lend a helping hand in elevating the orphan mind from the dismal vale of obscuring darkness to the purer atmosphere of Christian illumination and love. Do something for the mental and moral enlightenment of your race—for the church and your God.—How pleasant to feel as you are nearing the end of life's journey, with the smiles of heaven resting upon you, that, like old Job, you have been "eyes to the blind, and feet to the lame—a father to the poor—causing the widow's heart to sing with joy."

In conclusion, for the consideration of the kind sisters, I will give a short extract from Solomon's description of a good woman—whose "price is far above rubies." "She stretcheth out her hand to the poor; yea, she reacheth forth her hands to the needy. She openeth her mouth with wisdom; and in her tongue is the law of kindness." How significant the language of the Master! "Ye have the poor with you always, and whensoever ye will ye may do them good."

Reader! remember the inquiring eyes of the poor Indian boy are looking to you for Christian aid and sympathy. Shall he plead in vain?

OXONIAN.

Oxford, N. C., Jan. 15th, 1874.

For the Advocate.

MR. EDITOR: I have now been one month in my new station. I am highly pleased with this new field of labor. This is one of the most desirable stations in the Conference. The people are intelligent, refined and social. I feel proud of my congregation. The membership is one hundred and twenty. They are zealous, double-hearted, liberal, working Christians. There is largely more intelligence and culture in this almost mountain town than in many of the Eastern cities.—I have been here scarcely one month, and yet I am receiving those attentions from our people to which pastors in some other towns, in their riper associations, are strangers. Shelby is a pleasant town, located 20 miles South-east of the mountains, whose giant forms, draped in blue beauty, stand out in full view. The Railroad from Charlotte (50 miles) comes in 5 miles of the place. This gap of 5 miles is to be finished in a few months. The town has a population of 800 souls—12 Dry Goods stores—2 Drug—3 Confectionaries—1 Newspaper (the Cleaveland Banner)—4 Churches, and one of the best Hotels west of Raleigh. The Episcopal Church has no rector, and very few members. The Presbyterians, though few in number, are building a new church. The controlling churches are the Methodist and Baptists, very nearly equal in membership, wealth and influence. Dr. Turner's High School is located here. Rev. Mr. Gwin (Baptist) is teaching a mixed school. Mrs. Brevard is conducting a Female Seminary at Cleaveland Mineral Springs, 2 miles Eastward from the town. We have skillful physicians, (5), who find the place distressingly healthy, and talented lawyers (7), whose business, they say, has grown "beautifully less," as time recedes from the war complications.—The cotton crops are growing larger in the country every year. About three thousand bales are shipped annually from this place. Corn, wheat, all kinds of vegetables, fruits, and grapes are grown plentifully here.—The mountain breeze, so balmy and pure, the cool sparkling springs, and the healing waters of Sulphur and Chalybeate Springs, in and around the town, make this region exceedingly salubrious and delightful. Dr. Burkhead (our P. E.) has moved his family into the District parsonage, located in this place. The Doctor says that he never has been more comfortably situated than he is now. He has attended several of his appointments, and his effective sermons and energetic management of the District affairs augur great prosperity for the "Empire District. Two other good things we liked to have forgotten; namely, a daily mail and the absence of grog-shops.

Yours, &c.,

H. T. HUDSON.

Shelby, Feb. 2, 1874.

STANDING FIRE.—A young soldier, going to his barrack room to sleep for the first time, quietly kneeled down to pray in the presence of his comrades. This act was the signal for a storm. Hisses, shouts and whistling filled the room with hideous noise. Belts were thrown at the kneeling soldier, one man leaped upon the bed and shouted in his ear. But he was unmoved to the end of the prayer, when he arose and silently went to his repose. The next night his comrades eagerly watched to see if he would dare to pray a second time. To their surprise he again dropped on his knees, and they saluted him with the same noises as on the previous evening. He did not flinch, however. The third evening he kneeled down and prayed, regardless of their continued mocking and noise. On the fourth evening the noise was less. On the fifth it was still less, and on the sixth one of the soldiers exclaimed: "He stands fire, he stands fire. He's genuine." After that, no one disturbed him. He had overcome opposition—he had won respect.

A good brother in a Baptist church in Miami county, who while giving his experience, not long ago, said "Brethern, I've been tryin' this nigh onto forty year to serve the Lord and get rich both at once, and I tell yer, it's mighty hard sleddin'."

Selected.

Note from Bishop Keener.

STEAMER FRANKFORT,
Mississippi River, Jan. 18, 1874.

On board; steam up. I have for traveling companions Bishop Simpson and lady, and Mr. McCreary, of Philadelphia. The prospect of getting off on yesterday morning was very dim; but I have all my life only stepped into open doors, and so the Lord opened the way—General Grant, the Governor and two consuls being called into requisition. The gun has just fired. The Lord be with all at home!

All the appointments on this vessel are admirable. It is thoroughly clean in the cabin and about decks, and presents a marked contrast to the Tabasco, which I now recall, with its narrow quarters and steaming messes of codfish and sweet oil, with onions and garlic for flavor. We are now, while I write, plowing our way down the river, with but little disturbance from the engines.

We shall be, they say, two and a half days getting to Havana, and there we expect to meet the English mail line from St. Thomas to Vera Cruz, which leaves Havana for that port not earlier than the twenty second of each month and not later than the twenty-fourth. I was informed yesterday that there will certainly be a line of steamers between New Orleans and Vera Cruz in a few weeks. This would make the trip to Mexico a matter of four days. Then Mexico will be only the next circuit outside of Calcasieu. Indeed, one at sea is very much like Bro. Parvin in the midst of the big Calcasieu praire, with a guide whose knowledge had run out. It is easier now to go to China than to make the round of the Manny mission, and when the streams and bayous are well up the danger by water is not much greater. The Lord has narrowed the world amazingly since the days of Mr. Wesley, and one trip of Dr. Coke to America and back was fully equal to a passage around the world in these days of steam and railroads. The greatest strain on the laborer in foreign fields is the absence of his own kin and people. He is thrown on his own resources and his Savior. Faith then becomes a necessity to comfort. What communion he ought to have with his God, and no doubt does have! faith for himself and faith for those that sent him.

I forgot to say that just before leaving I received a letter from Bro. Daves, dated at Vera Cruz. He had a some what rough passage; though to one born far up on land any uneasiness of the sea seems stormy. Then he had a French opera trompe, which crowded the steamer from Havana to Vera Cruz. But he was well, and just about to take the cars, at three in the morning, for the City of Mexico. Evidently things in general were overwhelming his pen when he wrote, and he was getting ready for much newspaper utterance.

Friends will please not expect answers to letters, which probably came to hand just on the instant of my starting. When I return, which will be in six weeks, they shall have attention. Yours truly.— K.

—New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Early Instruction.

The father of John Stuart Mill held that 'Christianity, as commonly presented to mankind, is the ne plus ultra of wickedness,' 'the greatest enemy to morality,' 'radically vitiating the standard of morals,' and 'lavishing phrases of adulation on a Being whom, in sober truth, it depicts as eminently hateful.' These shocking views he impressed on the mind of his son with assiduous care, under an idea of duty. The effort to impress them began with the earliest years of the mind which he sought to pervert; and he jealously guarded that mind against all influences contrary to his own convictions and feelings hostile to religion. The success of this maleducation was complete. The son, whose writings, as a philosopher and a statesman, are standard works, text-books and classics, lived and died without having ever been an enquirer into the truth of Christianity. Revelation and its great verities were regarded by him, from first to last, as 'things which in no way concerned' him. A more absolute irreligion is scarcely possible to the human mind than he evinced throughout.

Now, is there not here a lesson of value to Christian parents? Should they not seek to inweave the sacred, saving truths of Scripture into the first impression of their children,—sowing the seeds of the gospel in the virgin soil? Should they not sedulously ward off from the young the influences which might bias them against these truths,—the currents of feeling and thought on which they might drift away from reverence toward God and trust in Christ? Is there not reason to fear that more, and more disastrous, "sins of omission" prevail in this department of Christian work than anywhere else! Who that is conscious of delinquency in the past, will not resolve to do the divine will in teaching divine truth to his offspring more faithfully for the future?—CHRISTIAN INDEX.

Short or Long Pastorates?

The question is being discussed in many journals, 'How long ought a minister to stay in one place?' Clergymen and laymen and editors are wagging tongue and pen on that subject—a most practical question and easy to answer. Let a minister stay in a place till he gets done: that is when he has nothing more to say or do. Some ministers are such ardent students of the Bible and of men, they are after a twenty five years residence in a parish, so full of things that ought to be said, that their resignation would be a calamity. Others get through in three months and ought to go: but it takes an earthquake to get them away. They must be moved on by committees, and pelted with resolutions, stuck through with the needles of the Ladies' Sewing Society, and advised by neighboring ministers, and hauled up before Presbyteries and consociations, and after they have killed the Church and killed themselves, the pastoral relation is dissolved. We knew of a man who got a unanimous call. He wore the finest pair of gaiters that ever went into that pulpit, and when he took up the Psalm book to give out the song, it was the perfection of gracefulness. His tongue was dipped in 'balm of a thousand flowers,' and it was like the roll of one of BEETHOVEN'S symphonies to hear him read the hardest Bible names, JECHONIAS, ZERUBBABEL and THGLATH-PILESER. It was worth all the salary paid him to see the way he lifted his pocket handkerchief to his eyelids. But that brother, without knowing it, got through in six weeks. He had sold out his entire stock of goods, and ought to have shut up shop. Congregations enjoy flowers and well folded pocket handkerchiefs for occasional dessert, but do not like them for a regular meal. The most urbane elder was sent to the minister to intimate that the Lord was probably calling him to some other field, but the elder was baffled by the graciousness of his pastor, and unable to discharge his mission, and after he had for an hour hemmed and hawed, backed out. Next, a woman with very sharp tongue was sent to talk to the minister's wife. The war-cloud thickened, the pickets were driven in, and then a skirmish, and after a while all the batteries were opened, and each side said that the other side lied and the minister dropped his pocket-handkerchief and showed claws as long as those of NEBUCHADNEZZAR after he had been three years eating grass like an ox.

We admire long pastorates where it is agreeable to both parties, but we know ministers who boast they have been thirty years in one place, though all the world knows they have been there twenty-nine years too long. Their congregations are patiently waiting their removal to a higher latitude. Meanwhile, those churches are like a man with chronic rheumatism, very quiet, not because they admire rheumatism but because there is no use kicking with a swollen foot, since it would hurt them more than the object assaulted.

If a pastorate can be maintained only through conflict or ecclesiastical tyranny, it might better be abandoned. There are many ministers who go away from their settlements before they ought, but we think there are quite as many who do not go soon enough. A husband might just as well try to keep his wife by choking her to death with a marriage ring, as a minister to try to keep a church's love by ecclesiastical violence. Study the best time to quit.—Christian at Work.

Difficulty and Effort.

It is not ease, but effort; not facility, but difficulty that makes men. There is, perhaps, no station in life in which difficulties have not been encountered and overcome before any decided measure of success can be achieved; those difficulties are, however, our best instructors, as our mistakes often form our best experience. We learn wisdom from failure more than from our success; we often discover what will do, by finding out what will not do; and he who never made a mistake never made a discovery. Horne Tooke used to say of his studies in intellectual philosophy, that he had become all the better acquainted with the country through having the good luck sometimes to lose his way. And a distinguished investigator in physical science has left it on record that whenever, in the course of his researches, he encountered an apparently insuperable obstacle, he generally found himself on the brink of some novel discovery. The very greatest things—great thoughts, discoveries, inventions—have generally been nurtured in hardship, often pondered over in sorrows and at length established with difficulty.

Beethoven said of Rossini, that he had in him the stuff to have made a good musician, if he had only when a boy been well flogged; but he had been spoilt by the facility with which he produced. Men who feel their strength within them, need not fear to encounter adverse opinions; they have far greater reason to fear undue praise and too friendly criticism. When MENDELSSOHN was about to enter the orchestra at Birmingham, on his first performance of his 'Elijah,' he said laughingly to one of his friends and critics, 'Stick your claws into me! Don't tell me what you like, but what you don't like!'

It has been said, and truly, that it is the defeat that tries the general more than the victory. Washington lost far more battles than he gained; but he succeeded in the end. The Romans, in their most victorious campaigns, almost invariably began with defeats. Morean used to be compared by his companions to a drum, which nobody hears of except it be beaten. Wellington's military genius was perfected by encounters with difficulties of apparently the most overwhelming character, but which only served to nerve his resolution, and bring out more prominently his great qualities as a man and a general. So the skillful mariner obtains his best experience amidst storms and tempests, which train him to self reliance, courage and the highest discipline; and we probably owe to rough seas and wintry nights the best training of our race of British seamen who are not certainly not surpassed by any in the world.—Self Help.

Unction

A young man rises in the pulpit. You see nothing engaging in his person, nothing musical in his voice, nothing winning in his manner; he has no reputation for genius, or learning, or wisdom; no illustrious ancestry, or secular sources of influence or authority; he speaks, but when you come to analyze his speech you may find neither logical ability nor rhetorical charms in it; indeed, it may be wanting in connection and void of new thought, yet all listen with eager interest—the giddy are sobered, the worldling feels that he is a fool, the sinner shudders as if brought to the mouth of hell, the saint resolves to live a better life, the minister who had preached for fame turns pale, the whole crowd trembles as in the presence of God. What is the cause? We call it unction. The man has been in his closet, has wrestled with God and prevailed; he has received his commission anew, has had a fresh anointing from the Holy One. He did not tell you this, but you found it out; you detected the odor of the divine ointment as the smell of a field that the Lord had blessed, and therefore the words went forth into your heart with power as the words of God. Test the discourses of Whitefield, Massillon, Summerfield, by logical or rhetorical reagents and you will be at an utter loss to account for their results. As well test the power of the lightning by analyzing the rain drops that fall from the clouds.

A few weeks since, we heard one who has been instrumental in the conversions of more souls, perhaps, than any one of his age in this generation. Men flock around him, and a marvelous power goes forth from him. It was so when we listened to him, and yet how little did he say! Lest we might have been inappreciative, we turned to an aged philosopher and asked him what he thought. 'There is not sense enough in his discourse to fill a lady's thimble, but there is devotion enough to float the chariot of Elijah.'

Varieties.

Never turn a blessing around to see whether it has a dark side to it.

It was said of the ancient Spartans "that they never inquired after the number of their enemies, but where they were."

Let us shun everything which might tend to efface the primitive lineaments of our individuality. Let us reflect that each one of us is a thought of God.

Great moral reforms, like the birth of the Saviour, came into the world in obscurity. They are trifling things, which the grave historian of the day will not stoop to record.

The human race is divided into two classes—those who go ahead and do something, and those who sit still and inquire, "Why wasn't it done the other way."

The chief secret of comfort lies in not suffering trifles to vex one, and in prudently cultivating an undergrowth of small pleasures since very few great ones are let on long leases.

As we pour water into a dry pump when we desire to obtain more—so must we have the love of Christ imparted to the heart before we shall feel any uprisings of delight in him.

An English school girl recently wrote a composition on the provisions of Magna Charta, one of which, she said, was that the rights of the church should be preserved "in violet."

Literary Gleanings.

— The executors of the late Charles Dickens have erected a mural table in Rochester Cathedral, the chief object of which is to connect the memory of Dickens with the scenes in which his earliest and latest years were passed.

— The word "imp" originally signified young man. Edward VI. is so styled in a letter of Cranmer, and a young son of Dudley, Earl of Leicester, who was poisoned by his nurse as is supposed, is described as an imp in the inscription on his tomb at Warwick.

— Most American travellers throw away much of their reading matter at their journey's end. But in England, at each station can be found a box fastened up, very similar to our letter-boxes, but sometimes larger, into which the traveller puts papers, books, etc. Those are in turn collected by men who carry them to the hospitals, homes for old men and women, and similar institutions.

— The criticism of a Southern member of Congress for his provincial pronunciation of "poor" as "pore," "here" as "har," etc., has induced a "Washingtonian" to retaliate good-naturedly in the New York Times, upon the Northern provincialisms which are heard also in the halls of Congress. The Southern critic says: "I wonder that the very fastidious lady (who criticised the Southern member) does not give the Northern members a lecture for pronouncing, as they all invariably do, the word news, 'nooze,' the word new, 'noo,' duty, 'dooty,' constitution, 'constitootion,' Tuesday, 'Tooseday,' etc. It is the rarest thing imaginable to hear a Northern person, either in Congress or out, pronounce the long 'u' correctly as Southerners do, and as Webster and Worcester authorize it. In Washington we can always tell a man is a Northerner when he asks 'What's the 'nooze?'' It is certainly as great a vulgarism as to say 'pore' instead of poor. "Washington" is right, and all provincialisms are very much to be deprecated, especially when they violate so flagrantly the most ordinary rules of pronunciation. There are no elements of a correct pronunciation more essential than that of the vowel sounds, and none which contribute more largely to beauty of speech.

— Of Mr. Disraeli's recent address, at Glasgow, the London Court Journal says: "The address has been in MS. for a couple of years; but Mr. Disraeli spoke it off-hand, without a pause or a slip, without once looking at a note; and every point, except that bit of Greek in the peroration, told well.—That fell flat, because it came like a flash, most of the assembly knowing not a syllable of Greek, and the rest having to translate it in their own minds before they could appreciate it, this process in Greek across the Tweed is generally slow. It only appeared the next day in the Times, and it appeared there because the original MS. of the address was sent to Printing-house Square, and printed with Mr. Disraeli's own punctuation even. It is the shortest university address that has been delivered for a long time, Mr. Gladstone talking an hour and a half about the Greeks; Mr. Carlyle for more than two hours, principally, of coure, about the gospel of silence, which his publishers are now illustrating in twenty volumes; and Mr. Stuart Mill for close upon three hours, talking in that time a complete treatise upon the whole work of education. It was all over with Mr. Disraeli in five-and-twenty minutes; and yet the address will sink deeper than Carlyle's, Gladstone's, or Stuart Mill's."

— THE London Saturday Review devotes a leader to the subject of modern fairy tales, in the course of which it says: "It is supposed that anybody can write fairy tales, and if a writer who is known by greater things chooses to descend to such an occupation, it passes for an innocent caprice. Now the truth is, that it is very difficult to write a good fairy tale, and there are not many men who can do it. In such a work several qualities are required which the other kinds of writing most practised at this day do not tend to foster, and the absence of any one of which is fatal. Imagination and consistency are not less necessary in this kind of fiction than in any other, and the conditions under which the imagination is to be exercised, and consistency preserved in the exercise of it, are more trying. The writer of ordinary fiction has to make new combinations of the elements given in the actual life of the present or of some past age, and the limits within which those combinations must be made are to be found by observation of the known course of human nature and human affairs. It is not so with the writer of fairy tales: unless he follows very closely in the track of some cycle of established popular legend, which very few have the learning or the patience to do, his creatures must live and move in a world made by himself and governed by laws of his own devising. His imagination must therefore be not only constructive, but creative, that is, he must be in some measure a poet. More than this, he must have the simplicity and good faith of an ancient poet, so that he can tell his story as if he believed every word of it, and expected his hearers to do the same. If he moralizes, or allegorizes, or apologizes, he is lost."

The Christian Advocate

RALEIGH N. C. FEBRUARY 1st, 1874.

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

Terms.

For one year, single copy, in advance	$2.00
For six months, single copy " "	1.25
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us none will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written and on but one side of the sheet. All letters for the office should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount in hand. If money is sent otherwise than herein specified it will be at the sender's risk.

To our Readers.

With this issue of the ADVOCATE my connection with it ceases. A proper attention to the duties of my chosen profession—the Law—renders this step necessary.

It is with no little reluctance, however, that I sever a connection, which with the Reverend Editor, and with the readers, has been so uniformly pleasant to me. I have met with nothing but the greatest kindness at the hands of all, and the retrospect of the past year is attended only with pleasure. I have tried to be faithful in the performance of my duties, and have, therefore, nothing to regret. If the attempt has been a failure, it has been a misfortune, but not a fault for which my conscience upbraids me.

In taking leave I deem it only just to state, that the success of the ADVOCATE is an established fact, and will remain so as long as it continues under its present able management. Having for more than a year seen the inside workings of the office, I know whereof I speak, and having no interests to subserve in making this statement, it will be relied upon by all and especially by those who know me.

With my sincerest wishes for the continued prosperity of the ADVOCATE, and with an assurance of my undying attachment to the Conference and Church of which it is the organ and my kindest salutations to its readers, I take my leave. R. T. GRAY.

As will be seen from the above announcement, the connection of R. T. Gray, as associate editor, ceases with this issue of the ADVOCATE. For twelve months and more, we have shared alike in the duties, responsibilities and pleasures of the office, and it is with many regrets that I lose his valuable assistance. In taking leave of the office, he has the full assurance of my highest esteem and best wishes for his success in his chosen profession. His qualifications for the practice of law, strict attention to business, high moral character, and indomitable energy, are a guarantee of success and distinction in the legal profession. J. B. BOBBITT.

Those of our preachers who wish a change in their post office address will please notify us, and we will forward to them the ADVOCATE with back numbers from the first of the year. The preachers who joined at the last session of our Conference are also requested to inform us where they wish the ADVOCATE sent.

REGISTERED LETTERS.—Persons sending money to the Advocate by registered letter will remember that the rate has been reduced from fifteen to eight cents.

ACT PROMPTLY.—Those of our patrons to whom bills have been sent will please renew at once, or notify us in some way whether or not they wish the paper continued. If we hear nothing from them we shall be under the unpleasant necessity of erasing their names from our books.

The ministers in our Conference will oblige us by sending to our office the number and names of the post offices within the bounds of their respective charges, so that we may furnish each with a list of subscribers and bills for delinquents.

PRESS THE CANVASS.—Many of our brethren are earnestly pressing the claims of the Advocate, and we are gratified at the large number of renewals and new subscribers which are coming in, daily. Let all whose time has expired renew promptly. Don't say, "Stop my paper." You need it, and the price is too low to plead poverty as an excuse.

Dr. Craven was in the city last week looking after matters connected with Trinity College, and also arranging for the publication of the Conference Minutes. We are authorized to say that they will, in a few days, be ready for distribution. The Dr. is encouraged with his prospects at Trinity. The spring session has opened well.

Supposing that many, whose term of subscription is out, are waiting to renew through their pastor, the ADVOCATE is continued to them a while longer. We hope the preachers will call attention to this fact at each appointment, so as to give delinquents an opportunity of renewing before their paper is discontinued.

Nursing Grief.

We read lately of a man who, at stated times, withdrew from company and required to a secluded and secret room entered by no one but himself, and upon his return, wore a gloomy dejected countenance as if he carried some sacred sorrow which harrowed his inmost soul. It was at length ascertained that the room contained a plaster of Paris figure embodying the almost perfect lineaments of a darling child who had died many years previous, and that the father, by his daily visits, replenished the grief of which time was gradually relieving his anguished heart.

That father is the representative of a large class of persons who, when pierced by a sorrow, cling to it by a sad fascination, and instead of putting it away from sight, and accepting the balm that Providence and time provide for the wound, nurse their grief and keep the sore open and uncured by allowing their thoughts to dwell upon it continually. It is supreme folly, not to say a grievous sin, to thus allow one's self to follow the receding shadow that a misfortune has cast upon one's heart. All disasters are Providential, and intended to chasten and punish, but Providence, from whose throne of love and mercy gushes such a wealth of sunlight to gladden his creatures, never intended that his afflictions should rest as eternal clouds upon his children without rifts through which that sunlight might stream. Heaven never condemns a man to the never-ending task of rolling his sorrow to the top of his heart, like Sysiphus his rock to the top of the mountain, where, instead of toppling off, it descends again with crushing force, to give fresh employment to his burdened and wasting energies.—It intends, on the contrary, that the affliction shall accomplish its purpose and then pass away; it provides relief when the heart is crushed beneath the too heavy weight, and lifts it by the power of the "Grace that is sufficient" from the pain and anguish in which it is involved. To bug the grief—to implore its stay and companionship, and to refuse the help that is offered, is to fling an insulting defiance at the Heavenly mercy whose arms yearn to interpose with their friendly offices.

Repining is unmanly, foolish and wicked. If the loss or failure causing the grief is of heaven's appointment, it should be accepted without the murmuring and rebellion which repining includes; if it is the result of one's own default, it should be put behind one's back and not before one's face, and be remembered only in order to provide against like default and folly in the future. Regret for past deeds will not undo them—repining for lost opportunities will not restore them, nor will grief for buried joys resurrect them from their graves and replace the bloom that death has faded. Melancholy is among the most miserable forms of madness, and is no less a sin than madness in the sight of him whose precept was, "Be of good cheer!"

"Let the dead past bury its dead," and prepare to embrace the living present and coming future. "If thy rich heart is like a palace shattered, stand up amid its ruins, and with a calm brow front the solemn sky."

Life is too short and too full of great duties to be clogged and hampered by useless regrets and grief. He who grieves uselessly to day, piles up foolish grief for the morrow, and will as surely find life a burden as it will certainly be a failure.

An unswerving faith in an overruling Providence is the "balm in Gilead" which brings healing to the wounds that the heart receives. There is no disaster that that faith will not lighten—no gloom that it will not make radiant—no murky cloud that it will not arch with the bright bow of promise, and no fount of tears that it will not seal. To refuse the comfort that that faith will bring is to distrust and rebel against the wise decrees of Him who will cause "our light affliction, which is but for a moment, to work out for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory."

Rev. Jas. Mahoney writes: "I have entered on my work in good hope of a successful and prosperous year. My people received me kindly and seemingly gladly. I shall, with the help of God, do all I can to meet their expectations in ministering to them in holy things, while I have no doubt they will minister to me in their temporal things. I tell you Mr. Editor, Cokesbury circuit is "somewhere," and verily some place. It has in its bounds many - very many of the right stamp of good citizens and church members. I trust by the time of the singing of birds, I shall write about revivals on my circuit. I am not saying there are four months and then cometh the harvest—I behold the fields. They are white already to harvest. More from over here soon."

We are indebted to Rev. P. A. Peterson, editor and publisher, for a copy of the Minutes of the seventy-ninth session of the Virginia Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, South, for 1873. In addition to the regular proceedings of the Conference, they contain a great amount of valuable statistical information.

The Courant Banner, published at Shelby, N. C., extends to Rev. Dr. Burkhead, Presiding Elder of Shelby District, a hearty welcome as a citizen of that town.

A "New Departure."

Out in Ohio a new method of effecting the Temperance Reform has been adopted, and its good results have induced its introduction into other parts of the country. Laws enabling the wives and children of habitual drunkards to recover damages from liquor dealers who furnish their husbands and fathers with intoxicating draughts, have not effected much in the way of reducing the number of saloons and grog shops, and other laws intended to aid the Reform movements have done little more than adorn the statute books. The new plan proceeds upon a different principle, invokes a higher authority than the Legislatures, and is more apt to bring trouble to the conscience and discomfiture to the trade of the liquor dealers. It is this: bands of temperance people, chiefly ladies, are organized who proceed to the saloons, crowd upon the pavements and before the doors of the shops, and represent to the dealers the evil of the traffic, and the ruin that it works. They kneel in prayer, in sight of the dealers, and plead with Heaven to send conviction to the hardened hearts of the saloon-keepers, and appeal to them to sign the pledge against liquor selling. The blockade of the doors is so effective that few customers can enter if they were willing to do so, and surrender on the part of the dealers is most frequently the result. Some threaten violence and indictments for trespass, but the saloon-keepers, depraved as they may be, have not hearts hard enough to maltreat women in the attitude of prayer, and as for indictments for such trespass, the ladies do not dress' the courts.

The town or city is laid off in sections, and two or more bands are appointed to care for each saloon, who relieve one another in the work of "watching and praying."

Some Reformers in Boston have adopted the device, prominent among whom is the famous Dr. Dio Lewis, a man of eminent good sense and piety. He is pleased with the plan, and considers that it will be effective.

We cannot say that we recommend the movement, nor do we entirely disapprove it. In some localities, and under some circumstances it might be feasible and proper, and in others not; with which somewhat Emsdian observation we supplement and close the account of the "new departure in temperance reform.

Our brother, Rev. Dr. S. Milton Frost, writing from Hanover, Pa., to renew his subscription, casually remarks as follows:

"I hope the dear old Advocate, which I labored so hard to establish in 1854–1855, will ever prosper. At the Conference held in Raleigh, 1853, I struck the first blow. I believe, that was ever made on the Conference floor of that body, for a N. C. Conference paper and a N. C. Conference College. The blow was repeated at Pittsboro in 1854, and again in Wilmington in 1855, when the project of starting a N. C. Conference paper triumphed. Now, that the Conference has her own Advocate, and her own College at Trinity, I shall ever rejoice in their prosperity."

DEATH OF DR. N. E. COLLEIGH.—We regret to learn of the death of Rev. Dr Colleigh, Editor of the Methodist Advocate the organ of the M. E. Church in Georgia. His death was quite sudden as he attended the recent session of the North Carolina Conference of the M. E. Church, in Lexington N. C. He was, we judge from his writings, a man of good Christian feeling, and made an excellent Editor. His paper showed great ability and industry and we earnestly mourn his loss.

The First Quarterly meeting for Smithville circuit on the Wilmington District will be held at Zion instead of Smithville, as heretofore announced in the Presiding Elder's appointments.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Dameron, wife of Logan D. Dameron, Superintendent of the Southwestern Publishing House of the M. E. Church, South, died at St. Louis, Mo. on the 15th of January.

BISHOP MARVIN has been preaching with great effect in Montgomery, Mobile, New Orleans, etc. We understand that the interest in Mobile is very great That is right—loose him and let him go like lightning all through the South.—Nashville Advocate.

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: Annie, daughter of our Dear Bro. N. H. D. Wilson died this morning at 3 o'clock.

She has suffered severely for a long time, but now she rests, sweetly with Him "who has washed her in His own blood." More anon.

Greensboro Feb. 6th 1874.

J. A. CUNNINGHAM.

(We deeply sympathize with our brother in the loss of his lovely daughter.—ED.)

DEATH OF MRS. W. E. EDWARDS.—With sincere sorrow we announce the death from pneumonia of this estimable Christain lady, in Norfolk, on Sunday, the 1st instant. The many friends of her husband, Rev. W. E. Edwards and those of Rev. Dr. J. E. Edwards, will hear of this heavy affliction with grief, and will carry the afflicted ones in their prayers to the mercy seat. May God bestow his grace in full measure on the husband and motherless children and on all the sorrowing kindred and friends.—Richmond Christian Advocate.

We are requested to state that the post office address of Rev. L. S. Burkhead D. D. is Shelby N. C.

Voice of the Press.

Dr Talmage, Editor of The Christian at Work, has the following to say under the head of Safe Slander, against those whose work of detraction begins only after their enemies have passed out of reach:

"We have read all the stuff for the last three years published about Abraham Lincoln's unfair courtships and blank infidelity. The protracted discussion has made only one impression upon us, and that is this: How safe it is to slander a dead man. You may say what you will in print about him, he brings no rebutting evidence. We have heard that ghosts do a great many things, but we never heard of one as printing a book or editing a newspaper to vindicate himself. Look out how you vilify a living man, for he may respond with pen, or tongue, or cow-hide; but only get a man thoroughly dead (that is, so certified by a coroner) and have a good, heavy tomb stone put on the top of him, and then you may say what you will with impunity.

But we have read somewhere in an old book that there is a day coming when all wrongs will be righted; and we should not wonder if then the dead were vindicated, and all the swine who have uprooted grave yards should, like their ancestors of Gadara, run down a steep place into the sea and get choked. The fact that there are now alive men so debauched of mind and soul that they rejoice in mauling the reputation of those who spent their lives in illustrious achievement for God and their country, and then died as martyrs for their principles, makes us believe in eternal damnation."

The Southern Christian Advocate has the following sensible reflection on the subject of Pars magna:

"In looking over the statistical reports of the several Conferences, officially served by our paper, we are gratified to see that some progress is being made in the important matter of furnishing the several pastoral charges with parsonages. In South Carolina the increase is reported at 11; in North Georgia, 5; South Georgia 2; and Florida, 2. The advance is inconsiderable, but it shows progress, and authorizes hope that this subject is gradually gaining the hold upon the minds of our people, to which its gravity entitles it. The importance to the Church, of providing a home for the preacher, on every circuit and station, cannot be overestimated. The perpetuation of the itinerant system is involved in it. Most of the embarrassments which beset the appointing power in these days, are directly traceable to the neglect of the Church at this point; and unless the evils growing out of this neglect are arrested, it requires no great sagacity to foresee the ultimate and not distant subversion of the system. Mere availability, rather than real fitness, too often decides appointments now, and the evil must increase, just in proportion as the ministry are left by the Church to provide homes for themselves. "Local Itineracy," as it is paradoxically called, is the ailment that most seriously threatens the life of our Church system, and the only antidote for it, is vigorous and successful prosecution of the Parsonage policy.

The parsonage enters also as a most important factor in the solution of the perplexing and sometimes vexatious immacial problem. When there is a comfortable home in which to domicile the pastor and his family, with adequate grounds attached, all the property of the Church, the support of the ministry is a comparatively easy thing."

Some paper suggested that Bishop Cummins ought to be received into the Methodist Episcopal Church and be set to work as a Bishop, "as he is in orders of the most 'regular' kind, his ordination would be accepted by believers in Apostolic Succession. In a few years, without any controversy, without any submission to unreasonable demands, without any abandonment of Methodist doctrine or usage, we should have a ministry among us that even High-Church Episcopalians would be bound to respect and recognize, on the basis of their own assumption."

Whereupon Dr. Curry of the N. Y. Christian Advocate says:

We are quite as well satisfied with the "orders" we have as we could be with any that Bishop Cummins can give; and we should be with any body's, however far removed from prelatical or any other kind of ecclesiastical "regularity." Our theory of ordination to the ministry is of the most radical character. This whole matter of laying on of hands is at best only a decent form of recognition and initiation. It can impart no qualification for any ministerial duty or service, and it may be useful to guard against irregularities in administration. But it is very doubtful whether the prelatical abuses to which it is put do not more than counterbalance any advantages that may thus be derived from its use. The brazen serpent kept in the ark of the covenant as a memento was good and useful but when it became an idol it was wisely and piously destroyed. So of ordination to the ministry by "laying on of hands;" and it may not be amiss for the real Protestants of our day to see to it that this merely decent ceremonial shall not become a fetich, to be so regarded and worshiped. Possibly the time may come when some fearless Hezekiahs among us may think it most advisable to break it by disusing it.

The Methodist Advocate, of which the late Dr. Cobleigh was editor, gives the following account of a serious accident which befell Rev. Dr. Nelson recently:

"Dr. Nelson, Book Agent at New York, met with an accident on Sunday, at the South Carolina Conference, which came near being a very serious one. At the close of the morning service he went upon the platform to talk with Bishop Ames for a few moments, and stepping back near the edge of the platform, his heel caught, and he was precipitated down nearly four feet, striking a sharp corner of one of the steps with the whole weight of his body on his left side, directly over the region of the heart. Fortunately, providentially, we would say, his thick over coat and his wrist first received the corner of the step and broke part of the force of the fall; but for this the fall might have proved very serious, if not fatal. As it was, the shock was very severe to his nervous system, and the strain and the bruise painful. He was taken up and placed in a chair, but soon fainted. He rallied after a few minutes, and rode in the Governor's carriage to his temporary quarters, where he was carefully attended, and was able next morning to meet and address the conference, though in the midst of considerable suffering from pain in the wrist and intercostal rheumatism. If he had fallen two inches further his head would have hit the stove, and fatal might have been the results. His deliverance from death was providential in more directions than one."

There is not a sincere Christian heart in our land but is saddened by these sounds of war in this venerable Church of Christ. In days of yore many noble sons have been born to her and trained up to do valient service for Christ, and many to-day are found in her ranks who preach the very marrow of the Gospel, and whose hearts, both of ministry and laymen, beat in full accord with what is true and Christian among others called by different denominational names. Some of the best systems of theology, some of the sweetest books of sermons in our Presbyterian libraries, were prepared by ministers of the Episcopal Church whose names we love and venerate. Some of the most precious Christian people that the world has ever known have been and are found in that Communion.—people whose culture, intelligence, refinement, and zeal for Christ have drawn to them, from every Church, warm Christian esteem and affection.

But it is none the less true, and it pains us to say it—there are many whose arrogant assumptions have placed them entirely out of sympathy with Christians of other denominations, and whose views of ministerial are such as to justify the grave suspicions as to the character of their professed piety. If the present agitation in the Episcopal Church shall ultimate in its sloughing off these "erroneous and pernicious doctrines contrary to God's Word," which Mr. Latane has shown to be "existing facts," there is no Christian but will heartily rejoice. But if that Church persist in the doctrines for which the Cummin's movement is the only remedy for the protection and vindication of God's truth, then with all our heart we wish for that movement a vigorous God speed."

A Word to our Brethren.

AT the last May meeting the Board made large appropriations to our missionary fields. Since that time the unexpected "panic" has come upon the country, which, in places, has curtailed the collections. Fears are entertained that some of the drafts may not be met in due time. I therefore suggest:

1. That every Presiding Elder have a conference with his preachers, and procedure as early as may to lift their missionary collections. Ask for liberal contributions, and see if every member of the Church will not give something to this noble cause.

2. I suggest that missionary sermons be preached in every congregation in the Church.

3. These large collections made early, will enable the Conference Treasurers to pay the missionaries on the home work in due time, and remit to the General Treasurer the 40 per cent., that he may meet the drafts drawn in favor of our Foreign work.

Come, brethren, let every man go to work!

The Missionary Secretary would like to visit every accessible point at as early a day as possible.

J. B. MCFERRIN, Sec.

A Move in the Right Direction.

AT the preachers' meeting in Nashville, Jan. 26, the Presiding Elder, the Rev. Dr. Kelley, proposed to those in charge of circuits and stations to begin without delay to raise their missionary collections. He suggested February and March as the most suitable months for this purpose. He suggested, further, that a sermon should be delivered in every congregation in the bounds of the District, and that every member of the Church should be called upon, either in congregation or privately, for a contribution, and that our friends should be solicited to aid in this enterprise. His proposition was unanimously sustained, and brethren are going to work. This is an example worthy of imitation.

J. B. MCFERRIN, Sec.

We are requested to say that the post office address of Rev. Jas. Mahoney is Blocker's, Cumberland Co., N. C.

Religious Brevities.

Prof. C. E. Taylor has resigned the pastorate of the Baptist church in Oxford.

The subscriptions for the families of Messrs. Proni[illegible] and Carrasco, delegates of the Evangelical Alliance, who were lost on [illegible] du Havre, amount to [illegible].

Rev. N. [illegible] of Rutherford county, was [illegible] to the Presbyterian Church [illegible] ville, Tennessee—a pleasant location and flourishing congregation—is disposing of his property in Rutherford with a view to accepting the call.

The Henderson Tribune says;

"Amaien protracted meeting is now and has been going on for several nights at the Baptist church, this place, Rev. Jordan, of Oxford, Presbyterian, Rev. A. Bostmaer of Ridgeway, Methodist, Rev. T. J. Horner of Henderson, Baptist, and others are officiating."

Rev. John A. Latane, Rector of St. Matthew's Church in Wheeling, West Virginia, has formally withdrawn from the Episcopal Church, with the intention of joining Bishop Cummins' movement.

Rev. E. M. Green, for the past two years in sole charge of the "Southern Presbyterian," has resigned, and will accept a unanimous call to the pastorate of the Presbyterian Church at Washington, N. C.

The first sermon ever preached in Marion, N. C., says the Presbyterian Presse, was preached in Col. Jasper Neal's house in 1842, by the Rev. G. M. Gibbs, new pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Hickory.

In the report of the Committee of the Brooklyn Presbytery, regarding the propriety of allowing Rev. Sarah Smiley to preach before audiences in the Lafayette Avenue and Memorial Presbyterian Churches, it is claimed those churches violated the rule of the Presbytery in permitting her to preach.

Dr. Talmage's new Tabernacle is to be dedicated Feb. 22. He has secured the aid of Rev. B. I. Ives for the occasion.

The King of Sweden has appointed a day throughout the kingdom when a collection is to be taken up for the benefit of the Emanuel Lutheran Church at Chicago.

The Central Presbyterian says of the missionaries of the Presbyterian Church, (South,) in Brazil: "We have letters from Campinas dated November 18, at which time the mission families were in usual health and busily engaged in their various duties. The college building is progressing rapidly and both schools are flourishing."

A Baptist exchange has a Salt Lake correspondent who says:

The Methodist pastor has crowded congregations weekly, half Mormon, and is doing much good. The Presbyterians have a Sunday school of over one hundred scholars. The Episcopalians are thriving. The Congregationalists have sent a strong man there while the Baptists, to whom the Mormons are closely allied in at least one of their tenets, are sitting with folded hands waiting for God to build a church for them without an effort.

The venerable Rev. Isaac James, M. D., said to be the oldest Methodist local preacher in America, was borne to his final resting place, near his residence in Bustleton, Pa., on Monday of last week. Had he lived another week he would have been ninety-seven years of age. He was born in Rendor, Pa., Jan. 28, 1777. He was eighty four years a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the commencement of his ministry dates back seventy five years.

To the Preachers of the Shelby District.

DEAR BRETHREN: The "Joint Board of Finance" assessed $1 00 to the Shelby District for "Delegates expenses to the General Conference." You will please collect the amounts suggested, and forward to the undersigned, or to Bro. N. H. D. Wilson, Greensboro, N. C., by the 15th of April, viz:

Shelby Station,	$
Shelby Circuit,	5
Double Shoals,	5
Lincolnton,	13
South Fork,	6
Dallas,	5
Rock Spring,	10
Newton,	10
Happy Home,	5
Lenoir,	10
Marion,	6
Rutherfordton,	8
Morganton,	10
Cherry Mount,	5

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.
Shelby, N. C.

We are pleased to place upon our exchange list the Christian Index, the organ of the Baptist Church in Georgia. It is published in Atlanta and is under the editorial management of Rev. Dr. Harrison, who conducts it with ability and in excellent style.

We have received from some one, we suppose the editor of the Central Methodist, a copy of the Minutes of the Western Virginia Conference for 1873.

We enter the small remainder, at request of [illegible] subscribers. Will you not use your influence, each, to send us at least one new subscriber? All of you have personal friends.—Some of them, perhaps, do not take the ADVOCATE. By your influence they may be induced to take it. Make the effort, and we believe it will be successful.

The cross mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired.—Please renew without delay.

NEWS DEPARTMENT.

We invite attention to the advertisement of D. S. Waitt. He offers extraordinary bargains in ready made clothing and dry goods. Give him a call.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.—The State Grange of North Carolina will hold its first annual meeting in this city, commencing on the 18th inst. A large attendance of delegates is expected, as considerable interest is manifested in the order which has grown with astonishing rapidity during the last six months. The various lines of railroad in the State will pass delegates at half rates.

NORTH CAROLINA GAZETTE.—We are favored by an exchange with the GAZETTE, an excellent paper published in Fayetteville by Messrs J. H. & G. G. Myrover. It is in its first volume, but gives evidence of established prosperity. Its editorial management shows spirit, tact and ability which has already carried the paper to a front rank among the Journals of the State. It is furnished to subscribers at $2.50 a year, in advance.

A VALUABLE BOOK.—Mr. James H. Ennis, Bookseller of this city, has in press a new and valuable work for Justices of the Peace, County officers and Business men entitled "Busbee's North Carolina Justice and Form Book." The contents of "Busbee's Justice" are divided into three parts. Part 1st treats of the Civil and Criminal Practice and Preceding in Justice Courts with all the necessary forms and instructions in relation to their various duties. Part 2nd contains a full and carefully prepared digest of the statutes and decisions in relation to all other county officers with all the forms under the same. Part 3rd is a collection of the most approved forms and precedents in every day-use, such as Agreements, Assignment, Bonds, Deeds, Wills, &c. Price $200.

COL. MCMFORD MCGEE.—We have seen it stated that Col. M. McGee, of Person, is spoken of as a candidate for the 44th Congress from the 7th Congressional District. The election of Representatives takes place next summer. No better selection could be made by the people of his District and it would be fortunate in having such a Representative as Col. McGee would make. He is now one of the most faithful and industrious members of our General Assembly, is a gentleman of talent and affability and what is more, of true Christian worth. Too many of the politicians of this day are wanting in those qualities which constitute a wise legislator, gentleman and Christian, but we believe that they all centre in Col. McGee. We would rejoice, as a North Carolinian not as a partisan, to see him in Congress as a North Carolina Representative.

MINOR LIQUOR LAW.—Below we give the act passed by our General Assembly to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors to minors. We believe that if enforced it will accomplish great good and we trust that every violation of that law will be promptly reported to the authorities and followed by quick and severe punishment. The following is the act:

Section 1. THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA DO ENACT, That it shall be unlawful for any dealer, trader or retailer of intoxicating drinks or liquors, to sell or give away any such drinks or liquors, and in any manner to receive compensation therefor, either directly or indirectly, to any person under the age of twenty-one years, knowing the said person to be under twenty-one years of age. Any person who keeps on hand intoxicating liquors for the purpose of sale or profit, shall be considered a dealer within the meaning of this act.

Sec. 2. The father, or if he be dead, the mother, guardian or employer of any minor to whom sales or gifts shall be made in violation of this Act, shall have a right of action in a civil suit against the person so offending by such sales or gifts, and upon proof of any such illicit sales or gifts shall recover from such party or parties so offending, such exemplary damages as a jury may assess, provided such assessment shall be not less than twenty-five dollars.

Sec. 3. Any person or persons violating the provisions of section one of this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall pay a fine of not less than ten dollars or more than fifty dollars, or be imprisoned not more than one month; or the Court may in its discretion impose both such fine and imprisonment. Provided, however, that this act shall not apply in case of minors who are married.

Sec. 4. That this Act shall take effect on the first day of May, 1874.

Ratified 29th day January, 1874.

State News.

The study of the German language has but recently been introduced at Davidson College.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Wiley Evans, tried at the late term of Cumberland Court for the murder of Chas. Boon.

Messrs McQueen have commenced the erection of a cotton factory on Willis' Creek in the lower part of Cumberland County.

Fifty years ago there were but two post-offices in Cumberland county-Fayetteville and Averasborough. Postage from there to New York was twenty-five cents.

The Raleigh & Gaston R. R. Company are building cars for fruit-shipping purposes.

The Hillsboro RECORDER complains of the sad neglect from which the Presbyterian Cemetery is suffering. It has become a pasture and tramping place for cattle.

The lecture by Dr. J. E. Edwards, entitled "Choice of a Wife" was well received by the Greensboro' people last week.

The first number of the CENTRAL PROTESTANT to be edited by Rev. S. L. Michaux as the organ of the Methodist Protestant church, will be issued on the 14th inst.

A merchant in Greensboro has sold 13 Parker and Church organs since last April.

Dr. Wm. H. Pancost, a celebrated surgeon of Philadelphia, accompanied by several young physicians from that city, went to Mt. Airy to make a POST MORTEM examination of the Siamese twins. They procured the bodies and took them to Philadelphia where they determined to make the autopsy. They were very reticent and nothing could be learned from them except that the bodies were in a good state of preservation.

The sleet of last week severed the telegraph wires in fifty-three places between Henderson and Weldon.

Not far from Asheville, in Mcllowe county, there lives a man, who, though frugal almost to parsimony, has been able to save enough to purchase a horse. Not long since his wife suggested to him the propriety of abandoning the idea of buying a horse, and assuming the role himself. This he consented to, and ordered a set of harness to be made. He is now engaged in hauling dry goods for several prominent merchants of the county, having the capacity, it is said, to draw with ease eight hundred pounds. Neither snow, rain or sleet deters him from his work, and we have it on the authority of a truthful citizen of McDowell that he crosses branches barefooted the winter.—ASHEVILLE EXPOSITOR.

The Monroe ENQUIRER expresses a decided preference for Hon. Thos. Ashe as the next Judge of the 5th Judicial District.

Shad are selling in Wilmington at 10 a pair.

The Henderson TIMES is informed that a few days ago an infant only a few days old, was picked up in the Roanoke River near Alexander's Ferry, Mecklenburg county, Va. The infant had been put in a very nicely made box, one hundred dollar greenback bill put under its head, and the box set floating in the river.

A mill, together with some other buildings belonging to Wright Moore, of Blakely, in Forsyth county, were burned not long since.

The "Robesonian" learns that Nathan McDougald, a former citizen, has been elected District Clerk in Texas, with a salary of $6,900.

WELDON NEWS: The champion fox of the State is Mr. Summerell, of Northampton county. He has tailed seventy-eight foxes from September last to present date.

The schedule on the Salem (Northwest North Carolina) Railroad will be changed, and so arranged as to connect closely with the North Carolina Railroad instead of the Richmond and Danville Railroad, as at present.

The Asheville Pioneer says: We are informed that Mr. Howell, who was injured when the stage upset near Gudger's Ford, on the 8th inst., has instituted proceedings against Mr. E. T. Clemmons proprietor of the stage line, for the recovery of $2,500 damage.

The Monroe Enquirer says: We were surprised and gratified while on a visit to Wadesboro last week to notice the amount of business now doing there. The streets are crowded daily with ox wagons, a large amount of which change hands.

A deer was killed a few miles north of Greensboro a few days ago.

A gold mine has been discovered in Henderson county, near Edneyville, and is said to be very rich.

Hereafter, the Rockingham Superior Court will be held on the 10th Monday after the first Mondays of March and September; and the Chatham Court will commence on the 3rd Monday after the first Monday aforesaid.

General News.

Over one hundred ladies are studying law in the United States.

Miss Susan B. Anthony proposes to stump Connecticut for a month in the interest of woman's suffrage.

A bill has been introduced in the California Legislature abolishing the death penalty for murder and treason.

A. D. Hamilton, City Treasurer of Jersey City, has absconded with $30,000 in bonds, and $30,000 in cash.

It seems that some of the Chicago papers now employ female reporters to do their interviewing with distinguished ladies.

Chicago boasts the heaviest cattle dealers in the world. One man bought 197,497 head last year and paid therefore $15,136,071,14.

The greatest depth of the Pacific Ocean between California and China is said to be about two and a half miles.

The Patrons of Husbandry have organized a Woolen Factory Association at Dakota, Iowa, with $30,000 capital.

Jay Cooke's private residence at Chelton Hills, Pennsylvania, which cost one million dollars in its erection is about to be purchased for a Catholic convent.

A ball given in Paris recently by Marshal McMahon was attended by 6000 persons and cost $40,000. Dear shuffling that.

Professor A. J. Schem's statistics of the world, for 1873, just issued, fix the total population of the world at 1,337,000,000, of whom there are 201,200,000 Roman Catholics, 106,300 Protestants, 81, 600,000 Greek and Eastern churches.

The American travels of the Grand Duke Alexis are about to appear at St. Petersburg. The book is highly curious and interesting. Alexis pronounces Broadway the finest thoroughfare in the world. He praises the frankness of American manners. The profusion of our hotel fare delighted him, though he thought the viands too rich.

Rhode Island, with a population of about 220,000, has 124 savings banks, and 93,124 depositors. The average amount of each deposit is $500,000.

The Centennial buildings, proper, will cost $7,000,000, and will consist of a permanent domed structure covering two acres, and a grand pavillion covering thirty-three acres.

West Alabama papers state that hundreds of negroes who left there to go to Mississippi and Lonisiana are returning, some of them even walking 100 and 200 miles to get home.

A statistical cotemporary says: "The area of British India is, in round numbers, one million square miles, and the population averages two hundred souls to the square mile.

The Penang Gazette is the oldest journal in the world. It is printed on a large sheet of yellow silk, and appears in the same form, with the same characters, and in the same kind of material as it did a thousand years ago. The only change is in the writers.

It is claimed for Stuart Mace, a young man of Moulton, Iowa, that he is constructing the smallest steam engine in the world. Its cylinder is to be the size of a grain of wheat.

A petition will be presented to Congress to have its short term extended into the month of May, and that inauguration day hereafter be the second Wednesday of May instead of the 4th of March as heretofore, and that the election of President take place in October instead of November.

Jottings.

Mr. Ball, of the New North State, who is also U. S. Commissioner, in his paper of the 4th inst., gives an interesting account of an attempt to bring some illicit distillers in Yadkin county to justice. He, in company with two or three U. S. deputy Marshalls, went to Yadkinville and lodged at the house of ——— Hackett. It being noised abroad that the Revenue Men were in the village, the illicit distillers in the section were put on their guard, ceased operations and removed their fixtures, so that the search made the next day by the Marshalls, was all out fruitless. On the second night after the arrival of the officials, a mob numbering about 50 men, came in the yard of Mr. Meckle and in a drunken riot by firing guns and pistols, and cursing in loud terms. No further demonstration was made, but as they were finally moving off the vagabonds gave notice that the experiment would do well to leave before the next night. Under a record of some delendants, here the witnesses summoned did not appear to testify in a subpœna, of violence from the assistance also make a common cause against U. S. officials. The proceedings by the rioters were highly disgraceful and should be condemned by all good and law abiding citizens. We earnestly hope that an end may be put to the distilleries of Yadkin, especially of those that are illicit. Mr. Ball says that in Yadkin, a county of great natural advantages in soil and climate, in the place of thrift and prosperity, there is whiskey and apple brandy, bad morals, misery and unrestrained lawlessness."

We know that "Horners" were fashionable now-a-days in money making circles, but the latest feat in that line, is that of the Corn Doctor who has had a bill introduced in Congress for the payment of a claim against the U. S. for removing forty-six thousand dollars worth of tobacco from the feet of the Boys in Blue during the war. Congress will hardly acknowledge the corn or foot the bill.

Contributions to the Orphan Asylum in January, 1874.

IN CASH.

Paid $50, Greensboro Female College.
Paid $46, Ladies of Wilmington.
Paid $41, Wayne Lodge, No. 112.
Paid $31, Bethabara Lodge, No. 172.
Paid $25.77, Greensboro Lodge, No. 76.
Paid $24.20, Ladies of High Point.
Paid $25, Donald McRae.
Paid $16.50, Danbury Lodge, No. 323.
Paid $16, Collection at Moriah Church.
Wake Paid $15 each, Carraway Council, Friends of Temperance, and New Berne Lodge, No 245
Paid $12.50, Aden Lodge, No. 149.
Paid $11.93, Fractional Collection of Mrs. Carrie Fuller and Mrs. Ella Gregory.
Paid $10 each, Mrs. John Bullock, H. W. Eaton, Jr., S. C. Simms, Walter McRae.
Paid $8.50 each, Pantaux Lodge, No. 31, Anchor Lodge, No. 131.
Paid $6 10, Rayn and Minstrels,
Paid $5.50, Union Hill Council, F. of T.
Paid $5 each, Miss Mary S. McRae, Mrs. J. R. Alexander's collection in Fedell, J. H. Greenlee, Mrs. J. H. Greenlee, T. W. Rowlett, F. A. White, C. S. Winstead, Capt. J. J. Davis, John A. Simpson.
Paid $3, Dr. J. King.
Paid $2 25 Elmwood Lodge, No. 246.
Paid $2.50 H.T. Jordan, Esq.
Paid $2 each, J. A. Mebane, Five Children in Greensboro, D. W. Greenlee, S. H. Richmond, Len Henderson, H. B. Hunter, Sr. J. S. Allen.
Paid $1 each, W. N. Jones, Miss Agnes McRae, Don McRae, Hugh McRae, J. Younger, J. R. Hunt, S. P. Satterfield, W. H. Winstead, N. N. Tuck, R. T. Howerton, A. Young Mrs. Rev. J. H. Ivey, Prof. S. J. Stephens, J. D. Gidney, J. A. McFarland, Jere Dupper W. H. Harrison, V. S. Lea, W. E. Reade, J. Harris, W. E. Webb, J. W. Hunt, J. F. Wagstaff, and Knapp of Reeds Lodge, No. 158.
Paid $30 cts., A little girl.

IN KIND.

One valuable box each, Citizens of Milton, Wayne Lodge, No. 112, Citizens of Mooresville, Bethlehem church, Bladen Co., Mt Vernon church, Wake Co., ladies of Wilmington, Ladies of Big Rock Fish church, Cumberland Co., Citizens of Roxboro.
2 dozen cans R. L. Hunt.
1 barrel of flour, Wayne Lodge, No. 112.
Socks, Mrs. J. H. Lassiter, J. A. Knott, R. B. Dilliard, the Misses Wards,
1 quilt, Miss Nellie E. Stallings.
1 bunch of shoe strings, Mrs. M. J. Morley.
Vegetables, A. Sherman, W. H. Holden, G. W. Watkins, Bennet Breedlove, the Misses Words.
So. Express Co., and Oxford Stage Line for transportation of many boxes and barrels.

J. H. MILLS, Supt.

Marriages.

At the residence of the bride's father, near Wilton, in Brassfield Township, on Wednesday the 14 inst. by W. P. White, Esq., Samuel Ball, and Amarilla Fowler, daughter of Mitchell and Ann Fowler.

Married, on the 22nd of Jan. 1874, at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. B. C. Phillips, Mr. H. D. Maxwell of Harnett to Miss J. S. Vaughan of Moore county.

In the Episcopal Church in Wilesboro, on the 28th of January, by Bishop Atkinson, Thomas B. Wyatt, Esq of Hanover County, Virginia, and Miss Annie E. Leak, daughter of James A. Leak, Esq. of Wadesboro,'

On the 20th Jan 1874, at the residence of Wade Darnall, by Rev George Burchan, Mr. Shubal Burchan and Miss Nancie J. Conch, all of Wilkes Co. N. C.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father in Person Co. Jan. 28, 1874, by Rev. J. W. Jenkins, Mr. Charlie J. Yarboro of Caswell Co. and Miss Jesse M. Bradsher.

Biblical Recorder please copy.

Married, in Goldsboro, N. C., Jan 28th, 1874, at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. C. B. Dodson, Geo. M. Bridgers of Wayne county, N. C., to Miss Chloe E. Patrick, of Goldsboro, N. C.

On the 5th inst. by Rev. A. W. Mangum, Mr. E. A. Whitaker and Miss Virginia Whitaker, all of Raleigh.

At Cary, N. C. on the 5th inst. by the Rev. W. H. Babbitt, Mr. Stanley M. Riggsbee, of Raleigh, and Miss Lizzie Howland, of Cary.

Deaths.

Miss Mary G. Watson, daughter of Washington Eyron and widow of Benjamin G Watson, deceased this life Oct. 4th A. D. 1873, in the 31st year of her age. As all should do, sister Mary gave her heart to God early. Living in obedience to God's will and future blessedness. Her disease was hemorrhage of the lungs, and the disease sudden and unexpected. She ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the son of Man cometh.' The husband passed to the spirit world about a month before the weeping wife. Doubtless they now dwell in the presence of God and angels and many loved ones of whom they had been bereaved by the hand of death.

How short is the period of this life; how uniting its events; how vain its highest hopes and its clay tenement is dilapidated and the spirit goes home to God where all is love!

Sister Watson leaves one child (a promising boy) and many kindred to mourn her early but cherished departure. Mary was a member who for who died in the triumphs of faith.

Departed this life in Davie County, N. C., June 15th, Sister Nancy, wife of L. J. Hoyle, and daughter of Alexander Higgins, of McDowell county, N. C.

Emma was born Nov. 14, 1859—made a profession of religion and joined the M. E. Church, South, in the summer of the year 1875, was married Oct. 12th 1869. I have known Emma ever since she was about 3 years old. She was regarded as being a remarkable child, her department was more like that of mature womanhood, than that of a child. She was the light of the household; the attraction of the numerous circle of acquaintances and friends. When all of the years old she was deprived of her dear mother. Though young, the example and instructions of her sainted mother, had made a deep and lasting impression on her mind. In the year 1876 she entered Davenport Female College, and became a member of the family, acting at that time Pastor of the church in Lenoir. She remained in school for 3 years where she won the admiration of her teachers and classmates who was the favorite of all who knew her.

It would perhaps be saying too much of any one, to assert that she is without fault, and yet if Emma had any, I failed in discover them during the 3 years she spent in my family. Mild and sweet spirited, perfectly submissive to all the regulations of the family. I never heard an improper word escape from her lips; the law of kindness regulated her conversation. I never saw her exhibit an improper temper or disposition. She was faithful and conscientious in the performance of her religious duties. She made no ostentatious show, her chief ornament was a meek and gentle spirit; although universally admired and her society sought after by her numerous admirers, yet it had no effect upon her pure christian spirit. She continued the same in noble christian. She reminded one more of an angel than one of Adam's fallen children. A spirit so pure, was not long permitted to remain in this world where sin and sorrow dwell, God was preparing her for the society of the blessed, her disease was that fell destroyer, consumption, but notwithstanding its insidious character, she seemed to understand her condition and was apprehensive that her change was near, no word of murmur or complaint was heard during her protracted illness. She was wonderfully sustained by divine grace, assuring her Pastor that she was ready and willing to depart and be with Christ. When the fatal moment came, she sank as calmly into the arms of death as an infant falls asleep in the arms of its mother, so that those surrounding her could scarcely realize that the spirit had taken its departure. Just as the darkness of the night was disappearing from the face of nature, and day was beginning to dawn, her blood-bough spirit was carried away by the King to the bright realms of endless day, where the dark night of sorrow and affliction will no more environ her sainted spirit.

She has left a stricken husband and two small children to mourn their loss. Earth has been robbed of one of its brightest ornaments, but a jewel has been added to the casket above. Earth has been made poorer, but Heaven has been made richer.

G. W. FOY.

Died suddenly of apoplexy at Wilmington N. C. on the second of February, Armand D. Young.

Miss Sallie Dowdy was born in 1855, and died near Ruffin, N. C. Jan. 16th, 1874.

She professed religion during the gracious revival at Ruffin last summer, joined the Methodist church, and remained a consistent member until she went to her home in heaven. Though young and hopeful and happy, disease seized her as its victim and carried her away after a protracted illness.

She was an orphan, she had no mother to wipe the death damp from her brow, or father to mourn her early departure, but she was with kind friends who sympathized with her in her affliction, and who now lament that she is gone.

A short time before her death, she exclaimed, 'Why should I fear to die? 'Welcome the tomb, since Jesus hath laid there, I dread not its gloom.' "

Thus peacefully she passed away.

W. C. NORMAN.

Biblical Recorder please copy.

Died, in Onslow county, N. C., the 17th of September, 1873, Erasmus H. Coston, aged 65 years 5 months, and 5 days.

He was a man of distinction in his county, having filled several prominent positions; and at the time of his death, he was a commissioner of his county.

He had been a member of the church 43 years; and a good portion of the time had been an official member. At the time of his death he was Recording Steward of Onslow circuit. From early boyhood he was remarkable for sobriety. Being the son of a local minister of reputation and deep toned piety, in early life by parental instruction, his mind was biased in favor of Christianity. Right early in life he sought and obtained the pearl of great price, and connected himself with the church. His religion was by no means spasmodic in its character. His life was a life of consistency, and devotion to God. There were no fitful deviations from the path of duty, but one uniform course was pursued by him in regard to the service of God until his work was done, and the Master called for him.

As a Steward, he was faithful and true. He not only collected money to meet the expenses of the church from those surrounding him, and excused himself from giving, but he gave liberally himself, overreaching himself in actual ability to pay. For many years he had been paying to the support of the gospel from $25 to $30 dollars, setting other Stewards an example worthy of imitation. But the race of our beloved brother has been concluded upon earth, and he has gone away from earth to reap his full reward in the land of faileless beauty. He died at his post, full of faith and the Holy Ghost; and, now, doubtless he rests from his labors, and his good works follow him. We loved him on earth, and we hope to meet him in heaven. Friends may dry up their tears, and live in expectation of reunion in heaven.

"There triumphant glories deck our brows,
Immortal songs our triumphs tell;
There with fresh ardor shall we glow,
With truth immortal dwell.
No tyrant death molest the smiling plain,
But boundless freedom hold an everlasting reign."

R. P. Ilum

Letters & Funds.

Dr A H Redford. Rev J C Hartsell for G G Huffman. Noah Lush. Dr D S Perry. P Rowell & Co. Rev G Harrat 2 post. H N Dwire self 2. S W Brown 2. Jas Greene Lindley & Bentley 2 and 30 87. Rev J T Harris paper sent. M H Yeakel self 2. J R Mills. R B Skeen. Rev D Culbreth paper sent. Peter Allen self 2. Pool & Hunt. J C Kirkman paper changed. H F Walton Rev W H Moore for Isaac Womble 2 S T Womble 2, other paper continued J P Jenkins, corrected W n G Lewis paper continued Rev V A Sharpe paper continued. Jas W Reid papers sent, R R Gwyn & Co. A Brower for Mrs E B Brower 2. Maj Burchan for ad 5. Ferrah Jurnett Rev T W Guthrie for J T Rapor 2. J T Gibson 2. N H Gibson 2. J A McCollman 2. L T Everet. Miss Penn S Jones self 2. W N Stallings self 2. Miss Mat A Beckham 2. Dr Hall for adv 13—Rev Hudson for L D Webb 2. J E Roberts. Rev J N Harris. Rev C M Pepper for Clines 2. Mrs E Farmer 2. H Rochard. Rev S B Hasbrook for J E Liebenheck 2. J M Phelps self 2. Miss Louisa Hill self 2. Sentz College for Miss Hollie Austin 2. Rev R C Phillips. Hostetter & Smith for adv 25. Rev H H Gibbons for Miss S E Cook 2. Major A T Smith 2. Rev J N Watson. Rev I W Crawford for Mrs S A Gunn 2. J F Gowen 2. Rev J H Jellias paper continued. Rev G H Tevy paper continued. Rev W H Goldsbi for W D Lunsford 2. Rev J R Griffith for F N Crowell 2. Wm T Wheatham 2. S H Brannon 2. T A Bingham self 1—C B Harris & Son. Rev Ira T Wilcox 8. W Ashley 2. R G Ashley 2. H F Pitman 2. P P Wyche. J Rogan 2. Mrs Sorrow 2 years old she was deprived of her dear mother. Though young, the example and instructions of her sainted mother, had made a deep and lasting impression on her mind. In the year 1876 she entered Davenport Female College, and became a member of the family, acting at that time Pastor of the church in Lenoir. She remained in school for 3 years where she won the admiration of her teachers and classmates who was the favorite of all who knew her.

It would perhaps be saying too much of any one, to assert that she is without fault, and yet if Emma had any, I failed in discover them during the 3 years she spent in my family. Mild and sweet spirited, perfectly submissive to all the regulations of the family. I never heard an improper word escape from her lips; the law of kindness regulated her conversation. I never saw her exhibit an improper temper or disposition. She was faithful and conscientious in the performance of her religious duties. She made no ostentatious show, her chief ornament was a meek and gentle spirit; although universally admired and her society sought after by her numerous admirers, yet it had no effect upon her pure christian spirit. She continued the same in noble christian. She reminded one more of an angel than one of Adam's fallen children. A spirit so pure, was not long permitted to remain in this world where sin and sorrow dwell, God was preparing her for the society of the blessed, her disease was that fell destroyer, consumption, but notwithstanding its insidious character, she seemed to understand her condition and was apprehensive that her change was near, no word of murmur or complaint was heard during her protracted illness. She was wonderfully sustained by divine grace, assuring her Pastor that she was ready and willing to depart and be with Christ. When the fatal moment came, she sank as calmly into the arms of death as an infant falls asleep in the arms of its mother, so that those surrounding her could scarcely realize that the spirit had taken its departure. Just as the darkness of the night was disappearing from the face of nature, and day was beginning to dawn, her blood-bough spirit was carried away by the King to the bright realms of endless day, where the dark night of sorrow and affliction will no more environ her sainted spirit.

She has left a stricken husband and two small children to mourn their loss. Earth has been robbed of one of its brightest ornaments, but a jewel has been added to the casket above. Earth has been made poorer, but Heaven has been made richer.

G. W. FOY.

Died suddenly of apoplexy at Wilmington N. C. on the second of February, Armand D. Young.

Miss Sallie Dowdy was born in 1855, and died near Ruffin, N. C. Jan. 16th, 1874.

She professed religion during the gracious revival at Ruffin last summer, joined the Methodist church, and remained a consistent member until she went to her home in heaven. Though young and hopeful and happy, disease seized her as its victim and carried her away after a protracted illness.

She was an orphan, she had no mother to wipe the death damp from her brow, or father to mourn her early departure, but she was with kind friends who sympathized with her in her affliction, and who now lament that she is gone.

A short time before her death, she exclaimed, 'Why should I fear to die? 'Welcome the tomb, since Jesus hath laid there, I dread not its gloom.' "

Thus peacefully she passed away.

W. C. NORMAN.

Biblical Recorder please copy.

Died, in Onslow county, N. C., the 17th of September, 1873, Erasmus H. Coston, aged 65 years 5 months, and 5 days.

He was a man of distinction in his county, having filled several prominent positions; and at the time of his death, he was a commissioner of his county.

He had been a member of the church 43 years; and a good portion of the time had been an official member. At the time of his death he was Recording Steward of Onslow circuit. From early boyhood he was remarkable for sobriety. Being the son of a local minister of reputation and deep toned piety, in early life by parental instruction, his mind was biased in favor of Christianity. Right early in life he sought and obtained the pearl of great price, and connected himself with the church. His religion was by no means spasmodic in its character. His life was a life of consistency, and devotion to God. There were no fitful deviations from the path of duty, but one uniform course was pursued by him in regard to the service of God until his work was done, and the Master called for him.

As a Steward, he was faithful and true. He not only collected money to meet the expenses of the church from those surrounding him, and excused himself from giving, but he gave liberally himself, overreaching himself in actual ability to pay. For many years he had been paying to the support of the gospel from $25 to $30 dollars, setting other Stewards an example worthy of imitation. But the race of our beloved brother has been concluded upon earth, and he has gone away from earth to reap his full reward in the land of faileless beauty. He died at his post, full of faith and the Holy Ghost; and, now, doubtless he rests from his labors, and his good works follow him. We loved him on earth, and we hope to meet him in heaven. Friends may dry up their tears, and live in expectation of reunion in heaven.

"There triumphant glories deck our brows,
Immortal songs our triumphs tell;
There with fresh ardor shall we glow,
With truth immortal dwell.
No tyrant death molest the smiling plain,
But boundless freedom hold an everlasting reign."

R. P. Ilum

Letters & Funds.

Dr A H Redford. Rev J C Hartsell for G G Huffman. Noah Lush. Dr D S Perry. P Rowell & Co. Rev G Harrat 2 post. H N Dwire self 2. S W Brown 2. Jas Greene Lindley & Bentley 2 and 30 87. Rev J T Harris paper sent. M H Yeakel self 2. J R Mills. R B Skeen. Rev D Culbreth paper sent. Peter Allen self 2. Pool & Hunt. J C Kirkman paper changed. H F Walton Rev W H Moore for Isaac Womble 2 S T Womble 2, other paper continued J P Jenkins, corrected W n G Lewis paper continued Rev V A Sharpe paper continued. Jas W Reid papers sent, R R Gwyn & Co. A Brower for Mrs E B Brower 2. Maj Burchan for ad 5. Ferrah Jurnett Rev T W Guthrie for J T Rapor 2. J T Gibson 2. N H Gibson 2. J A McCollman 2. L T Everet. Miss Pen-

Jeff. If the places do not suit, brethren will please inform me.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT
1st ROUND.

Bethlehem at Ebenezer, Jan 31 Feb. 1
Williamston at Williamston, " Feb 7–8
Smithtown & Scuppernong, " 14–15
Plymouth and Jamesville, " at Plymouth " 21–22
Bath at Bath, Feb 28 and March 1
Matamuskeet at Swan Quarter, March 7 8
Washington and Greenville, " at Washington, " March 14–15
Tarboro' at Tarboro', " 21–22

The 4th Sat and Sun Stewards will please meet at Tarboro on Saturday, March 21st. There are the following: Rev Warren on, Col. E. Davis Warren, — Dodson, J. W. Jones, Lodi, Walter Clark, Methuen-keet, T. W. Jones, Washington and Greenville B. W. Brown, Williamston, A. A. Weatherby, Columbia, W. C. Pugh, Plymouth and Greenville, J. W. Latham.

WM. CLOSS, P. E.

The Markets.

Raleigh Market-Retail Prices
Feb 3 1874.

CORRECTED WEEKLY.

COTTON	13 to 13 1-2
BACON—Baltimore smoked,	10@11
" —unsmoked,	9 @10
"
"
"
BUTTER per lb
BEES WAX—per lb
COFFEE "
COFFEE—per lb	24@25
CHEESE "
COTTON YARN—per bun	1 75@10
CORN—per bushel
CHICKENS—per piece	20@25
EGGS—per dozen	20@25
FLOUR—per barrel	8 50@9
FODDER—per hundred lbs	1 50@
HAY—per hundred lbs	1 00@
HIDES—green, per lb	6@ 7
" —dry, per lb	12@15
HERRINGS, N.C.—per barrel	7 00@8 00
LARD—in bulk—per lb	3@ 10
LARD—per pound	12@15
MOLASSES—per gallon	37@38
MACKEREL—per barrel	95@1 10
OATS—per bushel	75@
" —per 100 lbs	1 80@1 50
ONIONS—per bush	75@1 00
PEAS—stock	1 00@
" —white	1 40@1 50
POTATOES—Irish, per bushel	75@1 00
SUGAR—crushed	12@16
" —extra C	10@16
" —P. R	10@
" —common	12@12 1-2
SALT—per sack	2 75@3 00
TALLOW—per lb
VINEGAR—per gallon	40@ 60

New Advertisements.

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the Advocate Office.
Sept 10-tf

P. F. PESCUD, U. F. PESCUD, JR

P. F. PESCUD & SON,

General Insurance Agents and Adjustors,

Tucker Hall, Raleigh, N. C.

Losses Promptly Adjusted and Paid. Combined Assets, $30,000,000.

General Agents for

THE NATIONAL LIFE INS. CO.,

U. S. A. which is the strongest STOCK LIFE INSURANCE CO. in America, and insures at lower rates than others.

Agents for the following Fire Insurance Companies: Home, New York; Franklin, of Phila.; Georgia Home, Columbus; Liverpool, London & Globe; Fireman's Fund, Cal.; Pawnee, of Va.; Amazon, Cincinnati, City or Richmond.

We have added several new companies to our list and are prepared to transact business anywhere in N. C. Applications for agencies as well as insurance, will receive prompt attention.

P. F. PESCUD & SON.

Feb 12—tf

54 FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

D. S. WAITT

IS OFFERING

EXTRAORDINARY BARGAINS

IN

Ready Made Clothing, Dry Goods, and Piece Goods, which have been purchased FOR CASH AT

EXTREMELY LOW FIGURES.

HIS STOCK OF

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS AND CAPS

AND

GENT'S FURNISHING GOODS

IS COMPLETE.

Also a full line of

Trunks, Valises, Umbrellas, Notions, and Hosiery.

LOOK OUT FOR HIS SPRING STOCK.

Which will be on in a few days. Country Merchants, who buy for cash, will consult their interests by giving D. S. WAITT a call first. Remember the place

D. S. WAITT,

No 54 Fayetteville Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Feb 11-4m.

"Unquestionably the best sustained work of the kind in the World."

Harper's Magazine.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

The ever increasing circulation of this excellent monthly proves its continued adaptation to popular desires and needs. Indeed, when we think into how many homes it penetrates every month, we must consider it as one of the educators as well as entertainers of the public mind, for its vast popularity has been won by no appeal to stupid prejudices or depraved tastes.—Boston Globe.

The character which this Magazine possesses for variety, enterprise, artistic wealth, and literary culture has kept pace with, if it has not led the times, should entitle its conductors to regard it with justifiable complacency. It also entitles them to a great claim upon the public gratitude. The Magazine has done good and not evil all the days of its life.—Brooklyn Eagle.

SUBSCRIPTIONS.—1874.

Terms:

Harper's Magazine, one year.....$4 00
$4 00 includes prepayment of U. S. postage by the publishers.

Subscriptions to Harper's Magazine, Weekly, and Bazar, to one address for one year, $10 00; or, two of Harper's Periodicals, to one address for one year, $7 00; postage payable by the subscriber at the office where received.

An Extra Copy of either the Magazine, Weekly or Bazar will be supplied gratis for every Club of Five subscribers at $4 00 each, in one remittance; or, Six Copies for $20 00, without extra copy; postage payable by the subscriber at the office where received.

Back numbers can be supplied at any time.

A Complete Set of Harper's Magazine, now comprising 47 Volumes, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by express, freight at expense of purchaser, for $2 25 per volume. Single volumes, by mail, postpaid, $3 00. Cloth cases, for binding, 88 cents, by mail, postpaid.

The postage on Harper's Magazine is 24 cents a year, which must be paid at the subscriber's post-office.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

ODELL, RAGAN & CO.,

Wholesale Dealers in

General Merchandise,

GREENSBORO', N. C.

We call the attention of the merchants of North Carolina to the fact that we have opened our large wholesale house, and that we are prepared to sell them goods, as cheap as they can buy in at Norfolk. We are the agents for Cedar Falls, Deep River, Deadwood and Alamance Manufacturing Co's. Sheeting, Yarns, Plaids and Seamless Bags. Parties ordering these goods will get them as cheap from us as if they order directly from the factory. We also sell Salem denims at factory prices. Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed

Feb 4—12m.

ESTABLISHED 1816

CHAS. SIMON & SONS,

63 NORTH HOWARD ST., BALTIMORE, MD.,

Dealers in

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC DRY GOODS,

would call special attention to their splendid stock of Dress Goods, Linen Goods, Embroideries, Laces, and Hosiery, the best assortment of Mourning Goods in the city.

SAMPLES SENT FREE!

All orders amounting to $20 00 or over, will be sent free of freight charges by Express, but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their goods sent C. O. D., must pay for return of the money.

Jan 28-12m

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND DRYER!

The Latest and Greatest Washer made!

That Steam Washers are the best kind is generally conceded. That the Peerless is the best of its kind is also readily admitted as soon as it is seen and tested.

It causes all the water to flow up through pipes and start down through the clothes.

The water has not to go to the centre or either end of the boiler to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and hence washes all parts of the clothing alike.

It pours the water in sixteen streams, on all part of the surface of the clothing.

The water passes through the clothes many times per minute, and cleans them in 45 to 60 minutes—With little rubbing—only enough to get out the heavier dirt. Clothes washed quite clean but perhaps needs a second rinsing when washday comes!

The cost of the machine soon saved in difference in coal—to say nothing of the time labor required.

A two quart or three collar—the finest or coarsest fabric—a single piece or boiler full, washed with equal ease.

The machine can be used for any stove boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sells for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

As its name indicates it is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using go with each machine. They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 9) $8 00
For " alone 5 00
For washer and boiler 30 inches long 9 00
For " alone 6 00

Sent any where per express on receipt of price by J. A JONES, Proprietor, Raleigh, N. C.

ALF. A. THOMPSON. JOHN B. WHITAKER.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE.

Thompson & Whitaker,

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants,

Have now in store

One car load Sugar-House Syrup,
One car load Marshall's Liverpool Salt,
Ten sacks Rio Coffee,
Ten barrels Sugar, all grades,
Five thousand pounds Bulk Clear Rib Sides,
One tierce best Carolina Rice,
Twenty boxes assorted Candy,
One hundred bushels Corn,
Twenty barrels N. 2 Flour, warranted family,
Thirty-five cases Boots and Shoes.

All of which will be sold at the lowest market rates and guaranteed to be as represented.

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Feb 4-12m.

EPILEPSY OR FITS.

A safe, certain and permanent cure can be had for this distressing disease by the use of Rose' Epileptic Remedies. No charge made for treatment or medicines unless a permanent cure is effected. Circulars, terms, etc., sent to all applicants. Address, ROSE BROS., 251 Main Street, Richmond, Indiana.

feb 4—4w

W. F. KORNEGAY,

Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer

IN FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE,

COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.

Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them.

Jan 28-tf

OFFICE OF

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We desire to call the attention of dealers to the celebrated

BOLLES COTTON HOE,

manufactured expressly for us by

The L. Bolles Hoe & Tool Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

These Hoes are made of the finest quality of steel, by skilled labor. They are not made of ROLLED STEEL, but plated and by the hammer, are highly polished and are noted for beauty and durability; in short, they are as near perfect as they can be made. The shank is an improvement on the old style, being solid and neatly shaped. The blade is peculiar to form, and the handles made from fine white timber.

Every Hoe is warranted perfect in stock, temper, finish and durability. We earnestly request those about making purchases for the coming season to examine them.

Sold only in North Carolina by

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

OR THEIR AGENTS.

☞ Ask for the Bolles Cotton Hoe, and see that the name is stamped on the blade.

NOTE.—We sold in 1873—396 Dozen of these Hoes. In each and every instance they gave entire satisfaction. We assert that the Bolles Hoe is the very best ever manufactured.

WE ARE USING

Swedes Iron

and the Finest English Steel!

The best brands of American and Swedes iron and English extra refined Cast Steel.

USED IN THE MANUFACTURE OF

AXES AND EDGE TOOLS.

We offer the VERY BEST AXE that can be manufactured by skilled workmen and very superior materials and trust that we will receive the support of the trade.

ORDERS FILLED IMMEDIATELY.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.
Sole Agents, Raleigh, N. C.

TRINITY

COLLEGE.

The Spring Session will commence

JANUARY 17TH, 1873.

Students may take a select, or the full course at their own option. There are eleven schools in the Institution, viz: Latin, Greek, Mathematics, English Literature, Natural Science, Modern Languages, Metaphysics, Engineering and Analytical Chemistry, Commercial, Law and Divinity.

Entire expenses for five months, for tuition, board, washing and fuel $60 to $100.

B. CRAVEN.

Jan. 7 3m.

Cutler's Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iroding Inhalant.

A Wonderful Remedy! Superior to any lithotic used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption it takes in reason. In short all has no equal. For clearing the voice singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. All Druggists have it for sale, nearly put up with inhaler enough for two months' use. Price $2 00. Free by mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular.

W. H. SMITH & Co. People, Buffalo, N. Y.

Jan 28-6m

W. M. JONES,

CAREY, N. C.

Contractor, House Builder,

Manufacturer and dealer in dressed Lumber, Sashes, Blinds, Doors, and all other kinds of Building Material.

9b 4-tf

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE.

LENOIR, N. C.

The Spring session for 1874 will open on Monday, Jan. 12th.

Board and Tuition per session, with music, vocal and instrumental, $140.00

Traveling preachers' daughters, tuition free.

Board and Tuition always in advance.

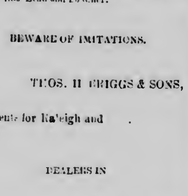
Send for a catalogue. Address,

REV. W. M. ROBEY, Pres.

nov 19-3mes.

PIANOS, PIANOS,

ORGANS. ORGANS.



Nat L. Brown,

DEALER IN

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Agent for HORACE WATERS & SON'S celebrated CONCERTO and ORCHESTRAL ORGANS and PIANOS.

ALSO DEALER IN

Children's Carriages,
Fancy Goods,
Toys,
Baskets,
&c., &c.

BIRDS AND BIRD CAGES.

Confectionaries,
Fruits, Nuts,
Fresh Crackers
and Cakes.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to give me a call. Prices suitable to the times.

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

Illustrated Catalogue of Pianos and Organs mailed.

jan 14—tf

BUY AND USE

Game Cock White Lead.

We offer this justly celebrated White Lead knowing it to be the best in the market.

Using large quantities and having Practical Painters in our employ all the time, we profess to be judges of White Lead and advise all who contemplate painting to use this Lead and no other.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

THOS. H BRIGGS & SONS,

Sole Agents for Raleigh and

DEALERS IN

Hardware, Cutlery, Wagon and Buggy Materials,

Oils, Glass and Colors.

Jan 28-tf.

NEW GOODS FOR FALL AND WINTER

1873.

AT

ALEX. CREECH'S.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TRADE, CONSUMERS OF DRY GOODS, &c.

MARBLE HALL

AND

TEMPLE OF FAN Y.

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

I take pleasure in announcing that my business has so largely increased and my patronage is so great that it has constrained me to buy in

A MUCH LARGER AND MORE ATTRACTIVE STOCK THAN HERETOFORE.

My Goods are bought with every available advantage and doing business at a very small per centage I am able to offer INDUCEMENTS IN PRICES that are rarely equalled. My

PRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT

was never more complete, embracing all new Fabrics and every new Shade, from the most delicate to the most brilliant. Call and examine my

BLACK SILKS,
JAPANESE SILKS,
IRISH POPLINS,
CASHMERES,
SATEENS,
ALPACAS, &c.

Aside very large variety of Low Priced Dress Goods. My stock of Cassimeres, Piece Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes is extraordinarily large and complete and you would be doing yourselves injustice if you were not to examine it before purchasing elsewhere. THE SECOND AND THIRD FLOORS are almost exclusively devoted to

WHOLESALING,

both being filled to their utmost capacity with

GOODS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

to supply the Trade, and Country Merchants would find it to their interest to my stock a thorough examination before making their purchases, as I think I can offer rare bargains and special inducements. With

A CORPS OF EXPERIENCED SALESMEN,

ever ready to assist, I can sell, do sell, and will continue to sell as

CHEAP AS THE CHEAPEST.

No house in Raleigh can or shall undersell me, it matters not whether the goods are purchased in Europe or the United States, and for three important reasons:

1st. I am alone, and have no two or three partners to divide my profits with.

2nd. I have leased my store house at a mere nominal cost.

3d. I believe in the great principle of LIVE AND LET LIVE—QUICK SALES and SMALL PROFITS.

4th. I have large experience, buy at the lowest in any figures, and with the best facilities.

Experience, the best of teachers, has long since informed the people that is the place to buy their goods, and as heretofore I shall always

CREECH'S

REPRESENT GOODS AS THEY ARE.

Regretting thanks for past favors, I hope to secure your patronage in the future.

Respectfully yours,
ALEX. CREECH.
Raleigh, N. C.

Marble Hall, Fayetteville St.
apr. 16 tf.

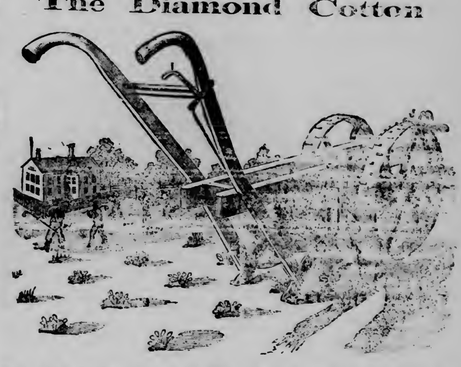
$20.000 WANTED.

The Trustees of Greensboro Female College wish to borrow any part of the above amount in sums to suit parties having money to loan. They will give the note of the corporation with satisfactory personal endorsers, paying interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum. The principal will be paid when required upon reasonable notice and the interest annually. If the friends of the College will loan us the amount it will help the Institution and, we think will be a perfectly safe investment. Please address the undersigned.

W. H. D. WILSON.
President Board Trustees.

Jan 7-4w.

The Diamond Cotton



CHOPPER AND CULTIVATOR

THIS INVALUABLE MACHINE, the recent invention of A. B. UNDERWOOD of Fayetteville, N. C., is unique and the GREATEST LABOR SAVER of the age, and bids fair to be to the cotton planter what the McCormick Reaper and Mower is to the Western Farmer. Does one operation, chops, hars both sides, weeds and thins the cotton more effectually than can be made by the hoe—thus doing the work of from SIX men, and from TWO to FOUR horses, with but ONE man and ONE horse. Her ice Chopping, it is contverted into a most excellent CULTIVATOR, in the shape of Harrow Teeth, by changing the irons and putting on the teeth, which may be had of the Agents of 1873, and bears the highest testimonials of its perfect success. It took the Grand Medal at the Georgia State Fair, as the most important and latest improvement in Agricultural implements, and the Finest Premium everywhere it has been exhibited.

Price of Machine with attachments, $35 and Freight.

For circulars and further information address

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN
Agents or CHOPPER at Raleigh, N. C.
(A Sample Machine for exhibition at their Store. Call and examine

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

MALE

Youth's Department.

A little girl attending the S — Street school has lately had her dinner stolen. No clue could be obtained of the thief, although it was sought with tears. Finally a mild plan was hit upon. A tempting doughnut with a filling of cayenne pepper was placed in her pail, and the result was watched. Before noon a little boy was seen at the pump, working it in a lively manner.

OUR NEIGHBOR'S CHILDREN.—A farmer was walking with a friend through a beautiful meadow, when he chanced to observe a thistle growing thriftily on the opposite side of the fence. Immediately he sprang over and cut it off close to the ground.

'Is this your field?' asked the other. 'Oh, no; but bad weeds don't care much for fences. If I should leave that thistle in my neighbor's field, I should soon have plenty in my own.'

His answer may serve as a hint to fathers and mothers. It is of importance to them how their neighbor's children turn out. Heart weeds care less than thistles for boundary fences. Boys and girls who go to the same school, or who live in the same neighborhood, catch many a trait from each other. It is our duty as well as our interest to do what we can for the benefit of our neighbor's children.

A LITTLE HEROINE.—On the 1st day of January, Davy Skinner, aged about six, Jimmie Weatherford, aged four, and Agnes Weatherford, aged six, went out to a pond on the farm of Col. Weatherford to skate. The ice had been taken from off half the pond that day.—There was no one present but the 3 little ones. David struck out and moved right over into the water four or five deep and disappeared.—The little boy tried to rescue him, but failed; while little Agnes, with rare presence of mind, walked up to the edge of the ice and waited for Davy to come up, and when the top of his head came in view, she seized him by the hair and drew him out, a wiser and wetter boy. Davy will never be able to repay the little heroine for this noble and dangerous act. She will make a woman that her parents will be proud of.—Danville, Ky. Advocate.

A Hindoo Story.

A tiger, prowling in a forest, was attracted by a bleating calf. It proved to be a bait, and the tiger found himself trapped in a spring cage. There he lay for two days, when a Brahmin happened to pass that way. 'O Brahmin!' piteously cried the beast, 'have mercy on me; let me out of this cage.' 'Ah! but you will eat me.' 'Eat you! devour my benefactor? Never could I be guilty of such a deed,' responded the tiger. The Brahmin, being benevolently inclined, was moved by these entreaties, and opened the door of the cage. The tiger walked up to him, wagged his tail, and said: 'Brahmin, prepare to die; I shall now eat you.' 'Oh, how ungrateful! how wicked! am I not your saviour?' protested the trembling priest. 'True,' said the tiger, 'very true; but it is the custom of my race to eat a man when we get a chance, and I cannot afford to let you go.' 'Let us submit the case to an arbitrator,' said the Brahmin' 'Here comes a fox. The fox is wise; let us abide by his decision.' 'Very well,' replied the tiger The fox, assuming a judicial aspect, sat on his haunches with all the dignity he could muster, and looking at the disputants, he said: 'Good friends, I am somewhat confused at the different accounts which you give of this matter; my mind is not clear enough to render equitable judgment, but if you will be kind enough to act the whole transaction before my eyes, I shall attain unto a more definite conception of the case. Do you, Mr. Tiger, show me just how you approached and entered the cage, and then you, Mr. Brahmin, show me how you liberated him, and I shall be able to render a proper decision.' They assented, for the fox was solemn and oracular. The tiger walked into the cage, and the spring door fell and shut him in. He was a prisoner. The judicial expression faded from the fox's countenance, and turning to the Brahmin, he said: 'I advise you to go home as fast as you can, and abstain, in future, from doing favors to rascally tigers. Good morning, Brahmin: good morning, tiger."

William Penn's way of Making Peace.

In 1669 William Penn learned that there was some very choice land not enclosed in his first purchase, and he sent to enquire of the Indians if they would sell it. They replied that they did not wish to part with the land where the bones of their fathers were resting; but to please their father Onas, as they used to call the good man, they would sell him some of it. Accordingly, they agreed for certain quantity of English goods, to sell as much land as one of Penn's young men could walk around in a day, beginning at the great river near Cosquenco,' now Kensington, 'and ending at the great river near Kallapingo,' now Bristol. But this mode of measurement, though their own choice, did not in the end satisfy the Indians, for the young Englishman chosen to walk off the tract of land walked so fast and so far as greatly to astonish and mortify them. Penn observed their dissatisfaction, and inquired the cause.

'The walker cheats us.'

'Ah, how can that be?' said the governor. 'Didn't you choose yourselves to have the land measured in this way?'

'True,' replied the Indians; 'but white brother make too big walk'

Some of Penn's commissioners, waxing warm, said the bargain was a fair one, and insisted that the Indians ought to abide by it, and if not, should be compelled to it.

'Compelled!' exclaimed the man of peace, alarmed and indignant, at the suggestion. 'How can you compel them without bloodshed? Don't you see that this looks to murder?' Then turning with a benignant smile to the Indians, he said:

"Well, brothers, if you have given us too much land for the goods first agreed on, how much more will satisfy you!'

This proposal gratified them much, and they mentioned the number of fishhooks and quantity of cloth with which they would be satisfied. These were cheerfully given, and the Indians, shaking hands with Penn, went away smiling.

After they were gone, the governor, looking round on his friends, exclaimed: 'Oh, how sweet and cheap a thing is charity Some of you spoke just now of compelling these poor creatures to their bargain! that is, in plain English, to fight and kill them, and all about a little piece of land.'

Rural and Domestic

BREAKFAST PUFFS.—Take two eggs well beaten and stir into a pint of milk a little salt, a pint of butter and a pint and a half of flour. Beat the eggs and stir the milk. Add the salt, melt the butter, and stir in. Then pour all into the flour, so as not to have it lumpy. Stir up thoroughly, and grease the cups into which the batter is poured, filling them two thirds full. Eat with sauce.

CABBAGE LICE.—The Horticulturist recommends, on the authority of a correspondent, opening the leaves as soon as the plant begins to head and the louse makes its appearance, and sprinkling in common salt, which it is stated has been entirely successful.—

A WRINKLE ABOUT THE AGE OF HORSES.—A short time ago, we met a gentleman from Illinois, who gave a piece of information in regard to ascertaining the age of horses after they had passed the ninth year, which was new to us, and will be, we are sure to most of our readers. It is this: After the horse is nine years old, a wrinkle appears on the upper corner of the lower lid, and every year thereafter he has one well-defined wrinkle for each year over nine. If, for instance, a horse has three wrinkles, he is 12, if he has four, he is 13. Add the number of wrinkles to the nine and you will get it. So said the gentleman, and he was sure, it will not fail. As many people have horses over 9, it is easily tried. If true, the horse dentist must give up his trade.—Ex.

Neatness.

In its essence, and purely for its own sake, neatness is found in a few. Many a man is neat for appearance sake; there is an instinctive feeling that there is a power in it. When a man consults a physician or a lawyer for the first time, or comes to rent a house or borrow money, he will come in his best dress; a lady will call in her carriage. A man that means business and honesty comes as he is, just as you will find him in his store, his shop, his counting-house. The most accomplished gamblers dress well; the most enterprising swindlers are fault, lessly clothed. Int countless multitudes are but whitewashed sepulchers. Too many 'don't care, so long as it will not be seen.' Washington Allston the great artist, the accomplished gentleman, suddenly left his friend standing at a door of a splendid Boston mansion as they were about entering for a party, because he had just remembered that he had a hole in his stocking. It could not be seen or known, but the very knowledge of its existence made him feel that he was less a man than he ought to be, gave him a feeling of inferiority.

When you see a neat, tidy, cleanly cheerful dwelling, there you will find a joyous, loving, happy family. But if filth and squalor, and a disregard for refining delicacies of life prevail in any household, there will be found in the moral character of the inmates much that is low, degrading, unprincipled, vicious, and disgusting. Therefore, as we grow in years, we ought to watch eagerly against neglect of cleanliness in person and tidiness in dress. —HALL'S JOURNAL OF HEALTH.

LIME AND CHARCOAL.—I would advise our farmers, until something better offers, to persevere in the use of charcoal and lime, as these are to be obtained in any quantity and in most situations at a very trifling cost. The lime will supply carbon and oxygen to the plants during their growth, and the charcoal will take up and supply them with all the ammonia necessary to their full development without any over supply. Charcoal will also afford to plants sufficient moisture during long droughts from its hydratic quality of saturating its pores, and from its great retentive power. It also lightens the soil, permitting the sun and air to penetrate to the roots of the plants and letting all the rain percolate freely through, if that is not required for its own saturation.—Rural Messenger.

"Do try and talk a little common sense!" exclaimed a sarcastic young lady to a visitor. "O!" was the reply, "but wouldn't that be taking an unfair advantage of you?"

As a rich and pretentious shoddite was looking at some paintings which he purposed to buy, the dealer pointed to a fine one, and said: "There is a dog after Landseer." "Is it, really!" exclaimed the pretender. "What is the dog after him for?"

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THIRTY YEARS
Since the introduction of
Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER.

After thirty years trial, the "Pain-Killer" may be justly styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no region of the globe into which it has not found its way, and none where it has not been largely used and highly prized. Moreover, there is no climate to which it has not proved itself to be well adapted for the cure of a considerable variety of diseases; it is admirably suited for every race. It has lost none of its good names by repeated trials, but it continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest; and is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility.

Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentary or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma, and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. No article ever attained such unbounded popularity. The various lits for which the Pain-Killer has unfailing cure, are to well known to require exploitation in this advertisement.—As a external and internal medicine the Pain-Killer stands unrivaled.

Thirty Years is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the Pain-Killer is deserving of all the properties it claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalled popularity it has attained. It is a sure and effective remedy.

It is sold in almost every country in the world, and is becoming more and more popular every year. Its healing properties have been fully tested all over the world, and it need only to be known to be prized.

Sold by all Druggists.
Feb. 11m.

Try it, Prove it Yourself.

MESSRS CRABTREE & CO.;
1021 Race St., Philadelphia Pa.

Gentlemen:—Please send me twelve bottles of Cannabis Indica, one each of Pills and Ointments, for a friend of mine who is not expected to live; and as our medicines cured me of consumption some three years ago, I want him to try them. I gained fifteen pounds while taking the first three bottles and I know it is just the thing for him.

Respectfully,
J. V. HULL.

LAWRENCEBURG, Anderson Co., Ky., Feb 10, '73.
Feb 4-1m.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely a safe. Perfect safety odorless. Always uniform. Illuminating qualities superior to gas. Burns in any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to displace the use of volatile and dangerous oils. Its safety under every possible test, and its perfect burning qualities, are proved by its continued use in over 300,000 families.

Millions of gallons have been sold and no accident—liberty of Unlicensed has been secured from burning, storing or handling it.

The immense yearly loss to life and property, resulting from the use of coal oil and dangerous oils in the United states, is appalling.

The insurance companies and Fire Commissioners throughout the country recommend the ASTRAL as the best safeguard when lamps are used. Send for circular.

CHAS. PRATT & CO., 108 Fulton Street, New York, proprietors.

Sold by Julius Lewis & Co., Raleigh—Authorized Agents.
Aug 27 6m.

DR. C. M'LANE'S
CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,
FOR THE CURE OF
Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,
DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to
FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders distinctly, and take none but Dr. C.M'Lane's preparations by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Storekeepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If you would have your children grow to be HEALTHY, STRONG, and VIGOROUS MEN and WOMEN, give them a few doses of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,
TO EXPEL THE WORMS.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The Household Panacea and Family Liniment is the best remedy in the world for the following complaints, viz: Cramp in the Limbs and Stomach Pain in the Stomach, Bowels or Side, Rheumatism in all its forms, Bilious Colic Neuralgia, Cholera, Dysentery, Colds, Fresh Wounds, Burns, Sore Throat, Spinal Complaints, Sprains and Bruises, Chills and Fever, Purely Vegetable and Healing. For internal and external use. Prepared by CURTIS & BROWN, No 215 Fulton Street, New York, and for sale by all druggists.
July 2-1w.

REMOVED

The office and warehouse of the FALLS OF NEUSE MANUFACTURING COMPANY have been removed from Neuse to Raleigh, in the store recently occupied by W. H. Jones & Co., adjoining the Raleigh National Bank. Correspondents please note the change.

O. ROSENTHAL,
Jan. 4-3m Sec. and Treas.

"A Repository of Fashion, Pleasure and Instruction."

Harper's Bazar.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

The Bazar is edited with a combination of tact and talent that we seldom find in any journal; and the journal itself is the organ of the great world of fashion.—Boston Traveller.

The Bazar commends itself to every member of the household—to children by droll and pretty pictures, to the young ladies by its fashion-plates in endless variety, to the providently asylum by its patterns for the children's clothes, to paterfamilias by its tasteful designs for embroidered slippers and handsome dressing-gowns. But the reading-matter of the Bazar is uniformly of great excellence. The paper has acquired a wide popularity for the fireside enjoyment it affords.—N. Y. Evening Post.

SUBSCRIPTION.—1874.

Terms:

HARPER'S BAZAR, One year.....$4 00
$1 of to include postage prepaid by the publishers.

Subscriptions to HARPER'S MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, and BAZAR to one address for one year, $10 00; or two of Harper's Periodicals, to one address for one year, $7. Postage payable by the subscriber at the office where received.

An Extra Copy of either the MAGAZINE WEEKLY, or BAZAR will be supplied gratis for every Club of Five Subscribers at $4 00 each, in one remittance, or, Six Copies for $20 00, without extra copy; postage payable by the subscribers at the offices where received.

Back Numbers can be supplied at any time.

The SIX volumes of HARPER'S BAZAR, for the years 1868, '69, '71, '72, '73, elegantly bound in green morocco cloth, will be sent by express, freight prepaid, for $7 00 each.

The postage on HARPER'S BAZAR is 20 cents a year which must be paid at the subscriber's post-office.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS New York.

EMERSON'S
Singing School.

Price 75 cts., or $7.50 Per doz.,
IS A COMPLETE, CHEAP, AND USEFUL BOOK FOR SINGING SCHOOLS.

Now is the time to use it, as it has all the material to make the Winter Singing School attractive and useful in the highest degree. By
L. O. Emerson.

System for Beginners
ON THE
PIANOFORTE.
BY MASON & HOADLEY.

One cannot help liking this thorough, systematic method, the work of men eminent in their profession, and who have the important qualification of being experienced teachers.

Remember that the first months of instruction are if there is any distinction, the important ones. That is the time to lay a good foundation. "A work well begun is already half done." Price $3.00.

All books sent, postpaid, on receipt of retail price.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.
Boston. 711 Br'dway, N. York.
May 14-12m.

Established 1815.
CHARLES SIMON & SONS.,
63 No. Howard St.,
BALTIMORE, MD.

Dealers in Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods, would call special attention to their splendid stock of Dress Goods, Linen Goods, Embroideries, Laces, and Hosiery. The best assortment of Mourning Goods in the city.

SAMPLES SENT FREE!
All Orders amounting to $20.00
or over, will be sent free of Freight charges by Express, but parties sending orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their Goods sent C. O. D. must pay for return of money.
feb --12m.

The King of Sunday School Books,
"PURE DIAMONDS."

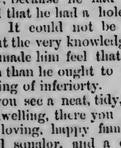
By JAMES H. MURRAY. Assisted by Geo. F. Root, H. R. Palmer, P. P. Bliss, J. M. Kieffer and a host of other popular writers of Sunday School Music.

No such promises success ever known in the history of similar books. Over 100,000 Copies have been sold in three months, and the demand is increasing daily. Price in boards 35 cts, single; $3 61 per doz.; $30 per hundred. Specimen copy in paper covers 25 cts.

S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Cleveland, O.

Sent free to any address Brainard's New Descriptive Catalogue of Selected Popular Music. A selected list of choice music, containing full description of those and all beautiful pieces of music. This new catalogue is invaluable to all musicians. Sent free to any address. S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Publishers, Cleveland, O.
Aug. 17-12m.

STIEFF'S PIANOS.



UPWARDS OF FIFTY
FIRST PREMIUMS
GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

Were awarded to CHARLES M. STIEFF, for the Best Pianos, in competition with all the leading manufacturers in the country.

OFFICE AND WAREROOMS:—No. 9 N. Liberty Street, Baltimore, Md.

The Superiority of the Unrivalled Stieff Piano Forte, is conceded by all who have compared it with others, in their New Grand Square Scale, 7¼ Octaves, the only manufacturer now prepared for making the most perfect Piano Forte possible.

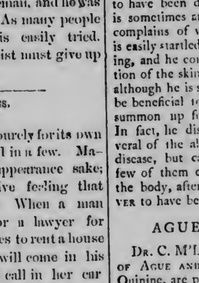
Prices will be found reasonable as consistent with thorough workmanship.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos always on hand, from $50 to $250.

We are agents for the celebrated Burdett Cabinet Parlor and Church Organs, all styles and prices, to suit every one, guaranteed to be fully equal to any made.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 1500 Southerners, (50 of whom are Virginians, 200 North Carolinians, 150 East Tennesseans and others throughout the South,) who have bought the Stieff Piano since the close of the war.
april 6-1m.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.



Spectacles Rendered Useless.
Save Your Eyes.
BE TORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.
Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by
Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS
Head for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight dimness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Epiphora, Running or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—sure guarantee; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmi, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodopia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without fear of doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,369 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from lawyers, Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them in each settlement in the professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country. Can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 9th, 1868: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this Morning pursued the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

R. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1868: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Wm. Reily, M. D., Salyisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 25 years.

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE SIGHT, of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting false glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED,

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $50 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 95. New York City, N. Y.
Sept 6-1m.

BEST AND OLDEST FAMILY MEDICINE.—Sanford's Liver Invigorator—a purely Vegetable Cathartic and Tonic—for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Debility, Sick Headache, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of Liver Stomach and Bowels. Ask your Druggist for it. Beware of imitations.
Mar 26-12mcow

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Sunday, Dec 7th, 1873.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	7.00 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Air-Line J'nct'n	7.15 "	8.50 "
" Salisbury.....	10 09 "	10.47 "
" Greensboro'....	2.15 A. M	1.15 P. M.
" Danville.....	5.28 "	3.37 "
" Burkville.....	1.48 "	8.06 "
Arrive at Richmond..	8.38 P. M.	11.02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.48 P. M.	1.06 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4.58 "	8.25 "
" Danville.....	9.54 "	1.03 P. M.
" Greensboro'...	1.16 A. M.	4.00 "
" Salisbury.....	3.56 "	6.53 "
" Air-Line J'nct'n	6.22 "	8.53 "
Arrive at Charlo.te..	6.30 A. M.	9.00 "

GOING EAST.		GOING WEST
STATIONS.	MAIL.	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'..	2.05 A. M.	Arrive 12.20 A. M
" Co Shops.....		10.24 "
" Raleigh.....		6.05 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'		Leave 3.00 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.
(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'..... 4.50 P. M.
Arrive at Salem..... 8.25 P. M.
Leave Salem..... 9.00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'..... 12.30 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways.

On Sunday Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.42 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.23 P. M. leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.58 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, without change.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. S. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent.
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh.....	9.45 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	7.00 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	2.25 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamer via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad to Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accomodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.55 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.25 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	3.05 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	8.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	7.10 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	9.40 "

Mail Train making close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Sup't Superintendent.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,
Opposite Tucker Hall,
FAYETTEVILLE STREET,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,
DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Burt's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at
PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S
Drug Store.
Jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,
DEALER IN
PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS,

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson's sling Store.
Oct. 22 6m.

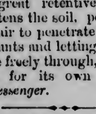
A new work of intense INTEREST and intrinsic VALUE

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley."

A graphic History of Ocean Navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling incidents, fearful disasters, pirates, perils, &c. Also, also the WONDERS BENEATH THE SEA, Diving, Dredging, Telegraphing &c., 225 spirited illustrations. Agents just started report 101 orders in four days, 197 in five days, 75 in two days &c.; sells wonderfully fast. 3000 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and terms, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, 723 Sansom St. Phila.
Sept 13-12m.

BRINLY PLOWS
BEST AND CHEAPEST IN USE.



Have taken over 250 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List, and certificates of planters who use them.
SOLE MANUFACTURERS
BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,
Louisville, Ky.
Sept 24-6m.

100 BOXES "FORESTERS LEMON CRACKERS
July 26 tf LEACH BROS.

FIFTY CASES COVE OYSTERS,
July 23-m LEACH BROS

THE "SNOW FLAKE" BRAND OF FAMILY Flour. Equal to Patapsco and much cheaper
LEACH BROS.
July 23-tf

T. W. GUTHRIE, Rockingham, N. C. GEO. A. NEWELL, Wilmington, N. C.

"BLEES"
Link-Motion, Lock-Stitch, Shuttle
NOISELESS

Hems, Braids, Gathers, Tucks, Ruffles, Cords, Binds, Frills, Quills, Gathers, &c., &c.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Uses the straight needle, and will do the greatest range and variety of work of any machine ever before offered to the public.

Challenges the world in perfection of work, strength and beauty of stitch, dura-bility of cone action and rapidity of motion.

Reliable agents wanted for every county in the State, to whom liberal terms will be given.
NEWELL & GUTHRIE, General Agents
No. 5 South Front Street,
Wilmington, N. C.
nov 26 tf

ÆTNA FIRE CO.

Assets, $5.782.635.09.

W. H. CROW, Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.
may 6-12m

ÆTNA
LIFE COMPANY,
JANUARY 1873.
ASSETS, - - - $18.077.540.66

Represented in North Carolina, and Va., South of James River by
W. H. CROW, Manager.
OFFICE, Raleigh.

WILLIAMSON, UPCHURCH & THOMAS
WHOLESALE GROCERS
—AND—
Commission Merchants,
FAYETTEVILLE ST.,
OPPOSITE METROPOLITAN HALL,
H. P. WILLIAMSON,
W. G. UPCHURCH,
J. J. THOMAS, JR.
RALEIGH, N C
oct 14-tf

WATSON'S GALLERY
—OF—
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South where every style of Photographic likeness is executed from the smallest miniature, to the large Portrait colored in oil. If you have the likeness of a deceased relative or friend, you can have it enlarged and colored to nature. Photographic Albums and Picture Frames always on hand, in great variety, at low prices. When you come to Raleigh, do not fail to call at WATSON'S GALLERY and door above Tucker Hall.

J. W. WATSON.
Dec 18-12

THE VICTOR SEWING MACHINE
TRIUMPHANT!

It is the very best Machine in the world, and has taken the first premium at every Fair wherever it has been exhibited!

Our New Patent Shuttle is the Simplest and only Perfect one in use.

The Only Lock-Stitch Machine that has a Self-Setting Needle.

It has a straight and self setting needle. The needle cannot be set wrong. A self-adjusting tension. No difficulty in sewing from thick to heavy, or heavy to light goods. A new PATENT SHUTTLE the best, simplest, and easiest threaded. The shuttle carrier is free from all friction. It has no springs, wires or cogs. The lightest running and simplest to use. All parts are adjustable. Buy no other machine if you want the best.

Persons who will send direct to our office for machines will receive a discount amounting to the agent's commission and then get their machines at wholesale price. This refers however only to such places where we have no agents established.

Agents wanted in every county. Better terms given than any other Company.

Address Rev. C. H. BERNHEIM,
General Agent, Concord, N. C.
J. M. BROUGHTON, Raleigh, N. C.,
Agt. for Central North Carolina.
oct 1—1y

WIRE RAILING & ORNAMENTAL Wire Works.
Dufur & Co.,
36 North Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.

Manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, &c., SHUTTERS, FENCES, CAGES, SAND AND COAL SCREENS, WOVEN WIRE, &c. ALSO, IRON BEDSTEADS CHAIRS, SETTEES, &c., &c.
Feb 19-12m

BUFFALO STAINED GLASS WORKS.
29 [illegible] Buffalo, N. Y.
Specimen Sent on application.
mar 20—12m.

NUMEROUS TESTS HAVE PROVED
WATER WHEEL
N. F. Burnham's New Turbine
Water Wheel
To be the Best Ever Invented.
Pamphlet free. Address, York, Pa.
July 23—6m.

FURNITURE.
W. H. Morris & Co.,
No. 3 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.

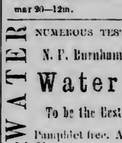
Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Plantation Sets, Cottage Chamber Sets, Parlor Sets, Dining Room Sets, Sideboards, Bureaus, Wardrobes, Washstand, Tables Chairs, Sofas, Lounges, Spring Beds, of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Marble top centre tables &c.

ALSO

keep constantly on hand and make to order all kinds of Mattress s, such as pure Curled Hair, Cotton and Shuck. Excelsior and Shuck Mattresses. Old Hair Mattresses renovated and made as good as new.

No trouble to show goods. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.
Oct. 29-6m. W. A. MORRIS & CO

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.



Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free,
VANDUZEN & TIFT.
102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati.

BLACK LEG, Blacking Brushes, Yeast Powders Concentrated Lye, Toilet Soaps, &c.
LEACH BROS.
July 23-tf

ANOTHER CONSIGNMENT OF "EXTRA OLIVE" Soap just received handsome "Swan Card" given away.
LEACH BROS.
July 23-tf

OPIUM MORPHINE HABIT speedily cured by Dr. Beck's only known and sure Remedy.
NO CHARGE
for treatment until cured. Call on or address
DR. J. L. BECK, Cincinnati, O.
Jan 25 4m

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD!

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. | PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. | $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 7. | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1874. | WHOLE NO. 1,005.

Selected Poetry.

The Death-Answered Prayer of Moses.

BY H. WALTER FEATHERSTUN.

"I beseech thee, show me thy glory. Ex. xxxiii. 18.

On Sinai's cloud encircled brow,
Athwart which vivid lights ne play,
Where God the lowering heavens doth bow,
His awful grandeur to portray,
Bept Moses stands and gazes on
The scene sublime with wonder franght,
Until his face—its aspect gone—
The peasant's kindling glow has caught.

And gazing on, he wonders why
This mighty pageant is displayed!
What new design matured high
In heaven is now to be portrayed!
He prays: "Oh Father, show to me
Thy glory—all thy grand design—
Unfold the glorious mystery—
Upon me let its luster shine!"

"No man can see my face and live—
Can scarcely stand a glimmering beam;
The sight thou crav'st I must not give—
But still its clouded rays may gleam
Upon thee—not its fullest blaze—
An adumbration thou may'st see—
Its full tide then in other days
I'll pour unclouded full on thee."

His work is done—death's day has come—
The prophet leader bids his charge
Adieu—all silenced is the hum
Of that vast throng, while tear-drops large,
Full-fraught with grief, so gushing warm,
O'erran each eye which fondly turns
A farewell gaze on that loved form,
For which each ardent bosom burns.

That dear-loved form, receding now,
Forever from their view ascends
Old Nebo's rugged, lofty brow;
And pausing now, a moment spends
In meditation, gazing o'er
The plain bedazzled with the blaze
Of snowy, sun-lit tents, no more
To greet his loving, lingering gaze.

Now high on hoil old Pisgah's top
He stands, while smiling Palestine,
Green-robed before his view, looms up;
And then that pageantry divine,
Long looked for and long wished, unveils
Its splendors to his raptured view;
Old Time's career his vision trails,
The cloudy future piercing through.

He sees his own loved Israel spread
In beauty o'er those emerald hills—
Jehovah's pride, her foeman's dread—
Oh how the scene his spirit thrills!
He sees her high in glory rise—
E'en spills lofty climax climb—
He sees her kings and sages wise,
Her poets, prophets, most sublime.

And further on he sees the light
Of gospel day dawn on the earth—
The Sun of righteousness, for flight,
Plume well his wings at Shiloh's birth.
He sees the light more lustrous grow,
As onward moves the gospel day,
Until it melts before the glow
Of grand Millenium's brighter ray.

And further yet he sees, away
Beyond old earth's and Time's career,
The brightest beams of heavenly day,
And heavenly music greets his ear;
He sees loved Israel gathered round
The throne of Israel's Shiloh bright,
And hears their rapturous songs resound
For o'er those blissful plains of light!

As he each opening scene beholds,
More raptured still his spirit grows;
But now the last grand scene unfolds—
All reverent now his spirit glows;
His quivering frame sinks 'neath its weight—
His trembling spirit spreads its wings—
Now bursts its earthly prison's gate,
And, quick as thought, toward glory springs.

Oh man of God thy fervent prayer
Is answered, and the glory shown—
Why thus so still and pale? O where
Has thy enraptured spirit flown?
Transcending depths of azure deep,
It passes through yon portals bright,
O'er heaven's verdant fields to sweep,
All bathed in floods of golden light.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Letters to a Young Itinerant.---No. IV.

But there are other evils growing out of the use of tobacco, besides its polluting, unseemly filthiness, which, were I to pass over in silence, I would do violence to my convictions of duty; and you will allow me to bespeak your patience, and if need be, your forbearance, (if so be that you indulge in this habit) while with almost parental solicitude, and, as I trust, a due sense of professional responsibility,—I warn you of the physical, and sometimes moral disaster that this habit entails upon its victims, some or all of which may overtake and overwhelm you ere life's duties are done.

The millions of the human race who use the weed, are brought forward to prove that there is something in it that meets certain propensities of our nature, and yet by nature no one has a relish for, or will love the taste of tobacco. These are purely acquired—its properties are virulently poisonous—and its effects preeminently prove this. The vertigo, deadly nausea, and subsequent profuse vomiting that follow its absorption in the system,—are so many pointings of nature going to prove her repugnance to its presence in her appointed work—and are so many remonstrances against its repetition or persistence in bringing her well ordered laws in subjugation—it follows therefore that the taste for tobacco is first endured and afterwards loved, purely to secure its effects. These though so repugnant and terrible at first, gradually subside, as the infatuated victim persists in his efforts to overcome them, until not only a new taste and want is aroused, but a new train of sensations are developed, unnatural in their cause, morbid in their character, and pernicious in their tendency—both to the physical and mental man. This new train of sensations and unnatural wants soon gains an ascendancy over their victim that in thousands of cases amounts to a species of monomania which is premonitory of the whole train of mental aberrations, from incipient to confirmed insanity.

But by far the most common and wide spread evils growing out of the use of tobacco are seen in its effects upon the physical health. That its use in all forms is highly deleterious to health, productive of a vast number and a grave character of diseases, is none the less true; though neither regarded, feared nor believed by its votaries, whose aggregate is probably a majority of mankind.

The essential oil of tobacco, or its active principle, is declared to be one of the most active and virulent poisons in the Materia-Medica, as may be proven by simple experiments on animals,—and as are seen by the morbid effects its continued or immoderate use soon brings upon its consumers. These morbid effects are varied and wide spread, and enter largely into the causation of that potent and alarmingly prevalent disease called dyspepsia. This is true in probably nine cases out of ten. Dyspepsia, arising from the use of tobacco, is a very intractible and obstinate form of that disease—hard to treat and harder to cure—because of the difficulty of drawing off the poison, which is its chief cause. This form of dyspepsia not only torments and tortures its victims with almost the whole catalogue of physical diseases, but reacts on the mind, inducing paraxyoms of dejection, anxiety, fearful forebodings, palpitations, tremors, and a hypochondriacal and constant fear of impending death. This physico-mental disquietude is so terrible that it cannot be discribed in words, is admitted to be indescribably wretched.

Think of a man—a minister, studying a sermon, visiting the sick, instructing and encouraging an earnest inquirer, or ascending the pulpit to preach a sermon in such a frame of mind as that! This state of physical and mental suffering so terrrible to think of, will measurably pass off, if the victim will abstain for a few hours from his indulgence—and one would think that a person once passing through all these dread horrors—if he could only feel himself free again, extricated, released, would "go and sin no more;" but such is the infatuation of this habit upon the man. So imperative the morbid craving within him, that sometimes in a few hours he finds himself writhing again in the clutches of his tormentor. (How like the poor enslaved inebriate!) Talk to him in regard to his habit, he will agree with you,—remonstrate with him, he is ready to promise,—warn and entreat him, he sees the danger but rushes right upon it. How appropriately he might exclaim with the Apostle, "O wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me from the body of this death."

But, then, tobacco is a powerful nervous stimulant, and sedative according to the manner and extent in which it is used, or tolerated by the system; all poisons of its class first stimulate to be followed by sedation. This exaltation and depression, having a specific cause, and that being a poison, soon induces a morbid condition of the nervous system—such as sooner or later cripples the strength—limits the capacities and disturbs the equilibrium of the human mind. This is perhaps true in thousands of cases among all our professions, and may account for their premature decline in physical endurance and mental strength. A great mind inspired with great thoughts, that is thus benumbed and obtunded in its struggles to be free and to grasp the great truths of science or religion, must not only exhaust and back down the physical system through which its acts, but must at last fall short in its own powers, of what it otherwise might have achieved. This is a most startling fact, while I pray you to remember; for if this is true in regard to other things, or other professions, it is equally true in regard to the work of the ministry. Embracing as it does matter for the profoundest thoughts that ever engaged a mortal man; and looking to results that reach beyond the end of time to find their consummation in the day of eternity. Is it not a pity—more is it not a sad calamity that so many of our ministers are poisoning their systems, enfeebling their energies, fettering their minds; and in this way—forestalling their usefulness, curtailing their labors and influence, and abbreviating their lives, just to gratify a taste and craving of their own creating, for a poison, that kills while it satisfies.

You will see, my dear brother, that I have devoted this entire number to the consideration of the evils and damages of an indulgence in this habit of using tobacco. I offer no apology for doing so. The magnitude of this habit and the injury which it is entailing upon the health of our ministry and the Church, to me are sufficient reason for warning and remonstrance;—and, however lightly these may be esteemed, and however far short they may fall of producing the restraint and reform that are so much needed from you, I hope for a better hearing, and for this reason, confidently appeal to you, if you are a slave of this habit, that you will shake it off as you would some dreadful incubus—that like a "strong man armed" is weighing you down, or if you are not, that you will shun it, as you would a mortal sin.

Yours in Christ,

WATCHMAN.

Cedar Grove, February, 1874.

For the Advocate.

Annual Conferences No. 3.

MR. EDITOR: One of the most striking features of these conferences is the behavior of the preachers whenever a contribution of money is called for. And really, brother Jim. I sometimes feel like taking the whole posse out and flagellating them soundly for their conduct.—A stranger would think that they had "dead loads" of money, seeing how they give it away Not a collection is made for any purpose that these impecunious brethren do not give nearly every dollar of it. At this very last conference one of these benevolent paupers gave one hundred and fifty dollars in one lump. And just four years before, I saw the same charitable beggar give fifty dollars at once. To be sure that style of doing it is not common; but the tens and fives fall "thick as autumn leaves in Valambrosa's vale" whenever a pressing call is made for them. Don't you say, friend Bobbitt, that they ought to be thrashed for it? I confess that it always makes me feel mean when I see it; and I don't like to feel mean. I have often wished that the stingy supporters of the gospel at home, in the church and out of it, could see the self-denying generosity, the heaven trusting courage and faith, with which these men give so freely of their insufficient and ill-paid salaries. But all of them do not, because they cannot, give. It was with no little pain that I learned, after leaving there, that one of them, "of whom the world is not worthy," with the burden of many years and more abundant labors upon him, was removed from one charge to another nearly across the State, and had not, as he told my pastor, "five cents" to meet the expense of that removal! The preachers made up a purse for him! If the devil don't get the greater part (if not all) of his late parishioners, brother Bobbitt, I'd like for you to tell me if the devil knows his own business.

The open housed hospitality of the citizens on these occasions is always most genial and pleasant: and every preacher seems to be at liberty to take whom he will, and as many as he will, to the house where he is lodged.

The preaching at Conference is always good as it always should be.—But it is said that "kissing goes by favors." Does preaching at Conference go the same way? And do preaching and kissing therefore go together? If so, brother Bobbitt, can you tell me how many times brother H. had to kiss brother M. before he, brother H., got two appointments to preach at one Conference, while so much eloquence was kept bottled up in other vessels and not suffered to explode at all? I have been figuring at that problem myself, and conclude that the heavy whiskers must have swept the clean-shaven face, or e converso the clean-shaven face must have sought and pressed the heavy whiskers, several times, Next time I move that the kissing be required to be done on the conference floor coram pub.

What shall I say of the bishop? He looks more like a judge on the bench, or a general in the field than a preacher. A man of impressive appearance and great dignity of manner, he seems born and trained to command. And yet I thought at times that a little more of the fortiter in re would not have been misapplied. His preaching was quite up to the bishop mark; and yet I could name several who I think can beat him. As an executive officer, I should say that he has no superior, if an equal. Though this was his first visit to the North Carolina Conference he was, I am told, as minutely and thoroughly informed of the recent history of every man in it, and of every pastorate under its jurisdiction as any of his council. When a name was proposed in the council he referred to his memoranda, and could tell at once where that man had been and what he had done for several years past. When a pastorate was called, he could as readily tell by whom it had been served for the last several years, and what was its general condition. Decidedly, a Joseph E. Johnston sort of commander; one who keeps his forces well in hand, and can tell any minute where any man is and what he is doing.

There are many things of interest to be seen and heard at Conference, of which I will tell you of but one more: "for the time would fail me to tell of Gideon, and of Barak, and of Samson, and of Jepthah; of David also and Samuel, and of the prophets;" of the Sunday-school Mass Meeting, of the Missionary Society meeting, of the solemn memorial services in honor of our Reid, our Barringer, of Norman the aged, and of father Holmes. We must omit many things and hasten to the close; for time presses and patience fails.

The one scene and one event which movet most powerfully the heart, and with chastened effect, the imagination, is the administration of the Lord's Supper to the large number of communicants who there throng around His table. This service was conducted at our last Conference by our excellent brother, Rev. Dr. Deems. It had been some time in progress when I reached the church. How many had communed, I know not. The chancel was surrounded and crowded by the kneeling communicants on my arrival.—And again and again, and yet again, many times was it thus surrounded. As band after band gathered round that table and retired, as company succeeded company of communicants, the congregation the while accompanying them with "psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in their hearts to the Lord," the Doctor spoke to them words of advice or warning, of exultant hope or triumphant faith which now melted, now strengthened their hearts.—Quoting our Lord's almost dying words "this do, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me," he reminded them that more than eighteen hundred years have passed since that sacrament was instituted and those words were spoken. Then the splendid Roman empire was in the zenith of its greatness and glory: centuries have elapsed since that mighty fabric crumbled to ruins and the dust of more than a thousand years lies thick over its buried grandeur. He told of other empires and nations that have since risen and fallen; of the temples and columns and triumphal arches and other creations of human genius and monuments of human glory then standing or since erected, seemingly raised to stand forever, long ago overthrown and forgotten; of that glorious temple at Jerusalem, with its hundreds of priests and servitors, its "goodly stones and gifts," its gorgeous ritual, its bleeding sacrifices and smoking altars, of which truly is it to be said that not one stone has been left upon another that has not been thrown down; of which it hath been wailingly sung—and still, said the preacher, this simple observance testifies the Christian's remembrance of his crucified Lord. But I will not attempt further to reproduce the speaker's eloquent and touching thoughts. I know of none but Deems who could say it as he said it. All who heard him must have owned that there is a reality and a glorious life-giving power in the gospel of Jesus Christ, when the mere words of that Jesus are thus sure to outlive all the works of man, and the remembrance and observance of them through all generations and in all lands still bind in holy brotherhood the millions who have believed on his name.

"Our temple hath not left a stone,
And Mockery sits on Salem's throne;" ——

But very likely, Mr. Editor, you are tired of me, and your readers no less so. With a post-script to your readers, the words of Woodsdale are ended. As for ourselves we met as friends; let us part in peace.

WOODSDALE.

P. S. GENTLE READER, MY FELLOW RUSTIC: If you want to know anything more about Annual Conferences you may go and see one. I have discharged my conscience. I have not told you all by a great deal, but I have told you enough; enough perhaps to get me a flogging from somebody. I won't incur any further risk for you. Were I to write any more I might make somebody mad. I might let out who preached too long, who spoke too often, who "sassed" the bishop. I might criticise some man's logic, another's "elocution," another's behavior, and another's looks. I might let escape me who is the ugliest man in the Conference; for I know very well who he is. But I am not going to do it. I have a wholesome regard for whole bones and a sound skin. And were I to tell you of the pretty Methodist women who were there and try to tell you who was the prettiest, I don't know what the consequence might be. I desire to live in peace. If the men were ugly, they didn't mean any harm by it, and I won't tell on them. If the women were pretty—and they were—I fear they did mean harm by it, and I'm afraid to tell on them. Go see for yourself next Conference!

Yours, in the faith of Methodism,

WOODSDALE.

An undecided fellow courted a lady for twenty-eight years and then married her. She turned out a perfect virago, but died in two years after the wedding. "Now," said he, in a self congratulating tone, "see what I have escaped by a long courtship."

For the Advocate.

Revival in China.

I have just received a letter from Lungchow, Shanting Province, China, written November 29, 1873, by my dear friend, Mrs. L. T. Crawford, of the Southern Baptist Board in the United States; and in giving an account of the missionaries whom I used to know in that country, Mrs. Crawford speaks of Rev Mr. Corbett, an American Presbyterian Missionary who is laboring "a hundred or two miles" south-west of Lungchow.—"Mr. Corbett is having a great revival," is the statement. "At last accounts he had received into the church more than a hundred adults." How long the revival had been in progress is not stated. The intelligence comes in a manner that indicates the work to be one of no ordinary character, and that it is still going on with unabating interest. "A great revival" in China!—How strange, and how cheering, especially to one who has labored among and with that people, and witnessed their inexcitability, their want of enthusiasm, upon religious subjects; and seen with what reluctance they give up their old and familiar system of religion for the Gospel! How such news must cheer the hearts of all the missionaries in that country! How it must quicken their faith and stimulate their zeal! "A great revival" in China. Let it be told in all christendom.—Let it be known in all the Churches!

Surely such news "from afar" should arouse the whole Church to renewed efforts for the salvation of the last heathen, and increase the confidence of Christians in the China Mission.—Can any one doubt longer that it is his duty to support that mission—his duty to contribute to strengthen it? Can any one longer doubt that the Gospel is intended for that people? If so, he had better become deeply and earnestly concerned for his own soul, and begin to pray for his own salvation. No one can be saved without trying to save others—without trying to save the heathen especially. With out the Gospel they must perish.—How can any one expect salvation himself if he cares not for the salvation of the perishing? How fearful will be the account of men of means,— of any means, who heed not the Macedonian call! Men are called to contribute according their means. What a burning shame for a man making his thousands annually to contribute only fifty cents or a dollar to the missionary cause, while some poor body, who has to depend upon her needle for a support, pays that amount or more each year!

What shall the Methodists in the North Carolina Conference raise the present Conference year for the cause of missions? Only 4510, which is assessment! That will not be ten cents to the member. Thirty two cents to the member would give the amount the Board at Nashville assessed our Conference last May. Shall we not raise it? why not? The amount is very small for our membership.—Let every preacher treble his assessment and it it will be raised.

It is to be hoped that the time is at hand when missionary assessment will not be made. That collection ought to be unlimited.

M. L. WOOD.

Literary Women.

Very intellectual women are seldom beautiful. Their features and particularly their foreheads, are more or less masculine. But there are exceptions to all rules, and Miss Lankon was an exception to this one. She was exceedingly feminine and pretty. Mrs. Stanton likewise is a handsome woman. Miss Anthony and Mrs. Livermore are both plain. Marie and Jano Porter were women of high brows and regular features, as was also Miss Sedgewick. Anna Dickenson has a strong masculine face; Kate Field has a good looking, though by no means a pretty one, and Mrs. Stowe is thought to be positively homely. Alice and Phœbe Cary were both plain in features, though their sweetness of disposition added greatly to their personal appearence. Margaret Fuller had a splendid head, but her features were irregular, and she was anything but handsome, though sometimes in the glow of converstion she appeared almost radiant. Charlotte Bronto had wondrously beautifuly dark brown eyes and perfectly shaped head. She was small to diminutiveness, and was as simple in her manner as a child. Julia Ward Howe is a fine looking woman, wearing an aspect of grace and refinement and great force of character in her face and carriage. Laura Holloway resembles Charlotte Bronto both in personal appearance and in the sad experience of her young life. Neither Mary Booth nor Marian Harlan can lay claim to handsome faces though they are splendid specimens of cultured woman, while Mary Clemmer Ames is just as pleasing in features as her writings are graceful and popular.—Baltimorean.

Selected.

Justification by Faith - A Perplexity Unraveled.

BY VOX CLAMANTIS.

No thoughtful observer can have failed to notice the confusion and perplexity that exists in the minds of many teachers and seekers of religion in reference to the subject of faith and justification. This embarrassing confusion is one of the grand hindrances to the personal holiness and comfort of God's people, as well as the successful preaching of the gospel. We notice:

1. That justification and the assurance of justification are often confounded. Justification is an act of the mind of God. The assurance of justification is the communication of the fact of justification to the mind of the penitent. The act of justification in the mind of God is not only a fact distinct from the knowledge of assurance imparted to the penitent, but they are facts that are not always constantaneous. Penitent souls are often justified or have the witness of justification. Justification takes place in the mind of God the moment the sinner surrenders his will to the divine will through the redemption that is in Jesus Christ. The witness of justification or the spirit of adoption is communicated to the penitent after he believes in the fact of his justification which has already taken place in the mind of God. The condemned culprit at the point of execution may have been pardoned by executive clemency while death seems to him his inevitable doom. The arrival of the swift messenger with the reprieve does not create the fact of pardon, but brings the witness of a fact that has already taken place. Even so the things of God knoweth no man but the Spirit of God. Now, we have received not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit of God, that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God.'

The faith which secures justification is often confounded with the faith which secures the witness of justification, as well as with that assurance of faith which is produced by the witness of the Spirit. Here are three modifications of faith which should be clearly distinguished in spiritual instruction. The Scriptures teach plainly that we are justified by faith only. This is the cardinal doctrine. The very pillar and ground of the truth. But the faith which secures justification is essentially distinct from both that faith which brings the 'seal of the Spirit' upon the soul, and that assurance of faith which is the fruit of the Spirit. The faith which seems justification is the reliance upon or acceptance of Christ as the only and all-sufficient meritorious ground of justification. Its object is not the fact of justification, but the all-comprehensive merit of Christ as the procuring cause of justification. It is simply a willingness to be justified by receiving Christ as a complete Savior. 'As many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believed on his name. The faith which secured the witness of justification has for its object the fact of justification itself. The penitent, consecrated soul receives Christ as a complete Savior, and in that moment it is justified in the mind of God, but the Spirit of God only knows the mind of God, and may or may not communicate the fact of justification at the same moment. For the penitent may receive Christ as a complete Savior without at the same time believing in the fact of justification. This is a psychological fact of the deepest significance. It is faith in justification as a fact; the belief that I am justified through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus, that secures the abiding witness of the Spirit. This act of faith sometimes accompanies the reception of Christ which secures justification and then the justification of the sinner and the witness of justification are constantaneous. Assurance of faith is the faith of 'the operation of the power of God,' which is preceded by both the faith that justifies and the faith which secures the witness of justification. It is the 'fruit of the spirit or the direct gift of God.' Notice:

3. Some of the results of not clearly perceiving these distinctions. One of the consequences of not making the distinctions noted above, is the very absurd practice of urging penitents to believe that they are forgiven, in order that they may be forgiven. In answer to the agonizing inquiry. 'What shall I do to be saved?' the penitent is instructed to believe that God does now for Christ's sake forgive him, that he may forgive him. Now unravel this, and we find confusion, perplexity and absurdity itself. Let us see. The penitent desires forgiveness or justification. The instructor urges him to believe that God does now forgive him for Christ's sake, as the only condition of his justification. That is believe what is not a fact, and it becomes a fact. Believe a lie and it becomes the truth. You are not now justified, and you will be justified. Plainly this involves the absurdity of substituting effect for the cause. Faith in the fact of justification must necessarily be the effect or result of the antecedent fact. It cannot therefore be made the cause of what has already taken place in the mind of God. All this confusion and perplexity arises from not distinguishing between the fact of justification and the witness of the fact. The penitent who is willing to accept Christ as a complete Savior, is justified already by virtue of that acceptance or faith, and should be instructed to believe in the fact of his justification not in order to create the fact, but to secure the witness of the fact. Another difficulty which arises from not distinguishing assurance of faith from the faith which secures justification is, that penitents are urged to believe in order to justification, and at the same time told that faith is the gift of God. God does indeed require and command faith as the condition of salvation, but assurance of faith is the immediate, direct and glorious fruit of the operation of God upon the heart of the penitent believer. The first is the condition of justification and the gift of God only as the result of that prevenient grace which is given to all men. The second is the result of justification and the witness of the Spirit.—St. Louis Advocate.

Court Etiquette.

Among the most perplexing questions to which European Courts have been subject in the past are those of etiquette and ceremonial. We find much curious information on this subject in a recent article in an English Magazine. The Spanish Court was the most punctilious, and many absurd tales are told of the extent to which scruples of etiquette were indulged in. Among them we have that of the origin of the death of Phillip III, who finding the fire too hot for his royal well-being, told the Marquis de Pobar to put it out. But the Marquis could not presume to so, because fire extinction was one of the attributions of the Duke d'Useda, who most fortuitously, was at that moment hunting in Catalonia. So the king, who of course could not condescend to give way to fire—fire being bound by etiquete to give way to kings—sat majestically and scorchingly still, grew far too warm for health, got erysipelas, and thereby died.

French etiquette was almost as extreme as that of Spain. Arm-chairs, backed chairs, and stools were, for centuries, as Voltaire says, 'important objects of politics, and illustrious subjects of quorrels.' He explains, with his usual spitefulness, that the etiquette of chairs came from 'the barbarians, our grandfathers,' who had only one arm-chair, which was solely used by the people who were ill. This latter view is borne out by the fact that there were provinces in France where the piece of furniture in question was called a chaise de dcleance; and that the Germans have, from all times, denominated it krankenssel—a sick chair. Voltaire goes on to say that Mademoiselle spent a quarter of her life in the mortal tribulation of disputes about her sea s; ought she to sit in a certain room, upon a chair or upon a stool, or not sit down at all? The whole court was in emotional perplexity about these insoluble difficulties. Even the king himself was not free from the obligation of sitting according to regulation. If he condescended to pay a visit to a courtier ill in bed, etiquette constrained his majesty to lie down too, for it was impossible that a soverign could permit a subject to indulge in unshared recumbency in his presence; so when the king was coming to a sick room, a second bed was prepared before hand, and the conversation was conducted in mutual horizontality. Louis XIII. visited Richelieu in this way at Tarascon, and Louis XIV. did the same when he went to see the Marechal de Villars, after he was wounded at Malplaquet.

In England, questions of precedence are determined by reference to a statute of Henry VII. Doubtful cases are refered to the crown, and the crown refers them to the Herald's college. A catalogue of persons entitled to precedence and the order of their precedence has been published. It begins with the king and queen, and ends with burgesses and their wives; it includes ninety-eight ranks of men, and sixty six ranks of women.

In 1508, Pope Julius II. endeavored to establish the rules of precedence for the ambassadors of the European powers. His list comprised twenty ranks, beginning with the Pope and ending with the nephews of the Pope and the legates of Bologna and Ferrara. It is subject of remark that of all the titles of sovereigns on this list only three exist in the same name at this day.

Amusing stories are told of the struggles of individual ministers to settle the question of precedence with each other. In 1661 a Spanish envoy attacked the carriage of the French embassador in the streets of London and had his horses hamstrung, in order that he might reach court first.

When Mazarin and Don Luis de Haro met to settle the conditions of the marriage between Louis XIV. and Mara Theresa, in order to preserve the full dignity of their nations by yielding nothing to each other, the two Ministers stepped together, with the right foot, side by side, into a council chamber hung in corresponding halves with their respective colors, and sat down at the same instant precisely opposite each other at a critically square table, on two mathematically equivalent arm-chairs.

Bielfeld tells a story of two envoys, one from Genoa and one from Braden burg, who, being unable to come to terms as to which of them should present himself first to the French king, stipulated that whoever reached Versailles soonest on the day of their reception should take precedence of the other. The cunning Prussian went down the night before the audience, and sat on a bench in the palace until dawn. The Genoese, not suspecting this activity, arrived in the morning early, saw the Prussian, recognized that he was beaten, but with the perfidy which Italian proverbs attribute to the children of his native town, slipped surreptitiously through the door of the king's bedroom, which had been left ajar, and instantly commenced the requisite salutations. The German rushed indignantly after him, pulled him back by the skirts, and began pouring out his own harangue.

Two ambassadors met face to face on the bridge at Prague, and stopped there for the entire day, because neither of them would disgrace his country by letting the other one go by.

In 1768, at a court ball in London, Ivan Czernicheff, Ambassador from Russia, sat down audaciously next to the Imperial Envoy, in the very place which belonged to the Comte de Chatelet-Lomon, representativo of France The latter came in a few minutes later, did not say a word, passed quietly behind the Russian, affected to sit down on a bench of the second row, and suddenly, with a bound, sprang in between his two colleagues, and in that way reconquered his legitimate position. A duel was the consequence of this, and Czernicheff was wounded.

"Sacred Music."

An American clergyman has been spending his holiday vacation in visiting some of the large cities in the United States, and gives the results of his sight-seeing in a New York paper. In describing one of the most interesting cities in the States, he relates how he spent the Sabbath. He says: "We decided on attending one of several orthodox Congregational churches, in which a distinguished professor of theology was announced to preach. The first thing presented to our view was the platform, near the pulpit, on which stood a large vase of fresh lilies. The first Scripture read was that part of the Sermon on the Mount in which our Saviour pointed to the birds of the air and the lilies of the field. The sermon was excellent—on the providence of God. But the part of the service on which I have some comments to make for general readers was the opening piece. The solemn worship of God was introduced by a solo, 'Consider the lilies,' performed by the leading singer of the choir, gracefully accompanied by the organ. So far as the music was concerned, it was beautifully and faultlessly rendered. The effect upon my own mind, however, was anything but devotional. The singer commenced, 'Consider the lilies of the field,' etc., and when she came to the application, it ran thus: 'And yet I say unto you that even Solomon in all his glory—was not arrayed—was not arrayed—like one of these—was not arrayed (interlude by the organ)—was not arrayed (interlude by the organ)—like one of these.' And then she went back again, and asseverated in the most emphatic manner,' I say unto you that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed——was not arrayed——was not arrayed' (pause), until I began to despair for poor Solomon, lest he should never get the very first of his garments on.

"There was yet another piece of church—not sacred—music, in which the soprano led off with the announcement, 'I will wash'; and then came in the contralto, 'I will wash'; and then the tenor, 'I will wash'; and then from the profoundest depths comes up the guttural of the basso, saying also, 'I will wash'; and last of all they strike in together, crying out in concert, 'I will wash.' No one could imagine that this singular and oft repeated announcement of an intended ablution was a rendering in sacred song, for the spiritual edification of a Christian congregation, of those solemn words of the Psalmist: 'I will wash my hands in innocency; so will I compass thine altar, O Lord?'"

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2.00
SIX MONTHS,	1.25
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH N. C. FEBRUARY 18, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

Instructive and Doctrinal Preaching.

Men may abuse and pervert the truth, but they must have it in order to be saved. They may know a great deal better than they do, but they cannot do well without knowledge. Salvation is in and through the knowledge of truth. The preacher sometimes tells his hearers that they are already sufficiently informed, and that what is needed is, that they put the information they have into practical operation. He acts upon this assumption of religious intelligence, and seeks to arouse and incite to immediate action, while no effort is made to instruct.—There is, we admit, some foundation for this assumption, but it is often pressed too far. The golden mean, no doubt, lies practically in the union of the didactic and the hortatory.—The sermons of Christ are of this character, and the Apostles followed their Master in this respect as in every other. The men of power in the early days of Methodism, were not mere exhorters. Whitfield and the Wesleys often expounded large portions of Scripture consecutively, and their regular sermons were full of doctrinal instruction.

In the earlier days of Methodism, and even a few years back, our ministry was distinguished for its statement and defence of the doctrines of religion, and for its careful exhibition of the leading features of gospel truth. Very little was taken for granted in those days, but arguments and Scripture references were set in array to overwhelm error and to establish "the right ways of the Lord." There was a spice of controversy in the preaching of "the fathers," and a sharply militant and polemic spirit was often manifested. It was likewise noted for particular and pungent application, and for the stirring exhortation which concluded every sermon. The nail, however, was driven before it was clinched, and the foundation was made sure before the walls and cornices were thought of.

As a church, we are losing ground for the lack of doctrinal instruction.—Thousands are being won from us into other folds because they do not know the doctrines of our church. We do not preach enough on repentance, faith, regeneration, the office of the Holy Spirit, Baptism, the Holy Communion, Apostolic succession—the arguments against it. In a word, all the doctrines of our church, without attacking others, should be urged upon the people with practical force.

It is always safe for the preacher to assume that his congregation is ignorant even where intelligence ought to be found. Religious ignorance is often the greatest where the general intelligence is of a superior order.—The busy merchant, the profound jurist, the learned doctor, the refined and cultivated lady of the world, and the planter of enterprise and education, are not necessarily familiar with their Bibles. They need instruction in spiritual things as much as the most illiterate and obscure. It is a grievous error to suppose that because people live in these days of wonderful enlightenment and mental activity, surrounded by the most startling discoveries and inventions, and smothered under the mountain piles of books and periodicals, which hourly teem from the press, that they are proportionately wise in the love of the gospel. Too much intelligence may be predicated of the various agencies which are at work in the diffusion of religious knowledge. These agencies are doing much to diminish the ignorance of the world, and to mitigate the gross darkness which covers the people. But with our Bible Societies and Sunday-schools in full operation, and with churches all around us, the amount of religious ignorance is astonishingly great.

A close examination of the membership of a church will reveal a great lack of accurate and thorough acquaintance with the word of God, and the duties and obligations of our religious profession. Converted men must be instructed in the doctrines of the gospel, and guided into the higher experiences of the spiritual life, and what is sometimes set down to their indolence and selfishness, is the result of ignorance rather than perverseness.—Instruction does not necessarily hinder revival influences. Jonathan Edwards affirms that he found doctrinal preaching the best to promote religious awakenings, and the same thing is shown in great and permanent reformations which have taken place. Neither Luther, nor the Wesleys would have accomplished anything without the clear and persistent exhibition of divine truth. Times of great interest are the very best in which to instruct. The awakened soul is peculiarly prepared to receive and apprehend sound doctrine. The good ground is ready for the seed of the kingdom, and the sower casts his bread upon the waters rather than upon the barren rock. To promote the work of revivals, there is need of judicious and godly tact, the wise improvement of favoring circumstances, and motion, praying, exhortation, and the power of sacred melody. But these, without instruction and doctrinal preaching, will fail of the highest and most lasting results.

The mistaken and mischievous notion that people are already sufficiently instructed must be guarded against, while we aim to lead them up to the practice of what they really know.—Preaching is needed as well as exhortation. The "people perish for lack of knowledge," and famish for the bread of life. With all possible incitements and excitements, the gospel must be preached with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven, "Because the preacher was wise, he still taught the people knowledge." Paul, the model New Testament preacher, preached Christ, "warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom." The spiritual qualifications are paramount,—all must be fused and aglow with the heavenly baptism. But without the aim or capacity to teach, the ministry will fail in the great commission to which it was called when the Master commanded: "Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you."

Bad Economy.

We regret exceedingly that the Legislature amended that section of the revenue bill in reference to theatres.—As it formerly stood, there was a tax of $10 per night, and $50 per month on all theatrical companies in this State. The amendment was offered by Mr. Waring of Mecklenburg, and strongly urged by him. Mr. Merrimon, of Buncombe, earnestly opposed the amendment, for which he has the thanks of all who love good government, good morals, and who desire to have the best interest of society protected and promoted. Instead of reducing the tax, it should have been increased five hundred per cent. Theatres and circuses are among the greatest evils of the day. They not only take out of the State thousands of dollars annually, but they corrupt the morals of the people. If any reduction in the taxes anywhere, why did they not make that deduction upon real estate, so that the farmers, the hardest worked, and the very best class of our citizens, might reap its benefits? We shall have more to say upon this subject hereafter.

A TIMELY LETTER.—We call attention to the article on church finances to be found in another column. It is from the pen of one of our most intelligent laymen, whose long and faithful services as a steward in the church adds weight and force to his views upon this important subject.

We are glad our lay brethren are moving in this matter of church finances. We should be glad if they would ventilate the subject thoroughly through the columns of the Advocate. There is no question connected with the material growth and prosperity of our church, upon which our people need instruction more, than they do upon church finances. Thousands have never thought rightly of the moral obligation resting upon them to support the Gospel, and they seem to care but little as to the ways and means for carrying on the enterprises of the church, and of advancing her sacred interests.

GOOD SUCCESS.—Rev. B. B. Culbreth, agent for Trinity College, has about completed his canvass in this city.—We are pleased to know that his success has been good—even better than he expected—owing to the great scarcity of money. When Bro. Culbreth came to the city he was comparatively a stranger to our people.—He has made many warm personal friends, as well as friends of the institution, since he came among us. It has been the pleasure of the congregations both of Edenton and Person Street Churches to enjoy his pulpit ministrations, on several occasions during his stay with us. We heartily commend Bro. C. and the College he represents to all our people and the public generally.

We are indebted to Revs. L. L. Hendren, G. W. Ivy, Ira T. Wyche, H. H. Gibbons, E. W. Thompson, P. J. Carraway, B. C. Phillips, Jno. Mahoney, J. A. Cunninggim, and others whose names we cannot now call to mind, for recent handsome lists of subscribers and renewals. We hope soon to hear from all the brethren. We are encouraged in the belief that our list will be increased during the present month beyond that of the past.

Rev. W. N. Conoley, who was appointed at the late session of our Conference, to the charge of Fifth St. Church Wilmington, writes that he has made a good beginning, and that he is laboring faithfully to bring together the scattered fold. We trust he may have good success, and that the church under his charge may abundantly prosper.

Rev. J. T. Harris, in charge of Hillsboro Station, writes encouragingly of his work, and has many pleasant things to say of the kind people in his charge.

The Reform Movement.

The Reform movement of Bishop Cummins seems to be gathering strength much more rapidly than even its sympathisers looked for. In St. Louis and Louisville, strong organizations are being formed. In many other localities there are evident indications of restlessness among Episcopalians, and thousands are only waiting to see the full establishment of the move before they fall into line. It is believed that some, who are tired of the high-church notions, forms and ritualistic views of the Protestant Episcopal Church will come over to the Methodist Church. Let this be as it may, we think the reform movement will result in good to the cause of christianity. Nothing has transpired to give such an impetus to the reform movement, as the withdrawal of Rev. J. A. Latane, of Wheeling, Va., from the Protestant Episcopal Church. He is a ripe scholar, and an able minister. His letter of withdrawal addressed to Bishop Johns is written with great clearness and force. The reasons assigned for leaving the church are unanswerable. But for the length of the letter we should publish it in full. The reasons may be briefly summed up as follows: (1) The division of the church into High and Low Church parties, which make of it an army with two banners. Justification by faith and justification by the sacraments are dogmas which mutually exclude each other. (2) The countenance given by the prayer book to unscriptural doctrines, such as baptismal regeneration, the real presence, and the priestly character of the ministry. (3) The impossibility of securing a suitable revision of the prayer-book. (4) As a consequence, the attitude of the Episcopal Church toward other Protestant Churches. Holding these views he could not remain in the church with out doing violence to his conscience. The following from the Wheeling Intelligencer explains the action of the vestry of that city, upon receiving the letter of resignation from Mr. Latane:

"The acceptance of the resignation does not, we infer, carry with it any expression of opinion whatever on the part of the Vestry touching Mr. Latane's views. As to those views, we but state what is probably generally understood among those who are best posted on the subject when we express the opinion that the majority of the Vestry hold views in sympathy with Mr. Latane Still, inasmuch as Mr. Latane has actually and formally with drawn from the Episcopal Church, the Vestry could not, without also withdrawing from its organization, as it were, continue him as their pastor.—There was no doubt, all the more unanimity in deciding to accept his resignation from the fact that a Diocesan Council will be held in Virginia next fall, at which it is possible some important steps will be taken by the whole body of the Virginia Church on the issues raised by Mr. Latane's letter. Prior to the meeting of this Council there would naturally be a reluctance to take any steps that might embarrass its action, especially by those who hope and anticipate that its action will be such as to substantially endorse the views of Mr. Latane. If we understand the positions of both the Bishops of this Diocese and also that of the Church organ, it is that they still regard Mr. Latane as canonically qualified to discharge the duties of an Episcopal minister for six months to come. In other words, they do not choose to throw the great influence of their positions against him, but rather in favor of him. This, we presume, is all that they could do were their views expressed word for word in Mr. Latane's letter:

ST MATTHEW'S CHURCH,
WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 16, 1874.

Gentlemen of the Vestry.—You have been called together in order that I might lay before you this my resignation of the rectorship of St. Matthew's church. The circumstances under which it is presented are explained in the accompanying paper [meaning the letter to Bishop Johns], in which I have stated at length my reasons for withdrawing from the Protestant Episcopal Church.

In this official communication I will not undertake to give expression to the feelings of regret with which I look forward to separating, under such circumstances, from a people who have laid me and mine under so many obligations. And it only remains for me to assure you of my grateful remembrance of the friendly relations which have happily characterized all our intercourse as a Vestry, of my kindest regards for every member of your body personally, and of my fervent prayer that God will so guide you officially in the trying and responsible position in which my resignation will place you, that all your actions may be for His glory, and for the happiness and peace, here and hereafter, of the people of St. Matthew's.

Very respectfully and truly yours, &c.,
J. A. LATANE.

As we have said, the Vestry, at their meeting on Saturday, took up this letter for further consideration, and decided to accept the resignation therein tendered, which they did by passing the following resolution:

Resolved, That Mr. Latane having renounced the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church, we are most reluctantly constrained hereby to accept his resignation of the rectorship of St. Matthew's parish. In thus severing our relations to the late beloved rector, we bear testimony to his fidelity and ability in the discharge of all his duties and pray that the richest blessings may attend his family to the end of life."

A worthy brother desires to know if the cross mark is upon his paper every week because he is so ugly. Certainly not. If this were the cause of cross marks, we should be forced to the conviction that there are a great many ugly people in North Carolina, which is really not the case. The subscribers of the Advocate are all pretty as far as we know.

ONE in about every twenty-five of the native converts of China is said to be a preacher.

Sunday Schools.

The Western Methodist has a well written article upon Sunday Schools, in which it is insisted that our Sunday Schools should be under the control of the church. The following is an extract from the article:

Memorials to the General Conference, in favor of a law directing that Sunday school superintendents be elected by the quarterly conference upon the nomination of the preacher in charge, may be instanced as an evidence of an increasing if not prevailing sentiment in regard to this great and vital matter. Not only in our Church, but in others also, Christians are taking a right view, and some are already much in advance of us.

For the present, perhaps, we may not hope for any advance beyond that realized in existing relations of the Sunday-school to the Church, except the enactment of the law prayed for, in regard to the election of Sunday-school superintendents. But after a while, surely, the Sunday-school will in form, and in fact too, be brought just as close to the Church, to its heart and centre, as the prayer-meeting and the class-meeting, or even as the public worship, the preaching and other services in the great congregation. "Feed my lambs" is as authoritative and binding as "Feed my sheep." The children, as well as the parents, must have their place in the Church and be as well provided for by the Church. If the Sunday-school be, as we believe it to be, one of the best means by which to provide for the children, then the Sunday-school should be regularly, officially and positively an institution of the Church.

Supposing that many, whose term of subscription is out, are waiting to renew through their pastor, the ADVOCATE is continued to them a while longer. We hope the preachers will call attention to this fact at each appointment, so as to give delinquents an opportunity of renewing before their paper is discontinued.

Rev. A. G. Stacey, formerly of the South Carolina Conference, but now president of Austin Female College, located at Austin, Texas writes thus of the Advocate: "I have just received your elegant and interesting Advocate. A North Carolina Methodist must feel a deep sense of gratification in contemplating your success."

THE CROSS MARK.—An excellent christian lady writes: "Your ominous cross mark reminds me that I must renew my subscription or be deprived of the Advocate. I should miss your paper sadly, so please find enclosed $2—pardon delay and continue the Advocate to my address."

We call attention to the new Advertisement of Marion High School for young ladies. A letter of recent date from the principal, Rev. S. R. Trawick brings the gratifying intelligence that the school is progressing finely. Bro. Trawick is a gentleman of many years experience in teaching and he is well qualified to impart thorough instruction to those placed under his care.

COMPLIMENTARY LETTER TO THE REV. P. A. STROBEL.—We cheerfully publish the following letter, addressed to the Rev. P. A. Strobel, late Bible Agent for N. C. one of the Secretaries of the American Bible Society:

REV. P. A. STROBEL—Dear Brother: I have at hand your notes of Jan. 8th and your very comprehensive review of the condition of Bible affairs in North Carolina, which it was very considerate in you to forward at this early date and which will be put to its appropriate use in our next Annual Report. The list of present officers of Auxiliary Societies shows also the same fidelity and care which have characterized all the Statistical returns which you have forwarded since assuming charge of our work in your District. Regretting most deeply the untoward circumstances which led to your resignation, we feel that the service you have rendered has been of great benefit to the people of North Carolina and very satisfactory to the Board of Managers.

In the earnest hope, that God's blessings may ever attend you, I remain,

Very truly yours
EDWARD W. GILMAN,
Cor. Sec'y. A. B. S.

Bible House, New York, Jan. 22nd 1874.

Bro. Boshamer in charge of Henderson circuit, writes Feb. 12:

"You can say that we have a gracious revival in Henderson, which is the result of a union prayer-meeting, inaugurated a short time since. The meeting has been alternating between the Baptist and Methodist churches. It is now at the latter, and because it is more central, will remain there.

The Baptists, Presbyterians and Methodists, are laboring together harmoniously. I will give you the results in my next."

Miss Mary F. Jordan, lately employed in the Orphan Asylum, has taken a music school at Cary. The children and her associates give her up with extreme reluctance. Her labors were very efficient, and her deportment was a model of propriety.

She has left a beautiful picture, illumined with the light of a lovely christianity, in the gallery of our memories.

J. H. MILLS.

We are requested to state that the post office address of Rev. J. N. Andrews is Mount Olive, N. C., instead of Goldsboro', as heretofore announced.

North Carolina Conference of the M. E. Church reports a net increase of 543 members, 320 probationers, 1 local preacher, 30 churches, 1 parsonage, 1 Sunday school, 5 teachers, and 1,613 scholars.

A subscriber requests us to say to post masters, to be careful in delivering papers and letters. It is frequently the case that papers and letters are handed to others than the persons for whom they are intended.

Letter from Dr. Pierce.

We take from a late issue of the Southern Christian Advocate, this brief but comprehensive letter from the venerable Dr. Pierce. Great bodily affliction does not weaken, but strengthens his faith in that religion which he has so long and faithfully preached to others:

If you please, you may publish this card, as I think I have sympathizing friends enough to be gratified at seeing something from myself, as to my present condition. It is now forty-five days since I took my room and bed, and I have not felt myself well enough to leave my room, except as necessity compelled it, in getting from Griffin to Macon, and from Macon to Sunshine. At Macon, I was shut out from the annual, joyful religious festival, which had filled the cup of my religious and social delight for more than threescore years. But what reason have I to say, with David—"Praise the Lord!" It was the second Annual Conference, where I was due, as one of the body, from which I was ever entirely kept away. My brethren remembered me, in a way, which if it ends where it is, will be a precious memorial to me of an honor which I never claimed, as due me, but which I desired to deserve for an honest effort to leave Methodism in its spiritual godliness, as good or better than when its promotion was intrusted to me, as a junior preacher, in 1805.

Worn as the physical machinery of life is, I am, under medical advice, going through a gentle course of alterative and restorative medicines, with many hopeful signs of as much recovery as one of my age could possibly look for. From want of more mixing up with the benefits and blessings of labor and converse, I become gloomy, and tempted, and feel sometimes as if the only pillar left to me, in the temple of my experience is, "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation."—This morning, while the family were at prayer in another room, I read my morning lessons; and read with intense sympathetic interest the 42d Psalm—to which I refer my brethren, as containing and setting forth the status of my present experience. I want you all to pray for me, that I may fight the good fight of faith. God's blessings be upon you all, my dear fellow laborers in Christ!

L. PIERCE.

Sunshine, January 30th, 1874.

The Baptist pastors of New York recently held a conference at which a Baptist substitute for infant baptism was not only discussed but suggested after a talk about the duty of Baptist pastors to young children. They are frequently called upon, said one minister, to baptise infants, sick or dying, by sprinkling; but holding only to believers' baptism, and that by immersion, they must inevitably refuse. This refusal sometimes causes grief to the parents, who have a sort of superstitious belief that the baptism of their children under such circumstances does the little ones good. Brother Spellman wanted the advice of his brethren whether it would be proper for him in such cases to take the children in his arms as the Saviour did and to bless them in the name of the Lord. Mr. Miller and Mr. Browner and others do respond to calls in this way. Mr. Browner cited a case where recently he was called to sprinkle a child who was dying. The family were Presbyterians, but their own pastor was absent from the city, and another, to whom they applied, refused to baptize the dying child unless the parents withdrew their letters from their own and united with this pastor's church. This they refused to do Mr. Browner took the babe in his arms and asked God's blessing upon it, and the result has been that the parents and the other children have since joined his church and Sabbath school. Dr Banvard mentioned a case where he also was requested once to sprinkle a babe over the dead body of its father. He refused. Mr. McArthur remarked that it is not so much the sprinkling of their children that parents seek as something to be done which shall satisfy their own scruples and the child be constructively benefited. He therefore has made it a regular practice to take the children in his arms and pray for them and over them.—Ex.

Religious Brevities.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, North, during the past year, is said to have gained in money $4, 000,000, and in membership 5,000.

£5,000 have been promised to the Bishop of Durham towards his expenses in any proceedings he may take against the Ritualists.

Rev. Richard Jones, a highly esteemed local preacher of the M. E. Church, South, died in Christian triumph in New Orleans, Jan. 29.

A Western exchange says: Rev. Seth A. Clark, a Baptist missionary in the western part of Kansas, has a portable church tent capable of seating seven hundred persons. He has two good mules, and a wagon on springs, furnished expressly for the transportation of his church from place to place.

The German papers state that the Pope's last Encyclical has given a powerful impulse to the spreading of Old Catholicism in Germany. This ought to discourage the Pope, notwithstanding his infallibility.

Bishop Smith of Kentuckey refuses to give Rev. William C. Butler, former rector of a Protestant Episcopal church in Louisville, a dimissory letter to the Diocese of Delaware, in consequence of his ritualistic tendency. If the ritualistic tendencies are wrong, by what rule does it appear that Bishop Cummins is wrong?

Rev Dr. Carlton, late senior Book Agent of the Methodist Book Concern in New York, has been elected City Treasurer for the City of Elizabeth, New Jersey.

Church Finances.

When we consider our church membership, the intelligence it possesses, the experience we have had, the vastness of the claims on us, as a denomination, the amounts we attempt to raise from year to year for the various enterprises of the church, it is a matter of much surprise that we have no regularly organized financial plan. I am aware that the question of finance is one attended with much difficulty, both in church and State; yet it occurs to me that there are brains enough in both to surmount the difficulties.—This article, however, will be confined principally to the want of proper support of the ministry. Having been a steward in the church for a number of years, and treasurer of our circuit,—thereby having all the settlements to make with the preachers,—I have, necessarily, given this question much anxious thought. My reflections have led me to conclude that many of our people have been improperly educated on this subject, in and out of the pale of the church. I say in and out, for sinners are equally interested with Christians in the support of the Gospel; enjoying alike its protection to life, liberty and property. Too many seem to say in their faces, and feel in their hearts, 'we have done a charitable act,' when they pay a part, for oftener than otherwise it is only a part of what they really owe toward the support of the ministry—toward the liquidation of a debt, they should regard as of higher dignity that any written contract with man—for in the one case they are discharging a debt to God, in the other a debt to man.

It is true that some have never been taught to feel, and really do not appreciate the obligation resting on them. This should be corrected by the preaching of at least one sermon to every congregation at some time during the Conference year, on the christian duty of paying what we owe, first to God and then to man. Some have fallen into the miserable, I had almost said contemptible habit of deferring the payment of this debt to the end of the year, thereby subjecting the pastor to much serious inconvenience and troublous anxiety, besides the heavy loss he must necessarily sustain, in being compelled to purchase his family supplies on a credit. The reasons for deferring payment are various. Some fear the preacher may die before the end of the Conference year, and they will not get value received. Others seem to want to save the interest on the money; and still others seem to just mortally hate to pay it, and defer the evil day as long as they can, sinfully indulging the hope of evading the payment altogether.—"I am not mad," "but speak forth the words of truth and soberness," when I exhort all such, in all christian kindness, to stop and reflect on this matter. For if there be truth in the word of God, this kind of religion is not worth the small pittance they pay: it will not stand the final test, in that great day, for which all other days were made. I know a man may give all he has, and yet be entirely destitute of the true principles of Christianity, and that giving to this, yea, to every benevolent enterprise, does not constitute religion; yet a religion that will exense a man from using the means with which God has blessed him, for the support of the gospel, will not avail when he comes at last to render up his final account.

While there are too many such characters, as I have described above, yet I am free to admit, that no little of the blame for deficiences attaches to us stewards. There are very few congregations but can be reached if approached aright. Let us, at all events, try to do our duty, and then if we fail the sin will not lie at our door. Let us use our best endeavors to collect all we can, early in the year, and impress upon the minds of our respective charges the importance of prompt responses to the urgent demand for at least quarterly payments of assessments; and my word for it, we will find much less trouble in defraying the expenses of our circuits, than by waiting until the end of the year; we will be enabled to relieve our preachers of much anxious care, many of whom are almost entirely dependent on their salaries for the support of their families.

This will doubtless be a hard year, hence we should work the harder, in order to success. May God help us!

ROANOKE.

Agassiz and Hugh Miller.

HUGH MILLER whose fame is world wide, was first brought to the notice of scientific men by Prof. Agassiz. At a meeting of the British Scientific Society, Miller, who was then a common day-laborer, approached Agassiz with a specimen of rock in his hand, and began to make certain inquiries concerning it. During the conversation that ensued, Agassiz discovered that this common day-laborer was possessed of a large fund of geological information, which he had acquired by personal investigations, induced solely by his innate love for the science. Agassiz was delighted at meeting him, and introduced Miller to the members of the Society, explaining the manner in which he had become acquainted with him. The friendship thus formed continued through their lives, and Agassiz wrote the introduction to Hugh Miller's first published work.—Selected.

The cross mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired.

Seed Thoughts.

— Second thoughts are the adopted children of experience.

— Like most garments, like most carpets, everything has a right side and a wrong side. You can take any joy, and by turning it around find troubles on the other side; or you may take the greatest trouble, and by turning it around find joys on the other side. The gloomiest mountain never cast a shadow on both sides at once, nor does the greatest of life's calamities.

— Let no one overload you with favors; you will find it an insufferable burden.

— He who murmurs at his lot is like one baring his feet to tread upon thorns.

— The true motives of our actions, like the reed pipes of an organ, are usually concealed; but the gilded and hollow pretext is pomposly placed in the front for show.—COTTON.

— Above all things, avoid laziness.—There is plenty to do in this world for every pair of hands placed on it, and we must so work that the world will be richer—better because of our having lived in it.

— Real merit of any kind cannot long be concealed; it will be discovered, and nothing can depreciate it but a man's exhibiting it himself. It may not always be rewarded as it ought, but it will always be known.

— Six things are requisite to create a "happy home." Integrity must be the architect, and tidiness the upholsterer. It must be warmed by affection, lighted up with cheerfulness, and industy must be the ventilator, renewing the atmosphere, and bringing in fresh salubrity day by day: while over all, as a protecting canopy and glory, nothing will suffice except the blessing of God.

— Wisdom and virtue make the poor rich, and the rich honorable.

— Mr. Beecher says, "the cheapest thing on earth is a mean man. A faithful dog dies and is missed, a good and stately horse dies and is missed; the emigration of the birds in Autumn is a source of sadness to us, but mean men die and few tears fall."

— To every man there are many, many dark hours—hours when he feels inclined to abandon his best enterprise; hours when his heart's clearest hopes appear delusive; hours when he feels himself unequal to the burden, when all his aspirations seem worthless. Let no one think that he alone has dark hours. They are the common lot of humanity. They are the touchstone to try whether we are current coin or not.

— We should give as we would receive, cheerfully, quickly, and without hesitation; for there is no grace in a benefit that sticks to the fingers.—SENECA.

State and Local Items.

We have received a copy of the HERALD, a new and sprightly paper just started at Oxford, N. C., Wm. Biggs, Esq., Editor and publisher. We wish this enterprise great success.

The State taxes for New Hanover county for the past year were about $100,000.

Messrs. A. G. Lee & McMackin advertise for sale two first-rate dump carts, with harness and a carriage, and double set of harness.

Wilmington proposes to have an extensive cotton factory. Four gentlemen have subscribed ten thousand dollars each, with the prospect of increasing the amount to one hundred thousand at an early date. Will Raleigh allow Wilmington to take the lead in such matters? We ought to have a cotton factory in this city.

The Directors of the Commercial Bank of Charlotte have chosen as President of the Bank, Maj. C. Dowd, of that city.

Col. S. L. Fremont informs Babington of the Cleveland Banner, that the C. C. Road will be completed to Shelby by August next.

The first meeting of the Trustees of the University of N. C. takes place at Raleigh, February 18th.

The Fayetteville Statesman says:

The old Scotch "hunting shirt," so seldom seen these times which is made of home spun and home manufactured cloth, cut as a long robe gathered in the back, but open before as a common frock coat and extending to the ankles, was worn at court last week by our old friend, the soldier of 1812, Sion Horne, Esq. "Uncle Sion" is bended over by the weight of many years, but walks with an activity which speaks well for so old a man. May his end be peaceful and happy!

APPOINTMENTS.—Gen. Cox, Chairman of the State Conservative Executive Committee, at the recommendation of the Conservative members of the General Assembly from the 9th Judicial District, has appointed the following gentlemen to compose a District Executive Committee: E. C. Grier, of Mecklenburg; P. B. Means, of Cabarrus; Jasper Stowe, of Gaston; J. C. Cobb, of Lincoln; G. W. Gidney, of Cleaveland; G. M. Whiteside, of Rutherford; J. K. Simpson, of Polk.

THE RALEIGH WAREHOUSE TRUST COMPANY.—The bill to incorporate the Raleigh Warehouse and Trust Company passed its third reading in the House on yesterday. It had previously passed the Senate. The incorporators are, D. G. Fowle, Len. H. Adams, J. G. McPheeters, Wm. H. Crow and A. T. Mial, and such other persons as may be hereafter associated with them. The capital stock is fixed at $50,000 and may be increased to $500,000. The shares are $50 each. The Company have authority to carry on a general warehouse, storage and commercial business, and may receive, on storage or deposit, all kinds of produce and merchandize, including coin, gold and silver for safe keeping or shipment, and may make advancements in money on the same, and may also advance money and supplies to farmers on growing crops, and receive and collect interest and commissions for storage, labor, &c. The bill is calculated, it is affirmed, to advance the material prosperity of this city in a commercial point of view.—DAILY NEWS, 12th inst.

From the Greensboro PATRIOT we get the following items:

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.—There was a change of schedule on the Salem road Monday, leaving Salem at 9:30 P. M., arriving here at 11:30 P. M., returning at 1:30 A. M., connecting with the night trains from Richmond, Raleigh and Charlotte.

SIAMESE TWINS.—A letter from Mount Airy informs us that the surgeons who secured the bodies bound themselves, under a heavy bond, not to unnecessarily mutilate the remains, nor to put them on public exhibition.

A letter from Jackson Hill township, Davidson Co., informs us that a twelve year old son of Mr. David Smith, is suffering from a case of hydrophobia caused by being bitten by a cat, in an effort to separate a pair while fighting.

At a recent meeting of the Real Estate and Loan Association of Wilmington, a committee was appointed to consider and report upon the policy of subscribing $10,000 to the proposed Cotton Factory to be put in operation there.

A number of robberies are exciting the Wilmington people.

A petition of ship-masters and others from Wilmington, asking an appropriation by Congress for the improvement of the mouth of the Cape Fear River, was recently presented to the U. S. Senate by Senator Merrimon.

There are 21 prisoners in the Mecklenburg jail—14 whites and 7 negroes. Five of the whites were consigned from Greensboro upon the burning of the jail at the latter place.

The financial report of the County Treasurer of Mecklenburg makes the following exhibit: receipts for the fiscal year, ending Jan. 9th, $56,722.00; disbursements, $52,374.86; balance in taensury, $4,347.14.

M. Bourgy, who is said to be possessed of good qualifications, takes charge of the musical department at Misses Nash and Miss Kollock's school in Hillsboro', N. C.

While Mr. Umsted Smith, who lives about 7 miles from Hillsboro', was walking in the woods during the recent sleet, a falling limb prostrated him upon the ground. He remained in a senseless condition until his friends alarmed by his continued absence, made search and found him.

The Hillsboro' RECORDER is informed that Alamance Superior Court will not begin until the second week of the Term. This is caused by the fact that Judge Tourgee is now holding a special term of the Superior Court in Wake county.

An Asheville girl of 14 years, has sued a young swain of 19, for breach of promise.

A sharper professing to be an agent of the New York Daily Graphic, has been humbugging the people of Monroe and Wadesboro'.

The Carolina Military Institute at Charlotte, has 90 students, and Horne & Graves, at Hillsboro', have seventy.

General News.

The Conservative victory in England is complete. The latest advices report such large Conservative gains as render it probable that Mr. Gladstone will resign the Premiership before the new Parliament assembles. The reaction against Mr. Gladstone's shuffling and half-hearted policy has been strong and thorough notwithstanding an indisputable increase of radical sentiment and growth of radical thought in England. It is now stated that Gladstone and his colleagues are contending over the question of resignation, and Disraeli is said to have already arranged his Ministry.

Edwin Booth, the great actor, has gone into voluntary bankruptcy.

Nine hundred communists are awaiting trial in Paris.

General Sickles, late Minister to Spain, has left the Spanish Capital and is coming home.

A newspaper published in Mexico says that sixteen murders instigated by the priests have been committed in Puebla within the last year.

The next meeting of the National Grange will be held at Charleston, S. C. The constitution and by laws of the order will be translated and printed in all languages.

John C. Henry, Chief Clerk in the Revenue office in Lynchburg, Va. has absconded with a large amount of money. He left $20.00 secreted in a drawer.

Bishop Doggett, who has just returned from California, saw a wheat field there seventeen miles long. When the owner plows he starts the plows on one furrow and goes all day, and when night comes stops and camps out, and plows back the next day.

A little girl in Connecticut, three years old fell down and broke one of her arms, and when it got well she fell and broke it again; after awhile she tumbled down stairs and broke both of her legs, and then, when they got well, she fell a third time and broke her other arm

Some philanthropic philosopher has thrown out the proposition that it would be a good thing to make of our gigantic Arctic Territory of Alaska a penal colony for the United States, the idea doubtless being suggested from that terrible penal colony of Russia in the windy desolation of Siberia.

The Galaxy for March will contain an interesting article by Rev. J. L. M. Curry, LL D., of Richmond, Va., on the Confederate States and their Constitution, in which certain points of advantage in the Confederate Constitution over our existing Federal Constitution are suggested.

A special from Cambridge to the Baltimore Sun says: Last Wednesday night, at Tobacco stick, Dorchester county, Md., Mary Travers, wife of Thomas Travers, colored, gave birth to female twins, something like the Siamese pair. They are united by a fleshy band from the lower part of the breast bone to the abdomen, and face to face. One was borne dead, the other lived a few minutes and had its arm around the dead one's neck. Dr. Benjamin has bought and preserved the bodies.

MURDER OF A CHILD.—A band of masked men broke into a house in Montgomery county, Kentucky, not long since where there was but a little boy, aged eight years. He attempted to escape and they shot him, inflicting wounds from which he died. A vigilance committee is talked of.

The Golden Age wickedly says: A Maine woman ate a gallon of oysters the other day for $100. She cleared $15, the funeral expenses amounting to $85

Washington News.

According to a recent decision of the Postmaster General, newspapers when endorsed with the name of the sender, or when the number of papers contained in a package is written outside, are not subjected to letter rates of postage. Under the old law, when anything whatever, other than the address of the party to whom the package was going was written on the cover of a newspaper, the whole package was charged as letter postage and the party receiving it had to pay the extra charge.

SOUTHERN MEMBERS OF CONGRESS.—The directory for the present Congress shows the following Confederate soldiers now in Congressional halls:

Major-Generals—Matt W Ransom, J B Gordon and P M B Young, Democrats.

Brigadier-Generals—Phillip Cook and Robert B Vance, Democrats, and L Alcorn, Republican.

Colonels—Hiram P Bell, James M Leach, Alfred M Waddell, DeWitt C Giddings, Rapier, Q Mills, Edward Crossland, L Q Lamar and William M Robbins, Democrats.

Lieutenant-Colonels—Morgan Rawls, James H Blount, John P Caldwell, Washington Whitthorne and John D C Atkins, Democrats.

Majors—Thomas Whitehead, Joseph H Sloss, Robert A Hatcher and Asa A Willie, Democrats, and Richard H Whitley, Republican.

Captains—Charles Pelham and Carle Hays, Republicans.

Privates—William G Hernden and William P McLean, Democrats.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the travelling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorised Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us nine will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters to the office should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post office order can be deducted from the account in hand. If money is sent otherwise than herein specified it will be at the sender's risk.

Gleanings.

The first Thursday in August is the day for the next election in North Carolina. Besides the county officers, including Superior Court Clerks, Registers of Deeds, Treasurers, Surveyors, Sheriffs, Coroners and five Commissioners, there will be an election on the same day for members of the General Assembly, Solicitors, Judges of the fourth, fifth, seventh and ninth Judical Districts, and for two Judges of the Supreme Court.

Suits have been instituted in the Superior Court of Wake county by August Belmont & Co., bankers of New York city as plaintiffs to compel the State Auditor to collect the special tax bonds for the payment of interest for the years 1870, 1871, 1872, 1873 and 1874, the 20th day of February being set by Judge Watts for hearing at chambers in this city, of the motion for peremptory Mandamus. Hon. Reverdy Johnson, Walter J. Buddand R. G. Badger, appear for plaintiffs. Should the State Court decide adversely to the plaintiffs, it is the intention of the counsel to carry the cause to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The Wilmington Journal of the 6th, says that two persons, Messrs Giles Sykes and W H Woods, met at Downings store, near Council hill in Bladen county. Both were under the influence of liquor, and a quarrel ensued in which Woods shot Sykes with a double barrel gun, killing him instantly. A few hours after, under the influence of remorse, Woods discharged the contents of the other barrel of the gun into his own body, causing instant death.

The late Mr. Thomas Baring left one year's salary to all clerks and servants in the employment of Baring Brothers, the gross sum to be paid amounting to upward of £30,000.

An exchange, whose editorial head is level, says that what the country specially needs at the present juncture is a good, hard, hot hatchet for faithless public servants of every sort and description.

Some deaths have taken place at Aurora, Illinois, from the trichine disease, occasioned by the eating of infected pork. Upon investigation it turns out that the animals were sick when they were killed, and ought never to have been used for food.

Says the Goldsboro Messenger of the 18th inst:

"A very sad accident occurred at Lassiter's mill, in Lenoir county, on Tuesday of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Isaah Thomas had occasion to visit the mill late in the evening, and were accompanied by their little three-year old girl. The mother seated the child for a moment to assist Mr. Thomas in arranging some matter about the mill, and while so engaged the little girl escaped her attention and fell into the mill pond. The current was very strong at the time and the little one was quickly sucked through the gate. All efforts to rescue it alive were fruitless, and not until the following morning was the corpse recovered.

Marriages.

Married, on the 11th of Feb., at the residence of the bride's mother, by W. P. Williams Esq., Mr. W. D. R. Rozzell of Catawba county, to Mrs. Lettie L. Potts, of Mecklenburg county, N. C.

Married at Apex, N. C., Feb. 10th, by Rev. W. H. Bobbitt, John W. Thompson and Sallie J. Ellington.

Married at the residence of the bride's father, near Manson Depot, Jan. 28th, 1874, by Rev. A. A. Boshamer, Mr. James H. Paschall and Miss Lucy A. Troisdale, all of Warren co., N. C.

Married at the residence of Mr. Thomas W. Nicholson, in Halifax, N. C., by Rev. R. O. Burton, on 27th of January, Mr. John Morehead Hobson of Marengo co., Alabama, to Miss Sallie Lee, daughter of Mr. L. W. and Martha E. Nicholson.

Married, Jan. 15th, 1874, by Rev. R. T. N. Stephenson, Rev. J. M Matthews and Miss S. M. Davis, all of Yadkin co., N. C.

By the same, Feb. 5th, Mr. R. R. Gallaway of Mt. Airy, and Miss Lucy A. Blackwell, of Yadkin co., N. C.

Married on the 12th inst., at the residence of Mrs. G. W. Nims, of Gaston, by Rev. V. A. Sharpe, Mr. Wade D. Rankin, to Mrs. E. W. Nims, formerly Miss White of York, S. C.

Married in Fairfield Hyde co. N. C. on 25th, Jan. 1874, by Rev. S. D. Peeler Mr. John C. Brown and Mrs. Clary W. Sadler.

Deaths.

Annie, daughter of Rev. N. H. D. and Mary J. Wilson, was born Sept 15th 1857 and died of consumption Feb. 6th 1874 at 3 A. M.

She was very earnest, cheerful and decided; which made her a general favorite at school and in all other circles where she was well known.

But for the failure of her health she would have graduated with distinction before she was sixteen. She was confined to her room most of last winter, but was better during spring and summer, and able to enjoy the pleasures of travel and home. After the 25th of last Dec. she grew gradually worse, until the master said "it is enough; come up higher."

She embraced religion under the ministry of Rev. R. A. Willis, about the middle of Nov. 1871, while at school at Warrenton. She was a decided and consistent Christian. During her last sickness she showed remarkable faith, patience, calmness and Christian heroism; and gave utterance to many expressions which declared her readiness for death and heaven.

On different occasions, in answer to the inquiries of her parents, Pastor and others she said that she felt no fear of death." That she trusted alone in Jesus who saved her then and would save her in heaven." She had that anthem hymn, "Just as I am—without one plea," &c.—suspended where she could see and enjoy reading it. While some friends were singing in the adjoining room she asked them to sing, "Father, I stretch my hand to thee," stating that it was being sung when she was converted. On seeing her mother weeping a few hours before she died, she said "Mother, do not grieve; it is the Lord's will and He does all things well."

She desired to die easily, not for her own sake, but that her mother, towards whom she was especially tender to the last, might not be distressed; and that her little brothers might have a pleasant view of death.

Her funeral was preached at 3 P. M. Feb. 8 h to one of the largest and most solemn congregations that ever assembled in the Methodist Church. She accomplished her work quickly, added her mite to the moral influences for good, and encouraged all to trust the faithfulness of God in Christ Jesus. May God sustain the bereaved family and reunite them all in heaven where sister Annie and twelve children with angels around the throne will give a joyous welcome to the saints and the dear parents when they shall succeed!

J. A. CUNNINGHAM.

Greensboro' Feb. 12th 1874.

Died, at the residence of her mother in this city, on the 4th inst., after several weeks illness, Mrs. Lizzie Smith, wife of Mr. Stephen O. Smith, and daughter of the late Tilman Wriston, aged 22 years.

Death seldom casts a deeper gloom over a community than it has over ours in this instance. The deceased has a large circle of relations and friends in Charlotte, all of whom seem to have loved her devotedly. Her mental and moral culture, added to her many good natural qualities, fitted her in an eminent degree to become a special favorite with her friends, and for great usefulness in society.

At an early age she became a member of Tryon Street Methodist Church, and until her death manifested the deepest interest in its well ire and success. For some time she performed the important duties of organist, and died a member of the choir. The Sabbath School was her favorite field of labor. Her constant attendance and her zeal in its management manifested her solemn conviction of its necessity, and the deepest concern for its success.

Her piety was sincere, and remarkable for one so young. At a time when she was said to be the most active member of Tryon Street Church, she was heard to say that she felt such unworthiness as to lead her to the altar to re-consecrate herself to God and His service.

One year ago she was married to Mr. Smith and a few happy months of married life have been closed by the cold hand of relentless death; and her husband, relations and friends are passing under the dismal cloud of sorrow and grief. She has left to the care of her family two sweet little infant sons, who are never to know the warmth of a mother's love.

We shall long miss her cheerful presence from the Sunday School and her sweet voice from the choir. But we would not call her back from the blissful bowers of the Eden above if we could. No, we would not have her to leave the joys of the redeemed to rejoin us in the rough journey of laborious, suffering human life; but we will try, by the assistance of Divine grace, to join her there.

Charlotte, Feb. 5th, P J CRENSHAW.

Died, in Wadesboro, N. C. Feb. 2, 1874, Mrs. Julia Benton Richardson, aged 50 years. She was attacked about ten weeks since with paralysis, from which she suffered till death released the prisoner. In all this time she never complained of her afflictions, save as a sufferer, but bore them with Christian meekness and patience. When first stricken she dreaded death, but through suffering she was made perfect and through grace expressed herself ready for death and a blissful immortality. She calmly gave directions in regard to her funeral, requesting a plain coffin,—no regular sermon—simply a few remarks at the house, with the burial services at the grave, and a short notice of her death.

It would be no fulsome praise to fill pages with her good qualities. All who knew her best will ascribe to her all purity and benevolence of soul. She was strict in her secular matters, as a Christian duty to herself and others; being diligent in business, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord. Her liberality abounded and was bestowed with a willing heart and a judicious hand to the church of her choice and to the poor.

Many of the preachers of the South Carolina Conference will read the announcement with sad hearts, while their minds recur to her pleasant home, where she so much delighted to lavish upon them the free hospitality of her large Christian heart. Her life and death is as precious ointment poured out, and may its fragrance spread to all her dear ones, and be cancelled to their spiritual good, "She has done what she could."

O. J. BRENT.

Southern Christian Advocate please copy.

On the 18th of September, 1873, Bro. William S. Gaskill, of Ocracoke, after a protracted illness of six months, laid down the cross to bear the crown, having served in the Army of the Lord for more than thirty years. His love for the church was not only manifested by giving to the ministers a welcome to his home, but in every suitable way, endeavoring to promote the interest of his Redeemer's kingdom. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. B. Dixon on Jan 25th 1874.

Resolutions of Respect.

At a regular communication of Mount Energy Lodge, No. 140, A, F.M., held on the 7th of February, A. D. 1874, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, Brother William R. Smith has been removed to the Spirit world, having displayed in his life the beauty and excellency of virtuous principles; and, although comparatively obscure in the world, yet having filled his humble station with such fidelity as to secure the respect of all; and whereas, we have unmistakable evidence of his sincere attachment to the Fraternity of which he was a faithful member. Therefore Resolved 1st, That in the death of brother Suit, the community has lost a worthy man, the church a faithful member and Masonry an extraordinarily zealous supporter.

Resolved 2nd. That while we humbly submit to the authority of our Supreme Master above, we also sorrow with the relatives of the deceased, not however, as those who sorrow without hope.

Resolved 3rd, That we will endeavor to imitate him in his virtuous conduct, in his love for the brethren and his unwavering devotion to the principles of morality and religion.

Resolved 4th, That in token of our respect we will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved 5th, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, and to the "Biblical Recorder" and RALEIGH CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

J. B. FLOYD,
W. N. HARRIS, } Com.
A. MORRIS,

S. W. USRY, Secretary.

Letters & Funds.

Marion Perry self 2.25. W G Elmore $2. Rev J A Cunniggim. W M Polson. Rev James Mahoney for Rev L Culbreth 1. Jenkins Smith 2. J M Fowler 2. Mrs C Butler 2. S K Hawley 2 self 1, other papers sent—Rev W J Black. J C Palmer 5.50. S B Parker. Rev B B Culbreth for J G Stanuton 2. Mrs F A Kittle 2. John M Honk. S H Smith. Rev D C Johnson. Rev J B Martin for M B Cole 2, yes, papers were sent. Rev R M Brown papers continued. Rev H F Wiley for Mrs H V Spruill 2 paper changed. R J Gibbs. A H Perery self 2. Geo T Jones for Mrs Mary Troy 2. Mrs Jeanette Thornburg 2. Rev A A Boshamer for Mrs W A Brumell 2. A S Webb 2. R F Reso 2. Briuly, Miles & Hardy 1 year and 10. Rev L L Hamlen for Mrs R C Odell 2. D M Rigler 2. R V Pierce. E Alden. J Lassiter self 2. Rev P A Strobel. Tom Wash Smith. W G Woods. Rev M L Wood. Dr Shaw for N J Stewart 2.50. A W Simpson paper changed. S M Pettengill & Co. J C Hester. Mrs B F Sledge self 2. Rev J F Smoot paper changed. Rev W H Call for W W Sherwood 2. C Gorham 2. N Wilson paper out the 10th.—Mrs M F McGregor self 2. El Alden. Rev Phillips paper sent. R W Edmundson all right. R S Webb papers continued. Rev W N Conoly, shall be glad to hear from you. C L Shinn self 2. Rev R O Burton. E A Toome, thank you for kind words. J T Morehead for Mrs Pryor Reynolds 2. Mrs L E Williams paper changed. Mrs L D Twitty self 2. Rev J N Anderson. Rev J J Carden for Rev W M Pugh 1. R R Gwyn. W H Bobbitt. Rev J R Trawick. Rev R T N Stephenson papers sent. Rev T Upchurch for Rev D Brown 1. Collier papers continued. Rev J S Ervin for Mrs M M Baxter 2. A D Lowermilk 2. J A Hartsell self 2. Rev A G Stacy. Rev J A McNeil self 2.40 Rev Ira F Wynne. the papers were sent. G W Bullard self 2. J S Worrell self 2. Mathew J Snipes 2. J T Mercer for M Speer 1.25. Rev John Sinns. Rev J T Hodson. Rev L J Holden. Rev F W Thomson. the money was received and properly credited. Rev W M Bovles for G M Baker 2. W M Stevens 2. Rev W C Wilson on subsc 5 orders L Bro 1.25. J D Brooks. B A Lawrence self 1.25. J M Mays. L E Kirkham for printing 3.52. Mrs J J Pickard self 1.25 Rev A A Boshamer for Mrs Blackwell 2. Rev J A Cunniggim Rev B A Gault paper changed. Mrs E W Alexander, self 2. Rev W A Cunningim for J E Bryan 2. Mrs A C Hauger self 2. Mrs M E Hauger 2. Rev S D Peeler for L Eastward 2. Mrs P Slade self 2. Mrs M H Jeffreys self 2. W C Troy for Miss Lelia Troy 2. Mrs N A Waddell self 2. Mrs M E Pearce self 2. Rev W M Reiky. S W Levy. Rochester & Smith. Rev J Wheeler paper sent. E B Clegg self 2. Rev V A Shaw. Rev W P Williams no. W Paylist. Rev C W King. J K Bally self 1. Mrs W J Jones. Rev Z Rush. J H Zealin & Co. W S Dosher.

Appointments.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
2ND ROUND—IN PART.

Tar River cir. at Plank Chapel, March 14-15
Robersville cir at Harpeboro, " 21 22
Cary cir. at Hollard's, " 28-29
Wilson cir at Mt. Pleasant, April 4-5
Granville cir. at Moore's " 11 12
Henderson cir at Henderson, " 18-19

W. H. BOBBITT, P E.
Cary, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
FIRST ROUND.

Yadkinville ct. at Yadkinville, Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Salisbury st. Feb. 7-8
Salisbury ct. at South River, " 14-15
Wilkes ct & Mt. Mts. at Wilkesboro, " 21-22
Mt. Airy st. Feb. 28 March 1
Surry ct. & Santaton Mis. at Cross Roads March 7-8
Alexander ct. at Taylorsville, " 14-15
Iredell ct. at Turnersburg, " 21-22

District Stewards will meet me in Olin on Wednesday, 11 o'clock, A. M., March 18. A full attendance is earnestly desired.

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Olin, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND.

Laurinburg, Caledonia, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Rockingham, Feb. 7-8
Pee Dee, " 14-15
Fayetteville, " 21-22
Fwharie, New Hope, Feb. 28 and March 1
Montgomery, March 7-8
Buckhorn, Barclaysville, " 14-15

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage, N. C.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.
FIRST ROUND.

Trinity & Carraway at T. College, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1.
South Guilford at Pleasant Garden " 7-8
Forsythe & Winston at Pine Grove, " 14-15
Madison at Bethesda, " 21-22
North Guilford at Friendship, " 28th and March 1.
Stokes at Antioch, " 7-8
Wentworth at Love's " 14-15
Davidson at Ebenezer, " 21-22

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT
1ST ROUND.

Pineville at Pineville, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Pleasant Grove at Pleasant Grove, Feb. 7-8
Concord sta. " 14-15
Albermarle and Stanley, Albermarle, " 21-22
Wadesboro st. Feb. 28 and March 1
Mt. Pleasant at Gold Hill March 7-8
Ansonville at Concord, " 14-15
Wadesboro and Lilesville, at Bethel " 21-22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT
1ST ROUND.

Person at Boxboro, Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Flat River at Mt. Bethel, Feb. 7-8
Leasburg at Leasburg, " 14-15
Alamance at Phillips Chapel, " 21-22
High Rock at Shiloh, Feb. 28 March 1
Yanceyville at Yanceyville, March 7-8
Deep River at Fair Promise, " 14-15
Pittsboro at Pittsboro, " 21-22

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt. Tirzah, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND—IN PART.

Wilmington, Front Street, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Clinton, Feb. 7-8
Keenansville at Keenansville, " 14-15
Smithville at Zion, " 21-22
Topsail at Prospect, Feb. 28th and Mar. 1st
Elizabeth at Bladen Springs, " 7-8
Bladen at Center, " 14-15
Onslow at Richlands, " 21-22
Cokesbury, " 28-29

I earnestly entreat every official member to be present at Quarterly Conferences. Let the Recording Steward bring his book.

W. S. BLACK, P. E.

SHELBY DISTRICT.
1ST ROUND.

Rock Spring ct. at Bethel, Jan. 31 Feb. 1
South Fork ct. at Zion, Feb. 7-8
Newton ct. at Newton, " 14-15
Happy Home ct. at Hickory st. " 21-22
Lenoir ct. at Bethany, Feb. 28 and March 1
Morganton at Morganton, " 7-8
Marion circuit & Upper Broad River Mis. at Marion, " 14-15
Double Shoals & South Mt. Mis. at Elliotts, " 21-22
Cherry Monnain ct. at Oak Grove, " 28-29
Rutherfordton ct. and Columbus Mis. at Rutherfton April 4-5

The District Stewards will meet at the District Parsonage in Shelby, Wednesday March 18th 1874. A full attendance is desired.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.
1st ROUND.

Wayne at Salem, Jan 31st and Feb. 1st.
Jones, Shady Grove, " 7-8
Lenoir, Newb'n ct. at Lenoir Institute, " 14-15
Mount Olive at Mount Olive, " 21-22
Neuse and Swift Creek at Jackson, Feb 28 & Mar. 1st
Goldsboro, " 7-8
Snow Hill. " 14-15
Wilson, " 21-22

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT
1ST ROUND.

Roanoke at Ebenezer Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Williamston at Williamston Feb. 7-8
Columbia at Scuppernong. " 14-15
Plymouth and Jamesville at Plymouth " 21-22
Bath at Bath, Feb 28 and March 1
Matamuskeet at Swan Quarter March 7-8
Washington and Greenville, at Washington, March 14-15
Tarboro' at Tarboro', " 21-22

The District Stewards will please meet at Taiboro' on Saturday, March 21st. They are the following: for Warrenton, Col. S. Davis. Warren. —Tarboro', J. W. Jones. Bath, Walter Clark. Mattamuskeet, T. W Jones. Washington and Greenville B W Brown. Williamston, R. A. Weatherby. Columbia, W. C. Puckett. Plymouth and Greenville, J. W. Latham.

WM. CLOSS, P. E.

The Markets.

Raleigh Market—Retail Prices Feb. 17, 1874.

CORRECTED WEEKLY.

COTTON	13 to 14
BACON—Baltimore smoked	10@11
" —unsmoked	9@10
" —strips	12 1-2@
" —shoulders	10@11
" —N. Hams	16@16
BUTTER—per lb	25@30
BEESWAX—per lb	25@30
BEEF—on hoof	10@15
COFFEE—per lb	24@25
CHEESE—per lb	20@30
COTTON YARN—per bale	1 75@10
CORN—perhushel	90@1 00
CHICKENS—per piece	20@25
EGGS—per dozen	15@20
FLOUR—per barrel	8 50@9
FODDER—per hundred lbs	1 50@
HAY—per hundred lbs	1 25@
HIDES—green, per lb	6@7
" —dry, per lb	12@18
HERRINGS, N. C.—per barrel	7 50@8 00
LEATHER—per lb	35@40
LARD—per pound	12@15
MOLASSES—per gallon	37@38
MEAL—per bushel	95@1 10
OATS—per bushel	75@
" —per 100 lbs	1 30@1 50
ONIONS—per bush	75@1 00
PEASE—stock	1 00@
" —white	1 40@1 50
POTATOES—Irish, per bushel	75@1 00
SUGAR—crushed	18@19
" —extra C	16@16
" —P. R	19@
" —common	12@13 1-2
SALT—per sack	2 75@3 00
TALLOW—per lb
VINEGAR—per gallon	40@ 60

New Advertisements.

DR. T. C. PESCUD. A. H. HAMMOND.

SMITH & HAMMOND,
WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Just received
100 Barrels Kerosene Oil.
10,000 lbs Pure White Lead in Oil.

Robert T. Gray,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Refers by permission to
Hon. R. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. J. G. Lash, Pres. First National Bank of Salem
John G. Williams, " State " " Raleigh
Rev. J. R. Bobbitt, Editor of Raleigh ADVOCATE.
Rev. A. W Mangum, Raleigh, N. C.

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BYBUYING Silver Tipped Shoes.
Feb 18-6m

FOR SALE.

A fine Carriage, two single Dump Carts, a set o Carriage Harness and Harness for the Carts. Sold together or separately. Apply early to

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN.
Feb 18-tf

Marion High School.

The exercises of the Marion High School for young ladies and girls are in progress, and will be continued until Nov. 30th, except one week in July. Tuition in English, Scientific and and Mathematic courses per term of 20 weeks, from $10 to $25. Ancient and Modern languages each $5. Music on Piano $20. per term Use of Instrument $3. Board $9 per month. For particulars apply to

S. R. TRAWICK, A. M Prin.
feb 18—3m.

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.
Sept 10-tf

P. F. PESCUD. P. F. PESCUD, JR

P. F. PESCUD & SON,
General Insurance Agents and Adjusters,
Tucker Hall, Raleigh, N. C.

Losses Promptly Adjusted and Paid. Combined Assets, $30,000,000.

General Agents for
THE NATIONAL LIFE INS. CO.,
U. S. A. which is the strongest STOCK LIFE INSCO. in America, and insures at lower rates than others.

Agents for the following Fire Insurance Companies:
HOME, New York: FRANKLIN, of Phila.: GEORGIA HOME, Columbus; LIVERPOOL, London & Globe; FARMAN'S FUND, Lynchburg; PEOPLE'S, of Va.; AMAZON, Cincinnati, CITY OF RICHMOND.

We have added several new companies to our list and are prepared to transact business anywhere in N. C. Applications for agencies as well as insurance, will receive prompt attention.

Feb 12—tf P. F. PESCUD & SON.

54 FAYETTEVILLE STREET,
RALEIGH, N. C.
D. S. WAITT
IS OFFERING
EXTRAORDINARY BARGAINS
IN
Ready Made Clothing, Dry Goods, and Piece Goods, which have been purchased FOR CASH AT
EXTREMELY LOW FIGURES.
HIS STOCK OF
BOOTS, SHOES, HATS AND CAPS
AND
GENT'S FURNISHING GOODS
IS COMPLETE.
Also a full line of
Trunks, Valises, Umbrellas, Notions, and Hosiery.
LOOK OUT FOR HIS SPRING STOCK.

Which will be on in a few days. Country Merchants, who buy for cash, will consult their interests by giving D. S. WAITT a call first. Remember the place

D. S. WAITT,
No 54 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Feb 11-4m,

Harper's Weekly.
SPLENDIDLY ILLUSTRATED.
Notices of the Press.

The Weekly is the oldest and most powerful illustrated periodical published in this country. Its editorials are scholarly and convincing, and carry much weight. Its illustrations of current events are full and fresh, and are prepared by our best designers. With a circulation of 150,000, the Weekly is read by at least half a million persons, and its influence as an organ of opinion is simply tremendous. The Weekly maintains a positive position, and expresses decided views on political and social problems.—Louisville Courier Journal.

SUBSCPIPTIONS. 1874.
Terms:

HARPER'S WEEKLY, one year.....$4 00
$4 00 includes prepayment of U. S. postage by the publishers.

Subscriptions to HARPER'S MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, and BAZAR, to one address for one year, $10 00; or, two of Harper's Periodicals, to one address for one year, $7 00; postage payable by the subscriber at the office where received.

An Extra Copy of either the MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, or BAZAR, will be supplied gratis for every Club of Five Subscribers at $4 00 each, in one remittance; or, Six Copies for $20 00, without extra copy; postage payable by the subscribers at the offices where received.

Back Numbers can be supplied at any time.

The Annual Volumes of HARPER'S WEEKLY, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by express, free of expense, for $7 00 each. A complete Set, comprising Seventeen Volumes, sent on receipt of cash at the rate of $5 25 per vol, freight at expense of purchaser.

The postage on HARPER'S WEEKLY is 20 cents a year, which must be paid at the subscriber's post-office Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York

ODELL, RAGAN & CO.,
Wholesale Dealers in General Merchandise,
GREENSBORO', N. C.

We call the attention of the merchants of North Carolina to the fact that we have opened our large wholesale house, and that we are prepared to sell them goods, as cheap as they can buy in any market. We are the agents for Cedar Falls, Deep River, Sandtown and Alamance Manufacturing Co's. Sheeting, Yarns, Plaids and Seamless Bags. Parties ordering these goods will get them as cheap from us as if they order directly from the factory. We also sell Salem Jeans at factory prices. Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed

Feb 4—12m.

WE WANT 1,000 FIRST-CLASS BOOK AGENTS
at once, to sell two of the most popular works ever published:

U. S. BONDS a record of prison life at Fort Delaware, by Rev. J. W. K. Handy.
AND
MARSHALL'S LIFE OF Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Send for Circular at once.

TURNBULL BROTHERS,
Baltimore, Md.
Jan 28-2m

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND WRINGER!
The Latest, Best and Cheapest Washer made!

That Steam Washer are the best kind is generally conceded. That the PEERLESS is best of its kind will be readily admitted as soon as it is seen and tested.

It causes all the water to flow up through pipes and start down through the clothes.

The water has not to go to the centre or either end of the boiler to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and hence washes all parts of the clothing alike.

It pours the water in sixteen streams, on all parts of the surface of the clothes.

The water rises through the clothes many times per minute, and cleans them in 15 to 30 minutes!—with this machine a lady with clothes, may do the washing of her family in a very short time, with very little work, without stops, without rubbing, or damage to the finest, such soap, water and quiet that her husband would hardly know when washday comes!

The cost of the machine soon saved in difference in wear. Even wood is also found to labor required.

A bed quilt or lace collar—the finest or coarsest fabric—a single piece or full wash, washed with equal ease.

The machine can be used for any stove boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sells for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

All these indicates it is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using go with each machine. They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 9)	$8 00
For " alone	5 00
For washer and boiler 30 inches long	9 50
For " alone	6 00

Sent anywhere per express on receipt of price by J. A JONES, Proprietor, Raleigh, N. C.

ALF. A. THOMPSON. JOEL D. WHITAKER.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE.

Thompson & Whitaker,
Wholesale Grocers and
Commission Merchants
Have now in store

One car load Sugar-House Syrup.
One car load Marshall's Liverpool Salt.
Ten sacks Rio Coffee.
Ten barrels Sugar, all grades.
Five thousand pounds Bulk Clear Rib Sides.
One tierce best Carolina Rice.
Twenty boxes assorted Candy.
One hundred bushels Corn.
Twenty barrels N. C Flour, warranted family.
Thirty-five cases Boots and Shoes.

All of which will be sold at the lowest market rates and guaranteed to be as represented.

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.
Feb 4-12m.

EPILEPSY OR FITS.
A safe, certain and permanent cure can be had for this distressing disease by the use of Rose' Epileptic Remedies. No charge made for treatment or medicines unless a permanent cure is effected. Circulars, terms, etc., sent to all applicants. Address, ROSE BROS., 251 East Fourth, Richmond, Indiana.
feb 4—4w

W. F. KORNEGAY,
Goldsboro', N. C.
Wholesale and Retail Dealer
FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE,
COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.
Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.
FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them. Jan 28-tf

OFFICE OF
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

We desire to call the attention of dealers to the celebrated
BOLLES COTTON HOE,
manufactured expressly for us by
The L. Bolles Hoe & Tool Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

These Hoes are made of the finest quality of steel, by skilled labor. They are not made of ROLLED STEEL, but plated under the hammer, are highly polished and are noted for beauty and durability; in short, they are as near perfect as they can be made. The shank is an improvement on the old style, being solid and neatly shaped. The blade is peculiar in form, and the handles made from fine white timber.

Every Hoe is warranted perfect in stock, temper, finish and durability. We earnestly request those about making purchases for the coming season to examine them.

Sold only in North Carolina by
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.
OR THEIR AGENTS.

Ask for the Bolles Cotton Hoe, and see that the name is stamped on the blade.

NOTE.—We sold in 1873—596 Dozen of these Hoes. In each and every instance they gave entire satisfaction. We assert that the Bolles Hoe is the very best ever manufactured.

WE ARE USING Swedes Iron
and the Finest English Steel!
The best brands of American and Swedes Iron and English extra refined Cast Steel.
USED IN THE MANUFACTURE OF
AXES AND EDGE TOOLS.

We offer the VERY BEST AXE that can be manufactured by skilled workmen and very superior materials and trust that we will receive the support of the trade.

ORDERS FILLED IMMEDIATELY.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.
Sole Agents, Raleigh, N. C.

TRINITY COLLEGE.
The Spring Session will commence
JANUARY 17TH, 1873.

Students may take a select, or the full course at their own option. There are eleven schools in the Institution, viz: Latin, Greek, Mathematics, English Literature, Natural Science, Modern Languages, Metaphysics, Engineering and Analytical Chemistry, Commercial, Law and Divinity.

Entire expenses for five months, for tuition, board, washing and fuel $90 to $100.

B. CRAVEN.
Jan. 7 3m.

Cutler's Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iron a Balant.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption if taken in season. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. All Druggists have it for sale, nearly put up with Inhalant enough for two months' use. Price $2.00. Free by mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular.

W. H. SMITH & Co., Proprs.
Buffalo, N. Y.
Jan 28-3m

W. M. JONES,
CAREY, N. C.
Contractor, House Builder,

Manufacturer and dealer in dressed Lumber, Sashes, Blinds, Doors, and all other kinds of Building Material.
feb 4-tf

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE.
LENOIR, N. C.

The Spring session for 1874 will open on Monday, Jan. 12th.
Board and Tuition per session, with music, vocal and instrumental, $110 00
Traveling preachers' daughters, tuition free.
Board and Tuition always in advance.
Send for a catalogue. Address,
REV. W. M. ROBEY, Pres.
nov 19-3mes.

PIANOS, PIANOS,

ORGANS. ORGANS.

Nat L. Brown,
DEALER IN
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Agent for HORACE WATERS & SON'S celebrated CONCERTO and ORCHESTRAL ORGANS and PIANOS.

ALSO DEALER IN Children's Carriages,
Fancy Goods,
Toys,
Baskets,
&c., &c.

BIRDS AND BIRD CAGES.
Confectionaries,
Fruits, Nuts,
Fresh Crackers
and Cakes.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to give me a call. Prices suitable to the times.

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

Illustrated Catalogue of Pianos and Organs mailed.
jan 14—tf

BUY AND USE
Game Cock White Lead.

We offer this justly celebrated White Lead knowing it to be the best in the market.

Using large quantities and having Practical Painters in our employ all the time, we profess to be judges of White Lead, and advise all who contemplate painting to use this Lead and no other.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

THOS. H. BRIGGS & SONS,
Sole Agents for Raleigh and
DEALERS IN
Hardware, Cutlery, Wagon and Buggy Materials,
Oils, Glass and Colors.
Jan 28-tf.

NEW GOODS FOR FALL AND WINTER
1873.
AT
ALEX. CREECH'S.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TRADE, CONSUMERS OF DRY GOODS, &c.

MARBLE HALL
AND
TEMPLE OF FANY.
FAYETTEVILLE STREET,
RALEIGH, N. C.

I take pleasure in announcing that my business has so largely increased and the demand is so great that it has constrained me to lay in

A MUCH LARGER AND MORE ATTRACTIVE STOCK THAN HERETOFORE.

My Goods are bought with every available advantage and doing business at a very small per centage I am able to offer INDUCEMENTS IN PRICES the are rarely equalled. My

DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT

was never more complete, embracing all new Fabrics and every new Shade, from the most delicate to the most brilliant. Call and examine my

BLACK SILKS,
JAPANESE SILKS,
IRISH POPLINS,
CASHMERES,
SATEENS,
ALPACAS, &c.

And a very large variety of Low Priced Dress Goods. My stock of Cassimeres, Piece Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes is extraordinarily large and complete and you would be doing yourselves injustice if you were not to examine it before purchasing elsewhere

THE SECOND AND THIRD FLOORS are almost exclusively devoted to

WHOLESALING,

both being filled to their utmost capacity with

GOODS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

to supply the Trade, and Country Merchants would find it to their interest to my stock a thorough examination before making their purchases, as I think I can offer rare bargains and special inducements. With

A CORPS OF EXPERIENCED SALESMEN, ever ready to assist, I can sell, do sell, and will continue to sell on

CHEAP AS THE CHEAPEST.

No house in Raleigh can or shall undersell me, it matters not whether the goods are purchased in Europe or the United States, and for these important reasons:

1st. I am alone, and have no two or three partners to divide my profits with.

2nd. I have leased my store house at a mere nominal cost.

3d. I believe in the great principle of LIVE AND LET LIVE—QUICK SALES and SMALL PROFITS.

4th. I have large experience, buy at the lowest prices in first, and with the best facilities

Youth's Department.

Waiting.

I have two little angels waiting for me
On the beautiful banks of the crystal sea;
Not impatiently wait my darlings there,
For smiles light up their brown as hair;
And their little harps ring out so clear,
So soothingly sweet to faith's listening ear,
And they live in the smile of the Saviour's love,
Who so early called my darlings above.

I have two little angels waiting for me
On the beautiful banks of the crystal sea;
Forever free from sorrow and pain,
Spotless and pure from all earthly stain;
Never in erring paths to rove—
Safe in the bosom of infinite love.
Evermore, evermore walking in light,
Those beautiful angels robed in white.

I have two little angels waiting for me
On the beautiful banks of the crystal sea;
When my weary heart is throbbing with pain,
And I fain would clasp my darlings again,
I look away from this earthly strand
To the beautiful fields of the "Better Land,"
I will think of the angels waiting there,
And offer to God a thankful prayer.

I have two little angels to welcome me
When I too shall stand by that crystal sea;
When the Great Refiner His image may trace
In the heart He has won by His saving grace,
And in robes of Christ's own righteousness dressed,
My soul shall seek the home of the blest—
On the beautiful banks of the crystal sea
My darlings, still waiting, shall welcome me.

Packing Up for Heaven.

A little child was playing with its mother, and they were talking of Heaven. The mother had been telling the child of the joy and glories of that happy world, the beauty and glory of the angels with their shining wings, the streets of gold, the gates of pearl, the golden crowns, and the harps and the white robes, and the songs of redemption. There is no sickness there, no pain, no death, nor sorrow, no sighing, for God shall wipe away all tears from every eye, and there is no sin, that makes all the grief and trouble here, but perfect holiness. All will be holy, just as the Lord Jesus is holy, all will be perfectly happy in Him. All good children will be there; and He himself has said, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of Heaven." O, what a happy world! There shall we see God, and love Him, and rejoice in Him, and God himself will be with us, and be our God.

"There we shall see his face,
And never, never sin,
And from the river of His grace,
Drink endless pleasures in."

O, what a happy world! And how happy shall we be when we once get there!

"O, dear mother," said the little girl, jumping up at the thought of such a bright happy place, and such happy company. "Let us all go now, let us start now! I long to be there. Let us go right away to night."

"O, but we can't get ready to-night we must wait a little; and besides God is not ready for us to come yet; but when we must come He will let us know."

"But why can't we get ready now? O, I should like to go now, right up to heaven. Dear mother, let us go to-morrow."

"But, my dear child, we are not ready yet, and we must wait God's time, and when He is ready, He will send for us."

"Well, dear mother, let us begin to pack up now, at any rate."

This dear little child's eagerness to go to heaven now, was a very instructive commentary upon our unwillingness, our desire to stay longer upon earth. The little child had faith, undoubting faith, in all that the mother had said, about heaven, and if we had the same faith in what God has said about heaven, and in all promises to those that believe, we should be just as eager to depart. We should long to set out upon the journey now! And at any rate, knowing that God might call us at any moment, knowing that we should begin to pack up at once, we should lose no time in getting ready.

An Old Problem.

"Mother," said little Herbert, "our teacher has given us a test question for our review in arithmetic. He said it was original with Sir Isaac Newton, and in his day it was considered quite a puzzle. I hope I can solve it myself, for the question is such an old one. Here it is, do you think I can, mother?"

"There is considerable study in this for a boy of your age; but with patience, I think you can answer it. But, my son, I know a problem that is more than eighteen hundred years old, and given by a more famous person than Sir Isaac Newton."

"O, mamma, please tell it to me, and perhaps I can solve it."

"I will tell you, and you can think about it, my son. When Christ was in the far off country of Palestine, he gave us all a problem in profit and loss, and also in barter. It is this:

"What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul? or what shall he give in exchange for his soul?"

"Think about it, my son."

Now to all our little readers, we say as did Herbert's mother—

"Think about it, little boys and girls."—Child's Paper.

Crooked Habits.

While shaking hands with an old man, the other day, we noticed that some of his fingers were quite bent inward, and he had not the power of straightening them. Alluding to this fact, he said, "In these crooked fingers there is a good text for a talk to children.

For over fifty years I used to drive a stage, and these bent fingers show the effects of holding the reins for so many years."

This is the text. Is it not a suggestive one? Does it not teach us how oft-repeated acts become a habit, and once acquired it remains generally through life?

The old man's crooked fingers, dear children, are but an emblem of the crooked tempers, words, and actions, of men and women.

Stealing Dr. Guthrie's Sermons.

The Doctor told us two interesting stories in connection with one of his published sermons, which I will give as nearly as I can in his own words: "Some years ago I was advertised to preach for Dr. Cooke, of Belfast, on a particular Sabbath. Before I left home I received a letter from an Irish minister, asking me, as a great favor, that I would not take for my text on that occasion, 'Behold, I stand at the door and knock;' and then went on to say, 'I'm ashamed to give you my reason for this; but, being in Edinburgh one day, I heard you preach from that text. On my return home I was very much pressed for time, and I thought I might use your discourse, with as much of your language as I could remember; and it succeeded so well, and was so highly prized by my people, that I gave it in Dr. Cooke's church, with similar results.' But this was not all; for the letter went on to say, 'And I have yet another favor to ask of you, my dear Sir—that you will not preach from another text (naming it,) and I will give you my reasons for making this further request: One day, when I was again late in preparation for my pulpit, a student came in to see me, to whom I told how I was circumstanced. 'Oh!' says he, 'I was in Edinburgh last Sunday, and heard Guthrie preach. I took notes of the sermon. Will they be of any use to you?' Well, Sir, I took them and preached them, and again, as in the other case, repeated them to Dr. Cooke's congregation.' 'Of course,' said the Doctor, 'I took a different text from either of these two; and after sermon a gentleman came up, and, grasping my hand, said kindly, 'Thank you, Sir, for obliging me, and keeping off the two texts as I requested.' 'Ah!' says I, 'my good friend, is this you?' Well, it was very easy for me to oblige you.' But I have still another story to tell you about that very text. There was a vacant charge in one of our country districts, to which probationers were appointed to preach as candidates.—Well, Sir, the first came and gave out that text, and preached from it in as many of my words as he could remember. The next Sabbath the second did the same; but the third Sabbath the elders had got wisdom, and so they asked the preacher if he would kindly tell them his text. 'With the greatest pleasure, gentlemen,' he answered. 'It is, Behold, I stand at the door and knock.' 'Well, then, said the elders, 'as we have heard that sermon these two last Sundays, you will perhaps oblige us by something fresh.'"—Sunday at Home.

Rural and Domestic.

Work for the Month.

Ploughing is the principal work during this month. Not a day, not even an hour should be lost when the soil is in a proper state for tillage. Have the work done thoroughly, and on heavy soil let the subsoil lifter follow the plough. Be sure to secure ample drainage as soon as the soil is ploughed, or herwise it will be heavy with water, and on clay soil and bottom lands, bake.

At the latter part of the month some corn should be planted on warm soil, not exposed to nightfrosts. Do not plant too deep, and cover with well pulverized soil. If this planting escapes frost, it will make the heaviest and most corn.

For cotton, prepare the beds, as it is desirable to plant part of the crop in the beginning of next month. Prepare the land as for corn. Where corn has preceded the coming cotton, the stalks should be ploughed under and any such manure as can be procured.—We advise to broadcast all barn-yard manure. More than a quarter of a century's experience has taught us that it is by far the best and most profitable mode to apply animal manure. If, in addition, some concentrated manure is used in the drill or hill it is beneficial, as it will receive a quicker growth of the plant. The main point is always to forward the growth of the young plant and bring it out ahead of the weeds.

Whenever the condition of the soil permits cane should be planted, and care taken that, after planting, the drainage is perfect. Early planting of this crop is more essential than with others. It lengthens the season for good weather, gives a larger yield, and diminishes the danger of frost, as it can be cut earlier.

Make lazy beds for sweet potato slips. As some of our readers may not be conversant with this proceeding, we will describe it. Make a layer of fresh horse manure, and place on top about two inches of fine soil. Then place a layer of sweet potatoes, one potato placed by the side of another, and so on until the whole is covered. Then cover with a thin layer of soil. On top of this again a layer of manure, and then a layer of soil and another layer of potatoes. Thus three layers, on top of each other, may be placed, and the last covered with about two inches of dirt. The bed should be shielded against frost.

Those that have not done so yet, may, at the beginning of this month, plant Irish Potatoes.

Do not make the rows closer than 2½ feet, and plant the potatoes 10 to 12 inches apart in the drill. Have the soil rich, well pulverized and drained.

Rice land should be prepared at the latter end of the month, to be ready for seeding next month. The advantage in preparing beforehand is that the exposure to the atmosphere pulverizes the soil, and should any weeds appear, they are easily removed by harrowing.

Those who have neglected to sow oats may do so yet, although success, under these circumstances, will depend more on the season—as if they had been sown last month, or in the fall. Also grass seeds may be sown in this month, but the result will be more doubtful than if it had been done in the fall. Southern Cultivator.

WARM OR COLD SLEEPING ROOMS.—Mrs Dr. Ward, of Philadelphia, takes issue with Dr. Hall, where he says that it is unwholesome and dangerous to health to sleep in cold rooms. Mrs. Dr. Ward gives the following personal experience to contradict and disprove Dr. Hall's theory. She says: 'Fifteen years I had profuse hemorrhages from the lungs; was kept in a warm room by wise parents; had fifty of the best doctors in the land—all said I must die. Mary S. Gove M. H. came to my rescue, ordered me to bathe in cold water morning and evening, sleep in a large room with three windows open eight or ten inches at night. In one year I was perfectly well. I have always adopted that course with all my patients for forty years and never lost one, and to-day believe myself the most healthy woman in all the City or Brotherly love, and am proud to state the fact. Hot rooms make work for physicians.'

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Symptoms of Catarrh.

Obstruction of nasal passages, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, acrid, or thick and tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid, offensive. In others a dryness, weak or inflamed eyes, ringing in ears, deafness, ulceration, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired smell and taste, etc. Few only of above symptoms likely to be present at a time or same time.

To cure—take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery earnestly, to correct the blood and system, which are always at fault also to act specifically, as it does, upon the diseased glands and lining membrane of the nose and its communicating chambers. The more use of this odious disease, in more positive is my belief that if we would ask treatment perfectly successful in curing it, we must use constitutional remedies which reach deep-seated and specific cases, rational and scientific principles in its cure, nothing said healing properties, to which catarrhal diseases generally yield, when the system has been put in perfect order by the use of the Golden Medical Discovery. Tests is the only perfectly safe, scientific and successful mode of acting upon and healing it.

So successful has the above course of treatment proved that the proprietor offers $500 reward for a case he can not cure. All the means used by Druggists.

R. V. Pierce, M. D., Proprietor, Buffalo, N. Y.
Feb 18 1w

For the rich with few children it may do to buy a shoe without lips, but those who are blessed with little money and many children it is ruinous to buy any others than SILVER TIPPED Shoes
Feb 18-3w

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely safe. Perfectly odorless. Always uniform. Illuminating qualities superior to gas. Burns in any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to displace the use of volatile and dangerous oils. Its safety under every possible test, and its perfect burning qualities, are secured by its continued use in over 300,000 families.

Millions of gallons have been sold and no accidents directly or indirectly—has ever occurred from burning, storing or handling it.

The insurance yearly loss to life and property, resulting from the use of cheap and dangerous oils in the United States, is appalling.

The Insurance Companies and Fire Commissioners throughout the country recommend the ASTRAL as the best safeguard when lamps are used. Send for circular.

CHAS. PRATT & CO., 108 Fulton Street, New York, proprietor.

Sold by Julius Lewis & Co., Raleigh—Author and Agents.
Aug 27 6m.

Children often look Pale and Sick

on no other cause than having worms in the stomach. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS will destroy Worms without injury to the child, being perfectly WHITE, and free from all coloring or other injurious ingredients usually used in worm preparations.

CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors,
No. 215 Fulton Street, New York.
Sold by Druggists and others, and dealers in Medicine. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS a Box.
J ul;9 1w

THIRTY YEARS

Since the introduction of

Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER.

After thirty years trial, the "Pain-Killer" may be justly styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no region of the globe into which it has not found its way, and none where it has not been largely used and highly prized. Moreover, there is no climate in which it has not proved itself to be well adapted for the cure of a considerable variety of diseases; it is admirably suited for every race. It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but it continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest; and is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all climates and changes of water and food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy In MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA,

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA.

Price, $1 00. Sold by all Druggists,
Feb 18-12m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND,

A Consumptive Cured.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Canadian Indica. He now gives his recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There's not a single symptom of consumption that it does not discipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult spectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Insertion of the Hands, and Weakness of the Limbs. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia Pa., giving name of this paper.
Nov. 26-6m.

The King of Sunday School Books,

"PURE DIAMONDS."

By JAMES R. MURRAY. Assisted by Gen. F. Root, H. R. Palmer, P. P. Bliss, J. M. Kieffer and a host of other popular writers of Sunday School Music.

No such genuine success ever known in the history of similar books. Over 100,000 Copies have been sold in three months, and the demand is increasing daily. Price in boards 35 cts. single; $3 60 per doz.; $26 per hundred. Specimen copy in paper covers 25 cts.

S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Cleveland, O.

Sent free to any address Brainard's New Descriptive Catalogue of Selected Popular Music. A selected list of choice music, containing full description of thousands of beautiful pieces of music. This new catalogue is invaluable to all musicians. Sent free to any address. S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Publishers, Cleveland, O.
Aug. 17-12m.

EMERSON'S

Singing School.

Price 75 cts., or $7.50 Per doz.,

IS A COMPLETE, CHEAP, AND USEFUL BOOK FOR SINGING SCHOOLS.

Now is the time to use it, as it has all the material to make the Winter Singing School attractive and useful in the highest degree. By

L. O. Emerson.

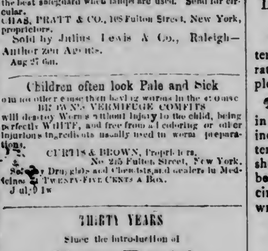
System for Beginners
ON THE
PIANOFORTE.
BY MASON & HOADLEY.

One cannot help liking this thorough, systematic method, the work of men eminent in their profession, and who have the important qualification of being experienced teachers.

Remember that the first months of instruction are, if there is any distinction, the important ones. That is the time to lay a good foundation. "A work well begun is already half done." Price $2.00.

All books sent, postpaid, on receipt of retail price.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.
Boston. 711 Broadway, N. York.
May 14 12m.

ADVERTISEMENTS.



THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This universal Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of MERCURY, or any injurious mineral substance, but is containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

PURELY VEGETABLE.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

Is eminently a Family Medicine, and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all climates and changes of water and food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy In MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA,

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA.

Price, $1 00. Sold by all Druggists,
Feb 18-12m

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely safe. Perfectly odorless. Always uniform. Illuminating qualities superior to gas. Burns in any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to displace the use of volatile and dangerous oils. Its safety under every possible test, and its perfect burning qualities, are secured by its continued use in over 300,000 families.

Millions of gallons have been sold and no accidents directly or indirectly—has ever occurred from burning, storing or handling it.

The insurance yearly loss to life and property, resulting from the use of cheap and dangerous oils in the United States, is appalling.

The Insurance Companies and Fire Commissioners throughout the country recommend the ASTRAL as the best safeguard when lamps are used. Send for circular.

CHAS. PRATT & CO., 108 Fulton Street, New York, proprietor.

Sold by Julius Lewis & Co., Raleigh—Author and Agents.
Aug 27 6m.

Children often look Pale and Sick

on no other cause than having worms in the stomach. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS will destroy Worms without injury to the child, being perfectly WHITE, and free from all coloring or other injurious ingredients usually used in worm preparations.

CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors,
No. 215 Fulton Street, New York.
Sold by Druggists and others, and dealers in Medicine. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS a Box.
J ul;9 1w

THIRTY YEARS

Since the introduction of

Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER.

After thirty years trial, the "Pain-Killer" may be justly styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no region of the globe into which it has not found its way, and none where it has not been largely used and highly prized. Moreover, there is no climate in which it has not proved itself to be well adapted for the cure of a considerable variety of diseases; it is admirably suited for every race. It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but it continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest; and is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all climates and changes of water and food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy In MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA,

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA.

Price, $1 00. Sold by all Druggists,
Feb 18-12m

DR. M'LANE'S
Celebrated American
WORM SPECIFIC,
or
VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eyelid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE
Will certainly effect a cure.

The universal success which has attended the administration of this preparation has been such as to warrant us in pledging ourselves to the public to

RETURN THE MONEY

in every instance where it should prove ineffectual: "providing the symptoms attending the sickness of the child or adult should warrant the supposition of worms being the cause." In all cases the Medicine to be given IN STRICT ACCORDANCE WITH THE DIRECTIONS.

We pledge ourselves to the public, that

Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge
DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY

in any form; and that it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

Address all orders to
FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P.S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders distinctly, and take none but Dr. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post-paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

☞ For sale by Druggists, and Country Storekeepers generally.

FURNITURE.
W. H. Morris & Co.,
No. 3 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Chamber Suits, Cottage Chamber Suits, Parlor Sets, Dining Room Sets, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Wash-stands, Wardrobes, Tables, Chairs, Sofas, Lounges, Spring Beds, of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Marble top centre tables &c.

ALSO

keep constantly on hand and make to order all kinds of Mattresses, such as pure Curled Hair, Cotton and Shuck, Excelsior and Shuck Mattresses. Old Hair Mattresses renovated and made as good as new.

No trouble to show goods. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.
Oct 29-6m. W. A. MORRIS & CO

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyesight.
RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by
Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight diness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Epiphora, Running or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated and scientific principles in its cold, soothing and healing properties, to which the diseases are readily yielded, when the system has been put in perfect order by the use of the Golden Medical Discovery. Tests is the only perfectly safe, scientific and successful mode of acting upon and healing it.

So successful has the above course of treatment proved that the proprietor offers $500 reward for a case he can not cure. All the means used by Druggists.

R. V. Pierce, M. D., Proprietor, Buffalo, N. Y.
Feb 18 1w

For the rich with few children it may do to buy a shoe without lips, but those who are blessed with little money and many children it is ruinous to buy any others than SILVER TIPPED Shoes
Feb 18-3w

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely safe. Perfectly odorless. Always uniform. Illuminating qualities superior to gas. Burns in any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to displace the use of volatile and dangerous oils. Its safety under every possible test, and its perfect burning qualities, are secured by its continued use in over 300,000 families.

Millions of gallons have been sold and no accidents directly or indirectly—has ever occurred from burning, storing or handling it.

The insurance yearly loss to life and property, resulting from the use of cheap and dangerous oils in the United States, is appalling.

The Insurance Companies and Fire Commissioners throughout the country recommend the ASTRAL as the best safeguard when lamps are used. Send for circular.

CHAS. PRATT & CO., 108 Fulton Street, New York, proprietor.

Sold by Julius Lewis & Co., Raleigh—Author and Agents.
Aug 27 6m.

Children often look Pale and Sick

on no other cause than having worms in the stomach. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS will destroy Worms without injury to the child, being perfectly WHITE, and free from all coloring or other injurious ingredients usually used in worm preparations.

CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors,
No. 215 Fulton Street, New York.
Sold by Druggists and others, and dealers in Medicine. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS a Box.
J ul;9 1w

THIRTY YEARS

Since the introduction of

Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER.

After thirty years trial, the "Pain-Killer" may be justly styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no region of the globe into which it has not found its way, and none where it has not been largely used and highly prized. Moreover, there is no climate in which it has not proved itself to be well adapted for the cure of a considerable variety of diseases; it is admirably suited for every race. It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but it continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest; and is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all climates and changes of water and food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy In MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA,

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA.

Price, $1 00. Sold by all Druggists,
Feb 18-12m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND,

A Consumptive Cured.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Canadian Indica. He now gives his recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There's not a single symptom of consumption that it does not discipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult spectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Insertion of the Hands, and Weakness of the Limbs. Address CRADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia Pa., giving name of this paper.
Nov. 26-6m.

The King of Sunday School Books,

"PURE DIAMONDS."

By JAMES R. MURRAY. Assisted by Gen. F. Root, H. R. Palmer, P. P. Bliss, J. M. Kieffer and a host of other popular writers of Sunday School Music.

No such genuine success ever known in the history of similar books. Over 100,000 Copies have been sold in three months, and the demand is increasing daily. Price in boards 35 cts. single; $3 60 per doz.; $26 per hundred. Specimen copy in paper covers 25 cts.

S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Cleveland, O.

Sent free to any address Brainard's New Descriptive Catalogue of Selected Popular Music. A selected list of choice music, containing full description of thousands of beautiful pieces of music. This new catalogue is invaluable to all musicians. Sent free to any address. S. BRAINARD'S SONS, Publishers, Cleveland, O.
Aug. 17-12m.

EMERSON'S

Singing School.

Price 75 cts., or $7.50 Per doz.,

IS A COMPLETE, CHEAP, AND USEFUL BOOK FOR SINGING SCHOOLS.

Now is the time to use it, as it has all the material to make the Winter Singing School attractive and useful in the highest degree. By

L. O. Emerson.

System for Beginners
ON THE
PIANOFORTE.
BY MASON & HOADLEY.

One cannot help liking this thorough, systematic method, the work of men eminent in their profession, and who have the important qualification of being experienced teachers.

Remember that the first months of instruction are, if there is any distinction, the important ones. That is the time to lay a good foundation. "A work well begun is already half done." Price $2.00.

All books sent, postpaid, on receipt of retail price.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.
Boston. 711 Broadway, N. York.
May 14 12m.

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Sunday, Dec 7th, 1873.

GOING NORTH

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte	7 30 P. M	8 35 A. M.
" Air-Line Junct'n	7 15 "	8 50 "
" Salisbury	11 09 "	10 47 "
" Greensboro'	2 15 A. M	1 15 P. M.
" Danville	5 28 "	5 27 "
" Burkville	1 40 "	8 06 "
Arrive at Richmond	1 02 P. M.	11 02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond	1 45 P. M.	7 00 A. M.
" Burkville	4 55 "	8 25 "
" Danville	9 52 "	1 05 P. M.
" Greensboro'	1 16 A. M.	4 00 "
" Salisbury	3 56 "	6 23 "
" Air-Line Junct'n	6 32 "	8 51 "
Arrive at Charlotte	6 51 A. M.	9 10 "

GOING EAST.		GOING WEST
STATIONS.	M. H	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'	2 00 A. M	Arrive 12 30 A. M
" Co. Shops		10 24 "
" Raleigh		6 00 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'		Leave 3 00 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.
(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro' ..... 4 30 P. M.
Arrive at Salem ..... 6 25 P. M.
Leave Salem ..... 8 00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro' ..... 10 00 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9 42 A. M. arrive at Burkeville 12 30 P. M.; leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.25 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, without change.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 21, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.50 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	3.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.15 P. M.

ACCOMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	8.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accommodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line to Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division,

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. R. R. will run daily, (Sunday excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4 00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6 25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6 45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.20 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	3.05 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	8.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.15 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.0 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,
Opposite Tucker Hall,
FAYETTEVILLE STREET,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Burt's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at

PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S
Drug Store.
jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS,

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson' alring Store.
Oct. 22-6m.

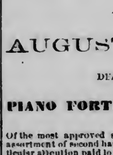
A new work of intense INTEREST and intrinsic VALUE

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley."

A graphic History of Ocean Navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling incidents, tearful disasters, piracies, perils, &c. ABOVE, also the WONDERS BENEATH the SEA, Diving, Dredging, Telegraphing &c., 225 spirited Illustrations. Agents just started report 101 orders in four days, 127 in five days, 75 in two days &c.; sells wonderfully fast. 3000 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and circulars, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, 728 Sansom St. Phila.
Sept 15-12m.

BRINLY PLOWS



Have taken over 250 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for Illustrated Catalogue with Price List and certificates of planters who use them.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS:
BRINLY, HIKES & HARDY,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Sept 24-6m.

100 BOXES "FORESTERS LEMON CRACKERS"
July 23 tf LEACH BROS.

FIFTY CASES COVE OYSTERS,
LEACH BROS
July 23-m

THE "SNOW FLAKE" BRAND OF FAMILY Flour. Equal to Patapsco and much cheaper.
LEACH BROS.
July 23-tf

T. W. GUTHRIE, Rockingham, N. C. GEO. A. NEWELL, Wilmington, N. C.

"BLEES"

Link-Motion, Lock-Stitch, Shuttle
NOISELESS

Hems,
Braids,
Gathers,
Tucks,
Ruffles,
Cords.
Binds,
Frills,
Quilts,
Gathers,
&c., &c.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Uses the straight needle, and will do the greatest range and variety of work of any machine ever before offered to the public.

Challenges the world in perfection of work, strength and beauty of stitch, durability of construction and rapidity of motion.

Reliable agents wanted for every county in the State, to whom liberal terms will be given.

NEWELL & GUTHRIE, General Agents
No. 5 South Front Street,
Wilmington, N. C.
nov 26-tf

ÆTNA FIRE CO.

Assets, $5.782.635.09.

W. H. CROW, Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.
mar 6-12m

ÆTNA LIFE COMPANY,

JANUARY 1873.

ASSETS, - - - $18.077.540.66

Represented in North Carolina, and Va., South of James River by

W. H. CROW, Manager.
OFFICE, Raleigh.

WILLIAMSON, UPCHURCH & THOMAS

WHOLESALE GROCERS
—AND—
Commission Merchants,
FAYETTEVILLE ST.,
OPPOSITE METROPOLITAN HALL.

B. P. WILLIAMSON,
W. G. UPCHURC

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. | PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. | $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 8. | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1874. | WHOLE NO. 1,006.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

One Year ago to-day.

Lines written on the first anniversary of the death of Jimmie Martin Ray.

Cold, as the cold snow dripping,
Down from the cloud's dark gray,
And as white, and as pure, and unsullied,
One year ago to-day,
Lay our faultless darling, our idol,
So fair, so cold so still,
And our hearts found it hard to bow meekly
Under a wise Father's will.

Low, where waved the Lill cedars,
In the dark drear chilling mound,
With his still-shut eyes, we laid him,
While the evening sun went down,
At the foot of his sainted Grand Mother,
Asleep in her grave, the while,—
Her spirit in Heaven was greeting
The angel babe of her child.

And the seraphim singing in glory,
In one glad symphonious lay,
Mingled their voices in welcome,
One year ago to-day.
For our darling has crossed the river,
Has set foot on the golden shore,
Along which his angel feet wander,—
In peace forevermore.

And a crown on his forehead glistenth,
Out shining his golden hair,
A crown from the hand of our Savior,
For our Darling so wonderously fair;
His white feet, so snowy and tender,
Pass over the golden street,
And his voice joins the seraphim's singing,
With its meekdivence sweet.

The jasmine wreath that was blooming,
When we placed it above his tomb,
Is dead, and a thousand wees,
Like the jasmine lost their bloom,
And our eyes grown weary with weeping,
Oh, for the day that is gone,
Our hearts have tasted of sorrow,
And our souls with grief been torn.

But our Darling has never ceased singing,
With his baby angel tongue,
His song of celestial praising
That is only just begun.
And the blue eyes bright and sparkling,
That will greet us here no more,
Shine with tenfold more radiance,
In the light of the other shore

This side, the shore is rugged,
And the river is deep and wide
But with holy strength He will help us,
To reach the fair "other side,"
Where there is no more pain and dying,
Where the angels wait over the way,
With our Darling who went to his Father,
One year ago to-day.

LOLA B.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Letters to a Young Itinerant.---No. V.

MY DEAR YOUNG BROTHER: I need not apologize for directing your attention to the necessity of fully posting yourself up in all those refinements and proprieties of life comprised in what are called "good manners." I do this the more unhesitatingly because polished and easy manners are not natural to many men. They are a grace that must be early learned, earnestly cultivated, and assidnously practiced, until they become a habit of our life.

In our day and time, perhaps no human acquirement in a minister is more urgently demanded than this,—for a minister to break over these rules of etiquette and propriety, manifesting an ignorance or an indifference in regard to them, is to render himself not only a terror to all cultivated and refined society, but an object of contempt and ridicule, which even his sacred office nor commanding talent can excuse.

In the Itineracy, our ministers must visit, admonish, instruct and counsel all classes and grades of society—and the ability to adjust and adapt himself to these varied and dissimilar phases of life, so that in each and among all he will leave behind him a pleasant memory and a sanctified influence, is a grace that every minister should earnestly covet and labor to acquire. You will readily perceive that this matter, in its bearings upon your success in the great work of preaching the Gospel, cannot be too highly estimated—and my apology, if any is needed, for making mention of it, is because I am satisfied that an acquaintance with, and attention to, these conventionalities of life are, by far, too much over-looked.

In this connection there is another point to which I would call your earnest attention, because it sometimes greatly intercepts a young minister—not only blocking up his way, but more or less neutralizing his piety. I allude to what is very properly called eccentricity. There seems to be a sort of general notion in the world that every man of great talent must be an eccentric, or eccentric in some things. There are however, no just grounds for any such opinion—it is indeed doubtful if all these eccentricities are not more assumed than natural.—They certainly are no evidence of superior talent—are exceedingly objectionable in any man, but utterly intolerable in a minister. A minister may stultify himself by aping or attempting to ape great men in their manners, gestures, voice, articulation, &c., —not so much because these are faulty, as that in him they show an effort of pure affectation. But a whole train of eccentricities, whether they apply to apparel, to manners, words or ideas, when seen in a minister, stamps him in the eyes of a large portion of mankind as a fool, who either ought to amend his ways, be admonished by his brethren, or keep out of the pulpit.

There is still another matter that has given me much solicitude and thought, and upon which I am prompted to make some suggestions, and yet I have experienced great delicacy in approaching the subject—and had I not promised myself in these familiar letters to advise with you, not only as a brother but as a son, for whose spiritual and ministerial success, I feel almost parental anxiety—I probably would have passed over the question touching your relation in life—whether married or single. If married, then I would have you (each of you, for I would address both) bear in mind that this relation, though Divinely appointed, and contributing so much to man's happiness and usefulness in life, is nevertheless encumbered with trials, responsibilities and difficulties of a peculiar and distressing character. This is emphatically true as it stands connected with the Itinerancy. Many and great as are the sacrifices demanded at the hands of the itinerant husband—in many respects these are greater with the itinerant's wife. Home is the chosen sphere of woman. There is her altar of affection—her citadel of safety—her instincts as well as every yearning of her heart, turn with unutterable longings to this "covenanted, sheltered spot," and these are no ideal maiden fancies or imaginative youthful day-dreams, but are alike the order of Providence and the out gushings of her womanly nature. Yet in linking her destiny with an itinerant, with the fidelity and devotion of faithful Ruth saying, "whither thou goest I will go,"—she, to a great extent, must forego these instinctive longings—he, with whom she has cast in her lot, and to whom she is to be a help-mate—one of his most true and faithful companions and co-laborers—he has turned his back upon this home for which she longs. O, he would love to linger with her there, but the command to "forsake houses and lands" are a part of the dispensation laid upon him, and without waiting to "confer with flesh and blood" he takes her by the hand, and with his face toward that better country, sings as he journeys:

"No foot of land do I possess,
No cottage in this wilderness;
A poor wayfaring man,
I lodge awhile in tents below,
And gladly wander to and fro
Till I my Canaan gain."

All honor to the woman who willingly, voluntarily consecrates her life to the great work of aiding, sustaining, encouraging and solacing her husband in the arduous and oftimes painful and disheartening duties of the Itinerancy! She is worthy of man's profoundest and most exalted love and honor, as well as the blessing of God and the guardianship of angels. Hast thou found such an one my brother? Cherish her as thy life—her price is far above rubies. The "lines have fallen to thee in pleasant places, —thou hast a goodly heritage,"—let these gracious bestowments quicken your zeal and animate your heart—as you go forth reaping, bearing precious seed—for all these sacrifices, both for thee and thine, the promise is, "that you shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bearing your sheaves with you."

Yours in Christ,

WATCHMAN.

Cedar Grove, Feb. 1874.

Ventilate the Church.

An exchange states that the time to change the air in the churches is immediately after the congregation has departed. This is a fact for sexton's to make a note of, in order to avoid the complaints of those people who, realizing their right to pure air, will not breathe a vitiated element with remonstrance. When the services for the day are concluded, and while the audience-room is still warm, if the windows and doors are left open for a short time, the cooler air of out-doors will rapidly displace that which has been breathed over and over again by the throng of worshippers. A better arrangement would be to so provide for ventilation in the structure of the church, that the foul air shall be constantly passing out and fresh air shall be constantly supplied—a provision for the efficiency of the services and the health of the congregation which hitherto has been almost entirely neglected.

Dr. Burdon Sanderson, in making some experiments on the electrical phenomena which accompany the contraction of the leaves of a sensitive plant, found the currents produced are subject in all respects to the same laws as those of muscles and nerves.

For the Advocate.

Our Irish Letter.

NOTHING has occurred in this country in recent times better deserving of attention than declaration which has just been published by the Roman Catholic clergy of the County of Limerick. Two candidates are before the constituency of that county for Parliamentary honors—one a Mr. Kelly, who was at the outset of the contest selected by the Roman Catholic clergy; the other, Mr. O'Sullivan, of Kilmallock, upon whom fell the unanimous choice of the Farmers' Clubs, and who, up to the present, at all events, appears to have the popular voice in his favour. The programme of each of these candidates may be said to be indential. They are alike warm in favour of Home Rule. They both declare emphatically for denominational education. They, with equal vigour, announce that the Land Act of 1870 was a sham and a delusion, and that nothing will satisfy, or ought to satisfy, the tenant farmers of Ireland but what they call fixity of tenure. And, lastly, they rival each other in the warmth and fervour with which they speak of the justice and propriety of releasing the convicts whom it pleases the Celtic notion to describe as political prisoners. On the face of it, one might say that the candidates might agree to toss up for the honor of representing the County of Limerick in the Imperial Parliament. But there is something below the surface of the election addresses, and, indeed, in Mr. O'Sullivan's case there is a good deal below the surface. The manner of his selection invited the attention of the public. He was put in the front by persons who announced themselves, not as Home Rulers, but as Nationalists. He was lauded because he was 'a man of 67." John Martin and P. J. Smyth are in Parliament representatives of the ideas which prevailed in '43 and '48; and the tenant farmers of Limerick demand, it appears, that Mr. O'Sullivan, of Kilmallock, shall be sent to Parliament to represent the ideas that were suppressed, so far as their outward and violent expression is concerned, in 1867. In plain language, Mr. O'Sullivan was one of the political prisoners who was kept in close quarters for a few months on suspicion of Feninism; and this is made his chief merit with the Farmers Clubs of Limerick and Clare; while the Cork Clubs have gone out of their way to encourage their brethren on the banks of the Shannon, and to endorse Mr. O'Sullivan as a good man and true. In the meantime, Mr. Kelly is declared to be peculiarly obnoxious because his father, many years ago, presumed to evict some tenants for non-payment of rent, and to convert their farms into bullock walk; and it is amusing to observe that the son hardly ventures, except in a feeble way, to vindicate the acts of the father; and, indeed, such are the exigencies of his situation that he has given a kind of pledge that, if he should ever inherit the property, he will make restitution to those who, for the nominal offence of paying no rent, were prevented from continuing to farm part of the Kelly estates.

It is in this crisis that the Roman Catholic clergy of Limerick county have come farward with a unanimous declaration, not only in favour of Mr. Kelly, but directly against Mr. O'Sullivan. They met on Friday at the Parochial House in Limerick. The Roman Catholic bishop presided. More than eighty priests attended; and the address which they adopted was dissented from by only four of the number. The document is one of considerable length, and is ably and adroitly written. The clergy commence by showing the importance of the crisis, and declaring their own patriotism and affection for their parishioners. 'In offering you our advice,' they say, 'we disclaim all attention of dictating to you. We have no power, nor have we the slightest disposition to dictate.' This, it must be confessed, is a modification of the old tone, in the times when Dr. Mac Hale used to say that if he pleased he could return his own cow boy to Parliament. The priests then cunningly remind the farmers that they have themselves sprung almost exclusively 'from the great farming class of Ireland, and are their kith and kin, these own blood and household, their brothers, relatives, and friends.' After this preamble the declaration approaches the matter in hands. Let us see what they say:—

'The hearts of priest and people are set upon domestic government, popularly called Home Rule upon the education of the people according to the people's faith upon a tixity of tenure in land at a fair rent, and an amnesty to the political prisoners. For the efficient advocacy of all these questions your representative should be a man of education, intelligence position, and ability. One of any other description would only provoke the Parliament to mock and repulse us, to any that we are unfit to manage our own affairs, and knew not what we want.'

Perhaps it did not occur to their reverences that however effective this argument may be for the people of Limerick it, after all, only comes to this: that the electors are requested not to follow up their own idea now lest it might make the Imperial Parliament take the alarm. But if they are only kind enough to return men of education and position so long as the Parliament sits in London they may take their own line of action as soon as the Home Rule Parlinment is sitting in College Green. Their reverences then proceed to describe Mr. Kelly as a gentleman who has pledged himself to Home Rule and all the rest of the programme, and as being 'an educated, intelligent, and able man, sprung from an old Catholic stock, with a large stake in the county and city, and without a stain upon his personal character.' No doubt, they say, the father is said to have been an exterminator, but many of the charges are untrue and others exaggerated. They have no sympathy with exterminators; but are the sins of the father to be visited upon the son, when the son says he does not approve of what was done? Thus having commended Mr. Kelly, the bishop and priests approach the delicate part of their task, and touch upon Mr. Kelly's antagonist: 'Of Mr. O'Sullivan we desire to speak with all due respect, but we feel constrained to declare our conviction that his return as a member for the county would be a crushing disaster to the Liberal cause, while to the cause of Home Rule it would simply be a death-blow.' This is tolerably strong language, and must be taken to have all the more significance since Mr. O'Sullivan has adopted precisely the same programme as Mr. Kelly. How do the priests go on to illustrate their views: 'We have been charged with seeking confiscation' under the pretence of an equitable settlement of the land question Would not Mr. O'Sullivan's return be in the eyes of the Three Kingdoms a strong justification of such an impeachment?' Here is a new light thrown upon the subject. The bishop and clergy know what Mr. O'Sullivan's principles are, and so do the constituents of the county. We only look on at a distance. But if his return would justify such an impeachment, is it not plain that his selection —his unanimous selection—by the Farmers' Clubs proves that the object of those Clubs is really confiscation? This is the argument of our good friends the bishop and priests: for it is the only logical conclusion from their premises. We confess we are much obliged to them for putting the case so well.

Again, they say that Home Rulers have been charged with seeking 'separation,' and they ask 'would not Mr. O'Sullivan's return tend most powerfully to establish the charge?' If so, does it not strike the sapient ecclesiastics that the unanimous selection of Mr. O'Sullivan by the Farmers' Clubs, and the ringing cheers with which the populace greets him, demonstrate conclusively that the Home Rule which the Clubs and the populace demand is separation—neither more nor less? The priests say that they do not accuse Mr. O'Sullivan of being a separatist or a revolutionist, but "every one understands that he represents extreme views." Again, it is this representative of extreme views who is the idol of the Farmers' Clubs; and how can the inference be averted that it is because of his extreme views he is worshipped? 'Do not return him,' cry their reverences in alarm, for 'Englishmen say that our Parliament in Ireland would be an assembly of uneducated, violent, reckless men, unfit to govern, and that all national legislation would become impossible. Would not the return of Mr. O'Sullivan contribute powerfully—and we mean him no disrespect—to prove their ill-founded prophesies?' This is not what is said on the subject here in Antrim, where we can only know the merits of the question at second hand; but in Limerick, at a meeting of more than eighty of the Roman Catholic clergy among whom there were but four dissentients. If we judge simply by Mr. O'Sullivan's address, we must say that this last passage appears to us to do him an injustice. He has written by no means like an uneducated man, and his views, as expressed by himself, did not appear to be any more reckless or violent than those of the candidate whom the priests so strongly favour. However we take their arguments and their assertion as we find them, and we say that they condemn not Mr. O'Sullivan, but the Farmers' Clubs and the people who have adopted him. In other words, they condemn the agitators, lay and clerical, who have made the Farmers' Clubs and the populace what they are.

JOHN KNOX.

January 24th, 1874.

An Indian once tried the softness of feathers by laying one on a rock and stretching himself upon it. There are some who try the virtue of advertising on the same plan.

For the Advocate.

What does "Texas" Mean?

MR. EDITOR: From "Texas," it is said that "Texas" is derived. Texas signifies friends, and, we are told, was the name given by some Spanish navigators to a tribe of Indians found near the Gulf coast, about the time the country was first discovered. The name, to this day, is appropriate and significant. There beats in Texas a warm Southern heart. The hospitality of Texas to strangers impresses the emigrant most favorably. It is happily symbolized by the fragrant flowers that bloom around him and the breezes which fan him.

Speaking of flowers, they have been blooming in our gardens all winter, and still they contest the palm with Boreas, although February is at the door. The thermometer has indicated 29 above zero as our coldest weather this winter, while 70 to 74 has not been uncommon at noon of our warmest days. Man rejoices in this bland and beautiful weather, but the beasts have even greater cause than their masters to congratulate themselves on the absence of snow and ice. Are you aware, Mr. Editor, that the people do not feed their cattle in Texas? This is the rule: a cow which tastes grain, peas or provender is indeed highly favored, a very nabob in the midst of a gaunt and uncared for peasantry.

The plan is to let each individual of the lowing herds take the chances: if he, she, or it lives, well; if the opportunity is afforded to the owner of selling the hides, it brings him in some ready money which greatly soothes his sorrows. In West Texas the probabilities of life are much greater than in Eastern Texas, the grass on the prairies being so good and so abundant in the West, and this cured hay, as one might call it, is usually so little injured by rain. Texas is a grand country for cattle, not so good for hogs.

But I am wandering, and must seek the North Star, or some other point of observations which will guide me.

Comparisons are not always odious. I have noticed with what attention most people receive analogical preaching, even when the beverage is thin and weak. I have thought, therefore, that your readers might endure some likenesses, or contrasts, drawn between Texas and Carolina.

1st. The M. E. Church, South is the leading denomination in Texas as it is in North Carolina.

2nd. The preachers here are poorly supported as they are with you—only more poorly in Texas. Perhaps there is no point of the domain of Southern Methodism in which the sustenance of the Itinerant minister is so meagre as it is in this "Lone Star" division of the work.

3rd. This results, in part, from the fact that there are very few parsonages in Texas, not half as many in the entire State as in your Conference.

4th. Congregations for preaching are not usually so large as they are with you, owing to the sparesness of the population.

Missouri is about four times as large as all New-England; Texas is nearly four times as large as Missouri, and yet we have in this grand empire only about one million inhabitants. The circuit preacher has longer rides in this State than fall to the lot of your preachers.

5th. The preachers in your Conference are better entertained than the preachers here There the country is old; the people live in good houses, and much attention is given to comfort and adornment. Here, many of our best people live in uncouth and uncomfortable houses, and but little attention is given to elegance and ornament.

6th. Here the country is improving, a good class of people are pouring in, hundreds per day; rail-roads are in course of construction, school and church enterprizes are going forward, fruit trees and roses are being planted, a better class of houses are going up, and millions of acres of rich land are offered at from $1.50 to $5 per acre. The Democratic majority here is about 50,000, and the colored race have but little influence in elections. You know how all these things are in Carolina.

Finally: In Texas there is greater diversity in the views of preachers as to doctrines and church usages; and, amongst the people, less uniformity in the observance of old Methodist usages than obtains in the North Carolina Conference.

In these comparisons, tell your readers to make considerable exceptions under most of the items.

A. G. S.

Austin Female College, Jan. 31, 1874.

"Why don't you give us a little Greek and Latin occasionally?" asked a country deacon of a new minister. "Why, do you understand those languages?" "No; but we pay for the best and we ought to have it."

For the Advocate.

"What a Revolting Picture!"

MR. EDITOR: "Watchman," in his third letter to a young Itinerant, draws the following picture:

"Just think of a man, and a minister, with a dark zone of offensive incrustations cropping out on his lips, a slimy rill coursing down each corner of his mouth—spewing out one huge mouthful after another of this detestable admixture upon spotless floors, or spurting it at fire places and bespattering, polluting and defacing hearthstones, mantel, jams and all—or if he at all notices the spittoon, it is only to hurl an overflowing mouthful toward it—which, missing its aim comes down in a discoloring, tainting fog upon the carpet, to befoul and corrupt it—or, as if to cap the climax, that even fills his mouth on lying down, and in his hours of dreams, pours forth upon the snowy sheets and pillows a winding sluice—staining, corrupting, and despoiling as it flows. What a revolting picture!"

Yes "just think of the man, and minister" who would have to swallow at once, a whole barnful of tobacco in order to have on his lips, "a dark zone" (50 miles wide, perhaps) of masticated tobacco, from which comes "a slimy rill." (Strong enough to turn a mill wheel) "coursing down each corner of his mouth;" and yet the man is not drowned, nor strangled, but still has power enough "to spew out huge mouthfuls on the spotless floors," and the sills don't break under the burden; and more wonderful still, this Polyphemus of the offensive weed, it seems, as he lies down to sleep, puts in about a hogshead of the juicy stuffs "and in his hours of dreams" (dreams probably that his jaws are a tobacco prize and pressing them together) pours "forth upon the snowy sheets and pillows a winding sluice," which however does not wash away the bed, nor house. This is all wonderful to me, yet I remember to have read in an old fable, of a monstrous giant, who was so large as to wade across the ocean, using a pine tree as a cane, his head up against the skies. I reckon this is the huge giant of the weed, who sat before the imagination of "Watchman" while he drew the above picture. Now, I would like to know what Quarterly Conference licensed this young Itinerant—this enormous chewer of the weed—to preach the gospel of soberness and truth.

DISCRIMINATOR.

Selected.

Silence in Heaven.

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

"There was silence in Heaven for the space of half an hour."

Intensest calm of silence fell
Once, for one little half-hour space,
Where blended songs forever swell
In gladness through the Holy Place.
Then ceased from every golden lyre
The finger-touch that woke its chord,
And every voice in all the choir
Was hushed in presence of the Lord.

What hear, in all that listening place,
Grew overfull for silent praise,
And dared be first to bid it cease?
Some soul led home through thorny ways;
Or some who out of fire and blood
Had reached a shelter safe and sweet?
What one of all who bought with blood,
Were kneeling at the dear Lord's feet?

It may have been a little one
Whose spirit could not understand,
The wonder of the silence thrown
In mystic awe on voice and hand,
Who sudden broke it with a cry
Of love's amaze and love's delight,
And woke the chorus of the sky
Anew to sorrow's matchless might.

Oh, for such pause when we shall bow,
Dear Christ, before thy blessed Face!
A silent moment, sweet and low,
To praise, unworded, all thy grace,
To feel the beating of thy heart,
That once our woe was nigh to crush,
And worship Thee with tender art,
Amid the hallelujahs' hush.

The World at our Lord's Coming.

At the epoch of our Lord's coming, the known world had just been brought within the iron circle of the Roman Empire. The soldiers of the Eternal City had extended its supremacy over the fierce tribes of Germany, Gaul, Britain, and Scythia; over Syria and Palestine, and along the coasts of the great Inner Sea. Order had been established where previously chaotic confusion had prevailed, and the majesty of the law had been enthroned in the midst of wild and hitherto uncivilized races. Thus it became possible for the followers of our Lord to obey His injunction, and bear the Gospel tidings from Arabia on the one hand, to the shores of the Atlantic on the other. Fifty years earlier, and Christianity might have failed to strike its root in a disorganized and tumultuous world; fifty years later, and it would have fallen upon evil days, when social corruption and the intestine convulsions of an overgrown empire might have withered it in its early growth. What can be a stronger evidence of its Divine origin than the fact that it was born into a state of society singularly meet and providentially ordained for its reception? It came at a time of profound peace, when its "still small voice" could reach the minds of the nations. It came when the arms of Rome had carried the culture of Greece over an extensive region, disciplining the intellect and refining the imagination, so that its eternal principles of truth and justice could secure a general appreciation. It came before the myths and delusions of the Alexandrian school of philosophy had grown powerful enough to take hold of the new doctrine, and poison it with their deadly breath. It came as a necessary complement of the revelation already made to man in Jewish Monotheism and Greek speculation. It was the "heir of all the ages:" the historic sequence of prior creeds and systems: the culmination of a prolonged order of Divine preparation; and the new and more exalted spirit infused into the methods of human thought was the gift of God, who, from the beginning foreseeing all things, had made all things converge to this appointed end. Christ's first coming, then, occurring when it did, may reasonably be accepted as one of the most striking of the external testimonies to the authenticity of our Christian faith.

There is another consideration which may well awaken thought; namely, that Christ assumed humanity at an epoch when the fountains of the great deep were broken up, and the moral scheme of the world trembled on the brink of destruction. Hebrew Monotheism had done its work: Greek culture had accomplished its mission: Roman civilization had fulfilled its intention. If man was to be rescued from an abyss of bestial degradation, something more was wanted, and so the infected air was freshened and made wholesome by a sweet wind from the hills of Judea. An old writer says: "Philosophia virtutem quæsivit, Theologia invenit, Religio possidet."—In like manner it may be formulated that philosophy sought after the truth, law prepared the way for its reception, and Jesus Christ revealed it. At the crisis of a social revolution, the kingdom of God was founded; and intervening between the decaying Judaism and the corrupt Pagandom, it conquered, and in conquering redeemed, mankind.—Scottish Guardian.

God's Mindfulness.

God's relation to man is conceived too much from the material, too little from the spiritual, standpoint. The providences that men watch for on the field of nature are always less Divine and beneficent than the providences that go on every moment within the soul of man. It has been said that unconscious or involuntary sins are the worst; the Pharisee who believes his righteousness faultless, being a greater sinner than the penitent and self-abasing publican. So the providences of which man remains unconscious are the mightiest and truest, the Divine influences that stream miraculized through his life, the sweet and quieting thoughts that find and comfort him in his distress, the light that comes to him in darkness, the memory of his better self that makes him ashamed of his worse, and draws him from the evil he had followed to the good he had forsaken. Pagan Cicero said, "The gods care for great things, but neglect small." That was a very pagan sentiment, the precise reverse of the Christian truth. The things that concern man are never little to God. While He telleth the number of the stars, He also watcheth that He may heal the heart vexed by trouble, or broken by sorrow. While He thinks of the life, He does not neglect the daily bread it needs. The least care that can distress man touches God, while the great agonies of the soul, whether due to the loss of one we loved, or the eclipse of our brightest hopes, or the impotence of our best endeavors, or the stings of a guilty conscience, so appeal to His love, that His holy hands hasten to bring the balm that can heal, and the quiet that can assuage our grief. Our little lives are rounded, not with a sleep but with God, and of every moment of our lives, as of every spot on earth, we can say, 'Lo! God is here. How dreadful! is this place! It is none other than the house of God, the very gate of heaven!'—The Day of Rest.

THE New York Commercial Advertiser gives an account of a "strange sect" worshipping every Sunday at the "Catholic Apostolic Church" in Sixteenth street, west of Sixth Avenue, in that city. We copy the following extract:

Everything is ordered by what is held to be prophetic guidance, and the whole is founded upon a belief in the speedy personal coming of Christ to take "His own," and to prepare the earth for his millennial reign. This Church, which claims that it is not a sect, because it acknowledges all baptized Christians as brethren, and seeks to teach, and not to proselyte, had its origin in the great spiritual movement with which Edward Irving identified himself nearly fifty years ago. It has a large number of congregations in Great Britain, Germany, Canada, and other countries, but has only this one congregation in New York, which was started about twenty-five years ago.

Several Episcopal clergymen and a number of Congregational and Presbyterian ministers have entered its ministry, and some have been deposed and suspended for preaching its doctrines. It has no honors or emolument to offer, and its work has been done slowly and without much apparent progress. To most people it is scarcely known by name, and many who read this article will be surprised to learn that a congregation with the complete machinery of the New Testament Church has so long been at work in this city. Indeed this is the smallest of the sect. Three congregations in Connecticut, one at Boston, and one at Potsdam, embrace its numbers in this country.

Most of the ministers of the Church support themselves by their business occupations, and give their services without pay. One is a lawyer, another a physician, and others are business men. These are called to their places (as they believe) by the word of prophecy. They serve in one of the four fold offices of ruler, pastor, prophet or evangelist.

WHY THE RED SEA IS CALLED RED.—A question that has puzzled scholars found a solution some time since in the observation of an American submarine diver. Smith's Bible Dictionary discusses learnedly the name of the Red Sea. The dictionary surmises that the name was derived from the red western mountains, red coral zoophites, etc., and appears to give little weight to the real and natural reason which came under our American's notice. On one occasion the diver observed, while under sea, that the curious wavering shadows, which cross the lustrous, golden floor like Fraunhofer's lines on the spectrum, began to change and lose themselves. A purple glory of intermingled colors darkened the violet curtains of the sea chambers, reddening all glints and tinges with an angry fire. Instead of that lustrous, golden firmament, the midhassphere darkened to crimson and opal. The walls grew purple, the floor as red as blood; the deep itself was purpled with the venous hue of deoxidized life currents.

The view on the surface was even more magnificent. The sea at first assumed the light, tawny or yellowish red of sherry wine. Anon, this wine color grew indistinct with richer radiance; as far as the eye could see, and flashing in the crystalline splendor of the Arabian sun, was glorious as a sea of rose. The dusky red sandstone hills, with a border of white sand and green and flowered foliage, like an elaborately wrought cup of Bohemian glass enamelled with brilliant flowers, held the sparkling liquid petals of that rosy sea. The surface, on examination, proved to be covered with a thin brick-dust layer of infusoria slightly tinged with orange. Placed in a white glass bottle, this changed into a deep violet but the wide surface of the external sea was of that magnificent and brilliant rose color. It was a new and pleasing example of the lustrous, ever varying beauty of the ocean world. It was caused by diatomaceæ, minute algæ, which under the microscope revealed delicate threads gathered in tiny bundles, and containing rings, blood disks, of that curious coloring matter in tiny tubes.

TRANSCRIPT

The influence exercised by the moon on meteorological phenomena has been the subject of a communication to the Academie des Sciences of Paris, by M. Marchand. From examining the distribution of storms between the years 1785 and 1873 he supposes that he detects some relation between the appearance of storms and the age of the moon, and he attemps to show by tables that the moon has an appreciable influence on the temperature and pressure of the air, on the state of the sky and the distribution of rain.

ATHENÆUM.

PETER'S PENCE.—It is well known that of late years the Pope has been very largely supported by contributions of "the faithful" throughout the world, which have been collected under the ancient and historic name of St. Peter's Pence. The Unita Cattolica gives the following statistics of the annual receipts: In 1861 the "Pence" amounted to 14,184,000 francs, in 1862 to 9,402,000, in 1863, to 7,047,000, in 1864 to 5,832,000, in 1865 to 6,445,000, in 1866 to 5,939,000, in 1867 to 11,313,000, in 1868 to 11,900,000, thus giving a total of 71,171,000 francs in eight years. The exact sums collected in the last four or five years are not given, but the same authority states that they are greatly in excess of previous years, and reckons that the total of "Peter's Pence" collected up to the present cannot fall much short of 400,000,000 francs. The great falling off in the years 1863-1866 is accounted for by the same authority and by Catholic opinion on the ground of the general belief then prevailing that, after all, the temporal possessions of the Pope were safe, and that, consequently, he has less urgent need of external subsidies.—Swiss Times

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2.00
SIX MONTHS,	1.25
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH N. C. FEBRUARY 25, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

Help Your Minister.

A great many people seem to think that the preacher must do everything. He must preach fine and eloquent sermons, visit everybody—hold all the class, prayer and church meetings—preside over the Sunday-school, answer to the calls of the afflicted and the needy, must do all the begging, obtain subscribers for the church paper, and deny himself of the plainest comforts, and sometimes the actual necessities of life. This is all a mistake, a fraud. No minister can do all that is expected of him. He cannot have a live church unless he has a live membership. His success depends in a large measure upon the willingness of the people to do their share of the work. But you enquire, how can I be useful—what can I do?

First, you can help your pastor in his preaching. Many a time in our own experience, the consciousness that the congregation were in sympathy with us, that they had opened their ears and their hearts to receive the word, acted on us with telling effect. We have been aroused, thrilled, by the upturned faces of the congregation, and the thoughts which in the study seemed all too poor, were lighted up with the inspiration of the people's love. If the people are careless and listless, the sermon is sure to be dull. The truth is, the congregation have as much to do with the success of the sermon as the preacher. We would have larger results, clearer demonstrations, and a stronger proof of our ministry, if instead of depending upon the preacher to stir up the people, the people would by their prayers, zeal and attention, fire the heart of the preacher.

Secondly, if your pastor preaches a good sermon, say so, and say so to him. It can do no harm. We have no sympathy with the notion of some that it will not do to speak encouragingly to a preacher about his sermon lest he should become vain. A kindly and encouraging word is often of great value to the preacher. Many a minister has gone into his study after the delivery of a sermon on the verge of dispair. It may have been a good sermon—it may have touched some heart, but no one says so, and the minister, nine times out of ten, thinks he has failed. It is impossible to estimate the value of a generous word at such a time, or even of a kindly criticism. People think that ministers rise above such feelings—get hardened to preaching with the advance of years. But such is not the case. The responsibility of the work is too great. He needs encouragement, and in some cases it is absolutely necessary to success and usefulness.

Thirdly, you can help your minister in the work of organization. Here the force of the lay element lies, to a greater extent than at almost any other point. A well organized church is a power for good—while a church without organization is but little felt in a community. The preacher cannot hope for great success without organization, nor can he carry forward the highest interest of his church without the hearty and unqualified endorsement and co-operation of the laity.—The faithful pastor has plans. He understands the theory of organization well enough, but he cannot organize and put his plans into successful operation without an efficient working force. Let the people go to their pastor—find out his plans—talk with him about them; raise a band of workers,—canvass for souls—distribute tracts and papers and books—swell the Sunday school ranks—look after the destitute, and visit the sick—hold prayer meetings in private houses, and thus aid your pastor in winning souls to Christ, and in hiding "a multitude of sins." The best way to keep the church pure is to put every member to work. The old adage is true "that Satan finds some mischief still, for idle hands to do." It is a fair estimate that three out of every five will do the work assigned them.

Fourthly, help your minister by making him comfortable. See that his mind is not perplexed about temporal matters. If you would have him minister to you in holy things, he would have you minister to him in temporal things. Enquire after the comfort of his family—seek to supply his wants and necessities. Make him feel that you appreciate his services.—The amount you have pledged to pay for his support is meagre—barely enough to meet current expenses.—The youth behind the counter, the printer at his case, and thousands with far less culture, in the ordinary pursuits of life, receive a better salary than the laborious, faithful minister of Christ. There is scarcely a minister among us who could not command better wages in other pursuits. But God has laid his hand upon him, and thrust him out into the ministry, and he dare not at the peril of his soul abandon his calling.

Class Meeting.

The mere mention of the term class meeting, to thousands of Methodists all over this land, brings fresh to mind some of the sweetest memories in the history of their religious experience. Some of the happiest moments of their life were in the class room, and they deplore the great loss which the church has sustained at every point by their disuse among us. There have always been some, though few in number, opposed to class meetings; but the great majority in our church, to this day, look upon them as a powerful agency in uniting and welding together, as one body, the individual members of our church. They exert a powerful influence upon our young converts, and serve as a school for their spiritual training, by stimulating them to seek after higher spiritual attainments. It is more than probable that many of our young men, called of God to preach the Gospel, have been literally thrust out into the work by their influence. Many sainted ones in glory, if they could visit us in our struggles and conflicts with the world, would press upon us the necessity of class meetings as a direct spiritual means to better enable us to "come out of great tribulation," as conquerers through Christ. Nothing can supply the place of class meetings and nothing would so quicken the spiritual vigor of our church as the formation of classes, in every society with Godly men as their leaders.

It is reported to us that Rev. Dr. Pritchard, pastor of the Baptist Church in this city recently stated from his pulpit that "Christ was not such a fool as to baptize by sprinkling." It is also reported that Rev. Mr. Jordan, a Baptist minister, who has been assisting the Doctor in a series of meetings in his church, said that he never saw a person who had been baptized by sprinkling who was happy." We give the statements as they were reported to us, by those who were present. Such statements carry with them their own condemnation. We forbear to say more for the present.

The preachers and laymen are earnestly requested to send us items of church news from all parts of the State. Without your help in this particular, our columns must be barren of home news. What we do not know we cannot print. An excellent item could be sent upon a postal card for the small cost of one cent. Something transpires at almost every church service worthy of note.

Bro. Mangum, as will be seen by reference to another column, makes an earnest appeal to our people in behalf of Edenton Street Church, of which he is the pastor. We trust he may meet with that success commensurate with the cause. Methodism in Raleigh is losing ground for want of proper church facilities. Bro. Cole, in charge of Person Street Church, as we learn, is also moving, and we trust both churches will receive aid sufficient to encourage them to commence the work, and to push it forward to completion.

We have received the first number of the Central Protestant, published at Greensboro, N. C., Rev. J. L. Michaux, editor. The paper is well filled with interesting and instructive matter. We extend to the editor a hearty welcome to the fraternity and wish him great success. THE CENTRAL is the organ of the Protestant Methodist Church of North Carolina—Price two dollars per annum.

Since our last we have received a club of subscribers from each of the following persons: Rev. A. D. Betts, G. W. Ivy, V. A. Sharpe, Miss Adelia Sharpe, L. J. Holden, J. S. Nelson, L. E. Stacy, and T. L. Triplett.

We are indebted to the President of Peace Institute for an invitation to attend a musical entertainment which came off on Tuesday evening of last week. It was not our pleasure to be present, but we learn that it was really an enjoyable entertainment.

Rev. Dr. Mason, for about thirty three years the rector of the Episcopal Church of this city, died of pneumonia, on the 21st inst., in the 76th year of his age. He was a man of deep piety, profound learning and of devotion to his church.

We are pained to record the death of sister Whitaker, which sad event occurred at the residence of her husband, Col. Willis Whitaker, on the 21st inst. We sympathize with the afflicted and bereaved family.

The Cleaveland Banner says that Rev. H. T. Hudson is soon to erect a handsome residence in the town of Shelby.

Rev. L. J. Holden, in charge of Nash Circuit writes:

"I am very well pleased with my charge. The people know how to treat their preacher. They are good old fashion strong coffee Methodists. I have thought it would do well to put this charge in the Washington District.

I have eight churches, and I am trying to give them all Sunday preaching. I am looking forward to refreshing times."

What is Originality.

The Northern Journals are discussing the question of originality in the pulpit, with earnestness and directness. The New York Methodist undertakes to define what originality is. From a late issue of that paper we take the following:

"But what do we mean when we insist that they who write or speak shall be original? Is it that each one shall go down into the depths of his personal consciousness and afterwards evolve what he finds there? All that one learns from his consciousness he can express in a simple statement. If in the case of a Christian it be a consciousness of redemption, one narrative of experience will tell it all. Such a consciousness is to the Christian teacher invaluable, indispensable; but it will not alone fit him for the function of teaching. We send him to books, that his associations of thought may be multiplied: that he may see truth as far as he can, in all its variety of lights, systematized by the logical faculty, illustrated livingly in history, moulded into forms of beauty by the shaping power of the imagination. The man never lived who could do all this out of himself. He must make use, also, of what has been done by his predecessors. The great storehouse, which we call literature, furnishes him the material on which his own mind is to work, and by means of which it is to be built up. Absolute originality is an impossibility. We are created for the commerce in ideas; we are dependent on it if we are ever to know anything. He who limits his production to what is wholly original with himself will produce little more than emptiness. We would except from this statement only a small number of extraordinary men. Even the most fruitful thinkers have frequently found the germs of their thinking in the productions of others. The development school of theorists owes its origin to Lamarck, and generally, in the natural sciences the thought of one mind becomes fruitful in another mind, and so there is an endless series of productivity

Every one who thinks at all has some, even if imperfect, system of thought, some philosophy of life and the world, some rationale in accordance with which he explains the facts of personal and general experience. What he knows classifies itself spontaneously under the general principles of his system. He will see that his governing principle permits his seeing. Suppose him to be a logical Calvinist: he will see all the phenomena of life and the world from the point of view of the divine sovereignty. All history will illustrate for him his dominant idea. Suppose him to be a Materialist, and to believe that all phenomena, including those of human conduct, are governed by neccessary law; his views of morality and responsibility, of the true ends of life, will be governed by this controlling principle. When Christianity arose the facts of the social and political condition of the world remained the same as before the advent of Christ, but the conception of the possibility of the invigoration of human nature by a divine life created a new system of thought, and in time a new world. All of knowledge and literature that the classic nations had accumulated was regarded from a new point of view, and in the light of the new revelation. Out of this dominant idea and its logical consequences has sprung all distinctively Christian literature. Christian literature grows age by age because the apprehension of many of the truths of Christianity by men is susceptible of improvement, and because each age furnishes some fresh illustration of Christian truth.

Now every honest mind will assimilate its acquisitions by the operation of the governing principles of its thinking. It will be so far forth original because its work will be honestly wrought out. Such a mind will have its own form of literary product; reason, imagination and taste will have combined to create that form. As these ingredients vary in men, and as culture varies, there will be in all honest work an endless variety, and withal a distinct individuality. A plagiarist is a thief who steals other men's literary forms. He is either too lazy to go through the formative process himself, or he is incapable of it, and yet ambitious to shine. Or he may have assumed the teaching function without preparation, and may persuade his conscience that he must subsist by thieving or give up altogether. In such a decision, he makes a terrible mistake, for his first business in the world is not to be a sham. He would be better off in any honest vocation, even if it were chopping wood."

South Guilford Circuit.

DEAR BRO BOBBITT: I have just completed my first round on this charge. I find a clever people, enjoying a very respectable degree of temporal prosperity and manifesting a becoming interest in the church. We have an encouraging prospect for a useful and happy year: not that we are large and strong numerically and financially, for in this respect we are small, but we hope to increase the talents committed to our hands in a ratio equal to those who are large and strong.

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY,

Is in the center of the circuit, R. P. Troy, A. M., Principal. The very excellent qualifications of the Principal, his very moderate charges for Board and Tuition, the healthy locality, and the religious advantages, all combine to recommend this school to those who have sons and daughters to educate. It is far more preferable, in my judgment, to send children here than to town and village schools. The temptation to vice being so much less, their morals are so much safer. The academy building is well arranged and commodious; the church, too, is right there, where religious services are held every Sabbath. Let those who wish further information, address Capt. R. P. Troy, Greensboro, N. C. He will convey them from the Depot to the school, which is eight miles South of Greensboro.

R. G. BARRETT.

The Christian Advocate, of New York, alluding to the election of Rev. Dr. Summers to the chair of Systematical Theology in the Vanderbilt University, says it is "a capital selection. We congratulate the University."

John's Baptism.

The Central Methodist has the following from Rev. Morris Evans, on the New Testament signification of John's baptism. The writer sets forth the subject in a clear and concise manner, and our people would do well to read and ponder:

John was Elijah, Malachi, 4:5, "Behold I will send you the prophet Elijah." Luke 1:17. "And he shall go before him in the Spirit and power of Elias." See also Mat. 11:14 and 17:10 to 13; Mark 9:12,13.

The calling of John and Elijah was the same, that is to recover the church from lifeless and sinful formalism, and its consequences, to a spiritual worship of God.

The Jews expected Elijah to baptize when he should come. John 1:25. "Why baptizest thou then if thou be not Christ, nor Elias?" It is not necessary to speculate as to why they expected this when the fact is patent, and all that your present study needs. But as under the Law one of the steps necessary to restoring a person who had sinned, was to undergo, one of the "divers baptisms" of the Divine ritual; so when a prophet came to bring about a national restoration, the well instructed believer would naturally expect baptism. This inquiry of the Pharisees was natural; and John's answer shows that their conception was proper. Hence we conclude that there was nothing new in John's baptism of the people—that it was a practice with which they were familiar. They do not ask what is baptism?—but why do you baptize?

Mat. 3:1 to 12. John was to prepare the way: teach the people repentance: require a life conformable thereto: to "bring forth fruits meet to repentance." To show them that mere relation of blood to Abraham or observance of ceremonies would not be sufficient. That his baptism "with water" was not efficacious like that "with the Holy Ghost" which Jesus would administer; and that Jesus would accomplish a true cleansing or purification. Here the whole tenor exhibits the preparatory and typical character of John's ministry and ablution. While that of Jesus was the real cleansing and preparation for pleasing God and enjoying His favor

The specific aim of John's appointment was to manifest Jesus as the Christ to Israel. "Therefore Am I come baptizing with water."—Jno. 1:31. While baptizing the people was preparatory and incidental, the great object of John's call and labor had exclusive respect to pointing out the "Lamb of God." But this was done in the act of baptising him. This baptism was a work of righteousness by the decision of Jesus and acceptance of John.—Matt. 3:15. As a work of rightcousness, it was an act of obedience to the Divine Law. Here, again, we come back to the "divers baptisms" of the law, and ascertain that it was a typical purification.

Jno. 3:25 to 4:3. In this we learn of a dispute between John's disciples and the Jews. It was a "question about purifying." Upon appealing the matter to John, they show that it was about baptizing John, explaining the difficulty about purifying, shows that he and his baptism must give place to Jesus and his baptism.

From all this it is obvious that John's ministry was that of a ceremonial purification, preparatory to the advent and showing of the Christ. That the specific act of ceremonial purification was a baptism with water. Hence the conclusion that the baptizo of John's service has for its signification as the leading idea, purification. This is shown to be ceremonial by the attendant circumstances.

Religious Brevities.

The New North State says Rev. P. A. Strobel has been called to preach in Cabarrus County and will accept the call. Mr. Strobel is an able and conscientious minister of the gospel and a gentleman of liberal views.

A Roman Catholic bishop, invited to open the Vermont Legislature by prayer, uttered the following: "May corruption and sin of every form be as far from every member of this Legislature as Thou art!"

A society has been formed in Belgium for collecting all waste paper, and selling it for the benefit of the Pope. The society has appealed to the possessors of all "bad books, such as Voltaire, Rosseau, Diderot, Volney, and other detestable authors," to hand them over as waste paper.

A new religion has sprung up in Persia, and is so different from the old Moslem faith, that it is creating considerable excitement. The principal doctrines are praise of the Supreme Being, truth, and virtue. It is regarded with great disfavor by the followers of the Moslem faith.

DR. GUTHRIE'S VIEWS.—How ministers of the Gospel, how Christian elders, in the face of this vice, can go on with their indulgencies, is to me a mystery. I cannot understand it. I do not condemn them. By their own deeds they shall stand or fall; but before them. I charge drink with breaking more hearts, with destroying the ties of more families, with ruining more bodies, with sending more souls to perdition, than almost all the other vices in this country together.

CONFERENCE STATISTICS.—The Mississippi Conference met at Brandon, Bishop Wightman presiding. Total white members, 19,656, an increase of 1,674. The Memphis Conference, Bishop McTyeire presiding, met at Jackson; number of members, 29,964, an increase of over 1,000. North Mississippi Conference met at Granada, Bishop Paine presiding: number of white members, 25,800, an increase of 719. Little Rock Conference, Bishop Pierce presiding, met at Camden; white members, 14,827, a decrease of 207.

W. Hepworth Dixon, an English writer of note, remarks that Sir Walter Raleigh is a power in the world, hardly less visible in England than America, "where the beautiful capital of a chivalrous nation bears his name."

Renew your subscription to the ADVOCATE, and secure its weekly visits.

To the Friends of Methodism in North Carolina.

For a number of years it has been evident to those familiar with the condition of the several religious denominations in Raleigh, that there is great need of improvement in the appearance, comfort and size of the Methodist Church edifice on Edenton Street. Its present appearance makes an unfavorable impression on every stranger, whether he view the exterior or the interior. It also inevitably exerts a damaging influence on the taste and feelings of many if not all, who are accustomed to worship within its walls. While the genius of Methodism forbids all ostentation and extravagant display, it nevertheless inculcates the principle and policy of consistency, and fitness in things; and wisely directs that in all departments its devotees should manifest a conservative and godly regard for the progress of society within it and around it. In this city there are visitors from different sections of the State or from abroad, perhaps every day in the year. Persons are also constantly moving in and settling here. All these are inevitably affected by the appearance which the different churches present, and it is well known that first impressions are powerful and are not easily changed. While this is plain as theory, it is painfully sustained by facts that come under our own observation.

The effect of relative comfort or discomfort in churches is an important consideration. While the audience rooms of the other churches in the city are more or less favored in this regard, the Methodist Church is afflicted with ill-constructed and uncomfortable seats, while the facilities for warming the room are deplorably inadequate and defective.

The present membership of the church numbers over four hundred and twenty-five, while the capacity of the church is only equal to the seating of about four hundred and fifty. This fact alone proves the necessity for increasing the size of the building. It is evident that when a large proportion of the members attend, there is room for but few others. This year the Sabbath School Society is to meet here in May and the Annual Conference next winter. We expect also to have special exercises that will demand more room than we have. In this place, occasions requiring a more commodious building will occur year after year. The city is growing. The membership of this Church is increasing. The church record shows about one hundred more than when I came to the charge two years ago. We must have a much larger building. We have no suitable accommodation for our Sabbath School. The body of the church does not meet the demand of the School. We have lost and must still lose on this account. Properly furnished, Methodism in Raleigh would grow rapidly and exert a most salutary influence on the interest of the denomination in the State. Under its present disadvantages, it requires a tremendous struggle to sustain it. Indeed, it is impossible for it to hold its own without improvement in the accommodations and facilities.

What is needed cannot be done by the means that can be commanded in Raleigh. A heroic and sacrificing effort is ready on our part, but much help is needed and solicited from our friends abroad in the State and elsewhere. Our Baptist brethren were aided thus, and after protracted effort succeeded in getting a good building. Now if they, with not more than half a dozen self-sustaining charges in the State, could give the requisite help to their church at the Capital, surely the Methodists, with perhaps more than one hundred and fifty self-sustaining appointments, can do not only as well but better. The Methodist church in Raleigh has been denied by divers appeals and agencies for college and charities and churches. It has responded willingly, according to its ability. It expects a liberal spirit in return. Its members are not wealthy. It is composed of a noble band of genuine evangelical Wesleyans. If they were able to build, of themselves, they would not ask for help from others. But they can not meet this great demand without assistance. Consider, then, that as this church is situated at the capital it has a relation to the rest of the State that no other church in the State bears. It exerts an influence for or against Methodism on every section of the State. This any intelligent mind can see.

The emergency is upon us. We cannot afford to wait. We are compelled to move forward, at the peril of our interests in this city. We need at least $5,000 outside of Raleigh. Now what we ask is that every member or friend of the Methodist church in the State will help us by contributing something. Send the most you can. If you cannot send dollars, send dimes! Be sure to send something. We call upon the preachers, the churches, the Sabbath Schools, all the children. Send us a subscription, however small. Send as soon as you can. Will not the preachers speak and work for us? Some have promised to do so. Now is the time. Address all letters, with remittances, to

A. W. MANGUM,
Raleigh, N. C.

Feb. 18th, 1874.

We have received a practical and instructive communication from Rev. J. A. Trimmer, which will appear in our next issue.

MR. EDITOR: On last Sabbath we were favored with a visit by Rev. Bro. Hendren, Agent of Greensboro Female College. He preached to us in the morning and also at night, leaving a fine impression on the congregation as to his ministerial ability. Indeed sir, he is a gentleman of no ordinary mind, judging from his sermon Sunday night, as I think he became truly eloquent during a part of his discourse. It was, I believe, his first visit to our town, but hope it will not be his last. Individually, and as a congregation, we would like to see him in the light of a minister, minus an agency, very frequently. We do not object to the agency—as the cause is good—had we the ability to give, but money calls, as you know, are so frequently made that we never have any surplus green-backs. We do not know how successful in securing money Bro. Hendren was, but hope and think he met with some good success. He is your right hand man too, I suppose, Mr. Editor, for if he fails to get a donation for Greensboro College he will make up lost time in subscribers for the ADVOCATE.

Bro. Hendren, I think, is somewhat prepossessing both in general appearance and in conversation, being very pleasant and talkative, and armed to the teeth with such weapons, will of course succeed to a clever extent, will draw some blood wherever he can find an artery. He accosted me on the subject of a donation to the College, but I told him I had no daughters, whereupon he extended mercy in favor of the prisoner. He then riddled me on the "Advocate" question, and finding that the engagement would likely wax warm and decisive, I unconditionally surrendered to his terms. I told him I would serve him like young ladies sometimes served young gentlemen who were urgently pressing their claims to matrimony, "marry them to get rid of them," so I would take the paper to get rid of him. But that, Mr. Editor, was only a joke which he readily understood and appreciated. Indeed, I regard the ADVOCATE as being among the best papers if not the very best published within the limits of the State of North Carolina, and have been thinking of subscribing for it for some time. So Bro. Hendren at least pleased and benefited three men, himself, yourself, and myself. I don't know which of the trio was pleased the most, but I am inclined to the opinion that the subscriber will come the nearest in getting value received. I would be truly glad to know that the "Advocate" penetrated every Methodist family in the bounds of the Conference. I hope it will continue to grow and flourish until that is accomplished, and even more.—Wisely conducted, it is a sermon, a living epistle, which can and will do an inculculable amount of good in cultivating the taste and refining the manners of the people. It gives tone to the doctrine we possess, and oh, that the masses of our people would take it and post themselves up as to what Methodism now is, and what she may yet become in the providence of God.

I wish Bro. Hendren all the success imaginable in his college enterprise, and would be more than glad to have him visit us again. He can leave his agency behind next time if convenient, if not, let him come with it rather than miss a visit, and we will take pleasure in going to hear him preach, if we don't feel able to donate.

A METHODIST.

Concord, N. C.

Supposing that many, whose term of subscription is out, are waiting to renew through their pastor, the ADVOCATE is continued to them a while longer. We hope the preachers will call attention to this fact at each appointment, so as to give delinquents an opportunity of renewing before their paper is discontinued.

Seed Thoughts.

— You owe your obedience to God for your present and eternal happiness.

— If the disposition is good, the acts will be a too, though we may not be able to do all we desire.

— There are two sources of sins; one from one's self, the other from the persuasion of others.

— Thou madest us, O Lord, for Thyself, and our heart is restless until it repose in Thee.

— GREAT MEN.—A great man is always willing to be little. While he sits on the cushion of advantages he goes to sleep. When he is pushed and disappointed, tormented, defeated, he has a chance to learn something; he has been put on his wits; but he has gained facts; he learns his ignorance; he is cured of the insanity of deceit: has got moderation and real skill. The wise man always shows himself on the side of his assailants. It is more to his interest than it is to theirs to find his weak point. The wound cicatrizes and falls off from him like a dead skin, and when they would triumph, lo! he has passed on invulnerable. As long as all is said against me, I feel a certain assurance of success; but as soon as honeyed words of praysc are spoken for me, I feel as one that lies unprotected before his enemies.—EMERSON.

— GOOD MANNERS.—Good manners are the particular distinction of a gentleman. They elevate him in society, and in the estimation of all worthy people, and create for him that money can not buy.

In the education of our children nothing is more neglected, and to this is, in a large degree, attributable, the growing lack of respect and reverence among young people for their superiors.

Home is the first school of childhood. Here they should be early taught to be polite and well behaved, for the first mental impressions of a young child can not be obliterated by correction or forgetfulness. Parents can not exercise too great a degree of care in this examples they set before their children, and in the manners in which they expose them to impure and contaminating influences. The formation of human character is commonly the result of early associations.

State and Local Items.

The North Carolina State Grange met in this city on Wednesday, the 18th. There were represented in person 134 Granges. The meeting was composed of the very best citizens of this State.

NEWS DEPOTS.—A few years ago such an institution was not known in this country, now a great portion of the Daily and Pictorial papers, are circulated through the News Depots. You can go to L. Branson's Bookstore in Raleigh and subscribe for any paper at the publishers subscription rates. This is a great convenience to the public, and very much increases the general reading among the people.

FEW FIRM.—We invite attention to the New Advertisment of Messrs. Norris & Myatt, successors to Len H. Adams, Esq. We are personally acquainted with both of the young gentlemen, and speak advisedly when we say that they are reliable and have excellent business qualifications. Give them a call.

CONTRACTORS.—Read the advertisement of Messrs. Ellington, Atkins & Co., of Apex N. C. They are large dealers and are prepared to furnish all kinds of lumber, and make contracts on reasonable terms.

THE DIAMOND COTTON CHOPPER AND CULTIVATOR.—Since the exhibition of this valuable machine at our recent fairs, it has been further improved by the addition of an excellent planter. The machine is now complete. We know of no other implement combining so many good points. It may be used successfully, from the planting until the picking out of cotton. It is stout and durable, and so light and simple that it is drawn by a single horse and operated by any hand of average intelligence. It plants the seed with a greater uniformity and regularity than any other planter in use. It opens the furrow, deposits the seed and covers them at the same time. After planting the crop, it is used as a chopper,—as such it bars both sides, chops, dirts and weeds the young plants at one operation—leaving them in regular hills, 12 inches from centre to centre, at an immense saving to the planter, not only of time, but of money. After chopping season, it is converted into a most excellent sweep for cultivation between the rows. Next to the Cotton Gin it is the greatest invention ever made for the South. We learn that a large number of the choppers have already been sold, and many agents appointed in every State. The machine comes well recommended. Our enterprising friends, Messrs. A. G. Lee & McMackin have secured an agency in this city. See advertisement in another column.

Local Prohibition.

As a matter of general interest, especially to the friends of the temperance reform throughout the State, we publish the following Act:

TO PROHIBIT THE SALE OF SPIRITUOUS LIQUORS IN TOWNSHIPS WHERE THE PEOPLE SO DETERMINE.

SECTION 1. THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA DO ENACT, That it shall be the duty of the County Commissioners of any county, upon petition of one fourth of the qualified voters of any township in their respective counties, to order an election to be held on the first Monday in May in every year, to ascertain whether or not spirituous liquors shall or may be sold in said township or townships.

SEC. 2. That it shall be the duty of the sheriff of each county to hold such township elections when so ordered under the same rules and regulations as are prescribed by law for holding elections for members of the General Assembly, so far as the same may be applicable, except as herein modified.

SEC. 3. That any person allowed by law to vote for members of the General Assembly shall have the right to vote at such elections in the township where he is allowed to vote, and every such voter who favors the prohibition of the sale of spirituous liquors in his township, shall vote a ticket on which shall be written or printed the word "prohibition," and every such voter who favors such sale shall vote a ticket, on which shall be written or printed the word "license."

SEC. 4. That on the day next after any such election shall be held, the inspectors of such election and a justice of the peace of the township shall compare the votes polled in the township, and certify the number of votes cast in favor of "prohibition" and the number in favor of "license," and the result of such election to the Register of Deeds of the county, who shall first carefully copy such certificate in a book to be prepared and kept for that purpose, and then file the same among the papers of his office, and a certified copy from the book in which said certificate is so registered under the hand of the Register of Deeds, and the seal in the county shall be sufficient evidence of all cases and courts in this State of the result of the election in the townships to which the same may refer.

SEC. 5. That if a majority of the votes cast at any such election in any township shall have written or printed on the same the word "prohibition," then and in that case, it shall not be lawful for the county commissioners to license the sale of spirituous liquors, or for any person to sell any spirituous liquors within such township for one year, next after any such election, and if any person so prohibited shall sell any spirituous liquors within such township, such person offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction of such offence shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding one month. But if a majority of the votes cast shall have written or printed on the same the word "license," then spirituous liquors may be sold in such township as now provided by law and not otherwise. PROVIDED, That nothing herein contained shall effect localities in which the sale of spirituous liquors are prohibited by law.

SEC. 6. The Sheriff shall designate the Justice of the Peace in each township to aid in comparing and certifying the vote cast at such election, and the Register of Deeds shall designate inspectors of elections in each township. In case he shall fail, the Sheriff or his deputies shall make such appointment, and if any officer, or other persons shall fail to discharge any duty imposed by this Act, such person offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction in the Superior Court fined in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 7. This Act shall take effect and be in force from and after the first day of April, 1874

It affords us pleasure to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement, in another column, of Messrs. Pool & Hunt, Baltimore, Md., whose reputation as Manufacturers of first-class machinery is pre-eminent in the South, and second to none in the United States. For nearly a quarter of a century they have been prominently before the public, year by year strengthening their claims to public confidence, until, to-day, with an immense establishment, as perfect in its appointments as experience and mechanical skill can make it, they can send forth every article of their manufacture perfect and accurate in all of its parts, as tested by the fixed and high standards by which their work is regulated. They who have used their machinery can best vouch for the truth of what we have asserted.

The Grange Platform.

We yield much of our space to-day to the publication of the platform adopted by the National Grange at the St. Louis Convention.

Profoundly impressed with the truth that the National Grange of the United States should definitely proclaim to the world its general objects, we hereby unanimously make this declaration of the purposes of the Patrons of Husbandry:—

1. United by the strong and faithful ties of agriculture we unite our energies to protect by the good of our Order our country, and mankind.

2. We heartily indorse the motto, "In essentials unity, in non-essentials liberty; in all things charity."

3. We shall endeavor to advance our cause by laboring to accomplish the following objects: To develop a better and higher manhood and womanhood among ourselves, to enhance the comforts and attractions of our homes and strengthen our attachments to our pursuits; to foster mutual understanding and co-operation, to maintain inviolate our laws; to stimulate each other to labor to hasten the good times coming; to reduce our expenses, both individual and co-operative; to buy less and produce more in order to make our farms self-sustaining; to diversify our crops and crop no more than we can cultivate; to diminish the weight of our exports, selling less in the bushel and more in flour and fibres; to systemize our work and calculate intelligently on probabilities; to discountenance the credit system, the mortgage system, the fashion system and every other system tending to prodigality and bankruptcy. We propose meeting together, talking together, working together, buying together, selling together, and, in general, acting together for our mutual protection and the advancement of the associations may require. We shall avoid litigation as much as possible by arbitration in the grange. We shall constantly strive to secure entire harmony, good will and vital brotherhood among ourselves and to make our order perpetual. We shall earnestly endeavor to suppress personal, local, sectional and national prejudices, all unhealthy rivalry, all selfish ambition. Faithful adherence to these principles will insure our mental, moral, social and material advancement.

4. Our business interests. We desire to bring producers and consumers, farmers and manufacturers into the most direct and friendly relations possible. Hence we must dispense with a surplus of middlemen,—not that we are unfriendly to them, but we do not need them. Their surplus and their exactions diminish our profits. We wage no aggressive warfare against any other interests whatever. On the contrary, all our aims and all our efforts, so far as business is concerned, are not only for the benefit of producers and consumers, but also for all other interests that tend to bring these two parties into speedy and economical contact. Hence we hold that transportation companies of every kind are necessary to our success; that their interests are intimately connected with our interests, and harmonious action is mutually advantageous. Keeping in view the first sentence in our declaration of principles of action, that individual happiness depends upon general prosperity, we shall therefore advocate for every State the increase in every practicable way of all facilities for transporting cheaply to the seaboard, or between home producers and consumers, all productions of our country. We adopt it as a fixed purpose to open out the channels in nature's great arteries, that the life blood of commerce may flow freely. We are not enemies of railroads, navigable and irrigating canals, or of any corporations that will advance our industrial interests, nor of any laboring classes. In our noble order there is no Communism and no aggrarianism. We are opposed to such spirit and management of any corporation or enterprise as tends to oppress the people and rob them of their just profits. We are are not enemies to capital, but we oppose the tyranny of monopolies. We long to see the antagonism between capital and labor removed by common consent and by enlightened statesmanship worthy of the nineteenth century.—We are opposed to excessive salaries, high rates of interest and exorbitant percentage profits in trade, as they greatly increase our burdens and do not bear a proper proportion to the profits of the producer. We desire only self protection and the protection of every true interest offered by legitimate transactions, legitimate trade and legitimate profits. We shall advance the cause of education among ourselves and for our children by all just means within our power. We especially advocate for our agricultural and industrial colleges that practical agriculture, domestic science and all the arts which adorn the home be taught in their course of study.

5. We emphatically and sincerely assert the oft repeated truth taught in our organic law that the grange, national, State and subordinate is not a political or party organization. No grange, if true to its obligations, can discuss political or religious questions, nor call political conventions, nor nominate candidates, nor even discuss their merits in its meetings; yet the principles we teach underlie all true politics, all true statesmanship, and if properly carried out will tend to purify the whole political atmosphere of the country, for we seek the greatest good to the greatest number. But we must always bear it in mind that no one by becoming a grange member gives up that inalienable right and duty which belongs to every American citizen to take a proper interest in the politics of the country. On the contrary, it is right for every member to do all in his power legitimately to influence for good the action of any political party to which he belongs; it is his duty to do all he can in his own party to put down corruption and trickery, to see that none but competent, faithful and honest men, who will unflinchingly stand by our industrial interests, are nominated for all positions of trust, and to have carried out the principles which should always characterize every grange member, that the office should seek the man and not the man the office. We acknowledge the broad principle that difference of opinion is not crime, and hold that progress toward truth is made by differences of opinion, while the fault lies in the bitterness of controversy.—We desire a proper equality, and fairness, protection for the weak restraint upon the strong; in short, justly distributed burdens and justly distributed power. These are American ideas, the very essence of American independence, and to advocate the contrary is unworthy of the sons and daughters of an American Republic. We cherish the belief that sectionalism is, and of right should be, dead and buried with the past. Our work is for the present and the future in our agriculture, brotherhood and its purposes. We shall recognize no North, no South, no East, no West. It is reserved by every patron as his right as a freeman to affiliate with any party that will best carry out his principles.

6. Ours being peculiarly a farmers' institution we cannot admit all to our ranks. Many are excluded by the nature of our organization; not because they are professional men or artisans or laborers, but because they have not a sufficiently direct interest in tilling or pasturing the soil, or many have some interest in conflict with our purposes. But we appeal to all good citizens for their cordial co operation to assist us in our efforts towards reform, that we may eventually remove from our midst the last vestige of tyranny and corruption. We hail the general desire for fraternal harmony, equitable compromise and earnest co-operation as an omen of our future success.

7. It shall be an abiding principle with us to relieve any of our oppressed and suffering brotherhood by any means at our command.

Last, but not least we proclaim it among our purposes to inculcate a proper appreciation of the abilities and sphere of woman as is indicated by admitting her to membership and position in our order, imploring the continued assistance of our Divine Master to guide us in our work, we here pledge ourselves to labor and harmonious later on all future time to return by our united efforts to the wisdom, justice, fraternity and political purity of our forefathers.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the travelling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us none will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters for the office should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount in hand. If money is sent otherwise than herein specified it will be at the sender's risk.

Gleanings.

The Legislature adjourned sine die on the 16th instant.

The Statesville papers give a horrible account of the killing of a Mr. Neal by Joseph D. Elliott, at the St. Charles Hotel in Statesville, N. C., on Thursday of last week.

David Howard, a colored preacher from New Hanover, has recently been sentenced to five years in the penitentiary upon the charge of theft.

The Southern Home says: Col. Tyler Bennett, Hon. T. S. Ashe and Burt Fuller Esq. are mentioned for Democratic candidates for Judge in the 5th District. Judge Buxton will be probably the Republican candidate.

The Reformer in the 7th inst. contains a sermon and a biographical sketch of Gov. Vance.

The Richmond Press says forty seven citizens of Mecklenburg have located in Hickory since Nov. 1st last.

The Charlotte Observer says: On Saturday night a thief or thieves entered the barn of W. L. Yates Esq., editor of the Democrat, and stole therefrom three sets of harness, two horse collars and one fine bridle. In addition to this the thief tore the gates from their hinges and left them lying on the ground.

The receipts of tobacco in the Durham market are very large at present and the article commands a good price.

General News.

W. Page McCarty who killed Mordecai in a duel last summer at Richmond, and whose trial has just been concluded, was convicted of "involuntary manslaughter" and fined five hundred dollars. He has appealed to the Governor for pardon.

The New York Herald, Tribune, and many of the other leading papers speak in terms of commendation of the resolutions adopted by the National Grange.

James Gordon Bennett, proprietor of the New York Herald has given $10,000 to supply soup to the poor of that city.

The Patrons of Husbandry, of Georgia have resolved upon planting only one third of the usual crop in cotton and the farmers in all parts of that State are putting in heavy crops of wheat.

The Empress of Germany is one of the most simply dressed of women, except on occasions of ceremony. Her dry-goods bills are said to be less than the wives of many of the merchants. She drives out in a calico dress. A Princess Bismarck, Irish and comely, though past sixty, superintends her farm work, goes about the house with a great bunch of keys in her girdle, and her house is filled with knitted quilts and such like, the evidences of her skill and industry.

CATTLE IN EUROPE.—In a paper recently read by Herr J. Rüegg at Seebezirk, in Switzerland, the aggregate number of cattle in all Europe is estimated at 94,709,000 head. Of this number 13,000,000 are found in Germany, 12,000,000 in Austria, 12,000,000 in France 10,000,000 in England, 9,000,000 in Turkey, 1,500,000 in Spain and Portugal, 4,000,000 in Denmark, 3,500,000 in Italy, 2,500,000 in Norway and Sweden, 2,000,000 in Holland and Belgium, 1,000,000 in Greece, 1,000,000 in Switzerland. In proportion to superficial area and number of the population, Switzerland stands at the top of the list, having 268 head of cattle to every 1,000 acres, and 557 head to every 1,000 inhabitants. In Spain, on the other hand, there are only thirty-nine head of cattle to every 1,000 acres.

Washington News.

President Grant, in his appointments of Cadets at large to West Point, confined them to the sons of army officers.

THE FINANCIAL QUESTION.—The following is a special to the New York Tribune of recent date.

"Both Houses of Congress, but more especially the House of Representatives, are undergoing a course of education on financial questions which, if it does not produce valuable results in actual legislation, will, it is now pretty safe to predict, avert the ruinous consequences that were threatened when the session opened. This education comes in part from the discussions already had, but far more from the articles in the newspapers, the expressions of the best informed of the people, the criticisms on the numerous bills introduced, and from conversations between the members which are gradually diffusing the knowledge of the subject possessed by the few among the mass of the uninformed and the half-informed. Time is therefore working for the Conservatives, and people who want to see something done toward resumption, or at least to have some assurance that there will be no further issues of irredeemable paper currency need feel no alarm if the do-nothing policy is continued for some weeks longer. The inflationists are losing ground daily, and so long as this is the case the Conservatives feel that it is wise to wait before seeking definite action on any of the numerous currency measures pending. A few important points in relation to future action may now be regarded as settled. These are:

Ninth: That no further issue of green-backs will be authorized beyond the amount of the so-called reserve that still remains in Secretary Richardson's hands, and that inflation to the extent of putting this out will not be conceded without a hard struggle.

Second: That Mr. Kelley's incontrovertible Bond bill will not be passed, nor anything akin to it.

Third: That free banking will not be authorized unless coupled with some provisions for future resumption.

Marriages.

Married, on the 1st inst, by Rev. C. M. Pepper, near Thomasville, Mr. Horace Johnson and Miss Rebecca Perry.

Married, Feb. 12th, 1874, by Rev. J. J. Renn, Mr. James Whitt and Miss Mary E. Morris, all of Durham, N. C.

By the same, Feb. 15th, 1874, Mr. Allen T. White of Durham and Miss Kate M. Gattis, of Orange county, N. C.

Married, by Rev. W. G. Gannon, Feb. 4th, 1874, Samuel Parsons and Eveline Sutton, all Newberne, N. C.

By Rev. W. G. Gannon, Feb. 8th, 1874, John T. Guthrie and Sophia A. Boesser of Newberne, N. C.

By Rev. W. G. Gannon, Feb 12th, 1874 James T. Matthews, of Newberne and Francis May Richardson, of Craven county, N. C.

Married, on the 12th of February, 1874, in the church in Trenton, Jones county, by Rev. W. H. Cunningim, John P. Brogden to Hannah Wilcox, daughter of Thos. and Winfred Wilcox.

Deaths.

Little Frances Reynolds, daughter of Joseph and Amanda E. Wasden was born the 14th day of September, 1868 and was married to Mr George Osbert Reynolds on the 24th day of September, 1873.

She passed away at half past one o'clock on the morning of the 8th inst., after a brief illness of two days and a half, aged 18 years, 4 months and 30 days

She was married only 4 months and 13 days, and is now arrayed in her bridal robes for the cold and silent tomb.

Her sufferings were very great until within an hour of her death, when her face resumed its natural, serene and sweet expression and look,—and then she departed without a struggle. After death she looked like she was sweetly sleeping—dreaming of peace and happiness; and so natural and life like was Lillie's face, that you could hardly believe that she was really dead.

Lillie was an obedient and loving daughter an affectionate sister and a devoted wife

She was a consistent member of the church, and an humble follower of Christ.

In the spring time of life she prepared for death—she believed that she would die young.

We can scarcely believe that she is dead, yet it is so. Such is the will of God.

BROTHER.

"The way is dark, my Father, cloud on cloud
Is gathering thickly o'er my head; and lond
The thunderings roll above me. See! I stand
Like one bewildered. Father take my hand,
And through the gloom
Lead safely home
Thy child."

"The way is dark, my child but leads to light,
I would not have thee always walk by sight;
My dealings now thou canst not understand;
I mean it so; but I will take thy hand
And through the gloom
Lead safely home
My child."

Letters & Funds

Rev S S Bryant paper sent. B Hearne. T W Smith. Rev T P Rickard paper sent. J M Campbell for self 2. 4.35 for A W L. B W. Payne & Sons. Ed Alden. S M Pettengill & Co for adv 26.08. Rev C D Pepper. G P Rowell & Co. J K Elkins. Rev P P L Herman for A Adams 2. Wm Long 2. Rev D Culbreth for Miss E L Newsom 2. J W S Pearce 2. Wm Wms 1. Mrs H Richardson 2. Saml Spocks 2. D Lane 2. Rev M C Thomas for subscribers sent 6. Rev A D Betts for W S Cason 2. Rev T M Hendly, 2. Wm Alden 2. T d Caudle 2. Mrs S E Blackwell 2. G B Rushing 1. J W Smith 2. Rev J B Trawick 2. Rev W B Wilcox. C W Hunt. Rev P L Reid. D C Clark for self 2, for Books 3. B W Mann paper continued. Rev G W Ivy. Mrs M E Reives. Nathan Thompson. Mrs G W Perkins self 2. Rev J A Princeer. Rev J J Renn paper continued. Jas B Mason. G P Rowell & Co. Mrs Lindly paper sent. C Stinson American Sentinel Co. Rev V A Shharpe. H H Wolfe. Rev R G Hazard for H M Gorrie. M W G Gaither self 2. to November 12th 1874 Rev L L Hendrix for subscribers 3. Rev J E Thompson for A S Cowhan 2. R B Lawrence paper changed. Pool & Hunt. Rev J J Carlen. Rev W H Cunninggim Rev W C Gannon for E Hanks 2. Rev L J Holden for subscriptions sent 6. W E Smith for Mrs M Smith 2. Rev J W Lewis for Mrs Abigail St Clair 2. Abi Robbins 2. Mrs Ann Walker 2. Miss A J Sharpe for subscribers sent 5. Rev O J Brent for Mrs E Marshall 2.00. C Lawson 1. Miss S Brent 1. Rev T A Coon, all right now. T A Long for Mrs Z A Long 2. F F Norward 2. Sp4 Age 1.50. B Stancel for self 2. Rev J Tillett for A J Brinsfield 2. Mrs D M Totton 2. J W Beard. Rev W M Jordan for Mrs M V Bumpass 2. W H Bally 2. A H Courtney self 2. Rev Jas Mahoney for Thos Bullard 2. Mes Grandy & Son. Hostetter & Smith. Walker & Taylor. Rev H H Gibbons for W Hazzlewood 2. S S Harrison self 2. Rev S R Trawick. Rev J L Keen for Mrs Keen 2. M A Patterson. W J Bushall Radway & Co. S C White for Mrs B W Bebo 2. Miss O Hellen 2 Rev L E Stacy for Mrs M S Waddell. Dr B F Troy 2 self 2. Rev A D Betts for W F Nash 2. J W Aden 2 Wm R Beshamer 1. Rev J S Nelson for H Lee 2 Rev J A Belk 2. F A Rhodes self 2. Rev L Brasson for Mrs A Kirkman 2. J B West 2. W C Mann 2. Rev J E Thompson for W C Bledsoe 2. J R Harris self 2. D D Graffenrieth paper continued. Rev S W Thompson. W F Strond for Isaiah Cole 2. Zeno Hill Green self 2. A N Johnson paper changed. Rev W H Cole for R Harrison 2. Rev T L Triplett paper sent. M L Anderson 1. D Womble. Rev V A Sharpe. W W Sharpe & Co.

Appointments.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND—IN PART.

Tar River cir. at Plank Chapel,	March	14-15
Robesville cir. at Earpsboro,	"	21-22
Cary cir. at Hollad's,	"	28-29
Wilson cir. at Mt. Pleasant,	April	4- 5
Granville cir. at Moore's	"	11-12
Henderson cir. at Henderson,	"	18-19

W. H. ROBBITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT

1ST ROUND.

Person at Roxboro,	Jan. 31	Feb. 1
Flat River at Mt. Bethel,	Feb	7- 8
Leasburg at Leasburg,	"	14-15
Alamance at Phillips Chapel,	"	21-22
High Rock at Shiloh,	Feb. 28	March 1
Yanceyville at Yanceyville,	March	7- 8
Deep River at Fair Promise.	"	14-15
Pittsboro at Pittsboro,	"	21-22

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt. Tirzah. N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

1ST ROUND—IN PART.

Wilmington, Front Street, Jan. 31 and Feb.		1
Clinton,	Feb.	7- 8
Keenansville at Keenansville,	"	14-15
Smithville at Zion,	"	21-22
Topsail at Prospect, Feb. 28th and Mar.		1st
Elizabeth at Bladen Springs,	"	7- 8
Bladen at Center,	"	14-15
Onslow at Richlands,	"	21-22
Cokesbury,	"	28-29

I earnestly entreat every official member to be present at Quarterly Conferences. Let the Recording Steward bring his book.

W. S. BLACK, P. E.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.

1ST ROUND.

Pineville at Pineville. Jan. 31 and Feb.		1
Pleasant Grove at Pleasant Grove, Feb.		7- 8
Concord sta.	"	14-15
Albermarle and Stanley,	Albermarle, "	21-22
Whadesboro st.	Feb. 28 and March	1
Mt. Pleasant at Gold Hill	March	7- 8
Ansonville at Concord,	"	14-15
Wadesboro and Lillesville,	at Bethel "	21-22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

1ST ROUND.

Rock Spring ct. at Bethel,	Jan. 31	Feb. 1
South Fork ct. at Zion.	Feb.	7- 8
Newton ct. at Newton.	"	14-15
Happy Home ct. at Hickory st.	"	21-22
Lenoir ct. at Bethany,	Feb. 28 and	March 1
Morganton at Morganton,	"	7- 8
Marion circuit & Upper Broad River Mis.	at Marion,	" 14-15
Double Shoals & South Mt. Mis.	at Elliotts,	" 21-22
Cherry Mountain ct. at Oak Grove,		" 28-29
Rutherfordton ct. and Columbus Mis.	at Rutherfton	April 4- 5

The District Stewards will meet at the District Parsonage in Shelby, Wednesday March 18th 1874. A full attendance is desired.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

1st ROUND.

Wayne at Salem, Jan. 31st and Feb.		1st
Jones, Shady Grove,	"	7- 8
Lenoir, Newb'n ct.	at Lenoir Institute, "	14-15
Mount Olive at Mount Olive,	"	21-22
Neuse and Swift Creek	at Jackson, Feb	28 & Mar. 1st
Bubbsboro,	"	7- 8
Snow Hill.	"	14-15
Wilson,	"	21-22

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT

1ST ROUND.

Roanoke at Ebenezer	Jan 31	Feb. 1
Williamston at Williamston	Feb	7- 8
Columbia at Scuppernong.	"	14-15
Plymouth and Jamesville	at Plymouth	" 21-22
Bath at Bath,	Feb. 28 and	March 1
Matamuskeet at Swan Quarter		March 7 8
Washington and Greenville, Tarboro' at Tarboro',	at Washington.	March 14-15 " 21-22

The District Stewards will please meet at Tarboro'on Saturday, March 21st. They are the following: Jor Warrenton, Col. S. Davis Warren. —Tarboro' J. W. Jones, Bath, Walter Clark. Mattamuskeet, T W Jones. Washington and Greenville B W. Brown. Williamston, R. A. Weatherspy. Columbia, W. C. Puckett. Plymouth and Greenville, J. W. Latham.

WM. CLOSS, P. E.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

FIRST ROUND.

Yadkinville ct. at Yadkinville, Jan. 31		Feb. 1
Salisbury st.	Feb.	7- 8
Salisbury ct. at South River	"	14-15
Wilkes ct & Mt. Mis. at Wilkesboro,	"	21-22
Mt. Airy st.	Feb. 28	March 1
Surry ct & Sauratou Mis. at Cross Roads	March	7- 8
Alexander ct. at Taylorsville,	"	14-15
Iredell ct. at Turnersburg,	"	21-22

District Stewards will meet me in Olin on Wednesday, 11 o'clock, A. M., March 18. A full attendance is earnestly desired.

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Olin, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

1st ROUND.

Laurinburg, Caledonia,	Jan. 31 and	Feb. 1
Rockingham,	Feb.	7- 8
Pee Dee,	"	14-15
Fayetteville.	"	21-22
Uwharie, New Hope,	Feb. 28 and	March 1
Monigomery,	March	7- 8
Buckhorn, Barclayaville,	"	14-15

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage, N. C.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.

FIRST ROUND.

Trinity & Carraway at T. College, Jan. 31 and		Feb. 1.
South Guilford at Pleasant Garden	"	7- 8
Forsythe & Winston at Pine Grove,	"	14-15
Madison at Bethesda,	"	21-22
North Guilford at Friendship,	and March	28th 1
Stokes at Antioch,	"	7- 8
Wentworth at Love's	"	14-15
Davidson at Ebenezer,	"	21-22

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

The Markets.

Raleigh Market—Retail Prices
Feb. 24, 1874.

CORRECTED WEEKLY.

COTTON	13 to 14
BACON—Baltimore smoked,	9@11
" —unsmoked,	9@10
" —strips,	9 1-2@
" —shoulders,	10@11
" —N. Hams,	15@16
BUTTER—per lb.	25@30
BEESWAX—per lb.	25@30
BEEF—on hoof,	10@15
COFFEE—per lb	24@35
CHEESE—per lb.	20@25
COTTON YARN—per bale,	1 15@1
CORN—per bushel,	90@1 00
CHICKENS—per piece,	20@25
EGGS—per dozen,	15@20
FLOUR—per barrel,	8.50@9
FODDER—per hundred lbs,	1 00@
HAY—per hundred lbs,	1 25@
HIDES—green, per lb,	6@ 7
" —dry, per lb,	12@15
HERRINGS, N. C.—per barrel,	7 00@8 00
LEATHER—per lb,	30@40
LARD—per pound,	12@15
MOLASSES—per gallon,	37@38
MEAL—per bushel,	95@1 10
OATS—per bushel,	75@
" —per 100 lbs,	1 80@1 50
ONIONS—per bush,	75@1 00
PEASE—stock,	1 00@
" —white,	1 40@1 50
POTATOES—Irish, per bushel,	75@1 00
SUGAR—crushed	13@16
" —extra C,	12@16
" —P. R	10@
" —common,	10@12 1-2
SALT—per sack,	2 75@3 00
TALLOW—per lb,
VINEGAR—per gallon,	40@ 60

New Advertisements.

M. T. NORRIS
Late with
Len H. Adams.

W. A. MYATT, Jr.
Formerly with
J. P. Gulley & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO LEN H. ADAMS.)

Having purchased the entire stock of goods of Len H. Adams, we will continue the

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

Grocery & Commission Business,

AT HIS OLD STAND,

No. 1 Exchange Place and No. 1 Martin Street, where we will keep constantly on hand a choice and carefully selected stock of

HEAVY GROCERIES.

SPECIAL ATTENTION given to the sale purchase and storage of cotton.

Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

A continuance of the patronage shown the old firm is respectfully solicited by us, and we hope to merit increased confidence by prompt and faithful attention to all orders entrusted to us.

Very respectfully,

NORRIS & MYATT.

I have this day sold my stock and rented my store to the above firm, with many wishes for their success. I will continue the cotton commission business at the office of my old stand.

Respectfully,

LEN H. ADAMS.

Feb 25-12m.

JAMES LEFFEL'S
IMPROVED DOUBLE
Turbine Water Wheel.

POOLE & HUNT, Baltimore,
MANUFACTURERS FOR THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST.

Nearly 7000 now in use, working under heads varying from 2 to 80 feet 24 sizes, from 5¾ to 96 inches.

The most powerful Wheel in the Market,
And most economical in use of Water.
Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free.

MANUFACTURERS ALSO, OF

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Boilers Babcock & Wilcox Patent Tubulous Boiler, Klamath's Crusher for Minerals, Saw and Grist Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Machinery for White Lead Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.

SEND FOR CIRCULARS.

Feb 25-6m

TWENTY-SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PEN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

OFFICE—NO. 921 CHESTNUT STREET.

ASSETS, January 1st, 1873, at Cost..... $3,909,909,56

RECEIPTS.

Premiums received	$926,844.07
Interest received and accrued	271,188.29
	$1,264,827.16
	$5,173,829 72

DISBURSEMENTS

Losses and Endowments	$299,363 30
Surplus allowed to reduce premiums, &c	428,915.66
Commissions, Salaries and other expenses	196,245.55
	$966,481.71
Assets at cost	$4,207,098.01

ASSETS.

United States 5 and 6 per. cent. Bonds
Philadelphia and other City Bonds.....	$1,874,784 50
Mortgage Per cent. Railroad Bonds.....
Bank and Railroad Stock.....
Mortgages and Ground Rents, all first liens	1,618,565.16
Premium Notes secured by Policies	500,736.54
Loans on Collaterals	76,419 08
Net Premiums on Policies, not reported, &c.	6",824 20
Scrip Dividends purchased	205,235.83
Cash on hand and in Bank and Trust Companies	172,907.19
Real Estate, Company's Buildings	76,000 00
Interest due and accrued on Loans	58,941.32
Furniture at Home Offices	9,253.14
Assets at Market Value	$4,111,006.96

LIABILITIES

Loss not yet due	$150,000.00
Claims in Agents &c	1,167 18
Amount required to reinsure at 4 per cent	3,510,000.64
Scrip Dividends of the Company outstanding	338,738.00
	$4,046,927.47
Surplus for Policy Holders	$964,799.49

SAMUEL G. HUEY, President.
H. S. STEPHENS, 2d Vice President.
HENRY AUSTIN, Secretary.

Liberal contracts made with Agents. Apply to Home Office.

Feb 25-1w.

NATIONAL HOTEL.

Delightfully Situated, next to Capitol Square,
RALEIGH, N. C.

A NEW HOUSE.
Fine Rooms, well Furnished and Fitted up in the best style.
ATTENTIVE SERVANTS.
The Table Daily Supplied with the Best this and other Markets Afford

C. S. BROWN,
PROPRIETOR.

Late of Hayden House Salisbury N. C.
Feb. 25—8 mos.

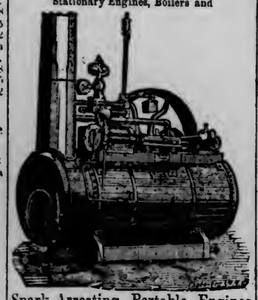
CANVASSERS send No. of your Lodge and same ink paper. We will convince you agents either or expect. Some Pictures for Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights Pythias, Grangers, Red Men, Mechanics, etc., are making double they could any other way; work permanent. J. HALE PERKINS & CO, Printers & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.

Feb 24-12m

Established 1810.

R. W. PAYNE, B. S. PAYNE, D. W. PAYNE.

B. W. PAYNE & SONS,
Corning Foundry and Machine Shop,
CORNING, STEUBEN CO., N. Y.
Manufacturers of
Stationary Engines, Boilers and



Spark-Arresting Portable Engines
For Plantation Use.
Delivered Free on Board Ship in New York City.
Send for Circular.
Feb 25 12m

J. McC. ELLINGTON, Geo. W. ATKINS. T. C. DAVIS, Jno. W. THOMPSON.

ELLINGTON, ATKINS & CO.,
Contractors, House Builders,
Manufacturers & Dealers in all kinds of
DRESSED LUMBER, DOORS, BLINDS, Sash, Mouldings, Brackets, &c., &c.,
And are also Agents for Bristelass Juniper Shingles.
APEX, N. C.
REFER TO
Dr. W. J. Hawkins, Prest R. & G. and R. & A. Railroads, Ridgeway, N. C. Capt. A. B. Andrews, Supt. R. & G. and R. & A. Rail Roads, Raleigh, N. C. J. A. Wiley, Cashier Chatham National Bank, Raleigh, N. C. Col. J. M. Heck, Raleigh, N. C. R. D. Wade, Esq. M. M. of R. & B. R. R., N. C. Div. Company Shops, N. C. Col. L. C. Jones, Pres. W. R. R. Fayetteville, N. C.
Feb 25-tf

DR. T. C. SMITH. A. M. HAMMOND.

SMITH & HAMMOND,
WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Just received
100 Barrels Kerosene Oil,
10,000 lbs Pure White Lead in Oil.

Robert T. Gray,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.
Refers by permission to
Hon. R. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. I. G. Lash, Pres. First National Bank of Salem
John G. Williams, " Salem " " Raleigh
Rev. J. S. Bobbitt, Editor of Raleigh ADVOCATE.
Rev. A. W Mangum, Raleigh, N. C.

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING
Silver Tipped Shoes.
Feb 18 6m

FOR SALE.

A fine Carriage, two single Dump Carts, a set of Carriage Harness and Harness for the Carts. Sold together or separately. Apply early to

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN.

Feb 18 tf

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.
Sept 10-tf

54 FAYETTEVILLE STREET,
RALEIGH, N. C.
D. S. WAITT
IS OFFERING
EXTRAORDINARY BARGAINS
IN
Ready Made Clothing, Dry Goods, and Piece Goods, which have been purchased FOR CASH AT
EXTREMELY LOW FIGURES.
HIS STOCK OF
BOOTS, SHOES, HATS AND CAPS
AND
GENT'S FURNISHING GOODS
IS COMPLETE.
Also a full line of
Trunks, Valises, Umbrellas, Notions, and Hoisery.
LOOK OUT FOR HIS SPRING STOCK.

Which will be on in a few days. Country Merchants, who buy for cash, will consult their interests by giving D. S. WAITT a call first. Remember the place

D. S. WAITT,
No. 54 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Feb 11-4m.

ODELL, RAGAN & CO.,
Wholesale Dealers in General Merchandise,
GREENSBORO', N. C.

We call the attention of the merchants of North Carolina to the fact that we have opened our large wholesale house, and that we are prepared to sell them goods, as cheap as they can buy in any market. We are the agents for Cedar Falls, Deep River, Pendleton and Alamance Manufacturing Co's. Sheeting, Yarns, Plaids and Stripes Bags. Parties ordering these goods will get them as cheap free as if they order direct from the factory. We also sell Salem Jeans at factory prices. Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed

Feb 4-12m.

WE WANT 1,000 FIRST-CLASS BOOK AGENTS

at once, to sell two of the most popular works ever published:

U. S. BONDS a record of prison life at Fort Delaware, by Rev. L. W. E. Handy.
AND
MARSHALL'S LIFE OF
Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Send for Circular at once.

TURNBULL BROTHERS,
Baltimore, Md.

Jan 28 2m

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND BLEACHER!

The Latest, Best and Cheapest Washer made!

That Steam Washers are the best kind is generally conceded. That the PEERLESS is best of its kind will be readily admitted as soon as it is seen and tested.

It causes all the water to flow up through pipes and start down through the clothes.

The water has not to go to the centre, or either end of the boiler to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and hence washes all parts of the clothing alike.

It pours the water in sixteen streams, on all parts of the surface of the clothing.

The entire process through the clothes many times per minute, and cleans them in 15 to 30 minutes!—With this machine, any lady who chooses, may do the washing of her family in a very short time, with very little work, without stoop, without rubbing, or damage to the fabric, when soon sore and quiet that her husband would hardly know when washday comes!

The cost of the machine soon saved in difference in wear. Soon saved to suit needs in labor required.

A bed quilt or base collar—the finest or coarsest fabric—a single piece or boiler full, washed with equal ease.

The machine can be made for any stove boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sails for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

As to name indicates it is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using go with each machine. They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 9)	$8.00
For " alone	5.00
For washer and boiler 30 inches long	9.50
For " alone	6.00

Sent anywhere per express on receipt of price by J. A JONES, Proprietor, Raleigh, N. C.

ALF. A. TEMPSON. JOEL D. WHITAKER.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE

Thompson & Whitaker,
Wholesale Grocers and
Commission Merchants'
Have now in store

One car load Sugar-House Syrup.
One car load Marshall's Liverpool Salt.
Ten sacks Rio Coffee.
Ten barrels Sugar, all grades.
Five thousand pounds Bulk Clear Rib Sides.
One tierce best Carolina Rice.
Twenty boxes assorted Candy.
One hundred bushels Corn.
Twenty barrels N. C. Flour, warranted family.
Thirty-five cases Boots and Shoes.

All of which will be sold at the lowest market rates and guaranteed to be as represented.

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Feb 4-12m.

EPILEPSY OR FITS.

Immediate relief and permanent cure can be had for this distressing disease by the use of Rose' Epileptic Remedies. No charge made for treatment or medicines unless a permanent cure is effected. Circulars, terms, etc., sent to all applicants. Address, ROSE BROS., 27 Main Street, Richmond, Indiana.

feb 4—4w

W. F. KORNEGAY,
Goldsboro', N. C.
Wholesale and Retail Dealer
FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE,
COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.
Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.
FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them.

Jan 28-tf

OFFICE OF
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

We desire to call the attention of dealers to the celebrated

BOLLES COTTON HOE,

manufactured expressly for us by

The L. Bolles Hoe & Tool Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

These Hoes are made of the finest quality of steel, by skilled labor. They are not made of ROLLED STEEL but plated under the hammer, are highly polished and are noted for beauty and durability; in short, they are as near perfect as they can be made. The shank is an improvement on the old style, being solid and neatly shaped. The blade is peculiar in form, and the handles made from fine white timber.

Every Hoe is warranted perfect in stock, temper, finish and durability. We earnestly request those about making purchases for the coming season to examine them.

Sold only in North Carolina by
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.
OR THEIR AGENTS.

Ask for the Bolles Cotton Hoe, and see that the name is stamped on the blade.

NOTE.—We sold in 1873—596 Dozen of these Hoes, in each and every instance they gave entire satisfaction. We assert that the Bolles Hoe is the very best ever manufactured.

WE ARE USING Swedes Iron
and the Finest English Steel!

The best brands of American and Swedes iron and English extra refined Cast Steel.

USED IN THE MANUFACTURE OF AXES AND EDGE TOOLS.

We offer the VERY BEST AXE that can be manufactured by skilled workmen and of superior materials and trust that we will receive the support of the trade.

ORDERS FILLED IMMEDIATELY.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.
Sole Agents, Raleigh, N. C.

TRINITY
COLLEGE.

The Spring Session will commence
JANUARY 17th, 1873.

Students may take a select, or the full course at their own option. There are eleven schools in the Institution, viz: Latin, Greek, Mathematics, English Literature, Natural Science, Modern Languages, Metaphysics, Engineering and Analytical Chemistry, Commercial, Law and Divinity.

Entire expenses for five months, for tuition, board, washing and fuel $90 to $100.

B. CRAVEN.

Jan. 7 3m.

Cutler's Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iroding Inhalant.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption it takes in season. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. All Druggists have it for sale, neatly put up with inhalers enough for two months' use. Price $2 00. Free by mail on receipt of price. Send for a circular.

W. H. SMITH & Co., Prop's,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Jan 28-6m

W. M. JONES,
CAREY, N. C.
Contractor, House Builder,

Manufacturer and dealer in dressed Lumber, Sashes, Blinds, Doors, and all other kinds of Building Material.

feb 4-tf

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE.
LENOIR, N. C.

The Spring session for 1874 will open on Monday, Jan. 12th.

Board and Tuition per session, with music, vocal and instrumental, $110 00

Traveling preachers' daughters, tuition free.

Board and Tuition always in advance.

Send for a catalogue.

Address,
Rev. W. M. ROBEY, Pres.

nov 19-3mos.

PIANOS, PIANOS, ORGANS.
Nat L. Brown,
DEALER IN
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Agent for HORACE WATERS & SONS celebrated CONCERTO and ORCHESTRAL ORGANS and PIANOS.

ALSO DEALER IN Children's Carriages,
Fancy Goods,
Toys,
Baskets,
&c., &c.

BIRDS AND BIRD CAGES.
Confectionaries,
Fruits, Nuts,
Fresh Crackers
and Cakes,
CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to give me a call. Prices suitable to the times.

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

Illustrated Catalogue of Pianos and Organs mailed.

jan 14—tf

BUY AND USE
Game Cock White Lead.

We offer this justly celebrated White Lead knowing it to be the best in the market.

Using large quantities and having Practical Painters in our employ all the time, we profess to be judges of White Lead, and advise all who contemplate painting to use this Lead and no other.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

THOS. H BRIGGS & SONS,

Sole Agents for Raleigh and

DEALERS IN

Hardware, Cutlery, Wagon and Buggy Materials,

Oils, Glass and Colors.

Jan 28-tf.

NEW GOODS FOR FALL AND WINTER
1873.
AT
ALEX. CREECH'S.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TRADE. CONSUMERS OF DRY GOODS, &c.

MARBLE HALL
AND
TEMPLE OF FANY.
FAYETTEVILLE STREET,
RALEIGH, N. C.

I take pleasure in announcing that my business has so largely increased and its demand is so great that it has constrained me to buy in

A MUCH LARGER AND MORE ATTRACTIVE STOCK THAN HERETOFORE.

My Goods are bought with every available advantage and doing business at a very small per centage I am able to offer INDUCEMENTS IN PRICES that are rarely equalled. My

DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT

was never more complete, embracing all new Fabrics and every new Shades, from the most delicate to the most brilliant. Call and examine my

BLACK SILKS,
JAPANESE SILKS,
IRISH POPLINS,
CASHMERES,
SATEENS,
ALPACAS, &c.

And a very large variety of Low Pri

Youth's Department.

Charity.

BY M. E. H.

Up and down the village street,
Though the cold winds blow,
Comes a little maiden fair,
Dancing through the snow.

Oh! a winsome one is she,
Fair as any pearl;
Dearest one of sisters three,
Is that little girl.

What cares she for wind or storm,
Or the blasts that blow;
Lightly o'er the frozen drifts,
Onward will she go.

Right among the suffering poor,
In the crowded street;
Little tokens now she scatters,
Little blessings sweet.

Falls her shadow like a wraith,
O'er the drifted snow;
Bringing blessings to the hearts,
Longing for her so.

Every little hungry child,
Knows the dear one's face;
Every little grateful heart,
Has for her a place.

Do you ask the darling's name?
Just as if I'd tell!
Every boy and girl in town
Ought to know her well!

Ought to know and love the child
Who, with ready hand,
Scatters blessings to the poor
Up and down the land.

Still you want to know her name,
Ah! then—let me see—
Until you can know her well,
Call her Charity.

"As Good as he Gave."

"What's the matter with you to-night, Gerald? What are you so thoughtful about? Anything wrong, my boy?"

Gerald Manning looked up as his father spoke, and said gravely, "It's only that I am a little troubled about Ned Cooper. It is not pleasant to be hated as that fellow hates me."

"What have you done to deserve such hatred, Gerald?" asked Mr. Manning.

"Nothing, except of course to try to be at the top of my class; but he was always at the top, I believe, before I was moved up to that form, and I suppose it is natural that he should feel vexed at having a younger boy a little above him, though I am sure it is little enough, and I could not help it, could I?"

"I do not know that you could," replied Mr. Manning; "but you need not make yourself unhappy about it. If you have done nothing wrong, you can leave the rest; and now you have come home for the holidays, any ill-will on the part of Ned Cooper will have time to die out before you meet again."

"No, papa," rejoined Gerald, "I am afraid we shall meet again sooner than you think, or than I wish. Ned Cooper's father has taken a house not far from here; and they are to move into it this week, so that we may see each other often. O papa, I never had an enemy in my life before, and it makes me feel very uncomfortable when I think of what he said just as I was leaving school. 'Look here, Manning,' said he, 'you have just got my place in the school, and I'll never forgive you; and if ever I get a chance of paying you out, you may be sure I shall do it.'"

"Well, my boy, you are not afraid of him, are you?" asked Mr. Manning, with a smile.

Gerald smiled too. "No, papa, you know I am not afraid, but I cannot bear to have any one feeling like this."

"Well, Gerald," said his father, "my advice to you is to carry the whole matter in prayer to God, and ask Him to soften the heart of this lad, and watch yourself carefully too, and be sure that no bitter feeling rises in your heart to prevent your forgiving Ned Cooper in all sincerity." So saying, Mr. Manning left the room, and Gerald, after thinking over for awhile what his father had been saying, betook himself to his workshop, as he called a little room which his parents had fitted up with every thing to suit his mechanical tastes.

Gerald had natural talent for the use of tools, and nothing gave him more enjoyment than a morning spent in his workshop. On this day, however, he had a little thing to do. A few weeks before, an uncle of Gerald's had brought him, as a present, a beautiful little ship; but Gerald's young cousin had got hold of it during Gerald's absence, and had pulled it about until the rigging and sails were quite spoiled, and the paint rubbed from the sides of the vessel. Now to restore all its former beauty to the little ship, was Gerald's great concern, and this was the task he set himself. The job took very much longer than he had expected, and several days went by before the rigging of the Sea Gull, as he called his boat was completed. However, it was finished at last, and Gerald, full of triumph at his success, placed it on the sent of the open window, and went out for a long walk in the woods.

The air was so sweet and fresh, the wild flowers were so plentiful, that the afternoon slipped by quickly, and it was tea time before Gerald turned his steps homeward.

"Come, my boy, you are rather late," said Mrs. Manning, as her son walked in; "sit down at once, Gerald, and have your tea: I am sure you must need it."

The meal passed merrily; then Gerald said, rising from the table, "I must go and have a look at my Sea Gull; the paint ought to be about dry, by now."

He left the room, but in a moment Mr. and Mrs. Manning heard a cry of distress, which made them follow quickly.

There stood Gerald, holding in his hand the little vessel, once so bright and new, now spoilt and defaced almost past knowing. The paint had been rubbed and daubed while still wet—the slender masts were broken off short, the pretty white sails were torn to shreds—the vessel was quite spoilt.

"Papa," said Gerald, "I know who has done this; this is some of Ned Cooper's work. He has long known that I had a workshop, and he has passed by, and seen this boat in the window, and he has spoiled it to revenge himself upon me. I shall never forgive him—never, never!"

Mr. Manning laid his hand upon the boy's shoulder, and said quietly, "Gerald, you are forgetting yourself; I feel for your distress, but your duty remains the same."

"But, papa," cried Gerald with a deep sob, "one cannot help being angry about it. How could he be so mean, so cruel? I should like to give him as good as he gave."

Mr. Manning saw that the best plan to quiet Gerald would be to leave him quite to himself; so, drawing his wife's hand through his arm, he left the room, shutting the door behind them.

It was quite two hours before Gerald was seen again, and then it was just bed-time, and he came to say good-night. His face was very pale, but he was quiet, and even cheerful; and as his parents kissed him, they felt sure that he had conquered his passion, and forbore to ask him any questions.

The next morning Gerald said to Mr. Manning, "Papa, may I go into the town with you this morning? There is something I want to get there."

"Certainly you may, my dear," replied Mr. Manning; and accordingly Gerald was set down at a shop door in the town, while Mr. Manning proceeded farther, to his office. After a few minutes spent in the shop, Gerald came out, carrying a brown paper parcel, and with this he walked home, a distance of about five miles. All that afternoon the boy was very busy in his workshop; let us take a peep in at the window, and see what he is doing. He is just putting the finishing touch to a beautiful little ship, not unlike the first one, but new and fresh, and needing only the additions of a flag, a name in large white letters, and a small cargo.

Painted very skilfully on the flag was a dove, holding an olive branch; while, rather in contrast to this peaceful emblem, the white letters on the bow of the ship showed that her name was The Revenge.

Just after dark on the same day, Ned Cooper, who, after an idle afternoon, was trying to fix his attention upon a book, was surprised to see the servant come in with a large parcel, directed in a firm, round hand to himself. He opened it, and you may imagine his surprise when he saw a little ship, complete in every way. With a strange choking sensation in his throat he opened the letter too, and read the following few lines:

"DEAR NED,—I am quite sure it is neither right nor pleasant for us to be enemies. If I have done anything to provoke you, please forgive me; if you have done anything to anger me, I forgive you. Pray accept this little present from me, and let me remain your sincere friend, GERALD MANNING."

This was Gerald's revenge; and a very thorough revenge he would have thought it, too, could he have seen poor Ned as he read the letter.

Ned did not sleep much that night, but early the next morning he set off to go to Gerald Manning.

At the meeting of the boys some tears were shed on both sides, and this without either of them being at all unmanly. That the peace and understanding between them were perfect, we can hardly doubt; nor can we doubt either, for one moment, that Gerald felt he had—in the best sense of the words—given back to Ned "as good as he gave." "Be not overcome with evil, but overcome evil with good."

—Child's Companion.

Rural and Domestic.

TO COOK RICE.—The following is the method recommended by the French Academy for cooking rice, during the siege of Paris: Take one cup of rice and one-fourth of a cup of water in a sauce-pan, cover and place over a good fire; after an hour the water will be evaporated, and the rice cooked tender, but dry, and with the grains distinct—not in a paste. Sufficient salt should be added in the first place, and care should be taken not to disturb the rice while cooking. By adding a little butter, and allowing the rice to dry a little more over a gentle fire, a more delicate dish is prepared. The Boston Medical and Surgical Journal says that rice cooked in this manner, which is the same as that employed in the East Indies, bears the same relation to the indigestible paste of the New England kitchen as does bread to boiled flour.

PURE WATER.—It is impossible to overrate the importance of pure water. Great carelessness has prevailed respecting the supply, the wholesomeness, and the conveyance of drinking water. With increased intelligence the people are becoming somewhat aroused concerning the matter, and scientists are contributing much valuable instruction.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Precautions Against Sickness.

The ability of the human body to resist the causes of disease depends upon its vigor and upon regularity with which the several organs perform their functions. In the winter the most prolific sources of sickness are damp and cold, and it is therefore wise and prudent to fortify the system against them by wholesome stimulation. Hence it is that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters prove such an admirable safeguard against the complaints most common at this season. The ingredients of this powerful vegetable invigorant comprise three essential medicinal elements which act simultaneously upon the digestive, the circulative, the secretive, and the nervous, infusing strength and regularity to all. In this way the Bitters put the body in the best possible condition to escape and attack of rheumatism, an intermittent fever, or bilious, kidney or other disease. Cold and biliousness are very dangerous, almost enough so as excessive heat, upon protective medicine is quite as needful in winter as in summer. For commercial climates so extremely trying to the forces of nature to "keep out the cold," have a purely operative effect to that produced by Hostetter's Bitters. Their first result is succeeded by a reaction which destitutes and prepares the system, while on the other hand, the tonic and vitalizing operation of the great vegetable invigorant is not only immediate but permanent. There is no risk nor reverse nervous action. The dyspepsia stomach, no reverse nervous action. The dyspepsia threatened the appetite increased, bowels regulated, if a stomach reinforced, and those ailments continue, frequently or rare use from acrid humors, or intermittent fever, or general debility, or nervous weakness, is present in the system, expel it with this pure and harmless antidote, which is not only invaluable as a preventive of sickness, but also a remedy for a large class of disorders.

Feb, 18-1w.

Symptoms of Liver Complaint.

A sallow or yellow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face and other parts of body; dullness and drowsiness with disagreeable headache; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in mouth, dryness of throat and general heat; palpitation; in many cases a dry, teasing cough, with sore throat, unsteady appetite, faintly at least, sinking sensation in throat; dullness, heaviness, bloated or full feeling about stomach and sides, pain in sides, back or loins, and about the shoulders; colic, pain and soreness through bowels, with heat; constipation alternating with diarrhœa, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of extremities, rush of blood to head, with symptoms of apoplexy, numbness of limbs, especially at night; cold chills alternating with hot flashes, kidney and urinary difficulties; dullness, low spirits, unsociability and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of these symptoms likely to be present at one time. Any one of them is a sure indication that the liver is deranged. All who use Dr. Pierce's AR. EAL or Golden Medical Discovery for Liver Complaint and its complications are loud in its praise.

A CURE OF LIVER DISEASE.

ROSS, TEXAS, May 10th, 1873.

DR. R. V. PIERCE.

DEAR SIR—My wife last year at this time was confined to her bed with chronic Liver Disease. I had four of the best doctors to see her, and he gave her up to die, when I came upon some of your medicines. I brought one bottle and it improved greatly. I then bought one bottle and a half more, and she is now weighed 92 lbs.; was also when she was 140 lbs., and is robust and hearty. She has taken eight bottles in all, and so you see I am an advocate for your Medicines, so you see I am an advocate for your Medicines.

WM. MEAZEL.

Feb 18 1w.

For the rich and with it we exhibit it may do to buy a shoe without 3 ply, but those who are blessed with little money and many children it is ruinous to buy any others than SILVER TIPPED Shoes

Feb 18-3w

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely safe. Perfectly odorless. Always uniform. Illuminating qualities superior to gas. Burns in any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to introduce the use of volatile and dangerous oils. Is safely under every possible test, and its perfect burning qualities, are proved by discontinued use in over 20,000 families.

Millions of gallons have been sold and no accidents directly or indirectly, have occurred from burning, storing or handling it.

The immense yearly loss to life and property, resulting from the use of cheap and dangerous oils in the United States, is appalling.

The Insurance Companies and Fire Council Boards throughout the country recommend the ASTRAL as the best safeguard would lamps are used. Send for circular.

SOLD by PRATT & CO., 108 Fulton Street, New York, proprietors.

Sold by Jeffries, Leach & Co., Raleigh—Authorized Agents.

Feb 18-1w.

THE MERIT ACCOMPLISHED.—Brown's Bronchial Troches," have been before the public many years Each year finds the Troches in some part, directly or indirectly, in almost every part of the world. Being an article of true merit, when once used, the value of the Troches is appreciated, and they are kept always at hand, to be used on occasion requires. For Coughs, Colds, and Throat Diseases, the Troches have proved their efficacy. For sale everywhere.

July

THIRTY YEARS

Since the introduction of

Perry Davis'

PAIN-KILLER

After thirty years trial, the "Pain-Killer" may justly styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no region of the globe into which it has not found its way, and none where it has not been largely used and highly prized. Moreover, there is no climate to which it has not proved itself to be well adapted for the cure of a considerable variety of diseases; it is extremely suited for every race. It has lost none of its original excellence, but is used by millions to-day with the same confidence it enjoyed at the first day of its introduction. Only a few of the above symptoms likely to be present at one time. Any one of them is a sure indication that the liver is deranged. All who use Dr. Pierce's AR. EAL or Golden Medical Discovery for Liver Complaint and its complications are loud in its praise.

A CURE OF LIVER DISEASE.

ROSS, TEXAS, May 10th, 1873.

DR. R. V. PIERCE.

DEAR SIR—My wife last year at this time was confined to her bed with chronic Liver Disease. I had four of the best doctors to see her, and he gave her up to die, when I came upon some of your medicines. I brought one bottle and a half more, and she is now weighed 92 lbs.; was also when she was 140 lbs., and is robust and hearty. She has taken eight bottles in all, and so you see I am an advocate for your Medicines, so you see I am an advocate for your Medicines.

WM. MEAZEL.

Feb 18 1w.

For the rich and with it we exhibit it may do to buy a shoe without 3 ply, but those who are blessed with little money and many children it is ruinous to buy any others than SILVER TIPPED Shoes

Feb 18-3w

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely safe. Perfectly odorless. Always uniform. Illuminating qualities superior to gas. Burns in any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to introduce the use of volatile and dangerous oils. Is safely under every possible test, and its perfect burning qualities, are proved by discontinued use in over 20,000 families.

Millions of gallons have been sold and no accidents directly or indirectly, have occurred from burning, storing or handling it.

The immense yearly loss to life and property, resulting from the use of cheap and dangerous oils in the United States, is appalling.

The Insurance Companies and Fire Council Boards throughout the country recommend the ASTRAL as the best safeguard would lamps are used. Send for circular.

SOLD by PRATT & CO., 108 Fulton Street, New York, proprietors.

Sold by Jeffries, Leach & Co., Raleigh—Authorized Agents.

Feb, 18-1w.

THE MERIT ACCOMPLISHED.—Brown's Bronchial Troches," have been before the public many years Each year finds the Troches in some part, directly or indirectly, in almost every part of the world. Being an article of true merit, when once used, the value of the Troches is appreciated, and they are kept always at hand, to be used on occasion requires. For Coughs, Colds, and Throat Diseases, the Troches have proved their efficacy. For sale everywhere.

July

THIRTY YEARS

Since the introduction of

Perry Davis'

PAIN-KILLER

After thirty years trial, the "Pain-Killer" may justly styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no region of the globe into which it has not found its way, and none where it has not been largely used and highly prized. Moreover, there is no climate to which it has not proved itself to be well adapted for the cure of a considerable variety of diseases; it is extremely suited for every race. It has lost none of its original excellence, but is used by millions to-day with the same confidence it enjoyed at the first day of its introduction.

Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most efficient preparation for the relief of, for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and conclusive testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. No article ever attained to such unbounded popularity. The various imitations which have sprung up, are but a shadow of the Pain-Killer's well established worth, and are but a mere resemblance—in name, external and internal medicine the Pain-Killer stands unrivaled.

Thirty Years is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the Pain-Killer is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by its unrivalled popularity it has attained, as a sure and effective remedy.

It is to-day in almost every country in the world, and is becoming more and more popular every year. Its healing properties have been fully tested all over the world, and it need only to be known to be prized.

Sold by all Druggists.

Feb. 1 1m.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of MERCURY, or any injurious mineral substance, but is containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Dis ease most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

PURELY VEGETABLE.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

Is eminently a Family Medicine: and by being kept ready for immediate resort, will save many times its cost in single cases of sickness a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC

FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all climates and changes of water and diet may be faced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA,

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,

MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA.

Price, $1.00. Sold by all Druggists.

Feb 18-12m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND,

A Consumptive Cured.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. Hanes cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of consumption that it does not dissipate—night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Indifferent expectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels, and Wasting of the Muscles. Address Bowels, and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CHADDOCK & CO., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia Pa., giving name of this paper.

Nov. 26-6m.

250,000 COPIES SOLD!

OF

RICHARDSON'S NEW METHOD

FOR THE

PIANO FORTE!!

This the par excellence of all Piano Methods, maintains the front rank, and its sale eclipses that of all others—Foreign or American—combined. The Publishers announce a total sale of 250,000 Copies to date. Portraits proof of positive and intrinsic merit, and its success is no mystery, but due to thorough excellence in all its departments—fundamental and instructive; to its valuable exercises as well as its charming Recreations.

A new edition just issued contains "Schumann's Marches" and the famous "Czerny's Letters on the Art of Playing the Piano." "Richardson's New Method only" now contains over 200 pieces full music size, and is justly claimed to be the best Piano Method extant.

PRICE $2 75.

☞ Usually in possession of teachers and sold by all Book and Music Dealers.

PUBLISHED BY

OLIVER DITSON & CO., CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.

Boston. 711 Broadway, N. York.

May 4 12m.

DR. C. M'LANE'S

CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weakness, and debility; he is easily startled, [illegible] of cold or burning, and he complains of a painful sensation of the skin; his sleep is disturbed, and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Druggists ordering from us through Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders distinctly, and to the name of the C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to try M'Lane's Liver Pills, before introducing them to the public, we will forward per mail, postpaid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for the price three cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Storekeepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If you would have children grow up... Be HEALTHY, strong, and vigorous MEN and WOMEN, give them a few doses of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,

TO EXPEL THE WORMS.

☞ BEWARE OF IMITATIONS ☜

FURNITURE.

W. H. Morris & Co.,

No. 3 Fayetteville Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Chamber Suits, Cottage Chamber Suits, Parlor Suits, Dining Room Suits, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Washstands, Washstands, Tables, Chairs, Sofas, Lounges, Spring Beds, of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Marble top centre tables &c.

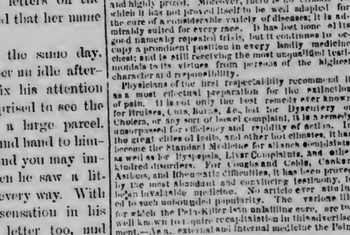
ALSO

keep constantly on hand and make to order all kinds of Mattresses, such as pure Curled Hair, Cotton and Shuck Mattresses. Old Hair Mattresses renovated and made as good as new.

No trouble to show goods. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

Oct 29-6m. W. A. MORRIS & CO

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.



Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,

THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

:o:

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their Sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases: 1. Imperfect Vision. 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight decay, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring. 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Epiphora, running or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—speedily treated with the Eye Cups—sure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Opacities, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or Imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodesopsis—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Insensibility of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS with at the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to render himself as beneficially as if never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,309 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 21 then Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and reliable man, and his Incapable of intentional misstatement or imposition."

Prof. W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 28th, 1868: "Without my spectacles I can, with ease, now, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS two days, read this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 17 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, writes, Nov 15th, 1868: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Selma Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the gift of sight of all I sacrifice, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes.

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE, NOSE, of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC 4 TRIUMPHS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED.

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at the light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,

NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

P. O. Box 95.

Sept 6-12m.

CONSTANT EMPLOYMENT.—AT HOME, Male or Female, $25 a week warranted. No capital required. Full particulars and a valuable sample sent free. Address, with 6 cent return stamp, S. D. Young, 220 4th Street, Williamsburg, N. Y.

Feb. 4 3m.

TUTT AND OLIVER. FAMILY MEDICINE.—Sanford's Liver Invigorator—a purely Vegetable Cathartic and Tonic—for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Debility, Sick Headache, Billious Attacks, and all derangements of Livers Stomach and Bowels. Ask your Druggist for it. Beware of imitations.

mar 26-12meow

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Sunday, Dec 7th, 1873.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte	1.00 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Air-Line J'nct'n	7.15 "	8.50 "
" Pal sbury	11.09 "	10.47 "
" Greensboro'	2.15 A. M.	1.15 P. M.
" Danville	5.26 "	5.01 "
" Burkville	7.40 "	8.06 "
Arrive at Richmond	8.32 P. M.	11.02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond	1.48 P. M.	7.05 A. M.
" Burkville	4.55 "	9.28 "
" Danville	9.02 "	1.03 P. M.
" Greensboro'	1.16 A. M.	4.00 "
" Salisbury	3.56 "	6.23 "
" Air-Line J'nct'n	6.22 "	8.51 "
Arrive at Charlo.	6.30 A. M.	9.00 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS.	MAIL.	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'	2.06 A. M.	Arrive 12.20 A. M.
" Co. Shops	2	10.28 "
" Burlington	2	6.00 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'	6	Leave 3.40 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'	4.30 P. M.
Arrive at Salem	6.25 P. M.
Leave Salem	8.10 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'	10.00 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.42 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.30 P. M. Leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.25 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, (without change.)

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. E. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	9.45 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon	3.50 P. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	3.35 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh	4.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon	3.40 A. M.
Leaves Weldon	4.01 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line to Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad to Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

Also at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Air Line to Hamlet and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accommodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad South Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford	6.5 "
Train leaves Sanford	6.15 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	8.25 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh	3.05 P. M
Arrives at Sanford	8.20 "
Leaves Sanford	10.15 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.30 P. M.

Mail Train making close connection a R. I. L with the Raleigh and [illegible] Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad to and from Fayetteville and points on Western N. C. Railroad.

Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Sup rintendent.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N.C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Buist's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at

PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S

Drug Store.

jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson' string Store

Oct. 23-6m.

A new work of intense INTEREST and intrinsic VALUE

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley."

A graphic History of Ocean Navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling incidents, fearful disasters, piracies, perils, &c. Above, also the WONDERS BENEATH the SEA, Diving, Dredging, Telegraphing &c., 225 splitted Illustrations. Agents just started report 101 orders in four days, 127 in five days, 75 in two days &c.; sells wonderfully fast. 5000 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and circulars, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, 723 Sansom St. Phila.

Sept 13-12m.

BRINLY PLOWS

BEST AND CHEAPEST IN USE.

Have taken over 250 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List, and certificates of planters who use them.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS:

BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,

LOUISVILLE, KY.

FACTORY: COR. 13TH & MAIN Streets

Sept 24-6m.

100 BOXES "FORESTERS LEMON CRACKERS

LEACH BROS.

July 23-tf.

FIFTY CASES COVE OYSTERS,

LEACH BROS

July 23-tf

THE "SNOW FLAKE" BRAND OF FAMILY Flour. Equal to Patapsco and much cheaper

LEACH BROS.

July 23-tf

T. W. GUTHRIE, Rockingham, N. C. GEO. A. NEWELL, Wilmington, N. C.

"BLEES"

Link-Motion, Lock-Stitch, Shuttle

NOISELESS

Hems,
Braids,
Gathers,
Tucks,
Ruffles,
Cords,
Binds,
Frills,
Quills,
Gathers,
&c., &c.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Has the straightest, swiftest, and will do the greatest range and perfect system of work of any machine ever before offered to the public.

Challenges the world in perfection of work, strength and beauty of stitch, durability of construction and rapidity of motion.

Reliable agents wanted for every county in the State, to whom liberal terms will be given.

NEWELL & GUTHRIE, General Agents
No. 5 South Front Street,
Wilmington, N. C.

nov 26-1f

ÆTNA FIRE CO.

Assets, $5.782.635.09.

W. H. CROW, Agent,

Raleigh, N. C.

may 6-12m

ÆTNA LIFE COMPANY,

JANUARY 1873.

ASSETS, - - - $18,077,540.66

Represented in North Carolina, and Va., South of James River by

W. H. CROW, Manager.

Office, Raleigh.

WILLIAMSON, UPCHURCH & THOMAS

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

Commission Merchants,

FAYETTEVILLE ST.,

OPPOSITE METROPOLITAN HALL.

R. P. WILLIAMSON
W. H. UPCHURCH
J. J. THOMAS, JR.

RALEIGH, N. C.

oct 1 tf

WATSON'S GALLERY

—OF—

PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South, where every style of Photographic likeness is executed from the tiniest miniature, to the large Portrait colored in oil. If you have the likeness of a deceased relative or friend, you can have it enlarged and colored to nature. Photographic Albums and Picture Frames always on hand, in great variety, at low prices. When you come to Raleigh, do not fail to call at WATSON'S GALLERY 2nd door above Tucker Hall.

J. W. WATSON.

Dec 18-tf

THE VICTOR SEWING MACHINE

TRIUMPHANT!

It is the very best Machine in the world, and has taken the first premium at every Fair where it has been exhibited!

Our New Patent Shuttle is the Simplest and only Perfect one in use.

The Only Lock-Stitch Machine that has a Self-Setting Needle.

It has a straight and self-setting needle. The needle cannot be set wrong

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. | PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. | $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 9. | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4, 1874. | WHOLE NO. 1,007.

Selected Poetry.

Faith.

"Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." Heb. xi. 1.

BY ETHEL POPE.

Give it to me, that in my hours of darkness,
When every golden trait is lost to view,
I still may feel that in my Father's lastness
I have a rest, enduring, strong and true.
Though clouds my perfect vision screen,
Give me the solace of a power unseen.

Give it to me, that in my hours of sadness,
When tears are all the heritage I own,
Hopes, that are born of grief, not gladness,
Be garnered fruit that Thou unseen hast sown.
Though long the trial, slow the ripening be,
Grant the full harvest may ascend to Thee.

Give it to me, that in my hours of weakness
The strife with many struggles interlined,
I may not see that Thy divine completeness
In finite mercy, gives me strength to find,
A foothold, where, alone upon the strand,
In peace and joy I grasp my Father's hand.

Give it to me, nor let a worldling's pleasure
Efface the subtle grace that by faith I see;
Daylight or darkness, let ambition's measure
Neither give, no dearer seem to me;
Nor even from its distant summit, rob
This precious treasure, my faith in Thee, my God.

Grant it to me, beyond these chilling vapors
I ever behold that purer light of Thine,
And live for the radiant, holy tapers,
Being, I hope, sanctified and divine.
Those lights will fail—these rays grow dim at last;
Then hide me till the storm is overpast.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Ultramontanism and Prussian Church Law.

Is the church of Rome suffering un der so odious a persecution' in Germany as to be entitled to look for sympathy to protestant English in our country?

'Catholicity' is one of the features upon which Romanists especially pride themselves: unity of sentiment throughout the globe is one of their proudest boasts. When Catholic emancipation was sought for in this kingdom, the archbishops and bishops of the Roman Catholic Church in Ire land declared in the most solemn manner that it was no part of the faith to believe that the Pope hath, or ought to have, any temporal or civil jurisdiction, power, superiority, or preeminence, directly or indirectly, within this realm.' Dr. Doyle, one of the Romish hierarchy, in a letter addressed to the Earl of Liverpool, declared that there probably never was, and certainly that there has not been for centuries, and that by no possibility can there be hereafter, any law binding upon His Majesty's Catholic subjects which arrogates to the Pope, or to any ecclesiastical authority, a power of interfering with the temporal concerns of Kings or States.' He avowed that they were ready to shed their blood rather than suffer any foreign Pope, or Prince, or Prelate to infringe upon that independence which the nation had won by past struggles against such claims of the Papacy, indignantly rejected the supposition that they were concealing for reasons of expediency any portion of the truth, and emphatically affirmed that if he had not correctly described the doctrines of Roman Catholics, 'in a word, we must be perjurers—nay, perjured slaves! Upon the faith of those assurances the Roman Catholic Emancipation Act was passed. This, then, according to the testimony of so important a part of the Ecclesia docens of the Romish communion, was their recognised faith, long subsequent to the peace of Westphalia, which closed the Thirty Years' War, and established equality of rights in Prussia for Romanists and Protestants.

Archbishop Manning, the head of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in England, in his 1867 pastoral on the Centenary of St Peter and the General Council declared—This event may be taken, I believe, to be the opening of a new period, and to contain a future which may reach over centuries.' He described Pius IX. as 'the successor of Peter, to whom the whole world was committed,' claimed for him the "plenitude of power to teach and to rule,' referred to the Encyclical and Syllabus as having extinguished 'the few who murmured against the temporal power,' which he declared to be necessary for the exercise of the Pope's supreme and independent direction of all civil powers in matters which fall within the Divine law,' the Church being 'not a school of opinion, nor a mere religion, but a spiritual kingdom having its own legislature, tribunals, and executive.' Nationalism was denounced as 'the spirit of egotism, worldliness, and avarice,' and civil governments were warned that they were approaching a time when their Catholic subjects could no longer be dealt with in detail, but they 'must deal with the Church as a whole, and with its head as supreme.' These prevers were significantly reminded that the Church prevades at least one-fourth, if not a third, of the population of Great Britain and its colonies; about a fifth of the United States; nearly a half of the Prussian monarchy and almost the entire population of other great kingdoms; and the influence of religion is that which most deeply affects the loyalty and fidelity of nations.' It was added:—'It is of the highest moment to the civil powers of the world to readjust their relations with the Catholic Church; for so long as the public laws are at variance with its divine rights and liberties, internal peace and fidelity are hardly to be secured. 'Poland and Ireland are proofs beyond question.' Again, in the pastorial issued in 1869, on the Œcumenical Council and the Infallibility of the Roman Pontiff, the Archbishops declared the definition of the dogma needed 'to exclude from the minds of Catholics the exaggerated spirit of national independence and pride which has in these last centuries so profoundly afflicted the Church. 'The two hundred millions of Catholics will know the decrees of the Vatican Council, and to know them is to obey.' This council will assuredly be in ruinam et in resurrectionem multorum.' If Christian nations be desolated, then will come the alternatives of anti-Christian socialism or the Catholic order of the world, purified in the fire, and reunited to the centre of stability and justice from which it is now departing.' In 1867, Dr. Manning seemed to limit his claim for the Papacy to 'matters which fall within the Divine law;' in his recent address on 'Cesarism and Ultramontanism' he advanced the further step of asserting for the Pope the authority to declare the extent of his own jurisdiction, and, within the sphere marked out by such elastic boundaries, the power to 'legislate with authority, so as 'to bind the consciences of all men born again in the baptism of Jesus Christ,' whether that baptism was administered by Romanists or by Protestants. What more is needed in order to make up what Mgr. Maret stigmatised as the pure, indivisible, and absolute monarchy of the Roman Pontiff?' This, then, is the Ultramontane doctrine in 1874, and Ultramontanism is now declared by Archbishop Manning to be identical with Roman Catholicism.

By Prussian Church law three communions were accepted as privileged churches—the Romanist, the Lutheran, and the Calvinistic; and from the State the officiating ministers of these denominations receive protection, honours, and annual stipends. Under this law Romish ecclesiastics exercised powers in Prussia in excess of those secured for them in Roman Catholic Bavaria by the Concordat of 1818. They could avail themselves of the assistance of the police while they seized children and forcibly baptized them, contrary even to their parents' wish. The State power might also be invoked to compel children to attend for the purpose of receiving religious instruction from the priests, either at private residences or in public schools. They were allowed to launch the thunders of excommunication, dooming those whom they denounced to social ostracism, and the State was content to aid them in enforcing the sentences of their Ecclesiastical courts, whether in the form of fines or imprisonment, against the members of the clerical order, who were the subjects of such proceedings; to collect from defaulters the ecclesiastical dues which were claimed; and to maintain certain special privileges for these priestly officials in regard to process in the criminal courts. Prisons, infirmaries, and hospitals were largely under their control, and over the public charities they exercised very effective sway.

John Knox.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

For the Advocate.

The Working Church.

Bro. Bobbitt: I read in the Advocate, a few days since, an interesting editorial under the caption of Denominational Statistics, which it would be well for all our people to read, mark and inwardly digest.—"We need to be trained, disciplined for the legitimate work of the church." We are sadly deficient at this point. The church should, in one respect, be a Normal school, where earnest, faithful pupils should be taught how to work for Jesus. The signs of the times are certainly encouraging in many directions, as far as Christianity is concerned. The church of to-day is the working church. What a contrast with the past, that is, outside of our own denomination. For many centuries have the majority of christians waited, slept and dreamed. They said—"God will take care of his work. In his own good time he will bring things about. Let us keep quiet and all will be well.' Of course this was simply an out-growth of Calvinism. But what a change! The church has waked up and put on her beautiful garments, and like the Master, is now going about doing good. We have recently been surprised, almost startled, as we have looked in upon the church machinery of sister denominations. They were alive and in earnest. Every man, woman and child was at work. In a word, it was the working church. How shall we bring this about in our own denomination?—Who could estimate the grand results, if every Methodist Church in North Carolina would become a working church? I am certain we could take the State for Christ. And then the reflex influence upon the church.—Truly this is a consummation devoutly to be wished! It is the ambition of some churches to be called the "working church." Rev. Mr. Tyng, Jr., was recently asked the "secret" of his success. He replied, "in having something for each member to do, and seeing that he does it." Herein lies success. The Savior said—"I must work the works of him that sent me." This language is appropriate for every member of the church. All have a work to do, but few alas! are doing that work, for "many sleep." The question arises, how shall we develop the latent power of the church, and set the whole machinery in motion.—There are many things to be taken into consideration just here; but first, we must systematize matters and give each member to understand that he or she is expected to do something for the Master. We lack system, besides we don't expect much of our people. I visited a certain church not long since that has won for itself the reputation of "The Working Church."—I enquired into their modus operandi. The pastor gave me a circular, a copy of which, I was informed, had been sent to every member of his flock. On the first page appeared the following introduction:

PLAN OF SYSTEMATIC CHURCH WORK ADOPTED BY ——

"This plan embraces six departments. It is not expected of any one member to work regularly in all, but it is desired that every member should engage in one or more of these departments of Christian activity.

We therefore request each member of our church and congregation, to mark, on this circular, the particular work or works which he or she would prefer to assume.

And after signing the name in the space herein alotted, to return this circular promptly to the Pastor of the Church."

Rev. ——.

I.

THE DEVOTIONAL WORK.

Superintended by the Pastor.

1. Will you regularly attend the religious meetings?
2. Will you assist by prayer or remark?
3. Will you take charge of a meeting when requested?
4. Will you converse with the unconverted, and invite them to the means of grace?
5. Will you suggest any method of improving the conduct of the devotional meetings which may occur to you?

"Faith without works is dead."
James II: 17.

II.

THE SABBATH SCHOOL WORK.

1. Will you become a regular teacher in our Sabbath school?
2. Will you teach in case of the absence of the regular teacher?
3. Will you join one of the adult Bible Classes?
4. Will you act on the Committee to visit absent scholars at their homes?
5. Will you invite new scholars?

"And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones, a cup of cold water only, in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward." Matthew x:42.

III.

THE LADIES DEPARTMENT.

1. Will you join and do what you can in behalf of the Sewing Society, to sew for the poor?
2. Will you become a member of the Ladies' Foreign Missionary Society?

"Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." Ecc. 9:10.

IV.

BENEVOLENCE.

1. Are you willing occasionally to visit the destitute and sick?
2. Will you distribute tracts?
3. Will you, when asked, distribute the charities of the church?
4. When called upon, will you solicit funds in aid of this department?

"For God loveth a cheerful giver."—II Cor. 9:7.

V.

THE SOCIAL WORK.

1. Will you make it your duty to extend a hearty welcome to all who may visit our church, or move into the community, and notify the Pastor as to what families he should soon call upon, for any special reason?
2. Will you project meetings for the better mutual acquaintance of the members of the congregation, and endeavor by all means to extend and improve the social influence of the church?

"Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled." St. Luke 4:23.

VI.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

1. Will you unite with our Young People's Association?
2. Will you assist in its Religious Exercises?
3. Will you assist in its Religious Work?
4. Will you assist in its Literary Exercises?
5. Will you assist in its Musical Exercises?

"The night cometh when no man can work." St. John 9:4.

Name —— Residence ——
Date ——

After reading the above circular it occurred to me that it was a good thing and that it would be well for every church to adopt some such plan. It has many advantages. It could be modified or enlarged according to circumstances. We must do some things. Two things are necessary—the Holy Spirit and brotherly love. The holy spirit is all important, yet it amounts to little unless we love one another.—That is a very important question, in the circular, in respect to "better mutual acquaintance" and social influence of the church. Many societies have a vacable or gathering of its members every two weeks in order to keep acquainted. Many christians in the same church do not know each other. We talk about recognition in heaven when we fail to recognize each other here. Every church should be like a family. They should know and love one another. Then there is hope of accomplishing something, and not till then. Strange horses will not work well together. If two members of the same church refuse to speak to each other, there should be something done for them or with them. A house divided against itself cannot stand. We insist upon sociability and brotherly love. To bring this about a certain pastor forbids his people to leave the prayer meeting without 'shaking hands' with all near them, and especially with those who are strangers to them. People love to go to that prayer-meeting. There is a direct connection with the heart and hand. These are some of the things that will help to bring around the working church.—The question is open for discussion. We hope to hear from others on the subject. I would add that the pastor should be a live man, he should have the lightning in him.

J. A. T.

For the Advocate.

A Letter from Missouri.

Mr. Editor: Judging from the number of letters, as well as the kind, sent me from North Carolina, my friends are very numerous in the land of my birth and the home of my fathers. Their friendship is most heartily reciprocated. But to answer all their letters, as fully as deserved, would be impossible. I wish I could reply to all. I am glad to know that my brethren and friends feel so deep an interest in me, and that they want to know so much about my adopted State. But as all my friends are your friends, I will, with your permission, let them all hear from me through the Advocate. Your beautiful Raleigh, the lovely town of Oaks, has, for the last two years, been, to me, a city out of sight. Twenty five months have come and gone since I last looked in upon the happy homes of the dear people of my native State: many long miles now lie between us, and yet all are fresh in my memory and near in feelings of profound regard.

What changes have been wrought during that time! What desolations have been done in the earth! What master minds have been taken away! The princes and the mighty ones in Israel have fallen! How shall their places be filled? Dr. Numa F. Reid and his venerable father, James Reid, Wm. Barringer and Alfred Norman, were all members of the North Carolina Conference, when I left it. But now all of these are still and cold in the long silence of the grave.

Well do I remember the words of blessing, pronounced upon me, as a son in the Gospel, by Rev. James Reid, when last I pressed his soft and aged hand in mine. Said he "Go: and my God be with you. Take good care of your health and the Lord will let you work a long time for him, after I shall have gone to glory." The parting word of his son, Dr. Reid, are equally fresh in my mind. Standing on the streets of Charlotte, he hailed me and said: "And you have agreed to go to Missouri? Now, go out there, and do all you can for the great cause, and if you should ever want to come back, write me, and I will give you a place in my District, if I should have a District at the time, and my prayers shall follow you while you are gone."

It is with a mournful, yet pleasing recollection that I record the fact, that to Rev. Alfred Norman I owe a debt of profound gratitude for his godly admonitions bestowed upon me on various occasions; especially during one memorable and happy week he spent with me while at Chapel Hill, N. C. At that time he had been forty years in the ministry, and well was he qualified to give advice to a young preacher.

But, notwithstanding, all your heavy losses, I see, from statements in the columns of your excellent paper, that God is still in the midst of his church in North Carolina, and that you are grandly moving forward with all the enterprises of your Conference.

Your paper, as the able organ of the North Carolina Conference, and journal of Methodist religion, is, I think, a grand success. But you, Mr. Editor, occupy a position of immense responsibility, as you now stand upon the dizzy heights of triumphant victory over the many hindrances which you have had to encounter in the past, an ensign for our holy Methodism. May the benedictions of Almighty God rest upon you, in all future conflicts, in leading forward this great enterprise, over the head of every opposing element.

I also see that your colleges are all well manned. With Drs. Craven, T. M. Jones and Robey at the head of the three leading Methodist Colleges of the State, our beloved brethren of the conference heartily co-operating with the agents, Revs. T. J. Gattis, B. B. Culbreth, and L. L. Hendren, your colleges are safe. We in Missouri are, also, very glad to know that each of those colleges has a full and competent corps of professors.

But to return:—those North Carolina friends and correspondents, wish to hear something about Missouri, and how Methodism is progressing here, &c., &c.—and,

First of all, I will say, that when we were in the South, many persons seemed to think that Missouri was far away in the West. But since coming here we have not so learned American geography. We now feel like Missouri is more central. And St. Louis, Mo., is destined to be the great Southern Metropolis. By many, in fact, it is already so considered. It ought to be the Capital of the United States.

Missouri is traversed by all the main thoroughfares of public travel from East to West, North to South, South-east to North-west, North-east to South-west and vice versa. The State covers an area of sixty-four thousand square miles. Besides the great rivers Mississippi and Missouri, this State is watered by various others of considerable magnitude. Much of the surface in the central portion of the section South of the Missouri is mountainous, or rather hilly, being traversed by the spurs of the Ozark mountains. Between the Osage and Missouri rivers, and north of the latter, the country is undulating and agreeably diversified. The lands bordering on the Missouri, and some of the other rivers, are exceedingly rich, and the other parts of the State are very rich in mineral treasures. The land is very fertile or very poor; it is either bottom land or cliff, either prairie or barren: there is very little of an intermediate quality. The climate is remarkably serene and temperate, and very favorable to health. The State is admirably adapted for a grazing country, and vast herds of cattle and hogs are raised. Beef and pork constitute the most important articles of export. Corn and wheat are raised in an almost incalculable abundance. The greatest job about a Missouri corn crop is to "crib it."

A remarkable feature in this State is its lead mines, which cover an area of about three thousand square miles. The centre of the lead mines is about seventy miles South west of St. Louis. In this region are also found copper, zinc, manganese, antimony, calamine, and cobalt. These lead mines were worked by the French one hundred and thirty years ago.

No place in the State is more beautiful or productive than the famous Greenton Valley. My circuit includes the whole of this Valley. It extends from Lexington on the Missouri river and in Lafayette county, west to Mecklin in Jackson county, and from Wellington on the Missouri, South to near Chapel Hill, at the head of the Greenton Valley. My circuit needs the work and ought to support three or four preachers instead of one.

Our Conference—the West St. Louis—is a young conference, but it is growing rapidly. It has the wrong name. It is to be hoped the next general conference will change the name.

The name "West St. Louis" is only indicative of the fact that the territory was once embraced within the old St. Louis Conference. We have three annual conferences in the State: all North of the Missouri river is tended by the Missouri Conference: all South of the Missouri river and east of the junction of the Osage and Missouri rivers by the St. Louis, and all South and West of the latter named point is embraced in the West St. Louis Conference. No matter where a new comer locates his family they soon have the attention of a Methodist preacher. Those humble servants of Christ are to be found everywhere throughout the State, but still we need more laborers in this part of God's moral heritage.

Preachers who are really willing to give all their time to the work, and still study to show themselves approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth' can do well in either of those Missouri Conferences. But we have no place for the dull and unstudious. Above all we want men of solid piety who both know and love the Methodist doctrine and discipline, and fully consecrated to the one work of the ministry to the end of life.

And as to men coming here to live, I would say, all such can also do well who are willing to work. There are immense fortunes in this rich Missouri soil, but they must be dug out. In order to be independent and happy in this country he should have a good little farm, and bestow faithful labor upon it.

So far as I know professional men are in number sufficient to meet the demand at present. Some areon short rations even now. But after all, 'more people, more people," is the pressing demand of Missouri. We need them to settle up these rich Missouri lands.

Since I came to the State my work has been in the Missouri river counties—Layfayette and Saline, except one year I labored in Nevada City, in Vernon county.

The circuit I now have is a "good place." It is in the very richest section of the State. It covers an area of four hundr d square miles of the most productive soil. We have four pretty little towns, and seven post-offices within the bounds of my circuit. But one of those towns has sustained a heavy loss by fire since I came upon the charge. Almost the entire stock of one of our class leaders was consumed in this calamity but his loss was covered by insurance. How prudent are all business men who thus secure their property in good and faithful companies!

The people of my charge believe in promptly paying their preacher, when he renders faithful service. They have already paid about one half of the assessment for the present year,—the preacher's, presiding Elder's and Bishop's claim, as well as the Missionary and Conference collections. We take the whole matter along together,—all are equally important, O, that all the preachers would say Amen!"

My stewards (ten in number) are all, I believe, men of deep piety, and truly do they love the church. They are always ready with their money as well as their prayers.

I am traveling and preaching nearly all the time. I preach twenty-seven times per month. But all extra work, such as funeral sermons, etc., are, of course, to be added to this the regular plan. Through the kindness of our excellent Presiding Elder, Rev. M. M. Pugh, our quarterly meetings come off just at the end of each full quarter. I am always glad to be the last on a Presiding Elder's District. "For they that are last shall be first."

And now, "in conclusion," Mr. Editor, if your place in the editorial sanctum could in any possible way be supplied for a few weeks, I want you to come out and see us, whenever it will most suit your convenience to make a tour of the great West. And I would suggest as a good time, provided you cannot come sooner, the season for holding the next annual conferences in Missouri. Then you can see us all, and hear the reports from the whole Missouri work.

In this letter I have omitted many things which your readers, or at least, many of them, would be glad to get. But as this communication is now already too lengthy, I will give them in my next.

James J. Carden.

Wellington, Mo., Feb. 4th, 1874.

For the Advocate.

From the West.

Rev. and Dear Bro. Bobbitt: The many inquiries made about Marion and the country around it, is a part of my apology for writing this and the other is, I want you and your many admiring readers, as well as my friends, to know something of this place, the country and its resources.

Marion is the county seat of McDowell county, situated immediately on the Western N. C. Railroad, about 100 miles from Salisbury, and nearly everybody says, "it is just in the right place, on the poorest spot in the county." It is in full view of some of the most noted mountains in the State.—The scenery around is more than I can describe. When I say it is BEAUTIFUL, GRAND AND SUBLIME, I use words highly descriptive, but they fall short of the real idea. One never gets tired of beholding and admiring the wonderful formations of the Creator. The scenes are not monotonous, but changing, presenting different shades and phases at different times of the day, different seasons, and through different strata of atmosphere. Descriptive writers and artists have attempted to give an adequate conception of mountains, but have failed; nothing more than an outline can be given to the non-beholder. You must come and see for yourself.

The village contains about 300 people, mostly intelligent and religious, "or so inclined." It has 8 stores, 1 silver smith, 2 hotels, 2 churches,—1 Methodist and 1 Presbyterian,-2 doctors, 3 lawyer's (no grog shop, of which the people are proud,) and a number of other indispensable officials. The Marion High School for young ladies is situated here. The building is a handsome brick edifice, two stories high, appropriately located on a commanding eminence, in the midst of a beautiful grove of native oaks. It can accomodate about 120 pupils with study rooms, recitation, music and apparatus rooms. The young ladies are boarded and well cared for in nice families.

It is the purpose of the trustees to make additional improvement soon.—This is a beautiful place for a school. The health is unsurpassed by any part of the world. The expenses are with in reach of nearly everybody. No useless extravagance need be indulged.—Thorough and liberal course of instruction. Preaching and other religious exercises every sabbath. The exercises of the school will be continued through the summer, except one week in July, and the long vacation in winter. The air is so pure and healthy, the heat is not debilitating. The summer is the most suitable for school, and then it suits those pupils from the lower and more sickly regions,—they can go home in winter with impunity. This is truly a delightful climate. I have not found the winter to be so so very cold as I expected. This place is one half degree south of Raleigh.

The soil in the county is rich. Pine, oak, hickory, popular, chestnut and various other timbers abound. All kinds of grain, grapes and vegetables may be produced in great abundance. Tobacco and cotton will yield a handsome profit. Land can be bought cheap. Water-power for any kind of manufacturing. We need more people, the country is new and sparsely settled. There are other points I will mention another time.

Yours &c.,

S. R. Trawick.

Marion, N. C.

Selected.

A Baptist Editor's Confession.

The Watchman and Reflector, the genial organ of the Baptists in New England, is in a troubled state of mind. Its editor, Dr. J. W. Olmstead, who is abroad, on the evening of the last Thanksgiving day took part in the celebration of the Lord's Supper with non-Baptist brethren in the Tottenham Court Road Chapel, London. It was therefore inferred that Dr. Olmstead had abandoned close communion principles, and his associates at home seem thereby to be greatly disturbed.

The service of which this communion was the conclusion was held precisely where such a service would be appropriate—in Whitefield's own chapel. A correspondent thus describes the scene:

"At the close of the sermon, to the tenor and spirit of which we cannot do justice in this brief sketch, an opportunity was given, during the singing of a hymn, for those who wished to do so to retire, although all Christian brethren had been invited to remain for the celebration of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. The two Episcopal ministers referred to were among those who found themselves unable to stay; there was a goodly number of communicants, however, the body of the church being nearly filled with them. Rev Dr. Thomas, of Stockwell, made a very nice address, and Rev. Dr. Olmstead, of Boston, editor of the Watchman and Reflector, invoked the blessing of God upon the bread. Rev. Mr. Noble, of Elmira, N. Y., a methodist clergyman, offered the prayer of consecration for the cup.—Both these prayers breathed an unusually fervid and fraternal spirit. The hymn,

"'Lamb of God, whose bleeding love,' which we have so often sung on sacramental occasions in Boston, was then sung, and the benediction was pronounced by Mr. Bevan."

What could have been more beautiful? And why should the friends of Olmstead wish to apologize for him? For our own part, we rejoice to see this day and to hear of such deeds.—Christian feeling is proving too strong for narrow denominational prejudices, and these are giving way. The sense of the oneness of all believers in a common Saviour will have expression where it should, around that Saviour's table. It is to our shame that such an act cannot be performed without violence to some petty ecclesiastical formula. That, however, only proves that some of our rules of church order need amendment. The impulse toward a more perfect fellowship of saints cannot be stayed. It has gathered fresh momentum from the late Conference of the Evangelical Alliance, and is now stronger than ever. The meaning of the communion of the Queen of England with Presbyterians, of the Dean of Canterbury and Bishop Cummins with non-Episcopal brethren, and Dr. Olmstead with Congregationalists and Methodists is that Protestant Christians feel more strongly than ever before the absurdity of their traditional attitude toward each other. If they are one body in Christ, then the logical inference is inexorable, that they should show the fact in their conduct.

Nor is the impulse sudden. It is the natural outcome of years of preparation. Gradually the paramount importance of life has dawned on the Christian world. The conviction that if we agree in essentials, differences in non essentials should not be suffered to create separations has taken deep root in the Christian mind. Protestants have been restrained from seeking closer fellowship by respect for old usages, but, a fit opportunity offering, the longing for union has expressed itself with an emphasis which proves that there is yet infinitely more to be expressed. We do not take the instances named as accidents, but as the signs of a deep tide of feeling which is sweeping through all Protestantism.

And the effect of it will be the strengthening of Christianity itself as a spiritual power among men. As has been well said, the most convincing argument for the truth of our religion is a Christian, and that argument is made cumulative by the unity of Christians with each other. "That the world may know that thou hast sent me," says Christ, pointing to the outcome of the oneness of all believers in him and in each other. We may be well assured that Christianity is shorn of its power by the present divided state of Christendom. We should, therefore, hail with pleasure the drawing of all the lovers of Christ into even closer fellowship, and though, for some, such acts of fellowship may be, according to denominational laws, mistakes, yet they are the most blessed mistakes that good men can make.—N. Y. Methodist.

Leaving out the Joke.

Sydney Smith once declared that some men could not take a joke if it was fired at them out of a cannon.—One of the sort, who was present, after profoundly studying the matter for some minutes, exclaimed, "Well, how could you fire a joke out of a cannon anyhow?"

The difficulty had not occurred to Sydney Smith, and the question remains unanswered.

But there are those who can relish a joke, yet are unable to repeat it to others; and make themselves supremely ridiculous in the attempt.

The most famous of this class was the college professor, who, on parting with a student that had called on him, noticed that he had a new coat on him, and remarked that it was too short. The student, with an air of resignation, replied, "It will be long enough before I get another." The professor enjoyed the joke highly, and going to a meeting of the college faculty just afterward, he entered the meeting in great glee and said: "Young Sharp got off such a good joke just now. He called on me a little while ago, and as he was leaving I noticed his new coat, and told him it was too short, and he said, 'It will be a long time before I get another.'" No one laughed, and the professor sobering down remarked, "It doesn't seem as funny as when he said it."

A red-haired lady who was ambitions of literary distinction, found but a poor sale for her book. A gentleman in speaking of her disappointment said, "Her hair is red (read) if her book is not." An auditor in attempting to relate the joke elsewhere said, "She has red hair if her book hasn't."

A man having fallen unaccountably on the street, and being hurt by the fall, a friend who was with him at the time was asked how the accident occurred. He replied, "I can't tell you. John wasn't drunk, and the street wasn't slippery, but he fell notwithstanding." Of course it was a good joke, or it would not have raised such a laugh: so Mr. Dull thought he would have the pleasure of introducing it elsewhere; therefore at the first opportunity he told of the fall and provoked an inquiry as to the cause of it. then said, "John wasn't drunk, and the street wasn't slippery, but he fell, nevertheless."

The most unfortunate attempt at reproducing another's wit was made by an Englishman who did not understand the pun, but judged from the applause with which it was greeted that it must be excellent. During a dinner at which he was a guest, a waiter let a boiled tongue slip off the plate on which he was bearing it, and it fell on the table. The host at once apologized for the mishap as a "lapsus tongue," (slip of the tongue). The joke was the best thing at the dinner, and our friend concluded to bring it up at his own table. He accordingly invited his company and instructed a servant to let fall a roast of beef as he was bringing it to the table. When the accident occured he exclaimed, "That's a lapsus tongue." Nobody laughed, and he said again, "I say that's a lapsus tongue;" still no one laughed. A screw was loose somewhere; so he told about the tongue falling, and they did laugh.

"Why is this," said a wag, holding up a common kitchen utensil, "more remarkable than Napoleon Bonaparte." "Because Napoleon was a great man, but this is a grater." When the funny man reproduced it in his circle, he asked the question right, but answered it: "Because Napoleon was a great man, but this is a nawmeg grater."

The Sabbath.

There is one weapon which the enemy has employed to destroy christianity and to drive it from the world, which has never been employed but with signal success. It is the attempt to corrupt the christian Sabbath, to make it a day of festivity, to cause christians to feel that its sacred and rigid obligation has ceased, to induce them on that day to mingle in the scenes of pleasure or the exciting plans of ambition, to make them feel that they may pursue their journeys by land and water, by the steamboat and the railway, regardless of the command of God; and this has done, and will continue to do, what no argument, no sophistry, no imperial power has been able to accomplish. The "Book of Sports" did more to destroy christianity than all the ten persecutions of the Roman Emperors; and the views of the Second Charles and his Court about the Lord's day tended more to drive religion from the British nation than all the fires that were enkindled by Mary. Paris has no Sabbath, and that fact has done more to banish christianity than all the writings of Voltaire; and Vienna has no Sabbath, and that fact does more to annihilate religion than ever did the scepticism of Fredrick. Turn the Sabbath into a day of sports and pastimes, of military reviews, and of pantomimes and theatrical exhibitions, and not an infidel anywhere would care a farthing about the tomes of Volney or Voltaire, about the sneers of Hume, the sneers of Gibbon, or the scurrility of Paine.—British American Presbyterian.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2.00
SIX MONTHS,	1.25
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH N. C. MARCH 4, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

Dr. T. H. Pritchard and What he did say.

A paragraph in our last number, giving reported remarks of Dr. T. H. Pritchard and Rev. Mr. Jordan in the Baptist church of this city, has called forth the following letter from Dr. Pritchard, which we cheerfully present to our readers with some explanatory remarks appended:

REV. J. B. ROBERTT—Dear Bro: In the last issue of the "Advocate" you say: "It is reported to us that Rev. Dr. Pritchard, pastor of the Baptist Church in this city, recently stated from his pulpit that "Christ was not such a fool as to baptize by sprinkling." It is also reported that Rev. Mr. Jordan, a Baptist minister, who has been assisting the Doctor in a series of meetings in his church, said that he never saw a person who had been baptized by sprinkling who was happy."

To this I have to say, first, that I am perfectly willing to be held responsible for my utterances, in the pulpit or out of it, on the subject of baptism or anything else. If I should be betrayed into untrue, intemperate or uncharitable remarks, in the freedom of extemporaneous speech, I hope I may have grace to acknowledge my fault, but I do most seriously object to being published by you as having given utterance to words, grossly offensive to christians of other denominations, which never fell from my lips on any occasion.

I sometimes fear I am not much of a christian, but I hope I have conducted myself as a gentleman, and my reputation in that character should have protected me from such injustice as you have done me. I complain, and I feel that I have a right to complain, that you have violated christian and ministerial courtesy by publishing in your paper a statement to my prejudice, before you took the necessary steps to ascertain whether the statement was true.

You know, sir, or ought to know, that reports, even of car witnesses, are often unreliable, and you know also that falsehood travels more rapidly than truth, and you should have applied to me to ascertain the facts before arraigning me before the public of North Carolina. Ten years from to day, this very thing will be brought up against me by persons who may have seen or heard the statement, without the correction. Now what are the facts?

I was about to baptize some candidates and read Mark's description of Christ's baptism, given in chap. 1st, 9th and 10th verses:

"And it came to pass in those days that Jesus came from Nazareth to Galilee, and was baptized of John in Jordan. And straightway coming up out of the water," &c.

Here I stopped to comment, and said: "No one can persuade me that Christ would have been so foolish as to have come thirty miles and gone into the river Jordan and knelt down for John to pour water on him, when he could have baptized him in that way, as well or better anywhere else as in the river."

Now, sir, I did not use the word fool, nor the word sprinkle at all, and while I might, perhaps, have found a better word than foolish, I am still willing to stand by that declaration, for I maintain that there is no irrevelance in it; since to my mind it requires a very violent stretch of the imagination to suppose the Saviour's doing what, if done in this day, would seem absurd in everybody else.

As to Mr. Jordan, I have only to state the circumstances to show that the statement you make does him equal injustice. A lady, who had long been troubled about the question of baptism, praised God as she came up out of the water. This seemed to unnse a small part of the congregation, when Mr. Jordan remarked: "I have seen many people happy when baptized by immersion, but never saw or heard of any one's being happy when sprinkled or poured." The remark was not original with him. I have heard it made by others, and with all due respect to those whose experience or observation may be different, I beg leave to say I never saw or heard of any one's getting happy in the act of being baptized by sprinkling or pouring. There may have been many cases within the observation of others, but if so, I never heard of them.

Permit me to say, in conclusion, that while I am a Baptist, and not afraid nor ashamed to maintain and vindicate the tenets of the church I represent, I always try to do so in a manner consistent with the respect and courtesy due to christians who differ from me, and in a spirit which could not be objected to by candid and intelligent ministers of other churches.

I am, very respectfully yours, &c.
T. H. PRITCHARD.

We will now respectfully consider the Doctor's complaints and hope to vindicate ourself against his severe charges. He says "I complain, and feel that I have a right to complain, that you have violated christian and ministerial courtesy by publishing in your paper a statement to my prejudice before you took the necessary steps to ascertain whether the statement was true."

In reply we explain that we made the statement on the authority of a Local Methodist Minister who was present, and heard the remarks; and that, before we published the paragraph we consulted a Baptist minister who was present, and heard the remark; and his report of what the Doctor said, though different in language, in part, from what we had given, impressed us as fully sustaining the objectionable feature in the Doctor's language, and the meaning thereof. (We will parenthetically remind the reador that the Doctor's own corrected statement very well sustains the real point in our own report.)

Hence, we think we "took the necessary steps," and did not violate "christian and ministerial courtesy" by neglecting to do so.

But we will let the Doctor be his own reporter. We published that he said that "Christ was not such a fool as to baptize by sprinkling."

He says that he said "no one can persuade me that Christ would have been so foolish, as to have come thirty miles, and gone into the river Jordan and knelt down for John to pour water on him, when he could have baptized him in that way as well or better anywhere else as in the river."

Please make the correction. Amend our article by striking out our words and inserting the Doctor's words, and then what? He did not say "fool," but he said "foolish." He did not say "sprinkle," but he said, as he states above. Thus changed, the sentence is an unfortunate one and much to be regretted. With all respect, we must protest against the taste that associates the adjective "foolish," with the most sacred of names. The sentence is very objectionable, also, because it presumptuously assumes to know what the Savior would have chosen to do, in regard to a ceremony; to which ceremony his relation has never yet been so satisfactorily explained as to harmonize theologians; and the sentence further betrays recklessness in that it dares to pass a shocking judgment on the Lord, in case he did act contrary to the Doctor's dogmatic view.

The argument in the sentence is as weak as it is novel, in that it assumes that our Lord went to Jordan, because the river was there rather than because John the Baptist was there. Strange that the Doctor could not find even a little pool in Nazareth or nearer than 30 miles to Nazareth, when he has such facility in finding them elsewhere. It appears that it would be easier to get water enough even to immerse one person, within less than 30 miles of Nazareth, than to walk 30 miles. The Doctor will probably acknowledge that the oldest pictures of the baptism of Jesus that he has ever seen, do represent him as standing or kneeling, in or near the river, while John pours the water on him? We will, also, state in passing, that the Received Version in the place quoted from Mark, uses the preposition that most naturally means "from," and not "out of" the water. We may add for reflection the 40th verse of 10th ch John: Jesus went away again beyond Jordan, into the place, where John at first baptized, and there he abode." Did he abide in the river Jordan?

As the Doctor affirms that he is still willing to stand by his declaration (as changed,) he now has the benefit of the change, and will, we hope, excuse us; for we certainly did not design to do him injustice and certainly think his change is fraught with little relief of his trouble.

Now, we are willing to show due courtesy and fairness to Rev. Mr. Jordan. Our version was that he said he "never saw a person who had been baptized by sprinkling who was happy."

Dr. Pritchard's version is that "a lady . . . praised God as she came up out of the water . . . . . when Bro. Jordan remarked "I have seen many people happy when baptized by immersion, but never saw or heard of any one's being happy when sprinkled or poured." The only difference, we can see in the meaning of the two versions is that our own would bear the meaning that he had never seen one, who had been baptized by sprinkling, happy immediately, as the instantaneous result—while he had seen many, who were baptized by immersion, happy, as the immediate consequence of the immersion.

Mark then, that we are charged with serious injustice to Rev. Mr. Jordan in stating what implies that he thinks that those who are "sprinkled or poured" cannot be happy afterwards; and now if he thinks that those who are "sprinkled or poured" can be happy at some subsequent period, he evidently thinks after all that immersion is not indispensable to happiness and salvation. We are glad of that much.

As to Rev. Mr. Jordan's observations of the immediate effects of different modes of baptism, it is presumable that he has seen very few baptized by any other mode than immersion. He is not good authority on the effects of baptism by sprinkling or pouring. Some of the most beautiful, impressive and happy scenes ever witnessed on earth are presented in our churches, when, free from gazing curiosity, the prayerful audience beholds with tearful eye the solemn administration of baptism by pouring or sprinkling, while the subjects, calm and spiritual, meekly, sweetly receive the symbol of their regeneration. Oh! it is so different from the curious staring of the crowd and the frequent excitement of the subject on occasions of immersion. It is noticeable that while the Doctor tells us the good woman shouted, he also tells us that others "were amused." It would not be so surprising even if there were not many cases of shouting at baptisms by pouring or sprinkling, as we try to teach our people not to put too much emphasis on water baptism. We do not seek after shouting through much water. We look with most concern to the baptism of the Spirit.

We mean no disrespect or unfairness when we say that the submersion of a sensitive woman in cold water, (or even warmed water, as they sometimes have here in Raleigh,) is calculated to have a powerful effect on her feelings, and connected with the exceeding great reliance placed upon "immersion" by many, may very naturally lead to extraordinary displays of emotion.

Those who know Rev. Mr. Jordan well, are not surprised at his making very intemperate remarks and manifesting a bitter sectarian spirit. We have heard that some of the Baptists themselves regretted his sectarian speeches, before he left, and also have reason to believe that all of them are not pleased at Dr. P's "ringing" the changes" so much on his favorite water theme. Alas! close communion and immersion may carry our Baptist brethren so far as to render them ecclesiastical Ishmaelites—a huge, standing difficulty in the way of christian union. As we believe them to be sincere, we pity them.

Hymns and their Uses.

In the New York Advocate of the 12th, we find the following on Hymns and their uses:

It is, however, too manifest to be questioned, that our church music has greatly declined in power during the last twenty or thirty years. Possibly this may be in part chargeable to a decline in the tone and spirit of our religious life—which is confessedly less emotional and demonstrative than formerly—perhaps some will say less profound and compelling in the soul.—There is also, doubtless, an increase of culture, which may make us more sensitive to violations of good musical taste in our songs, and thus only impose silence upon some who otherwise would sing. More scientific correctness in our music has been required, and the devout and voluble songs of the good old-time brothers and sisters have been shamed into silence in the presence of tune books and the piping instruments. Very possibly, too, in order to escape the annoyance of those old-fashioned singers, the better taught choristers and choirs of our times select not the most familiar tunes, and so the aged worshipers are compelled to wait in silence. This, however, would be tolerable, and the service would be a profitable one if only the excellent sentiments of the hymns were poured through the unfamiliar music upon their waiting hearts.

Somehow it has come to pass that our selected singers who now, in most congregations, have a monopoly of this part of the worship, so mouth the words of the hymns that the most attentive listener, unless already knowing them by heart, cannot understand what is said. We have often listened attentively to some church choir "rendering" a hymn, when, for aught our perceptions could distinguish, the language might have been Greek, or Sanscrit, or Choctaw. This being the practice, it is not strange that the great body of the congregations feel very little interest in the church music, unless, perhaps, the few cultivated musicians, for whom not the words and thoughts uttered, but the musical notes, are the points of interest. As a religious power, or an aid to worship in such a case, the church music is quite valueless.

The New York Methodist has a correspondent, vouched for by that journal as a distinguished Baptist clergyman, who writes as follows: "I could give you the names of from twenty-five to fifty Baptist clergymen, occupying leading and prominent pulpits who are per se open communionists, including such men as Neale, Gordon Beckley, Child, and Pantecost, of Boston; Bridgman and Reeves, of Albany; Dr. Burlingham, of St. Louis, Rowland, of Philadelphia; D. H Miller, of New York; Anable, of North Adams, Mass., Jeffrey, of Brooklyn, etc., etc. with any number who are indifferent on the matter, and would gladly go with the open communionists if it were practicable and tolerated. The rampant close communionists are a very small minority, I quite believe." We very much question whether all the gentlemen here named are open communionists in the sense which the writer intimates. They may be in favor of tolerating such of their members as are open communionists and not subjecting them to church discipline, but as to being open communionists per se, as the writer intimates, that is another question.

The Biblical Recorder says that Baptists outnumber other denominations in Richmond, Chicago, Atlanta and Raleigh—are strong in Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Washington and Louisville, but relatively weak in Baltimore, St Louis, Memphis, Nashville, Mobile and Galveston.

We have not examined any of the statistics, but think there is probably a greater number of Methodists than Baptists in Raleigh. At Edenton St. Methodist Church there are at least 450 on the record, while Person St. shows 92. Total Methodists (white) 542. Besides these, there are many nonaffiliated Methodists in the city who are not counted.

The brethren are earnestly requested to press the canvass for the Advocate. Send us new subscribers, and see that all the old ones renew. We must swell our list to ten thousand subscribers this year. It can be done if all will assist.

An exchange says that "a Dubuque distillery has got converted, and is now run as a flouring mill"—a good type of genuine conversion.

St. Patrick's Day and Immigration.

Near the close of the late session of the Legislature a series of resolutions was introduced into the House of Representatives by Gen. J. C. Gorman, of Raleigh, appointing a State Convention in the interests of Immigration, to be held in this city on St. Patrick's day, in connection with the celebration of that Catholic anniversary; and consequently under the management of Rev. McNamara, the resident Catholic priest. To the surprise of thoughtful Protestants, the House promptly passed the resolutions. The next evening the matter came before the Senate and met quite a different reception. Dr. Love, doubtless detecting the inconsistency of combining an important public interest with a sectarian festival, moved to amend the House bill by adding that we resolve to abolish the 4th of July and substitute St. Patrick's day. Another resolution of ridicule was proposed as an amendment. Both these amendments were adopted,—and thus amended, the bill was voted down, and finally all record of the matter was ordered to be expunged from the Journal. The Senate was congratulated as wiser than the House.

Strange to say, on Monday, the last day of the session, in the absence of some of the members (it is thought) the matter was again brought up in the Senate and the German resolutions adopted.

It is, therefore, published that there is to be an Immigration Convention in Raleigh on St. Patrick's day, and everybody is urged to attend. The general understanding is that the whole project was originated and is agitated by the Catholic priest.

No one objects to Roman Catholics indulging in their own festivals, if they do not interfere with the rights of others. But very consistent Protestants must object to such efforts to subsidize Protestant influence to the interest of Catholicism; and also to the unprecedented and unfair action of the Legislature in departing from its legitimate sphere and dragging its influence to the support of a distinctly sectarian religious movement. As Protestants we have a right, at the least, to demand of our Legislators that they keep hands off our religious privileges, and keep themselves aloof from sectarianism, when they are acting in their capacity as representatives of all classes, irrespective of denominational considerations.

We favor immigration of useful citizens as much as any one in the State, but we do not favor this effort to force a union between a great public interest and a Roman Catholic festival.—Let all Protestants beware and have nothing to do with the affair. It is not the best way to aid immigration. It is a very cunning way to aid Roman Catholicism in North Carolina.—Take that feature out and the priest would have nothing to do with it. If it is desired to have a veritable Immigration Convention, let some non sectarian, non-Catholic day be appointed, so that Protestants and Catholics can all join in it. It is hoped that the Protestants throughout the State will understand the plan and keep clear of it. In Raleigh, where it is understood, it will not be regarded by any Protestants that are worthy of the name. All true Protestants must feel themselves outraged by the action of the Legislature and should hold the perpetrators of the wrong responsible. And so they will.

SCIO.

Help us, Friends!

All the contributions made to aid in securing a suitable church for the Edenton Street Methodist congregation of Raleigh, will be duly acknowledged through the ADVOCATE.

We have started with the purpose to keep on till the work is done. It is simply impossible to do what is needed without much help from abroad.

The true friends of Methodism in North Carolina will give what they can, if they understand our condition and necessity. Who does not wish to help preach the Gospel to thousands, by helping this enterprise? Where can you appropriate your money with the same prospect of its reaching so effectually such multitudes of people with the benignant influences and agencies of Methodism?

We do greatly desire to get such responses as will enable us to welcome the next Conference in a church adequate to their numbers: Then help us without delay. Help us, though you can help but little. Address,

A. W. MANGUM,
Raleigh, N. C.

Expenses of Delegates.--Greensboro' District.

The chairman of our Joint Board of Finance has apportioned to this District to be raised to meet the expenses of the delegates to the General Conference, $105.00.

The preachers in charge of the several circuits and stations will please collect and send to me, or some other delegate in the district, before the 20th of April, the following sums:

Greensboro,	$12 00
Trinity,	12 00
Davidson	12 00
North Guilford,	10 00
Wentworth,	10 00
Madison,	10 00
Forsythe,	8 00
Stokes,	8 00
South Guilford,	8 00
Thomasville & H. Point,	8 00
Winston,	7 00
	$105.00

N. H. WILSON, P. E.

Model Letters.

BRO. BOBBITT: Thinking the time would soon come for that ugly X mark on my paper, and wishing to prevent it, I inclose to you two dollars to renew my subscription for the "Advocate." My mind is settled on two things—to always be a subscriber to the Raleigh Christian Advocate, and never to allow the preacher to leave the circuit without the full assessment at the appointment where I am a member, while I am blessed with the means to pay.

Yours truly,
T. H. EURE.

Enfield, February the 12th, 1874.

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: You will please find inclosed two dollars for the renewal of my paper. If I should fail to renew in time in the future, do not fail to send it on to me. I never want to be without it. I prize it above all others. It preaches to me and my little family every week. At times when I feel despondent, and the future looks dark and gloomy, I get hold of the "Advocate and ponder over its pages. It cheers my heart, and everything brightens up before me. I do hope that the good people in the old North State will aid you, that you may send our beloved paper into every family within the bounds of the N. C. Conference. Every Methodist family, at least, ought to take it. As I am so far away from you, I can only aid you by my prayers.

I remain your brother,
JOHN M. CAMPBELL.

Ripley, Tenn., Feb. 10th, 1874.

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: Enclosed you will find the money to renew Bro. L. J. Dixon's and my own paper, which will soon be out, and I do not wish to trouble you to send the bill to inform me of the fact.

Very Respectfully, &c.,
H. J. ALLISON.

Kings Mountain, Feb. 3d, 1874.

Rev. J. W. Jenkins, in charge of Leasburg circuit, writes:

"We are moving on finely. Several Sunday schools have resumed. My people have not feted me like brethren Pepper and Cunninggim's, but they have hatted, gloved, booted and overcoated me. All of which makes me feel very comfortable, and for which I herein return my sincere thanks to all assisting in the donation. God bless them, and reward them abundantly! There are no better people than these."

From the Western Christian Advocate, published at Cincinnati, we copy the following, and commend it to the attention of all concerned: "The Christian Union advertises in Methodist papers, ours included, that Methodist people ought to subscribe for the said Union because it is publishing a Methodist novel. When Methodism's 'heroic age' grows so dim, and the Church becomes so poor in incident, that it must embellish its barren history with fiction, or caricature it for the sake of exciting an interest, it will be time to drop her own papers and take other people's. None but silly people will catch at that bait."

FIFTY YEARS WORK.—The following calculation is made by a Frenchman. We cannot vouch for its accuracy—it is given as an item which we suppose will pass for all it is worth:

"The average man has, at that age, slept 6,000 days, worked 19,500 days, walked 800 days, amused himself 4,000 days, spent 1,200 days in eating, and been sick 500 days. He has eaten 17,000 pounds of bread, 16,000 pounds of meat, 4,000 pounds of vegetables, fish, etc., and drank 7,000 gallons of liquids. There are 18,250 days in half a century; and from the above statement it would seem that a man slept just one third of his time."

Religious Brevities.

— We are glad to learn that the New Methodist Church at Monroe will soon be completed.

— An exchange says Dr. Burkhead Presiding Elder of the Shelby District has recently held a series of interesting meetings at Newton.

— The CENTRAL METHODIST, says: Nearly all the Methodist churches in Louisville have had gracious revivals this winter, and large numbers have been converted and added to the Church. The pastors are very zealous and laborious, and their faithful labors are owned and blest of the Head of the Church.

The Senior Class of Trinity College will start for Baltimore and Washington on Thursday, the 26th inst., accompanied by the President, B. Craven, D. D.

— The FAYETTEVILLE EAGLE says: The first quarterly meeting for the present Conferences year, for the station of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, at this place, was held in the Methodist Church on Friday, Saturday and Sunday last. The Rev S. D. Adams, the worthy presiding elder, was in attendance, and preached twice on Sunday. Love-Feast was held on Friday evening.—The Fayetteville Eagle.

— Bishop Simpson, of the M. E Church, and Bishop Keener, of the M. E. Church, South, have arrived in Mexico safe and well.

Mr. Spurgeon is afflicted again with his gout, and has gone to the Continent for a few weeks of rest and change of scene.

— Rev. William McGuire, of Washington, has withdrawn from the Protestant Episcopal Church and joined the Reformed Episcopalians.

Wo invite attention to the new advertisement of Julius Lewis & Co. This house is too well and favorably known to require words of commendation. They keep constantly on hand a large stock, and sell at reasonable prices.

We invite special attention to the attractive advertisement of Tyson & Jones, of Carthage, N. C. Those in need of a carriage or buggy would do well to give them a call. Thor prices are low, and their work cannot be surpassed in neatness and durability.

A young man of experience desires a situation as teacher in a common school or private family of refinement.
Address J. A. S.
Henderson, N. C.

The Annual Statement given elsewhere of the NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY of U. S. A. shows a net increase of $650,000 in Assets, and New Policies to the amount of 12,000,000 in 1873. Certainly a grand record. Agents wanted everywhere.
Mar 4 1w.

REV. C. W. WESTBROOK.—A few days ago this deservedly popular christian gentleman sent by Express as a present to the Parsonage of Edenton St., Methodist Church in Raleigh, a valuable selection of Vines and Fruit Trees. Of course, as they came from his nursery, they are a fine improved variety. The assortment embraced Pear, Apple, Peach, Nectarine, Cherry, Gooseberry, Strawberry, Raspberry, and Grape Vines. The official Board passed a unanimous vote of thanks for the liberal courtesy. I must thank him thus publicly. I doubly prize a good deed when it comes from a good heart like his. Remember him, brethren, and tell the people if they want Vines and Fruit Trees they may find men pleasant to trade with and worthy of all confidence in C. W. Westbrook & Bro., Wilson, N. C. As I have planted the trees and vines, I notify my successor at Raleigh, that I shall claim to be remembered when they begin to yield their delicious fruit.

A. W. MANGUM.

Personal.

Gen. Lewis T. Wigfall, United States Senator before the war, and a General in the Confederate army, died in Galveston, Texas, on the 18th inst.

Mrs. Mary P. Battle, wife of Judge W. H. Battle, died at an advanced age in Raleigh on the 21st inst. She was possessed of a highly cultivated mind and devoted christian piety.

A correspondent of the Wilmington Journal writing from Washington, thus speaks of some of our North Carolina Representatives in Congress:

"The member from Salisbury District, Col. Robbins, "flashed his maiden sword" on the civil rights bill in the House, and hit such stalwart blows that from this or some other cause, the bill has gone "where the woodbine twineth."

General Vance, from the Eighth District, has made a good impression in Congress. He has been bold and incisive; as we already have said, we like pluck.

Colonel Waddell seems to be a general favorite, and, although he was well abused for his vote on the salary bill last session, every one now says that he showed "the ring of the true metal" when he voted against the repeal; for if he had, he would have acknowledged that he did wrong in the first instance. In politics, an error is as bad as a crime. We like pluck, even if in error.

Your member from the Raleigh District, Hon, W. A. Smith, is winning notoriety, if not fame. His recent letter to the Legislature of your State is quite unique in its style and of the Brownlow order of political warfare. Judging from this, one would suppose that he was rather a rough customer,—something of the style of John Randolph's description of his colleague, Mr. Sheff, "A butcher's knife whetted on a brick-bat."

State and Local Items.

The Charlotte OBSERVER says: "The rumor that Hon. Z. B. Vance and Col. Wm. Johnston, of this city, are contemplating the establishment of a newspaper in Raleigh, we are authorized to pronounce false. They have no such intentions. The report that the OBSERVER is to be removed to the City of Oaks is also without foundation in truth."

Large quantities of sumac are being shipped from Greensboro to Richmond.

On the occasion of Dr. J. E. Edward's lecture in the Chapel of G. F. College, the indecent part of the audience spurted tobacco juice on the floor so extensively that Dr. Jones has refused to allow the Chapel to be again used for public entertainments.

Stevo Lowery, the last of the Robeson County outlaws, was killed by three men Hutton, Holcombe and Mr. Patterson who received the $5000 reward offered for the outlaw.

The Internal Revenue Collections of the 5th District (C. S. Winstead, Collector) amounted in January to $86,000 and in February to nearly the same.

A young man by the name of Elliott, son of the proprietor of St. Charles Hotel, in Statesville, shot and killed Charlie Neal, of Danville. It is said to have been an unprovoked, or at least, a cowardly murder.

U. S. Deputy Marshal, N. H. H. Burns, while engaged in the execution of his duties as Marshal in Swain county, N. C. was bushwhacked and killed.

Messrs. Wilson & Shober have bought the N. C. Handle Works at Greensboro', N. C.

Mr. W. B. Glenn, of Yadkin county, in a recent letter to the Daily Examiner of this city, replies to the strictures made upon the character of the Yadkin people by Mr. Ball of the New North State, and charges that the statements of Mr. Ball, "are calculated to work an irreparable injury and injustice, not only to the reputation of the people, but also to their material interests."

The well known house of C. W. Grandy & Sons, of Norfolk, Va., advertises in this issue. The farmers generally will be interested in this advertisement.

Send us Help.

Contributions from those not residents of Raleigh to rebuild Edenton St. Methodist Church:

Rev. J. B. Martin..... $5.00

Marriages.

Married, at the residence of G. W. Alex by Rev. J. Sanford, John H. Watkins, Lucy Threadgill, all of Anson county, C.

Married, on the 19th inst., at Mebaneville N. C., by Rev. P. T. Penick, Mr. J. H. Fowler to Miss M Lucas White, all of Mebaneville.

Married, on the 18th of Feb., at the residence of the bride's mother, by Rev. J. Griffith, Mr. Frank J. Tilley to Miss Lizzie Raney, all of Granville, N. C.

Married, on the 19th of Feb., by the same Mr. William P. Harrell of Gates county N. C. to Miss Annie E. Hines of Greenville, N. C.

Married, on Pea Ridge, Feb. 24th, 1874, by Rev. J. W. Jenkins, Mr. John J. Long, of Person county, to Miss Joe Evans, of Caswell county, N. C.

Deaths.

The Orphan Asylum is sad. Edward Asbury Lumsden is dead. He fell asleep early last Sunday morning. He was a native of Wilkes, and both his parents died soon after his birth. He never knew a mother's love nor a father's care; but grew up to ten years of age, with his relatives and went from them to the Orphan Asylum. He was very quiet, meek, studious and diligent. A continuation of croup and whooping cough was too much for his system. The matron, the teachers and his school fellows nursed him with assiduous anxiety. Drs. Taylor, Young and Faison gave him the benefit of their medical skill. But the giver of life, also takes it away. Wisdom and goodness have done what was best. We wanted to see him become a man, virtuous, intelligent and useful. But Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth."

J. H. KILLIS.

Died, of pneumonia in Randolph county N. C., Dec. 31st, 1873, Hattie J., daughter of Emory B. and John A. Keeney, aged 1 year and 2 days. Hattie was a lovely child and the affections of all who knew her. Sad as it is to give her up, yet there is a pleasure that sadness, greater than the sorrow, for we know that she is gone to the glory land to join with her little sister and brother. Lane and Sindie, who have preceded her. She a fond father and mother and two little brothers, and many friends and relatives to mourn her loss.

Sweet to rejoice in lively hope,
That when my change shall come,
My babes shall hover round my bed,
And waft my spirit home.

A FRIEND.

Died, of consumption, at Trinity, Randolph county, N. C., Jan. 19th, 1874, Eli C. Keener, aged 55 years, 10 months and 8 days.

He was converted at Salem Church, the Randolph circuit at a camp meeting in the year 1845. While sitting upon his seat, he exclaimed "All is peace." He never expressed himself like some, but no doubt he felt as much. He lived the life of a Christian had many friends—had been afflicted for 3 years, and bore it all with patience, in his last illness he was confined to his bed six months and during that time often spoke of dying and said he was ready and willing to die,—said it was good to have a friend whom he could trust. He leaves an aged mother, an affectionate wife, two sons and one daughter, all of whom mourn the loss of one so good and true, but who is now at rest in heaven.

COR.

Departed this life, Jan. 10th 1874, Mrs. Mollie C. Wheelis, in the 25th year of her age.

Sister Wheelis professed religion in early life and joined the M. E. Church at Nashville, Nash Co. N.C., and lived a consistent member to her death. Those who knew her best could most appreciate her Christian virtues. She lived on the high way that leads to Heaven and died in full view of blessed immortality.

Her bereaved husband, mother, brother, sister and friends look up and remember that the blessed affections of the soul go not down to the grave. May God help us all to follow her footsteps and share her heavenly home!

L. J. H.

Died, at her residence in Nash Co. N. C. Jan. 5th 1874, Mrs. Laura F. Taylor, wife of W. G. Taylor, aged 24 years.

Sister Taylor professed religion in the sixteenth year and lived to exhibit to the world the reality of the truth and beauty of religion. Though I never knew her, yet with a sad heart I pen these lines. And when we turn to the Record and write "Dead" we believe it is but a transfer to the great record above. She leaves a kind and affectionate husband two sweet little children many warm friends to weep, but they mourn not as those who have no hope. She is gone, but let us live as she lived, die as she died and we will meet her again.

L. J. H.

Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath,
And stars to set—but all,
Thou hast all seasons for thine, oh Death.

Died, at the residence of his grandmother in Martin Co. Jan. 25th 1874, Joseph H. Forbes aged 19 years and 7 days. When so young and useful is taken from our midst the whole community mourns. They needs no outward badges to proclaim their grief. A few weeks ago he was cheerful and merry with his beloved schoolmates looking forward to a long life of usefulness. He has severe cold from which he never recovered but continued day by day to decline until Sunday morning, the 25th, he suddenly grew worse and his friends saw there was no hope.

Just before midnight he quietly and peacefully breathed his last as a babe would sink to slumber.

No more will we hear his pleasant voice singing the sweet old hymn which was a favorite,

"I would not live away, etc."

For many years he had been the light of the old home in which dwelt a widowed mother, an aged grandmother and younger brother. Besides these he leaves a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn the irreparable loss. He was naturally pious disposed and feared not death.

We never knew one more affectionate in his nature. His love for his mother and grandmother was truly remarkable for its tenderness and they have great pleasure in remembering that he was ever ready and willing to devote himself to their happiness. Frank and candid in his nature, earnest, faithful in the discharge of all his duties, just and loving in his disposition, pleasant and winning in his manners, he won the love of all who knew him. He was ardently devoted to his schoolmates and each one feels individually bereft in the loss of one so accommodating, so good and true. Should they live to a hoary headed old age may they never forget the virtues of their childhood friend. Many will miss him besides the stricken household. His friends will long mourn the early death of one they loved so well but no friend will miss him more than the newly made stepsisters, who loved him as a brother. We laid his body down to rest in the quiet "sleeping place" near the place near his old home there to await the morning of the resurrection.

Till then, dear Joseph farewell; we shall miss thee but thy memory shall be cherished gratefully in our hearts till we, too, shall cross the river.

Then again we hope to meet thee
When the day of life has fled;
Then with joy in Heaven to greet thee
Where no farewell tear is shed.

A FRIEND.

Died, in Mocksville, N. C. on the 5th inst. Samuel Rose in the 60th year of his age. He left a devoted wife and two affectionate daughters to battle alone with the stern realities of life. May God comfort them!

A FRIEND.

John Burton was born in Caswell County Oct. 10th 1807 and died in Stokes county on the 3rd of Dec 1873. He had been an acceptable member of the M. E. Church, South, for many years. He loved her doctrines and worship. He loved the preachers and warmly welcomed them to the hospitalities of his house. His disease was dropsy and he suffered much and long but patiently; of death he spoke calmly and expressed himself as ready to depart. His end was peace. He is well till we meet thee in the better land. Brother Burton leaves a widow and seven children to mourn his loss. They will miss him much.

How lonely is their home now! But O blessed religion can cheer them in the hope of reunion where death and separation are unknown. May they all meet him in heaven!

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorised Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us more will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written and on but one side of the sheet. All letters on business should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount in hand. If money is sent otherwise than as herein specified it will be at the sender's risk.

REGISTERED LETTERS.—Persons sending money to the Advocate by registered letter will remember that the rate has been reduced from fifteen to eight cents.

Letters & Funds

Rec'd for J W Jenkins for B G Pallium 2. Mrs Jno Hinkle 2. Rev J Sanford paper sent and changed. Rev E W Thompson, Rev F L Reid for E W Fuller 2. Rev W H Cunningham or J C Bryan. C McDaniel. R L Craven for Rev M G Field 2. John W Fawcett paper changed. S M Pettengill & Co. Dr H Stubbs for all 2. Rev C C Dodson for T H Gatling 2. Mary M Pender 2. Dr J W Jones 2. Rec'd from paper sent. S E Allen Rev Dr Craven. Rev M L Wood, P. E. N Fresh-man. Owen Brooks paper continued. Foster Upchurch 2 S H Turner 2. Rev R M Brower for Jno Page 2 Rev A F Atkins 2. A H Freeman 2. E A Forrest 2. Miss Jessie Eddleman 2. Miss L A Allen 1. J Mobley 2. Eli Atkins. Rev I R Griffith for Mrs B M Taylor 2 W G Fuller Rev V A Sharpe for A H Rankin 2. J C Robertson 2. V A Linebarger 2. Mrs A F Sawyer 2. Miss Hattie C Bellman 2 Bobt Hance 2. J M Reid sell 2, to Miss Nellie Friend 1 25. J E Daniel pa. paper sent. Rev Z Rush for Ferabee & Jones pa. paper sent. Rev Z Rush for Ferabee & Jones pa. paper sent. Rev W H Moore paper 2 Jonas Wittson 2. Rev W H Thompson sent. B C Emerson. Rev E W Thompson for G A Grimsly & Son. J A S for misc. Rev G W Long for D Avery 2. R M Tuttle 2 M M Whitley 2. P I Lee 2. A Shell 2. M Deal 2, other papers continued. Rev W M D Bellman. Rev W M Jordan for Jas T Cheser 2. Miss Hattie S Williams 2. Rev D T Johnson. Rev Dr Summers. F E Pow-ell sent 2. Rev C M Pepper for R Sechrist 2. J M Wooley 2. Dr J F Graves 2. Rev L E Sasser for Rev E J Endsley 2. Rev S Y Brown for Miss E Hamlin Richmond 2. Thos J Lunsford for B H Bourne 2. W M Sharpe & Co. Rev S H Hoyle for D J Connell 2—all right about the paper. Po the A Hunt for adv 15. W H Hopkins for H E Bogan 1. Rev J W Jenkins for J T Burton 2 Miss Blanch Fentress 2.

Appointments.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND—IN PART.

Statesville ct. at Providence,	March 28-29
Mocksville ct. at Salem,	April 4- 5
Statesville ct.	" 11-12
Yadkinville ct. at Macedonia,	" 18-19
Mocksville ct. at Salem,	" 25-26
Salisbury, st.	May 2- 3

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Ofln. N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT

1ST ROUND.

Person at Roxboro,	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Flat River at Mt. Bethel,	Feb 7- 8
Leasburg at Leasburg,	" 14-15
Alamance at Phillips Chapel,	" 21-22
Hico Rock at Shiloh,	Feb. 28 March 1
Yanceyville at Yanceyville,	March 7- 8
Deep River at Fair Promise.	" 14-15
Pittsboro at Pittsboro,	" 21-22

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt. Tirzah, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT

1ST ROUND—IN PART.

Wilmington, Front Street, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Clinton.	Feb. 7- 8
Keenansville at Keenansville,	" 14-15
Smithville at Zion,	" 21-22
Onslow at Prospect, Feb. 28th and Mar. 1st
Elizabeth at Bladen Springs,	" 7- 8
Bladen at Center,	" 14-15
Onslow at Richlands,	" 21-22
Cokesbury,	" 28-29

I earnestly entreat every official member to be present at Quarterly Conferences. Let the Recording Steward bring his book.

W. S. BLACK, P. E.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.

1ST ROUND.

Pineville at Pineville, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1
Pleasant Grove at Pleasant Grove,	Feb. 7- 8
Concord, ss.	" 14-15
Albemarle and Stanley, at Albemarle,	" 21-22
Wadesboro st.	Feb. 28 and March 1
Mt. Pleasant at Gold Hill	March 7- 8
Appleville at Concord,	" 14-15
Wadesboro, and Lilesville, at Bethel	" 21-22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

1ST ROUND.

Rock Spring ct. at Bethel,	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
South Fork ct. at Zion,	Feb. 7- 8
Newton ct. at Newton,	" 14-15
Happy Home ct. at Hickory st.	" 21-22
Lincoln ct. at Bethany,	Feb. 28 and March 1
Burke ct. at Morganton,	" 7- 8
Marion ct. and Upper Broad River Mis. at Marion,	" 14-15
Double Shoals and South Mt. Mis. at Elliotts,	" 21-22
Cherry Mountain ct. at Oak Grove,	" 28-29
Rutherfordton ct. and Columbus Mis. at Rutherfordton April 4- 5

The District Stewards will meet at the District Parsonage in Shelby, Wednesday March 18th 1874. A full attendance is desired.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT

1ST ROUND.

Roanoke at Ebeneezer	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Williamston at Williamston	Feb. 7- 8
Columbia at Scuppernong.	" 14-15
Plymouth and Jamesville at Plymouth	" 21-22
Bath at Bath.	Feb 28 and March 1
Matamuskeet at Swan Quarter	March 7-8
Washington and Greenville, at Washington.	March 14-15
Tarboro' at Tarboro',	" 21-22

The District Stewards will please meet at Tarboro' on Saturday, March 21st. They are the following: for Warrenton, Col. S. Davis. Warren. — Tarboro', J. W. Jones. Bath, Wallace Clark. Mattamuskeet, T. W Jones. Washington and Greenville B W. Brown. Williamston, R. A. Weatherspy. Columbia, Wm Puckett. Plymouth and Greenville, J W. Latham.

WM. CLOSS, P. E.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND—IN PART.

Cumberland, Beaver Creek,	March 21-22
Jonesboro', Lillington,	" 28-29
Louisburg St. John's,	April 4-5
Rockingham, Green Lake,	" 11-12
Carthage, Carraway,	" 18-19
Robeson, Regans,	" 25-26

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage, N. C.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.

FIRST ROUND.

Trinity & Carraway at T. College,	Jan. 31 and Feb. 1.
South Guilford at Pleasant Garden	" 7- 8
Deep River & Wesleyan at Pine Grove,	" 14-15
Madison at Bethesda,	" 21-22
South Guilford at Friendship,	" 28th and March 1.
Stokes at Antioch,	" 7- 8
Wentworth at Lowe's	" 14-15
Davidson at Emmanuel,	" 21-22

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND—IN PART.

Tar River cir. at Plank Chapel,	March 14-15
Rolesville cir. at Rolesboro,	" 21-22
Cary cir. at Hollard's,	" 28 29
Wilson cir. at Mt. Pleasant.	April 4- 5
Granville cir. at Moore's	" 11-12
Henderson cir. at Henderson,	" 18-19

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

1st ROUND.

Wayne at Salem, Jan. 31st and	Feb. 1st,
Jones, Shady Grove,	" 7- 8
Lenoir, at Lenoir Institute,	" 14-15
Newb'n ct.
Mount Olive at Mount Olive,	" 21-22
Neuse and Swift Creek at Jackson, Feb. 28 & Mar. 1st
Goldsboro,	" 7- 8
Snow Hill,	" 14-15
Wilson,	" 21-22

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

The Markets.

Raleigh Market—Retail Prices Feb. 24, 1874.

CORRECTED WEEKLY.

COTTON	13 to 14
BACON—Baltimore smoked,	10@11
" —unsmoked,	9@10
" —stripe,	12 1-2@
" —shoulders,	10@11
" —N. Hams,	15@16
BUTTER—per lb.	25@30
BEESWAX—per lb.	25@30
BEEF—on hoof,	10@15
COFFEE—per lb.	24@25
CHEESE—per lb.	20@25
COTTON YARN—per bale,	1 75@10
CORN—per bushel,	90@1 00
CHICKENS—per piece,	20@25
EGGS—per dozen,	15@20
FLOUR—per barrel,	8.50@9

New Advertisements.

LEACH BROTHERS,

GROCERS AND

Commission Merchants,

Wilmington St., East Side Market Square,

RALEIGH, N. C.

In view of the approaching "Spring season" we have laid in a heavy and well selected stock which we offer to the public at prices corresponding to the scarcity of money, thereby giving the retail dealer a good stock for small capital. We offer for cash

11 bbls H. Sugars at 11 1-2c.
10 bbls D. Sugars at 11 1-4.
10 bbls. X. C. Sugars at 11.
10 bbls. extra bright "Yellows," 10 1-2.
10 bbls. extra bright yellow, 10 1-2.
20 bbls. prime Rio coffee, 31.
20 bags good Rio coffee, 34.
50 bbls. Super flour at $7.50.
50 bbls. Extra Flour, at $8.50.
20 bbls. "Snow Flake Flour," $11.75.
30 boxes, "Frazier & Gamble's Soap, 60 lbs to box, at 3½ a box.
25 boxes "Leach Bros. Family" soap at 5.25, 50 lbs to box.
20 boxes "Forresters" lemon crackers 13 1-2.
20 boxes Soda crackers at 10c.
20 bbls "Rose" Potatoes.
20 bbls. "Jackson White" do.
20 bbls. "Peach Blow" do.
25 kegs English soda at 7 1-2c.
5 boxes Adamantine candles at 15 1-2.
50 bags "Marshall's Salt" at 2.35.
10 bbls. new crop "Cuba Molasses" at 42 1-2.
8,000 lbs bulk sides.
3,000 lbs bulk shoulders.
20 cases Boots and Shoes at cash, 10c freight added.
100 Wilson Cotton Plows the best plow in use.
Plows and Castings of every kind.

NOTICE —We desire to call the attention of our friends to the fact that other merchants in the city are having inferior flour branded "Snowflake" in imitation of our well known brand, for which we are sole agents, and none is the genuine unless our brand as Agents is on the head of barrel.

'LOOK FOR THE BRAND."

LEACH BROS.

mar 4-tf.

Collens Warranted

CAST STEEL

COTTON SWEEPS

HARDWARE HOUSE OF

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.

THE CELEBRATED

BOLLES COTTON HOE,

WE SOLD IN 1873 596 DOZEN.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Sole Agents for N. C.

Write for circular and prices.

THE WARREN HOE,

BEST HOE EVER

MADE FOR

Garden and General Work.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Sole Agents for N. C.

Write for circular and prices.

ONE HUNDRED DOZEN

"Elwell" Hoes.

50 dozen "Planter's" Hoes.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.

Trade supplied.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

AVERRILL CHEMICAL PAINT,

IS THE BEST.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO., Sole Agent.

Write for descriptive circular.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

WILL NOT EXPLODE.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO., Sole Agents.

Write for circular and Prices.

March 4-tf

SIXTH ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE CO., OF THE UNITED STATES AMERICA, JAN. 1, 1874

Receipts for 1873	$1,461,504.24
Disbursements for 1873	805,960.11
Net increase in Assets during the year	$657,544.13

ASSETS.

Cash in Bank and in Trust Co.	$151,123.09
U. S. State, and City Bonds, Market value	369,318.75
Loans secured by First Mortgages	1,637,849 05
Loans fully secured by Bonds and Stocks	836,343.80
Loans secured by Policies of this and other Companies	72,485.60
Accrued Interest, and Prems. in course of Collection	79,970.85
Deferred Premiums	118,708.72
Due from other Companies for Reinsurance	19,123.15
All other Assets	35,668.62
Total Assets, Jan. 1, 1874	$3,296,531.61

LIABILITIES.

Reserve on all Policies under which the Company is liable	$1,029,399.00
Death Claims, not due, and all other liabilities	10,738.77
Total Liabilities, Jan. 1, 1874	$2,689,127.77

	POLICIES.	AMOUNT.
SURPLUS		$1,254,403.84
In force January 1, 1874	11,934	$27,884,753
" " 1873	9,190	21,350,608
Net increase during the year 2,734		$6,534,145

A National Co.—Insured by Ongoing Cash Capital, $1,000,000; a strong Stock Co., Low rates of Premium.

Office, 315 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia

E. A. ROLLINS, Pres. E. W PEET, Vice-Pres. and Act'y. J. M BUTLER, Sec. F. G. SMITH, M. D. Medical Director.

March 4-1w

THOMAS B. TYSON. W. T. JONES.

TYSON & JONES,

(Successors to Tyson, Kelly & Co.)

Carriage Builders,

CARTHAGE, N. C.

Having greatly increased our Facilities for Manufacturing, we are prepared to furnish Customers direct from our Manufactory, or at our Repositories from our Agents, as follows:

Repository at Rockingham, Leak, Spencer & Co., Agts.
" " Lacrenburg, N. C., Col. J. T. Roper, Agt.
" " Bennettsville, S. C. P. L. Breeden, "
" " near Bennettsville, S. C. Wm. Pearson "

We feel confident that with the close attention we give the business, together with the materials used, the skilled workmen employed, and the many conveniences we have for manufacturing FIRST-CLASS WORK, that no house in the country can excel us in STYLE, FINISH AND DURABILITY.

And also, at the LOW PRICE at which we are selling our work

☞ We also Manufacture Harness and Saddles.—☜
Repairing Done at Short Notice. May 4-12m

W. M. JONES,

CAREY, N. C.

Contractor, House Builder,

Manufacturer and dealer in dressed Lumber, Sashes, Blinds, Doors, and all other kinds of Building Material.

feb 4-tf

M. T. NORRIS, Late with Len H. Adams. W. A. MYATT, JR. Formerly with J. P. Culley & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO LEN H. ADAMS.)

Having purchased the entire stock of goods of Len H. Adams, we will continue the

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

Grocery & Commission Business,

AT HIS OLD STAND,

No. 3 Exchange Place and No. 5 Martin Street, where we will keep constantly on hand a choice and carefully selected stock of

HEAVY GROCERIES.

SPECIAL ATTENTION given to to the sale purchase and storage of cotton.

Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

A continuance of the patronage shown the old firm is respectfully solicited by us, and we hope to merit increased confidence by prompt and faithful attention to all orders entrusted to us.

Very respectfully,

NORRIS & MYATT.

I have this day sold my stock and rented my store to the above firm, with many wishes for their success I will continue the cotton commission business at the old stand.

Respectfully,

LEN H. ADAMS.

Feb 25-12m.

NATIONAL HOTEL,

Delightfully Situated, next to Capitol Square,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A NEW HOUSE.

Fine Rooms, well Furnished and Fitted up in the best style.

ATTENTIVE SERVANTS.

The Table Daily Supplied with the Best this and other Markets Afford.

C. S. BROWN.
PROPRIETOR.

Late of Boyden House Salisbury N. C.

Feb. 25—8 mos.

DR. T. C. SMITH. A. H. HAMMOND.

SMITH & HAMMOND,

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS

CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Just received
100 Barrels Kerosene Oil.
10,000 lbs Pure White Lead in Oil.

Robert T. Gray,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Refers by permission to
Hon. R. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. I. G. Lash, Pres. First National Bank of Salem
John O. Williams, " " " Raleigh
Rev. J. B. Solomon, Editor of Raleigh Advocate.
Rev. A. W Mangum, Raleigh, N. C.

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING

Silver Tipped Shoes.

Feb 18-4m

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the Advocate Office.

Sept 10-tf

54 FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

D. S. WAITT

IS OFFERING

EXTRAORDINARY BARGAINS

IN

Ready Made Clothing, Dry Goods, and Piece Goods, which have been purchased FOR CASH AT

EXTREMELY LOW FIGURES.

HIS STOCK OF

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS AND CAPS

AND

GENT'S FURNISHING GOODS

IS COMPLETE.

Also a full line of

Trunks, Valises, Umbrellas, Notions, and Hosiery.

LOOK OUT FOR HIS SPRING STOCK.

Which will be on in a few days. Country Merchants, who buy for cash, will consult their interests by giving D. S. WAITT a call first. Remember the place

D. S. WAITT,

No. 54 Fayetteville Street,

Cash Basis.

RALEIGH, N. C.

ODELL, RAGAN & CO.,

Wholesale Dealers in

General Merchandise,

GREENSBORO', N. C.

We call the attention of the merchants of North Carolina to the fact that we have opened our large wholesale house, and that we are prepared to sell them goods, as cheap as they can buy in any market. We are the agents for Cedar Falls, Deep River, Gentleman and Anamance Manufacturing Co's. Sheeting, Yarns, Plaids and Seamless Bags. Parties ordering these goods will get them as cheap from us as if they order directly from the factory. We also sell Salem Jeans at factory prices. Orders solicted and satisfaction guaranteed

Feb 4-12m.

WE WANT 1,000 FIRST-CLASS BOOK AGENTS

at once, to sell two of the most popular works ever published:

U. S. BONDS a record of prison life at Fort Delaware, by Rev. L. W. K. Hendy.

AND

MARSHALL'S LIFE OF

Gen. Robert E. Lee.

☞ Send for Circular at once.

TURNBULL BROTHERS,
Baltimore, Md.

Jan 28-3m

OPIUM EATERS!

We have been cured. If you wish sure and painless relief, address us, (sole Southern Agents for Squire's "Opium Cure") with return stamp, at Selma, Ala.

DR. H. S. PAISLEY.
DR. E. C. DUNKLIN.

March 4-2w

THE CELEB

"GOTTON" FERTILIZER.

—GILHAM'S.—

As the work of the "SOUTHERN FERTILIZING COMPANY," made from the formula of PROF WILLIAM GILHAM is stamped with the above PATENTED TRADE MARK to GUARANTEE it distinct from all others.

Prepared Especially and Solely for the

COTTON CROP,

BY THE "SOUTHERN FERTILIZING COMPANY," RICHMOND, VA.

☞ "Each Specimen of Plant must have the SPECIFIC FOOD SUITED TO ITS PECULIAR NATURE in order to produce the LARGEST AND MOST REMUNERATIVE RESULTS."

From direction—from many of the Largest FARMERS—from OPINIONS OF THE PRESS and NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENTS, and OTHER DISINTERESTED PARTIES, through the DAILY PRESS, relative to its splendid action throughout the State.

THIS CELEBRATED

"COTTON" FERTILIZER.

has won such a marked and extensive reputation throughout the cotton growing region of North Carolina and Virginia; and has been so extensively used and almost universally praised that we deem it TOO WELL KNOWN TO REQUIRE ANY PRAISE AT OUR HANDS.

Its Merits Speak for Itself.

By the handsome yield it produces, and the large NET PROFITS realized from it.

☞ Ask your neighbors who have tried it what they think of it. It PAYS A NET PROFIT of

OVER 100 PER CENT

N. B.—There will be only a certain LIMITED AMOUNT of this Fertilizer manufactured especially for OUR SUPPLY. Our friends, and the trade, will do well to send in their orders at once, to be booked ahead, and then they can order as they may need it.

The "Southern Fertilizing Company" use only the HIGHEST GRADE of suitable material known to Chemists, and MAINTAIN AND GUARANTEE a uniform standard.

This Fertilizer is sold by Merchants and Dealers generally, at all the principal Cities, Towns and Stations, throughout North Carolina and Virginia.

SPECIAL AGENTS:

C. W. GRANDY & SONS,

COTTON FACTORS

Norfolk, Va.

We have the exclusive control of the "COTTON" FERTILIZER for South Carolina and Southeastern Virginia. This Fertilizer can be had upon the following terms:

$60 Per Ton, at our Warehouse. Drayage 50 Cents Per Ton Additional.

Orders for 5 Tons and Upwards	4	Per Cent Dis.
" " 10 " "	"	6	"	"
" " 20 " "	"	8	"	"
" " 30 " "	"	10	"	"
" " 50 " "	"	12	"	"

Cash orders must be accompanied by the Cash. No discount allowed on Orders under Five Tons.

ON TIME, WITH APPROVED SECURITY

$5 Per Ton at our Warehouse. Drayage 50 Cents Per Ton Additional. Payable 1st November next, without Interest.

Orders for 10 Tons and upwards 10 per cent. Discount.

Orders for 20 Tons and upwards 8 per cent. Discount.

The Discount on time orders to be based on the Cash Value, $60 per ton.

No Discount allowed on time orders under 20 tons.

Orders MADE DIRECT or through any Cotton Factor, Commission Merchants or Dealers generally, will receive prompt attention. Apply or send your orders to any Merchant or Dealer and if they have not got it they will order it for you; or the farmers and Planters generally can form CLUBS and send their orders accompanied by the Cash for lots of 5, 10, 20, 30 or 50 tons at the above rates of discount, respectfully. No discounts allowed except for lots as named above. All letters of enquiry answered promptly. We do not consider it necessary to ask any one to buy this Fertilizer, but merely to announce HOW AND WHERE it may be had.

ADDRESS

C. W. GRANDY & SONS,

COTTON FACTORS, NORFOLK, VA

SPECIAL AGENTS FOR THE SOUTHERN FERTILIZING COMPANY.

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND BLEACHER!

The Latest, Best and Cheapest Washer made!

That Steam Washers are the best kind is generally conceded. That the PEERLESS is best of its kind will be readily admitted as soon as it is seen and tested.

It causes all the water to flow up through pipes and start down through the clothes.

The water has not to go to the centre, or either end of the boiler to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and hence washes all parts of the clothing alike.

It pours the water in sixteen streams, on all parts of the surface of the clothing.

The water rushes through the clothes many times per minute, and cleans them in 15 to 30 minutes!—With this machine, any lady who chooses, may do the washing of her family in a very short time, with very little work, without stops, without rubbing, or damage to the fabric, with such ease and quiet that her husband would hardly know when washday comes!

The cost of the machine soon saved in difference in wear. Soon saved in difference in labor required.

A bed quilt or lace collar—the finest or coarest fabric—a single piece or boiler full, washed with equal ease.

The machine can be made for any stove boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sells for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

As its name indicates it is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using go with each machine. They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 9)	$8.00
For " alone	5.00
For washer and boiler 30 inches long	9.50
For " alone	6.00

Sent anywhere per express on receipt of price by

J. A JONES, Proprietor,
Raleigh, N. C.

ALF. A. THOMPSON. JOEL D. WHITAKER.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE.

Thompson & Whitaker,

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants

Have now in store

One car load Sugar-House Syrup,
One car load Marshall's Liverpool Salt.
Ten sacks Rio Coffee.
Ten barrels Sugar, all grades.
Five thousand pounds Bulk Clear Rib Sides.
One tierce best Carolina Rice.
Twenty boxes assorted Candy.
One hundred bushels Corn.
Twenty barrels N. C. Flour, warranted family.
Thirty-five cases Boots and Shoes;

All of which will be sold at the lowest market rates and guaranteed to be as represented.

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Feb 4-12m.

W. F. KORNEGAY,

Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE,

COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.

Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them. Jan 28-tf

TRINITY

COLLEGE.

The Spring Session will commence JANUARY 17TH, 1873.

Students may take a select, or the full course at their own option. There are eleven schools in the institution, viz: Latin, Greek, Mathematics, English Literature, Natural Science, Modern Languages, Metaphysics, Engineering and Analytical Chemistry, Commercial, Law and Divinity.

Entire expenses for five months, for tuition, board, washing and fuel $90 to $100.

B. CRAVEN.

Jan. 7 3m.

CANVASSERS, send No. of your Lodge and we will send you a Badge and name this paper, will convince you agents with our superb Home Pictures for Manna, Odd-Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Orangers, Red-men, Mechanics, etc., are making double they could any other way; terms pleasant. J. HALE POWERS & CO., Fraternity & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.

Feb 24-12m

JAMES LEFFEL'S IMPROVED DOUBLE Turbine Water Wheel.

POOLE & HUNT, Baltimore.

MANUFACTURERS FOR THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST.

Nearly 7000 now in use, working under heads varying from 2 to 30 feet! 24 sizes, from 5½ to 96 inches.

The most powerful Wheel in the Market, And most economical in use of Water. Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free.

MANUFACTURERS ALSO, OF

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Boilers Babcock & Wilcox Patent Tubulous Boiler, Ehaugh's Cruaher for Minerals, Saw and Grist Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Machinery for White Lead Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.

SEND FOR CIRCULARS.

Feb 25-6m

Established 1840.

B. W. PAYNE, B. S. PAYNE, D. W. PAYNE.

B. W. PAYNE & SONS,

Corning Foundry and Machine Shop, CORNING, STEUBEN CO., N. Y.

Manufacturers of

Stationary Engines, Boilers and Spark-Arresting Portable Engines For Plantation Use.

Delivered Free on Board Ship in New York City.

☞ Send for Circular.

Feb 25-12m

J. McC. ELLINGTON, Geo. W. ATKINS. T. C. DAVIS, Jno. W. THOMPSON.

ELLINGTON, ATKINS & CO.,

Contractors, House Builders,

Manufacturers & Dealers in all kinds of

DRESSED LUMBER, DOORS, BLINDS, Sash, Mouldings, Brackets, &c., &c.,

And are also Agents for first-class Juniper Shingles.

APEX, N. C.

REFER TO

Dr. W. J. Hawkins, Pres't R. & G. and R. & A. Rail Roads, Pidgeway, N. C. Capt. A. B. Andrews, Sup't R. & G. and R. & A. Rail Roads, Raleigh, N. C. W. A. Wiley, Cashier Citizens' National Bank, Raleigh, N. C. Col. J. M. Heck, Raleigh, N. C. R. D. Wade, Esq. M. M. of R. & D. R. R. N. C. Div., Company Shops, N. C. Col. L. C. Jones, Pres. W. R. R., Fayetteville, N. C.

Feb 25-tf

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE.

LENOIR, N. C.

The Spring session for 1874 will open on Monday, Jan. 12th.

Board and Tuition per session, with music, vocal and instrumental, $110.00

Traveling preachers' daughters, tuition free.

Board and Tuition always in advance.

Send for a catalogue. Address,

Rev. W. M. Rebey, Pres.

nov 19-3mos.

PIANOS, PIANOS, ORGANS.

Nat L. Brown,

DEALER IN

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Agent for HORACE WATERS & SON'S celebrated CONCERTO and OCHESTRAL ORGANS and PIANOS.

ALSO DEALER IN

Children's Carriages,
Fancy Goods,
Toys,
Baskets,
&c., &c.

BIRDS AND BIRD CAGES.

Confectionaries,
Fruits, Nuts,
Fresh Crackers
and Cakes.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO,

Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to give me a call. Prices suitable to the times.

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

Illustrated Catalogue of Pianos and Organs mailed.

jan 14—tf

BUY AND USE

Game Cock White

Lead.

We offer this justly celebrated White Lead knowing it to be the best in the market.

Using large quantities and having Practical Painters in our employ all the time, we profess to be judges of White Lead, and advise all who contemplate painting to use this Lead and no other.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

THOS. H. BRIGGS & SONS,

Sole Agents for Raleigh and

DEALERS IN

Hardware, Cutlery, Wagon and Buggy Materials, Oils, Glass and Colors.

Jan 28-tf.

ALEX. CREECH'S.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TRADE, CONSUMERS OF DRY GOODS, &c.

MARBLE HALL

AND

TEMPLE OF FANY.

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

I take pleasure in announcing that my business has so largely increased and the demand is so great that it has constrained me to lay in

A MUCH LARGER AND MORE ATTRACTIVE STOCK THAN HERETOFORE.

My Goods are bought with every available advantage and doing business at a very small per centage I am able to offer INDUCEMENTS IN PRICES that are rarely equalled. My

DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT

was never more complete, embracing all new Fabrics and every new Shade, from the most delicate to the most brilliant. Call and examine my

BLACK SILKS,
JAPANESE SILKS,
IRISH POPLINS,
CASHMERES,
SATEENS,
ALPACAS, &c.

And a very large variety of Low Priced Dress Goods. My stock of Cassimeres, Piece Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes is extraordinarily large and complete and you would be doing yourselves injustice if you were not to examine it before purchasing elsewhere.

THE SECOND AND THIRD FLOORS are almost exclusively devoted to

WHOLESALING,

both being filled to their utmost capacity with

GOODS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

to supply the Trade, and Country Merchants would find it to their interest to my stock a thorough examination before making their purchases, as I think I can offer pure bargains and special inducements. With

MANUFACTURERS ALSO, or

A CORPS OF EXPERIENCED SALESMEN,

ever ready to assist, I can sell, do sell, and will continue to sell as

CHEAP AS THE CHEAPEST.

No house in Raleigh can or shall undersell me, it matters not whether the goods are purchased in Europe or the United States, and for these important reasons:

1st. I am alone, and have no two or three partners to divide my profits with.

2nd. I have leased my store house at a more nominal cost.

3d. I believe in the great principle of LIVE AND LET LIVE—QUICK SALES and SMALL PROFITS.

4th. I have large experience, buy at the lowest insane figures, and with the best facilities.

EXPERIENCE, the best of teachers, has long since informed the people that is the place to buy their goods, and as heretofore I shall always

CREECH'S

REPRESENT GOODS AS THEY ARE.

Returning thanks for past favors, I hope to secure your patronage in the future.

Respectfully yours,

ALEX. CREECH.
Raleigh, N. C.

Marble Hall, Fayetteville St.

april 10-tf.

Cutler's Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iron as Inhalant.

A Wonderful Remedy! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption if taken in season. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. All Druggists have it for sale, neatly put up with inhalant enough for two months' use. Price $2.00. Free by mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular.

W. H. SMITH & Co., Prop'rs,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Jan 28-6m

B 4 U ORDER SEEDS, C Briggs & Brother's

January Quarterly,

The finest FLORAL WORK ever issued in this country. Published Quarterly—the four numbers sent to any address for 25 cents—comprising an Illustrated and Descriptive Catalogue of the Seeds, Bulbs and Plants sold by BRIGGS & BROTHER, Seedsmen and Florists, Rochester, New York, together with elaborate treatises upon the care and cultivation of the same. Over 1000 premiums taken in the United States in 1872 upon the products of BRIGGS & BROTHER'S SEEDS.

The January number alone will be worth more than a $1.00 Book. Customers for one dollar or upward become subscribers.

We challenge comparison on prices, reliability of Seeds, and size of packets. Address,

BRIGGS & BROTHER,
Rochester, N. Y.

March 4-1w

The Diamond Cotton

CHOPPER AND CULTIVATOR

THIS INVALUABLE MACHINE, the recent invention of J. B. UNDERWOOD, of Fayetteville, N. C., is unquestionably the GREATEST LABOR SAVER of the age and bids fair to be to the Cotton Planter what the McCormick Reaper and Mower is to the Western Farmer. It, at one operation, chops, bars both sides, weeds and dirts the cotton more effectually than can be done by the hoe—thus doing the work of from SIX men and from TWO to FOUR horses, with but ONE man and ONE horse. After the Chopping, it is converted into a most excellent CULTIVATOR, as the shape of Narrow Sweep, for use between the rows throughout the season. It has been thoroughly tried upon the crop of 1873, and bears the highest testimonials of its perfect success. It took the Gold Medal at the Georgia State Fair, as the most important and latest improvement in Agricultural implements, and the First Premium everywhere it has been exhibited.

Price of Machine with attachments, $35 and Freight.

For circulars and further information, address

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN.
Agents for CHOPPER in Raleigh, N. C

(A Sample Machine is on exhibition at their Store. Call and examine

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY!

MALE AND FEMALE.

R. F. TROY, A. M., Principal.
Mrs. R. F. TROY, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.

Board per month,	$8.00
Tuition " from	1.50 to 3.00
One half in advance.

ADVANTAGES.

Low price of board and tuition, healthy and moral location, Sabbath school and religious service every Sunday.

Access:—By Rail Road to Greensboro, whence free

Youth's Department.

Dolly's Prayer.

"God in heaven, please to hark u
To your little DOLLY's prayer!
While the preacher says the preachin,'
Please to tell me where you are.

"For I am so tired of wailing
Till the big words all are said,
And Amen, and then the music,
Till the peoples bow their head.

"If I knew the way to Jesus,
I would creep so soft along
That I wouldn't 'sturb the preacher,
Nor the prayin', nor the song.

"Then I'd run so very swiftly,
And I'd give him a surprise—
Oh! I'm certain I should know him
When he met me with his eyes.

"He would be so glad to see me
That his arms he'd open wide,
And I'd quickly climb within them.
There forever I would hide.

"God in heaven, please to harken
To your little DOLLY's prayer,
While the preacher says the preachin',
Please to show me where you are."

Tired ones, with hearts impatient,
How we echo DOLLY's prayer
"God in heaven, please to harken, Please to lead us where you are."

—From "Thoughts."

The Noble Army of Martyrs.

BY M. E. WINSLOW.

'Mother I got up head Friday for spelling Martyr, and our teacher wants us each to find out what it means and all about it, so as to tell her on Monday. It means a man who is killed because he believes in Jesus, does it not? I found that in the Dictionary but I don't know any more about it, won't you tell me a nice story of a martyr this pleasant Sunday afternoon?' 'Well Katie perhaps I might if I knew one to choose, but there were so many who suffered for their faith in the early days of the church that instead of one or two, I always think of the noble army of martyrs' all together. There was St. Lawrence you know, who was roasted slowly on a gridiron because he would not deny Jesus, and St. Polycarp who was burned to death when he was eighty years old, and,—'

'But mother he was old, and he must have been glad to die and go home to heaven, besides it could only have made a few years difference to him any way; were there over any young people, any children martyrs?'

'Yes, there was St. Agnes who was a beautiful young lady, and many boys and girls, who were thrown out to be devoured by wild beasts, for the amusement of the wicked Roman populace, simply because they would not deny Christ. But earliest of all were the 'Holy Innocents,' the dear little babies who were slain by order of King Herod in the hope to kill among them the infant Jesus.'

'Oh,' said Katie with kindling eyes, 'I almost wish I had lived in those days. It would have been a grand thing to walk to the stake surrounded by a crowd of people, and when the flames touched you, to go right up to heaven in a chariot of fire, to be received by angels and to have your name handed down through all the ages as that of one who had been brave enough to die for Jesus!'

I am afraid Katie, if that were your only motive, it would not have given you strength to bear the pain of the flames, or the suffocation of drowning, to face the wild beasts, or to suffer the torture that were inflicted upon some of those early Christians.

The desire to serve and please Jesus, whether any one know it or not, in any path to which he may call us, and no matter what may stand in the way, is the only thing which either in pastages or to day should ever make true martyrs.'

'To-day! Why surely you do not think there are any martyrs to-day.'

'I surely do,' I think when one is obliged to bear ridicule for being a Christian to give up pleasure because it interferes with loving Jesus, to fight hard against sinful habits, and to perform difficult duties for Jesus' sake, he or she is a martyr, because suffering for Jesus.

'But mother I don't understand. I have to fight hard to keep from saying cross words and sometimes it seems real hard to give up playing, to learn my Sunday School lesson, or read my chapter in the Bible, and last Sunday afternoon when MINNIE laughed at me and called me a conceited little hypocrite, because I would not play baby house with her, I felt so unhappy that I thought my heart would break, I could not have borne it if I had not gone and told Jesus. But I don't think I am a martyr, because this is not dying for Jesus.'

'You asked me to tell you a story of a martyr, I have just thought of one who perhaps will suit both your ideas of one and mine too.'

There was once a little girl who lived with her parents in a small cabin on a mountain-side in Switzerland. She had a very wicked father, who used to get drunk and beat her at times, but for all that she loved him very dearly, and she longed to have him love Jesus so that he might go to heaven and be happy. One day her mother, on her way to the nearest village, crossed the little mountain bridge, which spanned the ravine in front of the house. She found that the spring rains had very much weakened it, and called back to her little girl, not to cross it herself, or let any one else do so, as in case any weight pressed on it it would be sure to fall.

Pretty soon her father came along. He was quite drunk, and he walked straight toward the bridge as though he intended to cross it. Little Mary sprang in front of him, and urged him to stop telling him what her mother had said, but he would not listen to her, and went steadily on toward the bridge. Then she flung herself down before him, and said: Father do you love your little girl? 'Yes' said he. 'Will you promise her one thing?' 'Yes.' If I die will you come to Jesus, and live like a Christian so that you can meet me in heaven? The poor sinful father was somewhat astonished but he did love his little girl and he promised. Then she sprang lightly up ran to the bridge, and as she put her foot upon it, the weakened props gave way, and she was dashed down a hundred and fifty feet, among the jagged rocks and pebbles below. Her father kept his word, and many years afterwards he went to heaven where he no doubt found his little Mary waiting for him. Now I think, though she lived in modern times, and though there was no crowd of people to see and applaud her, Mary was a true martyr because she gave up her life that Jesus might be glorified in the salvation of her dear father.'

'Yes,' said Katie, and she was the same kind of a martyr that Jesus was. He did not care about the crowd or the angels or the praise, but only that by dying he might save us. I should like to be that kind of a martyr.' And you may, by a life of earnest efforts after holiness, and constant self-denial in order to do good to the souls and bodies of others, by bearing patiently the sneers and reproaches of those who don't love his cause, you will be followed in his blessed footsteps, and though they may often lead you into trouble, you will always be comforted by the deep joy of knowing that you are suffering for Jesus.

The Music of Heaven.

Our knowledge of the kind of delight afforded by the experience of earthly music may enable us to form a conception of the higher degree. The conception may be inadequate, and yet, so far as it can reach, it may be an approximation to the reality. And so, in like manner, with the beautiful in scenery. It would be folly to attempt to describe the details of heavenly scenery, but the general idea stands sufficiently out to justify belief. The most glorious bursts of harmony that ever thrilled and quivered through the brain of Handel, the pealing trimmphs of 'Hallelujah Chorus,' the glowing snatches of Mozart, the gorgeous sonatas of Beethoven, the almost speaking melodies of Mendelssohn, and all the exquisite conceptions of the most gifted masters, may be only faint and far-off echoes of the grander performances above; yet as echoes they bring down something of heavenly music to the conceptions of men on earth, and make us yearn and bend before the thought, 'If these be the echoes, what must the realities be?'—Eternal Homes.

Rural and Domestic.

Prevention of Scarlet Fever.

The Baltimorean says: "As this dreadful disease frequently makes its appearance at this season of the year, we feel that we cannot do our readers a better service than to give the following preventive, communicated some time ago to the Baltimore Sun. The prescription was put up by various druggists of Baltimore, and we learn that is the testimony of every one of them that, at a time when scarlet fever was very prevalent here, not a single case occurred where this prescription was followed. Dr. Cherbonier is a graduate of the University of Paris, and one of the most skillful and accomplished physicians and high toned gentlemen of our city:

"Extract of belladonna, 2 grains; cinnamon water, 1 ounce; alcohol, 10 drops. Give two or three times a day. Dose, one drop for every year of the age of the child. Ten drops will be the maximum dose."

Oats for Horses.

We recently alluded to the superiority of oats for horses over any other kind of feed. The reason for this is given in the following paragraph from a correspondent of the Maine Farmer, as to its applicability especially for colts: He says:

"I have always found that generous feeding pays the best, and I have found nothing so good for colts as a generous supply of oats, regularly fed. There is not much danger of feeding too many. The danger is in the opposite direction. The most critical part of the colt's life is, perhaps, the first winters, when he should be liberally fed with oats or oat meal; with a few potatoes, and have daily exercise. One of your correspondents prefers carrots to other roots for feed. This does not agree with my experience. After giving carrots a fair and thorough trial, extending through three winters, I came to the conclusion (and I think intelligently) that carrots as a feed for horses and colts are entirely worthless. The more oats you feed to your colts the more muscle, the more power, the more endurance, the more style and speed you obtain, and the more money you get when you sell him."

— Prosperity doth best discover vice, but adversity doth best discover virtue.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The great Antagonist of Disease.

What is the natural antagonist of disease? It is the vital principle. From the moment that disease is developed in the system, this champion fights the intruder until it either conquers or is conquered. Which side should medicinal science espouse in this life and death struggle? Should it depress and cripple the physical energies of the patient, thereby helping the disorder, or should it reinforce the vitality of the patient and thereby assist in quelling the ailment? Of course the proper answer to this question must be obvious to every one above the grade of an idiot or a lunatic, and hence it follows that the weak and broken down invalid who chooses to dose himself with deplorating agents, instead of tonics, invigorating and vitalizing his enervated frame with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, must be either feeble minded or deranged.—Surely nothing short of imbecility or insanity could induce a person laboring under bodily weakness and nervous prostration, to take day after day powerful doses of some drastic purgative in the hope of gaining strength thereby. Although charlatans may advertise preparations of this character as tonics, people in the full possession of their reason cannot, one would think, accept them as such. If they do the penalty of their credulity may be the shortening of their lives. The rheumatic, the dyspeptic, the bilious, the debilitated and a-crous, and all who are subject to intermittents, or other diseases brought on by the instrumentality of water and heat, will do well to strengthen their nerves, tone their stomachs and reanimate their bowels with the Bitters. The twofold operation of the restorative as an invigorant and an aperient, in addition to its direct and specific effect upon the disordered liver, renders it the most efficient remedy for complaints of the digestive, secretive and excretive organs, at present in use. This fact is conceded by eminent members of the faculty whose testimony to that effect is published in Hostetter's Almanac for 1874.

March 4-1m.

Wanted to be Heard From

If anybody has ever used the thorough and reliable cure a of treatment recommended by the proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy for the cure of Catarrh and has not been perfectly cured, the proprietor, Dr. R. V. Pierce, would like to hear from that person, and by addressing him at the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., such person, if there be one, will hear of something to his or her advantage, as the Doctor is in no way sore on there $500 reward he or a case of catarrh which he can not cure, and is perfectly able to pay it if he fails in a single case, as any one may ascertain upon enquiry. The thorough course of treatment referred to and recommended by Dr. Pierce consists in the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche which is the only means by which the fluid can be carried high up and applied to all parts of the nasal passages and the chambers connected therewith in which ulcers exist and from which the discharge proceeds. In addition to this thorough application of the Remedy, which should always be used warm, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery should be taken earnestly as constitutional treatment, without which few cases can be cured as the disease is always constitutional and must be treated accordingly. This treatment has no superior and few equals, and has the advantage of never driving the disease to the lungs as the result is danger of doing by the use of strong, irritating snuffs or poisonous solutions.

PLAIN FACTS.

FRANKFORT, Mich., Sept. 12th, 1873.

A year ago I had a bad cough from the Catarrh which had got in my throat. I tried a good many things but got nothing to do me any good until I used your Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. They cured me in three months for which I am very thankful.

March 4-1w FISHER. OMAS

For the rich with few children it may do to buy a shoe without Ties, but those who are blessed with little money and many children it is ruinous to buy any others than SILVER TIPPED Shoes

Feb 18-3w

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely a safe. Perfectly odorless. Always uniform. Illuminating qualities superior to gas. Burns in any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to displace that dangerous volatile and dangerous oils. Its safety underevery possible test, and its perfect burning qualities are proved by its contined use in over 200,000 families.

Millions of gallons have been sold and no accident—directly or indirectly—has ever occurred from burning or handling it.

The immense yearly loss to life and property, resulting from the use of cheap and dangerous oils is the fact of the United States, is appalling.

The Insurance Companies and Fire Commissioners throughout the country recommend the ASTRAL as the best safeguard when lamps are used. Send for circular.

CHAS. PRATT & CO., 108 Fulton Street, New York, proprietors.

Sold by Julius Lewis & Co., Raleigh—Authorized Agents.

April 27-6m.

Mothers, Mothers, Mothers.

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for all diseases incident to the period of teething in children. It relieves the child from pain, cures wind colic, regulates the bowels, and by giving relief and health to the child, gives rest to the mother.

Be sure and call for

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP."

For sale by all druggists

June 25-1y.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

DR. M'LANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC, OR VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eyelid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE

Will certainly effect a cure.

The universal success which has attended the administration of this preparation has been such as to warrant us in pledging ourselves to the public to

RETURN THE MONEY

in every instance where it should prove ineffectual: "providing the symptoms attending the sickness of the child or adult should warrant the supposition of worms being the cause." In all cases the Medicine to be given IN STRICT ACCORDANCE WITH THE DIRECTIONS.

We pledge ourselves to the public, that

Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge

DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY

in any form; and that it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P.S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders distinctly, and take none but Dr. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post-paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

For sale by Druggists, and Country Storekeepers generally.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND,

A Consumptive Cured.

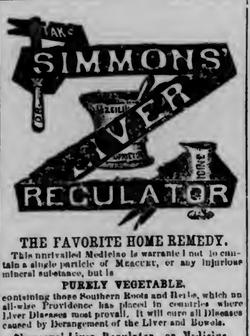
When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of consumption that it does not dissipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels, and Wasting of the Muscles. Address BRADDOCK & CO., 1022 Race Street, Philadelphia Pa., giving name of this paper.

Nov. 26-6m.

Marion High School.

The exercises of the Marion High School for young ladies and girls are in progress, and will be continued until Nov. 20th, except one week in July. Tuition in English, Scientific and Mathematic courses per term of 20 weeks, from $10 to $25. Ancient and Modern languages each $5. Music on Piano $20, per term. Use of Instrument $3. Board $9 per month. For particulars apply to S. E. TEAGUE, A. M. Prin.

feb 18—3m.



THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of MERCURY, or any injurious mineral substance, but is containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

PURELY VEGETABLE.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

Is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all climates and changes of water and heat may be faced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA,

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,

MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA.

Price, $1.00. Sold by all Druggists,

Feb 18-12m

250,000 COPIES SOLD!

OF

RICHARDSON'S NEW METHOD FOR THE PIANO FORTE!!

This the per excellence of all Piano Methods, maintains the front rank, and its sale eclipses that of all others—Foreign or American—combined. The public always be used warm, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery should be taken earnestly as constitutional treatment, without which few cases can be cured as the disease is always constitutional and must be treated accordingly. This treatment has no superior and few equals, and has the advantage of never driving the disease to the lungs as the result is danger of doing by the use of strong, irritating snuffs or poisonous solutions.

Used by thousands of teachers and sold by all Book and Music Dealers.

PUBLISHED BY

OLIVER DITSON & CO., CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.

Boston. 711 Broadway, N. York.

May 14 12m.

FURNITURE.

W. H. Morris & Co.,

No. 3 Fayetteville Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Chamber sets, Cottage Chamber sets, Parlor Sets, Hall Racks, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Wardrobes, Washstands, Tables, Chairs, Sofas, Lounges, Spring Beds, of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Marble upcountry tables &c.

ALSO

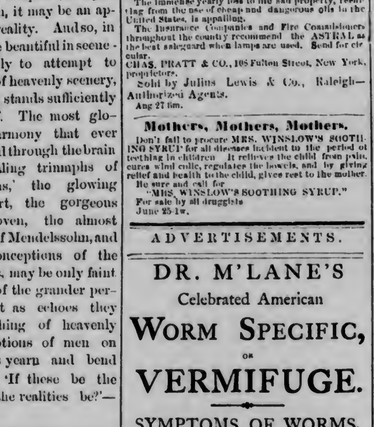
keep constantly on hand and make to order all kinds of Mattress's, such as pure Curled Hair, Cotton and Shuck, Excelsior and Shuck Mattresses. Old Hair Mattresses renovated and made as good as new.

No trouble to show goods. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

W. A. MORRIS & CO

Feb 29-6m.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.



Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes,

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,

THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and diviues have had their Sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Perfect dimness, or Dimness Upon, commonly called Short sight. 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Epiphora, running or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specialty treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or Imperfect Vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9 Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodesopia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataract; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Any one can use the Ivory Eye Cups without the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles, or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,300 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, Oculist, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1868: "Without my spectacles I can read fine print, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and prosper you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1868: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I must tell you they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salem, Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the creation of the ARTIFICIAL EYE. I am fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years."

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Aleiton, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, by my ophthalmoscope, your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYESIGHT, of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Waste no more money in buying huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED,

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $81 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,

P. O. Box 95. NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,

Sept 6-12m. NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

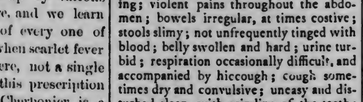
$20.000 WANTED.

The Trustees of Greensboro Female College wish to borrow any part of the above amount in sums to suit parties having money to loan. They will give the rate of the corporation with satisfactory personal endorsers, paying interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum. The principal will be paid when required on a reasonable notice and the interest annually. If the friends of the College will loan us the amount it will help the Institution and, we think, will be a perfectly safe investment. Please address the undersigned.

N. H. D. WILSON.

President Board Trustees.

Jun 7-3m.



Breech Loading Shot Guns, $40 to $100. Double Rifle Guns, $8 to $150. Single Guns $8 to $20. Rifles $6 to $75 Revolvers, $6 to $25. Pistols, $1 to $8. Gun Material, Fishing Tackle, &c. Large discounts to dealers or clubs. Army Guns, Revolvers, etc., bought or traded for. Goods sent by express C. O. D. to be examined before paid for.

July 31-6m. c o w.

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Sunday, Dec. 7th, 1873.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	1.30 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Air-line Junct'n	2.15 "	9.20 "
" Salisbury.....	10 09 "	10.47 "
" Greensboro'....	3.35 A. M	1.35 P. M.
" Danville.....	5.35 "	3.27 "
" Burkville.....	11.40 "	8.06 "
Arrive at Richmond...	8.30 P. M.	11.02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.45 P. M.	6.05 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4.53 "	8.28 "
" Danville	9.53 "	1.05 P. M.
" Greensboro'....	1.16 A. M.	4.00 "
" Salisbury.....	3.36 "	6.33 "
" Air-Line Junct'n	6.32 "	8.53 "
Arrive at Charlo. N. C.	6.34 A. M.	9.40 "

GOING EAST.		GOING WEST
STATIONS.	MAIL	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'.	2.30 A. M.	Arrive 12.30 A. M
" Co. Shops.....		10.25 "
" Raleigh.....		6.00 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'		Leave 3.00 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'..... 4.30 P. M.
Arrive at Salem..... 6.25 P. M.
Leave Salem..... 8.00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'..... 10.00 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leaves Richmond at 3.42 A. M., arrives at Burkeville 12.29 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.55 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, (without change.)

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above. For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,

Gen'l Ticket Agent,

Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,

Engineer & Gen'l superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD, SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 21, 1873

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Ralei h,	9.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	3.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	3.15 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave, Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.30 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line for Norfolk and Baltimore, to and from all points North West and S rthwest, and with Petersburg Railroad for Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Raymond and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS, Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sunday excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	1.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.35 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.25 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	3.05 P. M
Arrives at Sanford,	8.00 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.15 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.00 P. M.

Mail Train making close connection a 1 Ch ish with the Raleigh and ston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

Accomodation and Freight Trains connect with Accomodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS, Sup. tendent.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Burt's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at

PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S

Jan 14-tf Drug Store.

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Harrett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson' ring Store.

Oct. 22 6m.

A new work of intense INTEREST and intrinsic VALUE

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley."

A graphic History of Ocean Navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling incidents, lentful disasters, piracies, perils, &c. ABOVE, also the WONDERS BENEATH the SEA, Diving, Dredging, Telegraphing &c., 225 spirited illustrations. Agents just started report 101 orders in four days. 127 in five days, 75 in two days &c.; sells wonderfully fast. 2000 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and circulars, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, 723 Sansom St. Phila.

Sept 18-12m.

BRINLY PLOWS

BEST AND CHEAPEST IN USE.

Have taken over $50 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for Illustrated Catalogue with Price List, and certificates of planters whom use them. SOLE MANUFACTURERS:

BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,

FACTORY: 1301 to 1321 Main Street. LOUISVILLE, KY.

Sept 24-6m.

FOR SALE.

A fine Carriage, two single Dump Carts, a set of Carriage Harness and Harness for the Carts. Sold together or separately. Apply early to

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN.

Feb 18-tf

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Sunday, Dec. 7th, 1873.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	1.30 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Air-line Junct'n	2.15 "	9.20 "
" Salisbury.....	10 09 "	10.47 "
" Greensboro'....	3.35 A. M	1.35 P. M.
" Danville.....	5.35 "	3.27 "
" Burkville.....	11.40 "	8.06 "
Arrive at Richmond...	8.30 P. M.	11.02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.45 P. M.	6.05 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4.53 "	8.28 "
" Danville	9.53 "	1.05 P. M.
" Greensboro'....	1.16 A. M.	4.00 "
" Salisbury.....	3.36 "	6.33 "
" Air-Line Junct'n	6.32 "	8.53 "
Arrive at Charlo. N. C.	6.34 A. M.	9.40 "

GOING EAST.		GOING WEST
STATIONS.	MAIL	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'.	2.30 A. M.	Arrive 12.30 A. M
" Co. Shops.....		10.25 "
" Raleigh.....		6.00 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'		Leave 3.00 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'..... 4.30 P. M.
Arrive at Salem..... 6.25 P. M.
Leave Salem..... 8.00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'..... 10.00 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leaves Richmond at 3.42 A. M., arrives at Burkeville 12.29 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.55 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, (without change.)

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above. For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,

Gen'l Ticket Agent,

Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,

Engineer & Gen'l superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD, SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Ralei h,	9.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	3.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	3.15 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave, Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.30 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line for Norfolk and Baltimore, to and from all points North West and S rthwest, and with Petersburg Railroad for Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Raymond and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS, Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sunday excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	1.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.35 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.25 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	3.05 P. M
Arrives at Sanford,	8.00 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.15 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.00 P. M.

Mail Train making close connection a 1 Ch ish with the Raleigh and ston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

Accomodation and Freight Trains connect with Accomodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS, Sup. tendent.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Burt's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at

PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S

Jan 14-tf Drug Store.

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 10. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,008.

Selected Poetry.

Hagar.

BY MARY B. DODGE

Disconsolate, helpless and hopeless,
She sits in her desolate grief—
So near to, yet far from her darling,
No balm in her hand for relief;
The wilderness arid and sterile,
Stretches round her its comfortless plain
While the wind in its sighing but echoes
The moans that fall heavy with pain.

The soul of the youth—all its yearning,
Has passed to her own in the strife,
With famine's gaunt fiend who is urging
Death's claim on his beautiful life!
Alas, that her bottle is empty—
Alas, that her love has no power
To be other than silently patient
In the gloom of this torturing hour.

Alas, that her hands must be folded—
Her head droop in utter despair,
While her agonized spirit lifts upward
Its woes in an anguish of prayer!
Ah, us they who pray at a distance
For years sees in their strife with the world
Who in famished they thirst in the desert,
And lo, sands all about them are whir[illegible]

Whom blind in the shelterless morning,
And fevered with cravings that kill,
They faint for a drop of the water
That sparkles in dream land at will—
Where they hunger for what is withholden
And near them seems no one to care,
While mom after mom is the answer
That all one seems to follow your prayer.

Fancy[illegible] there yet is an angel
Who speaks from the blue of the skies,
"Hope on in the[illegible]dness of his peril,
And[illegible]know—where he lies,"
And a fountain of comfort will open,
[illegible]ere's one that is watching above
Is never but downward in pity
To[illegible]e with a blessing of love.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Letters to a Young Itinerant.--No. 6.

MY DEAR YOUNG BROTHER: In this day let it be remembered when fashion custom and high social position are so eagerly sought and so earnestly desired, it would be strange if some women did not allow themselves to enter into the solemn relation of an itinerant's wife without duly considering the trials and responsibility attending the step, and especially without that forethought in regard to the self-sacrifice, self-denial and self-consecration which is peculiar to, and inseparable from the itinerancy.

Probably there are few women, however devoted to their husbands, consistent and earnest in their piety, who do not, in the position of itinerants' wives, encounter difficulties and trials wholly unexpected, and for which they are as wholly unprepared, and for which, in many cases, the church, (whom they in this relation are serving) as a whole are largely responsible.

Overwhelmed by these unforeseen troubles, disheartened for want of the substantial sympathy and encouragement that he feels that the church ought to extend to her and those dear to her as life, the question of a settled pastorate for her husband, or his final location springs upon her, despite all her convictions of duty or the calamities and may accrue to the cause, or possibly to her husband by such a step.

If I do not misapprehend the subject, perhaps four fifths of all the difficulties and impediments of the itinerancy spring up along here, and my object, first in calling your attention to this fact, is to impress it on your mind; for notwithstanding these troubles and embarrassments fall first and in heaviest measure upon your wife, sharing her troubles as you will, and as you ought, they must sooner or later reach you and your work, with the effect, it may be, of tempting you to abandon the itinerancy, or even the ministry itself.

Now, whatever other misfortune or disaster may befall you, there are none to compare to this; having taken hold of the plough, a dispensation of the Gospel being laid upon you, the voice of Omnipotence crying in your soul, "woe is me if I preach not the Gospel," how can, how dare you look back? And yet it may be equally perplexing to determine how you can go forward. It is in this extremity that a pious, faithful wife comes forth as an angel of consolation, and proves the greatest of all earthly treasures, or it is here, that by her impatient repinings, self-will, and indifference in regard to consequences, she may fetter, discourage, and overwhelm you. What fearful issues are in the hands of the wives of our itinerancy! how closely are they identified with his work! how largely are his successes promoted by their example, co-operation and prayers on the one hand, and how soon and surely the absence of these may cause his hands to hang down, if they do not render them wholly ineffective and powerless for good. I have no doubt if our Church were to come up to her duty in providing homes, and in the way of comfortable and commodious parsonages for the preacher, make more liberal and tasteful arrangement for his family, and accord a more hearty and prompt support to himself, many of these difficulties and impediments would never come up.

The delinquencies of our church in these regards are greatly to be deplored. They not only cripple and embarrass the preacher—subjecting his family to such inconvenience and privation as is hard to be reconciled to, but they retard the progress, and weaken the power of Methodism, in a way, and to an extent, not usually estimated.

But notwithstanding these things are so, you must not let them discourage you, much less tempt you to turn back. They are just such impediments as your brethren almost everywhere have endured and are now enduring with such meekness, patience and self-denial as they can command, laboring earnestly to bring up the church to the full measure of her duty and privilege. In this work they need your influence, your labors, your example.

But if in addition to the obstacles that may arise in your way on account of the church's delinquency—you have those of a domestic character, to which we have alluded, I can only advise you that by kindness, persuasion and forbearance, you labor to reconcile dissatisfactions, to inspire hope, confidence and tolerate and avert as far as you can and as long as you can, a stop that, while it might lull domestic inquietude and improve your social or pecuniary condition, might also at the same time, injure the church, stifle your convictions of duty and in the end jeopardize your eternal interests.

As you will see from the tenor of the foregoing remarks, they apply more especially to the itinerant minister who has already married a wife. If however, you have not yet entered into that holy estate, and while the difficulties and troubles alluded to may not yet have arisen in your way, there are nevertheless a few points touching your interests and duty in the premises that I wish to notice.

The question of marriage, as one of privilege, is alike open to all, but as one of duty or of command it is vastly different. There are no doubt hundreds of persons in all classes of society, the ministry among the rest, that ought never to marry. Without referring to reasons that might be brought to prove this, probably in your case it is only necessary to speak of the time; and my very first suggestion on this point is, "do not be in too great a hurry about it." If marrige in the itinerancy brings upon you the additional impediments that we have noticed, for your work's sake as well as your own and the interests of the church, you ought to defer running into these troubles at least until time and experience have prepared you to meet and endure and as far as possible overcome them.

As regards the question of whether you shall enter into this relation at all or when shall you do so, the great Apostle in the 7th chapter 1st Corinthians, gives you some admirable and appropriate counsel which as it comes from a high source, you would do well to read and study. Attention to these words of instruction will do much to guide you aright in all this matter.

I will have more to say on the subject in my next.

Yours in Christ,

WATCHMAN.

Cedar Grove, N. C. March 1874.

P. S.—I see by the last ADVOCATE "Discrimination" attempts to ridicule the "revolting picture." In the attempt he shows his hand; the picture found its likeness sooner than I expected, "Discrimination" is evidently "hit"—I am obliged to him for reproducing the "revolting picture."

For the Advocate.

(Our Irish Letter.)

Ultramontanism and Prussian Church Law.

(CONCLUDED.)

Gratitude to Protestant Powers for favours received has never been a governing principle with ecclesiastics of the Ultramontane school. The utmost favour which any State could think of conceding falls infinitely short of the extent of their claims. The success of Protestant Prussia in the conflict with Romish Austria was to them as "gall and wormwood;" France was hounded on to rush into a "holy war" against Germany, for the extermination of Protestantism; the Empress Eugenie kindled her lamp before the shrine of the Virgin, which was never to be extinguished until victory was achieved. But we all know the issue. Napoleon III. was thrown away as a broken tool, with so little regret that a Romish Bishop has, within the last few days, refused to allow prayers for the dead Emperor to be offered in his diocese. No State remains which is at the same time able and willing to carry out the behests of the ecclesiastics; but German unity must in some way be destroyed. A great Protestant Power on the Continent of Europe cannot be tolerated. "If rulers," says Dr. Manning, "will not hear their voice, the people will." Those agents of intrigue the foes to the peace of every nationality, the Jesuits, set busily to work forming, wherever practicable, nuclei of disaffection; and the Ultramontanist clergy were only too ready to second their efforts. From Roman Catholic Bavaria rather than from Protestant Prussia, came the first urgent claim for restraint to be placed upon the clergy who were employing their pulpits for the encouragement of sedition, rather than for the inculcation of religious principles. In this condition of affairs, it was evident that the time for action had come. The first step taken by the State was to limit the powers of mischief of the Jesuits—a course which has been found requisite in so many countries, both Romanist, and Protestant, on political grounds, that Prince Bismarck's accuser can hardly hope to obtain from us a verdict of guilty on that count in the indictment. The next step was to devolve the control of religious instruction in the State schools upon lay instead of clerical State officials. It is well known that we, as Nonconformists, object to the State exercising any control over religious instruction; but this is not the question at issue between the Ultramontanists and the Germans, and equal measure in this respect has been dealt out to Protestants and Romanists.

The next point which came under consideration was the education of the clergy. In our past history we know something of that difficulty. We found the clergy educated in foreign countries engaged in sowing disaffection, and we tried as a remedy a large uncontrolled money grant to Maynooth College; but the result in our case was hardly of a nature to commend that course to Prince Bismarck for imitation. The Prussian Government pays the priests, and insists, as a preliminary to their being allowed to enter upon their labours and receive their pay, that they shall undergo a course of training in a German university. Compulsory education in this country is defended on the ground that to allow children neglected by their parents to grow up in ignorance is a course dangerous to the interests of the commonwealth. The Prussians have extended this view so as to embrace theological teachers, who are required to obtain a certain amount of acquaintance with philosophy, history, literature, and science, in some German university, before they can be qualified for State pay, privilege, and honours in connection either with the Romanist or Protestant Churches. Questions like these are among the difficulties in which paternal government and concurrent endowment involve the Executive, but the law is the same for Romanists and Protestants, and if the State pays its officials, it surely has some right to fix their qualifications; otherwise we may have our "competitive examinations" set down as "odious persecution."

The recent alterations in Prussian law, to which reference has been made, provide that corporal punishment shall not be inflicted by decrees of the Ecclesiastical Courts; that to render their decisions legal a certain prescribed course of procedure must be adhered to; that the accused shall have a right of appeal to a Royal Court; and that ecclesiastical reformatories in which clergymen are imprisoned by the sentence of their superiors shall be liable to inspection. The Royal Court has also power to remove clergymen for persistent offences against the law in a manner irreconcilable with public order. It having been found that sentences of excommunication had been passed on Government officials for acts done in the performance of their civil duties, ecclesiastics are now debarred from inflicting upon lay members corporal chastisement, imprisonment, fines, and infamy, and no punishment whatever is to be allowed for the exercise of the political suffrage, or for the performance of acts in obedience to competent civil authority. "Is not this persecution?" says "A Roman Catholic." "Call this a land of liberty, where a man can't whip his own nigger?" said the West India planter. The spirit of the enactments may be gathered from these clauses:—"No Church or society is permitted to threaten, inflict, or promulgate any measures of punishment or correction but such as belong strictly to the domain of religion and carry the privation of some right exercised within the Church or society, or exclusion from membership in such Church or society. Measures of punishment or correction against the person, property, or civil honour are not allowed." "The infliction of measures of punishment or correction allowed by this Act, is not to be announced in public." "A communication of them to the members of the community only is not forbidden," but it is stipulated that this must not be done in an insulting manner. Another of these laws allows a member of either of the privileged Churches to sever his connection with it, and relieve himself from liability to church-rates for the support of that worship, after a formal declaration before a competent civil court. The recognition of the Old Catholics, who maintain the doctrines taught by the German Bishops before the Council but refuse to imitate them in their pusillanimous conduct afterwards, we certainly cannot regard as in any sense indicative of a persecuting spirit. It savours rather of what we call "religious liberty," and even if the Prussians were to sanction, as has been done in Switzerland, the votes of a Roman Catholic majority as to the choice of their cure, we could only rejoice in this as a further manifestation of the same principle. We have no sympathy to bestow upon the woes of Ultramontanism.

JOHN KNOX.

Jan. 31, 1874.

For the Advocate.

The Footsteps of Deity.

The mind of man familiarized with developing effects resulting from causes inexplicable in nature, has been loth, in all ages of the world, to recognize the footsteps of Deity in transpiring events around him. A want of reflection and recognition of the presence and majesty of an omniscent overruling providence has characterized him to a melancholy and criminal extent. In his mental and moral darkness, groping his way the slave of debasing passion and multiform idolatry, he seems too unmindful of the great, essential truth, that He whose elemental artillery shakes the trembling earth as he rides upon the whirlwind and directs the storm, displays his goodness and wisdom alike in the chilling winds of winter, and the beautified face of Spring. What though the chilling winds and binding frost of winter render the face of nature cold and cheerless? Are they not the permeating instruments in the hands of an all-wise Creator, preparing the earth for a rich and luxuriant vegetation when the "winter is past and the voice of the turtle is heard in the land?" This rolling earth on which we move flung out by the finger of God to perform its revolutions in exact obedience to the laws of gravitation, should remind us of the love, mercy, and presence of Him whose eye is over all his works. The material sun, throwing its warming and brightening beams athwart sin stricken earth, is but the emanation of the goodness and greatness of Him whose fiat lifts the billows of old ocean into fury and madness, and "weighs the mountains in scales, and the hills in a balance."

In imagination I see the tribes of Israel, a mighty host, emerging from the land of their cruel bondage, under the leadership of the most illustrious character that ever figured on the stage of human existence. The wail of their cruel and exacting oppressors, awakened into intensest grief and terror by the visitation of the angel of love and justice, was ringing in their ears. 'Twas the saddening hour of a guilty nation's woes. 'Twas the footstep of interposing Deity in behalf of his oppressed, down-trodden people. God had given to Pharoah unmistakable evidence of His majesty and glory, but the proud, rebellious will of the hardened monarch scorned to acknowledge, in heartfelt humility and reverence, the footsteps of Deity in the fearful exhibitions of his power. In the iniquitous blindness of his nature he read not in the thick darkness that covered the land, nor in the terrific lightnings and fiery hail of Jehovah's wrath, the dread augury of his coming doom.

I see the dividing waters lifting their heads like towering mountains, in cloudcapt grandeur, firmly maintaining their upright position until the feet of the marching multitudes of Israel strike the farther shore! I hear the mighty shout of Israel's redeemed and grateful race ringing out in joyous praises of acknowledgment of the wisdom, majesty, and overshadowing mercy and guidance of Him, who is "glorious in holiness, fearful in praises doing wonders." I see the awe struck multitudes of Israel, as the flashing lightnings blaze, and the terrific peals of reverberating thunders roll off in the distance, announcing in the ears of the trembling host at its base the presence of Deity upon the smoking summit of quaking Sinai.

God was displaying the glory and majesty of his nature for the good of his chosen people, and for future generations of fallen man, to be gathered unto the "Shiloh" of the nations. It was the footsteps of Deity in manifestation of his goodness and power as Supreme Ruler of the universe, preparing the minds of his people for the reception of His law. And though centuries, with their shifting and eventful scenes, have passed away since that memorable period in the history of the world; the promulgated law of Sinai still remains on the pages of Holy Writ, in unrepealed and binding force, "Thou shalt have no other God before me." But alas! failing to humbly recognize the love and Majesty of an all-wise Providence, they degenerated into multiform idolatry in after years, and were driven forth to reap the bitter fruits of their disobedience in isolated identity, as foreshadowed by the prophet; with their prowess and glory as a nation departed, perhaps, forever. Truly might the psalmist exclaim: "How excellent is thy loving kindness, O God! How terrible art thou in thy works!" "The Lord is nigh unto them that are of a [broken heart—they that hate the righteous shall be desolate."

With one quotation from St. Paul's letter to the Romans, I will close: "Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God: on them which fell, severity: but toward thee, goodness, if thou continue in his goodness: other wise thou also shalt be cut off;"

May I venture another quotation, which may be more impressive?—"Upon the wicked he shall rain snares, fire and brimstone, and a horrible tempest." Reader! seest thou not in the harmonizing elements of nature the goodness and wisdom of our beneficent Creator, who hath declared in his word, "All things work together for good to them that love God."

OXONIAN.

Oxford, N. C., Jan. 22nd.

"Help Your Minister."

Your remarks, Mr. Editor, in the last number of the ADVOCATE on this subject were well-timed and appropriate. Well-timed in that they are presented at the proper time to the consideration of your readers; and appropriate in that they embody so much significance as touching our true relation and what should be our real feelings toward our Pastor. We are at the outset of a new year. So many charges the Minister sent is new and a stranger. Encourage him in the beginning—first impressions, in many particulars, go a long way and carry with them great weight in shaping conduct and well directed, effective effort. Do not set too much hope on the Preacher. Here is a church: the building outside presents a commendable appearance; and, set in the center of inviting grounds, the doors shut and blinds closed, the view at once suggests a reign of order and neatness. But how is it inside? Is the floor belittered with chips, dirt, paper pelts, and antiquated quids; and is that spittoon still lying topside down, exactly out of place, and just as it was left by the careless burly lad who kicked it over in exit from the church at the last "appointment?" Or have the demands of simple duty been complied with in the sweeping of floor, dusting of benches &c., and the orderly arrangement of everything, since the last Sabbath service, and setting the house in order preparatory to the next reception of our beloved pastor-guest? The clean, well swept hearth-stone, whilst in the nature of things, contributing to the easy comfort and self-complacency of the visitor friend, really adds zest and impetus to his powers of entertaining. Likewise the benign reflex of order, neatness and tidy surroundings greatly aid a grace of demeanor and facilitate a concentration of thought, so necessary to the efficient preaching of the Gospel. Such evidences and marks of care on the part of the people (I have in the mind's eye country churches particularly) showing that they feel real interest and concern in the matter and that they look forward to the periodical coming of the Preacher as a rare and privileged event, ordained and intended for their special good, go directly to the Pastor's heart and nerve at once his faith and energies. And the manner in which he is greeted by the brethren, at his coming round, evincing solicitude and hearty concern in his welfare, or on the contrary, luke-warmness (however far from being designed or intentional) indifference, shyness and a disposition not to engage in friendly social chat for fear of rude approach upon a sphere not his—all this arising, perhaps, from no defined motive, but from thoughtlessness and a misapprehension of our true relation reciprocally—content if we but observe something of regularity in the mechanical assembling of ourselves together—in all these particulars, how careful we should be to study our duty, when, perhaps, so much depends on the active responsive sympathy the Minister gets from his people.

And this sympathy may be shown in so many ways. And here, Mr. Editor, I will say that you make a thrust to the core of a very innocent kind of prejudice in suggesting that a Minister may be praised for a good sermon. I say innocent prejudice, and yet it is a prejudice; that is, prejudice against the indulgence or practice of flattery and the dubious appearance of the thing, (so closely resembling genuine praise may fulsome flattery be made to appear,) gives reason or grounds to such prejudice—so that oftentimes, it may be, the free and grateful impulse, welling up in a pure and generous soul, is repressed through an apprehensiveness that the sharp incisive word of praise, by reason of the prejudice and shared, perhaps, by the Minister himself, may fail of its purpose or be misconstrued. Praise the Minister for his performance! or flatter the Minister! Make him vain of his power! Make him proud! Make him forget that it is from God he draws inspiration, and true to the instincts of nature, turn his thoughts too much upon himself! Oh no! The ambitious stripling of a politician may be praised for the doubtful merit he displays, and nourished on this pabulum, the praise of men—which gives to proficiency and success with him its true value, his aspirations are quickened into a higher atmosphere; and through perseverance, incited by praise, he may become a power for good in the realm. But the Minister, perhaps young and ambitious too, and fired with aspirations that even dare to reach after the moving eloquence of Pierce and the perfect oratory of Munsey should be and, therefore, is, insensible to praise or, it possibly he is not, exceedingly chary must we be in indicating to him our favorable impressions of his manner of delivery and our thanks and sense of gratification for his lucid, well arranged sermon, lest we turn his thoughts too much to self and divert his mind ever so little from the true Source—that from which alone he must look for the well earned plaudit "well done, good and faithful servant." Now all such reasoning is wrong; but innocently wrong, in that it is founded on an impression, springing out of that reverence for the Gospel—calling so deep rooted in our being, that Ministers are not like other men—that, being imbued with the spirit of Christ and shaping their lives and walk among men "by every word that proceedeth from the mouth of God," there needs no extraneous influences, "of the earth earthly," to aid them in the effectual performance of their high and responsible duties; when, the truth is, Ministers are very much like other men: and, in the hour of gloom and self-reproachfulness inevitable to the life of every good man, when even the voice of Faith would seem indistinct and far off, many times might the desponding Minister be cheered and reassured in his great and glorious work by the gratulating grasp and approving testimony of the brethren. But I fear, Mr. Editor, that for one just making his debut in your columns and dependent alone on your liberal courtesy for recognition, I am disposed to spread out too much on the topics suggested by your article—so I will content myself with a little more than reiterating your sentiments in regard to other particulars in which plain duty dictates that we help our Minister.—First then, in the work of organization. Every member should feel a personal interest in the matter—not stand aloof with folded hands, as if he had not lot or parcel in the matter, and wish success and prosperity to the church, but through indifference or false notions of duty, withold his co operation;—and look to the minister alone to make smooth the rough places and do more than any one man can do to bring order out of chaos, it may be, and place the church on a safe and prosperous footing. In this he needs your help; and requires nothing short of your whole duty. And secondly, the temporal welfare and support of the minister should be the care and concern of the church going community. The Stewards should relieve him entirely of all care and annoyance about his pay: and using diligence to collect, pay over to him constantly at odd times—and all other times—some of the "needful." And, I might say a great deal more, Mr. Editor, but with a due regard for your time and patience, I have some fears that I have said too much already.

STEWARD.

For the Advocate.

Mission Prize Essay.

Our readers are aware that the Board of Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at its meeting in May, 1873, on motion of the Secretary of the Board, offered a prize of one hundred dollars for the best Essay, setting forth the principles, facts, and obligations of the Church in regard to Missions. The President Secretary, and Treasurer, were appointed a committee to supervise the publication and circulation of the Essay that might gain the prize. Bishop McTyeire, Bishop Keener, and the President of the Board, were appointed the Committee of Adjudication. At a subsequent meeting of the Board at the request of the two Bishops and the President—their duties interfering with attention to this matter—they were excused from serving on the Committee, and Dr. R. A. Young, Dr. R. K. Hargrove, and the Rev. J. M. Sharpe, (a local preacher in Nashville,) were put in their places. The Essays were to be forwarded to the President by Jan. 1, 1874, to be by him handed over to the Committee. He received ten manuscripts, with sealed envelopes indicating their respective authors. Without reading a line of them, or knowing whence they came, the editor put them into the hands of the Committee on New Year's Day. The Committee read them all with great care, and, before consultation, separate and apart, decided in favor of a manuscript which, on opening the sealed envelope accompanying it, proved to have been written by our respected co-laborer, Dr. Haygood. We have not yet read a word of it, but we anticipate much pleasure in its perusal and also in the persual of others that were commended by the Committee. We shall, without delay, put to press the Essay which gained the prize. The Committee of Adjudication read their report to the Board of Missions, Feb. 20, 1874. The report was unanimously adopted, and a vote of thanks was given them by the Board, for their careful attention to the delicate duty imposed upon them.

The Committee recommend the publication of five others of the Essays placed in their hands, as they discuss various points connected with the Missionary enterprise in a masterly manner. They were written respectively by the Rev. W. G. E. Cunnyhan, D. D., of the Holston Conference formerly one of our missionaries to China; the Rev. Homer S. Thrall, of the Texas Conference; the Rev. S. P. Anderson, D. D., a missionary of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Port of Spain, Trinidad, South America; the Rev. Beverly W. Bond, of the Baltimore Conference; and the Rev. D. C. Kelly, D. D., of the Tennessee Conference, formerly a missionary to China.

The following is the Report of the Committee:

"The Board of Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at its annual meeting in May, 1873, offered a prize of one hundred dollars for the best Essay on Missions. On New-Year's day, 1874, the Committee received ten manuscripts. We have read them carefully, and, have agreed to award the prize to the author of the Essay containing eighty three pages, and marked X. Y. Z. On opening the sealed envelopes we find that he is our distinguished friend and brother, the Rev. Atticus G. Haygood, D. D., There are four or five other manuscripts of great merit, which we hope the Board will publish—thus making a handsome volume on the subject of Missions. Respectfully summitted,

ROBT. A. YOUNG,
R. K. HARGROVE,
J. M. SHARPE,
Committee."

"Nashville, Feb. 20, 1874.

For the Advocate.

North Carolina Local Ministers' Conference.

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: I put you down as heartily supporting every good work. There is no other church like the Methodist church. The Israelites were once spoken of as appearing like the "children of a king."

In a perfect Methodist church each member is a preacher. St John the Divine, says, "let him that heareth say come."

In obedience to the same spirit every Methodist is expected to say "come." In some other churches the ministers are expected to do all the calling while the people are expected to do all the coming.

Other churches build houses of worship and ask the Lord to send pastors to them. The Lord responds to the call, and sends the pastors, so that all, or nearly all are supplied. Methodism asks God to send pastors for churches; and more, it asks for other ministers to go forth into the highways, gather the wanderers and build other churches for them. The great Shepherd responds and calls thousands of men who have no flocks; but have a general commission to go forth gathering up the lost sheep and forming them into new congregations. Almost every member of the conferences has served a probation of this kind, and when for good reasons he cannot travel, he may fall back upon this general commission. Now in this particular our church is different from every other. Others have paid pastors alone. We have the paid and the unpaid. We must not complain at this: we have called for the two classes: God has sent them, and we must work them to the best advantage.

In North Carolina we have probably as many paid preachers as any other denomination, and some three hundred besides. We are greatly blessed in this respect, if we but appreciate what God has done for us.

But we do not stop preaching the word; we encourage our laymen everywhere to hold prayer meetings, pray, sing and exhort. Thousands are converted who are sons in the gospel of our humblest laymen. A church with only a pastor to preach is a spring in a desert absorbing all the water, and never overflowing to enrich surrounding vegetation.

Here then is the axiom. The greatest church is that which uses to fullest effect all its working force. Dorcas Societies meet and exercise themselves to develop the working talents of the sisters. Sunday-school teachers have their special meetings to indnce the highest proficiency. Leaders of classes meet often to instruct and encourage each other. Local preachers meet sometimes to lay plans for greater usefulness.

All this is right, to say nothing about the inherent right of all members to peaceably assemble, consult, and petition the higher powers for improved legislation. Local ministers have less conference with each other than almost any other class of laborers in our church.

We are trying to improve in this particular; and to this end a local ministers' conference has been formed for North Carolina. This body has assembled annually for several years past, at different places in the State. These conferences have been as harmonious, we think, and have left as good an influence for Methodism, as the District and Annual Conferences, and quite a number of the participants in the local conferences have since become efficient laborers in the itinerancy

Over half the local ministers of the State have been actively enlisted in this conference; many too aged and too poor to attend have cheerfully lent moral and pecuniary aid. The minutes for years have been printed and circulated. Our constitution is on record, and does not allow anything contrary to the Discipline of our church.

The Local Conference is fairly and squarely before the public.

The next annual meeting will be held at High Point, embracing the third Sabbath in July. It will be an important conference. Two great objects will be kept in view:

1st. To increase the work and usefulness of every Local Minister.

2d. To lend sympathy and pecuniary aid to the indigent families of Locals, for whom there is no provision in our church.

Methodists in the Northern States have long had their local conferences; they even have a national conference annually, and all seem to work harmoniously. In energy, at least, our northern Methodists are worthy examples.

Every Local in the State will find it to his interest to be on hand in July; or, at least to send in a report of work performed.

R. L. ABERNETHY, Pres.,
Happy Home, N. C.
L. BRASSON, Sec.
Raleigh, N. C.
Feb. 20th, 1874.

Selected.

Make use of time, if thou lovest eternity; know, yesterday cannot be recalled, to morrow cannot be assured; to-day is only thine; which, if thou procrastinate, thou loses; which lost, is lost forever; one to day is worth two to-morrows.—Quarles.

The "Christian life," says Luther, "consists of three parts—faith, love, and the cross." Faith takes up the cross, love binds it to the soul, and patience bears it to the end.

A good lady once remarked to Dr. Adams that his sermons were a little too long. "Don't you think so, Dr. Adams?" said she, "just a little." "Ah, good sister," said he, "I am afraid you don't like 'the sincere milk of the word.'" "Yes, I do," said she; "but you know the fashion, now-a-days, is condensed milk."

Louis XIV. once said: "When I go away after hearing some of the court preachers, I say 'What a wonderful preacher he is! What splendid powers of eloquence he has! What a great man he is!' But when I go away from hearing Father Massillon, I leave saying, 'What a poor, wretched sinner I am! How wicked I am!'"

There is this difference between happiness and wisdom: he that thinks himself the happiest man, really is so; but he that thinks himself the wisest, is generally the greatest fool.

SELF-FORGETFULNESS AND ITS REWARD.—Do not think too much of your faults, still less of others' faults. In every person who comes near you, look for what is good and strong; know that; rejoice in it, and, as you can, try to imitate it, and your faults will drop off like dead leaves when their time comes. If, on looking back, your whole life should look rugged as a palm-tree stem, still never mind so long as it has been growing, and has its grand green shade of leaves and weight of honied fruit at the top. And even if you cannot find much good in yourself at last, think that it does not much matter to the universe either what you were or are; think how many people are noble. If you cannot believe so, and rejoice in their nobleness.—RUSKIN.

— The first thousand dollars a young man earns and saves will generally settle the question of business life with him. It is the result of personal industry. He gives [illegible] he is [illegible] earn [illegible] as much [illegible] current expenses. He is consequently held sternly to the task of industry [illegible] consecutive period. The discipline acquired by him in a steady continuous, and solid discipline in the habits of industry, a patient, persevering, forecasting, self-denying character, breaking up all the tendencies to indolence and frivolity, and making him an earnest and watchful economist of time. He not only learns how to work, but he also acquires the love of work.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSORIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2.00
SIX MONTHS,	1.25
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH N. C. MARCH 11, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

Individual Responsibility.

God has so constituted human society, that volition and responsibility are inseparable. Man cannot be a free moral agent and not be responsible for the proper exercise of his moral agency. The laws of the government under which he lives hold him amenable for their violation. He cannot even plead ignorance of the laws when they have been properly promulgated. He is presumed to know them, and must obey them, or submit to the penalty. And so it is with the laws of his physical being. They have been established of God—are immutable, and must be obeyed, or the penalty that is attached to their violation must be incurred. A refusal to take necessary food, or to eat that which is unsuited to the physical system, will produce certain and inevitable effects. Ignorance or indifference cannot prevent it. Nature is strict to enforce her penalties.

God holds the sinner responsible for the proper exercise of his moral agency. He may accept Jesus Christ as a personal Saviour, or he may reject him. He may live for the world, enjoy its pleasures, and deny the reality of it hereafter. Like the fool, he may say in his heart, "No God"—but it is all of no avail. It does not in the least lessen his responsibility as a subject of God's moral government.—He is responsible for his belief, his opinions, his conduct, and this responsibility extends beyond the legitimate effect upon himself. As a member of society, his acts, his belief, his opinions affect others. No man liveth unto himself. Whatever his position in society, his life must affect for good or evil, the life of others. Their happiness, both here and hereafter, will be increased or diminished by him—and for this he must be responsible. The man who puts the bottle to his fellow's mouth, so that in the fury of drunkenness he commits crime, is morally, and consequently, should be legally responsible for whatever injury the drunken person does. The same principles must apply to the Christian and their religious teacher. When the Apostle realized his responsibility as an ambassador for Christ, that he watched for souls, and must give account for his preaching and its legitimate influence on his hearers, he well exclaimed, "Who is sufficient for these things?" A sense of his responsibility overwhelmed him, as it often does now the trembling servant of Christ. He shrinks from it, and yet he cannot avoid it.

A measure of the same responsibility rests on every private Christian. He is called into Christ's vineyard as a laborer—to do the will of Christ. As his influence must affect others, he is responsible for that influence, and its far-reaching effects. It may be stimulating to others to labor for the cause of Christ—to attend upon the means of grace—to accept the offers of salvation. Or it may be to disregard the requirements of religion, neglect the sanctuary, the prayer meeting, and impress upon a perishing world the idea that the soul will care for itself. The Apostle Paul undoubtedly lived and labored as earnestly as if he had been the only Christian in the world, and the world must learn through him the way of eternal life, or never know it. This is the true principle of action for every individual Christian.

Rev Dr Pritchard again.

We have received another article from Dr. Pritchard, in which he attempts a reply to our strictures on his letter as published last week. When the Doctor claimed that he was misquoted and misrepresented, we cheerfully gave him the privilege of stating what he did say; although in doing that, he went farther, and endeavored to establish some Baptist doctrines and some invidious charges against our own denomination. Our readers remember how effectually we corrected his sectarian sentences. Now, when he does not profess to be misrepresented in language, but simply seeks to vindicate his doctrines through our columns, we very respectfully decline his unreasonable request, and command him to his own organ. We think it would be but just and proper for him to publish his letter and our comments upon it, of last week, in the Recorder, as many of his Baptist brethren, we suppose, would be glad to know what he did say.

Rev. A. W Mangum, pastor of the Edenton Street M. E. Church, preached two excellent sermons last Sabbath on the subject of Temperance. He had a full house, morning and evening.

Hon. A. S Merrimon.

We are gratified to see from the reported proceedings of Congress that our able U. S. Senator, Hon. A. S. Merrimon, has taken such a prominent stand in the dignified and able body to which he was elected. It seldom occurs that so high a stand is taken during the first session of one's membership as that which Mr. Merrimon now occupies. Young in years, as in legislative experience, and from a section to whose representatives but little influence is willingly accorded by the party and section now dominant, he has nevertheless marched to the front, and by force of his strong native intellect, wide information, ready utterance and convincing logic and eloquence, has commanded the attention, respect and admiration of all.—Like fabled Minerva, he seems to have stepped into the arena full panoplied for the fight, and at once measures arms with such eminent Senators as Schurz, Thurman, Morton, Sherman and Conklin. The all absorbing subject of debate in the Senate as well as the most interesting, because most important to the country, is the financial troubles of the nation, and with this Mr. Merrimon seems familiar. An amendment offered by him to one of the Bills before the Senate for the settlement of the financial difficulties, seems to have received more attention and elicited more earnest debate than any other, and will in all probability be accepted by the Senate.

We repeat that we are gratified at this prominence of "our Merrimon" before the country. He has risen from an humble condition in life to his exalted station by dint of his own exertions, untiring energy and pure integrity of purpose. His moral character is without a blemish, his past record spotless, and we believe that in the future all kinds of vice, political, social and individual, will continue to find in him an uncompromising enemy.

We watch his progress with great interest and anxiety, and hope that he will continue to shed the lustre of his abilities upon the State that has honored him with her favors.

Our Sunday School Publications for March have been received. Dr. Haygood, who always does his work well, shows in this number of the Magazine that he is improving with experience. We give the following suggestions from the Doctor as well timed and commend them to the consideration of all concerned:

GET READY.—Before this month is over, a good many things will begin to stir—hibernating Sunday schools among them. And we rejoice to see and hear them—when the "winter is over and gone, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land." We are sorry that they could not keep out of winter quarters altogether, but we are so glad that they are still able to stir—though a little thin and weak, as is apt to be the case after such an experience—that we have not the heart to scold. We greet them upon their emergence, and wish them all possible good luck. But they need generous diet, now, that they may gain strength again. Don't feed them with thin gruels, made off-hand, by impromptu operators; don't cram them with foreign mixtures, which, like other imported goods, are oftentimes adulterated—as teas, duly packed and labeled with the requisite amount of Chinese, sometimes contain iron-filings, and such things. All this means: renew your subscriptions for Magazine and Lesson Papers, Visitor and Little People—in time. We are talking now particularly to pastors of circuits and superintendents of country schools. Don't wait till you reorganize, else you will lose several weeks, consulting and subscribing. Go round and get the money and send for your supplies, and issue rations the first day.

We want names and post offices of all superintendents that are not supplied with our lessons, and papers, and books. We wish to send specimens and catalogues.

THE WOMAN'S CRUSADE AGAINST STRONG DRINK.—This important movement is attracting much attention throughout the whole country, and is fast gaining favor with the people. It spreads like fire in dry stubble, in West, North, and is fast making its way Southward.—Hundreds of grog shops have been closed, thousands have signed the pledge, and multitudes have reformed from the use of strong drink. Opposition, though often strong, succumbs to its power, and the Churches are becoming more and more zealous. Large towns have been carried to the point of practical total abstinence, and some of the chief cities of the West are preparing for the onset. It is largely a Church movement. Faith in God and in the use of spiritual agencies is its chief source of strength.

We notice in our exchanges during the past week the deaths of several ministers of the Gospel, viz.:—Rev. Timothy Root, Southern Presbyterian; Rev. H. R. Will, Wesleyan Methodist; Rev. Noah Hough, Methodist; Rev. R. B. Sutcliffe, Methodist, and Rev. Dr. Binney, Lutheran—the latter in England.

Rev. W N Connelly, in charge of Fifth Street M. E. Church, South, Wilmington, N. C., delivered the anniversary address before Mount Olivet Council, F. of T., on Monday evening last.

We learn from the Raleigh News, that Rev. R. H. Whitaker, made for himself quite a reputation, as a temperance orator, during his recent Southern trip. We also hear his speech at Winston, last week, highly spoken of.

A new post office has been established at Elevation, Johnston Co., N. C.

Notes From the Brethren.

In a private letter from Rev. W. S. Black, Presiding Elder of the Wilmington District dated Feb. 26th, he says; "I am just from old Zion in Smithville circuit. Bro. Avent has reached his work in feeble health, but he is in "labors abundant." I spent four days with him and left a glorious revival in progress. Eleven applied for membership, two were converted and twenty-three were at the altar for prayer. A gentleman, with his wife and two daughters, made application for membership at the same time.

The Sabbath before, at Kenansville, a lady and her two only daughters were together at the altar, for membership. What a lovely sight!

As I passed through Wilmington, en route for Smithville circuit, Bro. Connelly, in charge of Fifth St., informed me that there was a great deal of religious interest in the church. That the congregations were large and a number of penitents had presented themselves for prayer.

We thank God and take courage.—We hope to be able to send you a number of subscribers during the year."

Rev. I. W. Avent writes: We are in the midst of a glorious revival at Zion Church: 22 have been added to the Church and still the work goes on. Bro. Black remained with us until Tuesday, preaching with power and in the demonstration of the spirit. Glory be to God for his goodness. Pray for us!

MR. EDITOR: Of late years there has not been a better abused little town in the State than this. There is none more healthy, pleasant and quiet. There is none to which your paper goes, possessing more thrift with less noise, and as large a proportion of good citizens, with as small a proportion of vice and immorality. Gentlemen, here know how to attend to their business, and although we have no police, ladies feel at ease upon the streets at night, with only a little six year old son or brother for an escort. There are about as many stores open, as before the war, and the merchants do quite as thrifty and sure a trade. The farmers of the town and adjoining country have recently organized a Grange, with a hope of success in the line. The officers are; W. F. Stroud, President, Rev. Geo. W. Purefoy, Vice-President, Rev. W. T. Farrow, Lecturer, and other prominent and enterprising citizens.

The Masonic Fraternity have long had a Lodge here. It is now in a flourishing condition. Its officers are: Rev. Solomon Pool, W. M., James B. Mason, S. W., A. J. McDade: J. W., H. B Guthrie, Secretary, and Thomas S Weaver, Treasurer.

The Good Templars also have a young but growing Lodge, numbering I am told about eighty members. Among these are some of the best and most intelligent ladies and gentlemen in the State. Its officers are: Rev. Solomon Pool, W. C. T., Mrs. Alice F. Sugg, W. V. T., Jno. R. Clements, Secretary, Thos. J. Utley, F. Secretary, Miss Sue Utley, Treasurer, Rev. J. B. Martin, Chaplain, Milton Ward, Marshall, Miss Jennie Newton, Guard, Jno. Brockwell, Sentinel.

The Baptist Church, under the pastoral care of Rev. W. T. Farrow, is in good condition. They have lately constructed a convenient baptistry in the church, and added some to their membership. The Methodist Church here was never in a more prosperous state. Rev. J. B. Martin is pastor. He is a good man, and earnest worker. The Sunday School, under the Superintendance of Thomas A. Long, is very flourishing. This Church, last Sunday, witnessed a very interesting scene. An old citizen whose head was frosted by many winters, almost alone hitherto, without religion, among his large family of children and grand children, came forward at last, to the altar, performed his vows and plighted his faith to the Church.

J.

Chapel Hill, N. C., March 1874.

MR. EDITOR: Some two or three years ago, I attended a class meeting, which was led by a Local Preacher, who casually remarked in an exhortation, there delivered, that if we were to search for the old landmarks of Methodism, it would become necessary to have the lines run over again.

The remark, though innocently made, created quite a forcible impression upon my mind, and very frequently since, have I laid upon my bed at night, and fancied that I could see the engineer, with compass, chains and other appliances, starting to run the old lines over again, but here he seems worried in ascertaining the starting point; for the "Green Bay" tree which represented our old Probationary system, which once flourished in the olden times, had entirely disappeared, but after much labor, the spot of its former standing is ascertained and our engineer starts to run the course, and facing another point of the compass, he measures off the distance, but lo! the "Live Oak" representing our class meeting, has been struck as it were by lightning and no longer being a test of membership, its old trunk is scarcely visible, yet enough of it remained to indicate the spot upon which it once so nobly stood, its branches the admiration of other denominations. Starting off in another direction the "old black gum" which in my minds eye represented camp-meeting, was in a recumbent position, having by neglect been almost blown to the earth by severe winds. It is easily, however, recognized and our hero sets out in pursuit of the "Poplar" representing our good old love feasts but, lo and behold! through neglect it had become decayed at the roots and its body was quietly resting upon the earth to be soon forgotten by its many admirers. Now for the "Juniper" representing the Itinerancy which by an extension of the term (although not submitted for the approval of the laity and not generally desired by them), had been shorn of its branches until it was almost unrecognizable. Yonder, however, stands the "Pine" representing our Presiding Eldership, who are now continued so long in office, that in many instances their activity as preachers, are gone and the people instead of as formerly, looking forward to quarterly meetings with pleasure and as the time for good preaching, are now so bored, that they are glad when the appointment is over, or else permit the most trivial excuse to make their seats vacant in the house of God, or become wearied with the plan of allowing elders to remain in one locality in the bounds of the conference, alternating (to suit a few of them), on particular districts, thus resembling the Pine tree, which is so frequently scraped for its juice or turpentine, as hardly to be recognized."

In resurveying the lines, the engineer has found great difficulty, principally on account of the old marks being altered or entirely removed, while in others were new stakes—for instance, lay delegation, which on account of the limited number can accomplish nothing. Reader, view the old landmarks and see if you think our beloved Methodism has been benefitted by the changes made!

OAKLAWN.

P. S.—Having become somewhat familiar with innovations, I would suggest some other changes to the General Conference, and that is, to provide for lay representation in the council which makes the appointments and some universal law as to the method of appointing lay Delegates to District Conferences, for as it now stands, the latter are on some Districts appointed from church meetings and on others, by Quarterly Conferences.

From Durham's to Mt. Tabor—Granville Circuit—Wrecked on the way—Good Templars, &c.

BRO. BURRITT: I reached Durham on Friday night and put up with Bro. Watson, a clever hotel man, and next morning took a seat in a two-horse carriage in company with three other distinguished persons, viz: Secretary of Grand Lodge of Good Templars, overseer of Knapp of Reeds Grange, and a young M. D. We had a very pleasant drive for about 12 miles, when we suddenly found ourselves wrecked in a mud hole, with the single-tree and tongue of our carriage broken. We were behind time, and 4 miles yet to go. All hands doffed their Sunday coats, rolled up their pants and went to work, and soon had our carriage on "terra firma."—One of the party went to Bro. Ball's and borrowed a single-tree, which the overseer will please return. Just as we got in sight of Capt. Mangum's store, one of the hind-wheels of our carriage gave way, and by assisting the wheel with a rail, we managed to get the old thing to a blacksmith's shop, where we left it, and then we walked a mile to Mt. Tabor Church, where we found a large congregation, whose patience was worn threadbare, having waited for us a long time. The object of the meeting was to organize a lodge of Good Templars, which was done with seventeen charter members. Success to the Order!

According to agreement, I preached for Bro. Griffith on Sunday in their new church, which is a very neat building. It is not quite finished, but will be soon. After preaching I made a speech for Trinity College, and urged our people to come forward and support the College, and I am pleased to say that several responded liberally. I was delighted with those people, for I was a stranger and they took me in, I was an hungered and they fed me. May God bless them all!

My young friend, A. H. Stokes, has a fine school at Mt. Tabor, and those people would do well to keep him if possible. He graduated at Trinity College since the war.

Now, Mr. Editor, I will close by stating that your paper is in great favor with our people. I will speak of Knapp of Reeds and Oxford in my next. Yours truly,

B. B. CULBRETH.

THE REV. DR. STONE ON THE NEWSPAPER.—In a recent sermon the Rev. Dr. Stone, of California, is reported to have said: "The newspaper is more feared to day in Congressional halls and the high places of corruption and villainy than laws and courts, the sting of conscience and the thunders of divine wrath. God is a great way off, and the judgment waits; but the ubiquitous reporter thrusts his sharp gaze into all covert and hidden schemes, as an unerring detective. The postilent spy will tell all he sees—tell it on the housetops, print it for a nation of readers. Good! Give us more of this. Long live the reporter! Let every public man who meditates a little piece of gainful fraud, understand that he is 'shadowed' at each step by this unbought espionage, and though he may not be converted, he will be restrained."

The Holston Methodist will hereafter be published in Knoxville, Tenn. The size of the paper is to be enlarged and otherwise improved. Price $2 per annum.

DEAR BRO. BURRITT: Will you please publish the following as a matter of justice to the membership of our church in Lexington? While on the Davidson circuit a year or two ago, I was requested by the Trustees to sell the old church building, that the proceeds might be applied to the new. Rev. T. B. James of the M. E. Church, (North) came over and proposed to purchase, as we understood it, for the use of the colored people. The terms were agreed upon. Mr. F. R. Robbins—as my attorney—drew the writings, charging nothing as the work was regarded as having been done for the colored people. The deed was made to Mr James individually. After it was executed by the Trustees, I went to the office of Mr. Robbins, where I delivered it to Mr. James, asking him at the same time if he understood it as conveying the Bible, Hymn Books, lamps and stove? He hesitated, until Mr. Robbins remarked, in substance, "the deed simply conveys the real estate, the ground and house—those other things are only the furniture of the Church and not attatched to it as a part of the building." "Well," says Mr. James, "we will have no trouble about that," or words to that effect. Here the matter ended for awhile. The right to use the house by our congregation was reserved for one year. When the time expired and the house was given up, the M. E. Church Conference was near at hand, which was to hold its session in Lexington, and as a matter of courtesy the stove was allowed to remain.

Bishop Haven and all the preachers—white and black—warmed by it, and no doubted enjoyed it finely. The Conference over, one Rev.——Bird (what sort I do not know,) after preaching, a few Sabbaths ago, gave public directions to his Trustees, in the congregation, not to give up the stove—to hold on to it and not let it be taken out of the Church—that when Mr. James conveyed the property to them the stove was not excepted. Really, such conduct reminds one of war times, when "pressing" was a common thing. As a matter of dollars and cents the members of our church care but little about the affair; but they dislike to be held up before public congregations, as claiming property which may not belong to them; and I write this to show that they only claimed that which was legally and honestly theirs.

W. C. MECHAM

Lexington, N. C., Feb. 24, 1874.

MR. EDITOR: Please state for the benefit of the uninformed of all sects, that the Missionary Baptist church will grant, or rather, has granted a "certificate of standing" (such as a Methodist Preacher would grant) to a worthy member of the Baptist church, who applied for the same, with avowed intentions to join the Methodist church. The certificate was duly signed by the clerk of the church, and I received said member upon presentation of said certificate.

The Baptists have been misrepresented in this respect, by some, who have stated that "there were but two ways to get out of a Baptist church," viz. "to die or be expelled." This "certificate business" certainly has been misunderstood by some of our "Methodist people," or this case argues reform. But Mr. Editor did you ever see such people for water? Their sermons are really "watery." I heard a fellow say a short time since that he thought he could swim on one of these "liquid discourses." Such sermons may gratify "Sectarian thirst" but cannot satisfy a soul "thirsting to be filled with the love of God.

A METHODIST PREACHER.

Rockingham county March 1874.

The following ought to be LAW in the Church: When there are two or more claimants on the same funds of the Church, the claims of the several parties should be estimated by the same agents, and the agents should be governed by the same principles in estimating the claims of the different claimants; or where it is necessary for the claims of different claimants to be estimated by different agents, then there should be fixed some definite or proximate ratio of division which neither of the agents in estimating the claims of their respective principals, may be permitted to pass.

BEN ELLETT.

Oypas Castle. N. C.

We had the pleasure of a call last week, from Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, presiding elder of the Greensboro' District. He was looking well, which is an evidence of the fact, that the District work agrees with him.

THE DIFFERENCE.—Dr. Armitage, a New York Baptist pastor of prominence, believes that women ought to preach, while the Brooklyn Presbytery New York, has passed resolutions bidding Drs. Cuyler and Robinson to avoid, for the future, "certain causes of offense," the main point being that they must not any more ask Miss Smiley to occupy their pulpits.

The following brethren have sent us handsome lists, of subscribers since our last; Rev. R. M. Brown, Rev. J. W. Ivy, Rev. J. Wheeler and Rev. J. S. Ervin.

The St. Louis Advocate says: Bishop Marvin has safely returned from his Southern tour. He is enjoying very good health and seems little or none the worse for wear.

— Dr. Parker thanks God that Mr. Talmage of Brooklyn is a "sensational preacher," saying, "There are quite sufficient of us to supply insipidity, pointlessness, and respectable dullness."

Religious Brevities.

—Rev. B. S. Bronson, Rector of St. Peter's (E.) church of Charlotte has received a call to the Rectorship of Christ Episcopal church of this city, rendered vacant by the death of the late Dr. Mason.

—Dr. Kennedy of the Southern Christian Advocate favors the transfering from the Quarterly Conference to the District Conference the authority to license Local preachers, to renew their license, and to recommend them to the Annual Conference for ordination.

—It is reported, through the press that Dr. Munsey has been appointed, by Bishop Pierce, to the charge of one of our leading churches in Augusta Ga. at a salary of $4,000.

—Reports of revivals in nearly all evangelical churches continue to come from nearly all parts of the country, and in many places the work has been of extraordinary power and influence.

—When M. Moody was about starting for England last summer, he was asked by a friend what he was going for. His characteristic reply was, "To the unsaved souls for Christ!" —The great revival at Mattoon Illinois, is still going on. Up to Feb. 14th, 430 had united with the M. E. Church, W. R. Goodwin, pastor.

—The Rev. N. Collin Hughes has resigned the rectorship of St. Peter's, Washington, N. C., and is now engaged in canvassing the Diocese in behalf of its Episcopal Fund.

—At a meeting of sea captains and seamen in New York city a few days since, in the hall of the mercantile library, 3,000 men were present, and of these, it is said, 1,000 stood up to ask the prayers of Christians.

— During the past Conference year, in Washington city alone, there have been raised and expended $100,000 in church improvements and building.

—A committee of the Southern Presbyterian Church has arrived in New York, and will open communication with a committee of the Northern Presbyterian Church, with a view to the union of the two bodies.

—An extensive revival in Lawrence county, Ohio, has just closed, the result of which was the conversion of not less than 1,300 persons, three-fourths of whom united with the M. E. Church.

—From recent intelligence we learn that Orange Judd, the well-known Methodist publisher, now in Europe, where he has been for six months, in quest of health, is in a steady decline, and may not be able to return home alive.

—Rev. Dr. Leftwich gives an account of the great revival in St. Louis, and says "it is safe to say that at no time in our history has there been a more genuine and general revival in the St. Louis district.

—Dr. Talmage's new Tabernacle in Brooklyn, N. Y., the largest Protestant church in the United States, was dedicated to the service of God on Sunday, Feb. 22.

Bishop Simpson, in a recent letter to the North Western Advocate writes as follows about Bishop Keener:

"The Bishop is an accomplished Christian minister—of fine literary culture, having graduated at the Wesleyan University. He was also trained to business, which has given him financial skill, and having spent several years as editor, he has varied information and wields a ready pen. He has taken a deep interest in establishing a mission in Mexico, and the action of his church has sprung almost wholly from his inspiration. I have found him a pleasant and genial companion, and though there are doubtless some points on which we may not agree in judgment, yet in the great movement of extending Christ's kingdom I trust we shall be of one spirit."

— A remarkable man, claiming to be the Messiah, has recently appeared in Arabia. He came forth from the desert where he spent many years mortifying the flesh, and pretends to work wonders and perform miracles. He has a melodious voice, remarkably brilliant eyes, and a fascinating appearance, and is winning followers.

— The extensive religious awakening in Scotland, commencing in the city of Edinburgh under the labors of Messrs. Moody and Shankey, is spreading over the whole of the land. In the cities, the mid day prayer meetings have from 2,000 to 2500 attendants. Ministers and members of all evangelical denominations unite in the work.

— We learn that the Rev. Moses D. Hoge, D. D., of Richmond, Va., is to deliver the annual address during the commencement at this Institution next June 24, 1874.

NEEDED REFORM.—The Southern Churchman states as absolutely necessary that the following reforms be ordained by the next General Convention: 1. To prohibit the use of altars in the church; to insist upon their removal where introduced. 2. To prohibit the Confessional in or out of the church. 3. The prohibition in or out of the church, of prayers for the dead or to the dead. 4. The prohibition of any picture or statue in the church. And it may be necessary to look into the matter of images in painted windows. 5. And among lesser matters, the prohibition of wafer bread: of crosses on or about the communion table: of the minister turning his back to the people while consecrating the elements: of consecration in any other than a distinct tone of voice to be heard by all the congregation.

Seed Thoughts.

— True courage is cool and calm. The bravest of men have the least of brutal, bullying insolence, and in the very time of danger are found the most serene and free.

— The advantage of living does not consist in length of days, but in the right improvement of them. As many days as we pass without doing some good, are so many days lost.—MONTAIGNE.

HINT TO FORWARD PRETTINESS.—How beautiful are retired flowers! How would they lose their beauty were they to throng into the highway, crying out, "Admire me, I am a violet!" "Dote upon me, I am a primrose!"—KEATS.

— Order is a lovely nymph, the child of Beauty and Wisdom; her attendants are Comfort, Neatness and Activity; her abode is the Valley of Happiness. She is always to be found when sought for, and never appears so lovely as when contrasted with her opponent—Disorder.—JOHNSON.

— Those who think most, require the most sleep. Time gained from necessary sleep is not saved, but lost. Mind and body will both suffer. Most people, however, do not think enough to make early rising particularly dangerous. It is the hard working professional man, the close student, or the man of business, with many cares upon his mind, who suffers most from the loss of sleep.

It is the grace and glory of a man to be the slave of his word. Delude not yourself with the notion that you may be untrue and uncertain in trifles, and in important things the contrary. Trifles make up existence, and give the observer the measure by which to try us; and the fearful power of habit, after a time, suffer not the best will to ripen into action.

Personal.

Hon. Henry Smith, President of the Police Department of the city of New York, died on the 23rd ult. at the age of 51.

Disraeli is now the cynosure of English eyes.

Hon. A. S. Merrimon, U. S. Senator from North Carolina, is bringing himself and the State from which he hails into great prominence by his able speeches on the financial condition of the country.

Dr. Dio Lewis, is the enthusiastic leader of the Woman's Crusade against Rum dealers in the West.

Jay Gould employed two lawyers to settle a claim of $10,000,000 against the Erie Railroad, and now resists the payment of their fees which they put at $75,000.

Gen. Robt. Ransom has purchased a farm in Chesterfield Co. Va. and will take up his residence there in April.

The Queen of England has granted a pension of $1000 per annum to the children of the late Dr. Livingston.

Gov. Zeb Vance having delivered an eloquent and instructive lecture in Baltimore on the "Scattered Nations" the Richmond ENQUIRER pronounces him the "greatest Jews-harper in the world."

Rev. Soloman Pool made an able speech before the Good Templars of Raleigh, last week.

State and Local Items.

The Fayetteville GAZETTE says: We learn that the smoke-house of H. C. Fisher, Esq., on the East side of Cape Fear River, in this county, was burned last Monday night, at an early hour. Mr. Fisher saved only a few pieces of bacon. The fire was caused by a burning brush-heap too near the building.

THE FAYETTEVILLE EAGLE says Wm. Wilson, who killed Andrew Strong, of the Robeson outlaws, December, 1872, died yesterday in Fayetteville. He came here with his wagon a few days ago, and has been at the hotel quite sick. We believe he came from Randolph or from that section, but has been living about Smilletown, in Robeson, for two or three years.

Peter W. Brown an old and highly respected citizen died in Charlotte N. C. on the 1st inst.

We direct special attention to the advertisment of McCallum, Wyckoff & Hope which appears in this issue. These gentlemen have formed a copartnership, for the manufacture of farming utensils, and all kinds of useful machinery; we commend them to the public, as reliable business men. They will carry on the most extensive business in their line of any other house in the State. We congratulate this new firm upon retaining the valuable services of our friend J. H. Sparks Esq.

Lucy Stanback, (col.,) confined in Warren jail for poisoning her husband, according to the statement of her attending physician, recently died of remorse.

Robert Powel, a colored school teacher of Warren, was lodged in the Penitentiary last week for two years, for forging a paper on the county Trustees, for his pay as a teacher.

THE EVENING CRESCENT.—This is the title of a new daily paper published in this city, T. B. Kingsbury, Esq., late associate of the SENTINEL, editor. It is neat in appearance, and is well filled with fresh and interesting reading. We wish the "Crescent" great success.

According to the latest information from the Philadelphia College of Surgeons, where the Siamese twins are undergoing a medical examination, it seems a settled fact that any attempt made to sever these monstrosities in their life-time would have resulted in the certain and immediate death of both. It now appears that they had but one liver between them, connected by the mysterious band that united them together.

The Charlotte "Observer" is authorized to deny the rumor that ex-Gov. Vance and Col. Johnson were going to start a paper in Raleigh.

Work on the post-office and Federal Court house of this city will be commenced as we learn in a few days.

SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.—Phillip Billiter, Esq., died in Old Town on Tuesday of last week. He and his father were both born on the 1st of February, both died on the 26th of February, both aged 31 years and 25 days at the time of their death, both died of the same disease, and both sick the same length of time.—WINSTON SENTINEL.

Mrs. Genl. Wade Hampton died on the 28 ult, at Charlotteville Va.

The law has been so altered that a voter may not only be challenged on the day of the election, but may be forced to prove his identity, if necessary.

The Postmaster general advocates the establishment on all railroads of the United States of a special mail train, to be run at a high rate of speed, for the sole purpose of transmitting mail matter.

General News.

The Prussians are anticipating more trouble with France.

It is reported that Grant will spend a part of next Summer at the Greenbrier White Sulpher Springs, in Va.

Rutherford has raised, says the Record, $14,000 towards establishing a sewing machine manufactory in that county.

Andrew Johnson, the chronic candidate, announces himself as a candidate for Congress in Tennessee.

The State Grange of Patrons of Husbandry in Kansas, passed a resolution asking the Legislature to enact a prohibitory liquor law, and also a resolution prohibiting persons who retail liquor from becoming members.

Col. McClure, the Democratic candidate for Mayor of Philadelphia, was defeated by 10,000 majority. The successful man was Stokely.

Miss Taylor, of South Carolina, was elected Pomona, and Mrs. Moon, of Florida, Flora, by the National Grange.

Railroad accidents in the United States average one person killed and two injured every working day in the year.

A white man with two negroes lately arrived at Palaka, Fla., who had never heard of the emancipation proclamation.

Up to the 15th the woman's temperance movement in Ohio had resulted in closing 209 dram shops, leaving 70 in a state of siege.

There are 70,000 girls, and 30,000 widows in New York dependent on their daily labor for their daily bread.

Gov. Vance's lecture in Baltimore on the Jews is pronounced one of the finest ever delivered in that city, and was listened to by eleven hundred people.

Rev. Dr. Lyman Beecher's salary seventy years ago was $300 per annum and fire wood. His son, Henry Ward Beecher, receives $20,000 a year, but buys his fire wood.

It is a curious fact that the only two countries in which the stopping and forcibly robbery by armed men of railway trains prevails are Spain and the United States.

A family by the name of Slesser, in Covington, Ky., came near being poisoned to death a few days ago by eating horse-raddish which had been accidentally mixed with poke-root.

The New York TRIBUNE thinks Congress will be amazed when it comes to look closely into the expenditures, to find how many unsuspected cracks the money runs into.

A cousin of President James Madison 84 years of age, is in the Nashville, Tenn., poor-house.

Why is it that our secular papers, which have done such good service in exposing corruption and denouncing fraud, should persist in violating the law of the State, in advertising that grand humbug which has already fleeced multitudes of their small earnings, the Fourth Grand Gift Concert for the benefit of the Public Library of Kentucky? Not only are they exposing themselves to heavy penalties, but they are also doing injury to public morals, by giving publicity to this iniquitous scheme.—BANNER.

The latest advices from Bilbao report no change in the situation. The Carlists keep up their bombardment, about two hundred shells are thrown into Bilbao daily.

Dr. Forbes Winslow, of London, a well known medical writer, is dead.

Virginia is manufacturing paper from the reeds which grow so abundantly in the Dismal Swamp.

It is rumored in London and Paris, that the Prince Imperial will enter France immediately on attaining his majority, which is at hand, there being no ground on which his admission to the country could be denied.

A new, and in most cases fatal, disease has broken out among the horses. The symptoms are swelling of the stomach and hind legs, followed by choking up of the throat, when the animal dies in great agony. The disease is most prevalent in Jersey City, but there have also been a number of cases in the New York car stables.

Up to the 18th of this month the receipts of cotton at the port of New Orleans were over one million bales. This is 123,000 bales more than up to the same date last year, and are the largest receipts of cotton since the war. It is said that the cotton presses in New Orleans are crammed to repletion, and the stock on hand is valued at $80,000,000.

It is announced that Mrs. Mark M. Pomeroy, wife of "Brick Pomeroy has become associate editor of PEMEROY DEMOCRAT."

Ten thousand dollars have been subscribed in Augusta to endow a Georgia chair in Washington and Lee University.

The date appointed for the marriage of Miss Grant and Mr. Sartorious, of England, is said to be in October next.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Globe has been indulging in some speculations in regard to the next Presidency. Senator Conkling, he tells us is the President's choice for the head of the ticket, and Mr. Maynard, of Tennesee, for the second place.

Gov. Kemper, of Va., has pardoned McCarthy from the imprisonment he was sentenced to. The only reason why he pardoned him is, he says, that imprisonment would endanger his life in his feeble condition.

The Gov. gives notice that he will carry out strictly the laws against duelling.

The Scientific American has an engraving of the proposed centennial tower. It is to be one thousand feet high. To show its comparative size there are introduced in the background the spire of Cologne, the Pyramids, St. Peter's Dome, St. Paul's, the Capitol of Washington, Trinity Church, Bunker Hill Monument and one or two other buildings. The spire of the Cologne cathedral, the highest existing structure, is five hundred and one feet high.

Letters & Funds.

Tyson & Jones. Rev S D Adams. Rev J Sanford paper sent. Rev W S Chaffin for J C Vaughn $2. Jesse Ellis 2. P A Page. Rev L H Gibbon paper continued. Hon R R Bridgers. Rev Jas Mahoney. Rev S Gilmore. C F Siler. Rev T J Gattis paper sent. Rev A R Raven for H M Hearne 2. Mrs Fannie Forbs 2. B W Payne & Sons for subs'p. M. Mays. Rev Jas Wilson for D W Thomas 1 paper sent. O B Townsend paper continued—you can send post office order. Ziegler & McCurdy. D E Fields. Rev B F Dixon paper changed. Col W S G Andrews, thank you. Rev W S Black papers sent. Rev J C Crisp paper sent. J H Mills. C W Green & Son. Rev J S Ervin papers sent Rev W H Call for Mrs Maggie E Daniel 2 J B Reed & Co. R L Craven. Rev R S Webb for H King 2. R Tur 2. S A Webb 2. J M Thomson 2. Rev H P Cole for G B Watson 2. Mr. L Wilson 2. Wm E Andrew 2 Samuel Wolf 2. Dr J T Leach sen 2. F S Sale Rev T P Ricaud credit made. J E Daniel for Mrs Wm Daniel 1.25. Rev J N Anderson no mark Miss Bettie Rhodes 2 other papers sent. Miss L A Williams. J T Eatman. A S Alderman no mark on paper. Rev I W Avent for Rev B Williams 2. Rev N M Ray 2. E J Alexander paper regularly sent. W M Jones. T. A Bingham. W S Lane for D W Saunders 2. Mrs B Means 2. Rev N H D Wilson for W F Alexander 2. Rev L Shell for B Hines 2. Rev V Walker 1. Mrs S A Hendron 2 other papers continued. Rev. J F Smoot for S Chester 2. W Hastings 2. B Ivey 2 other papers sent. Rev Jas Wilson all right. R W Harris. Rev W B Maness papers sent. Rev A D Bellis all right. L A Shell sent 1. Rev Jno W North for K H Abernethy 2. Revd Wheeler for Wm C McDowell 2. H C Wall 2 O F Stansell 2. W S Fowlkes 2. C B Thorness. Rev. T A Coon papers sent. Dr Wm Cook self 2. Rev T Page Ricaud for J M Turner subscription. G W Johnson self 2. R L Craven paper has been going. Rev W S Chaffin for J Bate 2. Arch Bate 1. J R Carter 2. Rev T A Boone paper sent. S H Babbitt for A S Cranson 2. Rev J S Ervin for L A Crawley 2. S C Kersey 2. J A Chappell 2. R A Cobb 2. Rev H H Gibbons for Miss Mary Sills 1. Rev W R Fargerson, have sent the paper. D W Sifford self 2. Rev R M Brown paper sent. Rev W C Norman for Mrs E A Thomas 2. W B Moore 2. Mrs M Bethel 2. J F Reeves for self 2. R H Taylor 2. Rev R H Whitaker for W H White 2. Rev E W Thompson for S Sheetz 2. John Shaw 2. Anderson Page self 2. Rev. J. E. Thompson, for Miss S. S. Jones 2.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

The travelling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorised Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1.00. Those who send us none will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written on one side of the sheet. All letters on business should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in a registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted if the amount is small. If money is sent otherwise and is lost, it will be at the sender's risk.

REGISTERED LETTERS.—Persons send money to the Advocate by registered letter will remember that the rate has been reduced from fifteen to eight cents.

Marriages.

Married on Wednesday 25th Feb. by Rev James Mebane, at the house of the bride's father, Mr. Dickson McIlwaen to Miss Alice Haines, daughter of George Holmes, all of Cumberland Co.

Married Feb. 3rd, at the residence of the bride's father near Clayton, by the Rev. J. F. Smith, Mr. J. Dallas Smith of Greene, Co. and Miss Etta McCullers.

On the same day, Feb. 5th, at the residence of the bride's father, near Princeton, Mr. Geo. T. Worley and Miss Jane Joyner, daughter of A. H. Joyner Esq.

Married, on upper Little River, Moore county, on the 2d inst. Feb. by Rev. S. Gilmore, Mr. Mat Jr. T. eldest daughter of R. A. Comer to Mr. H. T. Petty of said county.

Married on the 26th ult., by Rev. J. S. Ervin, Mr. A. A. Crawley to Miss M. A. Cooper, all of Duplin county, N. C.

Married in Franklin county, N. C., the 4th inst. by Rev. R. H. H. Gibbons, Mr. Thomas H. Bell and Miss Virginia Z. Perry.

Married on the 5th inst. by Rev. C. C. Dodson, Mr. Archie Jenkins and Miss Pattie Langdon, all of Edgecombe county.

Married in Albemarle, Stanley county, N. C. March 3rd, 1874 by Rev. R. M. Brown, Mr. Wm. Scruggs to Miss Ellen D. Milton.

Married on Feb. 12th, 1874 at the residence of W. Bethel, in Rockingham county, by Rev. W. C. Norman Mr. Geo. W. Wilkinson, Va. and Miss Josephine Bethel of Rockingham county.

Married, on the 8th of March, at the residence of W. T. Green, near Franklinton, Nash county, by Rev. J. E. Thompson, Mr. Arthur H. Mabry and Miss Lillie O. Jeffreys, all of Franklin county.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, J. H. Shook, Feb. 3rd, 1874, by Rev. J. McNeely, Esq., Mr. Wm. H. Henry to Miss Ada V. Shook, all of Iredell county, N. C.

Married, in Davie county, N. C., at the residence of Mr. Frank Mason, the bride's father, on the 5th inst., by Rev. T. Page Ricaud, Dr. D. A. Wilson and Mr. M. S. W. Turner, all of Davie county, N. C.

Married in this city on the 3rd inst., by Rev. A. W. Mangum, Mr. Joseph Jordan and Miss Fannie A. Mordie, all of North Carolina.

Deaths.

Died of consumption, at Trinity Randolph county, on the 19th Jan. 1874, Eli C. Cox, aged 20 years 10 months and some days. He was converted at Salem church, in the Randolph circuit, at a Camp-meeting in the year 1875. All at once while engaged in his sweet he exclaimed "All is over." Did not express himself like many dying beds I have been at much. He lived the life of a Christian, had many friends and had been afflicted for 3½ years. His affliction he bore with patience. His last illness lasted about 6 months which time he often spoke to each and expressed himself as being ready and willing to die—said it was good to be afflicted in which he could trust. Leaves an aged mother and affectionate wife and three children all of whom mourn his loss but who feel that it is his infinite gain.

Cox.

Mrs. Lavica Adeline, wife of C. H. Hinson, of Orange county N. C. is dead. Who will weep with me while I pour forth a sad bereavement? How can I express that I shall see her no more! Loving and loving

My sister has been the object of my tenderest regard and esteem ever since her infancy. She was born May 25th 1850, embraced religion and joined the M. E. Church, South, in 1865, was married to O. H. Watson Nov. 4th 1871, and after a protracted illness of many months, died in Orange county N. C. Dec. 24th 1873.

Sister was a very pretty child, and in some unknown manner, sustained her right arm broken. Being too young to tell us where her pain was, and how it was caused, she had to suffer on [illegible] before my mother discovered the real nature of the case. She also received [illegible] Bills during her infancy which gave very near causing her death. But none of these things, at all, disfigured her. Naturally beautiful, dignified, sedate and genteel she was admired and loved by all who knew her. She lived and died without an enemy.

At the tender age of thirteen she gave her heart to Christ and ever afterward lived to the glory of God. Her light was that which shineth brighter and brighter unto the perfect day. She is now in heaven.

The little boy which she named Edward Lawson, was born Dec. 27th 1872, and preceded her to the glory land just one month and a day.

Another sister who was with Louisa during her last illness says she continually grew in the month of her holiness, I never saw her Richer, all say she was a very promising child. And that it was of that tender age [illegible] to let them go. At the [illegible] the little ones are so [illegible] and how hard for her to see it die [illegible] all on the cold grave when [illegible] was a lovely sweet child.

Many other things might be well said in [illegible] dear child sister and of her [illegible] character, but perhaps I ought to [illegible] so nearly related nor to several [illegible] say them. "In the midst [illegible] death: to whom shall we look [illegible] but unto thee, O Lord, who for [illegible] sorrow I do rejoice to know that I have another sister in heaven. Two had gone before her [illegible]. My three brothers, four sisters, an aged widowed mother, are left to mourn over her departure, together with my [illegible] affectionate husband.

JAMES J. CARDEN.

Ellington Mo. Feb 9th 1874.

Appointments.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT

2ND. ROUND.

Wilmington, Fifth St.,	April 4–5
Masonboro at Providence,	" 11–12
Wilmington, Grace St.,	" 18–19
Wilmington, Front St.,	" 25–26
Smithville at Chapel,	May 2–3
Lockwood's Folly at Hallsville,	" 9–10
Whiteville at Bethel,	" 16–17
"	" 23–24
"	" 30–31
Bladen,	June 6–7
Clarkton,	" 13–14
Cheraw,	" 20–21

T. G. Jones will please attend the Front Street Quarterly Conference M. H. Boyle, Smithville M. Parr, Clinton, Jas. Wilson, Kenansville and A. S. Wisley, Topsail.

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Magnolia, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND IN PART.

Statesville ct. at Providence,	March 28–29
Mt Zion ct. at Salem,	April 4–5
Statesville St.	" 11–12
Yadkinville ct. at Macedonia,	" 18–19
Mocksville ct. at Salem,	" 25–26
Salisbury St.	May 2–3

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Olin, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT

1ST ROUND.

Person at Roxboro,	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Flat River at Mt. Bethel,	Feb 7–8
Leasburg at Leasburg,	" 14–15
Alamance at Phillips Chapel,	" 21–22
High Rock at Shiloh,	Feb. 28 March 1
Yanceyville at Yanceyville,	March 7–8
Deep River at Fair Promise,	" 14–15
Pittsboro at Pittsboro.	" 21–22

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt Tirzah, N. C.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT

1ST ROUND.

Pineville at Pineville.	Jan 31 and Feb. 1
Pleasant Grove at Pleasant Grove,	Feb. 7–8
Concord stn.	" 14–15
Albermarle and Albermarle,	" 21–22
St-ney,
Wadesboro st.	Feb. 28 and March 1
Mt. Pleasant at Gold Hill	March 7–8
Ansonville at Concord,	" 14–15
Wadesboro and Lilesville, at Bethel	" 21–22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

1ST ROUND.

Rock Spring ct. at Bethel,	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
South Fork ct. at Zion,	Feb. 7–8
Newton ct. at Newton,	" 14–15
Happy Home ct. at Hickory st.	" 21–22
Lenoir ct. at Bethany.	Feb. 28 and March 1
Morganton at Morganton,	" 7–8
Marion circuit & Upper Broad River Mis. at Marion,	" 14–15
Double Shoals & South Mt. Mis. at Elliotts,	" 21–22
Cherry Mountain ct. at Oak Grove,	" 28–29
Rutherfordton ct. and Columbus Mis. at Rutherfordton April 4–5

The District Stewards will meet at the District Parsonage in Shelby, Wednesday March 18th 1874. A full attendance is desired.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT

1ST ROUND.

Roanoke at Ebenezer	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Williamston at Williamston	Feb. 7–8
Columbia at Scuppernong.	" 14–15
Plymouth and Jamesville at Plymouth	" 21–22
Bath at Bath,	Feb 28 and March 1
Matamuskeet at Swan Quarter	March 7–8
Washington and Greenville, at Washington.	March 14–15
Tarboro' at Tarboro',	" 21–22

The District Stewards will please meet at Tarboro' on Saturday, March 21st. They are the following: for Warrenton, Col. S. Davis, Warren. —Tarboro', J. W. Jones, Bath, Walter Clark. Mattamuskeet, T. W Jones. Washington and Greenville B W. Brown, Williamston, R. A. Weatherby. Columbia, W. C. Puckett. Plymouth and Greenville, J. W. Latham.

WM. CLOSS, P. E.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND—IN PART.

Cumberland, Beaver Creek,	March 21–22
Jonesboro', Lillington,	" 28–29
Laurinburg, St. John's.	April 4–5
Rockingham, Green Lake,	" 11–12
Carthage, Center,	" 18–19
Robeson, Regans,	" 25–26

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage, N. C.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.

FIRST ROUND,

Trinity & Carraway at T. College,	Jan. 31 and Feb. 1.
South Guilford at Pleasant Garden	" 7–8
Forsythe & Winston at Pine Grove,	" 14–15
Madison at Bethesda,	" 21–22
North Guilford at Friendship,	" 28th and March 1.
Stokes at Antioch,	" 7–8
Wentworth at Love's	" 14–15
Davidson at Rheanzer.	" 21–22

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND—IN PART.

Tar River cir. at Plank Chapel,	March 14–15
Rolesville cir. at Harpeboro,	" 21–22
Cary cir. at Hollard's,	" 28–29
Wilson cir. at Mt. Pleasant,	April 4–5
Granville cir. at Moore's	" 11–12
Henderson cir. at Henderson.	" 18–19

W. H. BOBBITT, P. E.
Cary, N. C.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

1st ROUND.

Wayne at Salem, Jan. 31st and	Feb. 1st.
Jones, Shady Grove,	" 7–8
Lenoir, Newb'n ct.	at Lenoir Institute, " 14–15
Mount Olive at Mount Olive,	" 21–22
Neuse and Swift Creek	at Jackson, Feb. 28 & Mar. 1st
Goldsboro,	" 7–8
Snow Hill.	" 14–15
Wilson,	" 21–22

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

The Markets.

Raleigh Market—Retail Prices

March 10, 1874.

CORRECTED WEEKLY.

COTTON	14 to 14
BACON—Baltimore smoked,	10@11
" —unsmoked,	9@10
" —strips,	12 1-2@
" —shoulders,	10@11
" —N. Hams,	15@16
BUTTER—per lb.,	25@30
BEESWAX—per lb.,	25@30
BEEF—on hoof,	10@15
COFFEE—per lb	24@25
CHEESE—per lb.,	30@33
COTTON YARN—per bale,	1 75@10
CORN—per bushel,	90@1 00
CHICKENS—per piece,	20@25
EGGS—per dozen,	15@20
FLOUR—per barrel	8.50@9
HIDES—green, per lb.,	6@7
" —dry, per lb.,	12@15
HERRINGS, N. C.—per barrel,	7 50@8 00
LEATHER—per lb.,	30@40
LARD—per pound	12@13
MOLASSES—per gallon,	87@38
MEAL—per bushel,	90@1 10
OATS—per bushel,	75@
" —per 100 lbs.,	1 80@1 50
ONIONS—per bush,	75@1 00
PEASE—stock,	1 00@
" —white,	1 40@1 50
POTATOES—Irish, per bushel.	75@1 00
SUGAR—crushed	18@16
" —extra C,	13@16
" —P. R.,	15@
" —common,	12@12 1-2
SALT—per sack,	3 @5

New Advertisements.

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

French and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, etc.

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,

Fancy Good. Childrens Toys,

Carriages for the Little Folks,

CROQUET SETS,

BASE BALLS AND BATS,

Marbles, Tops, and Kites

All at MOSELEY'S.

ALF. A. THOMPSON. JOEL D. WHITAKER.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE.

Thompson & Whitaker,

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants.

No. 4 MARTIN STREET,

GUANOS.

"Soluble Navassa Guano."
"Navassa Tobacco Fertiliser"
AND Dissolved Phosphate.

Manufactured by Navassa Guano Company at Wilmington, N. C. Guaranteed to meet all the requirements of the late law.

Below are the names of a few who will testify to its merits:

Dr. B. Craven, Trinity College; L. H. Sanders, Johnston county; W. H. McCullough, Johnston county; David Wood, Johnston county; J. M. Wilson, Wilson's Mills; E. W. Pou, Raleigh; Wills Avera, Johnston county. For sale by

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Raleigh, N. C.

Feb 4–12m.

LEACH BROTHERS,

GROCERS AND

Commission Merchants,

Wilmington St, East Side Market Square,

RALEIGH, N. C.

In view of the approaching "Spring season" we have laid in a heavy and well selected stock which we offer to the public at prices corresponding to the scarcity of money, thereby giving the retail dealer a good stock for small capital. We offer for cash

11 bbls H. Sugars at 11 1-2c.
10 bbls H. Sugars at 11 1 4.
10 bbls. N. C. Sugars at 11.
10 bbls. extra bright "Yellows," 10 1-2.
10 bbls. extra bright yellow, 10 1-2.
30 bbls. prime Rio coffee, 21.
20 bags good Rio coffee, 24.
50 bbls. Super flour at $7.50.
50 bbls. Extra Flour, at $8.50.
20 bbls. "Snow Flake Flour," $11.75.
50 boxes, "Procter & Gamble's Soap, 60 lbs to box, at 4 c box.
25 boxes "Leach Bros. Family" soap at 5.25, 80 lbs to box.
20 boxes "Forrester's" lemon crackers 13 1-2.
20 boxes Soda crackers at 9c.
20 bbls "Rose" Potatoes
20 bbls. "Jackson White" do.
20 bbls. "Peach Blow" do.
25 kegs English soda at 7 1-2c.
50 boxes Adamantine candles at 13 1-2.
50 bags "Marshall's Salt" at 2.55.
10 bbls. new crop "Cuba Molasses" at 42 1-2.
5,000 lbs bulk sides.
3,000 lbs bulk shoulders.
20 cases Boots and Shoes at cash, 10c freight added.
100 Wilson Cotton Plows is the best plow in use.
Plows and Castings of every kind.

NOTICE—We desire to call the attention of our friends to the fact that other merchants in the city are having inferior flour branded "Snowflake" in imitation of our well known brand, for which we are sole agents, and none is the genuine unless our brand as Agents is on the head of barrel.

'LOOK FOR THE BRAND."

LEACH BROS.

mar 4-tf.

Collens Warranted

CAST STEEL

COTTON SWEEPS

HARDWARE HOUSE OF

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.

THE CELEBRATED

BOLLES COTTON HOE,

WE SOLD IN 1873 50M HOZES.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Sole Agents for N. C.

Write for circular and prices.

THE WARREN HOE,

BEST HOE EVER

MADE FOR

Garden and General Work.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Sole Agents for N. C.

Write for circular and prices.

ONE HUNDRED DOZEN

"Elwell" Hoes.

60 dozen "Planter's" Hoes.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.

Trade supplied.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

AVERRILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

IS THE BEST.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO., Sole Agents.

Write for descriptive circular.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

WILL NOT EXPLODE

JULIUS LEWIS & CO., Sole Agents.

Write for circular and Prices.

arch4 tf

Robert T. Gray,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the State.

Refers by permission to
Hon. R. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. J. G. Lash, Pres. First National Bank of Salem
John O. Williams, " " " " Raleigh
Rev. J. D. Bobbitt, Editor of Raleigh Advocate.
Rev. A. W Mangum, Raleigh, N. C.

TRINITY

COLLEGE.

The Spring Session will commence

JANUARY 17th, 1873.

Students may take a select, or the full course at their own option. There are eleven schools in the Institution, viz: Latin, Greek, Mathematics, English Literature, Natural Science, Modern Languages, Metaphysics, Engineering and Analytical Chemistry, Commercial, Law and Divinity.

Entire expenses for five months, for tuition, board, washing and fuel $90 to $100.

Jan. 7 3m. B. CRAVEN.

PIANOS, PIANOS, ORGANS.

Nat L. Brown,

DEALER IN

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Agent for HORACE WATERS & SONS'S celebrated CONCERTO and OCHESTRAL ORGANS and PIANOS.

ALSO DEALER IN

Children's Carriages,
Fancy Goods,
Toys,
Baskets,
&c, &c.

BIRDS AND BIRD CAGES.

Confectionaries,
Fruits, Nuts,
Fresh Crackers
and Cakes.

CIGARS AND TOBACCO.

Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to give me a call. Prices suitable to the Times.

NAT L. BROWN,
Raleigh, N. C.

Illustrated Catalogue of Pianos and Organs mailed.

jan 14 –tf

W. M. JONES,

CAREY, N. C.

Contractor, House Builder,

Manufacturer and dealer in dressed Lumber, Sashes, Blinds, Doors, and all other kinds of Building Material.

feb 11f

M. T. NORRIS. W. A. MYATT, Jr.
Late with Len H. Adams. Formerly with J. P Gulley & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO LEN H. ADAMS.)

Having purchased the entire stock of goods of Len H. Adams, we will continue the

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

Grocery & Commission Business,

AT HIS OLD STAND,

No. 3 Exchange Place and No. 3 Martin Street, where we will keep constantly on hand a choice and carefully selected stock of

HEAVY GROCERIES.

Special attention given to the sale purchase and storage of cotton.

Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

A continuance of the patronage shown the old firm is respectfully solicited by us, and we hope to merit increased confidence by prompt and faithful attention to all orders entrusted to us.

Very respectfully,

NORRIS & MYATT.

I have this day sold my stock and rented my store to the above firm, with many wishes for their success. I will continue the cotton commission business at the office in my old stand.

Respectfully,

LEN H. ADAMS.

Feb 25–12m.

NATIONAL HOTEL,

Delightfully Situated, next to Capitol Square,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A NEW HOUSE.

Fine Rooms, well Furnished and Fitted up in the best style.

ATTENTIVE SERVANTS.

The Table Daily SUpplied with the Best this and other Markets Afford.

C. N. BROWN.
PROPRIETOR.

Late of Boyden House Salisbury N. C.
Feb. 25—3 mos.

DR. T. C. SMITH. A. H. HAMMOND.

SMITH & HAMMOND,

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS

CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Just received
100 Barrels Kerosene Oil.
10,000 lbs Pure White Lead in Oil.

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING

Silver Tipped Shoes.

Feb 18-6m

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the ADVOCATE Office.

Sept 10-tf

54 FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

D. S. WAITT

IS OFFERING

EXTRAORDINARY BARGAINS

IN

Ready Made Clothing, Dry Goods, and Piece Goods, which have been purchased FOR CASH AT

EXTREMELY LOW FIGURES.

HIS STOCK OF

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS AND CAPS

AND

GENT'S FURNISHING GOODS

IS COMPLETE.

Also a full line of

Trunks, Valises, Umbrellas, Notions, and Hoisery.

LOOK OUT FOR HIS SPRING STOCK.

Which will be on in a few days. Country Merchants, who buy for cash, will consult their interests by giving D. S. WAITT a call first. Remember the place

D. S. WAITT,

No. 54 Fayetteville Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Feb 11-4m,

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND BLEACHER!

The Latest, Best and Cheapest Washer made!

That Steam Washers are the best kind is generally conceded. That the PEERLESS is best of its kind will be readily admitted as soon as it is seen and tested.

It causes all the water to flow up through pipes and start down through the clothes.

The water has not to go to the centre, or either end of the boiler to get back where it started, but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and hence washes all parts of the clothing alike.

It pours the water in sixteen streams, on all parts of the surface of the clothing.

The water rushes through the clothes many times per minute, and cleans them in 15 to 30 minutes!—With this machine, any lady who chooses, may do the washing of her family in a very short time, with very little work, without slops, without rubbing, or damage to the fabric, with such ease and quiet that her husband would hardly know when washday comes!

The cost of the machine soon saved in difference in wear. Soon saved in difference in labor required.

A bed quilt or lace collar—the finest or coarsest fabric—a single piece or boiler full, washed with equal ease.

The machine can be made for any stove boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sells for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

As We mean Business It Is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using go with each machine. They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 9)	$8.00
For " alone	5.00
For washer and boiler 30 inches long	9.00
For " alone	6.00

Sent anywhere per express on receipt of price by

J. A JONES, Proprietor,
Raleigh, N. C.

THOMAS B. TYSON. W. T. JONES

TYSON & JONES,

(Successors to Tyson, Kelly & Co.)

Carriage Builders,

CARTHAGE, N. C.

Having greatly increased our Facilities for Manufacturing, we are prepared to furnish Customers direct from our Manufactory, as at our Repositories from our Agents, as follows:

Repository at Rockingham, Leak, Spencer & Co., Ag'ts.
" " Laurenburg, N. C., Col. J. T. Roper, Ag't.
" " Bennetsville, S. C. P. L. Breedlove, "
" near Bennettsville S C. Wm. Pearson, "

We feel confident that with the close attention we give the business, together with the materials used, the skilled workmen employed, and the many convenencies we have for manufacturing FIRST-CLASS WORK, that no house in the country can excel us in STYLE, FINISH AND DURABILITY.

And also, at the LOW PRICE at which we are selling our work

We also Manufacture Harness and Saddles—Repairing Done at Short Notice. May 4-12m

The Celebrated

"Cotto" Fertilizer.

—GILHAM'S—

Prepared Especially and Solely for the

COTTON CROP,

BY THE "SOUTHERN FERTILIZING COMPANY," RICHMOND, VA.

Each Species of Plant must have the SPECIFIC FOOD SUITED TO ITS PECULIAR NATURE in order to produce the LARGEST AND MOST REMUNERATIVE RESULTS." THE HIGHEST TESTIMONIALS received from every direction—from many of the Largest FARMERS—from OFFICIONS OF THE PRESS and NEWSPAPER CURRENT PONENTS and OTHER DISINTERESTED PARTIES through the DAILY PRESS, relative to his splendid action throughout the State.

THIS CELEBRATED

"COTTON" FERTILIZER,

has won such a marked and extensive reputation throughout the cotton growing region of North Carolina and Virginia; and has been so extensively used and almost universally praised that we deem it TOO WELL KNOWN TO REQUIRE ANY PRAISE AT OUR HANDS.

Its Merits Speak for Itself.

By the handsome yield it produces, and the large NET PROFITS realized from it.

Ask your neighbors who have tried it what they think of it. It PAYS A NET PROFIT of

OVER 100 PER CENT

N. B.—There will be only a certain LIMITED AMOUNT of this Fertilizer manufactured especially for OUR SUPPLY. Our friends, and the trade, will do well to send in their orders at once, to be booked ahead, and then they can order as they may need it.

The "Southern Fertilizing Company" use only the HIGHEST GRADE of available material known to Chemists, and MAINTAIN AND GUARANTEE a uniform standard.

This Fertilizer is sold by Merchants and Dealers generally, at all the principal Cities, Towns and Stations, throughout North Carolina and Virginia.

SPECIAL AGENTS:

C. W. GRANDY & SONS,

COTTON FACTORS

Norfolk, Va.

We have the exclusive control of the "COTTON" FERTILIZER for North Carolina and southeastern Virginia. This Fertilizer can be had upon the following terms:

Cash Basis.

$60 Per Ton, at our Warehouse. Drayage 50 Cents Per Ton Additional.

Orders for 5 Tons and Upwards 4 Per Cent Discount.
" " 10 " " " 6 " "
" " 20 " " " 8 " "
" " 30 " " " 10 " "
" " 50 " " " 12 " "

Cash orders must be accompanied by the Cash No discount allowed on Orders under Five Tons.

ON TIME, WITH APPROVED SECURITY

$65 Per Ton at our Warehouse. Drayage 50 Cents Per Ton Additional. Payable 1st November next, without Interest.

Orders for 20 Tons and upwards 10 per cent. Discount.

Orders for 20 Tons and upwards 8 per cent. Discount.

The Discount on time orders to be based on the Cash Value, $60 per ton.

No Discount allowed on time orders under 20 tons.

Orders MADE DIRECT or through any Cotton Factor, Commission Merchants or Dealers generally will receive prompt attention. Apply or send your orders to any Merchant or Dealer and if they have not got it they will order it for you: or the Farmers and Planters generally can form CLUBS and send their orders accompanied by the cash for lots of 5, 10, 20, 30 or 50 tons at the above rates of discount, respectively. No discounts allowed except for lots as named above. All letters of enquiry answered promptly. We do not consider it necessary to ask any one to buy this Fertilizer, but merely to announce HOW AND WHERE it may be had.

ADDRESS

C. W. GRANDY & SONS,

COTTON FACTORS, NORFOLK, VA.

SPECIAL AGENTS FOR THE SOUTHERN FERTILIZING COMPANY.

ALEX. CREFH'S.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TRADE, CONSUMERS OF DRY GOODS, &c.

MARBLE HALL

AND

TEMPLE OF FANY.

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

I take pleasure in announcing that my business has so largely increased and the demand is so great that it has constrained me to-day to

A MUCH LARGER AND MORE ATTRACTIVE STOCK THAN HERETOFORE.

My Goods are bought with every available advantage and doing business at a very small per centage I am able to offer INDUCEMENTS IN PRICES that are rarely equalled. My

DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT

was never more complete, embracing all new Fabrics and every new Shade, from the most delicate to the most brilliant. Call and examine my

BLACK SILKS,
JAPANESE SILKS,
IRISH POPLINS,
CASHMERES,
SATEENS,
ALPACAS, &c.

And a very large variety of Low Priced Dress Goods. My stock of Cassimeres, Piece Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes I am certain is unusually large and complete and you would be doing yourselves injustice if you were not to examine it before purchasing elsewhere.

THE SECOND AND THIRD FLOORS are almost exclusively devoted to

WHOLESALING,

both being filled to their utmost capacity with

GOODS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

to supply the Trade, and Country Merchants would find it to their interest to pay such a thorough examination before making their purchases, as I think I can offer rare bargains and special inducements. With A CORPS OF EXPERIENCED SALESMEN, ever ready to assist, I can sell, do sell, and will continue to sell as

CHEAP AS THE CHEAPEST.

No house in Raleigh can or shall undersell me. It matters not what the goods are purchased in Europe or the United States, and there will be no three reasons:

1st. I am alone, and have no law or three partners to divide my profits with.

2nd. I have leased my store house at a merx nominal rent.

3d. I believe in the great principle of LIVE AND LET LIVE—Quick sales and Small Profits.

4th. I have large experience, buy at the lowest misnor figures, and with the best facilities.

Earnestly, the best of teachers, has long since informed the people that is the place to buy their goods, and as heretofore I shall always

CHEECH'S

REPRESENT GOODS AS THEY ARE.

Returning thanks for past favors, I hope to secure your patronage in the future.

Respectfully yours,
ALEX. CREECH.
Raleigh, N. C.

Marble Hall, Fayetteville St.
april 16 tf.

Cutler's Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iroding Inhalant.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption if taken in season. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. All Druggists have it for sale, neatly put up with Inhalant enough for 3 months' use Price $2 00. Free by mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular.

W. H. SMITH & Co., Prop'rs,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Jan 28 6m

SIXTH ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE

NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE CO.,

OF THE UNITED STATES AMERICA, JAN. 1, 1874

Receipts for 1873	$1,446,594.34
Disbursements for 1873	885,360.11
Net Increase in Assets during the year	$657,544.13

ASSETS.

Cash in Bank and in Trust Co	$151,133.01
U. S., State, and City Bonds, Market value	368 318.75
Loans secured by First Mortgage	1,027,749.05
Loans fully secured by Bonds and Stocks	83,342.81
Loans secured by Policies of this and other Companies	72,435.00
Accrued Interest and Premiums in course of Collection	79,970.85
Deferred Premiums	113,708.72
Due from other Companies for Reinsurance	19 123.13
All other Assets	33,068.62
Total assets, Jan. 1, 1874	$2,283,541.56

LIABILITIES.

Reserve on all Policies under which the Company is liable	$1,929,329.00
Death Claims, not due, and all other liabilities	107,758.77
Total Liabilities, Jan. 1, 1874	$2,037,087.77
SURPLUS	$1,254,403.79

POLICIES.	AMOUNT.
In force January 1, 1874...11 934	$27,984,753
" " 1873...9,190	21,850,068

Net increase during the year 2,744 $6 534,45

A National Co.,—is licensed by Congress—Cash Capital, $1,000,000, a strong Stock Co., Low rates of Premium.

Office, 315 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia

S. A. ROLLINS, Pres. E. W. PEET, Vice-Pres. and Act'y. J. M BUTLER, Sec. F. G. SMITH, M. D Medical Director.

March 4-1w

W. F. KORNEGAY,

Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE,

COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.

Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them. Jan 28-tf

PIEDMONT & ARLINGTON LIFE

INSURANCE CO.,

OF VIRGINIA.

POLICIES ISSUED - - - - - 20,000
ANNUAL INCOME - - - - $1,500,000

Expense of management, less than that of any Company of same age, in America.

Over $900,000 paid to widows and orphans. Insurance for $2 exceeded that of 1871 by 50 per cent.—She is the only Southern Company that has passed the Insurance Departments of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, &c., and has established successful agencies in those States.

DR. C. D. RICE, General Agent
June 11-12m. Raleigh, N.

WE WANT 1,000 FIRST-CLASS BOOK AGENTS

at once, to sell two of the most popular works ever published:

U. S. BONDS a record of private life at Fort Delaware, by Rev. I. W. K. Handy.

AND

MARSHALL'S LIFE OF

Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Send for Circular at once.

TURNBULL BROTHERS,
Baltimore, Md.

Jan 28-2m

OPIUM EATERS!

We have been cured. If you wish sure and painless relief, address us, (role Southern Agents for Squire's "Opium Cure") with return stamp, at Selma, Ala.

DR. H. S. PAISLEY.
DR. E. C. DUNKLIN.

March 4-2w

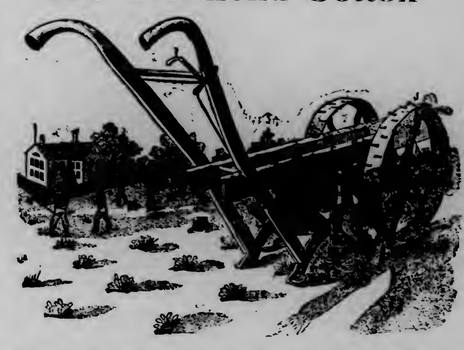
JONESVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

YADKIN COUNTY, N. C.

REV. T. S. WHITTINGTON, A. M., Principal.

The Spring Session will open January, 13th, 1874. For Circulars address the Principal, at Jonesville, Ogburs
Jan. 7-3m

The Diamond Cotton



CHOPPER AND CULTIVATOR

THIS INVALUABLE MACHINE, the recent invention of J. B. USHERWOOD of Fayetteville, N. C., is unquestionably the GREATEST LABOR SAVER of the age and bids fair to be to the Cotton Planter what the McCormick Reaper and Mower is to the Western Farmer. It, at one operation, chops, bars both sides, weeds and dirts the cotton more effectually than can be done by the hoe—thus doing the work of from SIX men and from TWO to FOUR horses, with but ONE man and ONE horse. For the Chopping, it is converted into a most excellent CULTIVATOR, in the shape of HARROW SWEEP, for one between the rows throughout the season. It has been thoroughly tried upon the crop of 1873, and bears the highest testimonials of its perfect success. It took the GOLD MEDAL at the Georgia State Fair, as the most important and latest improvement in Agricultural implements, and the Finest Implement everywhere it has been exhibited.

Price of Machine with attachments, $35 and Freight.

For circulars and further information address

A. G. LEE & McJAKIN,
Agents for CHOPPER at Raleigh, N. C.
(A Sample Machine is on exhibition at their Store. Call and examine

McCALLUM, WYCKOFF & HOPE,

SUCCESSORS TO

SEPARKS, HICKS & CO.,

Engineers, Iron Founders and Machinists,

RALEIGH, N. C.,

Manufacturers of

STATIONARY ENGINES, BOILERS, COTTON GINS, COTTON PRESSES, MILL, AND MINE MACHINERY, SAW MILLS, MACHINERY IN GENERAL AND PLOWS.

Of the most improved patterns. STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS and all classes of Machinery repaired in a workmanlike way with promptness.

Castings of all descriptions furnished to order at short notice. All kinds of Plows formerly made by Separks, Hicks & Co., are being manufactured, and are low, all and of the best material and workmanship.

Mr. J. H. Separks will remain with us in charge of the Foundry.

We will pay the highest price for old castings and want immediately 100,000 pounds.

March 11-12m

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

MALE AND FEMALE.

R. P. TROY, A. M., Principal.
MRS. R. P. TROY, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January, 5th 1874.

Board per

Youth's Department.

AN OBEDIENT SON.—A boy was tempted by some of his companions to pluck some ripe cherries from a tree his father had forbidden him to touch.

"You need not be afraid," said they; "for if your father should find out you had taken them, he is so kind he would not hurt you."

"That is the very reason," replied the boy, "why I should not touch them. It is true my father may not hurt me; yet my disobedience, I know, would hurt my father, and that would be worse to me than anything else."

Was not this an excellent reason?

"Hold on, Sam."

In the life of Samuel Hicks, one of John Wesley's preachers, is an incident which may sometimes be of use to those who solicit funds for the cause of Christian benevolence. Hicks was a blacksmith by trade; but he was constrained by the love of Christ to preach the Gospel, and he continued in the work forty-two years, until his death. He was a most active propagator of the doctrines of Wesley, and a man of unconquerable faith. So bold and mighty was his spirit of prayer, that he often did almost incredible things, and received almost incredible answers. He, once, in company with his brother, visited the place of his birth, to collect money for a chapel. He proposed to call on a man who was well known to be very wealthy but penurious. The brother thought it would be of no use. But Hicks went and begged for a contribution, and received in return an absolute refusal. At once he was upon his knees, praying for the stingy sinner. "Hold on, Sam," exclaimed he; "I will give you half a crown." But Sam continued saying to the Lord that that was far too little for such a rich man. Suddenly he exclaimed again, "Hold on; I will give you two crowns." Sam now rose from his knees, and bore away the answer to his prayer.

A desperate case demands a desperate remedy. When men beg for Christ, sometimes a bold stroke is the wisest stroke. Conscience is arrayed against avarice; and when conscience and Christ both plead against an avaricious spirit, the avaricious has the worst of it. —The Sendbote.

The Last Half Hour.

Dr. Alexander was often heard to say in substance as follows: Clergymen, authors, teachers, and other men of reflective habits, lose much health by losing sleep, and this because they carry their trains of thought to bed with them. In my early years I greatly injured my health by studying my sermons in bed. The best thing one can do is to take care of the last half hour before retiring. Devotion being ended, something may be done to quiet the strings of the harp, which otherwise would go on to vibrate. Let me commend to you this maxim, which I somewhere learned from Dr. Watts, who says that in his boyhood he received it from the lips of Dr. John Owen—a very good pedigree for a maxim: Break the chain of thoughts by bed-time by something at once serious and agreeable. By all means break the continuity, or sleep will be vexed, even if not driven away. If you wish to know my method, it is to turn over the pages of my English Bible, alighting on a passage here, a passage there, backward and forward, without plan, and without allowing my mind to fasten on any, leaving any place the moment it ceases to interest me. Some tranquilizing word often becomes a divine blessing of peace. "He giveth his beloved sleep."

Begin all With Prayer.

To omit prayer is to go to battle having left our weapons in the tent: is to go to our daily labor without the strength imparted by a morning meal; is to attempt the bar where breakers roar and rocks hide their rugged heads without taking our pilot on board. If, from a sense of weakness, Moses on Sinai's thundering, flashing, quaking mount, exclaimed, "If Thy presence go not with me, let us not go up," well may we say of the world, with its daily trials and temptations, works and warfare, Unless thy presence go with us, let us not go down. Therefore ought men, unless in very rare circumstances always, morning and even, to pray. Thus, like soldiers on the morning of the conflict, we grind our swords for battle with the world, the devil and the flesh; and thus, when the day's combat is over, retiring to pray, we apply a healing ointment, the balm of Gilead, to the wounds of conscience; and thus, as a begrimed workman on coming home repairs at eventide to bathe in flowing river or swelling sea, we resort to prayer to wash away sins, daily guilty stains in the fountain of Jesus' blood.

Rural and Domestic.

The Cracking of Fruit by Rain.

Almost every one has noticed that juicy fruits, such as plums, peaches, grapes, tomatoes, etc., will be cracked by a rain. The phenomenon has been of painfully frequent occurrence the past season, and the losses to some growers have on this account been heavy. The cracking has been explained in various ways, but we think it is properly attributed by Bousingault to osmose. If a bladder filled with sirup be immersed in a vessel of water the water will, after awhile, become sweet; the sirup passes through the membrane of the bladder into the water, and correspondingly the water passes into the interior of the bladder. But this interchange is not an equal one: the lighter liquid—the water—passes in many times more rapidly than the heavier liquid—the sirup—passes out. The consequence will be that the bladder will be distended to its utmost, and at length burst. This is a general law, that where two liquids of unequal densities are separated by a membrane, whether animal or vegetable, they will interchange, the weaker liquid passing more rapidly than the denser one, and this will be kept up until the liquid upon both sides of the membrane is of the same density. A ripe tomato or plum may be considered in the condition of the bladder of sirup. The rich juices of the fruit correspond to the sirup, and the thin membrane which forms the skin of the fruit represents the bladder. When the ripe fruit is kept constantly wet with water by a rain osmose takes place, and the water passing through into the fruit distends the skin, which, not being very strong, is soon ruptured. If the fruit were to be surrounded by a liquid denser than its juices it would, instead of expanding and breaking, shrink, and the skin become shriveled. When strawberries or currants are sprinkled with sugar a sirup is soon formed by some of the juice of the fruit, and this being considerably denser than the juices of the berries they are soon flabby and shriveled.

The Boston Journal of Chemistry gives the following receipt for that beautiful and instructive parlor experiment known as imitation frost-crystals: Dissolve four hundred and fifty-six grains of nitrate of lead in six fluid ounces of water. If the solution is turbid filter through paper. Place the solution contained in a glass vessel on the table where it is intended to remain, and drop into it two hundred grains of sal ammoniac—chloride of ammonium—in long, fibrous crystals. Soon small crystals of chloride of lead will form, and ascend through the denser liquid, presenting the appearance of an ascending snow storm. When the lead is all precipitated the crystals will begin to descend as a genuine miniature snow storm forming grotesque masses resembling a winter's landscape. If the vessel containing the crystal is not disturbed it often preserves its beauty for weeks.

SAVE THE LARGEST GOBBLER.—In selecting the male turkey to preserve for breeding purposes, the necessity of picking out the largest and most perfect, as regards form and vigor, may well be urged upon everybody who keeps this very profitable farm stock. Let it constantly be borne in mind that size is a great desideratum in a gobbler kept for breeding. We are aware that the American passion for size has sometimes operated to the detriment of poultry. But in turkeys size can be secured without danger.—William Cliff, in Poultry World.

HOW MR. BEEKMAN FEEDS HIS COWS IN WINTER.—His bill of fare for winter is twenty pounds of clover hay, one peck roots and four quarts fine corn meal. That will be the average; if any cow wishes more she gets it. A good cow always pays for what she eats.

Recipes

COFFEE CAKE.—One cup of butter, 1 cup of molasses, 1 cup of coffee (rather strong), 1 pound of raisins, 1 pound of dried currants, ½ pound of citron, 1 tablespoonful of cinnamon, 1 teaspoonful of soda dissolved in warm water. Mix together the butter and sugar, stir in the molasses with the spices, then put in the coffee and soda, and add the flour gradually, stirring the mixture well. Lastly, mix in the fruit alternately, thickly dredged with flour. Use as much as half a cup in dredging. After mixing thoroughly it is ready for baking. Line the bottom of the pan with greased paper, and bake with paper over the top, in a slow oven, from two to three hours being the time required for baking.

—Faith has an influence upon all nature graces. It is like a silver thread that runs through a chain of pearls, it puts strength and vivacity in all other graces.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The great Antagonist of Disease.

What is the natural antagonist of disease? It is the vital principle. From the moment that disease is developed in the system, this champion fights the intruder until it either conquers or is conquered. Why, then, should medicinal science espouse in this life and death struggle? Should it depress and cripple the physical energies of the patient, thereby helping the disorder, or should it reinforce the vitality of the patient and thereby assist in quelling the ailment? Of course the proper answer to this question must be given by every one above the grade of an idiot or a lunatic, and hence it follows that the weak and broken down invalid is he who chooses to dose himself with deplorating slops, instead of toning, invigorating and vitalizing his enervated frame with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, must be either feeble minded or deranged.—Surely nothing short of imbecility or insanity could induce a person laboring under bodily weakness and nervous prostration, to take day after day powerful doses of some drastic purgative in the hope of gaining strength thereby. Although charlatans may advertise preparations of this character as tonics, people in the full possession of their reason cannot, one would think, accept them as such. If they do the penalty of their credulity may be the shortening of their lives. The rheumatic, the dyspeptic, the bilious, the debilitated and nervous, and all who are subject to intermittents, or other diseases brought on by the inclement which prevails at this season, will do well to strengthen their nerves, tone their stomachs and regulate their bowels with the Bitters. The two-fold operation of the restorative as an invigorant and an aperient, in addition to its direct and specific effect upon the disordered liver, renders it a most efficient remedy for complaints of the digestive, secretive and excretive organs, at present in use. This fact is conceded by eminent members of the faculty whose testimony to that effect is published in Hostetter's Almanac for 1874.

March 4-1m.

Let the people Speak.

MANHATTAN, Kan., April 5, 1875.

Dear Sir—Your Favorite Prescription has done my wife a world of good. She has taken nearly two bottles and has felt better the past two weeks than at any time in the past two years. No more periodical pains; none of that aching back or dragging sensation in her stomach as has been accustomed to for several years. I have so much confidence in it that I would be perfectly willing to warrant to certain customers of ours who would be glad to get hold of relief at my expense. I have tried many Patent Medicines, but never had any occasion to rebel one before.

Very truly yours,
GEO. B. WHITING.

MRS. E. E. DAVIS, Metropolis, all writes, Jan. 9th 1875:

"Dr. R. V. Pierce—My sister is using the Favorite Prescription with great benefit."

MARY ANN FRIESEN, Lehman, Pa., writes, May 29 1873:

"Dr. R. V. Pierce—What I have taken of your medicine has been of more benefit to me than all others and hundreds of doctors' bills."

To have the money needlessly spent every year would give substantial comfort to almost every person. To have the money saved by buying SILVER TIPPED boots and shoes would buy each parent every year a new pair of shoes.

March 11 6w.

The Household Panacea and Family Liniment is the best remedy in the world for the following complaints, viz: Cramp in the Limbs and Stomach, Pain in the Stomach, Bowels or Side, Rheumatism in all its forms, Bilious Colic, Neuralgia, Cholera, Dysentery, Colds, Fresh Wounds, Burns, Sore Throat, Spinal Complaints, Sprains and Bruises, Chills and Fever. Purely Vegetable and All-healing. For Internal and external use. Prepared by CURTIS & BROWN, No 215 Fulton Street, New York, and for sale by al druggists.

July 3-1 w.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

DR. C. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders distinctly, and take none but Dr. C. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those sending a five dollar bill, we will forward per mail, post-paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve cents per package, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen cents—stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Stores keepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If you would have your children grow up to be healthy, strong, and vigorous, MEN and WOMEN, give them a few doses of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,

TO EXPEL THE WORMS.

Be BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND,

A Consumptive Cured.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, accident led to a discovery whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. There is not a single symptom of consumption that it does not dissipate—Night Sweats, Irritation of the Nerves, Difficult Expectoration, Sharp Pains in the Lungs, Nausea at the Stomach, Inaction of the Bowels, and Wasting of the Muscles. Address CHARDOCK & CO., 1627 Race Street, Philadelphia Pa., giving name of this paper.

Nov. 25-6m.

Marion High School.

The exercises of the Marion High School for young ladies and girls are in progress, and will be continued until Nov. 20th, except one week in July. Tuition in English, Scientific and Mathematic courses per term of 20 weeks, from $10 to $25. Ancient and Modern languages each $5. Music on Piano $20, per term. Use of instrument $3. Board $2 per month. For particulars apply to

S. E. TRAWICK, A. M. Prin.

feb 18—3m.

Established 1840.

B. W. PAYNE, E. S. PAYNE, D. W. PAYNE.

B. W. PAYNE & SONS,

Corning Foundry and Machine Shop,

CORNING, STEUBEN CO. N. Y.

Manufacturers of

Stationary Engines, Boilers and

Spark-Arresting Portable Engines

For Plantation Use.

Delivered Free on Board Ship in New York City.

Send for Circular.

Feb 25-1y

JAMES LEFFEL'S IMPROVED DOUBLE Turbine Water Wheel.

POOLE & HUNT, Baltimore.

MANUFACTURERS FOR THE NORTH AND SOUTHWEST.

Nearly 7000 now in use, working under heads varying from 2 to 240 feet; 24 sizes, from 5½ to 96 inches.

The most powerful Wheel in the Market,
And most economical in use of Water.
Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free.

MANUFACTURERS, ALSO, OF

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Boilers Babcock & Wilcox Patent Tubulous Boiler, Ellsworth's Crusher for Minerals, Saw and Grist Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Machinery for White Lead Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.

SEND FOR CIRCULARS.

Feb 25-6m

B 4 U ORDER SEEDS, C Briggs & Brother's

January Quarterly,

The finest FLORAL WORK ever issued in this country. Published Quarterly—Each Four numbers sent to any address for 25 cts. Containing 320 Illustrated and Descriptive Catalogue of the Seeds, Bulbs and Plants sold by BRIGGS & BROTHER, Seedsmen and Florists, Rochester, New York, together with elaborate treatises upon the successful cultivation of the same. Over 1000 Premiums won in the United States in 1872 upon the products of BRIGGS & BROTHERS SEEDS.

The January number for 1875 will be worth more than a $2.00 Book. Customers for one dollar or upward become subscribers.

We challenge comparison on prices, reliability of Seeds, and size of packets. Address,

BRIGGS & BROTHER,
Rochester, N. Y.

March 4-4w

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of MERCURY, or any injurious mineral substance, but is

PURELY VEGETABLE.

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

Is eminently a Family Medicine, and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all climates and changes of water and food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA,

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA.

Price, $1.00. Sold by all Druggists,

Feb 18-12m

250,000 COPIES SOLD OF RICHARDSON'S NEW METHOD FOR THE PIANO FORTE!!

This the par excellence of all Piano Methods, maintains the front rank, and its sale eclipses that of all others—Foreign or American—combined. The Publication of the 250th thousand copies in India but adds proof of positive and intrinsic merit, and its success is no mystery, but due to thorough excellence in all its departments—Rudimental and instructive; to its valuable exercises as well as its charming selections.

A new edition just issued, containing "Schumann's Maxims" and the famous "Kroeger's Letters on the Art of Playing the Piano." "Richardson's New Method," thus contains over 260 pages full musicscore, and is justly claimed to be the best Piano Method extant.

PRICE, $3 75.

Used by thousands of teachers and sold by all Book and Music Dealers.

PUBLISHED BY

OLIVER DITSON & CO., CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.

Boston. 711 Br'dway, N. York.

May 11 12m.

FURNITURE.

W. H. Morris & Co.,

No. 3 Fayetteville Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Chamber Sets, Cottage Chamber Sets, Parlor Sets, Dining Room Sets, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Wardrobes, Washstand, Tables, Safes, Lounges, Spring Beds, of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Marble top centre tables &c.

ALSO

keep constantly on hand and make to order all kinds of Mattresses, such as pure Carded Hair, Cotton and Shuck. Excelsior and Shuck Mattresses. Old Hair Mattresses renovated and made as good as new.

No trouble to show goods. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

Oct 29-6m. W. A. MORRIS & CO

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases: 1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Farsight-dness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring; 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Epiphora, Running or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—speedily treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages; 8. Amaurosis, or loss of vision from the effects of Inflammation; 9. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 10. Overwrought Eyes; 10. Mydriopsis—myings specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of sight.

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without the aid of doctor or medicine, as a cure or immediate benefit is realized and never a question asked. If not as represented by them send back. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,360 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from some 1 Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 25 Hon Hugo Kreisly, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or misrepresentation."

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 25th, 1870: "Without my spectacles I can read the finest print, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS five days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a page accurately, and all with the naked eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your invaluable invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles exactly 20 years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1870: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased wit them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Wm. Realy, M. D., Salvia Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blinded for 26 years.

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atelier, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently a three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYESIGHT, of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co., P. O. Box 957, No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worst cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste an more money in adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face.

AGENTS WANTED,

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Send free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

P. O. Box 95.
Sept 5-12m.

$20.000 WANTED.

The Trustees of Greensboro Female College wish to borrow any part of the above amount in sums to suit parties having money to loan. They will give the note of the corporation with satisfactory personal endorsers, paying interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum. The principal will be paid when required upon reasonable notice and the interest annually. If the friends of the College will loan us the amount it will help the institution and we think will be a perfectly safe investment. Please address the undersigned.

N. H. D. WILSON.
President Board Trustees.

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE LENOIR, N. C.

The Spring session for 1874 will open on Monday, Jan. 12th.

Board and Tuition per session, with music, vocal and instrumental, $110 00

Traveling preachers' daughters, tuition free.

Board and Tuition always in advance.

Send for a catalogue.

Address,
REV. W. M. ROBEY, Pres.

nov 19-3mos.

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Sunday, Dec. 7th, 1873.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte	7.00 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Air-Line J'nct'n	7.13 "	8 50 "
" Salisbury	10 09 "	10.47 "
" Greensboro'	8.15 A. M.	1.15 P. M.
" Danville	5.26 "	5.27 "
" Burkville	11.46 "	8.06 "
Arrive at Richmond	8.30 P. M.	11.00 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond	1.45 P. M.	4.06 A. M.
" Burkville	4.58 "	8.25 "
" Danville	9.52 "	1.03 P. M.
" Greensboro'	1.16 A. M.	4.09 "
" Salisbury	3.06 "	6.38 "
" Air-Line Junc'n	4.22 "	8.51 "
Arrive at Charlo. te	6.30 A. M.	9 40 "

GOING EAST.		GOING WEST
STATIONS.	MAIL		MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'	2.00 A. M.	Daily except Sunday	Arrive 12.30 A. M
" Co. Steps			10.25 "
" Raleigh			6 00 "
Arrive at Goldsboro'			Leave 3 00 P. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro' ..... 4.30 P. M.
Arrive at Salem ..... 6.25 P. M.
Leave Salem ..... 8 00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro' ..... 10.00 A. M.

Mail trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.45 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.20 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.35 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, without change.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873.

On and after Monday, Oct. 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	9.35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	3.50 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.20 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.20 A. M.
Arrive at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hamlet and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. Road will run daily, (Sunday excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	5.25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.2 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	3.45 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	8.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.15 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	2.40 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection at Weldon with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad. Accommodation and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N.C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Buist's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at

PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S

Drug Store.

Jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS,

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson's Drug Store.

Oct. 22 6m.

A new work of intense INTEREST and intrinsic VALUE

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley."

A graphic History of Ocean Navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling incidents, fearful disasters, pinolee, perils, &c. ABOVE, also the WONDERS BENEATH the sea, Diving, Dredging, Telegraphing &c., 225 spirited Illustrations. Agents just started report 101 orders in four days, 127 in five days, 75 in two days &c.; sells wonderfully fast. 8000 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and circulars, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, 723 Sansom St. Phila.

Sept 15-12m.

BRINLY PLOWS

BEST AND CHEAPEST IN USE.

Have taken over 250 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List and certificates of planters who use them.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS

BRINLY, HIKES & HARDY,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Sept 24-6m.

FOR SALE.

A fine Carriage, two single Dump Carts, a set of Carriage Harness and Harness for the Carts. Sold together or separately. Apply early to

A. G. LEE & McMACKIN.

Feb 18-tf

T. W. GUTHRIE, Rockingham, N. C. GEO. A. NEWELL, Wilmington, N. C.

"BLEES"

Link-Motion, Lock-Stitch, Shuttle

NOISELESS

Hems, Braids, Gathers, Tucks, Ruffles, Cords, Binds, Frills, Quilts, Gathers, &c., &c.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Uses the straight needle, and will do the greatest range and variety of work of any machine ever before offered to the public.

Challenges the world in perfection of work, strength and beauty of stitch, durability of construction and rapidity of motion.

Reliable agents wanted for every county in the State, to whom liberal terms will be given.

NEWELL & GUTHRIE, General Agents
No. 8 South Front Street,
Wilmington, N. C.

nov 26-tf

ÆTNA FIRE CO.

Assets, $5.782.635.09.

W. H. CROW, Agent,

Raleigh, N. C.

mar 6-12m.

ÆTNA LIFE COMPANY,

JANUARY 1873.

ASSETS, - - - $18.077.540.66

Represented in North Carolina, and Va., South of James River by

W. H. CROW, Manager.

OFFICE, Raleigh.

WILLIAMSON, UPCHURCH & THOMAS

WHOLESALE GROCERS

—AND—

Commission Merchants,

FAYETTEVILLE ST.,

OPPOSITE METROPOLITAN HALL,

R. P. WILLIAMSON, W. G. UPCHURCH, J. J. THOMAS, Jr. } RALEIGH, N. C

oct 1-tf

WATSON'S GALLERY

—OF—

PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South, where every style of Photographic likeness is executed from the smallest ambrotype, to the large Portrait colored in oil. If you have the likeness of a deceased relative or friend, you can have it enlarged and colored to nature. Photographic Albums and Picture Frames always on hand, in great variety, at low prices. When you come to Raleigh, do not fail to call at WATSON'S GALLERY and door above Tucker Hall.

J. W. WATSON.

Dec 18-12

THE VICTOR SEWING MACHINE TRIUMPHANT!

It is the very best Machine in the world, and has taken the first premium at every Fair wherever it has been exhibited!

Our New Patent Shuttle is the Simplest and only Perfect one in use.

The Only Lock-Stitch Machine that has a Self-Setting Needle.

It has a straight and self setting needle. The needle cannot be set wrong. A self-adjusting tension. No difficulty in passing from light to heavy, or heavy to light goods. A new PATENT SHUTTLE the best, simplest, and easiest threaded. The only earlier is free from all friction. It has no springs, wires or cogs. The lightest running and simplest in use. All genuine machines stamped. Buy no other machine if you want the best.

Persons who will send direct to our office for machines will receive a discount amounting to the agent's commission and thus get their machines at wholesale prices. This is a home enterprise, and in such places where we have no agents established.

Agents wanted in every county. Better terms given than any other Company.

Address

Rev. C. H. PENNIMAN,
General Agent, Concord, N. C.

J. M. BROUGHTON, Raleigh, N. C.,
Agent for Central North Carolina.

oct 1—1y

BUFFALO STAINED GLASS WORKS

23 Pearl Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

☞ Specimen Sent on application.

mar 20—12m.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,

102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati.

apr 16—12m.

STIEFF'S PIANOS.

UPWARDS OF FIFTY

FIRST PREMIUMS

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

Were awarded to CHARLES M. STIEFF, for the Best Pianos, in competition with all the leading manufacturers in the country.

WAREROOMS AND WAREROOMS:—No. 9 N. Liberty Street, Baltimore, Md.

The Superiority of the Unrivalled Stieff Piano Forte, is conceded by all who have compared it with others, in their New Grand Square Scale, 7⅓ Octaves, the manufacturer has succeeded in making the most perfect Piano Forte possible.

Prices will be found as reasonable as consistent with thorough workmanship.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos always on hand, from $50 to $300.

We are agents for the celebrated Burdett Cabinet Parlor and Church Organs, all styles and prices, to suit every one, guaranteed to be fully equal to any made.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 1500 Southerners, 1500 of whom are Virginians, 200 North Carolinians, 150 East Tennesseeans and others throughout the South, who have bought the Stieff Piano since the close of the war.

april 6-12m.

WIRE RAILING & ORNAMENTAL Wire Works.

DUTTER & CO.,

26 North Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.

Manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, &c., Statuary, FENCES, CAGES, SAND AND COAL SCREENS, WOVEN WIRE, &c. Also, IRON BEDSTEADS CHAIRS, SETTEES, &c., &c.

Feb 18-12m

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD!

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

NO. 141 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary.

Wm. M. COLE, Secretary.
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., L.L.D., Med. Director

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES!

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium.

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enj

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 11. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,009.

Selected Poetry.

Hidden Beauties.

BY L. T. GOLTBROOK.

In the churches in the city of Rome,
Hung up in the grand old days,
The master hand of each artist had traced
Choicest, whose shroud never leave been defaced.

Through the curtains so thick and dark,
Which veiled the pictures and marred the designs;
And there was a veil gathered thick and fast,
And the past.

And the pictures are meant for people who worship below.
And the pictures are meant to come and
Now the curtains hang on the wall so high,
Over the pictures so sacred hidden lie.

In the folds of the curtains wrapped in thought,
Are the pictures with no outline caught.
And the people who enter the church and hold
Lay the curtains back from the pictures old.

And the pictures are seen in the dim twilight,
And they gaze on them long and lay
The veil in the hand
Remember the pictures so grand.

And the light from the chapel with radiance
The pictures so delightful, laughed and wept
The lights and the shadows each picture had kept.

So the curtains of trials that hide
Are sometimes but blessings in disguise,
Which, if we will understand,
Will be taken away,
And the beauties and Light clear.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

"Plain Talk" About Protestants.

We have several times received b[ooks] and tracts publications in the int[erest] of the Roman Catholic ch[urch]. some of them are of the very lowest order of polemics; no Protestant intelligence would be off[ended] by their perusal. They are w[ritten] in a style which shows a deep co[nviction], edited by a sincere de[sire] to convert Protestants of their pr[ejudices] to submit their sanity by the c[ontrol] in which it is attempted to persuade them of the certainty of catholic truth as it is sta[ted] and decided by an infallible au[thority] and of the uncertainty which necessarily follows from the freedom of private investigation. Their logical [reasons] are founded on the naked assumption that after our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ had completed His work of redemption and ascended up to God from whence he came, he gave the Apostles full power to perfect the plan of salvation, through the instrumentality of which the world might be saved and beyond which there could be no further divine intervention whatever that plan was made known. As creation is the development of God's infinite attributes, from which work he ceased, into which he entered, and in which he now conducts himself, except through the medium of the visible universe, so the Lord of Glory, after the Apostles had completed the plan of grace and mercy, by the formation of the Catholic Church, ceased to work directly in perfecting what he had begun so gloriously, retired into the Catholic church, put himself in bonds never to save a sinner except through the mediation of the catholic priesthood, as the most essential means, instituted by him and his apostles.

As corollaries from such naked assumptions the Lord Jesus Christ is in the Popish church to secure his infallibility, and explained to him with grace sufficient for the whole world of sinners, that the blessed Jesus has hid himself in the sacraments, out of which he declines to operate on the human mind and heart, and therefore Protestants who do not believe in the infallibility of the Pope, are in a worse condition with respects their final salvation than the heathens, who have never heard of the Pope; indeed they are in a state of danger with all their pretended purity and devotion, their high moral attainments, than the Catholic who daily carries about a rotten carcass of sin and misery, which the Priest can remove in the agonies of death, or purge out by his prayers when he is dead. These are the conclusions into which we have arrived by a careful reading of Catholicism in its most imposing and unobjectionable form.—We prefer to live an infidel Pantheist, pure and unadulterated, according to the philosophy of Spinoza, than to be a Pantheistic Catholic, who, with all his sensibilities, can still see the Queen Host enveloped in a wafer.—This much we declare concerning the [tracts] and books and pamphlets which have been sent us by a sincere, devoted friend who has been praying for our conversion for the last thirty years.

But there is another class of writers of tracts, who, by false issues, particular cases and false facts, clothed in such abhorrent language that we are induced to believe that their pens were dipped not only in gall and bitterness, but in an element as dark, malignant and murderous as that which stirred the heart of Cain.—"Plain Talk" about Protestants is a tract of this order. "19 editions of which had been published in France up to 1836, and six hundred thousand sold. So says the Right Reverend Joannes Josephus, Episcopus Boston, whose imprint appears on the tract as it is republished by "Patrick Donohoe 1848." Twenty-five copies for $5, with a "note to the Publisher," which says:

"You ask me, dear sir," what makes me so anxious to publish this work in America?" Well! I wish it, for the sake of Catholic children attending common schools.—for Catholic girls living out in families—for Catholic boys serving their time—of all dear and poor friends so often wounded in the affections dearest to their hearts whose religion is so often attacked in rude words."

This tract is a specimen of word painting by a French artist. It would furnish a large gallery with pictures, whose expression ascends from the agreeable to the beautiful, the grand and sublime, and descends to the ridiculous, to the horrible, until it reaches that of devils incarnate. On the ascending scale are catholics, ancients, and the newly converted archbishops, Bishops,and numerous saints, reading the Bible on their knees, bathing its pages with their tears: and lastly, Bishop Ives, late Protestant Bishop of North Carolina, "on his knees at the Pope's feet, confessing with tears his rebellion." This picture is so graphic, the writer seems "to hold the mirror up to nature," without extenuation or "aught set down in malice" We present the original. In copying we might mar it. "On the 26th of December, 1852. Bishop Ives made his profession of faith in the Pope's private chapel.—Throwing himself on his knees before the Holy Father, he presented to him the ring and the seal—the insignia of the eminent place he whilom occupied among the Protestants, and resigned them, with the cross he wore on solemn occasions, "Holy Father," he said with tears, "here are the marks of my rebellion!"

"They shall be henceforward the token of your submission, and as such, go and lay them on St. Peter's tomb," replied the vicar of Jesus Christ.

The dramatic effect of such a picture no man can resist, who has been staying at the "Halfway House." He ought certainly to go forward and do likewise, or to come back, and take his position in the Protestant church, without the paraphernalia of "the Mother of Harlots." If his mind is still unquiet let him read "the Trials of Mind," a small book published by Dr. Ives after he had "honestly sought the truth and found it;" the argument of which rests on the assumption, by Protestants of a "Priesthood" in the Christian church, divinely constituted, and descending from the Apostles by an unbroken chain of succession: the links of which can be as readily counted as the men who have successively held the place of Governor in the State of North Carolina. Should that remedy fail to give relief to "serious" minds, we recommend the "Plain Talk" with Protestants. No man lives who reads and believes one tenth part of its statements, who would not think it just as safe to jump into the center of Vesuvius, to escape an earthquake, as it would be to fly to Protestantism to escape the terrible shaking which is now felt through the whole Catholic world.

But this tract was not published for men of intelligence and discernment, but for the sake of Catholic boys and girls going to common schools,—girls living out in families who are non-catholics or Protestants, of boys serving out their time—and of all dear and poor friends, who are warned when "attacked in rude words," or when they hear the gentle words of charity and sympathy, that an enemy is equally near, the one chewing the green morsel of slander, and the other the bread of deceit will afterwards fill his mouth with gravel. Well may Joannes Josephus Episcopus Boston so anxiously desire the publication of "Plain Talk" in Protestant America For how can any boy or girl be induced to turn away from Catholicism where every future is full of love and beauty and look without abhorrence on the deformities of Protestantism! On Martin Luther, whose counterfeit presentment is more horrible than the devil at which he threw his inkstand; represented on his "dying bed forlorn of God," despairing of salvation, blaspheming to the end, so long as any sound could be heard gurgling from the "old sinner's throat."

Calvin, more blood-thirsty in life than Herod, "died, devoured by vermin,—in great misery he gave up his rascally ghost, despairing of salvation, evoking the devils from the abyss, and uttering oaths most horrible, and blasphemies most frightful."

We conclude this article by observing that when any form of religion is so circumstanced as to require the aid of such Plain Talk to keep it from dying out, that religion must be very far gone from Christianity.

B. T. BLAKE.

For the Advocate.

Education.

BY E. L. P.

Every mother and father is an educator, for education begins with the cradle and ends with the grave. Every individual has an education of some sort. It may or may not have reference to the use of books. The man or woman who has never learned a letter has nevertheless received an education for good or evil. Education consists of being instructed in all things necessary for man to know, and every idea conveyed, whether by a mother's smile a father's frown, or a neighbor's remark, contributes to the stock of education which an individual acquires. Every thing that conveys an idea to the mind, or excites an impulse in the heart, becomes an instrument in education, and helps forward for weal or woe, the one who receives the impression.

The proper object of education is "to make life a success." That life only is a true success, which accomplishes its laudable undertakings in time, and secures its best interest for eternity. An individual may acquire, in this life, wealth, honor, or whatever else may seem good to enjoy, and such acquirements may be at the expense of good morals, and with disregard to all interest in the life to come. Such a life is not a true success. It is a failure in that which is the highest purpose of life, to all who understand their best interest.

The first great element of success is self control. Without this, it is quite impossible to accomplish any thing worthy of praise, either from God or man. This is the great balance-wheel, that is to regulate every thought emotion, or action in a person's life. Without it all is uncertainty. For this reason we may adopt as a maxim, worthy of our most earnest consideration, that, a low education that succeeds in teaching self-control, is far better than a high education that fails to teach self-control. This proposition needs no proof. A moment's reflection is sufficient to convince every person, that a ship laden with wood, and having a rudder, is more likely to bring profit to its owner, than a ship laden with gold, without a rudder. The first will reach the port, even through storms: the other is overturned even in a calm sea.

The second element of character necessary to success is a high moral standpoint. It is said that at the battle of Sebastopol the English wasted an immense amount of ammunition by having their batteries on a hill just a few feet too low. Discovering their disadvantage, they selected a hill a few feet higher, and then opened fire from that, as their stand point, when in a few hours, the great fortress surrendered. Many a man has failed in life because his moral standard was too low. He had firmness enough, but his morals needed toning up to a higher standard. He fought sin to a disadvantage, and wasted his life in a faithless endeavor to conquer an enemy that was too high for his low pitched batteries.

It has been well said, that, "ideas generate material conquests; mind is the master of matter; where there is most intellect there are the greatest human results" Therefore we should gather ideas from all available sources: for they are the ammunition, giving the propelling powers by which we are to conquer the world. But it matters not how much, nor how good our ammunition: if our batteries are too low, we shall fail. Whether your education be little or much, make your standard high; pray to God for the power of self-control, and thus you will make life an eminent success.

For the Advocate.

The Quakers---Sectarianism.

BRO. BOBBITT: On last Sunday, at Springfield, a large Quaker church, in the South-west part of Guilford county, persons were stationed at the door to distribute a small tract, the heading and substance in part as follows:

THE ONE-MAN SYSTEM.

1. The setting up of one man to be the sole and exclusive pastor, teacher, etc., of a Church is a human device, and forms a part of the wide spread corruption of Christianity.

2. Not only is the system without Apostolic authority or precedent, but it is irreconcilable with numerous exhortations: such, for example, as those addressed to the Church, or body of believers, at Corinth. (See 1 Cor. xiv.)

3. The one-man system has necessarily led to the establishment of a paid and professional ministry,against which the Church is repeatedly and solemnly warned, as an ever-fruitful source of corruption. A paid and humanly ordained priesthood is the main support of Popery, and of every other false system of religion.

This is pure sectarianism, and seems to be intended as an assault direct upon the other churches in this section. The Quakers form but a small body compared to the other religious denominations in this section. They have been treated with great considerations, and no one has assailed them.—They do not take the sacrament, nor baptize, but no one has assailed them. They are supposed to be inoffensive in all respects. In this tract containing eleven paragraphs, all to the same purpose, they intend to assail the ministry, as to appointment, support and service, in all the churches. The terms used are pointed and rather bitter. This is intolerant and presumptuous. They are too small a body, have too few men of learning, and too little acquaintance with the spiritualities of the Gospel to so sweepingly condemn, and anathematize fifty thousand times their own number. They are known to be rigidly exclusive, and very liberal in their condemnation of others: but no one supposed they were so aggressive as to throw down the gauntlet where Methodism fairly rules the land. I make no attempt to answer the tract; it is not necessary. This is simply to give notice that the Friends are on the war-path; that they have pronounced all the other churches corrupt, and are distributing the true light in tracts.

R.

Selected.

Resting in God.

MADAME GUYON says: "Having said these words the Franciscan left me They were to me like the stroke of a dart which pierced my heart asunder. I felt at this instant deeply wounded with the love of God—a wound so delightful, that I desired it never might be healed. These words brought into my heart what I had been seeking so many years: or, rather, they made me discover what was there, which I did not enjoy for want of knowing it. O, my Lord! thou wast in my heart, and demanded only the turning of my mind inward, to make me feel thy presence. O, Infinite Goodness, thou wast so near, and I ran hither and thither, seeking thee, and yet found thee not. I was poor in the midst of riches, and ready to perish with hunger near a table plentifully spread, and a continual feast. O, Beauty, ancient and new! Why have I known thee so late? Alas! I sought thee where thou wast not, and did not seek thee where thou wast! It was for want of understanding these words of thy gospel, 'the kingdom of God cometh not with observation: neither shall they say, Lo here! or lo there! for, behold, the kingdom of God is within you.' This I now experienced, since thou didst become my King, and my heart thy kingdom, where thou dost reign a Sovereign, and doest all thy will. I experienced those words in the Canticles. 'Thy name is as precious ointment poured forth: therefore do the virgins love thee.' For I felt in my soul an unction, which, as a salutary perfume, healed in a moment all my wounds, I slept not, all that night, because thy love, O my God! flowed in me like delicious oil, and burned as a fire which was going to destroy all that was left of self in an instant. I was all on a sudden so altered, that I was hardly to be known either by myself or others. I found no more those troublesome faults, or that reluctance to duty, which formerly characterized me. They all disappeared, as being consumed like chaff in a great fire. Nothing was more easy to me now than to practice prayer. Hours passed away like moments, while I could hardly do any thing else but pray. The fervency of my love allowed me no intermission. It was a prayer of rejoicing and of possession wherein the taste of God was so great, so pure, unblended and uninterrupted, that it grew and absorbed the powers of the soul into a profound recollection, a state of confiding and affectionate rest in God, existing without intellectual effort. For I had now no sight but of Jesus Christ alone."

A REPORT comes from Hong Kong that the Chinese government has notified the foreign Ministers at Pekin that it cannot guarantee the safety of foreigners residing at Tiensin and that the naval authorities there have been requested to send vessels to Tiensin to insure their protection.

Two Irishmen were in prison—one for stealing a watch. "Hallo, Mike, and sure what o'clock is it?" said the cow stealer. "An' sure," said the watch stealer, "I've no time-piece handy, but suppose it's just about milking time."

Several Irishmen were disputing one day upon their own best points, when one said in an aggressive manner, "Faith, and I'm a brick." "And indade," said another, I'm a bricklayer," and felled the first speaker to the ground.

Havana and Vera Cruz.

BY BISHOP KEENER.

HAVANA—THE SEA.

AT SEA, January 25, 1874.

MR. EDITOR: We entered the beautiful gates of this port on the morning of the twenty-first. Moro Castle is on one side, and a fort at the distance of half a mile on the other, reminding one of the entrance to the harbor of San Francisco. As soon as you see the castle and sooner, indeed, you see a line of white houses and elevated hill sides crowned with walls, suggestive of hidden armaments, which rise round and above the city. In a moment the steamer glides fairly into the harbor, which is full of vessels, at anchor, of various nationalities. The shores rise gradually, as an amphitheater, from the edge of the water. The harbor looks about two miles square in area. Large sugar factories, a few church domes, and rows of white three story houses, with a long line of coasting vessels, their prows touching the wharves, are the principal objects which first strike the eye. To this city we pay annually $55,000,000 in gold (for sugar and coffee and tobacco) in excess of all that we sell to her. This state of things has existed for ten years past; and, as the sugar crop of Louisiana is ceasing to be profitable, will not soon change.

We spent but a day in Havana. In the evening a friend drove us out to a hill that overlooked a most beautiful panorama of city, palm trees, cocoanut groves and the ocean. The sun had just gone down: curtains of crimson, beryl and gold hung over the sea when his fierce rays had been quenched; the air was unpeopled, and inclosed land, sky and ocean in its tinted haze. Surely Italy never surpassed the gorgeous scene.

On the twenty second we found ourselves on the Caribbean, of the Royal British mail line. The captain is intelligent and good natured; has been so long following the sea that he has become rheumatic, and may be somewhat gouty. He is of large, full frame, which has become much of a barometer—his pains give the first distant notice of a norther. And I should not be surprised if he had studied the charts, and taken observations, and watched the compass until he was also very nearly quadrant and sextant: at least enough so to make a very good guess of his whereabouts at any point on these seas, from the Leeward and Windward Island to Vera Cruz.

The thoroughness of John Bull is seen in everything—in the way the vessel is stopped and soundings taken twice over, the way the crew is mustered on Sunday, all neatly dressed for service, and their names called twice over. Everything on system, and nothing abated through haste. This line is quite famous for the strength and regularity of its vessels. No passenger has been drowned or burned on it for twenty years. Indeed the captain assured me that by calculations recently made it was found that there was more danger to life on land than on sea; that the risk was in staying on shore. As there was a heavy sea rolling, the wind rising, and I was staying myself with some difficulty against the lurching of the vessel, I was much pleased with his statement; and, as the greater part of my life has been spent upon land, I had accustomed myself to safety there.

But the sea is a study which will never end. From New Orleans to Havana it was the most harmless-looking expanse of gently-moving force that ever greeted the eye or waited on the service of man. It toyed along with the vessel's course, and received into its bosom, at ten thousand points, the sun's earliest light. Nothing could be gladder it: its mood, or more cunningly chased than were the lines of beauty all over its face. The waves just raised their heads, laughed a little, and modestly retired.

Now and then only was there discovered a suggestive depth, a scarcely perceptible movement as of mighty pulses and currents under restraint. I was almost in love with it and wished that I had even more wealth ventured on its surface, so that other eyes might see what I saw and enjoyed. This state of things continued until we had been out two days from Havana. Then came the captain's rheumatism, and with it the sea began to take on some of its ancient spasms. The waves became at first merely reckless and threatening, but presently put on a majesty and volume that for two days regarded our large ship as a boy's boat, made of a shingle. Last year I was shut up in a tavern riding out a Texas norther which blew for a week. Now we are just about through a norther at sea, and feel thankful to the Father of mercies for safe deliverance. Fortunately I am saved the pain of sea sickness, but cannot but feel for many fellow-passengers. The crews, waiters and officers of steamers are understood to be above any weakness of this kind. Early this morning, while in bed, I overheard the following—an outburst from the steward:

"Where is that boy David?"

"Sick, sir; been sea-sick for two days."

"Who says he's sick? Does the doctor say so? No man is sick till the doctor says he's sick. Call him."

"What's the matter with you, sir?"

"I've been sick—throwing up"

"What have you been doing to yourself?"

"I put my finger down my throat."

"You've no right, sir, to put your finger down your throat unless you know where you are putting it."

David is a light mulatto boy, just shipped as a start for cabin work. He is very spindling and tall for a boy of fifteen, his legs and his head making a large part of his person. The doctor says of him that he will never do; that he wants "feeding." The head waiter, a very stout, short man, says the boy gives way too much to his feelings: that he ought to stir about and work it off; that without exercising he can be sick for a month: that he doubts if he is fit for this service, which is much like the army.

But here is Vera Cruz—the pilot boat as a speck is on the water. As we approached the coast we had a fair view of the peak of Orizaba. Beneath its top were gigantic white clouds, rolled as turbaned Turks kneeling before the Sultan; above them towered, grand and immovable, the hoary summit of this monarch of the Cordileras.

The ship has dropped her anchor. Oh how delightful to find myself safe "within the vale" after life's tempestuous voyage! The sea is a good place to pray. Few sailors are atheists. I never knew one while on the trip. I read an English work on the law of storms, and learned that it was not enough only to know where the centre of the storm would pass, but to be safe one must also heave to on the right tack. We were sent ashore in a boat. The waves were running high, and made it no measy thing. We barely escaped being drenched in the surf at the very instant of landing.

What a pity it is that one has to go full four days out of the way to reach this port from New Orleans. Our people seem to be so intent upon protecting iron that they are abandoning the sea, and especially the rich opening trade of Mexico, to Great Britain. To night at two A. M. we leave for the City of Mexico.—New Orleans Advocate.

Admitting Children to the Church.

The following sound views upon a subject just now receiving considerable attention, says the Evangelical Messenger, are taken from a chapter on child-piety and profession, in Dr. Fish's new work, the 'Hand book of Revivals.' They occur in a letter addressed to the author, by Rev. Dr. S. D. Burchard, of New York city:

The efforts and prayers of Christians are now turned to the young as the most hopeful field, as furnishing the best soil for the seed which is to produce an hundred-fold.

Some of the most active and spiritual members of our churches were regenerated in childhood. One of the most useful and prominent pastors in the city of New York was received into full fellowship of the church at the early age of eight years, and was hopefully converted at a much earlier period. The intimation of Paul is that Timothy became the subject of grace and a student of Scripture when quite a youth.

During a ministry of more than thirty years I have received a goodly number into the church between the ages of nine and twelve, and they have run well, giving good evidence that the work was thorough and that they were born of the Spirit,

Why should not such cases of conversion be more frequent and more generally expected? Why should the sunniest portion of life be given to the service of Satan? Why should sin be suffered to propagate itself? Why should the seeds of apostasy be permitted even to germinate, much less to produce a full harvest of vice and crime? Why should not the proclivities to evil in childhood be counteracted by those moral forces implied and involved in the gospel plan of mercy? In the atoning blood of Jesus there is the needed element for changing the original character of the soil and making it good ground for the reception of the spiritual seed-grain. We have in the 'exceedingly rich and precious promises,' and in the influences of the divine Spirit, the glorious sunshine and showers so essential to healthy germination, efflorescence and fruitage.

If, then, children may be converted, why should they not be received to the care and fellowship of the church? The church is God's seminary of instruction and preparation for the higher honors of heaven; and should she not take under her tutelage the younger disciples, the very 'babes in Christ,' who more than any other need the 'sincere milk of the word,' as well as the tender care of our common mother, the church? They are members with us of the household of faith, and they should not be exiled from the family board or disinherited of their birthright. They are lambs of Christ's flock, and his charge to Peter is still imperative: 'Feed my lambs.' They, more than all others, need protection from the storms of this world, the pitfalls and perils of the wilderness, the fury of wild beasts: and to this end they must be gathered into the fold under the care of the Good Shepherd. The idea of keeping them out of the church in their weakness and helplessness, when they most need shelter and protection, is simply absurd.

In my early Christian life I witnessed a scene which opened a full fountain of sympathy for the young and tender lambs of the flock. Little Martha, the granddaughter of the officiating clergyman, appeared before the proper officers of the church to be examined for admission to its communion. She was examined thoroughly, and the examination showed satisfactorily that she had met with a change: and yet the officers said: 'Martha, you are very young, and had better wait till you are older before you make a public profession of religion.' She did wait patiently for three months, and then appeared again telling the same sweet story of Jesus and his love: and yet she was advised to wait. Again she appeared, hopefully now, but was again disappointed. And when a whole year had passed, and she was again advised to wait, her breaking heart sobbed out: 'O grandpapa, how old must I be before I may love Jesus and sit with him at his table? The old prejudice gave way. She was received, an ornament and a blessing to the church.

Whom Christ has received, however young, we surely may not reject: and those who are fit for his church above are surely fit for his fellow ship here.

Probably.

We laughed outright although we really ought to have cried when we read in one of our papers a statement of the work of MOODY and SANKEY, in Edinburgh, which statement closed with the luscious remark that "PROBABLY the Lord is blessing their work." We never saw a word put in more awkward, and forced and pitiable predicament than that word "Probably." While heaven and earth and hell have recognized the stupendous work now going on in Scotland under God and through the instrumentality of these American evangelists, a correspondent thinks that PROBABLY something has happened

Oh, how hard it is to acknowledge that men are doing good if they do not work in our way and by our methods! One's heart must have got awfully twisted and near being damned who can look on a great outpouring of the Holy Ghost and have any use for prohibitions. The tendency is even among Christians to depreciate that which goes on independent of themselves, and in a way oppugnant to their personal taste. People do not like those who do a thing which they themselves have not been able to accomplish.

The first cry is, "The people converted are the lower population and not the educated." We wonder if five hundred souls brought to christ from the "Cowgate" and "Coalhole," and made kings and priests unto God, and at last seated on the thrones so high they will not be able to reach down with their foot to the crown of an earthly monarch, is not worth some consideration. Then the cry is, "They will not hold out." Time only will show that. They are doing all they can. You cannot expect them to hold out ten years in six weeks. The most faithful Christians we have ever known were brought in through revivals, and the meanest, stingiest, coldest, hardest to get on with Christians have joined when the church was dead. When a candidate for admission comes before Session in revival times, we ask him only seven or eight questions, but when he comes during a cold state of religion we ask him twenty questions and get the elders to ask him as many more. In other words, we have more faith in conversions under special religious influence than ordinary. The best luck we ever had in fishing was when we dropped the net in the bay and brought up at one haul twenty blue fish with only three or four moss bunkers, and the poorest luck we ever had was when after standing two hours in the soggy meadow, with one hook on the line, we felt we had a bite, and began to pull, more and more persuaded of the size of our captive, until we flung to the shore a snapping turtle. As a gospel fisherman we would rather run the risk of a large haul than of a solitary angling. We can soon sort out and throw overboard the few moss-bunkers. Oh for great awakenings all over Christendom!—We have had a drought so long, we can stand a freshet. Let the Hudson and the Thames and the Susquehanna rise and overflow the low lands, and the earth be full of the knowledge of God as the waters fill the seas. That time is hastening probably!—T. De Witt Talmage in "Christian at Work."

The Arts.

It is said that a solution of gutta percha in ether thrown on a charcoal or crayon drawing, in the shape of spray, will soon form a transparent and durable coating, which allows the dust to be rubbed off occasionally with a wet cloth without damaging the drawing.

It seems that the famous Shapira pottery for which the German Government paid one thousand pounds, has proved a swindle. The Athenæum publishes a communication from M. Guimeau, in which the fraud is completely exposed. He has discovered the man who forged the inscriptions in that "old Phœnician character," which has now for two years been puzzling the archæologists.

Mr. William M. Evarts has agreed to furnish a copy of the portrait by Earle of his grandfather, Roger Sherman, for a vacant panel in Independence Hall. In his letter announcing his design, he says: "I am much obliged to you for the courtesy of furnishing me this facility for executing at once a purpose I have long had of presenting a portrait of Roger Sherman to the City of Philadelphia, for preservation in this celebrated hall, with those of his associates in the great transaction of the Declaration of Independence."

Mr. Dawson, in his "Art Tour to Northern Capitals of Europe," just published in London, gives an estimate of art in Russia, which is not a hopeful one. The author recognizes the distinct Orientalism of the national character. Of landscape art he says, that at present the leading men give us much such work to their works; nearly everything they produce is artificial, or barbarously violent, crude, and rank, rather than coarse. The best landscapes have little more than topographical interest.

Long Sermons.

The speaker's time should be measured out by wisdom. If he is destitute of discretion and forgets the circumstances of his auditors he will annoy them more than a little. In one house the pudding is burning, in another the child is needing its mother, and in the third a servant is due in the family: the extra quarter of an hour's prolixness puts all out of order. A country bearer once said to his pastor, "When you go on beyond half past four in the afternoon service, do you know what I always think about?" No, said the orator. "Well, then, I will tell you plainly, it is not what you are preaching, but about my cows. They want milking, and you ought to have consideration for them, and not keep them waiting. How would you like it if you was a cow?" This last remarkable inquiry suggested a good deal of reflection in the mind of the divine to whom it was proposed, and perhaps it may have a similar beneficial effect upon others who ought to confess their long preachings as among the chief of their shortcomings.

In general, a great sermon is a great evil. Length is the enemy of strength. The delivery of a discourse is like the boiling of an egg: it is remarkably easy to overdo it and so to spoil it. You may physic a man till you make him ill, and preach to him till you make him wicked. Upon satisfaction to satisfy there is but a single step: a wise preacher never wishes his hearers to pass it. Enough is as good as a feast, and better than too much.—Spurgeon.

Science.

DR. J. F. Babcock, a dentist announces that he has applied steam successfully in drilling teeth and recommends the practice to all dentists.

A new comet has been discovered by an observer in Austria. It was in right ascension 20 hours 42 minutes; declination, plus 24 degrees 57 minutes; faint motion southeast, 2½ degree.

A doctor in New Castle, Delaware, by way of experiment, engrafted a piece of skin from his arm upon a negro's face, The engrafting was successful; but at the end of three months the white patch of skin had become black.

It is said that if one part of sugar is dissolved in three parts of water, and digested with one fourth part of calcic hydrate, the resulting liquid will readily dissolve glue warm, and the solution will remain fluid on cooling, without having lost any of its adhesive properties.

...VORD!
...Hand in ...LIFE
...NY,
...WAY,
...00.00!!
...y,
...D., Med. Director
...AT DEATH!
...ny in America
...VALUES.
...nt of Premium.
...nation FOR JUDGMENT of ...P RISKS.—upon which ...depends, ...the cash value of their ...e and accumulation must ...ld carefully see for th...
...RENCE,
...for North Carolina, ...ce at Raleigh.
Wanted for
...nd Crown
...ers of the redeath of Jesus ...the Suffering and Triumphs ...ter sweeter and more thrilling ...with the shed[illegible]ge of big ...illustrated on steel with the ...pest and purest, and splendidly ...e best style of the art. ...e richest book ever offered ...ers, with full description, ...NATIONAL PUBLISHING Co. ...Atlanta Ga. ...or Jones, Brothers & Co. ...Philadelphia, Pa.
...aker & Co.
...dies in DYING DRUGS.
...LS
...GROUND BONE &C.
...OR MAKING.
...Phosphates
...AND
...ILIZERS.
...20th Charles Street,
...MORE MD.
...ful Check Rein and Prices.
...CO-PARTNERSHIP.
...of WYATT, GREEN & CO., ...EE & CO., was by mutual con...
...ness will hereafter be used only in ...ion of, or against, will be settled ...or become due. The succession the late firm of ...WYATT, GREEN & CO. ...1-1y.
...ED ASSORTED CANDY ...LEACH BROS.
...20 per day! Agents wanted! All ...ousand working people, of ...ousehold[illegible] ...ess[illegible] ...ed at work ...ment of the time, than at ...ere. Address G. Stinson ...
...BROTHER & CO., ...Baltimore St., ...MORE MD. ...or Ladies & Gentlemen. ...a specialty. ...an established reputation? ...every variety. ...ery. ...for Bridal Gifts. ...Cake Baskets, Ice Pitchers, Fruit ...and Pickle Stands. A complete stock ...Stands, Fans, Opera Glasses and ...and prices moderate. Order ...Medals and Badges;
SUCCESS! One agent Made $112 in 4 days. ...ys, selling
...'S STORY. ...ed Adventures upon, and the ...great Oceans. 22d spirited re...ently lost, sale amazingly fast— ...wanted for this and the only ...ed war sanctions history of ...
...28 years in Africa ...of the season.) Also our splen...idly and far excelling all others ...d full circulars free. Address ...Pubs. Phila., Pa. or Cin., O
...T OFFER!! ...& SON 481 Broadway, N. Y., ...HUNDRED PIANOS, MELODE... ...of first-class makers, including ...LOW PRICES FOR CASH, or will ...CHANGE for small monthly hire. ...first class PIANOS, all modern ...$5 cash. The WATERS CON... ...ORGANS, are the most beautiful ...ever made. Illustrated Cata... ...may 25-1ye.
...to Dye Colors, ...PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S ...Drug Store.
MORPHINE HABIT speedily ...cured by Dr. Beck's ...Known and sure Remedy. ...NO CHARGE ...DR. J. B. BECK, Cincinnati, O.
Sunday School Books, DIAMONDS."
...ay. Assisted by Geo. F. Root, ...J. M. Keffer and a host of oth... ...Sunday School Music. ...cess ever known in the history ...or 100,000 Copies have been sold ...the demand is increasing daily. ...single, $3 60 per doz. $25 per ...copy in paper cover 25 cts. ...NARD'S SONS, Cleveland, O.
...Brainard's New Descriptive ...Double Blank. A selected list ...ining full description of those ...of music. This new catalogue ...Solicitors. Sent free to any ad... ...D'S SONS, Publishers, Cleve...
WANTED.—SAMPLES sent ...on, with terms to clear from $6 to ...entirely new articles; saleable as ...WHITE, Newark, N. J.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2.00
SIX MONTHS,	1.25
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH N. C. MARCH 19, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

Quarterly Conference Reports.

We are requested by a brother to urge the observance of the disciplinary requirement in the matter of Quarterly Conference reports. The preachers, we presume, know their duty and are willing to do what the law requires. The Discipline requires that two written reports be presented by the preacher in charge to each quarterly conference—one on "Sabbath schools and pastoral instruction of children;" the other on the "general state of the church." These requirements can, and should, in all cases be complied with. There are other matters belonging properly to the Stewards and trustees, which they ought to attend to without being prompted by the preacher, but they seldom do it, and when the preacher neglects the two reports required of him, the stewards and trustees are apt to neglect their duty. It is too often the case that when the written report of the Sunday-school is called for by the Presiding Elder that he is referred to the Sunday-school Superintendent.—This does not meet the obligation of the preacher to make a written report to the Quarterly Conference. A verbal statement from any one is not sufficient, and a written report from the Superintendent cannot discharge a duty which is incumbent upon the pastor. The same is true in reference to the state of the church. No one is in a position to make the report fully except the preacher in charge. The report should be written so as to cover all the ground of the question, not of statistics alone, but of the spiritual condition, and many matters of interest and importance to the Presiding Elder and the Quarterly Conference. It is very rarely, indeed, that these reports are made in a satisfactory manner, and the fact is due to the culpable negligence and indifference of the preachers, and the equally culpable negligence of the good nature of the Presiding Elders. The latter ought to insist upon reports in due form, as required by the Discipline, and where this fails the Annual Conference might take cognizance of the matter in the passage of character.

While upon this subject we would strongly urge the importance of a full board of trustees for each church, and insist, with emphasis, that they make a full and comprehensive report to the last Quarterly Conference—and in all cases where it is neglected at the last Quarterly Conference of the ecclesiastical year, that the report shall be made at the succeeding Quarterly Conference. We venture the assertion that upon many of our charges there is sad neglect at this point.

Imitating Bishop Haven.

A correspondent of Zion's Herald, over the signature of John Brown, is evidently a convert of Bishop Haven. He boldly comes to the defense of Haven, and corroborates his statements about negro beauty. Here is a specimen of his letter which we give to show our readers that the views of Bishop Haven are seconded by others:

"The press of the Methodist Episcopal Church South has howled—yes, literally howled with rage, because Bishop Haven has set before the world, in his own graphic style, what he has seen. And yet, 'United Yennes' or not, the fact still remains that the most beautiful women in the cities of the South are those who have more or less of negro blood in their veins. Go into any one of a half-dozen congregations that we have visited within the last few days, and you may see men and women both who possess all the qualities of manly and womanly beauty. There are those who have little or no white blood who are by no means unattractive in form or feature; but the most beautiful are those with full, lustrous dark eyes, glossy, wavy hair, complexions just tinged with a rich Italian brown, and forms that are faultless."

The writer, John Brown, and his leader, Haven, intend to convince the world, if possible, that negro women are the prettiest things in the world. In all their travels, they have not found an ugly negro in all the South. To their eyes they are perfect beauties.—It is a remarkable fact that they seem to be more concerned about the beauty of the negroes than their piety.

RENEWALS.—We are gratified to be able to state that our subscribers are renewing their subscription promptly. In spite of the panic and hard times, they are unwilling to give up the Advocate. We continue to send out bills to the preachers for collection. In some instances the bills are sent direct to the subscribers, but to all the preachers who have furnished us a list of the post offices on their circuits, we have sent the accounts to them to be collected.

The M. E. Church in the South.

Dr. Abel Stevens has taken a tour in the Southern States, and is giving his impressions of affairs through the N. Y. Methodist. In a late paper he refers to the difficulty of providing for the colored members of the church, and states the case as follows:

What remedy can be suggested!—Some of our own high authorities propose an interblending of whites and blacks in public worship—the doing way of all distinctions, whatsoever, in the congregation. Abstractly this would seem right, and accordant with the very genius of Christianity. But it is found to be impracticable in the actual, relative conditions of the two races in the South. Fervently as the experiment has been advocated in some of our Northern journals, we have yet to meet the first of our missionaries, on the ground, who does not consider it hopeless and preposterous. The indisposition of the whites to it is not its chief difficulty; it is but a secondary impediment compared with the opposition of the blacks themselves. The latter may be said to be universally hostile to it. They insist on having their own assemblies where they can enact their usual extravaganzas. They almost equally insist on having colored preachers. Any impartial observer will agree with us that the attempt to mingle the races in public religious worship is utterly vain except in slight, local cases where the Episcopalians or Presbyterians retain a few of their old colored members, and these disparaged by sittings apart in the gallery or some other unlotted place in the church. Whatever we say, then, of the partiality or pride of the white in the house of God, the chief difficulty, we repeat, is with the blacks themselves. They receive our white missionaries, but mostly as a temporary expedient, till men of their own color can be obtained.

The Pacific Methodist thinks it strange that Dr. Stevens does not see the remedy which has been so wisely and efficiently applied by our own church; that of setting these people apart, giving them aid and encouragement, but giving them independence.

Bishops and District Conferences.

The Galveston Christian Advocate suggests some improvement in the constitution of the District Conferences. The attention of the Bishops is regarded as too great a tax for these hard-working servants of the church. As the matter now stands they are left at liberty to consult their convenience and other engagements, but it might be well to omit all mention of them in connection with these District Conferences. The Advocate says:

On one point, however, we have fully made up our mind: We are opposed to the insisting on the attendance of our Bishops at these District Conferences. It imposes too much work; it necessitates continual absence from home, and it allows almost no leisure for reading and study.

But did not our venerable Asbury and McKendree travel through the bounds of the wide extended work almost continually? They did; but they were unmarried men, and had no certain dwelling place. Besides, they had little else to do. There were but few Conferences to hold; no college commencement; no papers to write for; but little correspondence, and scarcely any charity sermons to preach, as compared with the present. We insist that the labor is too onerous for men well advanced in life, as nearly all our Bishops are, and are likely to be.

Again, a Bishop has, according to the Bible, domestic duties; home and family have claims upon him as upon other men, and he may not innocently ignore these duties. But if all the intervals between holding Conferences are to be devoted to District Conferences, then the Bishops must, in effect, bid good-by to their homes, and leave to their lonely wives the care of the household.

The present arrangement allows almost no time for reading and study. One of the Bishops said to us, not long since, that several of the Bishops had deteriorated as preachers since their election to the episcopal office. And no wonder;—deluged with letters innumerable, continually in company, talked to incessantly, expected to preach often, to dedicate churches, to make missionary speeches and attend colleges and make addresses; in short, all the time pouring out, and no time to take in, they must exhaust and fall behind.

Our Bishops are representative men in the pulpit, as well as presidents of Conferences. They are expected to be fresh, able and eloquent models of pulpit efficiency, but such an expectation is incompatible with their circumstances. They must have time for reading and meditation, or they can not sustain the reputation they justly bore before their election as first class pulpit men. We hope the General Conference will do something to relieve our venerable superintendents from the burden of overwork.

NOTICE TO PREACHERS

For several weeks after the adjournment of Conference, we kept a standing notice in the Advocate, to the preachers, to give us their post office address, and stated that the paper would be continued to them at the office where they received the paper the past year, until a change was requested. We have heard from nearly all the preachers, but we repeat the request again, so that if any of the brethren are not receiving the ADVOCATE, they will so notify us, and we will forward it to them immediately. We desire that all the preachers in the conference should receive the paper and act as agents for it.

Many of our patrons have complied with our request to send us, each, one new subscriber to the ADVOCATE. Several have done even better—some have sent five, and others as many as ten new subscribers, since the first of January, for which they will accept our grateful acknowledgments. Are there not many others who will do likewise?

WHEN we are alone we have our thoughts to watch, in the family our tempers, and in company our tongues.

Baltimore Conference.

From the Episcopal Methodist we gather the following of the Baltimore Conference, which met at Staunton Va. on the 4th inst., Bishop Doggett presiding: Religious services were conducted by the Bishop, after which he briefly addressed the Conference in reference to the great mission of Methodism in the world.

The Bishop said the Conference was to be congratulated on so large an attendance on the first day of the session, which is rather an unusual spectacle and very gratifying to witness. You are to be congratulated upon such beautiful, genial weather for your assembling, for it is a strange coincidence that the meeting of the Baltimore Conference has almost been invariably accompanied by a snow-storm, or other inclement weather. May it please God to add to this favor, happy and bright spiritual weather during our meeting. Baltimore Conference brings up the rear train of all the other Conferences. It is the last, but not the least. Carrying out this figure of the rail road train, let us remember that it contains thirty-five cars, commodious and generally well-filled with itinerant preachers. Well connected too, for we are distinguished, you know, by the connectional system in our economy, and we are conducted by a set of conductors (called Bishops), each having the oversight of a certain number of cars. I advert to this Unity for a purpose, to show it is important, and from its importance show how great a disaster it would be if we were to break the connection of our train. But there is a still greater unity—and that is the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace that unites our Zion to day. We are closing our conference year amid very great evidences of divine favor. Tranquility exists in all our borders. There is not a more tranquil church on all this continent. (some ejaculations of 'Thank God from the delegates)—not a more tranquil church, or amid all contrarieties of opinion, within our church we have perfect peace. Our people and preachers are united in spirit before the Lord. We are in the presence of great events in the centre of stirring times. Never were greater or intenser activities at work, than are now exerting themselves on the face of Society in our country. Never was infidelity more rampant, never more bold in its direct attacks, openly and insidiously. Never were infidels more defiant, more self-confident of their own success than they arent this time. It is the contest between Darkness and Light. Romanism shorn of its power in the East, is enforcing itself with wonderful adroitness in the West. Never was there witnessed in this country such corruption in high places, communicating with rapidity to those in lower position. The preaching too in many places is being directed to accommodate the elements of the Gospel to this world.

On the other hand, there is a tendency in Evangelical Christianity to consolidate its spiritual element. I don't mean by that, an amalgamation of the churches, but a coming together in the spirit of God. It looks like God was calling together his cohorts to combat the powers of darkness. The remarkable revival at Edinburgh is one of those in which all evangelical elements are blending. There is another at St. Louis, and others all over Evangelical Christendom. One more thing I will mention, and that is that the activity of the Gospel is being remarkably developed. God is raising up talent equal to any talent on the other side, and clothing his ministers with unusual strength.—We are in the midst of a great battle, but Methodism has resources under God equal to the emergency. I see no signs of decay—none whatever. There are many things to regret of a subordinate character in the church, but neither here nor in England, is there any sign of decay, but rather a revival of strength. No! We must be true to our mission, our doctrines, our experience, and to Methodist discipline. Let there be no relaxing in discipline, for if there is danger, it lies there. The Church has much to do in coming back to Methodist discipline. Remember that. I invoke God's blessing on your deliberations. Let all see that we are animated by the spirit of Christ. Need I remind Methodist ministers of the necessity of Godly conversation? Wherever you may be, leave a good example behind you. Lift up your Master whether in the parlor or in the pulpit."

Dr Haygood, Sunday school Secretary, and Dr. McFerrin Missionary Secretary, were present, and addressed the Conference. The session as far as reported was pleasant and harmonious. We have not received the appointments.

SHOW THE PAPER.—If our brethren will take with them to each appointment a copy of the ADVOCATE and exhibit it to the people as the adopted organ of the North Carolina Conference, a great many new subscribers could be secured for it who do not now take any religious paper at all.—A good brother, a layman, writes us from Faison's, of recent date.

"I have seen this week's ADVOCATE, and I think it comes nearer to perfection as a religious and family paper than anything I ever saw.

We have many letters on hand to which answers have been requested. We beg the indulgence of the brethren, and promise to reply as soon as we can find time to do so.

Bequests to Religious Uses.

The St. Louis Democrat of a recent date says: "An interesting case was decided by Judge Jones, at the Circuit Court. Before the adoption of the present Constitution of Missouri, Madame LeMarque made a will, which contained a bequest of some twenty odd thousand dollars to Archbishop Kenrick, of the Catholic Church. The new Constitution, now in force, provides—article one, section twelve—that 'every devise of goods or chattels to, or for the support, use, or benefit of any minister, public teacher, or preacher of the gospel, as such, or any religious sect, order, or denomination, shall be void.' Madame Le Marque changed the phraseology of her will after the new Constitution came in force, and made the bequest to Kenrick without using his title, or saying any thing that indicated his office or connection with the Church. By the advice of counsel, the executor of the will refused to pay the bequest, and Archbishop Kenrick instituted suit to recover it. It was proved that the testatrix intended the money to go to the Catholic Church, and that she made the bequest with that declared purpose; also that the outlines of the new will were drafted by Father Fox, a Catholic priest, who sent them to an attorney to have the will written out in due form. Judge Jones held the bequest to be a contravention of the constitutional provision, and therefore void."

Mr. Whitefield and the Trumpeter.

On one occasion, during Whitefield's residence in America, a black trumpeter, belonging to an Englishgentleman, resolved to interrupt him during a discourse which he was expected to deliver in the open air. At the hour appointed for the sermon he repaired to the field where it was to be preached, carrying his trumpet with him on purpose to blow it with all his might about the middle of the sermon. He took his stand in front of the minister, and at no great distance. The concourse that attended became very great and those who were towards the extremity of the crowd pressed forward to hear more distinctly, which caused such a pressure at the place where the trumpeter stood that he found it impossible to raise up the arm which held the trumpet at the time he intended to blow it. He attempted to extricate himself from the crowd, but found this equally impossible, so that he was kept within hearing of the Gospel as securely as if he had been chained to the spot. In a short time his attention was arrested, and he became so powerfully affected by what the preacher presented to his mind, that he was seized with an agony of despair, and was carried to a house in the neighborhood. When the service was over, he was visited by Mr. Whitefield who tendered some reasonable counsels; and the poor trumpeter from that time became an altered man. —Narrative of Remarkable Conversions.

Working.

Upon this subject Mr. Spurgeon makes the following sensible remarks:

We talk much of working, but working is better than talking about working; "to get really at it," and to do something for soul-winning, and spreading abroad the glory of God, is infinitely better than planning and holding committees." Away with windbags! Let us get to acts and deeds. None of us know what we can do till we try. The sportsman will tell you that there may be many birds in a field, but you know not how many till you walk through, and then you discover them and see them on the wing. When the wheel turns you will be able to see the force of the current. You will see the speed of the horse when you put him to his best. Work! work! and the tool that is blunt will get an edge by being used. Shine, and the very light you have shall grow in the very act of shining. He who has done one thing will find himself capable of doing two, and doing two will be able to accomplish four; and having achieved the four will soon go on to twelve, and from twelve to fifty; and so, by growing multiples, he will enlarge his power to serve God by using the ability he has.

We shall be glad to receive news items from our brethren from all section of the country. Brief notices of revivals, the state of the work and what is being done in the churches are always of interest to our readers.

Bishop Keener says the New Orleans Advocate, reached home on his return from Mexico on Monday evening, March 2. He is in excellent health and in fine spirits. The prospects of our mission in Mexico grow brighter every day. Our readers may look for a communication from the Bishop in next week's ADVOCATE.

Persons receiving their paper with the cross mark, are requested to renew their subscription at once. The term of subscription of many to whom the paper is now going has expired, but we are disposed to indulge them as far as we can, with the hope that all will shortly renew. Remember, dear friends, that every paper sent out is actual expense to the office. If you cannot pay now, notify us through your pastor and we will continue the paper, and charge to him for collection.

Rev. Mr. Latane says that the division between the High Church and Low Church parties in the Episcopal Church can not be healed. The one has inscribed upon its banners justification by sacraments, and the other justification by faith, and there can never be any cordial union between the parties thus arrayed against each other.

Raleigh District.

DEAR BROTHER: I have just completed the first round on my District, beginning with the Tar River circuit and closing with the Smithfield circuit. My health has been excellent. I have been so fortunate as to reach all my appointments in due time, and have known but little fatigue in the performance of my duties. What a blessing is good health! The preachers of the District have been cordially received in their charges. They have entered upon their work in the right spirit, and are doing good. More than one hundred persons have been converted in the District since we entered upon the new year—a large number have joined the church. Bro. Boshamer, of the Henderson circuit, is now engaged in a very gracious revival work at Ridgeway. The meeting has been in progress ten days. Thirty-nine have made a profession of religion, and many in the congregation are penitent. The work is manifestly a very powerful one. I think thirty-two persons have joined our church in Henderson since the revival at that place. In the most of our pastoral charges there are evident signs of a blessed revival. The people are growing in spiritual power, and are crying to God for the salvation of souls.

The quarterly meetings have been well attended—better than any I have ever held in winter. Some of these meetings were seasons of unusual interest, and were rich in promises of great prosperity to our church.—Upon careful inquiry I have learned that our membership are consistent—many of them are models of true piety. But few of our young members of the church indulge in worldly amusements. They know it to be unsafe for the disciples of the Saviour to engage in those pleasures which are peculiarly the world's, pleasures which the world has chosen and stamped as its own.

Our Sunday-schools are growing in numbers and influence. In some of them I have found a larger number of teachers and scholars, than were in attendance last summer, or in the pleasant weather of early fall. We are laboring to employ the whole church in the Sunday-school, either to teach or to learn. I believe this should be done everywhere. In several of our Sunday schools we have regular collections for the cause of missions. It is our purpose so to train the children under our care that they will make a better generation of christians than the present—more self denying—more benevolent. The Advocate has a good circulation on the District, and is a great help to us in the work of the church. Your subscription list will soon have a large increase from our field. There are many lately converted and new in the church who will subscribe for our paper.

The Stewards have manifested a commendable liberality in providing for the support of the preachers.—Some of the charges are paying promptly. Their preachers have no anxious care about feeding, clothing and educating their children. It would not be very difficult for each charge on the District to meet its full quarterly payments. Try it, dear brethren! Set your hearts on this plan. You will succeed, and you will be pleased. The Lord and God will bless you. I shall listen for a good financial report when we meet on the second round.

W. H. BOBBITT.

Ridgeway, N. C., March 12th, 1874.

We are grieved to learn that Mr. Thadeus McGee of the firm of W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co., of this city is extremely ill at his residence. He was seized suddenly on Wednesday last and remains dangerously ill at the present writing.

THE DAILY NEWS.—The Daily News has just entered upon a new volume with bright prospects for increased prosperity. The publishers and editors show industry and skill in the conduct of the paper. They have our best wishes for success.

FREE WILL BAPTIST ADVOCATE.—This is the title of a new paper just started at Fremont, Wayne county, N. C. with E. R. Ellis, editor and proprietor. It is published in the interest of the denomination of the Free Will baptist.

We have received the late number of Harper's Scribner's Eclectic and Peterson's Magazine—also Old and New, Littell's Living Age and St. Nicholas. They are all fully up to their standard of literary excellence, and freshness of reading.

To the Preachers of the Washington District.

DEAR BRETHREN: I see that $100 is the amount assessed to this District to defray the expenses of our delegates to the next General Conference, which I have divided as follows:

Warrenton,	$10
Warren circuit,	15
Roanoke,	15
Tarboro,	15
Williamston,	10
Washington and Greenville,	10
Plymouth and Jamesville,	10
Bath,	5
Mattamuskeet,	10
Total,	$100

Please collect the above amounts and forward to Rev. N. H. D. Wilson.

WM. CLOSS.

Bath, N. C., March 2d. 1874.

Queen Victoria has again trodden upon Episcopacy by appointing the Rev. Dr. Taylor, the Scotch Presbyterian from whom she received the communion, a royal chaplain.

Notes From the Brethren.

Rev. J. S. Ervin writes from Morganton, March 12th, as follows:

"Our P. E, Dr. L. S. Burkhead, has been with us in Morganton for the last six days, laboring most earnestly day and night for the salvation of this people. He has endeared himself to us all. His sermons and exhortations were attended with unction from on high, and we shall look for good results."

Rev. S. Leard, in charge of Rutherfordton circuit, writes: "You can state that we are comfortably fixed in perhaps the best Parsonage in the District—that we met with a hearty welcome—that our Stewards had supplied us bountifully with provisions, &c., and that we consider the Rutherford circuit one of the best in all our Western territory. Our prospects spiritually are brightening, and we confidently hope for a successful and prosperous year, in all the departments of our work."

Rev. R. P. Bibb writes from Double Shoals, N. C., March 10th:

"I have been around my circuit, and in a week will finish my second round. I have been kindly received by all, and like my new field of labor hugely. I have seven appointments. Our houses of worship are much better than on most of our circuits. Two houses of worship are now being completed, and when completed will reflect honor upon those who have had them built. They will be beautiful country churches. My first Quarterly Meeting will come on the 21 and 22 of March. We expect Dr. Burkhead to dedicate one of our new churches at that time. I will write you again in reference to my circuit and church dedication."

Rev. L. L. Nash in charge of Bath circuit, writes, March the 3rd: The first Quarterly Conference for Bath circuit came off Saturday, the 25th of Feb. and Sunday the 1st of March. Dr. Closs was with us and made a fine impression. Notwithstanding the weather was bad we had large congregations, and I trust the appropriate sermon of that venerable divine will have a lasting impression upon the Bath people. We are doing as well as could be expected here, considering the financial condition of the country. We have commenced a parsonage, and trust it will not be long before the church on this circuit can "set their preacher down under their own vine and fig tree, with none to molest him or make him afraid."

The spiritual condition of our circuit is improving. We had a very interesting revival of religion at Bath, which commenced the third Sunday in January. There was a general awakening, and three were added to our ranks. We begin to feel all right again, having measurably recovered from the loss of one beloved Elder Adams, whose memory will ever live in the hearts of our people on Bath circuit. May success crown his efforts on the Fayetteville District!

Rev. J. F. Smoot, from the Smithfield circuit, writes as follows:

Two months have elapsed since I entered upon my new field of labor. Our first Quarterly Meeting has just occurred at Selma. Our P. E., was with us, as he is wont to be, "thoroughly furnished" to do the work of his office and preach the word. He greatly encouraged us. Saturday morning, to draw near to God. It was that kind that edifies the church and cheers the weary and way-worn. After the sermon, we had the Q. Conference, in which Bro. B. showed himself "master of the situation," and dispatched the business to the satisfaction of all. The sermon Sunday morning was just the sort to prepare us for the Lord's Supper. Before we had the communion, however, the P. E., made an appeal in behalf of the noble little band struggling to finish their church; and the amount realized, was sufficient to relieve the brethren so completely as to inspire the hope that the house will be completed at an early day. It is already planned and seated. By courtesy of the Baptist brethren, the preaching at night, was had at their church. Thanks to them, and blessings on them, for the use of their house of worship for the last two months, while ours was being built. I could not be out at night, but I have "heard by the hearing of the ear" that our Baptist friends were well paid Saturday and Sunday nights, and if we owe them anything more the Lord will reward them. If time and space would allow I should like to speak of my work generally, and of my people particularly. Let it suffice now, to say that our stewards have "devised liberal things," and our people "are worthy and well qualified" to take care of their ministers. Our congregations have been good and they know how to hear. Altogether, the prospect is cheering. May it grow brighter and brighter, and may the Lord bless and help us to labor on till we see a glorious revival sweep all over the circuit! And let all the people say Amen!

—Nothing struck the European delegates to the Alliance so unpleasantly as the vanity and sacrilege of fashionable music in the American churches. On their return, however, while they commend us for almost every thing else—the music, they cannot but express their disgust at that. Shall we not take the hint, and improve, and have good congregational singing?

Religious Brevities.

— The dedication of Mr. Talmage's great tabernacle, seating comfortably four thousand people, took on the proportions and character of a religious feast, lasting, as it did, four hours, and winding up in shouts of rejoicing. In his last paper, The Christian at Work, Mr. Talmage can hardly restrain his enthusiasm over the results of the day.

— Rev. McClintock Barnitz, an agent of the American Bible Society, has commenced a suit for libel against the St. Louis Democrat, laying damages at $26,000 — On Sunday last the Rev. Mr. McCormick, pastor of the Washington Street P. E. Church, Petersburg, Virginia, announced to his congregation his withdrawal from the rectorship of the church. It is stated that the reverend gentleman has become a disciple of the Cummins movement.

— The Anglican Bishop of Ottawa, Canada, has formally excommunicated a minister of the Church for participating in the Communist movement.

— Mr. Spurgeon during the last seventeen years received 13,000 persons into his church, erected thirty-six chapels in London, and supplied the same with ministers trained in a college of his own founding.

— The average receipts per annum of the Wesleyan ministers of Great Britain is £200 or about $1,000, gold, which is above the average paid Non-conformist ministers of England and Scotland.

— There are 70,000 members of Christian churches in Lower Bengal, of whom 50,000 are natives. Christian work has told there, and it is only just begun.

— Rev. Dr. Rosser, the eminent evangelist of the Virginia Conference, M. E. Church, South, has been preaching in the Methodist church, Staunton, Va. His sermons were delivered in his usual style, and the congregations were greatly pleased.—The Baltimore Methodist.

— REVIVAL STATISTICS.—The Christian Advocate, of New York City, gleans from its exchanges and correspondence for one week, the following statistics of converts during the revival season now passing over the churches: New York, 388; New Jersey, 309; Pennsylvania, 1,391; Illinois, 863; Iowa, 41; Ohio, 40; Indiana, 300; Maryland, 70; Missouri, 80.

— The venerable Rev. Jacob Knapp famous as a Baptist revival preacher, died last week at Rockford, Ill., aged 74 years. He is said to have won more souls for Jesus than any other minister in the Baptist church.

— Among the indirect fruits of the great temperance revival in the West and now extending eastward, is a resolve made last week by the corporators of the great Trinity church property in New York city to no longer lease any of the real estate of the corporation for purposes of liquor traffic. This property is valued at several millions.

— The Presbyterian Ministerial Association of Cincinnati have passed a resolution protesting against the proposed passage by the Ohio Legislature of a law regulating the social evil.

— Rev. Mr. Eddy, of Minnesota, has been elected principal of the West Virginia Deaf and Dumb Institute at Romney, in place of Prof. Hollister, resigned.

— Beecher says the highest type of Christian character is the highest type of manliness, and this involves personal cleanliness, self-denial of injurious indulgences, and a scrupulous regard for the comfort of others.

— The new Methodist Church, at Danville Va., of which Rev. S. S. Lambeth is pastor, sustained a heavy loss the past week by the falling of the steeple. Loss about $5,000. The architect is blamed for the casualty.

Pay in Advance.

No subscriber who is worth the writing of his name upon your books will object to pay in advance for his newspaper.

You go to a concert to hear a famous singer and you pay in advance. A few strains of music linger in your ear for a few minutes and all is gone.

And what were these strains of music compared to the thoughts, often divine, that flow from the pen editorial, and live forever on the page and in the mind.

In the car, on the hack, in the jolting road wagon you must pay in advance and nobody complains.

And yet some men are small enough, and penurious enough, and silly enough, to hesitate and cavil about paying for a paper in advance at a price that barely keeps the machinery in motion that sends its fifty two visits per year to the reader.

WOMAN'S DRESS.—Elizabeth Stuart Phelps in writing upon woman's dress in the New York Independent, says:

For myself, I confess that I never feel thoroughly ashamed of being a woman except in glancing over a large promiscuous assembly and contrasting the simplicity, solidity, elegance, and good sense of a man's apparel with the affectation, the flimsiness, the tawdriness, the ugliness, and the imbecility of a woman's. For her mental and moral deficiencies my heart is filled with a great compassion and prompt excuse. Over her physical inferiority I mourn not as one without hope. When I consider the pass to which she has brought the one sole science of which she is supposed to be yet mistress, my heart misgives me down to the roots of every hope I cherish for her.

News Items.

— In the murder case of Blalock and Collins, from Johnson, Justice Pearson of the Supreme Court, has filed his dissenting opinion, in which he advances some forcible arguments in favor of allowing counsel for prisoners, in capital cases, an unlimited time to make their speeches to the Jury. It seems that the counsel in this case were limited to one hour and a half, and he thinks such a restriction calculated to cripple the argument. He says he "Who can know what word or thought may strike the mind of a juror, and turn the balance? Who can foresee human life or when that thought or word may be uttered?"

— The ladies of Raleigh, are presenting signatures to a petition, to be presented to the Board of County Commissioners, to order an election for Raleigh Township, as to liquor or no liquor. We are glad to learn that they have secured names sufficient to meet the requirements of the law. Let the voters of Raleigh, when called upon to vote on this question, vote against licensing any person to sell liquor in the city.

— The DAILY NEWS says: We can count over 75 buildings to be commenced in this city when the Spring fairly opens. This number includes some six or seven hand some stores on Fayetteville street. There are probably other buildings to be erected of which we have not been informed.

— It is reported that a movement is on foot to consolidate the Petersburg Railway with the Wilmington and Weldon Railway.

— Hon. Will. H. Battle, of this city, is engaged in preparing an additional volume of his excellent Digest.

— The authorities of the State Agricultural Society will soon commence to prepare the premium list for the coming fair.

— The Charlotte Observer exposes among the grand swindling concerns now in the land is the "Union Furnishing Company of Chicago." It warns the public against it and promises a full exposure.

— Albert Magnin, Esq., late Deputy Sheriff, is a candidate for the office of Superior Court Clerk.

— Gov. Vance has been requested to repeat his lecture on "The Scattered Nations," by the Israelites of Baltimore.

— The Enfield TIMES says that the farmers in that section are very despondent, and are not at all active in their preparation of the soil for the next crop.

— The Arcadian Springs, Halifax, are to be laid off and added to as a summer resort. Dr. J. S. Edmunds has discovered a group of mineral springs on his farm.

— The Siamese Twins autopsy, which has been progressing for some time past, has finally reached a conclusion on one point. The Philadelphia College of Surgeons give it as their opinion that any attempt to have severed these unfortunate Siamese during life would have resulted in the certain and immediate death of both. It has been revealed that they have but one liver between them, connected by the mysterious band which united them through life. Thus doth it appear that the eminent medical men in both Europe and this country, who were consulted during the life time of the twins, were quite correct in their supposition. It was their belief that any attempt to sever the ligature which connected them would have proven fatal.

Dr. John C. Kirkman, has removed from Brush Creek, N. C., to near Harper Cross Roads, Chatham county, N. C.

—We learn, says the Wilmington JOURNAL: That Hon. R. R. Bridgers, President of the Wilmington and Weldon and Wilmington, Columbia and Augusta Railroads, has been appointed a Director, Vice-President, and General Manager of the Southern Security Company. This appointment greatly extends the field of Mr. Bridgers' duties and responsibilities, and is as well deserved as it is complimentary to him.

— Selma, Johnston county, is to have a Lodge of Odd Fellows.

— The Press Convention assembles in Raleigh on the 12th of May next.

— George T. Winston, Esq., of Raleigh, has been appointed Instructor of Mathematics in Cornell University.

— The Japanese student, J. Ito, who attended Washington Lee University, is a young man of high social position in his country. He is a convert to christianity.

— Hon. Charles Sumner, died at Boston on the 11th inst., of heart disease. He was a man of extensive learning and intellectual culture. He was a bitter enemy of the South, and his friendship to the North was of little avail. He did nothing, with all his intellectual powers, to distinguish him as a great statesman.

— Mr. A. H. Dowell, a resident of Asbury, near this city, died suddenly on Wednesday night of last week. He was a good citizen, and for a number of years a consistent member of the Baptist Church. His friends had observed for several days previous to his death, that he was laboring under some mental depression. Arsenic was found in his possession, and Coroner Lindley summoned a jury for an inquest. We have not heard the decision.

— The Fayetteville ENTERPRISE says the Eastern Division of the Carolina Central Railway is now complete three miles beyond Wadesboro'. The contractors expect to get through Boggan's Cut by the middle of April.

— There was a heavy snow storm in the west on the 9th blocking travel effectually on the Pacific R. R. The snow was twelve five feet deep, and six feet on the level.

— Wilmington receives from 650,000 to 750,000 barrels of rosin, and 50,000 barrels of tar per year. The State produces about 1,500,000 barrels of turpentine annually, valued at about $3,375,000.

— A French court has sentenced a man to four years' imprisonment for duelling.

— Senator Sumner had in his possession a gold watch which was presented to Washington to Lafayette after the siege of Yorktown. Upon it is this inscription: "G. Washington to Gilbert Motier de Lafayette, in commemoration of the capitulation of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown, Oct. 17, 1781."

— A lady of Caswell county, realized $70 of tobacco with her own hands in one day, weighing 652 pounds, and recently sold it at Farmers' Warehouse, in Danville, for the handsome sum of $284.05. The fillers brought as high as $83 per hundred, and second grade $71. The scrolled of the lugs brought $14.50.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $3.00.

Our Agents.

[illegible] brethren in the bounds of the [illegible] conference are our authorized Agents [illegible] subscribers, for one year, will [illegible] $3 00. Those who send us five will [illegible] per for their paper

Our Correspondents.

[illegible] should be carefully [illegible] on one sheet. All letters [illegible] the editor.

How to Remit.

[illegible] should be sent in [illegible] Those who send us five will [illegible] Postmasters are [illegible] Postmaster [illegible] Postmaster [illegible] Postmaster

Youth's Department.

Is it Well with the Child?

BY M. P. LINDSLEY.

'Tis well with me, mother; why dost thou weep,
As thou seest thy loved one in his last long sleep—
As thou hug'rest to gaze on my dwelling of clay,
Forgetting my spirit in this white array?

'Tis well with me, mother; my trials are o'er;
Earth's sorrows and changes can pain me no more;
The little brief period of life to me given
Is exchanged for the lasting enjoyments of heaven.

'Tis well with me, mother, O, dry up thy tears!
The home of thy child is not saddened by fears;
From the feet of my Saviour thy sorrows to see,
I would chill the high raptures of heaven to me.

Nay, grieve not, my mother; 'tis well with thy child;
God gave me, he took me; his chastenings are mild;
He looks down from above on thy pathway of tears;
He sees all thy sorrow, will soothe all thy fears.

The well with me, mother; press on to the skies;
Earth's trifling toys yet must learn to despise;
All love can't forbid; let the heart rest above,
In the home of thy child in the regions of love.

A Lesson from a Bee.

"There's a bee humming in that clover-head; makes you can't hear it when you're talkin'; but if you just keep still a minute (Uncle Tim made a little pause) you can hear it as plain as a church bell, and I think it's just as pooty a music-lesson as it tells me more."

"Indeed," said I, "I should like to know what it tells you."

"Well in the first place, it shows me that honey's to be got out of all the flowers, even the loveliest and honeyliest. The bee gets it in the coarsest places, you see; he don't turn up his nose at a mullein-stalk, no more'n he does at a garden pink; and I shouldn't wonder if the Lord had put just as much honey in one as t'other. But if he was a bee with an aristocratic turn of mind, and wouldn't look for honey anywhere but in garden pinks and damask roses, it's my opinion that he'd go home to his hive empty handed the biggest part of the time. And I suppose the Lord has put about as much honey in one man's road as another's, if he only knew how to look for it, and despise mullein stalks.

"Then the bee shows me it's a man's business to hive up honey—not just to go round amusin' himself with the flowers, as I rekin' only what tastes good and what he can eat at the time, but to store it up against the winter of old age and trouble. I mean the honey of wisdom, mam, that begins in the fear of God. And, besides all that, the bee shows me that a man should go to his honest day's work with a joyful spirit, singing and making melody in his heart, and not be agoin round with a sour face and a grumblin' tongue and a cross-grained temper, just as if he thought the Lord who made him didn't know what was good for him.

"But it's time for me to jog along, mam, for this old chair and I haven't been late to church since we took to goin' that together, and we shouldn't like to begin now, though, to be sure, people hain't got no legs and horses to get 'em along don't seem to mind being late much."—Richland and Rivals.

Inexpensive Happiness.

The most perfect hour I ever saw was in a little house like the exact means of whose fires went no costly things. A thousand dollars earned for a year's living of father, mother, and three children. But the mother was the creator of a home in relation with her children was the most beautiful I have ever seen; even a doll carried into the house was lifted up and credited to do good work for souls by the atmosphere which this woman created; every inmate of her house involuntarily looked at the fine face for the keynote of the day, and it always rang clear. From the meanest or clover leaf, alike in spite of her hard house work, she always found time to put by on plates at breakfast, down to the story she had on hand to be read in the evening, there was no intermission of her influence. She has always been, and always will be, my ideal of a mother, wife, home-maker. If to his quick brain, loving heart, and expansive free, had been added the appliances of wealth and the enlargements of wider culture, hers would have been absolutely the ideal home. As it was, it was the best I have ever seen.—Selected.

Epitaph for a Grumbler.

Here rests a man of chronic grumbling,
Who's bosom beats heart embraces are crumbling;
And now he only rests in trouble,
Because it's smooth with ill-fed bosom.
Stranger pass on—none seek to know
Why, when and how, he grumbled so.

MATCHES.—In 1630 Godfrey Hanckwitz in London, applied phosphorus to the making of matches. He first rubbed it between folds of brown paper till it took fire, and it was then made to ignite a stick, one end of which had been dipped in sulphur. This was the earliest form of the common match, such as we use to-day, but the cost of the phosphorus prevented its being largely used for a long while. A very few matches, consisting of small sticks dipped first in sulphur and then in a composition of chlorate of potash, flowers of sulphur, gum or sugar, and cinnabar, which last colored them red, were sold in a little box for fifteen shillings, or nearly four dollars. Accompanying these in the box there was a little bottle of sulphuric acid, into which the match being dipped it was instantly ignited by the chemical action induced between the acid and chlorate of potash. In 1828 Mr. John Walker, a chemist in England, introduced the lucifer match, which was lighted by drawing it rapidly over folded sand-paper. From this time on the steps of improvement were many, and now we have nothing in our houses more useful, more convenient, and more inexpensive than the match.

Rural and Domestic.

THE TRUE INTEREST OF FARMERS.—The busy season will soon be upon us, already the time has come to have our plans and arrangements perfected.—I fear my proffered advice may be too late for some, however, I will venture to advise the farmers of this section to be cautious how they divide their crops for this year. Let us make sure work for bread and meat. In my judgment it will not do in this country to neglect grain crops; and risk our all on cotton. One bushel of corn at home is worth two abroad; is an old but true saying. Sow largely of wheat and oats and peas and plant corn and potatoes as much as you can; manure and cultivate well; and then as much cotton as you can. Keep few hogs, cattle and horses and feed them well; and as many sheep as you can. Sow clover and grass and make hay. Plow deep and fast. If our farmers will adopt this plan my word for it, we shall not need the secret, oath bound society, which is so agitating the country at this time known as the Granges. By the way, our experience for the last few years with secret societies should learn us a lesson. I refer to the League, Heroes, White Brotherhood, Ku Klux, &c. I confess I am satisfied with the past; and shall be guarded for the future. Instead of losing time organizing secret societies, let us work, work.

A PLAIN FARMER.

Manure for Cotton.

The editor of the Southern Cultivator, one of the most substantial and ably conducted of the agricultural journals of the South, in answer to a North Carolina correspondent who asks for a formula for manure for cotton thus comments upon the mode of cultivation and manuring adopted by Mr. Warthen of Georgia whose report of the wonderful yield of five bales to the acre was given on page 3 of the January issue of the Farmer.

Two points in the above should receive special attention: one the deep breaking up of the land, the other the abundant supply of vegetable matter. The ability of a cotton crop to stand drought as well as the quantity of manure, which may safely be applied to it, depends very largely upon the depth to which the land is broken.

Mr. Dickson gives as a result of his experience that to stand a three weeks' drought without injury, the soil must be broken six inches and subsoil six inches also—and for four weeks' drought the soil must be broken eight inches and subsoil six inches. The quantity of fertilizers which may safely be applied is also regulated by the same thing. On page will be found the results reached by the members of two intelligent and enterprising Clubs in Newton county, Georgia. We condense with a soil broken five inches deep fertilizers should be deposited three inches below the surface; soil broken ten inches deep, place fertilizers eight inches below surface.

With four inches soil broken up, 200 pounds of fertilizers may be used per acre; with a soil broken eight inches deep, 500 lbs. fertilizers may be safely applied per acre.

We say then in the first place break up your land fully twelve inches deep and arrange to have the manure mixed with the soil, from within say two inches of the surface to as great a depth as it is broken. The more thorough the intermixture of the manure with the soil, the better the results will be.

This was accomplished in Mr. Warthen's experiment above, by first placing the manure deep in the earth and afterwards twice ploughing the land deeply, in opposite directions. Materials are always brought up from below towards the surface by the plough—not only a turn-plough but the scotter or shovel does the same thing.

To produce maximum results without reference to cost (which we understand to be your proposition) a part of the manure should be applied broadcast and thoroughly incorporated with the soil, as deep as it is broken. With the land broken 12 inches deep, we should not be afraid to apply broadcast 50 bushels cotton seed, and 50 loads of stable manure per acre.

Let this be done not later than the first of February and at once ploughed in. At intervals of a few weeks, plough as Mr Warthen did. A little before planting time, run rows four feet apart and open full eight inches deep and apply in the drill a mixture of 20 bushels cotton seed, 50 bushels lot manure, 350 pounds dissolved bones, 100 pounds plaster and 100 pounds salt per acre. This mixture should be made into a compost some four or five weeks before it is put in the drill. The several ingredients must be as thoroughly mixed as possible dampened and and firmly pressed to prevent over-heating. Should too much heat develope, quench it by applying more water to the heap.—When the compost is put in the drill, run a narrow plough along the drill to mix the manure with the soil, before ridging on it. When ready to plant, roll your cotton seed in a mixture of equal parts ammoniated dissolved bone and plaster.

To have the money needlessly spent every year would give substantial comfort to almost every person. To have the money saved by buying SILVER TIPPED boots and shoes would be by each parent every year a new pair of shoes.
March 11 4w.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Cures All Kinds Of Catarrh.

So successful has Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery proved, as a constitutional treatment for Catarrh, when coupled with the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, applied locally by the use of Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche (the only method of reaching the upper and back cavities of the head, that the proprietor of these medicines has long offered a standing reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh which he cannot cure.—The two medicines, with instrument, for $3 by druggists.

A SPECIMEN OUT OF THOUSANDS.

CORTLAND, ILL., April 25, 1873.

Dr. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR—It is with pleasure I make this statement to you that after taking medicine for twenty years for Foe Catarrh, I tried your Catarrh Remedy and effected a cure, so that it has not troubled me for two years. S. WHEELER.

The great Antagonist of Disease.

What is the natural antagonist of disease? It is the vital principle. From the moment it that Disease is developed in the system, this champion fights the intruder until it either conquers or is conquered. Which side should medicinal science espouse in this life and death struggle? Should it depress and cripple the physical energies of the patient, thereby helping the disorder, or should it reinforce the vitality of the patient and thereby assist in quelling the ailment? Of course the proper answer to this question must be obvious to every one above the grade of an idiot or a lunatic, and hence it follows that the weak and broken down invalid is who chooses to dose himself with depressing slops, instead of tonics, invigorating and vitalizing his enervated frame with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, must be either feeble minded or deranged.—Surely nothing short of imbecility or insanity could induce a person labouring under bodily weakness and nervous prostration, to take day after day powerful doses of some drastic purgative in the hope of gaining strength thereby. Although charlatans may advertise preparations of this character as tonics, people in the full possession of their reason cannot, one would think, accept such as such. If they do the penalty of their credulity may be the shortening of their lives. The rheumatic, dyspeptic, the bilious, the debilitated and nervous, and all who are subject to intermittents, or other diseases brought on by the inclement which prevails at this season, will do well to strength on their nerves, tone their stomachs and regulate their bowels with the Bitters. The twofold operation of the restorative as an invigorant and as aperient, in addition to its direct and specific effect upon the disordered liver, renders it a most efficient remedy for complaints of the digestive, secretive and excretive organs, at present in view. This is corroborated by eminent members of the faculty whose testimony to that effect is published in Hostetter's Almanac for 1874.
March 4-3m.

Children often look Pale and Sick can no other cause than having worms in the stomach. HIMROD'S CURATIVE SYRUP will destroy Worms without injury to the child, being perfectly WHITE and free from all colouring or other injurious ingredients usually used in worm preparations.

CURTIS & BROWN, Proprietors,
No. 215 Fulton Street, New York
Sold by Druggists and Country dealers in Medicine at TWENTY-FIVE CENTS a box.
Jul 9-1y

ADVERTISEMENTS.

DR. M'LANE'S
Celebrated American
WORM SPECIFIC, or VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eyelid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE
Will certainly effect a cure.

The universal success which has attended the administration of this preparation has been such as to warrant us in pledging ourselves to the public to

RETURN THE MONEY
in every instance where it should prove ineffectual: "providing the symptoms attending the sickness of the child or adult should warrant the supposition of worms being the cause." In all cases the Medicine to be given IN STRICT ACCORDANCE WITH THE DIRECTIONS.

We pledge ourselves to the public, that

Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge
DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY
in any form; and that it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

Address all orders to
FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P.S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write them directly, and take none but Dr. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, postpaid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

☞ For sale by Druggists, and Country Storekeepers generally.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.
A Consumptive Cured.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed, a resident lured to Africa every whereby Dr. H. James cured his only child with a preparation of Cannabis Indica. He possesses this recipe for the cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervousness, Debility, Indigestion and Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his fellow sufferers. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.
Jan 28-1y

Established 1840.

B. W. PAYNE, E. S. PAYNE, D. W. PAYNE.

B. W. PAYNE & SONS,
Corning Foundry and Machine Shop,
CORNING, STEUBEN CO., N. Y.

Manufacturers of Stationary Engines, Boilers and

Spark-Arresting Portable Engines
For Plantation Use.
Delivered Free on Board Ship in New York City.
☞ Send for Circular.
Feb 25-12m

Marion High School.

The exercises at the Marion High School for young ladies and girls are in progress, and will be continued until Nov. 20th, except one week in July. Tuition in English, Scientific and Mathematic courses, per term of 20 weeks, from $10 to $25. Ancient and Modern languages each $5. Music on Piano $20. per term. Use of instrument $3. Board $9 per month. For particulars apply to S. E. TRAWICK, A. M Prin.
feb 18—3m.

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of MERCURY, or any injurious mineral substance, but is

PURELY VEGETABLE,

containing those Southern Roots and Herbs, which an all-wise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine,"

Is eminently a Family Medicine; and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill.

After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility, Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC
FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with this ANTIDOTE, all climates and changes of water and food may be faced without fear. As a Remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE, NAUSEA,

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA.
Price, $1.00. Sold by all Druggists.
Feb 18-12m

250,000 COPIES SOLD!
OF
RICHARDSON'S NEW METHOD
FOR THE
PIANO FORTE!!

This the par excellence of all Piano Methods, maintains the front rank, and its sale eclipses that of all others—Foreign or American—combined. The Publishers claim its annual sale of 25,000 Copies is indisputable proof of positive and infinite merit, and its success is no mystery, but due to thorough excellence in all its departments—brilliant and instructive; to its valuable exercises as well as its charming lessons.

A new edition just issued, contains "Schumann's Marked," and the famous "Army's address on the Art of Playing the Piano." "Richardson's New Method," has contained over 264 pages full music size, and is fully entitled to the best Piano Method extant.

PRICE $3.75.

☞ Used by thousands of teachers and sold by all Book and Music Dealers.

ISSUED BY
OLIVER DITSON & CO., CHAS. H. DITSON & CO.
Boston. 711 Broadway, N. York.
May 14-12m.

FURNITURE
W. H. Morris & Co.,
No. 3 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Chamber Suits, Cottage Chamber Sets, Parlor Sets, Dining Room Sets, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Wardrobes, Washstands, Tables, Chairs, Sofas, Lounges, Spring Beds, of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Marble top centre tables &c.

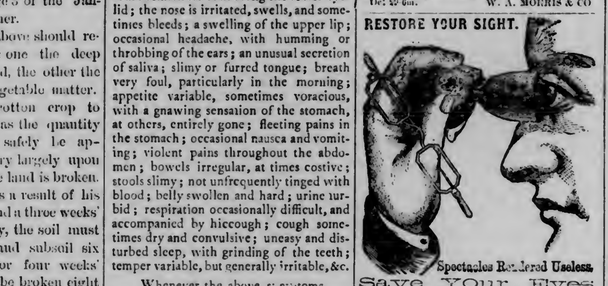
ALSO

keep constantly on hand and make to order all kinds of Mattresses, such as pure Curled Hair, Cotton and Shuck. Excelsior and Husk Mattresses. Old Hair Mattresses remodeled and made as good as new.

No trouble to show goods. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.
Dec 25-6m.

W. A. MORRIS & CO

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.



Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes,
RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by
Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.
Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operators rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases: 1. Implied Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sightedness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring; 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Diplopia, or Double or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—are guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, originating from the acts of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Amaurosis, or Dilated Eyes; 10. Myderopia—a mist or specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of sight.

Any one can use the Ivory Eye Cups without the aid of a doctor or medicine as a perfect immediate benefit is derived and never ever spectacles or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,368 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of culture and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 28 Hon. H. Greeley, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deceit, or any fraud." Ex-Gov. Chittenden and others.

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 28th, 1870: "Without my spectacles I can now see this note, after using the Ivory Eye Cups thirteen days, and this morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the greatest ease."

"May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years, I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 15 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am still delighted. They are good. I applied to us for the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salem, Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, an article truly valuable, and being already entirely lifted for 26 years."

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Antelope, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye, and partial blindness of my right eye, by one application of your Patent Eye Cups restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the INCREASE PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE, of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co., P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worst cases of MYOPIA or NEAR SIGHTEDNESS we our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Wants no more need of adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED.

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. Twelve Agents $99 a week will be guaranteed.

Send for address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.
Sept 6-12m.

$20.000 WANTED.

The Trustees of Greensboro' Female College wish to borrow any part of the above amount in sums to suit parties having money to loan. They will give the rate of the competition with satisfactory personal endorsers, or pledge the rate of eight per cent. per annum. The principal will be paid when required up to a reasonable notice and the interest annually. Price-lists of the college will be sent to the amount it will help the Institution and we think will be a perfectly safe investment. Please address the undersigned.

T. R. D. WILSON
President Board Trustees.
Jan 7-8w

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE
LENOIR, N. C.

The Spring session for 1874 will open on Monday, Jan. 12th.

Board and Tuition per session, with music, vocal and instrumental, $110.00

Traveling preachers' daughters tuition free.

Board and Tuition always in advance.

Send for a catalogue. Address,

REV. W. M. ROBEY, Pres.
nov 19-3mos.

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Thursday, Jan. 1th, 1874

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	7.30 P. M.	8.35 A. M.
" Air-Line J'nct'n	7.15 "	8.50 "
" Salisbury.....	12 09 "	10 47 "
" Greensboro'.....	2.15 A. M.	1.15 P. M.
" Danville.....	6.36 "	5.37 "
" Burkville.....	11.40 "	8.06 "
Arrive at Richmond...	6.00 P. M.	11.00 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.48 P. M.	4.00 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4.55 "	8.25 "
" Danville.....	9.52 "	1.08 P.M.
" Greensboro'....	1.16 A. M.	4.09 "
" Salisbury.....	3.56 "	6.38 "
" Air-Line J'nct'n	6.32 "	8.55 "
Arrive at Charlo. &c..	6.30 A. M.	9.00 "

GOING EAST.	GOING WEST
STATIONS.	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'.....	2.06 A. M.
" Co. Shops.....	3.25 "
" Raleigh.....	5.30 "
Arrive at Goldsboro	7.40 A. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro	8.10 P. M.
Leave Raleigh.....	10.30 "
Arrive at Raleigh....	6.40 "
Leave Raleigh.....	7.00 P. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'....	11.30 A. M.

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.
(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'.....	4.40 P. M.
Arrive at Salem.....	8.05 P. M.
Leave Salem.....	8.00 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'....	10.00 A. M.

Mail trains daily, Sundays excepted.

On Sundays Lynchburg accommodation leaves Richmond 9.42 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.30 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.30 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.05 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, and Richmond and Danville.

Passengers can have arrangements to advertise the Seaboard Air-Line on all this company will please print as above, for further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C
T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.45 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	3.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.45 A. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.00 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and N. Chassoi, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Chulotte & Augusta Air Line to Hayward and Fayetteville.

Accommodation and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accomodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Petersburg Railroad.

And at Raleigh with Accomodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad South Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Trains leaves Raleigh,	1.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.5 "
Trains leaves Sanford,	6.45 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.25 "

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	3.05 P. M
Arrives at Sanford,	8.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	3.45 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	8.30 "

Mail Train makes close connection at Weldon with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

Pre-assurance and Freight Trains connect with Accommodation and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Sup rintendent.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Bridles, Harness, &c,
Opposite Tucker Hall,
FAYETTEVILLE STREET,
RALEIGH, N.C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,
DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Bat-Co Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just received at
PESCUD, LEE & CO.'S
Drug Store.
Jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,
DEALER IN
PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment of second hand Pianos kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms or Simpson's Drug Store.
Oct. 22 6m.

A new work of intense INTEREST and intrinsic VALUE

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley." A graphic History of Ocean Navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling incidents, fearful disasters, pirates, perils, &c. ABOVE, also the sovereign BENEATH the sea, Diving, Dredging, Pearl fishing &c., 225 spirited Illustrations. Agents just started report 101 orders in four days, 127 in five days, 75 in two days &c.; sells wonderfully fast. 3000 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and circulars, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, 723 Sansom St. Phila.
Sept 15-12m.

BRINLY PLOWS

BEST AND CHEAPEST IN USE.
Have taken over 250 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List, and certificates of planters who use them.
SOLE MANUFACTURERS:
BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,
LOUISVILLE, KY.
FACTORY: 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 Main Street.
Sept 24-6m.

FOR SALE.

A fine Carriage, two single Dump Carts, a set of Carriage Harness and Harness for the Carts. Sold together or separately. Apply early to
A. G. LEE & McMACKIN.
Feb 18-tf

T. W. GUTHRIE, Rockingham, N. C. GEO. A. NEWELL, Wilmington, N. C.

"BLEES"
Link-Motion, Lock-Stitch, Shuttle
NOISELESS

Hems,
Braids,
Gathers,
Tucks,
Ruffles,
Cords,
Binds,
Frills,
Quilts,
Gathers,
&c., &c.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Uses the straight needle, and will do the greatest range and variety of work of any machine ever before offered to the public.

Challenges the world in perfection of work, strength and beauty of stitch, durability of sons ruction and rapidity of motion.

Reliable agents wanted for every county in the State, to whom liberal terms will be given.

NEWELL & GUTHRIE, General Agents
No. 3 South Front Street,
Wilmington, N. C.
nov 26-tf

ÆTNA FIRE CO.

Assets, $5.782.635.09.

W. H. CROW, Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.
may C-12m.

ÆTNA LIFE COMPANY,
JANUARY 1873.
ASSETS, - - - $18.077.549.66

Represented in North Carolina, and Va., South of James River by
W. H. CROW, Manager.
Office, Raleigh.

WILLIAMSON, UPCHURCH & THOMAS
WHOLESALE GROCERS
—AND—
Commission Merchants,
FAYETTEVILLE ST.,
OPPOSITE METROPOLITAN HALL.

B. F. WILLIAMSON,
W. G. UPCHURCH,
J. J. THOMAS, JR.
} RALEIGH, N. C.
oct 1-tf

WATSON'S GALLERY
—OF—
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South; where every style of Photographic likeness is executed from the smallest miniature, to the large Parlor Size, and colored in oil or water colors, in a superior manner, by artists of long experience and reliability. Pictures taken in cloudy weather as well as in clear, and in great variety, at low prices. When you come to Raleigh, don't fail to call on WATSON'S GALLERY 2nd door above Tucker Hall.

J. W. WATSON.
Dec 18-12

THE VICTOR SEWING MACHINE
TRIUMPHANT!

It is the very best Machine in the world, and has taken the first premium at every Fair wherever it has been exhibited!

Our New Patent Shuttle is the Simplest and only Perfect one in use.

The Only Lock-Stitch Machine that has a Self-Setting Needle.

It runs straight and self-setting needle. The needle cannot be set wrong. A self-adjusting tension. No difficulty in getting the thread to work properly on light goods. A new PATENT SHUTTLE the best, and only self-threading. The only machine that is free from all friction. It has no springs, wire or cogs. The lightest running and simplest in use. All parts adjustable. Buy no other machine if you want the best.

Persons who will send direct to our office for machines will receive a discount of twenty per cent. to agents' commission and thus get their machines at wholesale price. This refers to parties living in such places where we have no agents established.

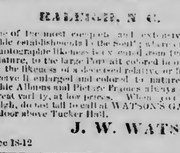
Agents wanted in every county. Better terms given than any other Company.

Address
Rev. C. H. BERNHEIM,
General Agent Concord, N. C.
J. M. BROUGHTON, Raleigh, N. C.,
Agent for Central North Carolina.
oct 1—1y

BUTLER'S STAINED GLASS WORKS
29 Pearl Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
☞ Specimen Sent on application.
mar 20—12m.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWER CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free,
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati.
apr 16—12m.

STIEFF'S PIANOS.



UPWARDS OF FIFTY
FIRST PREMIUMS
GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

Were awarded to CHARLES M. STIEFF, for the Best Pianos, in competition with all the leading manufacturers in the country.

OFFICE AND WAREROOMS:—No. 9 N. Liberty Street, Baltimore, Md.

The Superiority of the Unrivalled Stieff Piano Forte, is conceded by all who have compared it with others. In their New Grand Square Scale, 7⅓ Octaves, the manufacturer has succeeded in making the most perfect Piano Forte ever built.

Prices will be found as reasonable as consistent with thorough workmanship.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos always on hand, from $50 to $300.

We are agents for the celebrated Bardett Cabinet, Parlor and Church Organs, all styles and prices, to suit every one, guaranteed to be fully equal to any made.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 1500 Southerners, 1500 of whom are Virginians, 200 North Carolinians, 150 East Tennesseans and others throughout the South, who have bought the Stieff Piano since the close of the war.
april 6-12m.

WIRE RAILING & ORNAMENTAL
Wire Works
Dufur & Co.,
36 North Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.

Manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, &c., SHUTTERS, FENCES, CAGES, SAND AND COAL SCREENS, WOVEN WIRE, &c. ALSO, IRON BEDSTEADS CHAIRS, SETTEES, &c., &c.
Feb 18-12m

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD!

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
NO. 141 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Assets- - -$1,500,000.00

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary.

Wm. M. COLE, Secretary.
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., LL.D., Med. Director.

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES,

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for INTEREST, INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS—upon which elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of their Policies, each and every year, and in a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation thereby be held by the Companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully see for the important safeguard. IT WILL BE FOUND IN THE BRO

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX.---NO. 12. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 25, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,010.

Selected Poetry.

At Jesus' Feet

BY DWIGHT WILLIAMS.

Here at Thy feet, dear Lord, I kneel,
I know by Whom my sins are healed;
A poor, weak soul that lingers near,
And trembles while it clings in fear.
This is my sole refuge,
My only blessed fort—
Here, Lord, I will lay bare
My heart before Thee.

For what is it that threatens
Where round me Love and Loathing forge?
I know the arrow on Satan's quiver,
And where the leaden hands;
Though his open side
Cannot hit—feet I hide—
Here, Lord, I will lay bare
My heart before Thee.

Here at Thy feet, while here I wait,
My weariness and Thine shall meet;
I will not rise, and I cease
How can I do less than cease,
If Love so fascinates
A poor, weak heart—
And I, perfect I, will wait Thee.

Here, room in all the down-fall;
Vanishing dread and retreat!
Trust for every penny plentiful,
Love, Mercy, Justice
Here, Lord, I will lay bare
My heart before Thee.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Letters to a Young Itinerant.---No. 7.

MY DEAR YOUNG BROTHER: The great question at last with you is to determine what kind of a woman you should select to comfort, encourage and assist you in your arduous and peculiar work—with what special virtues and excellencies ought she to be endowed?

These are important considerations. They should demand serious and prayerful deliberation from you.—Your future happiness in life as well as your success in the ministry, are to be largely influenced by the wise and discretion you exercise, and the success that may crown your efforts in this matter. It is not my purpose, even were I competent to the task, to attempt a delineation of the traits and attributes of character that should always be found pre-eminent in an itinerant's wife, such as piety, intelligence, respectability, &c. The very fitness of things would suggest all these to your judgment as indispensable. But there is one element of character in an itinerant's wife so important to you and so necessary to her that I cannot too earnestly direct your attention to it, and that is, that in addition to her piety, intelligence, &c., she should be strongly imbued with the spirit of the itinerancy, by which I mean that in her sphere she should feel ready and willing to become a co-worker, co-laborer with you in the great work of winning souls to Christ and building up the church. That she may be prepared to do this, she must make up her mind to forego many of the pleasures and endearments of home. Here will be her severest struggle—she must expect to endure hardness and toil, to make sacrifices and suffer privation—to wander amid strangers whose acquaintance and friendship she can only taste, ere duty and affection call her away to other fields and other folds and thus her life is one scene of meeting and parting, of joy and sorrow, of self-denial and consecration.

Such, my dear brother, is a brief outline glance at some of the pre-requisites of an itinerant's wife, and in view of the multitudinous duties and responsibilities of the situation, nothing less than the moral heroism of woman would consent to assume them, and in assuming them she needs your most exalted affection and honor, to sustain her.

But I repeat, do not be in a hurry about it; better wait than tie your hands as a minister by a premature, ill advised and unsuitable match that may not only embitter your life, but may in the end drive you from the ministry; give yourself time for observation, for the study of human character, for the exercise of a wise discretion, and for the openings of Providence without whose guidance and blessing you cannot do anything as you ought. It might materially aid you in this regard to cultivate female society, having in view its refining, elevating and purifying influence, and that it may prove so to you. You should have regard not only to the person, but also the topics that may be brought forward, for however humiliating the fact, it is nevertheless too true that much of the conversation between the sexes in the so-called fashionable circles of society is mere twaddle, which, if printed, would rank with Mother Goose's stories, or any other foolish and nonsensical play upon words that you can think of.—Such vain and frivolous conversation is beneath the dignity of your office, and besides the contempt it [illegible] finally throws [illegible]

The true relation and companionship of [illegible] young lady, however desirable and improving, may, ere you are aware, become a snare to you, for which she is in no wise responsible, for unless you are careful, there may be so much that is attractive and enjoyable about such a one, as to disturb the equilibrium of your mind and thoughts, unfitting you for that mature reflection and deep mental effort which is so often demanded in your preparations for the pulpit—and besides this, indulging in the inclination to linger with and around her. You may almost imperceptibly to yourself neglect your work, or exhibit less than your usual zeal and interest in it, and in this way living upon yourself the opprobium of a wife-hunter, whose mind and heart are more interested and engrossed on the subject of marriage than earnest, faithful, pastoral work.

In all these regards your conduct will be closely watched, and freely and sometimes severely criticised, so that it will require great prudence and discretion on your part to walk worthy of your vocation and high calling.

And now, my dear young brother, while there are many other points in this connection I might notice, I will not do so now. I have found great delicacy and embarrassment surrounding this whole subject, and would not have ventured my remarks upon it had I not deemed it necessary to guard you at a few points, at which you might inadvertently or impulsively err. Exercising a wise discretion and forecast and imploring as you ought divine direction in all this matter, there is no need, and if you are not too self-reliant, there is no danger of your bringing upon yourself, your office or the church the reproaches to which we have alluded, and with this assurance I most willingly lay down my pen on this point.

I shall probably have one more letter before I am done.

Yours in Christ,

WATCHMAN.

Cedar Grove, March 1874.

For the Advocate.

Higher Education.

MR. EDITOR: Much is said in these days, about Higher Education: the wants of the State: superior culture, and other such generalities. I have examined the subject, a good deal, and cannot see what is wanted. Those who speak so much of the matter, may know, but I doubt it. They indicate that we lack something: my opinion is that our college courses are too high for the wants of our people. Let us look at the senior course at Trinity. The catalogue says, they are to read one book in Latin. Greek Testament, Mathematical Astronomy, Mineralogy, Geology, Uranography, Mental Philosophy, History of Philosophy, Moral Philosophy, and Political Economy. The way these things are studied here, that would be heavy work, study and wastefulness such as these croakers never dreamed of: work such as would ruin their brains and health. If we had simply to learn what there was in the books, that would be moderate, but what is in the book is the smallest part of what we must thoroughly master. Our course of Lectures on Psychology, embraces Anatomy, Physiology, Mental Science, the Natural Sciences in part, Didactics, Aesthetics &c. We must fathom Hamilton, Plato, Aristotle, Reid, Mill, Kant, and a host of others. Yet they talk of higher learning! Verily these Modern Solomon's talk because they do not know. "They know not whereof they speak." In Constitutional Law, we must digest Kent, Story, and others, with history, treatises, and judicial decisions, in International Law, we must digest Kent, Vattel and Halleck, with a comprehensive view of nations, wars, treaties and territorial adjustments. In Political Economy we must come from beyond Adam Smith; exploring everything, tariffs, banks, productions, commerce, tariff, free trade, and all the impossibilities of Mill and others. Yet somebody wants higher Institutions! The most astounding thing in North Carolina is that we have so little knowledge of what is in the State. Our reviews are a year's work. We re-read the Ancient Languages, with lectures on Philosophy, construction, History, Rhetoric and Logic. We review Mathematics from Arithmetic up, with a most painful minuteness, having lectures on the concepts, logic and relations of the departments. The natural sciences are reviewed, expounded and illustrated, with full examinations of their multiform theories, errors and progress. In Belles Lettres, we range the fields from the old Epic and Tragic lore, through all fields and lands down to the productions of those who say our young men need something! I should be glad to know what is higher, or where it can be found. I wish those who write such articles would distinctly and specifically state what they want. Some men who graduated years ago, and yet [illegible] want it [illegible] these colleges and do the same. They are calling for something higher, who, they have no idea of what is higher. I say in dence, like the reputation of benevolence. The reform movement was to him a sudden and confusing flurry, in which strikers, to whose terms he would not yield, had somehow gained a momentary advantage. He had perhaps made a mistake in not buying them at their own price. Success had possibly put him off his guard. He was sure that if an indictment were found, that would be the end of it, and he had no feeling of shame. His friend Fisk had shown what lawyers were made of, and he himself would buy lawyers and judges, sheriffs and juries. He knew that the one thing that in a needy and greedy world cannot fail is money. He came to his first trial, and the jury disagreed: naturally, for he had bought some of them. The evidence is, of course, moral only, but it is conclusive. If justice, facetiously so-called, wanted another bout, he would "come up smiling." There was no trick or quibble that lawyers could devise for which he had not made munificent preparation, even to assenting that the judge who obstinately refused to name a price was disqualified from sitting at the trial. Money had never failed before, it certainly would not at this last pinch.

But it did, and the bewilderment and consternation of this simple devotee were pitiful. He had but one article in his faith, and that was now destroyed. He had staked everything upon the certainty of the almighty dollar, and he had lost.—Harper's Magazine.

Hiding Behind Jesus

About fifteen years ago a student in the Theological Seminary in Columbia, being on a visit of a few days to a venerable and beloved minister of Harmony Presbytery, was invited by him to conduct the usual Friday afternoon Prayer Meeting at the "church in the woods" as he was wont to call it, situated about half a mile from his residence. The young man consented and selected as the basis of his remarks the first ten verses of the second chapter of Matthew, showing that from the very beginning of His life upon earth, Jesus was the victim of persecution, pain and sorrow, and that in Him, whom continued opposition and persecution failed to destroy, was the sinner's hope for acceptance with [illegible] life. At the close of the meeting, and when the congregation had dispersed, the venerable father deliberately locked the doors of the church on the inside, invited the young man into the pulpit, carefully and tenderly removed the linen cloth that protected the Bible from the dust, and then bade him stand in the place where himself was accustomed to stand Sabbath after Sabbath. After a pause he asked his young friend: "What do you see?" "Nothing but empty benches" was the reply. "Just what I wanted you to see" said the minister. "And now, my young brother, you have done a great thing. A little while ago, these benches were full of life. Precious souls were there, and you were feeding them. They have gone away now, and have carried your words with them. You held up Jesus to them, and they have gone away to think about Him and, I hope, to love and trust Him more. Let me urge you to hold up Jesus always before you. Hold Him up so that the people can see Him and only Him. The Devil will often tempt you to show a little bit of yourself—your hand or little finger. But don't let Him deceive you. The more you show of yourself, the less will Jesus be seen. Hide behind Jesus, my young brother, hide every bit of yourself behind Him. Don't let the people see that you are there, but only Jesus, and the Lord will bless you in saving souls."

Years, varied with many alternate joys and sorrows, lights and shadows, have rolled away, since these words were spoken by the Beloved and devoted pastor of Mount Zion Church in Harmony Presbytery, now laid aside by the infirmities of years, and ripening for glory; but the words have never been fo gotten. The student passed from the Seminary walls into a laborious ministry, and after years of toil was disqualified by disease from the active duties of the ministry and called by the Master to a different sphere of service; but he has carried with him everywhere as a precious legacy the earnest advice of his venerable friend.

And surely they are words worthy not only of being treasured up, but of being practically used by all who would do God's will most faithfully and profit their own souls.—Central Presbyterian.

SPEAKING of Joachim's violin performances in Paris, the Pall Mall Gazette remarks that it is impossible, hearing Bach played by Herr Joachim, not to be struck by the wonderful spirit of the old master. Herr Joachim, too, can prove, bow in hand, that in passages where one might think there was nothing but intricacy, there is beauty in abundance; not, indeed, beauty of sentiment, but such beauty as belongs to vigor and robustness of health. Bach's music is essentially masculine, for which reason it finds its fittest exponent in Herr Joachim, most manly of violinists. The music of many a modern composer is of quite a different gender. Chopin's music, for instance, is unmistakably feminine, while the music of Wagner, so barren of melody, can only be looked upon as neuter.

Mr. Moody's Power.

The Edinburgh Daily Review, a secular paper, thus indicates its view of the elements of his power? Are they not the elements of all pulpit power? And are not some of them lacking in many otherwise good ministers of Christ?

He is not a man of much education or culture; his manner is abrupt and blunt; his speech bristles with Americanisms; his voice is sharp, rapid and colloquial; and he never attempts any thing like finished or elaborate composition. But he is in downright earnest. He believes what he says; he says it as he believed it, and he expects his audience to believe it. He gets wonderfully near to his hearers, without any apparent effort. Whatever size the audience may be, he is at home with them at once, and he makes them feel that they are at home with him. He is gifted with a rare sagacity, and insight into the human heart, a knowledge of what is stirring in it and of what is fitted to impress it. He has in his possession a large number of incidents and experiences well fitted to throw light on the points he employs them to elucidate, and to clench the appeals which he uses them to enforce. In addition to all this he has a deeply pathetic vein, which enables him to plead very earnestly at the very citadel of the heart. At first his tone may seem to be hard. He will take for his text, "There is no difference," and press the doctrine of universal condemnation as if the worst and the best were precisely alike. Possibly the antagonism of his audience is somewhat aroused. But by and-by he will take them with him to some affecting death-bed, and his tone will show how profoundly his own heart is stirred by what is happening there. The vein of pathos comes out tenderly and beautifully. He seems as if he were lying on the ground pleading in tears with his hearers to come to Christ. But, most important of all, he seems to rely for effect absolutely on Divine power. Of course every true preacher does but in very different degrees of conscious trust and expectation. Mr. Moody goes to his meetings fully expecting the divine presence, because he has asked it. He speaks with the fearlessness, the boldness and the directness of one delivering a message from the King of kings and Lord of lords. And he takes pains to have his own heart in the spirit of the message. He tries to go to his audience loving them, and actively and fervently longing for their salvation. He says that if he does not try to stir up this spirit of love beforehand he cannot get hold of an audience; if he does, he never fails.—He endeavors to address them with a soul steeped in the corresponding emotion. He seems to try, like Baxter, never to speak of weighty soul concerns without his whole spirit being drenched therein.

The South.

BY FATHER RYAN.

Yes, give me the land
Where the palms are spread,
And the living tread light
On the dust of the dead;
Yes give me the land
That is ided by the dust,
And bright with the deeds
Of the dear ir olden just.

Yes, give me the land
Where the light's red blast
Has fixed on the future
The form of the past,
Yes, give me the land
That hath legends and lays
That tell of the memories
Of long vanished days.

Yes, give me the land
That hath story and song,
To tell of the strife
Of the right with the wrong;
Yes, give me the land
With a grave in each spot,
And names by the graves
That shall not be forgot.

Yes, give me the land
Of the wreck and the tomb;
There's grandeur in graves
There's glory in gloom;
For out of the gloom
Future brightness is born;
As after the night
Comes the sunrise of morn.

And, the graves of the dead,
With the grass overgrown,
May yet form the footstool
Of Liberty's throne;
And each simple wreck
In the way path of right,
Shall yet be a rock
In the temple of right.

What the Preacher Has to Deal With.

Let the preacher recollect that while in the pulpit he is in communication with the actual facts of life, and not with a merely philosophical dream; that he is called upon to confront the cruelty of nature and the scorn of time, the vacinity and turbulence of youth and the obduracy of unregenerate years, the half-formed sin and the lukewarm repentance, the sharp pain of regret and the rankling sting of unkindness, the weariness of hope deferred and a joyless life, the sickness of a present sorrow and the bitterness of a new bereavement, the bitter burden of many cares which crushes the soul down to the ground, and there is none to help or raise it up again. Let him recollect that he talks to the fathers of thankless children, to the struggling artisan or tradesman, to the young man about to enter life or who has just began it, to the poor seamstress with her sorely tried powers, and the young gentlewoman who seeks some clue to her destiny in the best mode of distributing her energies and employing her time, to the widow and the fatherless, to the prosperous and wealthly, with their dangers and responsibilities. All these varying circumstances of life, and many others which are found in every church and in every congregation, should be distinctly recognized and admonished with an earnest, fervent and loving thoughtfulness. It is not enough that they should be grouped under one heading, and addressed without any special meaning or intention. The proper function of the pulpit and its worthy fulfillment implies something more than this. It should seek its proper field in the common experiences of life, its business, sufferings, and pleasures, not in the emotional transports of a vague and purposeless enthusiasm, which has no reference to anything beyond itself, its circle, and its churches; which leaves every day virtues and simple offices of good for transcendental sentiments sought for their own sakes, whose effects die with themselves.—London Quarterly.

Receiving Members.

BY BISHOP E. M. MARVIN, D. D.

From extended observation and no little inquiry as to the fact, I am convinced that there is in most instances too great precipitancy in the manner of receiving members into the Church. Many are received in a manner so careless and slovenly that the fact leaves a very slight impression upon their minds. They come in without any intelligent view of the obligations they are assuming, or any very profound sense of consecration to God. They offer themselves as candidates, and are received at the same moment in numerous instances; or, if there is a delay of a few days, there is no use made of the interval for thorough inquiry into the spiritual state of the applicant, or for his instruction with a view to his preparation for the most solemn vows of church membership.

The consequence of this is that great multitudes of people come into the Church without any just sense of the obligations either of self denial or duty which this step involves. The vow of repentance has no definite meaning to them. When they stand up in the house of God, and solemnly and in form renounce "the vain pomp and glory of the world," and "the carnal desires of the flesh," they have a vague sense of the solemnity of the act, no doubt, and realize some indistinct sense of the fact that the claims of God are to be held sacred as against worldly pomps and pleasures. But they do not understand that they are to keep aloof from the dance, the theater, the circus, and kindred places of worldly pleasure and folly. The consequence is that, after having renounced the world, they still cling to it, and the love of it returns upon them in a rapid and unrestrained growth of desire and indulgence, which dwarfs and ultimately destroys all spiritual life. They live in pleasures—vain, worldly pleasures—and are dead while they live.

It is to be feared that some come into the Church who never, scarcely even for a day, overcome the "covetous desires" of the world. They are as much given to the pursuit of riches as before they took the vow, and engage in this pursuit by resorting sometimes to speculations and methods of the most doubtful propriety.—They "love this present world," and if there is a question as between financial sharpness and Christian duty, it is always given in favor of the former.—I trust this class is not very large in the Church, but that it is represented in considerable numbers, is beyond question.

Is it not true, also, that there are many in the Church, with a merely selfish purpose, looking only to their own good, without any just sense of their obligation to maintain the honor and support the institutions of the Church, as if the Church could do anything toward their salvation otherwise than as it brings them to an active Christian life?

The best time to secure right views and a deep sense of obligation in all these things is in the period of a man's candidacy for membership. Then, of all times, is he most open. If he is not prepared for the truth, but is going to draw back to perdition, he had better do so then than later. Let him not go through the mockery of taking formal vows that he does not understand, and possibly would not take if he did.

There may be instances in which a pastor knows beforehand that the candidate is well instructed and quite prepared for the vow. In such cases, of course, there need be no time required for the preparatory work. But no pastor is justifiable in taking a member into full connection until he is satisfied, upon personal conference, that the candidate is ready for that step, with all the grave consequences of it.

Indeed I believe it is better in all cases to hold applicants for a time as candidates, and see them privately and know the exact view with which they enter upon the public profession of Christ.

One point especially I would insist upon. I would receive no one who had not read the Discipline. Every applicant ought to be kept at the threshold until until he has done this. Certainly it is unwise in any man to enter a Church without acquainting himself with its conditions. In the Methodist Church these are found in the Book of Discipline. If any man is so heedless as to offer himself in ignorance of what that book contains, the Church ought not to allow him to consummate his purpose until he has become sufficiently thoughtful to know what he is doing before he does it.

It is humiliating to find so many of our members ignorant of vital principles connected with their own Church. Are we preachers not really to blame? Is it not inexcusable in us to allow any one to come into the Church before he knows really what the Church is?

I would keep the candidate waiting so long as might be necessary to make him feel how solemn a thing it is, and at the same time, how high a privilege it is, to take a place among the people of God. If he is faithful afterward he will be the better and happier for it all his life. But he who slips into the Church so quick and easy as scarcely to know it, suffers a perpetual loss

It may be possible to make the way into the Church too difficult, and so discourage the timid; but I think this is not the fault to which Methodist preachers are so liable. The tendency among us is in the opposite direction. Moreover, the faithful pastor will know how to encourage hesitating and yet secure all the results which I have insisted on.—New Orleans Christian Advocate.

What must I do to be--Lost?

"What must I do to be lost?"—"Neglect so great salvation." It is not necessary to do anything. We are lost already. Jesus offers to save us; but if we reject his offer, we remain just as we were. "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" Escape is impossible, if we neglect the only means of safety. If a deadly serpent bite you, and you refuse the remedy, you die. If you are drowning, and you will not seize the life-buoy thrown to you, you sink.—Neglect is ruin. Jesus alone can save the soul! Neither is there salvation in any other. Oh, sinner, your damnation is sure if you neglect Jesus. If he that despised Moses' law died without mercy, of how much more sorer punishment shall he be thought worthy who hath trodden under foot the Son of God? Dost thou think that God will not execute his threatenings: that thou canst escape his piercing eye, or that the rocks will cover thee? Alas, vain hopes! There is no escape, but to come to Jesus, and simple neglect is certain perdition! "Because I called, but ye refused. Then shall they call but I will not answer: they shall seek me, but shall not find me!" Oh sinner, escape this awful threatening!—Jesus now stands with open arms and entreats you to be saved! Come with all your sins and sorrows—come just as you are—come at once. He will in no wise cast you out. Come to Jesus! —[Hall.

True Religion.

A life of religion is a life of faith, and faith is that faculty by which man sees the invisible, exactly as some animals have the power of seeing in the dark. That is the difference between the Christian and the world. Most men know nothing beyond what they see; their lovely world is all in all to them—its outer beauty, not its hidden loveliness. Prosperity, adversity, sadness, is all the same, they struggle through it all alone, and when old age comes, and the companions of early life are solitary. In all this deep, strange world, they never meet, or but for a moment, the spirit of it all who stands at their very side. And it is exactly the opposite of this which makes a Christian. Move where he will, there is a thought and a presence which he cannot put aside, he is "haunted forever by the eternal mind." God looks out upon him from the clear sky, and through the thick darkness—is present in the rain drop that trickles through the branches, and in the branches, and in the tempest that crashes down the forest. A living Redeemer stands beside him, goes with him, talks with him as a man with his friend. The emphatic description of a life of spirituality is—"Enoch walked with God."

Science.

The fishes of the tertiary formations present remarkable similarities to those of the present period. In the United States, those of the Eocene are cod fishes, gar, and dog fishes, differing but little from modern American types of fresh waters. In brackish formations of the same age are herring and perch, related to the Aphredoditus of our coasts. In fresh-water States, in Nevada and Colorado, suckers and cat fishes, still more like the modern ones, exist in great profusion of individuals and poverty of species. The fishes of the Cretaceous formation are much more peculiar and never, so far as known, in America, of existing genera. Most of them are formidably armed with teeth and spines. In one species the teeth are smooth cones, two inches in length, and the spine of the breast fin (pectoral) is made of numerous aggregated rays, to the length of nearly four feet. The front edge is covered with enamel, and is sharp, like a sword. In the fossilized state it could be used to split wood like a hatchet.

In a recent work on "The Object and Method of Zoological Nomenclature," Mr. David Sharp calls attention to the confusion which has arisen in the use of zoological names, on account of the different systems of naming which have crept into use.—The most approved system has been that of Linnæus, which is, that the name of every species of animal or plant should be made up of two words, the latter having reference always to the species, and changeable, the former to the genus, and unchangeable, as Felis catus, Felis tigris, and Felis leo, the names of the cat, tiger, and lion, different species of the same genus. For the variety of uses latterly obtaining, Mr. Sharp proposes, according to Nature, "that, not merely one half, but the entire name of every species once given, should be inviolable, until by general consent some permanent classificatory system of naming species, analogous to that used in chemistry, is arrived at. The insect named by Linnæus Papilio dido, should, for example, retain that name, although it must find its classificatory place in the genus Colœnis and the family Nymphalidæ; while the glossy starling of the East should retain the name Turdus ater, given to it by Gmelin, although it is no thrush, and belongs to the genus Calornis. The name would thus remain fixed, however the place of the species in our classifications might be changed; and the very errors of the original describers might help us to remember the object referred to by directing our attention to the cause of their error in classifying it."

THE ARTS.

At a well known Roman Catholic Church, in Liverpool, lately, it had been arranged by the choir to perform Haydn's Mass No. 1, but owing to an unforeseen occurrence, Haydn's Service No. 4 was substituted. Afterward, the blower of the organ, who has held the situation for many years, remarked to one of the singers: "I say, Miss, that there service went very bad, didn't it? They never told me they were going to sing Haydn No. 4, and I was blowing Haydn No. 1 all the time."

MISS THACKERAY, in an article in the Cornhill Magazine, on Sir Edwin Landseer, says: "There were few studios formely more charming to visit than Landseer's. Besides the genial artist, and his beautiful pictures, the habitues of his work-shop, as he called it, belonged to the elite of the London society, especially the men of wit and distinguished talents—none more often there than d'Orsay. 'Landseer,' he would call out at his entrance, 'keep the dogs off me (the painted ones); I want to come in, and some of them will bite me—and that fellow in de corner is growling furiously.'"

M. EDMUND ABOUT writes of M. Gustave Dore, in the London Athenæum: "It has been at once the good and evil fortune of this strange genius to have succeeded too soon. From the moment of his debut Dore had nothing but success, and success of more than one sort, for nature has been bountiful to him. He played the violin like a laureate of the Conservatoire; he sang in such a way as to deserve the applause of Rossini; he was as great an athlete as the most muscular undergraduate of Oxford or Cambridge. His genial and loyal character disarmed envy, while his private life under his mother's roof wins universal esteem."

Death in New Houses.

The coincidence of a man's moving into a new house and dying soon after has frequently been a subject of remark, and there is an avoidable cause—the house is moved into before the walls and plaster and the wood are sufficiently dried. Sometimes the cause of death is the poisonous character of the water conveyed through new lead pipes. No water for drinking or cooking purposes should be used in a building supplied with new lead pipes in whole or in part, for at least one month after the water has been used daily; this gives time for protecting coating to form on the inner surface of the pipes, when their chemical change from contract with water generally ceases.

But the damp materials of the house have the most decided effect, especially on persons over fifty years old, or of frail constitutions, whereas, if the person were in the full vigor of life and health not even an inconvenience would be experienced.

In building a new house, or in going to live in another locality, where the water supply is not far from the house, it should be ascertained with the utmost certainty that the spring or well is higher than the barnyards. Insidious and fatal forms of decline and typhoid fever often [illegible] persons drinking water which is drained from [illegible] localities named. The safest [illegible] the only safe plan for [illegible] dwellings with the most [illegible] and abundant [illegible] water, is to have a water tight cistern and let the water from the roof of the house or barn, or other out houses, be conveyed into it through a box to rest on a board or cemented bottom and sides, so that no outside water could get into it.—Journal of Health.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN

OF THE

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE

OF THE

M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

FOR ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE, $2.00

SIX MONTHS, 1.25

If payment be delayed six months, 2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH N. C. MARCH 25, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

True Success in Life.

The question, what constitutes true success in life? will receive various answers, according to the different stand points, from which men view life.—The mere worldling will say, the accumulation of property is man's chief end, and whoever makes a fortune "conquers a success." There are few who are so lost to a sense of man's higher destiny, that they will deliberately subscribe to this deceptive and false proposition, but we have no doubt that with the majority of men, wealth is the criterion by which they estimate success. Common conversation proves that this is the case.—When we hear a person spoken of as successful, we infer that he is making money. Even Christians fall into this mode of thinking and speaking. We have no desire to disparage business talent, as it is called, nor the accumulation of property We honor the man who is diligent in his business, and who by enterprise, economy and foresight, lays up money, provided he makes this a means to a higher end. All that we contend for is, that it is illogical and unchristian to gauge a man's success in life by the amount of property he may have accumulated. Equally irrational is it to estimate the success of a man by the amount of his literary and scientific acquirements.—Mental culture may tend more directly to the development of true manhood than does the acquisition of mere material wealth, but our own observation, and the history of the world demonstrate that, "with the talents of an angel a man may be a fool." Intellectual strength is not the goal for man's highest ambition. Of the great cast of modern philosophers, Pope pointedly says:

If arts allure thee, think how Bacon shined.
The wisest, brightest, meanest of mankind.

Of Byron, the most brilliant of English poets Pollock justly observes, "He lived like a fool—died a fool."

In like manner, social position is no just criterion of success. Monarchs and ministers are honored titles, and they challenge our attention and respect, but as we read the history of kings and magistrates, we are impressed oftentimes with their folly, weakness and misery, more forcibly than with their wisdom, strength and happiness. England is said to be the most civilized and powerful nation of the earth, but how few of English monarchs have led an honorable and useful life, and died a happy, peaceful death. A crown is but a glittering toy, and a throne, though a seat of royalty, is by no means always a seat of true manhood.

The question then recurs, "In what consists the success of life?" We answer: In the development of all our powers of body, mind and soul, and in the consecration of them to the service of God. The great mistake of men is that they plan for this world only. "He builds too low who builds beneath the sky." We honor business talent, we admire physical and intellectual strength—we pay an outward respect to all in positions of trust and authority, but we esteem these of little value, compared with superior moral worth. If the chief end of man is to glorify God and enjoy him, then he best accomplishes the mission of life who consecrates his energies to the service of his Maker, and never tires in the service through life's pilgrimage. The post of duty will ever be found the post of honor and happiness. He who makes himself most useful, is most honored by God and man—finds most true enjoyment, and is truly the successful man. It is not necessary that he should be rich, or learned or great. If, with a heart full of love to God and man, he acts well his part in the station allotted by Providence, however humble it may be, we honor him as accomplishing life's great end.

Brethren are at work in good earnest for the Advocate. They are sending us many new names, and are securing renewals with remarkable promptness. Let the good work go forward. We are greatly encouraged with the prospect.

We continue to send out bills to the preachers for collection and to delinquent subscribers. Thus far we are encouraged at the many favorable responses we have received, and hope to retain all our old subscribers.

We must again request all the preachers to give the number and names of the post offices on their respective fields of labor. We hope all will respond promptly to this request as it is of importance to us to get at an early day the information sought.

Lectures.

John G. Saxe, the witty poet of New England, it is announced, will lecture in this city on the 27th inst.

We are glad to see that instruction by public lecturers is becoming so popular with our people. We seldom take up a paper that does not contain some announcement or account of a lecture delivered at some institution of learning or before some popular audience in city or village. Gov. Vance, Dr. J. Henry Smith, Prof. Blake, Maj. Bingham, Maj. Seaton Gales, Col. Waddell, Dr. Craven and others are in frequent demand and have delivered instructive and entertaining lectures, upon a variety of subjects, throughout the State. We are glad to see that the talents of our native North Carolinians are being called forth in this direction - that they are not confined to the sphere in which their owners live and ordinarily move, but are shedding their light for the benefit and delight of eager hearers in other places. A lecture by a competent speaker who understands his subject, is a great educator and a cheap one, within the reach of many who would not, perhaps, have other means of obtaining information or knowledge of the subject treated of. The graces of manner, the magnetism of voice and eye, the force of gesture, and, in scientific lectures, the ample means of illustration by apparatus usually at hand, are all calculated to excite an interest, fix impressions and give a clear and thorough insight into subjects that books often fail to effect.

Lectures are of special benefit to college students who find it a pleasant and profitable relief to turn their worn and weary minds from the constrained diet of textbooks to the literary feasts which lecturers serve. Greensboro' College, Peace Institute, Davidson and other colleges have, we notice, opened their halls to such lectures and we would be glad to see all adopt the same policy. We do not think that Trinity has yet added this to her other many excellent features. We are sure her students would enjoy and be benefited by Maj. Robt. Bingham's lecture on 'The Anglo-Saxon—a most learned, excellent and philosophical treatise of the triumphs of the Anglo Saxon race and language: or by his lecture on the "Relations of Christianity and Civilization," or by Prof. Blake's on the "Progress of Science."

A Beautiful Sentiment.

The great and gifted Thomas F. Marshall, of Kentucky, on one occasion, delivered a temperance speech in the hall of the House of Representatives, before the Congressional Total Abstinence Society of which the following is one of the most eloquent passages:

"Oh, I want not revenge the physical sensations, the mere sense of animal being, which belongs to a man who totally refrains from all that can intoxicate his brain or derange his nervous structure - the elasticity with which he bounds from his couch in the morning—the sweet repose it yields him at night—the feeling with which he drinks in, through his clear eyes, the beauty and grandeur of surrounding nature: I say sir, I would not exchange my conscious being as a strictly temperate man the sense of renovated youth - the glad play with which my pulses now beat healthful music - the bounding vivacity with which the life blood courses its exulting way through every fibre of my frame—the communion high which my healthful ear and eye now hold with all the gorgeous universe of God—the splendors of the morning, the softness of the evening sky—the bloom, the beauty, the verdure of the earth, the music of the air and waters - with all the grand associations of external nature reopened to the fine avenue of sense; no, sir, though poverty dragged me - though scorn pointed its slow finger at me as I passed - though want and destitution, and every element of earthly misery, save only crime, met my waking eye from day to day, not for the brightest and the noblest wreath that ever encircled a statesman's brow—not if some angel commissioned by heaven, or some demon, rather, sent from hell, to test the resisting strength of virtuous resolution should tempt me back, with all the wealth and all the honors which a world can bestow; not for all that time and all that earth can give, would I cast from me this precious pledge of a liberated mind, this talisman against temptation, and plunge again into the dangers and horrors which once beset my path; so help me heaven, as I would spurn beneath my very feet all the gifts the universe could offer, and live and die as I am, poor and sober.

WATCHMAN.—The series of articles published in the paper over the signature of Watchman, are attracting attention and calling forth words of commendation. We have reason to believe that they will be fruitful of much good. A brother who is a competent judge, in a private note says; "If you have occasion to write to "Watchman," who is so ably addressing himself to the talk of instructing the young itinerant, give him my earnest regards, especially for his bold and timely onslaught on the use of the weed. He has awakened in me admiration."

THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE will be sent free for one year to any one who will send us ten subscribers.

Send your Job Work to the ADVOCATE Office.

Darwinism and Design.

THE London Methodist Recorder thus notices George St. Clair's new book, entitled "Darwinism and Design; or, Creation by Evolution":

"A very able, useful, and convincing treatise. The cause of scriptural truth has no doubt been injured by well-meaning pulpit deckhimers, who, with a zeal which should have been better directed, have spoken as if all faith in revelation must be lost if the doctrine of evolution of species, now maintained by Mr. Darwin and others, should prove to be true. The same kind of declamation, thirty or forty years ago, was leveled against geology: good and worthy men assured their wondering congregations that the whole Bible must be surrendered if they gave up what in reality was merely their own 'private interpretation' of the first chapter of Genesis. We are no converts to the Darwin theory, believing that in its application to the human species it breaks down hopelessly. At the same time there are points connected with the origin of species which as yet have not been cleared up, and the theory of natural selection is a hypothesis from the examination of which it is childish to shrink back for fear of its possible results. We commend this volume to such of our readers (and we hope their number is not few) who are interested in these modern scientific problems which border upon the field of divine revelation."

Open Communion

An organization called "the Liberal Baptist Union" under the management of a central council of fifty, has been started in Brooklyn for the advancement of open communion principles, and circles already about thirty Baptist Ministers and a large number of influential laymen.

This powerful society will undoubtedly play an important part in the theological movements of the future.

The sentiments of the organization may be gathered from the following extract from its declaration of principles.

"The law of celebration demands that believers shall unite together on account of the things in which they agree, rather than that they shall separate on account of the things in which they differ. Union in worship in so far as it recognizes the christian standing of the participant at all, does so on the ground of mutual sympathy and forbearance until God shall reveal 'even this' unto us.

The design of the Lord's Supper is preeminently to 'show the Lord's death till he come,' and the only specific qualification to partake is ability to 'discern the Lord's body:' it is therefore an unwarrantable perversion of its intent; to use it as test of denominational fellowship, a means of sectarian propagandism, a rallying cry of partisan zeal, or a protest against the errors of christian brethren."

What is Faith?

A writer in the Central Methodist gives the following definition of the term faith:

Certain things exist, either past, present or future: present or absent. Knowledge is the evidence of our senses to things present. A statement relative to things may be true, or false—truth or lie. The acceptance of such statement, true, or false, is belief. Absurd belief, or superstition, is the acceptance of such statement as truth without any reason for such credence. Faith is the rational conception of the mind, or acceptance of a true statement—truth—persuaded of it by its own self-evidence, or by its demonstration. Faith is that belief which invariably relates to things completed—those things that may be demonstated—things past—unseen. Hope is that species of belief that trusts in a promise of future things, upon the sufficient reason that the promise has not failed of fulfillment and now past. We must remember that in dealing with evidence of things, we do not deal with things themselves directly, but indirectly.

By belief, hope is God's promise. "Abraham saw the day of Christ and was glad;" "Old Simeon knew that its dawn had come." We believe—have faith, in God's evidence of the advent, life, sufferings, death, resurrection, and glorification of Christ, and in His promise, believe, hope for the redemption of our bodies, and that "where He is we shall be also."

—REVIVALS.—We are pleased to learn that the revival at Ridgeway under the labors of Rev. A. A. Boshamer is increasing in interest. Up to this time there have been about forty conversions.

—From Rev. B. B. Culbreth, we learn that an interesting revival is in progress at Warrenton conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. F. Bumpass. Bro. Culbreth has been spending several days in Warrenton, assisting in the meeting, and working successfully in the interests of Trinity College.

Notice

We have received a post office order mailed at Tarboro, with no letter or instructions as to what disposition to make of the money.

We have also received a registered letter containing money with no instructions as to how it is to be applied. Will the persons sending these amounts, give us their names, and tell us how to apply the money.

We regret that the condition of Mr McGee, whose illness we recorded in our last, is still extremely critical. But little hope is entertained of his recovery

Volcanic Eruptions.

For the past few weeks the papers from the Western part of this State have teemed with startling accounts of the strange phenomena that have appeared in the vicinity of Bald Mountain, in McDowell county.

The Mountains seem to be in a State of volcanic excitement; low rumbling noises followed by earthquake shocks have been heard and felt for some time past. The greatest excitement and perturbation prevail among the inhabitants of those regions and they are at a loss for a solution of this wonderful phenomenon. These subterranean sounds are not continuous but are heard distinctly almost every day, and from the reports gleaned from our Western exchanges, however overdrawn they may be, the indications that have been manifested, seem to argue very strongly the happening of a Volcanic eruption at no distant day. A correspondent writing to the Asheville Pioneer says:

I was on the mountain on the night of the 1st. inst. The noise seemed to be under the ground in a small valley between what is called the Round and the Stone mountains, though I could not exactly determine the locality. Sometimes the shocks are very heavy, accompanied by sounds similar to the detonations of artillery, and the earth is shaken for miles around. A very perceptible movement is seen among the trees when the vibrations take place, and the houses are sufficiently jarred to arouse children from their nightly slumbers, when they manifest their fright by cries and screams.

The sound is more distinctly heard in the valley than any other place. The people who live in the vicinity are very much alarmed, and many of them are preparing to emigrate. A protracted meeting is in progress in the immediate neighborhood, and upwards of forty persons have professed religion and joined the Baptist church—the only denomination in this section. Prayer meetings prevail, in which all take an active part, from the worst sinner to the best and purest Christian. Land can be bought at trifling prices at this time on the Bald mountain, but no one has an inclination to purchase.

The Vanderbilt

The Nashville Christian Advocate says:

We are asked a good many questions about the Vanderbilt - present status, plans, prospects, etc. So far as the main edifice is concerned, the work goes bravely on—and good work it is, as we can personally testify. Dr. Young runs like a clock—all right in his bureau. Read his communication on the first page that tells its own tale.

The formal corner stone laying is to take place on Monday, April 27. Bishop Higbam is to deliver the address, and other distinguished gentlemen are expected to speak on the occasion, of which due notice will be given in the Advocate.

"When will its halls be open for students?" We hope by the beginning of next year.

We would not advise those who have entered the ministry to leave their pastoral work to go to the Vanderbilt or to any other of our institution of learning. We say this in answer to inquiries made in the premises.

In brief, we do not think it advisable that all who are called to preach should "go through college," or attend the university. We must follow the leading of Providence in this matter, and consult the principles of the case. College training, after all, is only a means to an end—if the end is reached by any other means we are content. Let the church furnish all possible facilities for those - whether in the ministry or not—who want the highest educational advantages, and can profit by them.

Delegates and Visitors to General Conference.

Arrangements have been completed, by which delegates and visitors to General Conference, can go and return for less than one full fare. Any number can go on the same conditions. The best route, is from Greensboro via. Washington. Persons can go by Indianapolis, or Louisville, or both at the same cost. More precise information will be published next week.

March 20. B. CRAVEN.

Minutes.

Various delays have occurred, over which I had no control. The delay is greatly to be regretted but could not be helped. I hope to mail the minutes next week.

March 20. B. CRAVEN.

Rev. B. B. Culbreth, agent for Trinity College was in the city last week. He had just returned from a visit to Warren, where he was kindly received by the people both of the circuit and the station. He found the people ready to aid him in his work of raising funds for Trinity College.

A private note from Rev. T. J. Gattis of the 18th, informs us that the health of Sister Gattis is very feeble that she has been confined to her room for six weeks and more. We trust she will soon be restored to her health.

The Women's Crusade against the liquor sellers is still going on vigorously in Ohio, and spreading to other States. It is waking up the community to the enormous evil of the accursed traffic, and men are consulting what measures are best to be adopted to suppress it. It is the opprobrium of our civilization.

The Bishop of Huron, who lately visited the Indian tribes about Brantford, says that the number of those on the Reservation amounts to 3,600. Since their conversion to Christianity they have increased, whereas they constantly diminished in numbers before they became civilized.

To Rev T. H Pritchard.

DEAR SIR: We are equally strangers to each other, I have not had the pleasure of an hour's conversation with you. I am ignorant of any "utterances" of yours, which have not appeared in some religious or secular newspaper. I have no feeling of unkindness towards you, nor would I dare cherish any unchristian sentiments for one who is so deservedly esteemed by his church, for his well directed efforts to advance her various interests. The question I would raise with you has no religious or moral aspect As to ministerial and christian courtesy, I leave that to Rev. Mr. Bobbitt, editor the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. As to your moral, religious and social standing, I leave that to the statement you have made in your letter to the editor, found in the ADVOCATE issued the 4th inst. From this, and other representations in the several papers I concede to your claims as a christian gentleman of high intellectual culture. The question I would raise is purely a literary question. It relates solely to logic and grammar. I would prefer to approve rather than censure, and pass by slight offenses in such matters, than to criticise them But your entire article challenges scrutiny, and provokes criticism by its positive declarations, and the purpose for which they are made.

As we are two strangers, about to meet in the arena of dialectics, it is to be hoped that neither of us will kick up such a dust as may blind the eyes of spectators. With these sentiments I have analyzed your letter as I have found it in the ADVOCATE, and I proceed to generalize my observations in the form of objections.

FIRST, then, I object to your huddling up in one article so many naked assumptions without argument and without proof.

SECONDLY, I object to your making a man of straw which, however, is so delineated that it might be called any thing but human. It is true that you have given it a month out of which come words of irreverence if not of blasphemy.

THIRDLY, I object to your enthymemes by which you have been allowed to suppress premises which, while retained in your mind, could not be questioned by others, and because their use gives you facility in altering the terms of a proposition, of which advantage you have availed yourself, and have thereby proved in your conclusion what was not affirmed or denied in the premises.

In the fourth place, I object to your uniting two distinct propositions disjunctively, in one sentence, one of which is ungrammatical and has no meaning; and, if it has any meaning, is ambiguous.

In the fifth place, I object to your argument from a non-particular when you confess to an observation so limited that an induction from that number would be like putting a mountain in an egg shell.

SIXTHLY, I object to arguing, from the abuse of a thing, against its use.

LASTLY, as a literary question, I to tally object to your abusing that science of sciences, called logic, by substituting sophism for argument, and thereby bringing a knowledge of the laws of thought into contempt.

These are my general objections which you can examine at your leisure, and remove if ill founded. At a more convenient time, I will furnish you with specifications, under each general objection. For I believe that you could not have carefully weighed your words, when you uttered extemporaneously your positive "declaration" and that upon reflection you will recede from the letter, if not from the spirit it embodies.

B.

March 16th 1874.

Our Church and our Colleges.

As I have made, and expect to continue to make, appeals for contributions to help rebuild Edenton Street Methodist Church in Raleigh, while our Colleges are also urgently asking for help, it is proper that I make the following statements.

I do not wish our Church enterprise to conflict in any way with the College enterprises. There are many who give to colleges who may desire also to aid directly in the work of building our Church; and there are doubtless a number who will not give to colleges, but will give directly to a church. We cannot afford to wait any more than the Colleges can. We have freely aided the Colleges, and expect the friends of the Colleges to freely aid us. I am the sincere friend of all our conference Colleges. There is no truer friend of Greensboro or Trinity or Davenport than myself. To all in them, that is good, I give my hearty "amen;" and as to all that needs improvement, I cry out just as heartily, "amend!"

Many an hour of daylight and candle-light I have toiled for Greensboro College. But for me, Trinity College would not have had an agent appointed at the Fayetteville Conference. Our slender purses were opened to Davenport. I have worked and am ready still to work freely and honestly for all of them. The Church at Raleigh is also a connectional interest. It has its influence throughout the State. Brethren are coming to our help. Many thanks! We call upon all.

A. W. MANGUM.

The Rev. D. E. Jordan, Pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Oxford, will hereafter preach only two Sundays in that place, having agreed to serve the Church at Henderson one Sabbath a month.

Our Missions.

MR. EDITOR: I wish to say a few words about Broad River Mission, and the people in the far away mountains.

Having been sent to this work by the Conference, I have been telling the story of the cross on, and around their lofty peaks. And now I am happy to say that we have reason to believe that we have made a good beginning. Congregations are good, and the people are taking an interest in the church generally. We have the promise of one new church on the Mission this year, and hope to get more. We have now seven subscribers for the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, more than has even been on the Mission before.

We have too Sunday Schools, and expect to organize others soon. So in all we think the Mission to be on the increase. There has been, and is now a great excitement around Stone mountain from a rumbling noise and shaking of the mountain. A large revival has been in progress on the mountain for about two weeks.

I was with them on Wednesday the 4th: the people come together in great numbers to hear the preached word, for they believe they will all be destroyed in a short time.

There have been near one hundred conversions on and around the mountain. I talked with a man the other day, who told me that he had felt the mountain shake so as to cause the boards to rattle on the house, awaking the children, and causing them to cry from fear. It is said the people on the mountain have been famous for Sabbath breaking, and wickedness of all kinds. The people are expecting the appearance of a volcano very soon. More anon.

Yours in Christ,

J. M. LEMLY.

Notes From the Brethren

Rev. M. V. Sherrill, in charge of Monroe Station, writes March 18th:

"We have a substantial and handsome new church nearly completed, which we expect to have dedicated the 4th Sabbath of April, the time of our 2nd Quarterly Meeting. I am well pleased with my station. They are a noble people, and I believe will do liberal things for me."

Rev. W. S. Rone, writing from Mt. Pleasant, says:

"Our first Quarterly Conference, for this year, on Mt. Pleasant circuit was held at Gold Hill on 7th and 8th inst. Our Presiding Elder, Rev. J. S. Nelson, was with us two days, and made a very favorable impression. A great religious interest was visible, and the meeting was continued until Thursday night by Rev. J. P. Simpson, my colleague in charge, and myself. Nineteen have been added to the church, and the church itself greatly quickened and built up. The Lord be praised for His goodness! Steps were also taken for erecting a new church building, and the people are now determined to push it forward, and have a new and more commodious church in the town of Gold Hill."

Bro. E. A. Thorne, a prominent and intelligent layman from near Littleton, N. C., writes thus encouragingly of the ADVOCATE, under date of March 16th. He will pardon us for the use we make of his letter. It comes from the home of our birth, and we rejoice to know that the ADVOCATE is appreciated by those whom we learned to love in our youth. We know the writer well, and his language bears the impress of sincerity. Would that all our lay brethren could feel the same interest in the circulation of the ADVOCATE which he so frankly expresses in this brief note, as follows:

"Enclosed herewith, please find two dollars to be placed to the credit of my account with the "Raleigh Christian Advocate," the most satisfactory church paper we have ever had in the State: would it could visit weekly every family in the State! With its present circulation, however, it would be a difficult task, indeed, to estimate the powerful influence it wields in behalf of our beloved Methodism, coming as it does—fraught with wholesome truths—contributing much to the health of the mind, and to the comfort and happiness of its many readers.—Its circulation should be extended, until it shall reach, at least, every Methodist in the State."

Religious Brevities.

— About two per cent. of the citizens of Berlin attend church.

— Rev. Wm. Brunt has severed his pastoral connection with the Fayetteville Baptist church.

— The Presbyterians of Hillsboro' have purchased a parsonage for their pastor, Rev. Mr. Fitzgerald.

— General John Tyler, Jun., has been licensed as a local preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

— The Academy says that the long-lost portion of the Latin version of the fourth book of Ezra, the seventy verses which have fallen out between the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth verses of the seventh chapter, have been discovered.

— In 1800 the Methodist church throughout the world had 65,000 members. In 1825, 350,000. In 1844 it had swelled to 1,170,000 actual communicants. To day it has 19,251 regular ministers, 12,221 local preachers and 1,464,028 members in very good standing.

— John Bachman, D. D., L. L. D., distinguished as a naturalist, and a life-long friend and co-laborer of Agassiz and Audubon, died in Charleston, South Carolina, February 25, aged eighty-five.

— The largest colored church in the world is in Richmond, Virginia. It numbers 3,115 persons on its rolls. The second Colored Baptist Church, in the same place, has 2,450 members.

— Bishop Janes said at the anniversary of the Sunday School Union: "The song literature of the modern Sunday school contains one grain of sense, one of melody, one of religion, and seven of nonsense!"

— Dr. Waugh tells us of a converted Hindoo, who, when too weak to kneel in prayer, said, "I cannot pray, but I keep up a sweet talking with Jesus in my heart."

— The Western Methodist says the Rev. J. A. Manly died in Arkansas Feb. 13. His last words, "I love my Jesus." He was a zealous local preacher, well known in Tennessee and Arkansas.

— A late British Review, speaking of a sermon from a young curate, says: "The sermon was one of those lithographed compositions supplied to the clergy at ten shillings and six pence per dozen. In country parishes these form the chief part of the teaching the clergy give their hearers, and the use of them is rapidly destroying what little life and reality remain in the pulpits of the Establishment."

— The Nashville Christian Advocate says: The Reformed Episcopal Church is still gathering to its fold ministers from other bodies, chiefly from the Protestant Episcopalians. Rev. Edward D. Neill, of Minnesota, a Presbyterian minister, and a member of the Presbytery of St. Paul, has taken the initiatory steps to pass into the Reformed Episcopal Church. The most important accession lately made, is probably that of Rev. William Maguire, of Washington City, who has informed Bishop Whittingham of his purpose to leave the Episcopal Church for the new fold. In his letter of resignation he says that one reason why he takes this new departure is that the position of the Episcopal Church, "as a living, acting organization, whatever the alleged soundness of its doctrinal formularies may be, is essentially, unreasonably, and hopelessly a Romanizing position."

— Recent intelligence from India announces the baptism of Kanwar Har Nam Singh, the younger brother of His Highness the Maharajah of Kapurthala in the Punjab, and son of the late Maharajah Randhir Singh, who married a christian wife in 1859. The young princes above mentioned were the sons of a former wife. They were educated by the Rev. J. S. Woodside, now in this country, who resided at Kapurthala for nearly six years.

— Professor Tyndall has again appeared on the horizon. This time at a meeting in London, before a company of bishops and clergy, where he is represented as saying with due gravity, these words: "I am speaking to men of education and men of learning: to men who have read history and observed the course of nature; and I feel constrained to ask you as gentlemen of culture whether it is really possible that you can have any belief in the efficacy of prayer to affect this universe in the slightest degree!"

— The Austrian government has given the Pope another blow. It has by a decided vote resolved that the Theological College at Innsbruck, which is in the hands of the Jesuits, be broken up in July next. The college is looked upon as the nursery of Jesuitism for Austria, Germany, and Switzerland. Of the 200 alumni matriculated, only 60 are Austrian subjects, and on this ground the Chamber has formally determined that the college, which trains chiefly foreigners, cannot in fairness, be supported out of Austrian funds.

— A correspondent of the St. Louis Advocate renders the twenty-ninth verse of the fifteenth chapter of First Corinthians; thus;

"Else what shall they do which are baptized for the dead (or Christ) if the dead rise not at all? Why are they; then, baptized for the dead (or for Christ)?"

ORGANS AND PIANOS.—It affords us special pleasure to commend to our readers the house of our enterprising townsman, Nat Brown. To his extensive apartment of useful and fancy articles, he has added the ORGAN and PIANO trade. His instruments are all from the well known firm of Horace Waters & Co. Mr. Brown is esteemed by us as peculiarly reliable and conscientious—conducting business on principles of integrity. To buy from him is a special privilege, as you can be sure of what you are buying before you are committed. Orders to the North are not always satisfactory. We learn that the instruments sold by Mr. Brown in Raleigh are giving fine satisfaction. Mr. Waters is also known as a man of Christian character.

JOURNAL OF INDUSTRY.—We have received from our esteemed friend, Rev. J. B. Lawrence, a copy of this really valuable and instructive journal. It is devoted to agriculture, horticulture, immigration, manufactures, commerce, &c.—It is published at the office of the Richmond "Christian Advocate," by Rev. W. W. Bennett. We are requested to club it with the "Advocate." This we cannot do, for the reason that it is against our custom to club with any journal. We most cheerfully recommend the "Journal to our readers, and will take pleasure in forwarding the subscription to the publisher at Richmond Va. Price $1.00 per annum for a single subscriber; for six copies one year $5; five copies one year $7.50.

The News

—Several of our leading merchants are receiving their Spring goods. They will soon make their announcement through the "Advocate," and our readers will know where to go for new goods.

—FIGHT IN COURT.—An unfortunate difficulty arose in the Court room in Friday evening, between Mr. J. B. Lassiter and J. W. Gatling, two prominent members of the bar of this city. Mr. Gatling received two severe blows upon the head, inflicting a painful wound, but not serious. He drew his pistol upon Mr. Batchelor, but fortunately it did not fire. The disgraceful scene was soon stopped by the interference of friends. On Saturday morning the parties appeared to the court, buried the hatchet and made friends.

—The kitchen of Mr. Fall, editor of the "Spirit of the Age," was consumed by fire on last Saturday. No damage was done to his residence or office.

— It is rumored that the Hon. W. M. Flemming is soon to move to Raleigh, and form a law copartnership, with Capt. A. M. Williams, late of the Raleigh NEWS.

— The SOUTHERN HOME says: The mill will be a meeting at Davidson College, on the last day of this month, in regard to building a Cotton Factory at Cowan's Ford.

— Salisbury WATCHMAN says: We understand that the Marion High School under the Presidency of the Rev. S. D. Trawick, is progressing finely.

— Judge Thomas, the Representative in Congress from the 2nd District, has introduced a bill for the removal, by the U. S. Government, of the obstructions in Neuse river.

— In the case of the State vs. the Richmond & Danville Railroad Company, the Supreme Court has taken an adverse and ordered that the North Carolina Railroad Company be made party defendant.

— The temperance crusade movement is to receive an impetus in the person of John B. Gough, who is to lecture at $50 per night—his services thus being valued at $15 per night more than that of Dr. Lewis.

— The Wilmington STAR says: We learn that the residence of Mr. C. P. Mebane was entered on Sunday night last and robbed of a considerable amount of money.

— The SPIRIT OF THE SOUTH (Reidsville, Rockingham, Richmond county) learns that the negro man who was suspected, has confessed that he and another negro murdered Mr. Well, the keeper of the Cheek's bridge.

—Work on the Carolina Central Railroad has never ceased since it went into the hands of its present owners. The Charlotte DEMOCRAT learns that the Company does not owe a dollar of floating debt, and has the means to complete the road to Charlotte and equip it.

— There is a great deal of distress in the German capital. The casual poor who sought relief in the Berlin workhouses last month amounted to 13,581 men and 739 women.

— N. C. RAILROAD.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the N. C. R. R. recently held at Company Shops, a dividend of 6 per cent was declared upon the stock of the Company; 3 per cent payable on the 1st of April, and 3 per cent payable on the 1st of October next.

The President of the Company was authorized to confer with Gov. Caldwell as to the time of calling a meeting of stockholders to consider the consolidation lately passed by the General Assembly.

— SOME $80,000 have been subscribed to the capital stock of the Wilmington cotton mills. About $75,000 more are wanted.

— The Charlotte DEMOCRAT says a mass meeting will be held at Davidson College on Tuesday, the 31st day of March, 1874, for the purpose of organizing a Joint Stock Company to build a Factory on the Catawba River near Cowan's Ford. Like the DEMOCRAT, we hail with pleasure and approval on this movement.

— Bishop Lyman has purchased the residence of Mrs. Ellen Mordecai, near the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road Depot. A beautiful place and elegantly situated — Mrs. Alice M. Sumner, from whom her then husband, Senator Sumner, obtained a divorce for desertion in 1873, short time ago petitioned the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts for leave to marry again.

— The bridge over the Kentucky river on the Southern railroad will be the highest on the continent. It is 275 feet above low water, and has a span of 125 feet. The towers, erected by John A. Roebling years ago, cost $100,000, and rise 385 feet above low water.

— The Postmaster-General has established the following new postoffices in Dare county, on Route No.—, from Manteo to Hatteras, via.: Rodanthe, Chicamacomico, Sparrow M. Pough, P. M.: Kennekeet, at Kennekeet, D. G. Meekens, P. M.; The Cape, at Cape Hatteras, Pharoah Scarburger, P. M.

Letters & Funds.

Rev F B Andrews, his paper has been going to another office, Rev J J Carden sell 2, paper sent. V S Johnson only one to you at Lassiters Mills. Rev W S Rone for D Tucker 2, Rev J B Lawrence. Rev W R Webb 1. R McCauley 2. Wm M Poisson. Mrs G W Lillard paper changed. M C Pair paper regularly sent. Rev J T Harris for D A Jones 2. J R Patterson for Miss M F Booker 2 sell 2. W F Bason. Rev J M Lumly for Nancy Logan 1.25. Wallace & Justice 2. J W Edgar 1.25. J Slade 1.25. S Thompson 1.25. A Harris 1.25. M M W.Rhine 1.25. W B Hickman sell 2. W W Sharpe & Co. Mrs C S Blankinship paper regularly sent. W B Cloyed sell 2. H T Kirkman. Rev T F W Stamey paper sent. Rev R M Brown paper sent. Rev W M Roboy. A T Lambeth sell. Rev J Tillett for W F Tillett 2. Mrs A Brown 2, other subscribers sent. Rev W Jordan for Mrs L A Barnett 2. W H Taylor Rev J W Lewis papers sent. Rev J N Norris papers sent Rev J W North for J R Pearson 2. J C Hanson 2. Rev S H Hobbs for Miss E Kerman 2. J W Blalock. J W Ashly sell 2. Rev T J Gattis. Rev M T for J S Durham 2 Rev B B Culbreth for J Draper 2. B J Powell 2 Rev R S Bumpass for J C Robinson 2. E L Sherrill all right. Rev T L Triplett paper sent. J M Rhodes Rev W S Black paper sent. W. Thornton Rev F L Reid for P J Brown 2. M J Craig. Rev T Thorne sell 2. Rev E A Yates. Rev W S Rone for T F Little 2. Rev Sher Hill for E A Armfield 2. J F Arent sell 2 E R Ellis 50 cents, where did you receive the Advocate? John Prigge sell 2 H J Allison paper sent Scribner & Co. Walker, Taylor & Co H H Gibbons for Miss P Mason 2. Rev Wheeler. W R Rodwell 2 Rev B Craig Rev T J Gattis paper sent. Rev B Goodhead. Rev J T Heckman for Miss S H Biggin 2. J C Rhone. Rev T A Brooks for D Pool 2. Miss E A Erving 2. Frank Smith 2. Mrs A D Grand 2, you failed to send the notice. Rev J Sanford papers sent. Miss S Laws 2.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the traveling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us lists of subscribers for one year, will receive the paper for Nothing. Those who send us more than five names will be charged full price for their paper.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and be bottomed with the name of the writer. All letters on business should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in registered letters, post office order or check. The cost of registering a letter, and Post Office order can be deducted from the amount remitted. If money is sent otherwise than as herein directed, it will be at the sender's risk.

Remittances & Errors.—Persons sending money to the Advocate by registered letter will remember that the rate has been reduced from fifteen to eight cents.

Marriages.

Married, near Cedar Grove, Orange Co., N. C., on the 15th, 1874, by Rev. J. T. Harriss Mr. Wilford A. Bolton and Miss Martha Booker, the latter daughter of James Porterfield Esq.

Married, on the 12th of March 1874, at the residence of Mr. Peter Hopson by Rev. Ino. N. Simmons Mr. Wm. H. H. Somers and Miss Nannie Brooks, all of Bedell county, N. C.

By same, at the same time and place, Mr. Robert Isom, of same county and Miss Sallie Vaughn, daughter of Mr. Daniel Vaughn.

Married Wednesday 12th, at the residence of the bride's father, Henry Knight, by Rev. F. D. Swindell, Mr. Francis Hunter to Miss Nora Knight.

Married, in this city, on the 18th inst., by Rev. A. W. Chapman, Mr. E. Telfair Hall, and Miss Mattie F. Nixon, all of the city of Raleigh.

On the 4th inst., by Rev. W. C. Church South, in New Bourne, N. C., March 15th 1874 by Rev. W. C. Gaun Mr. James R. Sims and Mrs. Martha L. Cannon of Newport.

Deaths.

Mrs. Lucy J. Pearce, of mother of Jos. and Frederick Dunn, C. was born in Person county, N. C., March 1st 1811. She married Dr. J. A. Pearce in March 1831 removed to Texas with her husband in 1871 and died Nov. 24th 1873.

Her health had not been good for some time, but her friends had no apprehension of danger. On the Wednesday before her death she went very happy in her room in music and manifested a deep interest in the spiritual welfare of her married children. She was a good wife and a kind and devoted mother. May the bereaved husband and children live so to meet her in heaven.

W. M. J.

Appointments.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT

2d Rd. ROUND.

Lockwood's Folly,	April 4-5
Shallotte,	" 11-12
Whiteville and Abbottsburg,	" 18-19
Lumberton,	" 25-26
Marion, Dove Creek,	May 2-3
Lumberton Circuit,	" 9-10
Fayetteville,	" 16-17
Elizabethtown,	" 23-24
Bladenboro',	" 30-31
Clarkton,	June 6-7
Whiteville,	" 13-14
Shallotte,	" 20-21
Conference,	" 27-28

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

GREENSBORO' DISTRICT.

2d ROUND—IN PART.

Mt. Pleasant and Harrisburg,	March 21-22
Concord and Thompson's,	" 28-29
Lincolnton and Lincoln,	April 4-5
Statesville,	" 11-12
Yadkinville,	" 18-19
Mocksville,	" 25-26
Salisbury,	May 2-3
Lexington and Denton,	" 9-10
Asheboro and Trinity,	" 16-17
Randolph,	" 23-24
Deep River,	" 30-31
Pleasant Garden,	June 6-7

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Mt. Tirzah, N. C.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT

2ND ROUND.

Centre,	March 27-28-29
Mount Carmel,	April 4-5
Pleasant Grove and Rehoboth,	" 11-12
Monroe,	" 18-19
South Charlotte and Mt. Olivet,	" 25-26
Pineville, Mallard's,	May 2-3
Mecklenburg, Cedar Grove, Concord,	" 9-10
Wilkesboro',	" 16-17
Lillesville,	" 23-24
Yadkin,	June 6-7
Mt. Pleasant and Mt. Olivet,	" 20-21

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND.

Kinston, Wednesday,	April 1st
Wayne Thompson,	" 4-5
Smith's Stonewall,	" 11-12
Pamlico, Pepper Creek,	" 18-19
Core Creek, Newbern,	" 25-26
Neuse and Grace Creek,	May 2-3
Swift Creek,	" 9-10
Beaufort, Sharon,	" 9-10
Southern,	" 9-10
Hyde and	" 23-24
Currituck,	" 30-31
Snow Hill, Mt. Olivet,	June 6-7
Trenton,	" 13-14
Mount Olive, Providence,	" 20-21
Newbern,	" 27-28

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

2D ROUND.

South Fork, Kaleigh,	April 11-12
Shelby circuit, Ebenezer,	" 18-19
Shelby Station,	" 25-26
Lincolnton, Mt. Salem,	May 2-3
Rock Spring, Hibbs' Chapel,	" 9-10
Dallas, Linder's Chapel,	" 16-17
Hickory, Bethel School House,	" 23-24
Morganton, Clifton,	" 30-31
Bunker Shoals,	" 30-31
Lincolnton,	" 30-31
South St. Nelson,	" 30-31
Shelby,	" 30-31
Mount Gilead, Providence,	June 6-7
Newberry,	" 13-14
Lenoir Station,	" 20-21
Rutherford,	" 27-28
Mt. Pleasant,	" 27-28

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

2D ROUND.

South Fork, Kaleigh,	April 11-12
Shelby circuit, Ebenezer,	" 18-19
Shelby Station,	" 25-26
Lincolnton, Mt. Salem,	May 2-3
Rock Spring, Hibbs' Chapel,	" 9-10
Dallas, Linder's Chapel,	" 16-17
Hickory, Bethel School House,	" 23-24
Morganton, Clifton,	" 30-31
Bunker Shoals,	" 30-31
Lincolnton,	" 30-31
South St. Nelson,	" 30-31
Shelby,	" 30-31
Mount Gilead, Providence,	June 6-7
Newberry,	" 13-14
Lenoir Station,	" 20-21
Rutherford,	" 27-28
Mt. Pleasant,	" 27-28

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND—IN PART.

Statesville ct. at Hopewell,	March 28-29
Mt. Zion ct. at Salem,	April 4-5
Statesville ct.	" 11-12
Yadkinville ct. at Macedonia,	" 18-19
Cooksville ct. at Salem,	" 25-26
Salisbury St.	May 2-3

M. L. WOOD, P. E.
Olin, N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT

1st ROUND.

Roanoke at Edenton,	Jan. 31 Feb. 1
Williamston at Hamilton,	Feb. 7-8
Columbia at Scuppernong,	" 14-15
Plymouth and Jamesville at Plymouth,	" 21-22
Bath at Bath,	Feb 28 and March 1
Edenton ct. at Swan Quarter,	March 7-8
Washington and Greenville, Tarboro' at Tarboro',	at Washington, March 14-15 " 21-22

The District Stewards will please meet at Tarboro' on Saturday, March 21st They are the following: for Warrenton, Col S. Davis. Warren. —Tarboro', J. W. Jones, Bath, Walter Clark. Hallamskeet, T. W Jones. Washington and Greenville R. W. Brown, Williamston, R. A. Weatherby. Columbia, W. C. Puckett. Plymouth and Greenville, I. W. Latham.

WM. CLOSS P. E

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

SECOND ROUND—IN PART.

Sanford and, Beaver Creek,	March 21-22
Lumberton, Lillington,	" 28-29
Harrisburg St. John's,	April 1-5
Cooking and, Green Lake,	" 11-12
Smithfield, Center,	" 18-19
Johnston Regans,	" 25-26

S. P. ADAMS, P. E
Carthage, N. C.

New Advertisements.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,
THE SUMMER CAMPAIGN BEGUN
Another Great 'Literacy Sensation,"
The Modern Robinson Crusoe
With Ten Beautiful Illustrations.

Messrs. SCRIBNER & Co. have secured for next publication in SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY, Jules Verne's latest Story,

"THE MYSTERIOUS ISLAND," in which, not content with the models of "ROBINSON CRUSOE and the SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON the writer materializes to show how a party of castaways upon a desert island, may by ingenuity and courage in the resources of, without the aid of one stock to draw upon for the materials of life and comfort.

The party are Americans who set out from Richmond, Va., during the seige, in a balloon. Mr. Jules Verne unites with an accurate scientific knowledge an exhaustless fertility of inventive resource that has FASCINATED THE WORLD.

The theme of our present story affords the author two fine opportunity for the display of his greatest gifts. The story will be profusely illustrated, and is to begin in the April Number.

For sale by all News Dealers or Booksellers. Price $4.00 a Year in advance. Specimen copy, 25 cts.

SCRIBNER & Co., 654 Broadway, N.Y.

mar 25 2w

WANTED.

GOOD, ACTIVE AGENTS, Traveling, and Local, to represent our Nurseries in North and South Carolina and Virginia. We offer to those splendid Fruit Trees for Autumn of 1874, Terms liberal. Good references required. Correspondence solicited early.

Address
C. W. WESTBROOK, & BRO.
Nurserymen,
Wilson, N. C.

mar 25-2w

REMINGTON

HANDLED

It is made best. Cold Rolled Steel. Rubber or Polished Handles

COTTON

HOES.

Send for Price List and Discounts.

T. H. BRIGGS & SON.

mar 25tf

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

French and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, etc.

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,

Fancy Good. Childrens Toys,

Carriages for the Little Folks,

CROQUET SET,

BASE BALLS AND BATS.

Marbles, Top and Kites,

All at MOSELEY'S.

CANVASSERS and No. of your Losing Patrons to send us their names and address. We will send them specimens without charge. Home Pictures for Means. 000 Fortune Builders Pathfinders, Grangers, Reformers, Merchants, etc., are making money fast, and any other may, who will procure. J. B. BURR PUBLISHING CO., Practicality & Fine Art Pubs., Cincinnati, O.

Feb 24-12m

THE PATRIOT

PUBLISHED WEEKLY
AT GREENSBORO, N. C.,
BY DUFFY & ALBRIGHT.

IT WAS ESTABLISHED IN 1871.

Is the oldest and one of the best Newspapers in the State, and an excellent advertising medium.

T. F. DUFFY,
JOS. W. ALBRIGHT, } Editors and Proprietors.

TERMS—Cash invariably in advance.
One year $2, six months $1.25
Any person sending us five subscribers will receive one copy gratis. Specimen copies free.

GENUINE
PERUVIAN GUANO.

Farmers, Agriculturists and Dealers in Fertilizers have now an opportunity of obtaining this valuable manure in small or large lots, at importers' prices, by applying to the Special Agency just established in Raleigh, for distributing Genuine Peruvian Guano to commercial and accessible port or railway station in the country. Full particulars given in Circular mailed free on applications to

C. BALTAZAR,
No. 55 Broad St., New York.

REFERENCES BY PERMISSION.
Messrs. Hobson, Burdick & Co., Financial Agents for Peruvian Government, 52 Wall St., N. Y.
Moses Taylor, Pres. National City Bank, 52 Wall St., N. Y.
A. C. Tracy, Esq., Peruvian Guano Consul, 26 1/2 Broadway, N. Y.

March 18-3m

A. F. A. TEMPLES. JOEL D. WHITAKER.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE.

Thompson & Whitaker,

Wholesale Grocers and

Commission Merchants.

MARTIN STREET,

GUANOS.

"Soluble Novassa Guano."
"Navassa Tobacco Fertilizer"
AND Dissolved Phosphate.

Manufactured by Navassa Guano Company at Wilmington, N. C. Guaranteed to meet all the requirements of the late law.

Below are the names of a few who will testify to its worth:

Dr. B. Craven, Trinity College; L. H. Sanders, Johnston county; W. H. McDonald, Johnston county; David Wood, Johnston county; J. M. Wilson, Johnston; Miley E. W. Pou, Raleigh; Wilkins Avera, Johnston county. For sale by

THOMPSON & WHITAKER.

Raleigh, N. C

Feb 4 12m.

LEACH BROTHERS,

GROCERS AND

Commission Merchants.

Wilmington St., East Side Market Square

RALEIGH, N. C.

In view of the approaching "Spring season" we have laid in a heavy and well selected stock which we offer to the public at prices corresponding to the scarcity of money, thereby giving the retail dealer a good stock for small capital. We offer for cash

11 hhds H. Sugars at 11 1-2c.
20 bbls D. Sugar at 11c.
10 bbls. N. C. Sugars at 9c.
10 bbls. extra bright "Yellows" 10 1-2
10 bbls. "A" bright yellow, 10 1-2.
20 sks prime Rio coffee, 30.
40 bags good Rio coffee, 34.
50 bbls. Sugar drip at 50.
50 bbls Extra clear, at $5.50.
50 bbls Choice Family Flour," $11.75.
25 boxes "Pressed" & Grindle's Soap, 60 lbs to box at 4 1-2 a box.
25 boxes "Leach Bros. Family" soap at 5c2s, 80 lbs to box.
20 boxes "Superlative" lemon crackers 18 1-2.
20 boxes Soda crackers at 10c.
20 bbls "Rose" P. Lard.
20 bbls "Macaroni Mills" do.
50 bbls Spirits Rosin, do.
25 kegs Leaf tobacco at 7 1-2c.
50 boxes Adams Bros tobacco 15 1-2.
5 bxes "Marshall's Snuff" at 2.25.
10 bbls new crop "Cider Molasses" at 42 1-2.
Sacks Salt, Sack Flour, Meal, Bran, Shorts, Oats and Seed at cash, to be right suited.
Just received from Phoenix Distillery 10 bbls Pure Rye Whiskey, in use.
"O" Pease and Castings always in stock.

NOTICE—We desire to call the attention of our friends to the fact that other merchants in the city are seeking to offer Guano branded "Soundless" in imitation of ours, we will warn brand for which we are sole agents, and more fully genuine unless our brand as Agents is on the head of barrel.

"LOOK FOR THE BRAND."

LEACH BROS.

mar 4-tf.

Collens Warranted

CAST STEEL

COTTON SWEEPS

HARDWARE HOUSE OF
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.

THE CELEBRATED
ROLLER COTTON HOE.

WE SOLD IN 1873 200 dozen.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Sole Agents for N. C.

THE WAVE SAYS,
BEST HOE EVER

MADE FOR
Garden and General Work.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Sole Agents for N. C.

Write for circular and prices.

ONE HUNDRED DOZEN
"Ellwell" Hoes.
20 dozen "Planter's" Hoes.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.
Trade supplied.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

AVERRILL CHEMICAL PAINT,

IS THE BEST.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO., Sole Agent.
Write for descriptive circulars.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

WILL NOT EXPLODE
JULIUS LEWIS & CO., Sole Agents.
Write for circular and Prices.

apr14-tf

Robert T. Gray,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Raleigh, N. C.

Will give prompt attention to business in the Supreme, Superior, and other Courts of the state.
Refers by permission to
Hon. R. M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Hon. Thos. Settle, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.
Hon. I. G. Lash, Pres. First National Bank of Salem
John H. Williams, " " "
Rev J. B. Babbitt, Editor of Raleigh Advocate.
Gen A. M Scales, Raleigh, N. C.

W. M. JONES,

CAREY, N. C.

Contractor, House Builder,

Manufacturer and dealer in dressed Lumber, Sashes, Blinds, Doors, and all other kinds of Building Material.

feb 4-tf

M. T. NORRIS
Late with
Len H. Adams.

W. A. MYATT, Jr.
Formerly with
J. P. Gulley & Bro.

NORRIS & MYATT,

(SUCCESSORS TO LEN H. ADAMS.)

Having purchased the entire stock of goods of Len H. Adams, we will continue the

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

Grocery & Commission Business,

AT HIS OLD STAND,

No. 1 Exchange Place and No. 5 Martin Street, where we will keep constantly on hand a choice and carefully selected stock of

HEAVY GROCERIES.

Special attention given to the sale purchase and storage of cotton.

Consignments of all kinds of country produce solicited, and satisfaction guaranteed.

A continuance of the patronage shown the old firm is respectfully solicited by us, and we hope to merit it by a due attention to promptness and faithful attention to all orders entrusted to us.

Very respectfully,

NORRIS & MYATT.

I have this day sold my stock and rented my store to the above firm, with many wishes for their success. I will continue the cotton commission business at the office on my old stand.

Respectfully,

LEN H. ADAMS.

Feb 25 12m.

NATIONAL HOTEL.

Delightfully Situated, next to Capitol Square,
RALEIGH, N. C.

A NEW HOUSE.

Fine Rooms, well Furnished and Fitted up in the best style.

ATTENTIVE SERVANTS.

The Table Daily Supplied with the Best this and other Markets Afford.

C. S. BROWN,
PROPRIETOR.

Late of Hayden House Salisbury N. C.
Feb. 25 3 mos.

DR. J. C. SMITH. A. H. HAMMOND.

SMITH & HAMMOND,

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS

CHARLOTTE, N. C

Just received
100 Barrels Kerosene Oil.
10, 60 Bbl Pure White Lard Oil.

FOR SALE.

A first-rate Sewing Machine—new and cheap. Apply at the Advocate Office.
Sept 10-tf

Mar 25-3m

54 FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

D. S. WAITT

IS OFFERING

EXTRAORDINARY BARGAINS

IN

Ready Made Clothing, Dry Goods, and Piece Goods which have been purchased FOR CASH AT

EXTREMELY LOW FIGURES.

HIS STOCK OF

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS AND CAPS

AND

GENT'S FURNISHING GOODS

IS COMPLETE.

Also a full line of

Trunks, Valises, Umbrellas, Notions, and Hosiery.

LOOK OUT FOR HIS SPRING STOCK.

Which will be on in a few days. Country Merchants, who buy for cash, will consult their interests by giving D. S. WAITT a call first. Remember the place

D. S. WAITT,

No. 54 Fayetteville Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Feb 11 4m.

THE PEERLESS STEAM WASHER AND BLEACHER!

The Latest, Best and Cheapest Washer made!

That Steam Washers are the best kind is generally conceded. That the PEERLESS is the best kind will be readily admitted as soon as it is seen and tested.

It causes all the water to flow up through pipes and out down through the clothes.

The water has not to go to the center either end of the boiler to get back where it starts; but goes out at any part of the upper bottom, and forces it all part of the clothing alike.

It pours the water in sixteen streams, on all parts of the surface of the clothing.

The water rushes through the clothes many times per minute, and cleans them in 15 to 30 minutes!—With this machine, any lady who chooses, may do the washing of her family in a very short time, with very little work, without stops, without rubbing, or damage to the fabric, with such ease and quickness that her husband would hardly know when washday comes!

The cost of the machine soon saved in difference in coal. Soon saved in difference in labor required.

A feed spirit or hose rather—the best of correct labor a single piece or boiler full washed with equal ease.

The machine can be made for any stove boiler, or the boiler furnished with the machine can be used for any other purpose.

It sells for less than any other, and will do the work more thoroughly and in less time.

As its name indicates it is

PEERLESS AMONG ALL!

Directions for using go with each machine. They are made of best material, and sold at the following prices:

For washer and boiler (No. 9)	$8.00
For " alone	5.00
For washer and boiler 30 inches long	9.50
For " alone	6.00

Sent anywhere per express on receipt of order by

J. A. JONES, Proprietor,
Raleigh, N. C.

THOMAS B. TYSON. W. T. JONES

TYSON & JONES,

(Successors to Tyson, Kemp & Co.)

Carriage Builders,

CARTHAGE

Having greatly increased our facilities, we are prepared to fill orders from our Manufactory, or from our Agents, as follows:

Repository at Rockingham, Leake county,
" " Laurenburg, N. C.,
" " Bennettsville, S. C.,
" near Bennettsville, S. C.

We feel confident that with the experience we have for manufacturing, the skilled workmen employed, and the best of material used, we can give the business, together with the fact that we have in the country no superior, if not none equal, in the STYLE, FINISH AND QUALITY.

And also, at the LOW PRICES now ruling our work.

We also Manufacture Harness, Saddles and Repairing Done at Short Notice.

May 6-1m

The Celebrated

"Cotton" Fertilizer.

—GILHAM'S—

All the work of the "SOUTHERN FERTILIZING COMPANY" is made from the formula of PROF WILLIAM GILHAM is stamped with the above PATENTED TRADE MARK to GUARANTEE it differ from all others.

Prepared Especially and Solely for the

COTTON CROP,

BY THE "SOUTHERN FERTILIZING COMPANY," RICHMOND, VA.

For "Each Species of Plant must have the SPECIFIC FOOD SUITED TO ITS PECULIAR NATURE in order to produce the LARGEST AND MOST REMUNERATIVE RESULTS." THE HIGHEST TESTIMONIALS received from every direction—from many of the largest FARMERS—from OPINIONS OF THE PRESS and NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENTS and OTHER DISINTERESTED PARTIES, through the DAILY PRESS, relative to its splendid action throughout the State.

Its Merits Speak for Itself.

By the handsome yield it produces, and the large NET PROFITS realized from it.

☞ Ask your neighbors who have tried it what they think of it. IT PAYS A NET PROFIT of

OVER 100 PER CENT

N B—There will be only a certain LIMITED AMOUNT of this Fertilizer manufactured especially for OUR SUPPLY. Our friends, and the trade, will do well to send in their orders at once, to be booked ahead, and then they can order as they may need it.

The "Southern Fertilizing Company" use only the HIGHEST GRADE of suitable materials known to Chemists, and MAINTAIN AND GUARANTEE a uniform standard.

This Fertilizer is sold by Merchants and Dealers generally, at all the principal Cities, Towns and Stations, throughout North Carolina and Virginia.

SPECIAL AGENTS:

C. W. GRANDY & SONS,

COTTON FACTORS

Norfolk, Va.

We have the exclusive control of the "COTTON" FERTILIZER for North Carolina and Southeastern Virginia. This Fertilizer can be had upon the following terms:

Cash Basis.

$60 Per Ton, at our Warehouse. Drayage 50 Cents Per Ton Additional.

Orders for 5 Tons and Upwards 4 Per Cent Discount.

" " 10 " " " 6 " "

" " 20 " " " 8 " "

" " 30 " " " 10 " "

" " 50 " " " 12 " "

Cash orders must be accompanied by the Cash. No discount allowed on Orders under Five Tons.

ON TIME, WITH APPROVED SECURITY

$65 Per Ton at our Warehouse. Drayage 50 Cents Per Ton Additional. Payable 1st November next, without Interest.

Orders for 30 Tons and upwards 10 per cent. Discount.

Orders for 20 Tons and upwards 8 per cent. Discount.

The Discount on time orders to be based on the Cash Value, $60 per ton.

No Discount allowed on time orders under 20 tons.

Orders MADE DIRECT or through any Cotton Factor, Commission Merchants or Dealers generally, will receive prompt attention. Apply or send your orders to any Merchant or Dealer and if they have not got it they will order it for you; or the farmers and Planters generally can form CLUBS and send their orders accompanied by the Cash for lots of 5, 10, 20, 30 or 50 tons at the above rates of discount, respectively. No discounts allowed except for lots as named above. All letters of enquiry answered promptly. We do not consider it necessary to ask any one to buy this Fertilizer, but merely to announce HOW AND WHERE it may be had.

ADDRESS

C. W. GRANDY & SONS,

COTTON FACTORS, NORFOLK, VA.

SPECIAL AGENTS FOR THE SOUTHERN FERTILIZING COMPANY.

ALEX. CREE H

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE TRADE, CONSUMERS OF DRY GOODS, &c.

MARBLE HALL AND TEMPLE OF FANY.

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

I take pleasure in announcing that my business has so largely increased and the demand is so great that I have constrained me to buy in

A MUCH LARGER AND MORE ATTRACTIVE STOCK THAN HERETOFORE.

My Goods are bought with every available advantage and doing business at a very small per centage I am able to offer INDUCEMENTS IN PRICES that are rarely equalled. My

DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT

was never more complete, embracing all new Fabrics and every new Shade, from the most delicate to the most brilliant. Call and examine my

BLACK SILKS,
JAPANESE SILKS,
IRISH POPLINS,
CASHMERES,
STEENS,
ALPACAS, &c.

And a very large variety of Low Priced Dress Goods; my stock of Cassimeres, Piece Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes is extraordinarily large and complete and you would be doing yourself no injustice to visit me before purchasing it unless purchasing elsewhere.

THE SECOND AND THIRD FLOORS are almost exclusively devoted to

WHOLESALING,

both being fitted to their utmost capacity with

GOODS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

to supply the Trade, and Country Merchants would find it to their interest to my stock a thorough examination before making their purchases, as I think I can offer rare bargains and agree to inducements. With

A CORPS OF EXPERIENCED SALESMEN,

ever ready to assist, I can sell, do sell, and will continue to sell as

CHEAP AS THE CHEAPEST.

No house in Raleigh can or shall undersell me. It matters not whether the goods are purchased in Europe or the United States, and for the following important reasons:

1st. I am alone, and have no one or three partners to divide my profits with.

2nd. I have leased my store house, at a more moderate cost.

3d. I believe in the great principle of LIVE AND LET LIVE—Quick sales and small Profits.

4th. I have large experience, buy at the lowest insane figures, and with the best facilities.

Remember the host of workers, was long since informed the people that is the place to buy their goods, and as heretofore I shall always

CREECH'S

REPRESENT GOODS AS THEY ARE.

Returning thanks for past favors, I hope to secure your patronage in the future.

Respectfully yours,

ALEX. CREECH,
Raleigh, N. C.

Marble Hall, Fayetteville St.
april 16 tf.

Cutler's Pocket Inhaler AND Carbolate of Iodine Inhalant.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY! Superior to any hitherto used or known for the treatment and cure of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Physicians endorse it as the most perfect and efficient Inhaler ever introduced. Catarrh is positively cured by it, and Consumption is taken in season. In Asthma it has no equal. For clearing the voice, singers and public speakers pronounce it invaluable. Hundreds of clergymen are using it. All Druggists have it for sale, nearly putting up with inhalant enough for "last months" use. Price $2 00. Free by mail on receipt of price. Send for a Circular.

W. H. SMITH & Co., Prop'rs,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Jan 28-6m

B A U ORDER SEEDS,

C

Briggs & Brother's

January Quarterly,

The finest Floral & Work ever issued in this country. Published quarterly the first of month. Sent to any address for 25 cents, containing an illustrated and descriptive Catalogue of the Seeds, Bulbs and Plants of the Subscriber's GREAT TRIAL Gardens and Floriculturist, Rochester, New York, together with elaborate articles on the various cultivation of the same. Over 1000 premiums taken by the Proprietors of BRIGGS & BROTHER'S SEEDS at the principal State and County Fairs in 1873.

The above is under cover with the next quarterly due.

8 cts Book. Customers for one dollar's or upward entitled to it.

We challenge competition on prices, reliability of seeds, and size of packets, &c.

BRIGGS & BROTHER,
Rochester, N. Y.

March 4-3w

JAMES LEFFEL'S
IMPROVED DOUBLE
Turbine Water Wheel.

POOLE & HUNT, Baltimor,
MANUFACTURERS FOR THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST.

Nearly 7000 now in use, working under heads varying from 2 to 240 feet 1 24 sizes, from 5½ to 96 inches.

The most powerful Wheel in the Market, And most economical in use of Water. Large ILLUSTRATED Pamphlet sent post free.

MANUFACTURERS ALSO, OF
Portable and Stationary Steam Engines and Boilers Babcock & Wilcox Patent Tubular Boiler, Blough's Cracker for Minerals, Saw and Grist Mills, Flouring Mill Machinery, Machinery for White Lead Works and Oil Mills, Shafting Pulleys and Hangers.

SEND FOR CIRCULARS.

Feb 25-6m

W. F. KORNEGAY,

Goldsboro', N. C.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer
FOREIGN & DOMESTIC HARDWARE,
COACH & WAGON MATERIALS.

Paints, Oils, Glass, &c., &c.

FARM WAGONS A SPECIALTY.

Our wagons are Western made, constructed of the very best material. Are light and strong, and will not fail to give satisfaction. All we ask is a trial of them.

Jan 28-tf

PIEDMONT & ARLINGTON

LIFE

INSURANCE CO.,

OF VIRGINIA.

POLICIES ISSUED - - - - - 20,000
ANNUAL INCOME - - - - - $1,500,000

Expense of management less than that of any Company of same age, in America.

Over $800,000 paid to widows and orphans. Business of '73 exceeded that of 1872 by 20 per cent.—She is the only Southern Company that has passed the Insurance Departments of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, &c., and has established successful agencies in those States.

DR. C. D. RICE, General Agent.
June 11-12m. Raleigh, N.

WE WANT 1,000 FIRST-CLASS BOOK AGENTS

at once, to sell two of the most popular works ever published:

U. S. BONDS

a record of prison life at Fort Delaware, by Rev. J. W. K. Hendy.

AND

MARSHALL'S LIFE OF

Gen. Robert E. Lee.

☞ Send for Circular at once.

TURNBULL BROTHERS,
Baltimore, Md.

Jan 28-2m

TO FARMERS.

BOWEN & MERCER'S

SUPER PHOSPHATE,

$40.00 PER TON.

Warranted equal to any manufactured. No agents. Send for Pamphlet of References. Ground Bone warranted, $45 per ton. Ground and Lump Plaster Guano. 300,000 Bushels Shell Lime.

BOWEN & MERCER.
No. 65 S. Gay St., Baltimore, Md.

March 18-2w,

The Diamond Cotton

CHOPPER AND CULTIVATOR

THIS INVALUABLE MACHINE, the recent invention of A. B. FISHER & CO., of Fayetteville, N. C., is unquestionably the GREATEST LABOR SAVER of the age, and adds fair to be to the cotton Planter what the McCormick Reaper and mower is to the Western Farmer. It at one operation chops, bars off, hills, weeds and plants the cotton more effectually than can be done by the hoe—thus doing the work of from SIX men and from TWO to FOUR horses, with but ONE man and ONE horse. After the chopping, it is converted into a most excellent CULTIVATOR by the change of a few screws, for use between the rows through out the season. It has been thoroughly tried upon the crop of 1873, and bears the highest testimonials of its perfect success. It took the Gold Medal at the Georgia State Fair, as the most important and largest implement in Agricultural Implements, and the First Premium every where it has been exhibited.

Special Price of Machine with Cultivator attachments, $35 and Boring $1. Price $15 00 extra.

For circulars and further information, address

A. C. LEE & McCLACKIN.
Agents for CHOPPER at Raleigh, N. C
(A Sample Machine is on exhibition at their store. Call and examine

McCALLUM, WYCKOFF & HOPE,

SUCCESSORS TO

SEPARKS, HICKS & CO.,

Engineers, Iron Founders and Machinists,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Manufacturers of

STATIONARY ENGINES, BOILERS, COTTON GINS, COTTON PRESSES, MILL, AND MINE MACHINERY, SMITH'S CELEBRATED GRIST MILLS, MACHINE AND GENERAL JOB WORK.

Of the most improved patterns. STEAM ENGINES, BOILERS and all classes of Machinery repaired in a mechanical way with promptness.

Castings of all descriptions furnished to order at short notice. All the different kinds of Plows formerly made by Separks, Hicks & Co., are being manufactured, and are now offered at the lowest prices consistent with good materials and workmanship.

Mr. J. H. Spears will preside with us in charge of the Foundry.

We always have the largest pattern of castings and Wrot Iron constantly on hand.

March 11 1m

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY.

MALE AND FEMALE.

R. P. TEDY, A. M. Principal.
Mrs. R. P. TEDY, Teacher of Music.

Spring session begins January 5th 1874.

Board per month, $8.00
Tuition, 1.50 to 3.00
One half in advance.

ADVANTAGES

Low price of board and tuition, healthy and moral location, Sabbath school and religious service every Sunday.

Access—By Rail Road to Greensboro, whence free conveyance will be furnished by the Principal, if notified of arrival.

Address the Principal,
Greensboro, N. C.

Nov 26 1m

R. F. JONES & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C

COMMISSION MERCHANTS COTTON FACTORS

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

Wilmington Street opposite Market House,

In our wholesale department we only sell to the trade a large stock of desirable groceries at prices that have and will continue to attract the trade. They have in store

1200 Gals. S. H. Syrup.
150 Sacks Fine Liverpool Salt.
1200 Pounds Cream Cheese.
300 Bushels Bolted Meal.
100 Boxes Cakes and Crackers—fresh.
1000 Pounds pure candy, assorted.
25 Cases mixed Pickles.
In Doz. cans Fresh Peaches.
50 Bbls. Superfine and Family Flour.
3 000 Pounds Family Soap.
25 Boxes Adamantine Candles.
40 Doz. boxes Axle Grease.
72 " Mascus Blacking.
50,000 Water Proof Percussion Caps.

Powder, Shot, Snuff, Tobacco Soda, Spice, Pepper Tea, &c., &c

Bolt Meal and Bran sold in Stalls, and a full assortment of other goods generally sold in grocery stores. Call and examine the quality of their goods and price Consignment of produce solicited.

oct 15-6m

FOR 1874.

We have bought, in the last ten days a fresh supply of

BLEECHINGS.

3-7, 7-8, 4-4, 6 4.

SHEETINGS.

8-4, 10-4, 11-4, 12-4.

Also

UNBLEACHED DOMESTICS.

3 4, 7-8, 4-4.

Prints.

5 cases New Style Winter Prints,
4,000 yards Pacific Homespuns,
And a large lot of

"BURT'S" GAITERS & BOOTS.

(For cold sloppy weather.) The best goods in the World. Also Gent's and Ladies'

RUBBER AND ARTIC OVER-SHOES, and MEN'S RUBBER BOOTS.

These Standard Goods having been bought at the lowest depression of prices during the season, complete our supply for commencing the year 1874.

Thanking the public for past favors and feeling that we have endeavored to give full value for all purchases made of us, we shall prosecute our business for the year

1874 with as much zeal and activity as has characterized the past. Our old motto adhered to be

"THE BEST GOODS AT THE LOWEST PRICES."

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

Jan. 7-tf

ODELL, RAGAN & CO.,

Wholesale Dealers in

General Merchandise,

GREENSBORO', N. C.

We call the attention of the merchants of North Carolina to the fact that we have opened our large wholesale house, and that we are prepared to sell them goods, as cheap as they can buy in any market. We are the agents for Cedar Falls, Deep River, Randleman and Alamance Manufacturing Co's. Sheeting, Yarns, Plaids and Seamless Bags. Parties ordering these goods will get them as cheap from us as

Youth's Department.

A Baby Interviewed

TO A LITTLE ONE JUST A WEEK OLD.

Only a baby, 'thout any hair,
'Cept just a little fuzz here and there.

Only a baby, some you have none;
Barefooted and dimpled, sweet little one.

Only a baby, teeth none at all;
What are you good for, only to squall?

Only a baby, just a week old;
What are you here for, you little scold?

BABY'S REPLY.

Only a baby! what should I be?
Lots o' big folks has been little like me.

'Aint got any hair 'ce I have, too;
'Spose'n I haven't, how it need grow.

No baby teeth wouldn't have one;
Don't det my dinner by gnawing a bone.

What am I here for? 'at's pretty mean;
Who's dot a better right, 'at ever you seen?

What am I good for, did you say?
Lots o' many good things, every day.

'Course I myself is satisfied I walk
By dissent speak me, 'cause I'se so small

Only a baby? so, sir, 'at's so;
'N if 'e dot round, you'd be one too.

'Let's all I have to say, you're most too old,
Dese, contradictious, long dettle old.

Life in a Tree

BY C. S. LEASE.

"Wouldn't it be jolly fun, Mollie, if you and I could just go off and live in a tree, like birds?"

Four year-old Mollie opened wide her blue eyes.

"But we couldn't, Tommy. Heard he our mother and hear our prayers?"

"There! that's just like girls. Why don't you know birds don't have mothers and say prayers, as chillens do?"

Tommy's six years of observation carried conviction to the mind of his little sister. There was silence for a moment; then a grave doubt crept in, which found expression thus.

"But what'nd we eat? Mary don't cook things for birds.

"Birds don't have to have things cooked for 'em. When they get hungry they just fly down and eat berries and things. I think it must be awful nice."

"Well, Tommy, let's try it. Mother won't be back in a good spell. Let's go off a good ways, so't nobody can find us, and live in a tree and eat berries always." Then, meditatively: Berries are good, ain't they, Tommy?"

"I'll bet they are," enthusiastically. "And we'll get lots of them."

So off went our little adventurers down through the back gate, across the meadow, where the tall grass almost covered their heads, bound for the woods beyond, where the prospect of life with the birds led them.

"Oh! dear me, this hay is awful to get through," groaned Mollie. "I wish we could just fly over it, don't you?"

"It isn't hay, it's grass," asserted the superior masculine wisdom. "And if we should try to fly over the meadow our folks would see us and call us back, and then we couldn't live in the tree you see."

"Well, let's go on."

And on they went, though poor little Mollie lost her shoe in the mud, and got tangled in the long grass, and had to be helped out several times before they reached the edge of the woods.

Although the cool shade was reached, however, and the bird life began

"Now, Tommy, if we're going to be birds, I s'pose we'll first have to chirp, but they do, and not talk nay. Won't we?"

"Oh, fudge! We ain't going to be birds, but to just make believe we are, and to live like 'em and have fun, you know."

Little Mollie's inmost conviction, I fear, must have been that it had not been so vastly funny so far; but she said nothing.

Now, then, Mollie, let's hunt us a place to live—a real nicesharp tree."

So, hand in hand, they plodded through the woods, looking for a favorable spot.

"Here's a nice one. I'll go up first. Let's off with our shoes and stockings, though. You know we've got to have our toes to hang on with."

Mollie laughed. The idea was a new one to her, but novel and charming.

Up went Tommy, with all a boy's agility, and was soon perched on a nice stout limb.

"Now, then, Mollie, come on. I've got a peach picked out. But poor Mollie essayed the task in vain.

"I can't get up," was the pitiful reply after a half dozen futile attempts.

"Oh, bother-ation! Glad I ain't a girl" was the comforting crumb he threw her from his limb.

"I guess girls can't help being "girls, I don't want to be one more'n you do," was the sobbing reply.

"Oh, well! Stop blubbering," and I'll come down and help you," was the very unbird like rejoinder.

By dint of great exertion on the part of each, little Mollie soon reached the perch, and by the side of her brave bird brother held on with fingers and toes.

But the latter hurt feet were unused to the rough bark and soon she ventured to change her position, when—told down through the green leaves and saying laughter—went the little form.

Poor Tommy forgot his bird nature for a moment in his manly anxiety for his little sister's danger; but fortunately from perch was not a high one, and it was but little hurt. Tommy has listened from the tree to the rescue, but they were both soon laughing merrily over it.

"That's just the way little birds tumble around when they first begin to fly," suggested he. "I've seen 'em tumble out of the lilac bush enough to kill 'em. But it never seems to hurt 'em any.

"Hurrah! Let's up and try it again. It's awful jolly bein' a bird. Ain't it, sis?"

"Yes," was the dubious answer. "But I'm hungry. Ain't you, Tommy? I guess it makes little birds hungry to tumble out of trees. Don't it? Let's go and hunt some berries before we get up again."

"All right, Mollie. Here we go. I wonder where the berries are. But we'll find 'em. Come on."

And off went they. But the berries seemed only to exist in their imagination. None were found, and they both felt very, very hungry

"Oh! dear," groaned Mollie, "I wish'd I had a cookie. Don't you, Tommy?"

The "cookie" would have tasted very good indeed to Tommy just then; but the reply came out characteristic of boyhood.

"Oh, pshaw! Birds don't eat cookies."

"Well, childrens do; and I thing it's better to be children 'n 'tis to be birds," was the positive reply. "Let's go home. I'm tired."

"I don't want to go home; but, if you're bound to, I suppose. I'll have to. I ain't so sick of bein' a bird as that all comes to," replied Master Tommy with spirit, while in his inmost heart he was glad enough to go.

Home they started. But, alas! their wanderings in the woods had confused their little heads; and now, with the dark night coming down, about them the little ones found they were lost.

"Oh! dear, Tommy, I'm afraid. Ain't you?"

"No, Mollie. I ain't exactly afraid; but I didn't think about birds having to stay outdoors all night in the dark. I wish mother'd come."

"I'm so tired I can't walk mother step," moaned Mollie.

"Well, you just lie down here on the moss and rest, and I'll sit and watch you," said the little brother, anxious now to make amends, as far as possible, for having led his little sister into trouble.

The dark night settled around them. The little girl, thoroughly disgusted with bird life, tired and hungry, soon sobbed herself to sleep.

Quivering with fear at the slightest sound, the little brother sat beside her, holding her little hand in the dark. It seemed to him like ages before he heard some one shouting: "Tommy Tommy!" And with a glad shout he answered: "Here we are, papa."

Little Mollie soon woke with the lights and voices, and was instantly nestled in papa's loving arms and being carried rapidly toward poor, distracted mamma, who was almost wild with anxiety about her little ones.

"I tell you, papa, birds don't have such awful jolly times, after all. Do they? Ain't it awful to live outdoors in the night?"

And as Mollie knelt to repeat her little prayer that night she prayed: "Please, God, don't ever let me be a bird any more; but just mamma's good little girl."—Independent.

Rural and Domestic.

Preparing the Land Well and Plant More Corn

The most important point in the cultivation of this crop is the preparation of the land by deep and thorough plowing. Corn roots run deep enough to avail themselves of the benefits of all the soil the plow can break. The earing season of corn is very often a period of frequent droughts, and deep and thorough preparation of the land is the best remedy for droughts. If the sub-soil plow is used to increase the depth of the preparation, the roots of plants will run far down in search of food and moisture.

The time of plowing should be determined by the condition of the land, and no land should be plowed, especially in the spring time, when too wet. All lands with an abundance of vegetable matter growing upon them, should be plowed in the fall or early winter, so as to allow the vegetable matter to fully decay, that it may become available as food for plants. Bottom lands and loose soils, already containing much vegetable matter, need not be plowed until near the time for planting—this will enable the corn to come up and get ahead of the grass and weeds.

The distance apart corn should be planted varies with the fertility and physical properties of the soil. A rich soil can of course sustain a greater number of stalks than a poor one; but of two soils equally fertile, one of stiff clay and the other of dark loam, the latter will bear closer planting than the former, because it absorbs more freely the light and heat of the sun. Young farmers are more apt to err in having their corn too thick than too thin upon the land. This crop demands more than simply an abundance of food, it requires a full supply of light and heat, with a free circulation of air.

The corn plant requires, as does nearly all other vegetation, potash, containing potash 27 per cent., phosphoric acid 47 per cent., and some manure containing more than is needed, the plant start off and grow rapidly. Cotton seed contain all these ingredients and is one of the very best manures for corn. If before applying our cotton seed to the corn as a manure we would wet them and roll them in ashes, it would supply the potash, while in the fermentation and decay the seed would yield up the phosphoric acid and ammonia, giving all the ingredients necessary for the rapid growth and quick maturity of the crop. Prepare the land thoroughly, manure liberally, cultivate well, and don't be satisfied with less than 30 bushels to the acre.

Ashes, plaster, cotton seed, and woods mold composted in the following manner, will make an excellent fertilizer for corn:

4 bushels of ashes.
1 bushel of land plaster.
20 bushels of cotton seed.
10 bushels of woods-mold.

A pint of the above mixture to a hill of corn would have a wonderful effect. Try it this year and report.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The great Anodyne of the age.

What is the natural thing to do when a disease is to be cured? It is for cure principle. From the moment that disease is developed in the system, the struggle is first to expel it, and then to restore the lost vigor. Right here is the point where the battle is fought and won. Whatever expels the disease and supplies the lost vigor is the greatest remedy ever discovered. Such is the character of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It expels all humors, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple or Blotch, and restores the system to perfect health. Its power to cure Consumption, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Asthma, and kindred affections, is wonderful. Sold by druggists everywhere. Price $1.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, or Little Giant Liver Regulators, are the smallest, cheapest, and best pill to be had. Only 25 cents a vial.

Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Sold by all Druggists.

may 18-1y

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This unrivalled Medicine is warranted not to contain a single particle of Mercury, or any injurious mineral substance, and is containing those Southern Roots and Herbs which are allwise Providence has placed in countries where Liver Diseases most prevail. It will cure all Diseases caused by Derangement of the Liver and Bowels.

PURELY VEGETABLE.

Simmons Liver Regulator, or Medicine,

Is eminently a Family Medicine, and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of suffering and many a dollar in time and doctors' bill. After over Forty Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Eminent physicians commend it as the most

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC

FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Armed with our ANTIDOTE, all illness and dangers of water and food may be freely walked at. As a Remedy for MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNICE, &c., SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World.

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
J. H. ZEILIN & CO.
MACON, GA., AND PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Price $1.00 per Package. Sold by all Druggists.

may 18-1y

FURNITURE.
W. H. NORTHROP & CO.
No. 4 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealers in all kinds of Furniture, such as Walnut, Chamber Suits, and all Descriptions of Common and Fancy Furniture, Looking Glasses, Picture Frames, Rocking Chairs, Cane Seat Chairs, Mattresses, Feathers, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Wash Stands, Tables, Safes, Lounges, Sofas, and a great variety of other articles too numerous to mention. Also, Manufacturers of Mattresses, Spring Beds, Lounges, Sofas, and Parlor Suits, and Repairing of all kinds. Also, Undertakers, and keep on hand a full supply of Metallic Burial Cases. Also, Agents for Wilson's Celebrated Sewing Machine.

Keep constantly on hand a full supply of Mattresses, such as pure Hair, Cotton, Moss, Excelsior, Shuck, Spring, Wire, Hair Mattresses, Feather Beds, Bolsters, Pillows, Mattress Protectors, &c., which are all warranted to be first-class in every respect.

Orders promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. Call and see us before purchasing elsewhere.

may 18-1y W. H. NORTHROP & CO.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.
Save Your Eyes.
RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED SPECTACLES AND EYES
Recommended by Physicians and Oculists.

Spectacles and Eyes adapted to every variety of defective vision. The Invisible Blending of Light to weak and defective eyes, by the new PATENT CRYSTAL LENS EYE GLASS.

Many of our customers call every year to have their eyes tested and their glasses changed to suit the changes of defective vision, and can do so by addressing a postal card to us, stating the number they now wear, and if possible send them by mail. We have a complete assortment of Glasses, Pebbles, Spectacle Frames, Opera Glasses, Barometers, Thermometers, Microscopes, Telescopes, Mathematical Instruments, Drawing Instruments, Compasses, Gold and Silver Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Silver Ware, &c.

Dr. J. BALL & CO.
No. 1 Fulton Street, New York.
P. O. Box 957.

may 18-1y

$20,000 WANTED.

The Executive Committee of the Louisiana State Lottery Company will receive sealed proposals until the 1st day of June, 1874, from any responsible party or parties having money to loan, who will offer the best rate of interest with satisfactory personal or mortgage security, for the sum of $20,000, for one year, or such part thereof as may be required. The proceeds will be used in paying off the Company's present loan, which matures on the 1st day of July, 1874. The Committee reserve the right to reject any or all bids. Address

A. BELDEN, Chairman,
New Orleans, La.

may 18-1m

Consumption.

The sufferings of the human family, may in the early stages be promptly arrested and its ultimately cured. Read advertisement, W. A., Oct. 29th, 1873.

Dr. R. V. Pierce:

Sir—For the last year I have been using your Golden Medical Discovery. I was very low in '72, having been afflicted for years. But not one of a short time before I was benefitted, that the cough was less, and with much weariness of body and my throat, was getting loose, had a dry cough, and much pain in my lungs. I have used twelve bottles of the Discovery and am almost well.

KATE T. WARDNER.

A son of Mr. A. H. Morris, of Golden Ridge, Orange Co., N. Y., has been cured of Consumption by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, as says Mr. C. B. Caswell, editor of the Chronicle, Port Jervis, N. Y. Also, Mr. A. R. Eckler, Druggist, of West Camp, Ulster Co., writes to state that L. L. Pierce, Golden Medical Discovery has effected a wonderful cure of consumption in his wife—who is cured.

March 25 1w

ADVERTISEMENTS.

DR. C. M'LANE'S
CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,
FOR THE CURE OF
Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,
DYSPEPSIA AND DISEASES OF THE STOMACH.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is felt in the left side; a portion is unable to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected, with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with loss; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something, which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of extreme nervous debility; he is easily startled, feels as if some evil was impending, and he complains of a painful sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he discovers every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Liver Pills, for Fever and Ague and Fever, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a fair trial.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge and Liver Pills, for sale by all Druggists. Beware of Counterfeits that may be imposed on the credulous. Genuine only when Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa., is blown in the bottle. Each bottle of the genuine Vermifuge has a red wrapper, with a steel plate engraving of the Justice weighing Medicine, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each box of the genuine Liver Pills has a red label with the likeness of Dr. C. M'Lane thereon, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Liver Oil has a steel plate engraving of Dr. C. M'Lane, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Strengthening Cordial has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Tonic Bitters has a steel plate engraving of Ceres, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Female Regulator has a steel plate engraving of Juno, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Blood Purifier has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Cough Syrup has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Worm Syrup has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Pain Killer has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Blackberry Cordial has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Anodyne has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Diuretic has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Cathartic has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Diaphoretic has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Expectorant has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Emetic has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Sedative has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Stimulant has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Tonic has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Alterative has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Astringent has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Carminative has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Demulcent has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Expectorant has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Emetic has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Sedative has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Stimulant has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Tonic has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Alterative has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Astringent has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Carminative has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper. Each bottle of the genuine Demulcent has a steel plate engraving of Hygeia, and the signature of Fleming Bros. on the outside wrapper.

Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Store keepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every household. If you would have your children grow up to be healthy, vigorous, and vicious Men and Women, give them a few doses of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,

TO EXPEL THE WORM
BE SURE THAT YOU GET THE GENUINE

PARENTS REDUCE YOUR SHOE BILLS TWO THIRDS BY BUYING

Silver Tipped Shoes.

Feb 18-6m

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.
A Consumptive Cured.

Schedules.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Thursday, Jan. 1th, 1874

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte	7.00 P. M.	8.33 A. M.
" Air-Line J'ct'n	7.25 "	8.50 "
" Salisbury	10.09 "	11.47 "
" Greensboro'	2.15 A. M.	1.15 P. M.
" Danville	7.28 "	6.47 "
" Burkville	11.40 "	8.06 "
Arrive at Richmond	2.33 P. M.	11.02 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.
Leave Richmond	1.48 P. M.	6.05 A. M.
" Burkville	4.05 "	8.45 "
" Danville	9.52 "	11 " P. M.
" Greensboro'	1.16 A. M.	4.00 " "
" Salisbury	3.56 "	6.33 " "
" Air Line J'ct'n	6.22 "	8.01 " "
Arrive at Charlotte	6.50 A. M.	9.00 " "

GOING EAST		GOING WEST
STATIONS.	MAIL	MAIL
Leave Greensboro'	2.05 A. M.	Arrive 1.23 A. M.
" Salisbury	5.30 "	Leave 12.45 "
" Raleigh	9.45 "	Arrive 9.00 P. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro'	1.10 "	Leave 5.00 "

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.
SALEM BRANCH.

Leave Greensboro'	4.21 P. M.
" at Salem	6.25 " "
Leave Salem	6.30 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'	10.00 " "

Mail leaves Salem daily.
Passengers for Richmond and Washington leave Greensboro at 9.45 A. M., arrive at Burkville 12.24 P. M. same day. Leave at 4.05 A. M. arrive at Richmond at 8.00 A. M.

Pullman Palace Cars on all night trains between Charlotte and Richmond, without change.

Passengers for all other points in Virginia and the South will please call at the Ticket Office of this Company and procure their tickets.

For further information call on or address

S. S. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

may 18-1y

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct 21, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, and Roanoke River Division will run daily (Sundays excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	9.35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon	3.30 P. M.
Leave Weldon	9.50 A. M.
Arrive at Gaston	3.50 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	5.45 P. M.
Arrive at Weldon	10.45 A. M.
Leave Weldon	4.45 P. M.
Arrive at Raleigh	9.45 "

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad for Portsmouth, Norfolk and Petersburg, and also with Richmond and Petersburg Railroad for Richmond and Washington City. At Gaston with the North Carolina Railroad for and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line for Hayward and Fayetteville.

Express, Mail and Freight trains connect at Weldon with Accommodation and Freight trains on Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Gaston Railroad.

Mail at Raleigh connects with Accommodation and Freight trains on the Raleigh and Augusta Air Line and Richmond and Danville Railroad North Carolina Division.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Railroad run daily, (Sundays excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4 00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6 05 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6 45 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	9 2

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	3.05 P. M
Arrives at Sanford,	5.20 "
Leaves Sanford,	10.15 A. M
Arrives at	8.30 P. M.

Close connection is made at Sanford with the Western Express train to and from Charleston, Columbia and Augusta, and with Western Express and Freight trains to and from Wilmington, Columbia and Augusta.

Close connection is made at Raleigh with the Western Express train to and from Charleston, Columbia and Augusta Railroad, and connection is made with Freight Trains to and from Wilmington and Freight Trains on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Sup't Department.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Saddles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Root's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just rec. by us.

PESCUD, LEE & CO'S
Drug Store.

Jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment on hand and more kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson' oining Store.

Oct. 22 6m.

A new work of intense INTEREST and intrinsic VALUE

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley."

A graphic History of Ocean Navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling incidents, fearful disasters, pirates, perils, &c. Above, also the wonders BENEATH the SEA, Diving, Dredging, Telegraphing, &c., 220 spirited illustrations. Agents first started report 161 orders in four days, 127 in five days, 73 in two days &c. sells wonderfully fast. 3000 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and circulars, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, 723 Sansom St., Phila.

2 pd 15-19m.

BRINLY PLOWS

BEST AND CHEAPEST IN USE.

Have taken over 250 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List, and certificates of planters who use them and MANUFACTURED BY
BRINLY, HALL & HARDY,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

FOR SALE

Cotton Hands to Work Cotton Factories. Will be ready early in
Jan. 1876 & MARLOWE.

W. B. Hutchings & Co.

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Saddles, Saddles, Harness, &c.,

Opposite Tucker Hall,

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Fresh Garden Seeds.

PESCUD, LEE & CO.,

DRUGGISTS,

A full supply of Root's Warranted Garden Seeds, the most popular and reliable Seeds sold in the Southern States, just rec. by us.

PESCUD, LEE & CO'S
Drug Store.

Jan 14-tf

PIANOS! PIANOS!!

AUGUST DOEPP,

DEALER IN

PIANO FORTES AND ORGANS.

Of the most approved styles and manufacture. An assortment on hand and more kept on hand. Particular attention paid to the

REPAIRING AND TUNING

of Pianos. Persons wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call at the Warerooms on Hargett Street, near the corner of Salisbury, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders may be left at the Warerooms of Simpson' oining Store.

Oct. 22 6m.

A new work of intense INTEREST and intrinsic VALUE

OCEAN'S STORY.

By the gifted son of the famous "Peter Parley."

A graphic History of Ocean Navigation, Adventure and Discovery since the Ark. Replete with startling incidents, fearful disasters, pirates, perils, &c. Above, also the wonders BENEATH the SEA, Diving, Dredging, Telegraphing, &c., 220 spirited illustrations. Agents first started report 161 orders in four days, 127 in five days, 73 in two days &c. sells wonderfully fast. 3000 Agents Wanted. Send for full description and circulars, HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, 723 Sansom St., Phila.

2 pd 15-19m.

BRINLY PLOWS

BEST AND CHEAPEST IN USE.

Have taken over 250 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List, and certificates of planters who use them and MANUFACTURED BY
BRINLY, HALL & HARDY,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

FOR SALE

Cotton Hands to Work Cotton Factories. Will be ready early in
Jan. 1876 & MARLOWE.

T. V. GUTHRIE, Reidsville, N. C. GEO. A. BENBOW, Wilmington, N. C.

"BLEES"

Link Motion, Lock-Stitch, Shuttle

NOISELESS

Hems, Braids, Gathers, Tucks, Ruffles, Cords, Binds, Frills, Quilts, Gathers, &c., &c.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

Uses the straight needle, and will do the greatest range and variety of work of any machine ever before offered to the public.

Reliable agents wanted for every county in the State; exclusive territory will be given.

NEWELL & GUTHRIE, General Agents
No. 5 South Front Street,
Wilmington, N. C.

Dec 26-tf

ÆTNA FIRE CO.

Assets, $5.782.635.09.

W. H. CROW, Agent,

Raleigh, N. C.

ÆTNA LIFE COMPANY,

JANUARY 1873.

ASSETS, - - - $18.077.540.66

Represented in North Carolina and Va., South of James River by

W. H. CROW, Manager.
Office: Raleigh.

WILLIAM OR SPROHOS & THOMAS

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

Commission Merchants,

FAYETTEVILLE ST.,

OPPOSITE MOSE HOGAN HALL.

R. B. WILLIAMSON,
W. H. THOMAS,
J. S. THOMAS, JR.
Oct 1-tf

RALEIGH, N. C.

WATSON'S GALLERY

—OF—

PHOTOGRAPHIC ART,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is one of the most complete and extensive Photographic establishments in the South, where every style of Photographic likeness is executed from the smallest miniature to the large Crayon colored in oil. We have the largest assortment of ornamental frames in this section of country, and can suit the most fastidious. Imperishable Albrotype Ambrotypes and Photographs taken in all weathers. Those coming to the city will please call at WATSON'S GALLERY 2nd door above Tucker Hall.

J. W. WATSON.

Dec 18-12

THE VICTOR SEWING MACHINE

TRIUMPHANT!

It is the very best Machine in the world, and has taken the first premium at every Fair where it has been exhibited!

Our New Patent Shuttle is the Simplest and only Perfect one in use.

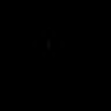
The Only Lock-Stitch Machine that has a Self-Setting Needle.

It does a straight and self-setting needle. The needle cannot be set wrong. A self-adjusting tension. No difficulty in sewing from fine to heavy, or heavy to light goods. A new Patent Feed. The only reliable, practical, and easy running machine. The shuttle carries a full thread. It has no springs, wires or cogs. The lightest running and most durable machine in the market. Any one can learn to use it. Any one can repair any machine. Buy no other machine. Examine the Victor at this office, or send for circular, containing testimonials from those using it in this and other States. Agents wanted in unoccupied territory. Address

THE VICTOR SEWING MACHINE CO.,
No. 9 North Liberty Street,
Baltimore, Md.

Jan 7-6m

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.



Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for CHURCHES, SCHOOLS, FARMS, FACTORIES, COURT HOUSES, FIRE ALARMS, TOWN CLOCKS, CHIMES, ETC. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue Sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second Street, Cincinnati.

apr 16—12m.

STIEFF'S PIANOS.

UPWARDS OF FIFTY

FIRST PREMIUMS

GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS

Were awarded to CHARLES M. STIEFF, for the Best Pianos, in competition with all the leading manufacturers in the country.

OFFICE AND WAREROOMS—No. 9 N. Liberty Street, Baltimore, Md.

The Superiority of the Unrivalled Stieff Piano Forte, is conceded by all who have compared it with others. In their New Grand Scale Scale, IX octaves, the manufacturer has succeeded in making the most perfect Piano Forte possible.

Prices will be found as reasonable as consistent with thorough workmanship.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos always on hand, from $50 to $350.

Wants agents for the celebrated Parlor Cabinet Organ and Church Organ, all styles and prices, to suit every one, guaranteed to be fully equal to any made.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 1500 Southerners, (all of whom are Virginians, Carolinians, Georgians, Floridians, Tennesseans and others throughout the South who have bought the Stieff Piano) for the last three years.

may 25-1m

WM. KNABE & CO'S CENTRAL WAREROOMS

ARE AT

No. 112 North Charles St., BALTIMORE, MD.

Where will be found a full assortment of their celebrated Pianos, Cases Grand and Cot. Scales, Actions, Wires, &c. Also, first premium Cabinet Organs, &c., &c.

Feb 11-1m

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NO. 141 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
O. P. FACKLER, Actuary.

Wm. M. COLE, Secretary.
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., LL.D., Med. Director

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES.

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium,

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for JUDGMENT in INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS—upon which elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of their Policies, each and every year, and in a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation must be held by the Companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully see for this important safeguard. IT WILL BE FOUND IN THE BROOKLYN LIFE.

Wm. LITTLE, M.D., MEDICAL EXAMINER.

A. W. LAWRENCE,

General Agent for North Carolina,
Office at Raleigh.

may 18-tf

W. S. MOORE
Greensboro', N. C.

Keeps on hand and has had unexpected sales of the

CELEBRATED

MASON & HAMLIN

—AND—

PRINOE & CO.,

CHURCH & PARLOR ORGANS.

These are the oldest Makers of American Organ, reaching about 12,000 made and in use. Send to send in my store. I refer to a few only of whom I built Rev. J. Rumple, Salisbury, A. Green, W. J. Lowrance, Shubin, Peebles, Charlotte, Mathieson, Winston, Baptist Church, Reedsville, Meth. Charlotte, Pelham, Raleigh and Thomas Fox, Prof. J. L. Wright, dec. In Guilford, John Wherry and, W. G. Wharton, C. W. Andrews, Dr. W. Cobbe, Dr. Wm.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX—NO. 13. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 1, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,011.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate

Lines on the death of Nat on Reid infant son of Rev. J. E. and Mrs. Virginia H. Sikes, who died in Monroe, N. C. July 4th 1873 aged four months.

[illegible]
So large a sum was given,
To ransom the heart of parents dear
And open them mansions to Heaven.

Bright angel hearts are said to sight,
Upon [illegible]
For they have come to cheer and bless,
Then go and weary.

With cherubim they love to look
Into the glory constantly,
For they have seen in God's own book
Of angels bright and holy.

We call our little voice high
And join the [illegible] story,
And sound all space through the sky
The [illegible] story.

By faith we see their smiling child,
Clothed and crowned in Heaven;
And [illegible] of grief so wild,
For Christ reigns in the grave.

Joy for our little one is safe
From all harm, grief and sorrow;
From pain, care, from sin was deep
From the cross of heavy cross.

Let long we linger here below
To bear our cross [illegible]
We'll [illegible] glory,
Hold close hands for Savior to work
[illegible]

And [illegible] angels on [illegible]
He sent to [illegible] who gave it,
Who [illegible] gave His Son
[illegible]

And now for reading in a home,
Of parents [illegible]
We [illegible] of a sweet death
And angel [illegible]

Yes [illegible]
[illegible] given;
The [illegible] them, to cherish
[illegible]

He [illegible]
[illegible]
Her [illegible]
[illegible]

And when [illegible] work,
Our [illegible] finished
And [illegible]
[illegible]

May [illegible] child
And [illegible]
And [illegible]
Of [illegible]

M. F. E.

Communicated.

For the Advocate

Letters to a Young Itinerant.—No. 8.

My Dear Young Brother: I am probably due you and the Editor of the Advocate both an apology for the number and length of the letters. To me the [illegible] has been both pleasant and profitable in reviewing some of the difficulties and trials on the way of the young itinerant. I have felt that my sympathies and my love have been drawn out toward them more than ever, and that from henceforth I shall watch with deeper interest and solicitude their success in "sowing the seed of the Word." Before I close this series of letters, I desire to make some suggestions upon one or two minor points, an attention to which you will see may be of material service to you not only now, but in all your future life.

I have said before that an itinerant's life is full of incidents, and that many of the scenes of a day and hour are intensely interesting, and that they ought to be preserved. And by a little care and labor such is [illegible]. I could not suggest any way that would accomplish so well as by your keeping a Diary. In a record of this kind you would of course keep up a history of your religious state year to year, the varied incidents and phases of your every-day itinerant life, such as remarkable conversions, deaths, Providences, &c., besides. You might also chronicle many items, facts, dates, revolutions of opinions and the results arising from the [illegible] that ever and anon agitate the outside world. These might be very valuable for reference in the future.—But most of all, probably, this practice would prompt you to a closer and more intelligent observation of passing events, while at the same time the task of writing out their details would more surely fix the events of whatever kind, in your memory. This labor would be small, and when fully inaugurated would become interesting even to yourself, besides improving your penmanship, orthography, &c., and in a series of years would make a history that in its details would embody the trials and triumphs, the joys and sorrows, the lights and shadows of itinerant life. Had these been preserved, records as I handled down to us even for the last half century, what a precious legacy would the church now have, in a record of bright and illustrious example of pioneer labors [illegible] Christian heroism also as [illegible] of the church in any [illegible] to be regretted that we have not the history of the past [illegible] edifying, that when I look over [illegible] sheepings of home, nation, and [illegible] experience, the [illegible] the faith and fire [illegible] of the church of the day, [illegible] just [illegible] the impression [illegible] of [illegible] by [illegible] my [illegible].

I once [illegible] an eminent itinerant minister who was remarkable for the [illegible] and fervor of his piety, the zeal and success that marked his labors, who, when failing health compelled him to assume the supernumerated relation, attempted the task of writing out the history of his itinerant life for a period of thirty years.—Having secured an announcesis, he proposed to write a book under the guise of a dream, after the manner of the "Pilgrim's Progress," yet differing from Bunyan in this, that he himself was the actor and the occurrences detailed actual facts. His plan was to begin with his call to the ministry, his misgivings and struggles at this point, and how he overcame them, his joining conference, and first entrance upon his regular itinerant work, and then a continuous narrative, colored with the lights and shades, embodying the toils and privations, and interspersed with scenes and incidents during an eventful and laborious itinerant life of upwards of thirty years.

It was my privilege to act as his announcesis, and thus to gain an insight into this history, and so far as he was able, to carry forward his plan—and had he lived to complete it, from the tenor of the first opening chapters, it would have made one of the most remarkable and readable books that have been published in many years.

Greatly to my regret, by the time he had fully entered into the work, he was stricken down with an aggravation of the disease that had been preying upon him for years, and in the midst of recalling and recounting the labors and incidents of the past, was suddenly summoned to his reward.

I have given the details of this case to illustrate what a rich legacy the church might have if not one, but many of our itinerant ministers would give to the church and the world a history of their toils and sacrifices, their conflicts and conquests, interspersed as it might be, with remarkable incidents of the power of the Gospel, the work of the Spirit, the triumphs of faith, the over-rulings of Providence, and the instrumentality of our Methodism in energizing and disseminating a more vital christianity throughout the moral world.

Take for example the N. C Conference. In point of number, ability and experience, they will compare with any similar body of ministers in the South or anywhere else. Now, suppose one half or even less of this large body of ministers, many of them men of culture and observation, were to bring their varied and rich stores of learning and experience to bear upon the columns of our "Advocate, what a church paper we could have! Here, Bro. Bobbitt, or any one else I hope, will not understand me as intending in the least to disparage our "Advocate"—everybody will agree that it is by far the best paper that we, as a denomination, have ever had in the State, and that as it grows in popular favor and usefulness, an impulse is given to the ability and tact with which it is edited; but Bro. Bobbitt complains that the paper is not yet what he wants it to be, nor what it can be if the Methodists of the State sustain it as they ought, and the ministers of the Conference will write for its columns as they might.

Just think what a host of ministers in the N. C. Conference, to say nothing of the laymen in our church in the State, that could weekly grace the columns of the "Advocate" by communications, essays, criticisms, sermons, lectures, reviews, &c., &c., which might not only do honor to the [illegible], but might [illegible] a vast deal of good for our church: for there are many episodes in the daily experiences of itinerant life, which, if they were given to the world through our religious press, would be like "a nail driven in a sure place by the master of assemblies."

Why it is that our ministry do not more highly estimate and more frequently avail themselves of this wide and inviting door for increased usefulness, to me is wholly inexplicable, other than upon the supposition that they have hitherto over looked or under valued its vast importance.—Let not this dereliction of duty lie at your door—exert yourself, not only to obtain subscribers to the "Advocate," but write for its columns. You may thus speak (or preach if you please) to a larger audience than probably you will ever address face to face.

And now, my dear young brother, with this last suggestion, I reluctantly lay down my pen and close this series of letters. The labors of their preparation will be amply repaid if they will in any measure open up your way, and animate and encourage you in your arduous and responsible duties.

When "the ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads," may you and yours be there! So mote it be!

Yours in Christ.

WATCHMAN.

Cedar Grove, N. C., March 1874.

For the Advocate

Church Finances.

Again Roanoke begs leave to appear before your readers, on the subject of Church Finances, hoping there by, at least, to provoke some abler pens, among the laity, to write on this much vexed question; and let it be thoroughly ventilated, through the columns of the ADVOCATE, until ways and means shall be devised, to provide a proper support for the ministry—until some plan shall be elicited which shall so effectually settle this question, as to entirely unburden the preacher's mind, of all anxiety in reference to his support, and allow him to prosecute his legitimate work, unmolested by the fear that his temporal wants will not be provided for. When we shall have accomplished this much to be desired end, we shall have rendered a two fold service—first by the inestimable relief administered to the preacher, and secondly, by the more healthful tone of piety infused into the church, by inducing her people to realize and do their duty, in the premises; thereby making them a wiser, better and hence a happier people.

A plan, to the accomplishment of this end ought to be discovered; which is to say, it can be.

It is peculiarly the province of the Stewards of each pastoral charge, to promptly provide temporal things for him, who ministers to them in spiritual things, and when one plan fails to try another.

That the assessment plan is a progression, we are free to admit; yet as administered, it does not quite fill the bill.

We would now respectfully submit some addenda thereto and some suggestions as to the mode of administration, which we think, if adopted, would not only be a decided improvement, but would effectually eradicate a long standing evil, which has hung on like a mighty incubus, sapping the piety of the church.

At the first appointment, after the first Quarterly Conference, let a church meeting be held, when the stewards shall announce to the congregation the amount the Quarterly Conference has assessed to his church; then, let a committee be appointed to apportion the amount to the individual membership, with instructions to report at the next meeting; and notice be given that each individual member, will be expected, when this report is made, provided he objects to the amount apportioned to him, to enter his protest and state the reasons for the same, upon the validity of which the church meeting shall then decide by vote. Let the report, as then amended, and adopted by the church meeting, be final. Let each member be required to pay his apportionment in equal monthly instalments. Make it the duty of the Secretary, to keep an exact account, in tabular form, of all amounts received, and from whom; and require him to read at each appointment, the amount apportioned to each individual member, the aggregate paid by each, and the deficit, if any. Then let each delinquent, unless he can show satisfactory cause for failure, either through misfortune or otherwise, be held amenable for willful neglect of a christian duty.

This may be regarded by some, as extravagant; but we must think that [illegible] very can object. At all events let us hear from the other side!

ROVANO.

For the Advocate

Sectarian Vantage Ground.

Every christian denomination has its vantage ground on which no others can stand; and from which it hurls its weapons of aggression against other denominations. Each beligerent must show plainly that he has something to defend which others are disposed to assail, and though they have common ground on which they often meet in peace and amity, yet, the moment they separate, a contest begins, and their batteries are opened upon each other, with as much violence as if they were struggling for existence.

To change the figure to one less offensive, and more scriptural, we regard each preacher as a "fisher of men." He has his instruments, his nets, his tackling and says "I go a fishing."

First then, the Baptist with his instruments:—Adult Baptism is his harpoon. This he darts furiously at little fish and big fish. The little fish are killed dead, or scattered abroad. The big fish are the great philologists and deep philosophers. They prefer the new translation in Latin, immersion, to the Greek original, which Pedobaptists retained to favor infant sprinkling, invented by priestcraft time out of mind. They are too philosophic to see any moral effect in a precept. The prohibition, "Thou shalt not seethe a kid in its mother's milk," and the command to circumcise the infant at eight days old, do very well for the Jews, but what good can it do an unconscious babe under the gospel to sprinkle water on its forehead? The gospel was not intended for infants. So the little fish may go and float about at will.

The Baptist preacher has his drag net, immersion, impotent with Baptism. With this he catches all the adult fish, without distinction of race, color or former condition. Close communion is his clap trap, which opens to the Regulars, but shuts down on the approach of all irregular fish. Once in they are safe, and if they try to escape, they are entangled in the net of final perseverance.

Thus equipped he goes a fishing after a revival which generally grows out of a union meeting. We could give many known cases in illustration; we give only one as we found it in Harper's Magazine:

"In the year 1851 great excitement prevailed in the western part of the State of New York on the subject of religion, and 'protracted meetings' were very common, and often attended by very extraordinary scenes. A celebrated Baptist traveling preacher called an 'Evangelist,' wished to hold a meeting of some days in a church that was owned in common by a Methodist and a Presbyterian congregation, who occupied it by turns. They consented, upon his pledging himself not to preach on the the subject of Baptism, but to leave all the converts to join whatever church they pleased. He kept his word, went on with the meeting, had great success; and as his time was drawing to a close, he gave notice that he would preach a sermon to young converts, of whom now he reckoned more than half a hundred. The house was crowded when the sermon was to be delivered, and the Methodist and Presbyterian preachers were both in the pulpit by the side of their Baptist brother, who faithfully kept his word while he discoursed from the words of his Master, 'Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you.' After he had concluded his sermon, he struck up a lively old camp meeting tune and sang the following immortal words with as much ease as if it was one of Watts', the converts joining in the chorus:

"Come all ye loving Christians,
Who feel the sacred fire,
Obey the truth to-day,
And prove the devil a liar—
And to glory we will go, and to, etc.

"I had rather be a Baptist,
And have a shining face,
Than to be a Methodist,
And dwarf fall from grace,
And to glory we will go, etc.

"I had rather be a Baptist,
And despise every hour,
Even a Presbyterian,
And never have the power,
And to glory we will go, etc.

"If sprinkling is convenient,
It has no claim to truth;
It may be good for babies,
But will not do for Youth,
And to glory we will go,
And to glory we will go, and go and go,
And to glory we will go."

"In conclusion, it is needless to say fifty three persons related their experience, and were baptized according to the style proposed by the preacher."

AN OLD FISHERMAN.

For the Advocate

Knap of Reeds and Oxford, N. C.

DEAR BOBBITT: Through the kindness of a friend, Bro. Wesley Mangum, I was enabled to pursue my journey from Mt. Tabor to Uncle Dennis Tilley's, who lives in that part of the country known as Knap of Reeds.—The weather was very cold, but the scenery was beautiful, for the whole forest was bending under the weight of a heavy sleet. We rounded our destination without accident. I spent two days in the neighborhood in the interest of Trinity, and got a me mon-ey. But I did not get as much as I wanted, and I shall have to go back again. It was the worst time I could have visited that section, perhaps, as the people had not sold their fine tobacco. I called upon the people at the wrong time. It is a little strange that I cannot reach any place by steam or horse power at the right time.

Will the friends of Trinity College and of education in general be kind enough to inform me when and where to go to get money? for money we need, and money we must have.

The Knap of Reeds country is fine for tobacco, wheat, oats and corn.—The farmers generally in that section of Granville county raise their own provisions, and make as much tobacco as they can, as a surplus. There is a large school building at Knap of Reeds, in which Bro. Hunley is teaching the "young idea how to shoot." A grand work. We need a thousand teachers to go like angels of mercy to save our people, old and young, from that profound indifference to education that pervades our country. Let our people sustain all our Colleges, with patronage and money, and then we can help supply the country with teachers.

On Saturday before the first Sunday in this month, Bro. Hunly carried me to Oxford, where we arrived late in the evening. I was very sorry to find Bro. Griffith sick. I hope he is well ere this. It is quite gratifying to pass through a man's field of labor and find him universally popular. Bro. Griffith has a large circuit, and he is well supported. His people love him, and he is worthy of their love. I had the pleasure of preaching to his people both morning and night, and I felt that I had their prayers.

On Sunday evening I went up to the Orphan Asylum and made a short talk to the children, after the exercises of the Sunday school were over. When I was introduced to the Orphans as the Agent of Trinity College, by Mr. Mills, the faithful Superintendent, who said to the boys, "if you have any funds to invest in enlarging the buildings at Trinity, hand them to Mr. Culbreth," to my great surprise and gratification, three little orphans made me a donation. Two gave me ten cents each, and one gave me three cents.

Think of this, ye Methodists of North Carolina, and emulate their noble example, and send us hundreds of dollars to finish the new building, whose half built walls cry for help to cover them from the storm! I spent Monday and Tuesday in the interest of Trinity, and did very well, but expect to do still better, for several of those kind people promised to help me. That is half the battle. Just get in the habit of saying "I will," and got ont of the habit of saying "I can't." Let everybody decide to do something for Trinity College, and they will feel much better. I am satisfied that I would.

Yours truly,

B. B. CULBRETH.

Selected.

Step-Mothers

BY T. DE WITT TALMAGE.

We have often wondered why it is that the novels and romances always make the step mother turn out so very badly. She always dresses too much and bangs the children. The [illegible] experience, must have had a very hard time. In society it has become a proverb to call us a step mother." We are disposed however to think that while there may be marked exceptions, step-mothers are the most self sacrificing beings in all the world. They come into the family scrutinized by the household and the relatives of the one who used to occupy the motherly position. Neighborly busy bodies meet the children on the street and sigh over them and ask them how their new mother treats them. The wardrobe of the youngsters comes under the severe inspection of outsiders. The child having been taught that the lady of the household is "nothing but a step-mother," screams at the first chastisement, knowing, that the neighbor's window is up and this will be a good way of making publication. That is called cruelty which is only a most reasonable moderate and christian spanking. What a job she has in navigating a whole nursery of somebody else's children through mumps, measles, whooping-cough, and chicken-pox. One of the things that we rejoice over in life is, that it is impossible that we ever become a step mother. In many cases she has the largest possible toil for the least reward.

Blessed be the Lord who setteth the solitary in families that there are glorious exceptions. The new mother comes to the new home and the children gather the first day around her as the natural protector. They never know the difference between the first and second mother. They seem like two verses of the same hymn, two days of the same summer, two strokes of the same bell, two blessings from the same God.

She is watchful all night long over the sick little one, bathing the brow and banishing the scare of the feverish dream. After a while those children will rise up to do her honor, and when her work is done she will go up to get the large reward that awaits a faithful, great-hearted Christian step-mother, in the land where the neighbors all mind their own business.

Incidents of the Revival in Great Britain.

The question was asked by a stranger, "who is conducting the work in Edinburgh?" His answer was, "no one; the Lord conducts it." With a calmness, earnestness, and simplicity which come from the Spirit alone, each one seeks his or her place in the noon meeting, accompanied now by a Christian friend who has not hitherto been seen there, and now by a stranger from the country.

"I came with a heart full of prejudice," said an old minister the other day, "doubtful of the movement altogether, and ready to find fault. It was not long before I realized the power of God, and if there had been ice round my heart it had melted. I soon consulted with a friend how I was to seek the same in my own district."

"During the week (says the Weekly Review) Messrs. Moody and Sankey have held meetings daily in Glasgow, and their services have attracted immense congregations. Daily noon and evening meetings are held in the churches and halls in different parts of the city, and in the suburbs. At most of the meetings Messrs. Moody and Sankey have taken a leading part in the exercises, assisted by several ministers of different denominations in the city, and by gentlemen from Edinburgh, Perth, Dundee, Berwick, Belfast, and other places. A gentleman from Edinburgh stated one evening that many feared that when Messrs. Moody and Sankey left Edinburgh the work would cease; but such was not the case; they were continued with gratifying results. Rev. Arthur Mursell, of London, at present in Scotland on a lecturing tour, frankly confessed that he attended the meeting 'with a full vessel—full of prejudice—against them, but the simplicity and transparent genuineness of what he heard and witnessed drove away all his prejudice."

The Rev. Andrew A. Bonar (Glasgow) says of men's meeting in the City Hall, admission by ticket: "the very look of the meeting was solemnizing; such a sea of faces, every face looking at the speaker with fixed and intense earnestness. 'Except a man be born again' was the subject. Mr. Moody spoke with marvelous power, and the Spirit assuredly was working, so that from time to time the whole mass of souls seemed moved and bent down under the truth. At the close those were invited to remain longer who were on the Lord's side or wished to be. Above a thousand kept them places."

The Times even has lately remarked that the religious movement tends to destroy "that complacency with evil, one of our greatest dangers," and speaks of it as the means of bringing spiritual truths to affect powerfully the minds of the indifferent.

In Dundee, in seventeen days, Mr. Moody held about fifty meetings, and delivered us many addresses to audiences varying from one to two thousand, bringing out the old facts on which our Christianity rests with great earnestness and force. In connection with such effort the singing of simple hymns is bringing the precious truth of the gospel home to hearts that have long resisted appeals to the intellect.

AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATIONS IN GERMANY.—As usual, the most numerous and important researches in Agriculture, especially those relating to agricultural chemistry, of which our journals bring us accounts come from [illegible] and especially the German, agricultural experiment stations. These are, in general chemical laboratories connected with stables, fields, gardens, or greenhouses, where questions of importance in agriculture are studied. Although the first one was founded only twenty two years ago, yet so useful have they proved that, up to the present date, not far from seventy have been established, of which not far from half have been founded within the past five years. They are chiefly occupied with experiments on animal and vegetable nutrition, and the analysis of fertilizers. Some however, are devoted to other special investigations. One in Wiesbaden, for instance, is devoted to researches in wine culture. Another has been lately established in the celebrated dairying district of Lodi, in Northern Italy, for investigations in cheese making and kindred subjects.

An important function of these stations has been the testing of the value of commercial fertilizers by chemical analysis. The usefulness of this control system in preventing fraud is in these articles is suggested the application of a similar one to the examination of seeds. Investigations instituted by Nobbe, director of the station at Tharandt, in Saxony, have led to the discovery of enormous frauds practiced in England and Germany by the adulteration of clover, turnip, and other seeds. To protect the farmer against these impositions several stations for the examination of seeds have been established in different parts of Germany. The moral which our farmers have to draw from these facts is obvious.

Kuhn, of the station at Mockern, in Saxony, has lately reported a series of investigations on the digestibility of freshly cut lucern as compared with the dry hay. Two oxen were fed during one period with the green, and during another with the dried hay, analysis being made of the food fed and excrement, and the amount digested determined by difference. The general result was that "the digestibility of the green fodder was not essentially altered by drying."

Another of the more important labors of the experiment stations lately reported is a foddering experiment with lambs, by Hoffmeister, at Dresden which was performed with a view to the solution of the question "whether in the rearing of young animals an addition of phosphate of lime to the fodder will exert any definite nutritive effect as regards the formation of bone and production of flesh." As the result it appeared "that the addition of phosphates to the fodder neither promoted the building of flesh nor aided in any marked manner the formation of bone." The theory previously held is thus confirmed, that "the organic (albuminoid) nutritive substances of the food play everywhere the most important part in the formation of bone and flesh, and the addition of phosphate of lime can be of use only when it is lacking in the organism."—EDITOR'S SCIENTIFIC RECORD, in Harper's Magazine for April.

Science.

BISHOP WILLIAMS, of Canton, has forwarded to the Jardin d'Acclimatation, at Brussels, a remarkable China plant—the first specimen of its kind received in Europe. This plant changes its color three times a day, and is appropriately named Hibiscus mutabilis.

PROF. ANDREWS, of Belfast, has been reading a paper before the Royal Society of Edinburgh, on Ozone. He confirms his former experiments, that this mysterious [illegible] coincides independently in the atmosphere. The facility with which the nature of ozone was changed, was shown by shaking it in a bottle with a little perfectly dried ground glass, when simple oxygen appeared. The bleaching properties of ozone had been tried at both Belfast and Greenock, and failed. Dr. Andrews doubts the alleged connection of atmosphere ozone with the state of public health.

WE learn, through a German journal, that in order to preserve fresh fruits it is only necessary to heat them, if not perfectly ripe, in water almost to boiling, drain nearly dry, and cover with warm concentrated glycerine. If the fruit is perfectly ripe, heating in water is unnecessary. It is also advised to pour off the glycerine after standing for some time, and add fresh concentrated glycerine. The glycerine poured off may be concentrated on a water bath and used a second time. Ordinary glycerine is often impure, but on y that which is perfectly pure and colorless, with a clean, sweet taste and a specific gravity of 1.25 should be employed.

PROF. H. MOHN, of Christiana, communicated to the Scottish Meteorological Society a paper On Certain Effects of Currents on the Temperature of Sea and Air. As explaining certain climatological peculiarities, this [illegible] was of some importance. The results of the very extensive investigations made by Prof. Mohn are as follows: 1. That the surface of the sea in currents in narrow sounds, in summer, is colder than in neighboring places, where there is a wider sheet of water. 2. That an effect of the reverse kind takes place in winter, but in a much smaller degree. 3. That both effects together diminish the yearly range of the temperature of the surface of the sea. 4. That these circumstances influence the temperature of the air in the same direction at such places, and that hereby a part of the anomalous, strongly marked oceanic character which places in such situations exhibit is accounted for.

MR. J. STANLEY JEVONS has written a treatise, published by Macmillan & Co., on "The Principles of Science," which is highly commended for its scientific ability, and for the power with which it attacks the so-called scientific theory of undeviating law, with its accompanying denial of Divine Providence. Upon this subject the author says: "We have heard much, of what has been aptly called the Reign of Law, and the necessity and uniformity of natural forces has been not uncommonly interpreted as involving the nonexistence of an intelligent and benevolent Power capable of interfering with the course of natural events. Fears have been expressed that the progress of scientific method must therefore result in dissipating the fondest beliefs of the human heart. But my strong conviction is that before a rigorous logical scrutiny, the reign of law will prove to be an unverified hypothesis, the uniformity of nature an ambiguous expression, and the certainty of our scientific inferences to a great extent a delusion. The value of science is, of course, very high while the conclusions are kept well within the limits of the data on which they are founded, but our experience is of most limited character compared with what there is to learn, while our mental powers seem to fall infinitely short of the task of comprehending and explaining fully the nature of any one object.

THE London Times is discussing the subject of the appointment of a Minister of Science, in England, an idea which is becoming popular among English scientists. In the course of the discussion, Colonel Strange published a communication advocating the appointment, in which the propriety of such an appointment is ably supported. In his letter he says: "I, and many who think with me, maintain that scientific research must be made a national business; that the point at which science, in most of its leading branches, has now arrived and the problems presented for solution are such as to need for their adequate treatment, permanent well equipped establishments with competent staffs worked continuously and systematically. Lord Derby truly describes it as a case in which what is 'everybody's business is nobody's business.' We must make it somebody's business. We must make it the State's business. We have tried individual enterprise, which so many hold to be all sufficient. There is more individual enterprise in England than in any country in the world, and yet we are being rapidly outstripped by nations who, though they encourage private exertion, are wise enough not to rely on it, but to establish a system free from the caprice, the incompleteness, the liability to interruption and cessation incident to all individual labor in what ever field.... The first essential to any system is a head. No domestic household, no manufactory, no ship, no army, no navy, no public or private establishment of any kind, and these are all systems, can hold its own for a day without a head. But at the present hour there is no head to the science of England. The proposed remedy for this deficiency will have been anticipated as obviously a Minister of State, who shall be responsible to the nation, through Parliament, for everything connected with the scientific business of the country.... Granted that there must be a Minister for Science—and I am happy to say those who have given most attention to the question now admit that there must—then the whole of the institutions I have named, besides some others now in existence, and many others that must before long be founded, would be placed under him. This would secure the great object of harmony and unity, of parts, of provision for modification and extension, and of definite responsibility to the nation, through Parliament, none of which objects are obtainable or seem even dreamt of at present. We do not know whether the proposal made above will ever be brought forward in this country; but the fact of the English discussion of the subject is worth recording.

NEARNESS TO DEATH.—When we walk near powerful machinery, we know that one single misstep, and those mighty engines will tear us to ribbons with their flying wheels, or grind us to powder in their ponderous jaws. So when we are thundering across the land in a rail car, and there is nothing but an iron flange to hold us on to the track. So when we are in a ship, and there is nothing but the thickness of a plank between us and eternity. We imagine then we see how close we are to the precipice. But we do not see it. Whether on the sea or land, the partition that divides us from eternity is something less than an oak plank or half an inch of iron flange. The machinery of life and death is within us. [illegible] in their place are often not thicker than a sheet of paper, and if that thin partition rupture, it would be the same with us as if a cannon ball struck us. Death is inseparably bound up with life in the very structure. No man can, at any time, go farther from death than the thickness of a sheet of paper.

LITTLE SINS MAKE WAY FOR LARGER SINS.—According to an ancient fable, a wood cutter went into the woods and asked for one small sapling. The trees thought it would be ungenerous to refuse so small a favor, and granted the request; but no sooner had the woodman obtained the sapling, than he fashioned it into a handle for his axe, and then proceeded to cut down the largest trees. Thus boys suffer themselves to yield in what they consider a small matter, thinking surely no great harm can come of it. But Satan, having gained his point, makes a handle of that sin with which to cut down their loftiest resolutions.

The Reformed Episcopal Church is gaining new clerical accessions from time to time. The latest is a Presbyterian minister in Minnesota. The new movement gathers strength, although somewhat slowly.

Seed Thoughts

— Women would do well to remember—nor can the truth be impressed upon them at too early an age—that all the brilliant accomplishments, all the solid information, all the learning in the world, are nothing worth, in comparison to a patient, cheerful temper, and affection for, and perseverance in, the moral and domestic duties of life. Home ought to be the temple of a virtuous female; she may leave it occasionally, and be happy amid the beautiful fruits and flowers of the world: but let her, like the bee, gather honey from them all, and let that honor be reserved for her own dwelling, let it be a palace or a cottage.—MRS. S. C. HALL.

— Life is a book, in which we every day read a page. We ought to note down every instructive incident that passes. A crowd of useful thoughts cannot but flow from self-converse. Hold every day a solitary conversation with yourself. This is the way in which to attain the highest relish of existence; and, if I may so say, to cast anchor in the river of life.—M. DIOZ.

— AMBITION.—That is the bravest ambition which is vigorous enough to overleap the little life here. The highest aspirations seek not fame. Whatever we do of good in this world, with our faculties or our affections, rises to God as humanity's gong of praise. Amid the million tongues ever joining to swell the holy music of that song, are those which sound loudest and grandest here, the tones which travel sweetest and purest up to the eternal throne, which mingle in the most perfect harmony with the anthem of the angel choir! May not the most obscure life be dignified by a lasting aspiration, and dedicated to a noble aim?—WILKIE COLLINS.

— How much passes for need for prayer with man which is not prayer with God!—DR. OCTAVIUS WINSLOW.

— That cannot be a good thing, nor overcome the weakest enemy, that takes one step in the way to heaven without Christ.—ROMAINE.

The Christian Advocate

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, CASH ALWAYS IN ADVANCE,	$2.00
SIX MONTHS,	1.25
If payment be delayed six months,	2.50

All letters on business with this office also to be addressed to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH N. C. APRIL 1, 1874.

See the cross X mark on your paper. It is to remind you that your subscription has expired, and that you should renew at once.

The Last of the Series.

With this issue we conclude the series of letters, by "Watchman," addressed to a young itinerant. They have been read with great interest, not only by the young preachers, but some of the fathers in the gospel have been deeply interested in them, and have passed deserved eulogies upon them. From the well known character and high reputation of the writer, we can assure our readers that he has had but one object in view from the first to the close of these letters. His sole purpose has been the accomplishment of good. He is a Methodist of the truest type, and a model christian gentleman. This much we can say without exciting in him any vanity, and without infringement upon good taste.

In this, his last communication, he makes some wise and timely suggestions to our young preachers which should not be forgotten. The idea of keeping a diary of the important events as they transpire in their ministerial experience and observation is a good one. It is the best, indeed, the only sure way of preserving, with accuracy, facts and dates from which the historian can write up a true history of Methodism in our bounds. Much has already been lost to our church and conference, which can never be recalled, for want of this or some other available plan. At our last Conference, a historical society was organized with a view of gathering material for a history of Methodism in the State. Whether the organization of this society will secure the object for which it was formed, the future alone must determine. We have anxiously looked for appeals from its officers to the brethren of the Conference to carry out its designs. It would certainly be a matter of interest to publish a full account of the organization, with the names of its officers, and we trust the Secretary will furnish it to us for publication. While much has been lost, there still remains much which can be obtained, with proper attention, from which to make up a history. We, as a church, cannot afford to lose the illustrious example of our departed dead. Their lives were too precious—too full of christian heroism to be lost. It is a legacy we wish to transmit to our children and to coming generations.

There is one other suggestion in this, the closing letter of "Watchman," to which we wish to invite special attention. It is that of advancing to a higher and more extensive field of usefulness by speaking to the thousands through the columns of the Advocate instead of relying entirely upon their pulpit ministrations and regular routine of pastoral duties to advance the interest, of Christ's Kingdom. There is no minister or layman in our church of respectable ability and gifts, who, if he would take the pains and undergo the labor and mental training of writing for a religious paper, who would not be personally benefited, and accomplish more good by writing than he could in any other way, for the reason that he could reach the multitude instead of the few. It is a great mistake to suppose that it is simply a personal favor to the editor to have you write for his paper. He is gratified to receive your communications, when prepared with care, and upon subjects of practical importance and instruction, both to the head and heart. The obligation resting upon you as embassadors for Christ, and as intelligent laymen is of greater weight and importance than any mere personal consideration. It involves a moral question—one that must be settled at the bar of your conscience.

No man should preach, or write, or work in any department of the church, simply for fame, and he who undertakes it will find in the end that he has made a fearful mistake. We are not lecturing the brethren—we believe they desire the success of the Advocate, but we wish to impress upon them the fact that they can widen their field of usefulness by occasionally speaking to the people through their adopted organ, and at the same time increase the circulation and influence of the paper.

We are indebted to the following brethren for handsome lists of subscribers to the ADVOCATE since our last. Rev. V. A. Sharpe, Rev. M. W. Boyles, Rev. L. Shell, Rev. G. Farrar, Rev. F. H. Wiley, Rev. J. Wheeler and Rev. W. M. Jordan.

We are gratified to learn that an extensive revival is in progress in the Methodist church in Washington, conducted by Rev. A. R. Raven, the pastor. Between 75 and 100 conversions are reported.

Our Church Finances

Upon our first page will be found an interesting communication from "Roanoke" upon the finances of our church. His suggestions are worthy of careful consideration. There is a sad defect somewhere in the financial operations of our church, and the reason is generally conceded to be the want of an efficient plan. Added to this reason is that of the want of early training. To have a life long, systematic, prosperous church, the people must be educated to pay according to their ability—not grudgingly, but willingly, systematically, and at the right time. The too frequent habit of putting off the preacher's salary to the close of the year is a great mistake. It works damage both to the people and pastor. It not only conflicts with other important collections which cannot be neglected, but it oftentimes sends the preacher to Conference sadly deficient in his pay, and gives the charge a bad reputation, which has its effect upon the Bishop and his council in supplying the work. No preacher wants to go to a place where the people failed to pay their predecessor a sufficient amount to make him and his family comfortable.

As the law now stands a preacher who fails to get his allowance before going to Conference, and is changed to another field of labor, relinquishes his claim upon the charge he leaves.—He cannot go back upon them for any arrearages. In some instances when persons promised to pay, but could not do so before Conference, the preacher, although changed to another field, might in good faith return to his former charge and collect what had been previously promised. But it is a rare occurrence that such payments are made. To remedy this difficulty, let every official member of the church determine to pay off their preacher and Presiding Elder quarterly.—Square up accounts at the close of each quarter. The preachers are constantly in need of money, and if there is one time when they feel its need more than another, it is in the early part of the conference year.

We invite our lay brethren to take hold of this question in good earnest. Let the whole Conference have the benefit of your views and plans. It is a delicate matter with the preachers themselves. They do not like to discuss it through the paper, nor in the pulpit. They rely upon you. Several have already written—others are thinking, and soon we shall have their thoughts in print, and their plans for consideration.

The Sin of Slander

The New York Observer has some pointed remarks on this sinful practice so prevalent in society. It is only the bad and designing men who seeks to blot out the fair name of the good and upright, and with this class society is fearfully infested. They are to be pitied, but the good and pure need have no fears of suffering in character from such vileness. No man it is true can tell how soon he may be called upon to defend himself against the accusation of enemies, or interested, perhaps hired, assassins of character. The best men are not safe from the tongue and the pen of the slanderer. We have fearful illustrations every day of this sad truth. The brightness of one's character invites assault. Reckless men throw mud at the cleanest surface. No one may safely rely upon his integrity as insurance against the attacks of the wicked. The innocent and upright will eventually be delivered from the serpent and the bear, but they will suffer in the fight. The injury done to truth and right consciousness by the temporary blackening of a good man's character is incalculable, and can never be wholly repaired. A pure preacher of the gospel publicly charged with crime, suffers by the charge, because human nature is so greedy of evil that some will believe the story, which is afterwards proved to be a lie. And so we say that the tongue and the pen ought to be under the law of charity. Words once spoken, once published, can never be recalled. They go on forever. Swift to hear, slow to speak, is a good rule, and yet a hard one to observe.

DEATH OF THADDEUS MCGEE. We are called upon to record the death of this gentleman, which occurred at his residence in this city on the 25th inst.—In his death our community has lost one of its most valuable citizens. He was a prominent member of the firm of W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co. His place will be hard to fill. He was a high toned, excellent christian gentleman and communicant in the Presbyterian church of this city. We deeply sympathize with his afflicted family and relatives.

The revival of religion that has been in progress for some time at Ridgeway, N. C., under the ministry of Rev. A. A. Boshamer, closed on the 26th, resulting in the conversion of about forty persons.

Newspaper Laws.

The following is published as a matter of information to our people:

1. If any person orders his paper discontinued, he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount, whether it is taken from the office or not.

2. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the postoffice, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of fraud.

Methodist Singing

The following note to Mr. Beecher on Methodist singing has been going the round of the secular and religious press. Some of our papers have copied it, among the number, the Nashville Christian Advocate. Thousands of our people will agree with Mr. Beecher that the Methodist Church has lost by giving up her old fashioned Congregational singing. As we advance in years the less are we have for what is called fashionable and artistic singing. But here is what Mr. Beecher says:

"Yesterday morning I was at the Methodist Church in ——, a very pleasant room it is, and I am told that a very worthy family occupy it. But I have a most weighty charge to bring against the good people of musical apostasy. I had expected a treat of good, hearty singing. There were Charles Wesley's hymns, and there were the good old Methodist tunes that are chanted by old and modern concert singers, and tongue my chagrin when, after coming the hymn, uprose a choir from a shelf at the other end of the church, and began to sing a pretentious piece of the modern music book style. The patient congregation stood up meekly to be sung to, as men stand under rain when there is no shelter. Scarcely a lip moved. No one seemed to hear the hymn, or care for the music. How I longed for the good old Methodist thunder! One good lung-full of old fashioned music would have blown this trash of singing out of the window like a wad from a gun! Men may talk till doomsday about, and generate Gentility has nearly killed our churches, and it will kill Methodist Church, unless they give way to its false and pernicious seduction. We know very well what is the fashionable Methodist music was. It had faults enough, doubtless, but it had an immortal power to move us and warm us which enable it to carry all its faults, and triumph in spite of them. It was worship. Yesterday's music was tolerable singing, but very poor worship. We are sorry that just as our Churches are beginning to imitate the former example of Methodist Congregations, and to introduce melodies that the people love, our Methodist brethren should pick up our cast 'off fem'rin' in Church music. It will be worse for them than with us. It will mark a decisive height of decline. We could hardly believe our eyes and ears yesterday. We could hardly persuade ourselves that we stood before a Methodist Church. We should have supposed it to be a good old Presbyterian or Congregational Church, in which the choir and pulpit did every thing, and the people did nothing. Our Brethren in this Church must not take these remarks unkindly. They are presented in all kindness and affection. Their singing better than many city churches, but no one sang with them. The people were not singing to their ears, and not their neighbors! But alas! we missed the hearty, congood old-fashioned Methodist air.

We remember a time when one of Wesley's hymns, sung to old Methodist tune, by a congregation in the field, would have led them up to the very gates of heaven.—But you may sing it coldly till them up to the very gates of hell above the noise of it, and it will have no effect. Methodists will make intellectual worship, and in so doing will make a mockery of worship. Let every one who is in the choir, and every one who is in the congregation, be in earnest. Let an earnest Christian wish, say these plain words without offense. The Methodist Church has laid the Christian world under a great debt by its service in the cause of Christ, and we have a right to it. I am interest in it as one born Christians, too great to suffer us to see signs of degeneracy in it, without sorrow and alarm. We hope God has raised it to do great things by it yet for our land. But it will not be by giving up heart and soul, zeal and popular enthusiasm in worship, for the sake of sham propriety and tasteful formalism, that the Methodist Church will become yet farther efficient. We hope to see such a revival of religion among them as will come like a tempest upon their churches, and sweep out the channels of song and prayer away the dead wood and trash which have already dammed up the current of song, and made the congregation stagnant. O that there may be a rain of righteousness upon them, which shall swell their hearts to overflowing, and cleanse their sanctuary for real, formal music, and especially from the formalism of pedantic music!

A Good Deed!

MR. EDITOR:—Allow me to acknowledge through the Raleigh Christian Advocate the receipt of 125 lbs. of "Town and Country Ready Prepared Paints, from Messrs. Harrison, Bros. & Co., No. 115, South Front Street, Philadelphia. These gentlemen kindly donated this paint to me, for the use of the Shelby District Parsonage, N. C. Conference, which greatly needs beautifying. Gentlemen, in the name of the whole District, I thank you most sincerely. You say: "We are always willing to do a good work." We pray that God may prosper you here and save you hereafter.

L. S. BOSHAMER, P. E.
Shelby, N. C.

March 20th, 1874.

The Fijian Christian converts number about 120,000.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Nashville Christian Advocate calls attention to a matter of pronunciation. We have sometimes been not a little disgusted with the instance of affectation and bad taste mentioned. The writer in the Nashville says:

"Is it right to trill there?" I find no authority for it, and yet the practice obtains to a considerable extent in the pulpit. I seldom notice it anywhere else except in singing, and among a few foreigners. My own impression is that it is wrong, inasmuch as there seems to be no authority favoring it, and as it is a useless quavering in the pronunciation of words containing the letter r. With Americans it must be a contracted habit, an affectation, unwarranted by polite usage unnatural, pedantic and superfluous. I admire plain, Christ like preaching—love to listen to the learned and refined; but when I notice a preacher making a strained effort to trill every r that is trillable (unless he forgets it,) I feel mortified. But there are noted examples of this habit, and as young preachers are more or less inclined to pattern after stars, it may not be amiss to condemn (as Webster calls it) such pedantic affectation. W. J. W."

(We think our correspondent is right. In "Principles of Pronunciation" in Webster's Quarto Dictionary will be found what we consider correct views on this subject.—EDITOR.

The Methodist (London) says in a short editorial note referring to the marvelous revival now in progress in Edinburgh, Scotland,—

"A gentleman, sitting in a hotel, overheard the following conversation between a gentleman who had lately attended one of the balls usually patronized by the higher classes, and his friend, who inquired how the affair had gone off. 'It was an utter failure,' was the reply; 'only about one third of the usual number present.' 'How was that?' said the other, 'O, these Moody and Sankey meetings,' was the ready rejoinder. Many have been asking what are the results of such efforts as are now being made by the American gentlemen named above. The answers are found in facts like these. From thirty to forty ministers in Edinburgh and the neighborhood have been endued with new power from on high. Multitudes of nominal Christians have been filled with a new life and power. Many young people, the children of godly households, were brought to decision for God, and lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God find in the joys of religion more than a substitute for all other pursuits."

What Faith Should Do

The Israelites marching up to the edge of the Red Sea till the waves parted before their feet, step by step, are often taken as an illustration of what our faith should do—advance to the brink of possibility, and then the seemingly impossible may be found to open.

But there is another illustration in the New Testament more sacred and striking the women going to the sepulchre of our Lord. With true woman's nature, they did not begin to calculate the obstacles till on the way. On the road, reason met them with the objection, "Who shall roll us away the stone?" And faith itself could not help them; but love did. A bond stronger than death drew them on, and "when they looked they saw that the stone was rolled away."

We may bless God that He can put into men's hearts impulses stronger than reason, and more powerful even than faith—such impulses that, if they are going to himself, they shall find that "He is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we can ask or think." Reason, faith, love, but the greatest of these is love. We cannot help thinking of the instinct in the young blade of grass, which presses past the hard clod—its great stone—and finds itself in the midst of sunlight and spring.—Sunday Morning.

Personal.

Rev. T. M. Jones, D. D., and lady, spent a day in the city last week.—They came upon the sad mission to attend the funeral of Mr. McGee, the brother of sister Jones.

Rev. L. L. Hendren, agent for Greensboro Female College, was in the city the past week. His success is as good as the times will admit.

Our friend and brother, Rev. Junius T. Harris, the popular pastor of Hillsboro Station, and Miss Lizzie M. Carr, the accomplished daughter of John Carr, Esq., of Chapel Hill, were united in marriage on the 25th ult. by Rev. J. B. Martin.

Rev. J. P. Moore, Presiding Elder of the Hillsboro District, gave us a call last week. He has just completed his first round on the District, and reports the general progress of the work as good. The quarterly conferences and church meetings have been largely attended, and in every way satisfactory. The District Stewards meeting was also well attended, and a liberal assessment was made for the expenses of the District. He reports the preachers all at the post of duty, and the work spiritually and financially in a healthy state.

Rev. C. H. Wiley, the newly appointed Bible Agent for this State, has entered upon his labors. He is a worthy christian gentleman, and will no doubt make an excellent agent.

Notes From the Brethren

Bro. Bibb writes March 24: My first Quarterly Meeting has just closed. The P. E., Dr. Burkhead, was in attendance. He preached two interesting and profitable sermons. We had a large congregation on the Sabbath. The people were well pleased with the preaching of the new P. E. We hope for a year of prosperity.

Bro. B. Baily of Stokes, renews his subscription to the ADVOCATE, the best paper, he says in the State, and favors us with the following items:

Our young preacher (Bro. Scroggs) has made a fine impression on Stokes circuit. His mind and soul seem to be in the work. I fear he is applying himself too closely to his studies, for good health to remain long with him.

We have had no P. E. to preside over any quarterly conference within the bounds of this circuit since June 1872, but we have had some very good substitutes a portion of the time. I merely speak of this as matter of fact, not complaining, as I am satisfied there are just as good reasons.

Rev. F. F. W. Steamy, in charge of Dallas circuit, writes:

Other brethren are giving you a statement of their labors and success. I deem it proper to say something through the ADVOCATE concerning my field of labor. I have just completed my third round on the Dallas circuit. I am very much pleased with the work. The people are kind to me. The congregations are large, and listen often freely to the word of God. We look for a glorious revival of religion this year. Some have joined the church, and others will join. The people are paying up their assessments promptly; we have plenty. I have sent you seven new subscribers for the ADVOCATE. I hope I will be able to send you many, very many more, before the year is out. I insist upon all I meet to take it. This is my first year, but I feel that the good Lord has blessed me in trying to win souls to Christ. Pray for us! The people are delighted with our P. E., Dr. Burkhead. He is stirring up the people upon finances.

Rev. M. W. Boyles, in charge of Monroe circuit sends us some subscribers and writes:

I am glad to say we are getting along well on Monroe circuit. We have had some good meetings. God has been with us; we find kind people and some of the old good old fashioned Methodists. We are praying the trunk and digging about the roots; and in so doing we expect to reap bountifully. Aid us with your prayers!

I am glad to say that the circuit is doing a good part, so far, in paying the assessment. They say they intend to pay the amount.

A good brother from Martindale writes:

I am well pleased with your (no cure) paper. I think it should be patronized by every true hearted Methodist; and think the man who changes it for a political paper, stands on a sandy foundation. I hope I may be able to procure you a few subscribers at my office.

At the dedication of the Hanson Place Methodist church, in Brooklyn, New York, a certain Free Methodist preacher was under the impression that "wherever the spirit of the Lord is there is liberty," arose in his place in the gallery at the close of Mr. Talmage's address and remarked in a loud voice "the reason why Methodism has declined is because their churches have been turned into theaters and opera houses, and their ministers into clowns." This remark being regarded as not to the use of edifying, many of the brethren present responded: "Put him out!", Whereupon Bro. R. J. Luckey took Bro. King, who was not of that fold by the collar and walked him down stairs. There he was put into the custody of a deputy sheriff, who conveyed him to the station-house and locked him up till the next day, when he was released on bail. On his trial for disturbing a religious meeting, which occured subsequently, it was proven that he made no resistance whatever when he was arrested, and that he was a peaceable and devoted Christian man. He himself testified that his remark was drawn out by words of Drs. Budington and Talmage concerning the early days of Methodism, and that he "felt moved" at the moment to give in his testimony as above. The jury seemed to think it a strange thing that a man should be called to account for an audible response in a Methodist meeting, and after about ten minutes deliberation they brought in a verdict of acquittal.—Independent.

We are still sending out bills to those whose term of subscription has expired. Those receiving them will confer a favor by giving the matter immediate attention.

Rev. L. J. Holden writes us that he is in the midst of a glorious revival at Rocky Mount. Eleven have professed faith in Christ and eighteen or twenty penitants at the altar, and the interest is increasing daily.

Notice.

The brethren and friends who made subscriptions at our last Conference for the benefit of the Mission in Mexico, will please forward to me at Mocksville, Davie county, N. C., by register'd letter, the amounts they promised, that I may send on to Bishop Keener as soon as possible.

LEIGH STILL.

DEAR BROTHER BOBBITT: The order of the day with regard to our Preachers who have been assigned to new fields of labor, seems to be to give a short account of themselves and their work. We have read those accounts with no little degree of interest, as we like to hear from our brethren, especially to hear that they are doing well. I approve of the plan, as I think it has a good effect; therefore I will endeavor to conform. Having been assigned to the Cary circuit (which is said to be one of the nicest little circuits in the District) I was present and met the first appointment, and was most cordially received; so much so that I felt at once that I was in the midst of brethren beloved. I have just completed the third round on my circuit, and the more I become acquainted with the people the better I like them. I find them a plain, matter of fact, high minded, christian people, though I am sorry to say that we are not as warm in the cause of religion as our brethren seem to be in some other places. It tires our soul when we heard the work of God being revived in other places, as in Raleigh, Henderson, Ridgeway, and Warrenton. We trust that this work will continue to spread and widen and deepen until we shall all catch the sport, and that like a mighty tidal wave it may sweep all over these lands, and that the present conference year will not only be as the past, but much more abundant than we have ever known for the outpouring of the Spirit of God, and the ingathering of precious souls into the fold of Christ. That is what we all need. When the weather has been favorable our congregations have been full, serious and attentive to the preached word, often melted to tears. We feel that God is with us, for which we have great reason to be thankful. We have in Cary a very interesting congregation, the people generally attend church and seem to be much interested, both in the church and cause of religion. They have regular weekly prayer meetings, well attended, and a most interesting Sabbath School, well regulated and working finely. We also have here a very excellent everyday school, conducted by our much esteemed brother Jesse Page, a minister in the Protestant Methodist Church, a good and true man. Brother Page is assisted by Miss Jordan, an accomplished christian lady, and daughter of our beloved brother, Wm. M. Jordan, of the N. C. Conference, and I know of no place which I could recommend more highly to my friends abroad who wish to send their children to a good Academical School where their money would be safer, and where they would be better cared for. Cary is freer from the ordinary vices of the day than any place I know of. We have also in Cary one very excellent and much beloved Presiding Elder, Wm. H. Bobbitt. He is not able to be with us a great deal; yet his influence is felt for good, not only in Cary, but throughout the circuit, and we trust that he may live long to exert that influence and to be a blessing to the church. Our Quarterly meeting will take place on next Saturday and Sunday, to which we are looking with no little degree of interest. In the days of our fathers, Quarterly meetings used to be seasons of great interest and power; they expected God to meet with them to pour out his spirit, to revive his work, that the church would be filled with the love of God, and a holy Baptism, and that souls would be converted to God, and we verily feel that it ought to be so now. May we not fall behind our fathers in this respect, but may God give us that spiritual power that will not only insure success, at our Quarterly meetings but at our regular appointments, and may God in his mercy wake us up and make us more efficient than we have been.

Yours truly,

T. B. REEKS.

MR. EDITOR: In your issue of the 11th instant is an article from "A Methodist preacher" of Rockingham county, in reference to a letter of dismissal having been given to one of its members by a Baptist church "with avowed intentions to join the Methodist church." This is not the first or only instance of the kind, as the First Baptist church of Wilmington, some six or seven years ago, issued a similar letter to a lady who while she had been raised a strict Baptist from early childhood and had no fault to find with her church, yet conceived it to be her duty to connect herself with the Methodist church, (THE CHURCH OF THE HOUSEHOLD, for the purpose of assisting him in his efforts to get to the brighter and better world, and they are both Methodists, at the present time.

JUSTICE.

Religious Brevities

— Rev. William Nast, D. D., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Germany, is on a visit to New Orleans.

— The Archbishop of Santiago declares that female voices in the choir are dangerous to true piety and devotion.

— One of the subjects of the modern history examination in the University of Cambridge, England, is Wesley. The questions embrace a very minute account of the peculiarities of the great founder's ecclesiastical system. There is also an association of Wesleyan Methodists formed at Cambridge.

— The Christian press in India is doing an important work. The eight principal societies issued about 850,000 copies of books and tracts during 1872. Over 150,000 copies of Bibles, Testaments and copies of portions of Scripture were issued.

—The Presbyterian charitable societies are carried on with great economy. A recent official table shows that the annual cost of the Board of Foreign Missions in 6 per cent. of the receipts; of the Home Mission Board, 7 per cent.; Church Erection, 8 per cent.; Sustentation, 4 per cent.; Education, 9 per cent.; Ministerial Relief, 8 per cent.; Freedmen, 7 per cent. and a fraction over. The average expense of all the Boards is 735—100 per cent. of the receipts. The Foreign Mission Board pays no rent, and the Sustentation Board no salary. We doubt if these figures can be excelled.

— The New Orleans Advocate says: Mrs. Van Cott, the celebrated evangelist of the Methodist Episcopal Church, opened her ministry in this city, at Ames Chapel, on Sunday last March 15. She is preaching every night during the present week.

— The New York Methodist says: It is the Episcopalians who insist that Presbyterian orders are "holy," and Presbyterians who are insisting that they are not—at least in the sense of a certain act of Parliament. The statute prohibits any one in "holy orders" occupying a seat in Parliament, under heavy penalties for every day he sits there. Professor Smith, of Londonderry, has been elected a member, and certain Episcopal clergymen are trying to keep him out under this statute. It has been decided that Scotch Presbyterian orders are "holy," but then, Irish Presbyterians, like their Episcopal brethren, are not of the State church. The question is a small one, but what matter is too small for your High Churchman?

— The New York Observer says that the Rev. Dr. Porteous, an Episcopal clergyman of England, who has been lately occupying several Brooklyn pulpits of different denominations, with great acceptance and popularity, had had his preaching license revoked by the Bishops of New York and Long Island. The offense alleged is the supposed breach of discipline in preaching for Presbyterians and Congregationalists. There is a movement among some of his admirers to organize an independent church, and he is represented as rather encouraging the idea. He says that the revocation of his license was entirely unexpected, and that if Church and State were united, as in England, he would immediately begin legal proceedings against Bishop Littlejohn.

General Conference.

It is suggested, that delegates, and as many others as may choose, leave Greensboro, at 10 o'clock P. M. on Monday, April 27th. The cost from Greensboro, as negotiations now are, will be $32.60 for the round trip: it will not be more, may be less. Visitors desiring to avail themselves of this ticket, should give me notice as early as possible.

March 26th, 1874.

B. CRAVEN.

THE GEN'L. R. E. LEE MONUMENT.—The colossal monument to the memory of Gen'l. Lee which is now rapidly being constructed under the direction and skill of Prof. Volentine, will, when completed, be the greatest triumph of art and mechanical skill ever produced in this country. The structure will be surmounted by a reclining figure of Gen'l. Lee enveloped in his military cloak. The form will be finely carved in marble, and the expression of countenance rendered with life-like correctness. In order to complete this grand monument at the earliest possible day, the Executive Committee of the Lee Memorial Association, of Lexington, Va., which is composed of such distinguished men as Gen'l Pendleton, Gen'l Ferry, Hon. Wm. McLaughlin, Col. Preston Johnston Col. Jas. K. Edmondson, Chas. Davidson, and others, have, by permission, authorized the publication and sale of a perfect life-size steel engraving of Gen'l Joseph E. Johnston. The proceeds of its sale to be applied in furtherance of the object of this Association, namely: to the erection of a monument to the memory of Gen'l R. E. Lee, at the Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va. The portrait will be sold only by subscription, through regular authorized agents, and every subscriber will receive a certificate signed by the Secretary and Chairman of the Lee Memorial Association. We commend this portrait to the public, and hope some good enterprising man will secure the agency in this section in order to help on the good work. Messrs. W. W. Bostwick & Co., Nos. 177 & 179 West Fourth Street, Cincinati, Ohio, have been constituted and appointed General Managers of Agencies, and communications addressed to them, for circulars, terms, and certificates, will receive prompt attention.

The News

—We invite special attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Norris & Myatt. The young gentlemen have recently embarked in commercial life, and are doing a fine business. They have a large stock of the best goods in their line. They have our best wishes for success.

THE EVENING CRESCENT has changed hands. The company have sold to Mr. John S. Hampton, a practical printer of this city. Mr. Kingsbury retires from the editorship of the paper, and is succeeded by a new editor, whose name has not yet been announced. The public are assured that the CRESCENT will be conservative in politics, and that it is to be a wide-awake daily. The publisher, Mr. Hampton has our best wishes for success.

The Goldsboro Messenger pays Mr. Everett the following deserved compliment. In alluding to an important case in which Mr. Everett took part the MESSENGER says:

The next speaker was our young countryman, Mr. G. B. Everett, who assisted Mr. G. V. Strong in the prosecution. This, we believe, was Mr. Everett's virgin effort, but as he progressed he gained confidence, and as he warmed with the subject he convinced all who heard him that he bids fair to become an advocate of high gifts and brilliant promise. He won for himself the highest encomiums of the Bar and the listening multitude.

Reporters are interviewing Ball mountain; we shall hear from there soon.

— The fish business is remarkably good in the eastern part of the State this season. At a fishery on Chowan river a few days ago, upwards of seven hundred shad were caught at one haul.

— The Episcopal congregation of this city are trying to bargain for the lot, corner of Hillsboro and McDowell streets, whereon to build their church.

— Hon. A. M. Waddell recently delivered this lecture, entitled "America before Columbus," in Washington City, at the request of Senators Sherman, Thurman, Stevenson, Shurz, Bayard, Anthony and others.

— The next meeting of the Board of Trustees, of the University of the State, will take place in this city on Thursday, the 9th of April. A full attendance is desired, as matters of vital importance will be considered by the Board. All should be present if possible.

— The NEWS says: It is not generally known, even to our own people, that North Carolina can boast of the largest lead mines in the world. These mines are situated four miles west of Raleigh.

— Gov. Caldwell has called a meeting of the stockholders of the North Carolina Rail Road, in Salisbury, on the 16th day of April, for the purpose of considering the question of acceptance or rejection of the "act to amend the charter of the North Carolina Rail Road Co. ratified Feb. 10th, 1874.

— W. T. Blackwell & Co. shipped two thousand boxes of manufactured tobacco from Durham, one day last week.

— The Raleigh & Gaston Rail Road have moved their warehouse and telegraph office from Forestville to Wake Forest College, and the latter will hereafter be the regular depot.

— Gov. Caldwell has appointed B. R. Freeman, of Atlanta, Ga., a Commissioner of Deeds for this State, resident at the above named city.

— The almond culture is being extensively introduced in the San Jose Valley, California.

— Queen Victoria is now in the 37th year of her reign and the 55th of her age. She has 9 children and 21 grand-children.

— It is said that Donaldson has abandoned the idea of crossing the Atlantic from west to east in a balloon.

— There is a great deal of distress in the German capital. The casual poor who sought relief in the Berlin workhouses last month amounted to 13,851 men and 739 women.

— Georgia has 34 cotton and woolen mills.

— The Wilmington JOURNAL says: Rhody, the lovely widow of the defunct Henry Berry Lowery, the noted outlaw Chief, has again entered into the bonds of matrimony. This time it is with a man by the name of Jacobs, a denizen of Southtown, who is said to be about four fifths black.

— There has been a recent fearful outburst of cannibalism in one district of Fiji. One Christian village was "saturated with blood," the attack being wholly unexpected, and fourteen or fifteen Christian towns suffered much.

— We are pleased to learn that the wheat crop is promising in Stokes and other sections of the West.

— The number of post-offices in this country has been increased by six thousand within the last four years.

— It is rumored that Dr. Twombly, of Wisconsin State University, is to be offered the Presidency of the Knoxville University.

— The life of Charles Sumner is to be written by Rev. Elias Nason and published by B. B. Russell.

— The old arm chair used by Horace Greeley for so many years in his sanctum in the Tribune office, is now in the possession of Mr. Thomas N. Booker, of Brooklyn, Secretary of the Tribune Association. The chair is battered with age and hard service.

— The report of the death of Dr. Livingstone is discredited by his father-in-law, the Rev. Robert Moffat, who thinks it hardly possible that the distinguished traveler should have reached the place where he is said to have died.

Some years ago Upper Egypt had only some five or six rainy days in the course of a year; but the Pasha planted millions of trees, and the annual average is now forty-six days of rain, by which the country has been incalculably benefited.

The new charter of San Francisco provides that women shall be paid the same salaries as men in the public schools of that city. This is but simple justice and as it should be, when woman can do certain work in every way equal to man's.

Letters & Funds.

Rev W C Gannon all right. Rev W S Black. Rev C W Westbrook. Rev A A Osborne paper sent. Rev M H Hoyle paper continued. T W Neville, paper continued. Sheffield & Stone. G W Anthony self $2. Walter Taylor & Co. Rev F E Smith paper sent. Rev S Pool for J B Mason 2. Rev W P Williams for R N Pippin 2. Rev Dr Burkhead. M C Clay. Rev A D Betts. Rev M C Thomas, for subscribers sent $ 00. B J Peacock, Rev ——— for ——— sent no dat. Rev P J Carraway. Rev L J Holden. Rev V A Sharpe for Mrs S R Sanken 2. W C Sherrill 2. M A Carpenter 2. F W Thompson 2. M Turbyfil 2, other papers sent. W R Aiken. W C Tomlinson Rev T B Brooks. Rev J P Moore for Mrs Jane B Miller 1. Mrs M C Wilson. Rev J B Martin for J B Baldwin 2. R M Marcum paper changed. J F Atwater. F C Fisher. R G Haynes paper changed. Rev H F Wiley for Mrs M M Tyson 2. J Bowdoin 2. Rev M W Boyles for A Hinson 2, J Hinson 2. Rev S Y Brown for Mrs S G Burch 2. Rev B C Phillips for E R Patrage 2. A M Yarboro 2. Mrs S Sheppard 2 G W Pegram for Mrs H Arnold 2. Mrs M H Harrington 2. T A Harrington 2. Thos B Holt 2 G W Pegram 2. George Everitt for Mrs D B Everitt 2 Wm Cook self 2. Maj F Hay. Mrs M A Tucker R was sent through mistake W H Watkins papers continued. Wm E Crumple. Rev R T N Stephenson for W O Smith 2. A S Conrad self 2. Rev Z Rush for Mrs S D Sullivan 2. J W Doub 2 Rev M L Weed Peaslee & Co. Rev J S Ervin for M L Benfield 2. J S Causby 2. E M Boone 2. C Hunk 1.50. J L Harisell—charge 2.50 if payment is delayed six months. Rev I A T Wyche F H Raney self 2. Rev L Shell for Miss E Foster 2. T S Perry 2. B J Jones 2. M B Richards 2 W K Gibbs 2. Rev G Harper for A A Rice 1. J F Honey 2. W A Keeam 2 C S Keeams 2. J L Keed 2 E Hall 1. R D Warren. Rev L L Hudson papers sent. Rev Jos Wheeler for M E Ellington 2. Mrs Ann Everitt Mrs H L Spencer 2. Noah Wilson 2 other paper continued. Rev W M Jordan for Mrs Bettie Long 2 S W Wright 2, other papers continued. Rev G W Ivy papers sent. Rev J B Martin for Mrs E J Carr 2. C W Snipes 2. Rev L L N. sh papers sent. Rev W G Starr self 2 Rev R. Bissell 2 Rev B B Culbreth for W Dodd 2 Mrs M M Gray self 2. Rev. D R Buxton for Mrs D Lilly 1 S Sloan 1. Thos J Rabbit for N Bruton 2. Rev J P Simpson for J Hart self 1. B Baily self 2 Rev A J Finley—son for Hines & Patrick 2 Dr R Hooker, Rev S D Peeler for T G Cradle 2. Rev J T Brogden for T G Hardin 2. Rev S Pool. Rev Dr McFerrin for W Craig. Rev C M Anderson paper continued Rev T J Gattis Rev J S Nelson. Rev F D Swindell paper turned Joseph T Ward. C F Lee self 2 Rev J N Sowers for G A Eagle 2. D McMillan & Co. Rev A A Boshamer for Mrs M Collins 2. T A Stewart 2. C D Poyner 2. Capt S G Moore 2, other papers sent—you did not send card. Rev M V Sherrill. R M Brown for self 2. for B I 37. R M Beard for J Joyner 2. Rev A D Betts papers sent.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.—TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

Our Correspondents.

Rates to Members.

Dates.

Appointments.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

2d ROUND.

[illegible]	April	1-5
[illegible]	"	11-12
[illegible]	"	18-19
[illegible]	"	25-26
New Bern and Brown Creek	May	2-3
[illegible]	"	9-10
[illegible]	"	23-24
[illegible]	"	30-31
[illegible]	June	6-7
[illegible]	"	13-14
[illegible]	"	20-21
[illegible]	"	27-28

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

2d ROUND.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

2d ROUND.

[illegible]	April	11-14
[illegible]	"	18-19
[illegible]	"	25-26
[illegible]	May	2-3
[illegible]	"	9-10
[illegible]	"	16-17
[illegible]	"	23-24
[illegible]	"	30-31
[illegible]	"	30-31
[illegible]	"	30-31
[illegible]	June	6-7
[illegible]	"	13-14
[illegible]	"	20-21
[illegible]	"	27-28

WASHINGTON DISTRICT

2nd ROUND.

[illegible]	April	1-5
[illegible]	"	11-12
[illegible]	"	18-19
[illegible]	"	25-26
[illegible]	May	2-3
[illegible]	"	9-10
[illegible]	"	16-17
[illegible]	"	23-24
[illegible]	"	30-31
[illegible]	June	6-7
[illegible]	"	13-14
[illegible]	"	20-21

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.

2ND ROUND IN PART.

New Advertisements.

READ THIS.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS!

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

THE SUMMER CAMPAIGN BEGUN

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH, N. C.

CANVASSERS,

Thompson & Whitaker

GUANOS.

FOR SALE.

D. S. WAITT

EXTRAORDINARY BARGAINS

Collens Warranted

COTTON SWEEPS

THE CELEBRATED BOLLES COTTON HOE.

BEST HOE EVER

Garden and General Work.

PIANOS, PIANOS, ORGANS.

Nat L. Brown,

HOES.

WANTED.

HANDLED

COTTON

REMINGTON

THE PATRIOT

GENUINE PERUVIAN GUANO.

Robert T. Gray,

Norfolk, Va.

Cash Basis.

NATIONAL HOTEL,

A NEW HOUSE.

ODELL, RAGAN & CO.,

TYSON & JONES,

Carriage Builders,

W. F. KORNEGAY,

C. W. GRANDY & SONS,

P. F. PESCUD & SON,

PETTY & JONES,

OPIUM EATERS!

FOR 1874.

R. F. JONES & CO.,

McCALLUM, WYCKOFF & HOPE,

SEPARKS, HICKS & CO.,

POOLE & HUNT, Baltimor.

JAMES LEFFEL'S IMPROVED DOUBLE Turbine Water Wheel.

The Diamond Cotton

CHOPPER AND CULTIVATOR

The Celebrated "Cotton" Fertilizer.

COTTON CROP,

"COTTON" FERTILIZER

B 4 U ORDER SEEDS,

Briggs & Brother's

Its Merits Speak for Itself.

THE WILSON TAKES THE GRAND Prize at Vienna!

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE

Spring and Summer Goods.

JUST RECEIVED

PETTY & JONES,

Youth's Department.

The Fisherman's Son

BY COUSIN CECIL.

The fisher's boy, with joyful heart,
Has climbed a humble high,
Far o'er the wave his father's boat
He plainly can descry.

His mother, in their little cot,
Has spread the homely fare,
And hung the dry clothes to the fire
Across her husband's chair.

She glances from the cottage door,
The brown sail is in sight,
And, by the little streaming flag,
She knows that all is right

Her boy has left his rocky perch,
And scampers o'er the sand,
To hail his father's safe return,
And lend a helping hand.

His mother, too, is quickly there,
Her husband's welcome is kind,
But there's a true and loving heart,
Beneath his rent so rough.

And many hands make speedy work
The lading craft to clear,
Of fish, on which their hopes depend
For winter clothes and cheer.

Wee Willie feels himself a man,
To clamber o'er the boat,
Of all the father's boys about
The bravest lad afloat.

Another year or two at school,
And simple work at home,
He hopes he'll be a sailor bold,
Or foreign seas to roam.

Oh, may he not forget the love
Of Him who rules the deep,
But seek for grace to guide him still
And all his ways to keep.

That he may see his parents kind
On that delightful shore,
Where all who love and serve the Lord
Shall dwell forevermore!

The Transplanted Lily.

Donald, the gardener, was transplanting lilies. They had grown so thick in their bed that the delicate spray of pure white blossoms could hardly be seen amid the broad green leaves. So the gardener had made a new bed for them in a cool, half shaded place, such as the modest lilies of the valley love the best, and now he was carefully taking a part of them to their new home.

Little May was watching him with great interest, and following him from one place to another, chattering, in her sweet, lisping way, of this and that.

"Why do you move the sweet lilies, Donald?" asked she.

"That they may grow better," answered the gardener; and as he looked down at the little girl to answer her, she saw that tears were in his eyes.

"What makes you cry, Donald?" asked she; "is the sun in your eyes?"

"No, dear," said he. "I was thinking of a sweet lily of mine that was transplanted long ago."

"Was it put in a better place?" asked the child.

"Oh, yes," answered the gardener, "a far better place. It was carried to a garden where it would have the best of care; where the fierce sun would never wither it; where the storms would never beat upon its tender form; where nothing that could hurt or destroy it could ever enter within the gates."

"How nice!" said little May; "how glad you must be that your lovely lily is safe!"

"So I am glad!" answered the gardener. "Then why did the tears come?" asked the child.

"Because, my little one," said he, "I miss my sweet lily so much—my home is sad and desolate without it."

"But shall you not see it again sometime?" asked little May.

"If it pleases God," said the gardener, reverently baring his head, and looking up. "My lily is blooming for me in heaven."—Little Star

"Don't Charlie"

"Don't Charlie," came to my ears in a sweet, musical tone, while I was seated in a railway-car last summer. I should not have heard the soft, touching voice had it not been very near me. I looked to see who it was that had spoken, and saw a sweet, beautiful woman upon the seat in front of me. A half sad look rested upon the young face that was all aglow with love and tenderness. A young man was seated by her side, whose face wore a restless, dissipated look, and in a moment I comprehended it all. His face was flushed slightly, and I knew why it was thus.—He was talking very fast to some one in advance of him, and once I heard a low oath. "Don't, Charlie," she said again, in the same sweet voice. But Charlie did not seem to heed her words, but went on in a half-wild way to the man. Several more oaths came from his lips; but the woman remained silent, yet looked so pleadingly at the erring one that I thought, if he had been half human, he would have heeded the mild, loving reproof, that was so visible in her tear-dimmed eyes.

"A friend by my side whispered in my ear, 'They have been married just one year.'"

"He is a brute," I only said in reply.

At that moment I saw the young husband wink slyly to the man, and then they both arose and went into the baggage-car. I understood the movement when I saw a bottle protruding from the husband's coat pocket.

"Don't Charlie; don't go," the young wife had pleaded before he had got beyond her reach; but he tore himself from her slight grasp, and rushed along. Her eyes filled with tears, and a low moan came from her pale lips, and then she bowed her head and wept silently.

He came back in a few moments, his face flushed still more, and his voice was a key or two louder than before.—He brushed rudely past the wife, evidently to get near the car-window.

"Let me alone, Mag," he said, as she laid her white hand upon his arm.—"Women are always in the way," he said, again turning to the man in front of him.

The wife turned away, and I did not hear her sweet, reproving voice again.

How I pitied that young, loving wife, and how often I wonder if her sensitive heart must suffer and bleed for many long years! I think not: for her tender, loving soul and frail, slender body will not long bear such unkindness.—Strange how soon liquor will transform human beings into unfeeling monsters, and chill the ardent, loving nature of a tender husband and trusting wife!—Mrs. M. A. Holt, in American Temperance Union.

Rural and Domestic.

Valuable Receipts.

Hair Oil.—One pint alcohol: 2 oz. castor oil; a few drops of perfumery. Shake well to cut the oil. This is a splendid and nicely perfumed hair oil it softens the hair, promotes its growth and prevents it from falling out.

Hard Soap.—Six lbs. sal. soda, four gall. water. Put this together and let it come to the boiling point: let it settle and pour off; add ¼ lb. borax, 6 lbs. grease: then pour in dripping tins; let it cool and cut in bars.

Corning Beef.—The following is a first-rate receipt for corning beef: Put your meat in the barrel and then put on about six lbs. of salt to the hundred pounds of meat, and let it stand four or five days, when it must be poured off and a pickle put on made as follows: Two ounces black pepper, two ounces salt petre, two pounds brown sugar, and ten pounds of salt, to each hundred pounds of meat; to be poured on while hot.

Arnica Liniment.—Two ounces alcohol; 1 drachm tincture arnica. Unequalled for pains in the feet and limbs from walking; for all fresh or recent sprains, bruises or contused wounds, and for rheumatism of the joints and gouty pains.

Rats.—My stables and outhouses used to be infested with them until I stocked the place with cats. There are some four or five about the premises now, and I have seen but one rat in two years, and that one dead.

Potash for Peach Orchards. According to the statements of a Mr. Shepard, at a meeting of the Cincinnati Horticultural Society, says the Country Gentleman, potash is a cheap and excellent manure for peach trees. A barrel, costing $35, lasted four years for an orchard of twenty five acres. He dissolved the potash in water, making it of a strength just insufficient to float a potato, and then gave each tree two quarts of this liquid every spring. From 2,000 peach trees treated thus he sold 1,500 bushels in 1867. 680 do. in 1868, and "last year" (1871, we suppose), 800 bushels, and prospects still good for satisfactory crops in the future. He claims to have sold $12,000 worth of peaches from this orchard in five years. This would be an average of $1.20 per tree for each year: a good yield certainly. If potash in such small quantities will produce such an effect, it must soon come into general use.

Beans as Poultry Food.—If you have any beans that you cannot market, you may make good use of them for your fowls. They will not eat them whole, however, as every boy knows, but they must be cooked. Boil them well, and when done stir in at once about one part corn meal to two of beans. The mixture can be kept several days, and the hens will be found to thrive well upon it.

The Galloway cows are unusually black and without horns, and, as they are best fitted for colder and rougher sections than here, are not likely ever to be much introduced. Although their milk is rich, it is deficient in quantity. They fatten on scanty fare, have a hardy constitution, yield a superior quality of beef, but are slow in coming to maturity.

Corn Stalks for Horses.—I saw an inquiry in the Rural New Yorker, asking if corn stalks were good for horses when dry or cured; also, how to cure the sowed corn. I thought a few facts from the experience of an old farmer might be of service to the inquirer and might benefit some others. I would say: you may cut up your sowed corn with a corn cutter, or you can reap it with a sickle, or you can cradle it with a short, stiff cradle, or you may slash it down with a reaper and self-rake, which works well. Let the stalks lie to wilt, then bind in small bundles and set eight bundles in a shock: then bind them together at the top in good weather they will cure in about four or five weeks, ready to draw in. Such corn fodder is the best food for horses I ever used. The horse's wind is always good: they are not subject to disease, and I think will stand a longer drive. Should the horse have the heaves or a cough, feed corn and corn stalks: in a short time he is free in breathing, and can stand work. If the horses should refuse to eat the stalks, and cause too much waste to please, then wet and put on meal and shorts in proportion to the animal's want.—A Friend, in Rural New Yorker.

Corn Stalks for Horses.—I saw an inquiry in the Rural New Yorker, asking if corn stalks were good for horses when dry or cured; also, how to cure the sowed corn. I thought a few facts from the experience of an old farmer might be of service to the inquirer and might benefit some others. I would say: you may cut up your sowed corn with a corn cutter, or you can reap it with a sickle, or you can cradle it with a short, stiff cradle, or you may slash it down with a reaper and self-rake, which works well. Let the stalks lie to wilt, then bind in small bundles and set eight bundles in a shock: then bind them together at the top in good weather they will cure in about four or five weeks, ready to draw in. Such corn fodder is the best food for horses I ever used. The horse's wind is always good: they are not subject to disease, and I think will stand a longer drive. Should the horse have the heaves or a cough, feed corn and corn stalks: in a short time he is free in breathing, and can stand work. If the horses should refuse to eat the stalks, and cause too much waste to please, then wet and put on meal and shorts in proportion to the animal's want.—A Friend, in Rural New Yorker.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Sustain the Sinking System.

The Raleigh Observer contains the following item, which is ordinary use, would be nearly sufficient to keep the system from sinking, and by always having on hand a supply of [illegible] glass, becomes apparently blacker than ever the after the bluish is over, will be found of [illegible] preparations of this kind [illegible] by that remedy, Simmons Liver Regulator, which is [illegible] dreary tasteless effect [illegible] from healthy vegetable [illegible] cause the hypothesis [illegible] suffer from healthy vegetable [illegible] from healthy vegetable [illegible] true remedy is [illegible] effect [illegible] cabal upon the Kidneys [illegible] regret the [illegible] Simmons Liver Regulator [illegible] Bitters is the only [illegible] of personal knowledge [illegible] which, thoroughly [illegible] take advantage of [illegible] its proprietor [illegible] Medicine Co. [illegible] Liver, Kidneys [illegible] Dyspepsia and [illegible] it cured and [illegible] it started [illegible] cheerfulness [illegible] cheer. Bile and [illegible] vegetable [illegible] Simmons Liver Regulator [illegible] Bitters. Bile and [illegible] a special [illegible] it to [illegible] it promptly [illegible] Bitters [illegible] gloomy, it [illegible] operation, it [illegible] and a [illegible] it [illegible] create a relish [illegible] convert it into a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor. PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

VOL. XX—NO. 14. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8, 1874. WHOLE NO. 1,012.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

LINES

On the death of Mary Elizabeth, infant daughter of Rev. J. B. and Mrs. V. Smith Bobbitt, who died in Monroe N. C., Nov. 1st, 1873, aged nearly six months.

Many Lizzie, sweet and fair,
Oh! we dearly loved thee so;
And when called to give thee up,
Bitter tears stained the eye
For "Our Father" answers best,
Yield we then to his behest;
Murmur not against His will,
Feeling that He loves us still

Many Lizzie, pure and sweet,
Thou grew'st daily dearer both;
And though thy little hands so fair
Had sweetly twined Your heart strings here
God in looking o'er his flowers,
Saw and gently gathered one—
Oh! wounded loving hearts be still
And know it is our Father's will."

Many Lizzie, sweet and fair,
We put in earth one lovely flower
To bloom on heavenly plains,
Among the angel throng;
We planted here a tender bud
Of purest virgin beauty,
And when the Master calls for thee
We'll meet thee in the skies.

Many Lizzie, sweet and fair,
Look down on us from above
See by us that we feel in grief
Love, devotion to Jesus
Help us to live so
That we may meet thee
There to sing and shout
Hallelujah to the Lamb.

Many Lizzie, pure and sweet,
Thou'rt gone to dwell with Jesus
Where no sickness, sorrow, pain
Can ever enter in;
Where angels sing
And harps ring
Hallelujah to the Lamb.

Monroe, N. C.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Dr. T. H. Pritchard's Letter.

Bro. Bobbitt: As I promised to do, in my first statement of objections to Dr. Pritchard's positions, I now proceed to specify some of the general objections that the [illegible] with all good [illegible] that the baptism of Mark "was baptism of John in Jordan" is a mistake of Baptists by imagination. Nothing but a simple misunderstanding of Mark and common sense, can account for the assertion of the Doctor that it is a deception of Baptists to have even it pretended that the Jordan was used as it necessarily being performed to this day. The candidate is first prepared in some way not to wet his clothes. His outer garment is usually taken off. His head is bowed and a girdle is fixed around his waist as he stands on the margin of the river. Some one goes in to sound the depth of water necessary to immerse the candidate. He is then conducted into the water so far that the minister with one hand, by holding to the girdle without hand and the head low with the other, by him down on his back into his watery until his whole body, except the water. He then rises up from under the water and the subject is led out of the water as he went in. Certainly, after his baptism of immersion, to go alone overgrown by to some suitable place to change his wet garments for dry ones is the candidate is a fondness the same things to glory only the preparation is more elaborate. In churches, I understand, baptismal robes are already prepared. The candidate has only to put them on before hand, but where there are no robes, there is a second bandage below the girdle, to prevent the garments from floating on the surface of the water, as the candidate is led in. After being baptized, she may straight way, coming apart of the water, repair to the woods, if no house is convenient, and change her apparel. Dr. P.'s imagination supplies all, or all the basis, of these particulars, and affirms that Mark, when he says Christ "was baptized of John in Jordan," gives a description of baptism. It is not surprising, therefore, that the doctor, in a Baptist, He never saw a case of baptism [illegible] of, and he does not believe there ever was, or ever will be such a case. In this way it is that the boy who has never seen but one horse, when he sees a horse he calls it a horse, and says with confidence that all horses are horses. There are several other objections to Dr. P.'s declaration "No one can [illegible] what would be [illegible] absurd and foolish if applied to the conduct of the all wise Savior which application by a logical [illegible] is applied to him by all who [illegible] Do you wish him to [illegible] from the definition given by Walker, Webster and Richardson. But the Dr. knows, and we will let that word pass. Philology is a very uncertain science and its uncertainty has caused divisions, contentions and strifes in all civil and religious societies. Persons who disagree ought to be, at least, charitable, and not suffer their contentions to generate a bitter and bigoted spirit of persecution, either by the sword, or by any abused form of logic, as the Dr. has done, by asserting indirectly, that all Christians who believe that Christ might have been baptized by John in Jordan, must of necessity believe, that the blessed Jesus, our Christ, acted foolishly, when he came thirty miles and was baptized of John in Jordan. For this abhorrent imputation of a blasphemy that revolts the mind of one who is not religious, you have nothing but a equal crotch, by which you can demonstrate that a cat has three tails. For if you are allowed to change the terms of a proposition, you can prove black is white, as easily as you can prove immersion is baptism, and that all who deny it, blaspheme the name of Christ. But the Dr. is generally much of a christian, a courteous gentleman of refined and delicate sensibility, which throws him into a spasm of injured reputation, when the courtesy is not extended to him. The Doctor's logic must be more slightly when it had, at the Dr. it seems gallant knight was flashing his two-edged sword, with some influence on the conclusiveness of which is not [illegible] by my own imagination, Raleigh at least. But when it looks seven dreadful sores Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, with [illegible] sneers, mouthfully mutilated his exclamations, or with a shrug of [illegible] contemptuously pinned to the [illegible] of unbelief, for applying an [illegible] to the name of the Savior which never received application. I [illegible] purpose here to shut up Methodists, Presbyterians and their kindred hosts, into a logical conclusion, that they must all come to be Baptists, or remain blasphemers. I submit it to the common sense of every intelligent man, if this is not a fair statement of the logical consequences of the Doctor's [illegible] otherwise it has neither sense nor meaning. The Dr. made a man of straw, so deformed as to be without any mark of humanity, but a mouth spitting blasphemy.

To make his logic accomplish his purpose, his argument is filled up with contrary propositions. "Christ might have been baptized by kneeling down for John to pour water on him." Yet he denies that to pour water on him is any form of baptism. His argument goes still further, and affirms that Christ could have been baptized better, in that way, any where else, than in a river, which upon the occasion it is said he was or could have been baptized in Jordan by kneeling down for John to pour water on him. Hence Dr. P., better judge, both of the place and manner of baptising, than Christ himself. If the Dr. does not really mean this he ought not in a moment of bad grammar, and vicious logic to have said so. Now let him choose one or the other of those last propositions, which are contrary propositions, and let once the ambiguity will be removed, and we shall know which of these the Dr. is determined to stand to, which of them he is afraid or ashamed to avow.

For the benefit of those who have not carefully examined the Doctor's letter we will state his own propositions:

1. "Christ could not have been baptized in Jordan by kneeling down for John to pour water on him."

2. Christ might have been baptized as well any where else by pouring.

3. Christ might have been baptized by kneeling down in Jordan for John to pour water on him.

4. He might have been baptized, so that way, better any where else.

5. It requires the utmost strength of the imagination to suppose the Saviour kneeling down in the river Jordan for John to baptize him, by pouring water on him?"

Let the Dr. test us which of these, his own utterances he stands by and defends. As the grave not the bench of the Baptist Church in Raleigh the Dr. may be afraid or ashamed to tell us which of them he affirms and which he denies. But that would blow his antagonist into dust and ashes.

There are several other objections to the Dr's declaration "No one can [illegible] what would be [illegible] absurd and foolish if applied to the conduct of the all wise Savior which application by a logical [illegible] is applied to him by all who [illegible] Do you wish him to [illegible] from the definition given by Walker, Webster and Richardson. But the Dr. knows, and we will let that word pass. Philology is a very uncertain science and its uncertainty has caused divisions, contentions and strifes in all civil and religious societies. Persons who disagree ought to be, at least, charitable, and not suffer their contentions to generate a bitter and bigoted spirit of persecution, either by the sword, or by any abused form of logic, as the Dr. has done, by asserting indirectly, that all Christians who believe that Christ might have been baptized by John in Jordan, must of necessity believe, that the blessed Jesus, our Christ, acted foolishly, when he came thirty miles and was baptized of John in Jordan. For this abhorrent imputation of a blasphemy that revolts the mind of one who is not religious, you have nothing but a equal crotch, by which you can demonstrate that a cat has three tails. For if you are allowed to change the terms of a proposition, you can prove black is white, as easily as you can prove immersion is baptism, and that all who deny it, blaspheme the name of Christ. But the Dr. is generally much of a christian, a courteous gentleman of refined and delicate sensibility, which throws him into a spasm of injured reputation, when the courtesy is not extended to him. The Doctor's logic must be more slightly when it had, at the Dr. it seems gallant knight was flashing his two-edged sword, with some influence on the conclusiveness of which is not [illegible] by my own imagination, Raleigh at least. But when it looks seven dreadful sores Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, with [illegible] sneers, mouthfully mutilated his exclamations, or with a shrug of [illegible] contemptuously pinned to the [illegible] of unbelief, for applying an [illegible] to the name of the Savior which never received application. I [illegible] purpose here to shut up Methodists, Presbyterians and their kindred hosts, into a logical conclusion, that they must all come to be Baptists, or remain blasphemers. I submit it to the common sense of every intelligent man, if this is not a fair statement of the logical consequences of the Doctor's [illegible] otherwise it has neither sense nor meaning. The Dr. made a man of straw, so deformed as to be without any mark of humanity, but a mouth spitting blasphemy.

To make his logic accomplish his purpose, his argument is filled up with contrary propositions. "Christ might have been baptized by kneeling down for John to pour water on him." Yet he denies that to pour water on him is any form of baptism. His argument goes still further, and affirms that Christ could have been baptized better, in that way, any where else, than in a river, which upon the occasion it is said he was or could have been baptized in Jordan by kneeling down for John to pour water on him. Hence Dr. P., better judge, both of the place and manner of baptising, than Christ himself. If the Dr. does not really mean this he ought not in a moment of bad grammar, and vicious logic to have said so. Now let him choose one or the other of those last propositions, which are contrary propositions, and let once the ambiguity will be removed, and we shall know which of these the Dr. is determined to stand to, which of them he is afraid or ashamed to avow.

For the benefit of those who have not carefully examined the Doctor's letter we will state his own propositions:

1. "Christ could not have been baptized in Jordan by kneeling down for John to pour water on him."

2. Christ might have been baptized as well any where else by pouring.

3. Christ might have been baptized by kneeling down in Jordan for John to pour water on him.

4. He might have been baptized, so that way, better any where else.

5. It requires the utmost strength of the imagination to suppose the Saviour kneeling down in the river Jordan for John to baptize him, by pouring water on him?"

Let the Dr. test us which of these, his own utterances he stands by and defends. As the grave not the bench of the Baptist Church in Raleigh the Dr. may be afraid or ashamed to tell us which of them he affirms and which he denies. But that would blow his antagonist into dust and ashes.

There are several other objections to the Dr's declaration "No one can [illegible] what would be [illegible] absurd and foolish if applied to the conduct of the all wise Savior which application by a logical [illegible] is applied to him by all who [illegible] Do you wish him to [illegible] spoken disparagingly of Baptists for believing in immersion. "I have never controverted the position that the Baptist mode of performing that ordinance involved any element to vitiate the rite; nor have I ever used the extravagances which I have witnessed of getting happy and shouting and rolling down in the water or in the mud on the banks of the river as an argument against immersion. I would as soon use it as an argument against the use of pure water, that my little girl had drowned her kitten while attempting to wash it clean.

The [illegible] jointly brought forward by Rev. Mr. Jordan and Dr. Pritchard, is too flimsy to be criticised. Touch it and it bursts to pieces like the covering that envelopes the seed of the touch me not.

But by the same compendium me[illegible] of logic which the Dr. has attempted to blow up christendom, I have nothing left for me to do in order to blow up the little squad of Regular Calvanistic close communion, bigoted Baptists who are eternally hanging on their one string instrument, but to traverse Dr. P.'s argument, and assevrate, No one can persuade me that Christ would have gone thirty miles and waded into the water of Jordan up to his waist or shoulders that John might dip his head under the water.

To remember the old adage about the goose and the gander. Divide the same equally and it stands all the same to the goose.

B. T. L.

For the Advocate.

What is this that thou hast done?

Infinite Wisdom having constituted man free moral agent with an immortal principle, composed of mind a proper an[illegible] exercise of the thinking faculties of his soul. His disregard for the injunction of his Creator called [illegible] the question, as quoted above. Was penalty annexed to the transgression? Was the [illegible] in the garden, God had said. Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die." With this fact before us, how can we doubt that many willful transgression brought the death penalty on his head?

We cannot believe that Infinite Goodness, before the creation of man, chained Deity will and desires of his heart to the intended fruit, with the fixed purpose of consigning him to eternal perdition for acting in accordance with his wise and unchangeable will. If man is not the creature of law, possessing sufficient intelligence and volition to obey or disobey the law of God, given for his government and guidance, how can there be any violation on his part? We are told that sin is the transgression of the law," and at man's accession is circumscribed by compulsion power to the law of involuntary obedience to the will of God, what class of persons are transgressors? God says, "Ye have set at naught all of my counsel" and from it many we have been taught to regard the declaration of the Bible as true. If man cannot set at naught the counsels of his Maker, we cannot reconcile with our ideas of God's justice and equity to charge him with a wilful departure from a line of conduct which Omnipotent Wisdom prescribes and binds him to.

No earthly judge could incarcerate or send to the gallows a person accused of a crime he knew he had no opportunity of committing. An enlightened people would regard such an act of unreasonable tyranny with feelings of repudiation and abhorrence. Was it not He who will make out immortal justice to his creatures that implanted sentiments of justice in the breast of man. If conscientious error would not inflict undeserved punishment on an innocent one, and his sense of moral right takes deeper root expanding in the soul in proportion to its appreciation of purity and christian enlightenment is it to be supposed that the true great Cause of benevolent emotion in the breast of man is void of a sense of justice and forbearance toward man?

Inspiration says, "I have called, and ye refused." This is the language of the Bible, a book given by inspiration of God. When inspired penmen penned the truths of the Bible, it was simply God speaking through them to erring man. "All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness." What reproof or correction is there in impressing on the minds of men, too prone to sin, the idea that the wicked sentiments and matters of the heart of which and are in direct opposition to the will of God, are in reality the unpardonable sin, that it was decreed by God himself before the creation of man? What reproof is there in telling a murderer that God whets the knife, and lifts the arm of the foul assassin that takes his brother's life while he is unsuspecting and asleep? Why not tell him as God tells him? "Thou shalt not kill." Why not endeavor to awaken his guilty soul to reflection by announcing in his ears the fearful truth that "no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him?"

Man, whose feet are "swift in running to mischief," needs no opiates to blunt the sensibilities of his soul and darken his moral perceptions of christian duty. He needs the enlightening and awakening truths of the Gospel [illegible] to lift the soul above its indifference and lethargy to the pa[illegible] and higher element of consideration and love. I always thought a minister was poorly employed looking up, and marking in his Bible detached portions of Holy Writ to sustain the peculiar notions of the sect to which he belonged. It is a melancholy sight to see a professed minister who is compelled to "preach the Word," grovelling his way in sectarian blindness and stupidity, instead of faithfully presenting, in sincerity, the soul-searching and sustaining truths of the Gospel.

St. Paul would not say to a congregation that needed arousing into [illegible] action by the influence of God's Spirit in the heart, "As God is not the author of sin, and every thought, emotion, and action of man is in accordance with his decreed will, there is therefore no sin on the part of man—that he sends a part to hell for obeying his will, and a part bear on to doing no better than he sent to hell." That was no way of preaching. He would [illegible] Awake to righteousness, and sin [illegible] far some have not the knowledge of God. I speak this to your shame."—This is the way he talked to the Corinthian brethren too prone (like others of his and our day) to relapse into supineness, neglectful of their christian duties.

How sensibly he talks to his Ephesian brethren! "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light—see then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools," (talking about decreed sin) but as wise, redeeming the time, because the days are evil." While writing to Timothy he says, the "Law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient." Whoever heard of a "lawless and disobedient" person, living out exactly the will and purpose of the law given? And when I see ministers whose duty it is to seek to know the Truth, that they may effectually "preach the Word" to dying men, adroitly manœuvring to keep their little boat in the current of sectarian prejudice, instead of launching out upon the Scriptural and brighter ocean of Christian benevolence and love, I am forcibly reminded of the declaration of Paul to Timothy that the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine."

Not long since I went to hear a young preacher preach. He was preaching about Mary's sitting at Jesus feet and hearing His word.—Which he gave to the declaration of the Master, "Mary hath chosen that good part," instead of presenting the idea of volition, and the duty of choosing like that eternal happiness might be secured, he said, "Brethren, I cannot ignore the doctrine of election so plainly taught in the Bible!" And here he began what he conceived to be proof of the doctrine that God, before the foundation of the world, decreed the elect to heaven, and sent the other portion of mankind to hell because they did not choose to live when he had given them no inclination nor opportunity to be saved! At night I went to hear him again. He took the other track, preaching from the text, "Behold! I stand at the door and knock," &c. While urging the sinners to open the door that Christ might enter, he said, "brethren, Christ is just as ready and willing to enter and bless all who have not opened and let him in, as those who have been blessed." Is it not a pity a young and aspiring mind should be trammelled and floundered amid the inconsistencies and errors of sectarian darkness and prejudice, instead of rising in all its mental and moral grandeur, to the higher latitude of soul elevating and expanding enlightenment and love? Might not misguided minds, having zeal without sufficient knowledge to teach the way of truth, be much benefited by divesting themselves of a little of their self importance and meekly listening, like Apollos, to wiser heads, "expounding unto them the way of God more perfectly?" In conclusion, may I not quote the sentiment of the poet?

"If you need to, still preserve the church;
And lay not on less hands on head:
That will not learn and cannot teach."

OXONIAN.

Oxford, N. C.

Who is the oldest lunatic on record? Time out of mind.

For the Advocate.

Mr. Editor: Having business recently in Western Carolina, I made it convenient to call by and spend a few days with some personal friends in the town of Lenoir. I had often seen and heard from news papers and summer visitors from the east, the most glowing accounts of the grandeur of nature as beheld from this mountain town, the great excellency of its inhabitants, and the noiseless of the institutions of learning located there. But, Mr. Editor, I am satisfied, though my visit was made in the winter time, that the half has not been told. I am sure the people of middle and eastern North Carolina have no idea of the variety, beauty and grandeur of the natural scenery around Lenoir, or of the wonderful mineral and health-giving power of its atmosphere, or the very high intellectual culture and moral worth of its people. And I now propose to tell you, and your readers of some things I saw and heard during that pleasant visit, and of some impressions made on my mind. Lenoir is located near the centre of Caldwell county, of which it is the county seat, in a beautiful valley lying between the Blue Ridge on the west and north and the Brushy Mountains on the south and east. It contains a population of about 600 or 700, a Court House, two Hotels, three Churches, one Episcopal, one Presbyterian, and one Methodist, the last named a good sized brick building, with a membership of near 200. For refined, cultivated, intellectual society, public spirit, good morals, and sound religion, I hardly think Lenoir is excelled by any of our towns. Finley High School is located there. It is [illegible] over by Prof. Fawcett, an accomplished scholar and a worthy gentleman. He not only [illegible] young men for college, but if they prefer remaining with him, carries them through the entire college course. This school has for years maintained a deservedly high reputation, and is, I think, still improving. There is also a school taught by the Misses Rankin, daughters of Rev. Jesse Rankin, who is pastor of the Presbyterian Church. It is a good school and is well spoken of. Also a school taught by, or at least under the supervision of, the Rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Rev. Mr. Bland. I heard nothing said in regard to the merits of this school, but suppose it is doing well. But inasmuch as I am writing mainly to Methodists, and for Methodists to read, it is of Davenport Female College, its present condition, and future prospects that I would say most. It is situated on a beautiful eminence about two hundred yards south of the town, which is nestled in full view in a lovely vale below. Just here I would remark that some one has said, and strange as it may seem, truthfully said, Lenoir is in a valley between two mountains, on a hill between two valleys, and in a vale between two hills. Of the College buildings I need not speak at present. Let it suffice to say they are substantial and good, and when the repairs and improvements already begun are completed and the Institution is put in complete trim as I learned from the President, it soon will be, Davenport College will certainly present a most lovely and inviting aspect.

But it is on the College observatory you must stand in order to behold more of nature's grandeur than from any other point. Standing there mountains are in view all around you, and you find yourself encircled in one almost continued range of these mighty upheavels of God himself, mountain after mountain and mountain piled on mountain as far as the eye can reach. On the east within three miles is the highest peak of the Brushy Mountain, standing out in full view, about three thousand feet above the level of the sea, and so near that all its rugged cliffs are distinctly seen with the naked eye. On the north at the distance of twenty miles, but apparently not more than six or seven, is old Grand Father, one of the loftiest peaks of the Blue Ridge, lying on his back with his long shaggy beard and the outlines of his aged features spread out before you. A little further to the west is Table Rock raised some three or four thousand feet above the general range; a mountain which has for ages filled with wonderous admiration all who have been permitted to stand upon its lofty summit, or even look upon its magnificent proportions. And fifty miles from the College away to the west, towering far above all around, you behold the Black Mountain still white with the snows of winter. And away toward sunset, on the Tennessee line, a hundred miles distant lies the Roan Mountain, which can be distinctly seen on a clear day.

When I stood the first time on old Ocean's shore and looked out upon its rolling tide, thought on its vastness and listened to the deep bass note which it sounds in nature's eternal Anthem, I remembered Him "who hath bound up the waters in a garment" and then "measured them in the hollow of his hand" and I was filled with awe and trembling and in the fulness of my soul exclaimed, "Great is the Lord and greatly to be praised." When I first stood on the top of the mountains and looked out on those silent but eternal witnesses for God, I remembered Him, "who hath weighed the mountains in scales and the hills in a balance," and I exclaimed with the Psalmist. "Before the mountains were brought forth or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting thou art God." And I am told by those who have lived for years, where they have looked out daily on these mighty works of God that the eye never tires of seeing them or the mind of dwelling upon their greatness, but every season and every day finds something new to attract the eye and fill the mind with admiration. In my next I will speak more fully of those having charge of the College, its internal workings, the proposed Railroad, the future prospects of Lenoir and Davenport College.

Yours truly,
A MEMBER.

For the Advocate.

"Higher Education."

In the Advocate of March 25th is a well written article upon this subject. The writer, signing himself "A Senior" of Trinity college, N. C., asks what this "Higher Education" can be better found than in the curriculum of Trinity. He requests those who write to "distinctly and specially state what they want." "No generalities, but clear statements" is his demand. As he asks a plain question, he is entitled to a plain answer.

The "Higher Education" to which he refers depends not so much upon the curriculum, the books and the high sounding departments, as upon the teachers. Harvard and Berlin would soon cease to be Harvard and Berlin if conducted by second rate men, and Princeton and Yale without any catalogues would be Princeton and Yale still. Any college may mark out for itself the Berlin course, but they cannot give the Berlin culture. It is which the "Higher Education" is derived

The question is this: Have we any college in N. C. capable of giving this "Higher Education," or such a culture as was formerly received at the University? "Somebody" thinks we have not. That the standard of scholarship at Trinity is not now, nor ever has been, as it formerly was at the State University. That the culture there is not, and has not been, such as to enable its graduates successfully to compete with University alumni. Compare them in the learned professions, law, medicine, theology. Is the culture there of such a character as to give that ease and polish and urbanity which characterize the highly finished scholar? Are the Faculty there capable of imparting the "Higher Education" claimed by advocates of the University?

Are the advantages of Trinity—the Libraries and apparatus equal to those which a State University, backed by the State finances, can afford? It requires money to make a first class college. A State University may be liberally endowed, and the best talent secured without the impediments of denominational restrictions.

And, with all due respect, but in candor, has the Methodist church the men who are competent to manage a first class institution of learning? I will not claim that it has. Can the Methodist church compete with the older churches—the Protestant Episcopal, the Presbyterian—in high scholarship? This is not said by way of reproach, for that church is awaking to this subject. But what is the fact? They have men who can move the masses, and who may succeed in the political arena, but in respect to scholarship how stands the case? Compare the ministers, the teachers in the churches; not as to energy and zeal, but as to high literary culture and the requisites to enable them to impart this "Higher Education."

What man has the Methodist church who can offer such lectures as those of Maj. Bingham on "The Anglo Saxon Race," of Prof. Blake on the "Progress of Science," or of Hon. A. M. Waddell on the "Discovery of America?" Two of these are graduates of the University, and the third a Professor at Davidson College. Does not the editor of the Methodist organ in N. C. virtually admit the force of the views which I urge, when he, a generous, candid gentleman justly suggests, in his issue of the 25th March, to the authorities of Trinity, the propriety of inviting some of these gentlemen to lecture to "A Senior" and his fellow students? Has not the Legislature, at its late session, reiterated the wishes of the people when it provided for the re-opening at an early day of an institution where this "Higher Education" may be had?

EXAMINER.

Selected.

Rest for the Weary.

Heaven is more attractive in the fact that labor and rest seemed to balance each other in its best employments. While we are told, on the one hand, of its inviting activities, on the other it is said, "There remaineth a rest for the people of God." And so we believe the saints find relaxation in going from the one to the other; and we know on earth this is so, and this makes us expect it in Heaven. We find here that, it hard and absorbing work is not balanced by play, a loss first of energy, and at last a loss of health, of body and mind, ensues. The apostle tells us that the laborer is worthy of his hire—which is a truth, worthy of the Church's consideration toward her ministers—but the laborer is worthy of his rest; and they are neither spiritually wise, nor money wise, nor wise in any way who disregard it. But rest does not consist in mere lying down and stretching out. An Indian was observed during a day's travel to take unfrequently a stone or log of wood, and having carried it awhile would throw it down again; and when asked why he did it, replied, "When I throw it down I feel so rested." "A change in the form of activity is in its own place as necessary and as useful as entire cessation from toil." We have seen the oxen unyoked from the plough after a sweltering day's labor and turned into the luxurious clover, but they did not lie down and groan of weariness, or from their galls and goads but if there were calves or younger cattle in the field, would sniff the air, crowd their nostrils, and frisk and gambol, following the calves around the field as if they had never felt the yoke. This is their way of resting: they glory in the frolic for rest is not inertia, but a change is kind of activity, especially if it be from the treadwheel of severe and necessary duty to movements wholly spontaneous and free. And from what we have said we gain this practical thought. Can we make profit and play run in the same groove, and give the kaleidoscopic character of our pursuits, so manifold in riches, both of the word and world, that our necessary amusements need not be time and energy thrown away. Let us use waste of the fragment having run of the wheel that grinds our corn is also turned into the field to moisten the soil and again produce it—so, when wearied in the scramble for bread, we can rest by turning away to the needy for opportunity to dispense it. When crushed by our doubts of our own faith, we can rest in case that others shall not be as faithless as ours.

The Witchery of Manner.

Almost every man can recall scores of cases within his knowledge where pleasing manners have made the fortune of lawyers, doctors, divines, merchants, and, in short, men in every walk of life. Raleigh, as we have already remarked, rising down his face coat in the road for Lazarus to walk on, and got for his reward a proud queen's favor. The politician who has this advantage easily distances all rival candidates, for every voter he speaks with becomes instantly his friend. The very tones in which he asks for a pinch of snuff, are often more potent than the logic of a Webster or a Clay. Polished manners have often made second-rate successful, while the best of men, by their [illegible] ness and coldness, have done themselves incalculable injury—the shell being so rough that the world could not believe there was a precious kernel within. Civility is to a man what beauty is to a woman. It creates an instantaneous impression in his behalf while the opposite quality exercises as quick a prejudice against him. It is a real ornament—the most beautiful dress that a man or woman can wear—and worth more as a means of winning favor than the finest clothes and jewels ever worn. The gruffest man loves to be appreciated; and it is often [illegible] the sweet smile of a woman, which we think intended for us alone, than a pair of Juno like eyes, or "lips that seem on roses fed," that bewitches our hearts, and lays us low at the feet of her whom we afterward marry.—Prof. Maurice's "Getting on in the World."

Beranger

It was not until he was well on in years; approaching middle age, that he obtained success as a songster, when the little impetuosity which he possessed in youth gave way to a spirit of calculation. Before reaching his crown of laurel he had traced out for himself in advance what his conduct was to be, and when it came he was ready in his part. Above all, he was to be the only man of his kind, the mouth-piece of the French people. He was to stand alone on his pedestal, not in a group—not even with Lamartine. To be made the colleague or peer of any body of men was distasteful; hence he never was a candidate of the French Academy, although it only depended on a nod from him to have been elected. One of his favorite phrases was, "I am nothing—not even an academician," which, like much of his talk, had a spice of malice in it, in addition to an affection of humility. Another feature of his rule was that he was to be poor, in order to establish a strong bond of union between himself and the masses. Allowing a margin for his acting, most of his instincts were good, but he was so absorbed with his end that they did not attain to a healthy development. He had for a long time preached the Republic, and when it came he abandoned it with an ease that showed that his political convictions had taken but little root in his mind. On this occasion Chateaubriand said to him, "Well, you have your Republic;" to which he answered, "Yes, I have it, but I would sooner dream of it than own it." He abandoned the National Assembly, of which he was a deputy, almost as soon as he entered it. He was not an orator, and he could not submit to the leveling of being considered one of several hundred.

If he sorrowed with the poor he burned savagely upon the rich whenever an opportunity was presented for attack, and thus the rebuke generally followed the tear. Even in many of his sallies there is a sting. This, and his calculating mind, divested his gaiety of that charm of naivete with which his friend Desnoyers was imbued. Beranger was Gallic to the core, and had the defects as well as the qualities of his race, and of the former the most objectionable was a want of chastity. Thus some of his most poetical conceptions are marred by Rabelaisian allusions or descriptions.—Scribner's Monthly.

Scientific.

It is a fact worth knowing, that a solution of pearl ash in water, thrown upon a fire, extinguishes it immediately. The proportion is four ounces of the pearl ash, dissolved in a pail of water, and poured into a bucketful of

Is healthy Coniferous trees the female flowers (producing ultimately the cones) are produced some years before the male flowers appear. After some of the branches have been shaded for some years by the growth of other branches, or in some other way have their nutritive powers checked, they bear male flowers from these weakened branches. Thus in Europe all our rare California pine trees have cones long before they have perfect seed. The great mammoth tree of California—Sequoia gigantea has long borne cones there. Just now, both in England and France, trees have produced male flowers, and the growers are looking forward to an abundant supply of home grown seeds, in consequence.

For the purpose of supplying water to a new wharf at Point Hueneme, southeast of San Buenaventura, Cal., an artesian well was sunk not five feet from high-water mark. At the depth of 143 feet a strong flow of water was obtained, which spouted 30 feet high. A goose-neck was fitted on to it here, so as to reverse the flow. One day while the agent was absent, the men noticed fish in the waste water. On his return, attention was given to the fact, and the well was found to be stocked with young trout, thousands of them being thrown out at every jet. These trout were all the same size (about two inches long), and perfectly developed. They had perfect eyes. There is no stream nearer than the Santa Clara river, several miles distant. There are no trout in the lower portions of the river. The temperature of the water is the same as that of the wells of this country (64 Fahr.), too warm, of course, for trout to live long in.

— AN OLD MAINE LIQUOR LAW.—In July, 1640, Maine being then a British province, jurisdiction in criminal cases was vested in a Court of Sessions, its members being partly military and partly of a civil composition. At one time of their sittings, they declared the following as the law pertaining to the liquor traffic: "Whereas there is great complaint made of several abuses taken notice of in our [illegible] by excessive drinking rude, [illegible] etc., the ill consequences whereof is [illegible] lively seen in the misbehavior of [illegible] persons in the presence of authority, for the preventing the like for the [illegible] is therefore, ORDAINED, That from hence forth there shall not be any man, or other liquor or fish, sold into any [illegible] ant of the town or shall any ordinary keeper sell unto any stranger above the [illegible] gill for a person at any one time. And all civil officers, especially selectmen and constables, in the respective towns in this province, are required to take special care by inspecting any suspicious house or houses where any such abuses or [illegible] fulness may be added, and in case any ordinary keeper shall presume to transgress this order, he shall immediately forfeit his license."

The Christian Advocate

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.00.

Our Agents.

All the travelling preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Those who send us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free. Those who send us five will receive the paper for $1 00. Those who send us more will receive still better prices for their labor.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for the paper are respectfully solicited. They should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, the safest way is to get a draft on Raleigh or the post office order on this stock. The cost of exchange on other cities can be deducted when remittances are made. Remember we send no paper unless paid for, and we stop the paper when the time paid for is out.

Marriages.

Married, ... the residence of Col. S. H. Dial, in Dur... N. C., on the 26th inst., 1874, by Rev. J. J. Renn, Mr. Benjamin L. Hall, and Miss Mary A. V... all of Durham, N. C.

Married, at the residence of Mr. Stanly Cox, March 26th 1874 by Rev. W. H. Willson, Mr. W. Mellon to Miss ... Smith.

Married, ... the residence of the bride's mother, on the 26th inst., by Rev. J. J. Renn, Mr. W. P. Harris and Miss Mary E. Tilley, all of Durham, N. C.

Obituary.

Died, ... Lincolnville, Anson county, on the 23rd inst., after a protracted illness, which he bore with Christian fortitude, Mr. Jesse Lowder, in the 74th year of his age. Brother Lowder was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in early life, and lived a consistent member of the same for more than fifty years. He was a kind husband, a tender father, and a good neighbor. He died in the triumphs of faith, and has gone to rest in the bosom of his God. His funeral was preached by the writer, to a large and attentive audience, from the words, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them." Rev. 14: 13. W. H. C.

Mrs. ... wife of Mr. ... died in ... county, N. C., March 26th, 1874, in the ... year of her age. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for ... years, and died in the triumphs of faith. She was a kind and affectionate wife, a devoted mother, and a consistent Christian. She was ... and her ... was ... Her ... was ... and ... was ... and ... was ... and

Youth's Department.

Shut the Door.

"Godfrey Gordon Gustavus Gore—
No doubt you have heard the name before—
Was a boy who never would shut the door.

The wind may blow this way, and the wind may blow that,
And he like nothing and throat be sore,
But still he never would shut the door.

His father would beg his mother to shout:
"Godfrey Gordon Gustavus Gore,
We really do wish you would shut the door!"

His mother would say (in her hair they were few,
Had Godfrey Gordon Gustavus Gore,
Was bent as the bough out at the door):

"When he marked forth the folks would roar:
"Godfrey Gordon Gustavus Gore,
Why don't you think to shut the door?"

They rigged out a shutter with sail and oar,
And launched a-board to peel off Gustavus Gore
On a voyage of pirate to Singapore.

But he begged for mercy, and still "No more!
Pray, do not send me to Singapore
On a shutter, and then I will shut the door!"

"You will?" said the parents; "then keep on shore!
But mind you do! For the plague is sure
Of a fellow that will never shut the door"—
Godfrey Gordon Gustavus Gore!"

Palissy, the Potter.

BY ANTOINETTE C. M'LEAN.

Once upon a time there lived a man who tried to do something he knew nothing about. I dare say my little boys and girls have many times found it hard work to do things which they knew very well about. Then, if you were told you must go to work and make a cup and saucer like the one you have from this morning, what would you do? You would say you could do nothing without a teacher. But who taught the first man? Some one studied it out at first; and if all the potters in the world should die at once some one might study it out again.

Palissy had no teacher. He had to put different kinds of clay together by way of a trial, then put them in the oven, build a hot fire and bake them, and when they were cool look at them to see if they were changed. This he did not once or twice, but over and over again, for years and years; but still every time there came out nothing but the same brown ware such as he had always made.

It was a wonder he did not stop, for he had a wife and children; and sometimes he spent so much time and money trying to make white enamel that they nearly starved.

"One more trial," he would say, "and I will find the wonderful secret; then they shall have all they need." But the "one time more" sometimes took him away into the night, when, weary and sorrowful he would creep into bed, only to find his wife awake, and ready with a good scolding for all his "folly," as she called it; for she seemed to think all the sorrow was hers, and he brought it.

Poor Palissy would then think his wife was more than half right: he would leave off working to find out the secret of white enamel, and go to painting on glass until they were all a-starved again. Poor fellow! he thought he would never again think of the white enamel he would go to work at it again.

Thus things went on for many years, until Palissy was about fifty years old, and still he sought for the wonderful secret, which as yet he could not find. The neighbors at last said he was crazy; and one night his wife and children thought if he had never been crazy before he had become so at last. For six days and nights he had watched beside his oven; and yet he needed more heat, and his fuel and money were gone. Then he rushed into the house, tore up his floors, broke up his chairs, and put them in the fire. Do you wonder that his wife screamed and scolded and cried, and ran for the neighbors to tie him up for a madman?

But the next morning, oh, joy of joys! like a little angel of peace and love, there stood in the oven his dish, covered with the long sought for enamel! No longer brown but white and shining! Do you not think he was glad? Yet even then it was ten long years before he had so brought out the beauty of his wares—white and colored—as to bring him fame or fortune. Then, indeed, a great and rich nobleman gave him an order for making enamel tiles for his palace, and gave him plenty of money for all his materials and to pay him for his labor.

Now, you may be sure, there were glad times in the house of poor Palissy, a plenty to eat and drink, and no need any longer for Madam Palissy to scold; so we will hope she now saw that her husband was right to keep trying, in spite of his many disappointments and the trouble they all had shared.—Little Corporal.

THE BOOK OF THANKS.—"I feel so vexed and out of temper with Ben," cried Mark, "that I really must"—

"Do something in revenge!" inquired his cousin Cecilia.

"No; look over my book of thanks."

"What's that?" said Cecilia, as she saw him turning over the leaves of a copy book, nearly full of writing, in a round text hand.

"Here it is," said Mark. Then he read aloud:

"'March 8—Ben lent me his bat.

"Here again: January 1.—When I lost my shilling Ben made it up to me kindly.' Well," observed the boy, turning down the leaf, "Ben is a good boy, after all."

"What do you not down in that book?" asked Cecilia, looking over his shoulder with some curiosity.

"All the kindnesses that are ever shown me, you would wonder how many there are. I find a great deal o' good from marking them down. I do not forget them, as I might do if I only trusted to my memory, so I hope that I am not often ungrateful; and, when I am cross and out of temper, I almost always feel good humored again if I only look over my book."

THE BOYS.—The tired mother when nightfall comes, cannot help drawing a long sigh at the sight of her boys' torn jackets and trowsers; and her aching head may whirl or with pleasant shouts they come trooping like the room in rough and tumble. But with what loving tenderness she not only endures all their noise, but sympathizes in their sports, if she be a true mother. Some such feelings as these which are put into verse rise in her heart:

"Boys will be boys' but not for me
Ah, could we hear about us
This thou hast now very soon
Will harm to thy wee head

"The noise but still a deeper sound
Will gravely tell me I am lonely
Of each heart-ailing angel
From this world to mother

"More gently we should treat the rudest
And when night spells the rudest
Stitch by but bating
While mending pants and jack

Rural and Domestic.

Social Intercourse for Farmers,

Farmers necessarily live at considerable distance from each other, and in consequence of this and their habits of steady labor, confine themselves too much to their own fields and fireside. They and their families need recreation, need pleasures, need something to counteract the effect of the constant labor in which they are engaged. The mechanic in the village or city has his mind frequently drawn away from his work by that which is going on around him: but the farmer, being differently situated, finds not [illegible] up the monotony, music he seeks for it elsewhere. It is quite probable that more work would be accomplished, and a better tone of feeling be experienced, to say nothing of the more cheerful countenance which would be worn if a half day each week were given to social intercourse with fellow farmers, instead of devoting six full days each week to unremitting labor. After a day spent pleasantly away from home the laborer is happier. Allowing that as much was not accomplished by giving a little time to relaxation, it should be borne in mind that food and raiment for the family, forage for the stock, and money for the bank, are not the only things worth living for. We need happiness as well. But if a portion of time be given to a wide awake farmers' club, ideas will be gained, practical knowledge acquired, which in time will bring about results far in excess of those which will be realized by the farmer who does not improve these opportunities.

A CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.—A correspondent writes as follows about the sanitary power of a very well known plant: I have discovered a remedy for pulmonary consumption. It has cured a number of cases after they had commenced bleeding at the lungs and the hectic flush was already on the cheek. After trying this remedy to my own satisfaction, I [illegible] thought it my duty, as a philanthropy required that I should let it be known to the world. It is the common mullin, steeped strong and sweetened with coffee sugar, and drank freely. The herb should be gathered before the 5th of July, it comes in bloom or old plants are good if dried in the shade, and kept in close paper bags. The medicine must be continued from three to six months, according to the nature of the disease. It is good for the urinary vessels make it strengthens the system, and builds it instead of taking away the strength. It makes good blood, and takes inflammation from the lungs. It is the wish of the writer that every person in the United States, Canada and Europe should publish this recipe for the benefit of the human family, let this up and keep it in the house ready for use.

Trends in Commercial Manures.

The uncertainty as to the value of the commercial manures found in the market is constantly being brought to the notice of farmers through careful analyses made by competent chemists. It is not long since that Prof. Samuel W. Johnson, of the Sheffield Scientific School, demonstrated from actual tests that different brands of phosphates sold in the market at from $56 to $80 per ton only possessed an actual value of from $27 to $47 per ton. And recently a committee of the New York State Agricultural Society (of which Hon. John Stanton Gould was chairman) has made a careful analysis of ten different samples of guano, the market price of which was from $80 to $90 per ton, which they found to be worth from $24 to $69 per ton. Two samples in the lot were largely adulterated with sand, a fact which may not affect the honesty of the dealers, but may come from natural causes. Layers of sand often occurring in the guano beds, and four were heavily adulterated with brick dust, a fact which shows to what deceptions an unthinking purchaser are subjected, one which tells heavily against certain venders of these manures. The results of the analysis goes to show what heavy drafts are annually made upon the hard earned money and taken from the farmers every year by the manufacturers and venders of different kinds of commercial fertilizers for which no adequate return is received. And this will go on, we suppose, until farmers get cheated to their satisfaction, when we hope they will give more attention to the compost heap and other home sources of supply. This is the only thing that will save them.—Massachusetts Ploughman.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ADVERTISEMENTS

DR. M'LANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC,

OR

VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle surrounding the lower eyelid; the nose frequently swells, and sometimes becomes the seat of a slight cancer on the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of the viscid mucus or tarred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at other times entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting, worst pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools hard, and sometimes streaked with blood; belly sometimes tender and hard; urine turbid, its secretion occasionally difficult, and accompanied by a cough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; tenesmus variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE

Will certainly effect a cure.

The universal success which has attended the administration of this preparation has long since warranted us in pledging ourselves to the public to

RETURN THE MONEY

in every instance where it should prove ineffectual (providing the symptoms attending the sickness of the child or adult should warrant the supposition of worms being the cause.) In all cases the Medicine to be given in STRICT ACCORDANCE WITH THE DIRECTIONS.

We pledge ourselves to the public, that

Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge

DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY

in any form; and that it is an innocent preparation, [illegible] the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

Address orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

[illegible] from others with their orders discontinued. [illegible] to give [illegible] to any [illegible] Druggist in the United States, Canada and Europe should publish this recipe for the benefit of the human family, let this up and keep it in the house ready for use.

A Positive Cure.

SELBY & HAMMOND,

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS

[illegible] N. C.

THE FAVORITE HOME REMEDY.

This celebrated Medicine is warranted not to contain calomel, to purge, or sicken, or any injurious mineral; and to operate as a cathartic, giving Gentle or Rapid Action, which is effectually controlled by the system. Physicians have agreed in condemning their [illegible] pills, because they contain calomel, which is a dangerous mineral poison. Simmons' Liver Regulator is purely vegetable, and may be taken with perfect safety by any person, at any time, without making any change in diet, except that cold water should not be drunk while under the influence of medicine.

PURELY VEGETABLE

Simmons' Liver Regulator, or Medicine, is confessedly a Family Medicine, and by being kept ready for immediate resort will save many an hour of sickness and many a doctor's bill.

After over Ten Years' trial it is still receiving the most unqualified encomiums as to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility, eminent physicians and druggists.

EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC FOR DISPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

As an Alterative or ANTIDOTE, all chills and malarious poisons of water and food may be laved with a fearless heart. As a remedy in MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, DEBILITY, NERVOUSNESS, &c., IT HAS NO EQUAL.

It is the Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,

MACON, GA., and PHILADELPHIA.

Price $1.00. Sold by all Druggists.

Feb 5-12m

FURNITURE.

W. H. Morris & Co.

No. 5 Fayetteville Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

[illegible]

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes,

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,

THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED INVERT EYE CUPS

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Specimen case of surgical Operations recorded as useless by Dr. Ball, and Restored to Sight by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED INVERT EYE CUPS.

Any person must read my operations, reliefs, etc., and all others have their sight permanently restored by the use of the Inverted Eye Cups.

1. Includes Nothing. 2. Presbyopia or Farsightedness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, Obscurity of Vision, Weak Eyes, Aching or Watering Eyes, Sore Eyes, produced by Age, Sickness, Dissipation, Excessive Use of the Eyes, Reading Fine Print, Writing by Candle Light, &c. Weak eyes restored to perfect vision by the use of the Cups. 3. Cataract, Pearl, or Yellow Film, 4. Amaurosis, or Paralysis of the Optic Nerve. 5. Amblyopia, or Dimness of Vision, 6. Weak eyes of the Aged restored to perfect vision by the use of the Cups. 7. Inflammation of the Eyes, Granular Lids, Fistula Lachrymalis, Ulceration of the Cornea, Scrofula of the Eyes, Tumors, Wens, Films, Specks, Scars, Cataracts, Impediments, Contractions, Closure of the Eyelids, Fungus Haematodes, Encysted Tumors, Abscesses, Diseases of the Eyeball, Eyelids, Muscles, Nerves, Blood Vessels, Lachrymal Apparatus, Orbit, &c., &c., have successfully undergone the operation of Dr. J. BALL & CO. 8. Granulations of the Eyelids.

AGENTS WANTED.

[illegible] Patent Improved Invert Eye Cups, [illegible] in the market. The success is [illegible] to all persons out of employment, or dissatisfied with present occupation, or wishing to improve their circumstances, or spare hours, to call at their office, No. [illegible] Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C., and procure a Pair of Cups and Book of Instructions, and commence operations. Full particulars and terms will be given by calling on or addressing

A. B. ANDREWS,

Gen'l Sup't.

Dr. J. BALL & CO.,

No. 5 Fayetteville St.,

Raleigh, N. C.

Feb 19-1y

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE

[illegible]

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh [illegible]	4 00 P. M.
" Smithfield [illegible]	6 05 "
" Battleboro [illegible]	6 55 "
" Weldon [illegible]	7 30 "
Arrive at Gaston [illegible]	8 10 "
Leave Gaston [illegible]	8 20 "
Arrive at Portsmouth [illegible]	10 30 "
Arrive at Norfolk [illegible]	11 00 "
Arrive at Baltimore [illegible]	6 00 A. M.
Arrive at Washington [illegible]	8 00 "
Arrive at Philadelphia [illegible]	10 30 "
Arrive at New York [illegible]	1 30 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh [illegible]	2 45 P. M.
Arrive at Weldon [illegible]	10 15 A. M.
Leave Weldon [illegible]	8 30 P. M.
Arrive at Raleigh [illegible]	4 15 A. M.

Making close connection at Weldon with Night Express Train for the North, and at Gaston with Night Express Train for Portsmouth, Norfolk and Baltimore.

Passengers for all points North and West can take Night Express Train at Raleigh at 4 P. M. and arrive at Weldon at 8.30 P. M. Connecting with Night Express Train for the North, arriving at Baltimore at 6 A. M., Washington City 8 A. M., Philadelphia 10.30 A. M., New York 1.30 P. M

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

REV. J. B. BOBBITT, Editor.

PUBLISHED IN THE INTERESTS OF METHODISM IN NORTH CAROLINA.

VOL. XX.---NO. 15. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15, 1874. $2.00 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

WHOLE NO. 1,013.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

For What?

AN EXPERIENCE IN DAY

[illegible]

Communicated.

For the Advocate

You Set Your Colter too Deep.

Traveling the road, I once saw a [illegible] farmer plowing. The land was [illegible] and full of stumps and roots. His plow would often hitch a root, which the farmer would begin to whip his horse forward, by striking him with his lines and scolding and [illegible] him. The horse would jirk forward and balk, and break the roots. At last the plow hitched a root that [illegible] so much resistence it could not be moved. The farmer continued to urge forward his horse, balloing [illegible] and slapping his sides with his plow lines. His horse would [illegible] and often with such force as to [illegible] himself back, until at last becom[illegible] more restive he kicked out of his [illegible]. When put back, I said "Farmer, you set your colter too deep now [illegible] your plow and he will go forward." [illegible] upon he raised his plow, his [illegible] horse finding no longer any [illegible]stance, went rapidly off dragging [illegible] plow, and the farmer over the [illegible]gh ground. He had set his colter [illegible] deep.

Fifty years ago I attended an annual [illegible]ference of the M. E. church, which [illegible] in a distant city, to be admitted [illegible] the fraternity, on trial. A young [illegible] of my age and experience came [illegible] the same purpose. He was then [illegible]ed as a Methodist preacher unaddressed fifty years ago. His personal appearance was fine, his voice was [illegible]t and pathetic His elocution was [illegible]sually good for one so young. [illegible]re was such a pathos in his utter[illegible]s, even in ordinary conversation, [illegible]ympathy of his hearers would be [illegible]roused up at the description he [illegible] give of any interesting event. [illegible]t was the opinion of his Presiding [illegible] of his many excellences, that [illegible]gh it was quite unusual for one so [illegible]g in the ministry, his [illegible] have to go into the pul[illegible] give an exhortation after the [illegible] which one of the older minis[illegible] had been regularly appointed to [illegible]. During his exhortation, he [illegible]th of the Itinerancy; [illegible] the parents of the young [illegible] from father and mother, [illegible] of home-life; [illegible] and pathos of man and boy and [illegible] snow. The picture was almost as dismal, if not so terrific, as that which so pitilessly poured its fury on poor king Lear's naked head. He then followed the itinerant to the sand banks, trudging on foot through the burning sands. All this for what? that he might bear the message of mercy and salvation to those who were far out of the ordinary means of hearing the blessed name of Jesus. In concluding his rhapsody, such seemed to be his idea of the superexcellency of the traveling ministry his soul booked with dread at the thought of ever locating. He assumed the form of prayer and said "I pray God that whenever I fall, my sepulchre may be under my head." At the time, I was sitting between two well known local preachers. As he concluded his prayer one of the two said to the other "Let him go." Twelve months had passed away: we met at the annual conference again. He had risen to be one of the most popular ministers in the conference. From that conference, he was sent to a city station: I was sent to a small village, greatly to my surprise, as it was only the second year of my ministry. The conference adjourned: we parted at the door of the conference room. He took me affectionately by the hand and said. "Good bye, Brother Blake, keep humble."

Several years had passed away. I had followed him in my regular annual appointments. Honors had crowded thick on him, and presents of various kinds, from dear friends, had poured in upon him: so that when I came after, there was nothing left for me to receive, but a few white handkerchiefs, which I thankfully used instead of my yellow handma. We met once more for the last time: we were together in a room at the hotel. He told me how he had been honored, not only by the conference, but by other assemblages. I said to him. "You once gave me some good advice, may I now return the favor? Let me say to you in your impressive language to me, 'Keep humble.'" He said "you are the most sarcastic man in the conference."

I denied it and remonstrated with him: assuring him I regarded it as my duty to tell him plainly, what was in my mind. "Your rapid elevation may make you giddy: and you are in danger." "So" said he "most of my friends seems to think, and they say to me keep humble!" I said, "I understand you have some thoughts of locating: I had supposed from what I once heard you say, that would be the last thing you would contemplate." He replied, "I have changed my views on three subjects: I once said no Methodist preacher ought to be allowed to preach who did not wear a straight breasted coat; that no slave holder can get to heaven and that no preacher ought ever to locate." Promotion had made his head giddy. He asked for and obtained a location: went South, married a woman who owned many slaves; soon after entered a political life, and here we leave him, not knowing anything of his subsequent history. He had in the beginning set his colter too deep: he soon after lifted his plow too high. This spirited horse ran away with him and dragged his plow; he made no more straight furrows in the ecclesiastical field.

An elder brother gave me substantially the following as the history of his early life, viz: when I first know him he was living in the mountains of V. following his trade. Under the labors of the Methodist traveling ministry he was converted, of which fact no one could doubt. It seemed impossible that so great a change could have been wrought without divine agency. He was taken into class. In rough exterior the class leader thought he saw a jewel,—called on him to pray, soon after to exhort. He told the circuit preacher what a promising young man he had in his class. He was soon employed to assist at public meeting by prayer and exhortation. The presiding elder gave him work on a destitute circuit. He improved rapidly, became popular on account of his youth and modest department. He laid aside his rough appearance, and put on what has been called a Methodist coat, in legal hardly of any preacher who did not wear one; sent the slave holder to keep company with Dives: and extolled the itinerancy as almost the only means of spreading the gospel. He now sleeps in the sunny South. Peace to his ashes! He had his faults, he had many excellencies. No one who ever heard him pray or ever heard him preach, could believe that the language of piety could be so familiar to his tongue had he not verified in his own soul the comforting and sanctifying truths of the gospel. He was no hypocrite. He set his colter too deep: he lifted it too high. The reaction carried him out of the plain and direct way. Let us hope he returned and died in peace.'

Since that time, many have been the occasions, when I would think to myself, "He sets his colter too deep." When I have heard a preacher say, "Surely, you must be an atheist, if you deny the sovereign right of God to make intelligent creatures capable of enjoying or suffering forever, and to fix their unavoidable destiny before they have done good or evil.—ten in the bliss of Heaven, ninety and nine in the pains of hell," I think he has set his colter too deep. He has struck that stubborn root that lies at the bottom of all truth, "God is love" and resting there he soon declares, "and he will save us all." When I have heard a preacher say to a public audience on the sweet babes which Jesus blessed is to profane the ordinance of baptism, and do a sacrilegious act," I would say to him, "Brother you set your colter too deep. You rip up the tender fibres of a mother's love, and cause her to go up to Zion and bewail her infant in a heathen land. Unbitch your plow and go ahead."

When the grave and reverend Dr. late says, "We alone are in holy ordinances—to us appertain the rights to preach to use the sacramental grace, to impart the Holy Ghost, and, as princes, to rule the church of God, according to the divine plan of grace and mercy to a perishing world. I dare say as I have said before, "My good sir, you set your colter too deep: you have struck a root that lies deep in the heart of humanity which binds the civil the social and religious commonwealth in peace and unity. You may fret and scold at the Ghost of "dissent," but there you are hitched. In 1788 "dissent" died out in these United States. Not even the shadow of its shade remains. You may yet find it necessary to your peace of mind to cry at the feet of him, whom you have protested against a thousand times as "the man of sin." there with tears confess your rebellion, and lay the token of your submission on St. Peter's tomb.

Plow deep, ye meek, and humble followers of the Lamb! Plow deep, tear up the roots of bitterness that trouble you. Romanists, Presbyterians, Methodists, and their kindred bands! But allow me to pray as my prayer book has taught me to do these many years: "From pride and envy, from hatred and malice, and all uncharitableness, good Lord deliver me!

B. T. Blake.

Oaky Grove, March 28th 1874.

For the Advocate.

A letter from the Moon and Volcanoes Earthquakes, &c

Mr. Editor: We are all quiet in this region, except our neighbors around Bald Mountain (about 35 miles west) who are still excited about the continual rumbling sounds under Bald and Stone Mountains, accompanied with the shaking of the earth. This disturbance in the two mountains is regarded by the Scientists as volcanic in its nature, though an eruption is not now supposed to be imminent, yet it may occur at some future time. The most violent concussion occurred on the 23rd of March, and spread more general and deeper consternation among the people.

The excitement has led me to examine the subject of volcanoes and earthquakes, and as the people in this section are seeking information on this subject, the following article may be read with interest. So I give the result of my investigation:

A volcano is defined to be "an opening in the crust of the earth from which proceed heated gases sometimes in flames, volumes of steam, eruptions of ashes mixed with redhot stones and molten minerals, called lava. The term is derived from Vulcanus, the mythological God of fire. A brief sketch of some of the noted volcanoes of the world will throw some light on the subject. Iceland, an island situated in the Atlantic ocean west of Norway, is full of volcanoes. On this island is the famous volcano, Hecla. It has had 20 eruptions in 800 years. In 1783 occurred one, which made a river of liquid fire 12 miles broad and 60 long. Stromboli—near the coast of Italy—is a volcano of perpetual eruption. Its lofty column of ceaseless fire serves the useful purpose of a spontaneous light-house to sailors on the Mediterranean seas.—Mount Etna is also a famous volcano in the island of Sicily. This volcanic mountain was observed by the ancients. But in their ignorance of the cause of earthquakes, they supposed that some huge giant had been buried from the abode of the gods and buried beneath the mountain, whose tremendous struggles to get free shook the earth, and whose wrath filled the sky with the flames of his fury. But this was the poetical dream of ignorance. It was volcanic steam that shook the mountain. Mount Etna is about 20 miles in diameter at the base and two miles from base to summit. At the base are growing clustering vineyards and fields of corn. The Sicilians not fearing the fury wrath of the burning mountain, build and inhabit towns all around the base, though sulphureous smoke issues from its great crater, and occasional eruptions pour down its lava scarred sides. Vesuvius is perhaps the most celebrated volcano in the world. It is in Italy, in 10 miles of the city of Naples. It is about 10 miles in circumference at the base, and 3,760 feet in height. Populous towns, blooming gardens, fertile fields smile around the base. Its first record eruption occurred in the year 79, when Pompeii and Herculaneum were buried beneath its ashes and cinders. The total number of its great eruptions down to the present time, has been about sixty.—In 1794, occurred the terrible eruption which destroyed the town of Torre del Greco.

"The premonitory signs of volcanoes are rumbling sounds, such as heavy carriages rolling under ground, accompanied with earth-shakes, more or less violent. These are the usual though not infallible signs preceding volcanoes. In the days of Mr. Wesley the city of London was shaken for months, though no visible volcanoes appeared in 1811. New Madrid in Missouri on the Mississippi River was convulsed violently for several months, yet no volcano occurred.—The earth tremors in New Madrid ceased when the cotemporaneous shock occurred in South America and destroyed in that country the cities of Caracas and La Guyra.—Prof. [illegible] has led scientists to believe that a subterranean ocean of volcanic fire extends connectedly from the Andes of Chili northward through Mexico on to the volcanic districts of California and Oregon. South America excels all other portions of the globe for volcanoes and earthquakes. The whole chain of the Andes is one mass of volcanoes. In Mexico and Central America are 25 active volcanoes. It is a well known fact that frequent earthquakes occur in California. But it is said that there are no signs of volcanic action East of the Rocky mountains in North America, except those now present in Bald and Stone mountains. And furthermore that volcanoes rarely ever occur except in connection with deep waters or near the Equator, both of which conditions are absent in the case of Bald Mountain. Yet the premonitory signs of fires to region are pronounced by scientific authority, evidently volcanic. Thus we see that Bald Mountain presents a unique case in the science of Geology. Scientists must watch and wait.

What is the cause of earthquakes and volcanoes? Sir John Herschel says: "The key of the whole affair is found in the central heat of the earth." Where, in any part of the earth, the ideas and forces of this mighty seat find vent through its crust: then we have a volcano. On the other hand, when these tremendous fires and forces struggle to get free, like the buried Titan of the old fable, without finding vent, then the earth shakes from its centre to its circumference.—Volcanic eruptions are generally preceded by earthquakes, by which the beds of rocks, that overlie and keep down the struggling powers beneath are dislocated and cracked, till at last they give way, and the strain is immediately relieved.

This theory proceeds upon the hypothesis that this solid earth was once a vast globe of liquid fire, self luminous as the sun, and has cooled down with a crust from 12 to 10 miles in thickness, while the centre of the earth is a tremendous sea of liquid fire.

There is another theory known as the chemical hypothesis, proposed by Sir H. Davy, who supposed that certain metallic bases and alkalies might combine with oxygen, and produce great heat and violent combustion by chemical actions.

What are the uses of volcanoes and earthquakes?

In the hand of Providence, an earthquake was used as the instrument to destroy the rebellions, Korah and his company. The earth opened and they were swallowed up alive. An earthquake made the solemn scenes of the crucifixion grandly impressive and terrific. The rocks rent asunder by it remained for ages to preach to travelers the truth of the gospel narrative. It shook all Jerusalem and extorted from the centurion and those with him the confession, "Truly this man is the Son of God." An earthquake delivered Paul and Silas from the prison at Philippi, and was the instrumental cause of the conviction and conversion of the jailor and his house.

The natural uses of volcanoes are supposed to be numerous and beneficent in the grand economy of the world. It is alleged, that we owe to the agency of volcanoes and earthquakes, all the magnificence of our mountains, the beautiful and fertile islands of the sea, and the continents on which we dwell.

These are the products of volcanic forces.

They have been pushed up from the watery world, to be homes of intelligence and christianity. But for these grand agencies "the waters of the deep had still covered the whole earth, and no living thing higher and nobler in the scale of creation, than the fishes of the sea could have existed. We see then the beneficent power and design of God in the earthquakes, no less than in the genial sunshine and refreshing showers." H. T. Hudson.

For the Advocate.

Few there be that find it.

These words may be found in Christ's sermon on the mount, which should be attentively read and studied. That watchfulness and circumspection are essential to christian character, and Divinely enjoined, is a truth all who admit the doctrine of moral responsibility and free agency on the part of man, admit. There may be some education and association have somehow or other impressed their minds with the belief that man has nothing to do but to set down in supineness and indifference, powerless to resist wholesome influences, waiting to be driven like machinery into heaven by compulsory power. But many who thus affect to believe are not willing to risk themselves under a high free when the forked lightnings are flashing across the troubled sky but ever use their free agency in seeking a more secure place.

We have been taught to regard the plan of salvation, as set forth in the Bible, to be the revealed will of God. Our Saviour not only says, "strive to enter in at the straight gate," but he also says, "Seek, and ye shall find." Such authority is certainly worth more than the declarations of man, more assiduous to build up and sustain their church in its peculiar notions than to seek to know the will of God concerning erring man. The mission of Christ was not to tantalize man with hopes and promises of reward never to be realized. When he says, "Ye will not come to me, that ye might have life," we are inclined to think the obstinacy of man's will has something to do in hardening his heart, and shutting out the light of truth from his mind. Nor can we believe a faith that inspires inactivity and indifference in the soul with regard to christian duties, is in accordance with that living, active, and abiding principle, purifying the heart, actuating its possessor to fervency of spirit in the service of the Lord.

Our Saviour calls it the narrow way "which leadeth unto life," requiring a spirit of inquiry and honest and earnest effort on the part of man to find and pursue it. The prophet calls it the "highway of holiness" and says, "the unclean shall not pass over it: which impresses our mind with the idea that consistency of christian character is essential to salvation.—That minds wanting in the constituent requisites of moral excellence, throwing their influence, willfully, in the scale of moral corruption, by pandering to the views and follies of the world, occupy a dangerous position, notwithstanding their names may help to swell the church-roll. Church relationship without christian consideration and circumspection, by no means constitutes one an heir of the brighter inheritance of glory. And while we are told to "judge not," we are told that the out cropping fruits will indicate the character of the tree.

The Bible does not hold out the idea that men can gather grapes of thorns, nor figs of thistles. The pure in heart have the promise that they shall see God. Hence the importance of "searching the Scriptures," that we may learn the will of Christ concerning us, walking in newness of life as children of light. Men should search the Scriptures because God has commanded them to do so: and the soul of man needs the illuminating influence of divine truth. Darkness is the opposite of light, and the mind of man requires purifying and elevating light to direct its will and desires to the great source of light and love. But, alas! how many live in the constant neglect of this important duty!

The way to heaven is a highway of holiness," where the few anxious inquirers after light and guidance who have fortunately found it, find the affections and desires of their souls running out in holy aspirations after greater attainments in spiritual wisdom. It is a highway in which the brotherhood of kindred spirit is washed and redeemed from their sins, actuated by high and ennobling sentiments of christian duty, "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Alas! of how many who profess to be followers of Christ—walking the narrow way with singleness of purpose, as the children of light, might it not be truthfully said, "A deceived heart hath turned him aside!" If church folks are found walking in the counsel of the ungodly, or standing in the way of sinners or sitting in the seat of the scornful, in what are they better than such characters? Are such characters keeping themselves unspotted from the world? While few, comparatively, seek and pursue with steady step the narrow way that leads to life, what myriads of thoughtless slaves of sin press the broad and beaten road that leads to death! The prophet, looking upon the downtrodden altars of his God, felt that he was alone in his fidelity to his king, and that they sought to take his life. But such was not the case. Though God's covenant was forsaken by the wicked multitudes of Israel, seven thousand had not bowed the knee to Baal.

Though wickedness prevails to a most fearful extent, and vile and abominable practices characterize many in this land of gospel privileges, God has in our midst a peculiar people, manifesting their sacred relationship to the Father of Mercies, by a godly walk and pious conversation.—And we are assured, by the unerring word of Truth, that the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads." How earnestly should we seek to know the truth that we may be free indeed! We have constant need of light from on high to guide and keep our feet in the highway of holiness, leading to the brighter land of cloudless day.

Reader! shall you or I be among the saved? Shall we unless we "strive to enter in at the straight gate?" Is the language of the Master. I will close: "Straight is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it."

Oxonian.

Oxford, N. C., March 30th.

For the Advocate.

Mr. Editor: I have studied and analyzed Dr. Pritchard's remarks respecting Christ's baptism and can see nothing in them or get any thing out of them but bosh-ee-my. The Dr. was evidently betrayed into the unwise policy of speaking twice and thinking only once. He is like the famous witness who having unwittingly testified that a certain horse was sixteen feet high, when questioned by the court answered, did I say sixteen feet? if so I stand to it the horse was sixteen feet high." The Dr. in his card complained of being misrepresented, but strange to say, afterward admitted that he said what amounted to the same thing and there declared his purpose to stand to it. Let us examine, impartially the subject a little and see if the Dr's blustering does not appear.

The ordinance of baptism was submitted to by Christ either to conform to some antecedent law requiring it, or to establish some new principle in the new kingdom which He was about to set up. The second proposition we reject without discussion as being unscriptural and therefore untenable. The second proposition is clearly established by Christ himself in Math. 3 and 15 "suffer it to be so now for thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness."

Now, if there is any part of the law of prophets that speaks of this subject we have the mode of Christ baptism. We have already seen that Christ was baptized to fulfill the law and the prophets, or, in other words, to be legally consecrated to the priest's office. In Num. 8 and 17 we are told that water shall be sprinkled upon the subject and he be annointed with oil.

We can but infer therefore, that the water was sprinkled upon Christ: since the ascent of the Holy Ghost upon him at Jordan is regarded by Isaiah, Christ himself, and the apostle Paul, as the anointing with oil see Isaiah 6 and 1. Luke 4 and 18. Heb. 1, and 9. In Ezek. 36, ch. 25, 26, and 27 verses, we have the same mode given "I will sprinkled clean water upon you and you shall be clean: xxx and I will put my spirit within you, &c. Every one must a-but that, at least, a part of this prophesy was fulfilled at the baptism of our savior, viz. the descent of the Holy Spirit. Then both the law and the prophets are plain on this point and how Dr. P. or any one else can suppose that, in the violation of the law, which he came to fulfill, and a disregard of the prophets in being baptized, the promised results should be witnessed, is more than I can tell. What is the inevitable result of the Dr's position taken and stood to?

Horrible to tell, it is this: he does not suppose that Christ was foolish enough to keep and fulfill the law and the prophets.

Salisbury April 1 1874.

For the Advocate.

Efficient Stewards.

Mr. Editor: In a late number of the Advocate, Roanoke calls for the discovery of a financial plan that will effectually settle the question of a proper support of the ministry. He then respectfully submits some addenda, which he thinks, if adopted would remove a mighty incubus that has long been hanging over the church; by which incubus I suppose he means the large amounts that the Stewards have from year to year promised to the preachers, but have not paid. Roanoke is not alone in crying out for different plans and systems. Their name is legion and each one has a different one to propose which he thinks would make money and supplies flow into the parsonage as naturally and as easily as water flows from a spring.

